THE LISTENING POST

William Knudsen, head of the national defense commission, is a man accustomed to looking facts squarely in the face and then doing something about them. He does not attempt to detour facts which may be unpleasant; rather, he tries to approach them with the firm intention of conquering them if they happen to be unpleasant facts. In no other way could the big industrialists of this nation have accomplished what they have. For facts will rise up to damn one if a person attempts to disregard them, or merely laugh them off. Therefore, what Mr. Knudsen said the other day in an important address, needs to be accepted as the considered judgment of a man who knows.

Mr. Knudsen was speaking of plane production in this country. A few months ago huge sums of money were appropriated for building a cloud of war planes. Many unthinking persons have an idea that money is all that is needed. They seem to think that, given the money the various factories would at once begin to roll first rate fighting planes off assembly lines. Mr. Knudsen killed this belief quite thoroughly, when he said that production was at least thirty per cent under the most hopeful estimates that had been made, and the most conservative estimates. He said badly that production was not being stepped up; that there was a decided lag in the work and under present conditions, he sees no hope of betterment.

Mr. Knudsen then boldly brought out a most delicate subject for open discussion. He says that it is doubtful if improvement can be expected as long as the week-end continues from Friday until Monday. If work could be carried on steadily Mr. Knudsen believes that improvement might be had, but he is extremely doubtful of improvement coming with present restrictions on hours. I say this is a delicate subject, for the moment that any effort is made to take away any of the so called social gains, we will have such a succession of strikes that no work at all will be possible. That has long been recognized as the danger point in our defense program.

Yet that fact must be faced. Mr. Knudsen is probably right in his considered judgment. It appears entirely probable that labor may have to help bear its burden of the defense program along with other taxpayers. Yet when that is attempted most thinking people realize that drastic steps will have to be taken to curb radical labor leaders.

Yet we have before us the perfect example of such experiments. Restricted hours beat France just as certainly as did the guns of Germany. The long week-end in England cut that nation to such a low point in preparations for war that catastrophe almost came and may yet come. The dictator states had no illusions about this matter. They worked constantly, without thought of restrictions and when war came Germany, a nation with vastly fewer resources and abilities than England and the United States, was ready to wage war.

Those things had as well be considered by the people of this nation. We can go ahead and temporize and pretend that all is well, and finally have the storm break over us before we are ready. Or we can forget some of these experiments for the time being, realize that the world is on fire and we must be ready for an outbreak here, and perhaps manage to weather the flames.

Mr. Knudsen deserves a vote of thanks from the American public for bringing the problem in to the open. His action will add nothing to his popularity among the politicians, but it may result in great good for the future of the Republic.

U. S.-Mexico Arms Talks Reported

Naval, Air Bases Would Be Set Up For Mutual Use

Mexico City.—A mutual defense understanding between Mexico and the United States, expected to shape into a far-reaching program of military and economic collaboration within the next year, was reported unofficially Sunday to be under discussion between Mexico City and Washington.

A source close to the administration of President Manuel Avila Camacho described the two governments as moving "cautiously" toward an understanding under which:

1—Financial assistance from the United States might be accepted for improvement of naval bases, which would be at the disposal of the United States fleet for servicing, refueling and repairs.

2—Mexican air bases might be enlarged and made available for United States short-range fighter planes operating between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone, or to naval planes in support of the fleet in the event of actual warfare off Mexico's Pacific Coast, in the Gulf of Mexico or in the Caribbean Sea.

Linked with these discussions, this source disclosed further conversations are under way contemplating:

A border agreement patterned after that between the United States and Canada; possible transfer of four United States destroyers to Mexico; limited mechanization of the Mexican Army with United States financial aid; exchange of Naval, Air and Army officers for a better understanding of defense problems and Mexican guarantees to United States capital for investment in Mexico.

Electoral College Casts Votes Today

Washington.—Everyone knows President Roosevelt was re-elected last November, but 531 persons will cast votes Monday to forestall any possible challenge because the Constitution says they must.

The presidential electors in each state must mark their ballots for President and vice president and send them by registered mail to Washington where Congress will count them just 14 days before the January 20 inauguration.

Unless there is some stunning development, the count will be; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 449; Wendell L. Willkie, 82.

The electors must get their votes to Washington by Christmas otherwise special messengers will be sent to get them.

Most Drafted Men Will Be Assigned To Familiar Tasks

Fort Lewis, Wash.—If you think the Army is going to shove a gun in your hand and start you on gruelling marches with an infantry regiment when you are called up under the Selective Service Act, you're wrong.

Statistics compiled at Fort Lewis recruit reception center following the first call showed only 15 per cent of the draftees lacked specialized qualifications. They were placed in the basic group to be assigned to combat service with the infantry or artillery.

The chances are one in seven that they'll get in a trench, work behind a howitzer or feed shells into a machine gun.

It won't be a case of Johnny-get-your-gun. More than likely it will be Johnny-get-your-pencil, your typewriter, your air hammer, your calipers or your spark plug wrenches.

There are 272 classifications you

L. W. Bondurant Dies This Morning

Lonnie W. Bondurant, 75, prominent farmer in this section for many years, passed away this morning about 6 o'clock at the Union City clinic after a long illness. Mr. Bondurant had been in poor health for sometime, his condition becoming critical several days ago. Although not unexpected, his death brings sadness to a host of friends and relatives. Mr. Bondurant resided West of Fulton on the State Line and had lived in that community all of his long and useful life.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, Mrs. Kate Harris Bondurant; three sons, Herbert Bondurant of Washington, D. C., H. L. Bondurant of Atlanta, Ga., and Wm. Bondurant of Memphis; two grandsons, Billy and Charles Bondurant of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Ailie Browder is a niece of the deceased.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ransom-White Funeral Home in Union City, followed by burial at Liberty church.

Mr. Bondurant was a member of the Methodist church, holding his membership at the church in Union City. He was a good, Christian man and held the love and respect of all who knew him.

NEW CAR STOLEN

A new Pontiac was stolen from the Murphy-Jordan parking lot next door to the garage Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The car was found parked on Paschall street near the Fire Station yesterday, but no trace of the thief has been found.

Britain Called Ultimate Winner In A Long War

Philadelphia.—A British victory after a war lasting three to five years, or more, was predicted here by Dr. Ernest Jackh, one of the negotiators for Germany of the Versailles Treaty which ended World War I. Dr. Jackh fled Germany after Hitler's rise to power and is now a British citizen.

"The war is now in its second phase—centering in the Mediterranean, the cross-roads of the British Commonwealth," he told the Philadelphia Contemporary Club. "It will enter its third phase this time next year when Britain achieves superiority in the air."

Britain eventually will find a land offensive necessary, the speaker added, and will be aided by some Continental Power. France may yet provide the "necessary bridgehead," Dr. Jackh said.

Europe Has Enough To Feed Itself Until Late Next Spring

Washington.—State Department intervention in behalf of food relief for Europe is unlikely for at least three months, a high official said today, because the department has information that there are enough supplies abroad to last until late next spring.

A survey of food conditions, compiled for the department by authoritative American sources, shows that Europe faces no starvation for a minimum of five or six months, the official reported.

This information, he said, coupled with Britain's recent refusal to pass food shipments through her blockade, has virtually decided the State Department to defer any general action on the subject until the end of the winter.

An exception may be made, informed sources said, in behalf of Red Cross efforts to send supplies to Spain, where the food situation is believed critical, and for shipments of condensed milk and concentrated vitamin foods for infants and children in unoccupied France.

By spring there may be developments in Europe, the official added, which would change the whole picture and either obviate the necessity of food ships, or cause them to be rushed. Even in the latter event, it was said, the relief cargoes would arrive in ample time to ward off extreme privation or actual starvation.

"The British are now living like wild animals," one ranking official said today, "spending many hours in damp cellars, eating short rations, and suffering severely rather than give up their liberty to Hitler. It's hardly the time for the United States government to bring pressure to bear on Britain to permit foodstuffs to reach German-occupied areas, especially since the foodstuffs there will last several months longer."

Representative Arthur W. Mitchell (D., Ill.) the only negro member of Congress, has asked a review of a decision by the Northern Illinois Federal District Court which dismissed his attack on the practice of segregating negroes on trains, as applied to an interstate passenger.

Mitchell (D., Ill.) brought suit after he said he had been "forcibly ejected" from a Southern Pullman car in Arkansas and compelling to finish his journey from Chicago to Hot Springs in a "Jim Crow" car.

His petition asserted that he had bought a first class ticket in Chicago and should not have been compelled to go into "second class" accommodations provided for negroes.

Mitchell said the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, guaranteeing "equal protection of the laws" was "designed to assure to the colored race the enjoyment of all the civil rights that under the law are enjoyed by white persons."

May disclosed his plans as discussions of war finances continued between Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., and Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury. Phillips and Morgenthau conferred again yesterday but, as usual, details of the discussions were not disclosed.

CIO Secretary Charges Labor Under Attack

New York.—James B. Carey, secretary of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, charged today that "machine politicians" and others were promoting an anti-labor campaign and declared that the nation could not produce an adequate defense "out of the hides of underpaid, over-worked, terrorized, demoralized employees."

Carey spoke at a national conference on "Labor's Rights and the Defense Program" sponsored by the labor law committee of the National Lawyers Guild. He took issue with charges by H. W. Prentiss, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, that demands by organized labor were impeding defense production.

"Any group or association or body which genuinely desires to produce the maximum amount of material of the very finest quality and in the most efficient manner," he said, "must of necessity abide by the rules of fair play with employees and their union, and must of necessity embark in full good faith on genuine collective bargaining with those employees."

"The notion that you can produce goods out of the hides of underpaid, overworked, terrorized, demoralized employees is totally false—and this nation is going to pay heavily if such a false notion becomes general policy of the manufacturers."

High Court May Rule On Jim Crow Divisions

Washington.—The Supreme Court may act on litigation involving the constitutionality of "Jim Crow" railway cars for negroes in the South.

Representative Arthur W. Mitchell (D., Ill.) the only negro member of Congress, has asked a review of a decision by the Northern Illinois Federal District Court which dismissed his attack on the practice of segregating negroes on trains, as applied to an interstate passenger.

Mitchell (D., Ill.) brought suit after he said he had been "forcibly ejected" from a Southern Pullman car in Arkansas and compelling to finish his journey from Chicago to Hot Springs in a "Jim Crow" car.

His petition asserted that he had bought a first class ticket in Chicago and should not have been compelled to go into "second class" accommodations provided for negroes.

Mitchell said the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, guaranteeing "equal protection of the laws" was "designed to assure to the colored race the enjoyment of all the civil rights that under the law are enjoyed by white persons."

Dog Fancier Air-Conditions Canine Cottage

Deal, N. J.—Now comes the air-conditioned dog-house.

Milton Worth, borough fire truck driver, spent $65 and three weeks of spare time building the canine cottage for a pair of hounds he expects to buy. Features of the house, which is four by three by four feet in dimensions, include plate glass windows with eastern and northern exposure, a screened ventilator tower, walls insulated with rock wool, asbestos shingles, and a porch. The windows can be taken out in summer and screens and Venetian blinds substituted, says worth.

Duchess' Jaw Pains Her Again; She Goes To Bed

Miami.—The Duchess of Windsor, who underwent a major dental operation last Tuesday, has returned to bed on her doctor's instructions.

It was understood that the excitement of leaving St. Francis Hospital at Miami Beach Saturday and moving to a Coral Gables hotel caused a loosening of a blood clot which forms after such operations.

Considerable pain resulted and Dr. Horace L. Cartee instructed her last night to remain in bed at least twenty-four hours. Her condition was not considered serious.

Withdrawal In U. S. Of Distilled Spirits Hits New High

Washington.—The Internal Revenue Bureau reported Sunday that withdrawals of distilled spirits from warehouses during the twelve months ended June 30 amounted to 103,981,635 gallons, the largest for any fiscal year since prohibition repeal.

The years withdrawals were 11,554,535 gallons more than during the previous twelve months. Part of this increase was attributed to the rush of buying before increased tax rates became effective July 1.

Teacher Held For Grand Jury On Charge Of Slapping Pupils

Georgetown, Ky.—L. V. Welsh, 49, principal of Sadieville High School, was held for grand jury action on a charge of assault and battery Friday after testimony that he had slapped three sixth grade pupils.

The warrant was sworn by Cleveland Rodgers, father of Lewis Rodgers, 14, a pupil Welsh was accused of slapping along with Harold Stewart, 13, and Harold Matford, 12.

The three boys and other pupils testified that the principal slapped Rodgers twice with his open hand

Briton Admits Axis Blockade Is Effective

Says War Production Will Not Suffer, Though

London.—The axis blockade is costing Britain approximately 62,000 tons of shipping weekly, a maritime source said Sunday, adding "this is not going to slow down our war effort although we may have to tighten our belts."

If an answer to the shipping raiders is not found in more destroyers for convoy duty or in permission to use Irish ports, this source said, Britain would simply "put guns before butter."

An unspecified number of destroyers is under construction, and the effort to persuade the Irish to permit Britain to use her seaports is continuing.

"We really haven't felt any pinch from rationing yet," the source said. "We have stocks on hand in quantities we never had in the World War. If the shipping situation worsens we can decrease luxury imports in proportion to the ships lost so that the flow of war materials won't suffer and we can make ends meet for a mighty long time."

On the brighter side, the source said, Britain now has a rationing system in good working order, dietary programs which give people adequate vitamins and good stocks on hand.

"That's a different situation from that of the last months of the World War when we barely got rationing started and at one time had only about three weeks' supplies on hand," the source said.

FUNERAL FOR LOTHIAN HELD IN WASHINGTON

Washington.—Officials of the United States and Washington diplomats paid tribute Sunday to the Marquess of Lothian, British Ambassador to the United States, in funeral services at the Washington Cathedral.

The brief service in the rites of the Episcopal Church, included no eulogy or mention of the achievements of the 58-year-old nobleman who died in the early hours of Thursday, soon after he had addressed an appeal to this Nation to give more aid to Great Britain in her war against Germany and Italy.

BURMA ROAD BRIDGE, ELECTRIC PLANT BOMBED

Shanghai.—Both Chinese and Japanese sources reported Sunday a Japanese aerial bombardment of a Burma road bridge and of a Chinese hydro-electric plant near Kunming, but their versions differed sharply.

Domel (Japanese news agency), said the bridge was blasted successfully Saturday and the power plant also bombed. Chinese reports said nine Japanese planes made the attacks but failed to damage either target.

THE DRIVE TOWARD SUEZ AND ITALY'S FAILURE

Italy's three fronts—in Albania, in Egypt and at home—are on the verge of collapse as the result of the continuing Greek successes and the smashing blows of the British forces at the Italian lines in the Libyan desert.

Already there is talk of an armistice in the Italo-Grecian conflict. There is exultation in Cairo and Alexandria where the victory over Field Marshal Graziani's army—a victory "of the fire order" to use Prime Minister Churchill's words—is regarded as the removal for the time being of the threat to the Suez Canal. There is an agitated press campaign in the Fascist State against pessimists and so-called rumor mongers, against the army and the army leadership, against the weak-kneed and the anti-Fascists, though Virginio Gayda, Mussolini's mouthpiece, compares the present military situation to that at Caporetto. The little end of the Axis is dragging the ground and it is probably only a matter of time before a call for help is sent to Hitler.

The Greeks have not allowed the Italians to reorganize their lines if the shattered forces could reorganize. They have given no respite to Il Duce's legions to allow them to make a stand. From two directions they are pressing toward the important port of Valona though that port has been put out of commission, according to reports, by British bombers. The one avenue open for Italian reinforcements is Durazzo and that is menaced by the Northern Greek Army and the Royal Air Force. But the task of driving the Italian Army out of Albania becomes increasingly difficult as the Greek lines of communication increase and as the Italian lines are reinforced.

The combined land, air and sea attack against the Italians in Egypt is a major catastrophe for Mussolini's forces. Their main base and father-moore outpost at Sidi Barrani has been wiped out. The Italian line has been harried all the way to the Libyan border. The number of prisoners captured may run as high as fifty or sixty thousand. Even Libya may be invaded, or starved out by cutting its life line with Italy.

But this is only the first phase of a two-pronged attack on the Suez Canal by way of Greece and by way of Libya. If there is complete collapse in Albania, in Egypt and on the home front in Italy, Hitler may be expected to attempt to carry on where Mussolini failed. But Hitler's task has been made immeasurably more difficult. British prestige has been increased in North Africa and the Near East. Greece's military triumph has given heart to other small nations. A German thrust through Bulgaria, through Turkey, through Syria, through Palestine next spring will be far different from what it would have been last autumn.—Courier-Journal.

Limestone will be delivered to Bracken county farms at a cost of $1.90 a ton. Morehead merchants cooperated in a meat canning demonstration attended by 40 members of homemakers' clubs.

REALIGNMENT

Canada, England's most potent asset perhaps at the present time, is readjusting its wartime program to meet the new speed-up required of nations opposing the totalitarian governments.

True, the Canadians do not like war, and individually felt no desire to take part in the present holocaust across the seas. Their sentiments lie more towards development of their own broad country, and of this hemisphere. But Canadians are loyal Britishers, to the core, and they enlisted to a man in the fight to save their mother country.

Their early efforts were more or less unorganized, as was natural since the country boasted no gigantic regular army and since in normal times Canada has little to fear from her neighbors. Now, though, Canada is gearing itself to fight as Germany fights, with every weapon at its command.

And in this readjustment Canada recognizes the need of a fast industrial program, a program which can match in tempo the needs of a modern army. For this reason, the government is arranging to return to industry during the coming months skilled laborers who had enlisted in the army.

Such a move indicates the need for highly trained workmen, and should be taken as a warning to the United States. It was by having workers skilled in each little job from the lowliest labor to the top army rank that Hitler was able to build the war machine which has ridden rough-shod over so much of Europe. The bravest soldiers are worthless now if they are not backed up by the newest devices for combat.

Canada, like England, may have gotten a late start, but better late than never, and may the new program bear bitter fruit for Germany.—Richmond Register.

The tackle was returned. The friend kept the fish.

MEETING SATURDAY

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence School

At this moment, we in the United States have a 14 billion dollar job confronting us. It is the job created by the money which has been appropriated for a national defense program. It is a stupendous undertaking, one which may well decide the future of our civilization. Vast quantities of materials and supplies must be assembled to build ships, tanks, airplanes, guns; to maintain the fighting men who man our first line of defense; to equip the one or two million men who make up a "protective mobilization force." There are new plants to be erected, machinery to be built and installed, and skilled men to be developed.

The United States has virtually all the essentials needed — the money, the natural resources, the man power, and the industrial leadership.

Only one thing is lacking — a sufficient number of trained men. This problem can and will be solved, but it is one that will make our defense program slow up in spots. Although much has been done by some industrial groups to provide for a sufficient force of skilled workmen, others have been slow in establishing an apprentice training plan.

The skilled mechanic never had a greater opportunity to serve his country and himself.

DIES GROUP TO OFFER
ANTISABOTAGE BILL

Washington. — The Dies Committee, promptly accepting a Justice Department recommendation, decided Sunday to ask Congress to plug a legal loophole which prevents the Government from acting against sabotage in factories producing armaments for foreign countries.

The request for the legislation came from Attorney General Robert Jackson in a letter to Representative Voorhis (D., Calif.).

Voorhis, a committeeman, announced that he hoped to have a "simple little bill" covering Mr. Jackson's proposal ready for introduction this week. Robert Stripling, committee clerk, said that such a measure also might be included in legislative recommendations being prepared for the committee's annual report to Congress next month.

COURT HOLDS RESTAURANT OWNERS NEEDN'T PAY OVERTIME FOR 7TH DAY

Frankfort, Ky. — The Court of Appeals ruled today that private restaurant operators are exempt from the requirements of the "one day's rest in seven" section of the 1940 State Labor Act because of "discrimination" against them.

The section requires time and one-half pay for the seventh day's work performed by certain workers laboring more than 40 hours in seven days. It exempts hotel waiters by classifying them as domestics and includes restaurant waiters.

Finding this classification "arbitrary" and "discriminatory," the court said "when the exemption results in forbidden discrimination then those discriminated against become relieved of the burdens imposed by the statute x x x."

The section was challenged by Paul Kapfhammer, Louisville baker and restaurant operator, on behalf of the Louisville Restaurant Association.

AMBULANCES ARE CALLED AFTER ANOTHER OIL TANK CATCHES FIRE IN TEXAS

Galveston, Tex. — A call for all ambulances in the city to go to nearby Texas City was received tonight after another crude oil storage tank was reported to have caught fire at the Southport Petroleum Co.

At least a dozen men were burned and a number of others were reported missing earlier in the day during efforts to extinguish a lightning-started blaze among the oil tanks.

One of the burning tanks boiled over, sloshing the flaming fluid onto a crew of about 25 fire fighters.

It was not known immediately whether anyone was hurt in the second accident but local hospitals have been notified to be prepared for possible additional emergency cases.

TOWN GETS TIRED OF STUDENTS NOISE

Berkeley, Calif. — "Outside Sather gate" has become a traditional scene of noisy student meetings prohibited on the University of California campus.

Now a long-patient populace has gotten tired not of self-expression but of plain racket. An ordinance by the Berkeley City Council prohibits "unnecessary noise" in certain zones.

ATHLETE BREAKS ARM: WHO'S GONNA TYPE?

Goldboro, N. C. — George Wren, 120-pound guard of the Apex High School football team, broke both bones in his right arm in a game with Goldboro.

Walking to the coach's bench, he said: "My gosh, coach, it's broken. How am I gonna to do my typing now?"

SENATE, HOUSE LEADERS

SEEKING WAY TO CUT NON-DEFENSE SPENDING

Washington — Confronted with the prospect of heavy new defense appropriations and higher taxes, Senate and House leaders talked over today ways and means for cutting down non-defense expenditures.

Considerable sentiment was evidenced for setting up, as a step toward that end, a new "super-committee" to coordinate spending and revenue policies.

Representative Woodrum (D.Va.) influential members of the House appropriations committee, said he was seeking the cooperation of President Roosevelt and House and Senate leaders in forming a group which would obtain an "over-all picture of spending needs and then would recommend what revenues should be raised.
