THE LISTENING POST

● It is an odd thing how certain memories come to vex me at inopportune times. I wish I could do something about this, but I just go on remembering the wrong thing at the wrong time and becoming acutely uncomfortable because of it. I seem to have a perfect memory for remembering the things which I should never remember at the moment.

● Such a memory came to me Sunday night when I had a drive to make in a pouring rain, on a wet and slippery road, and when the glass around the car kept fogging over completely. I was at the lake and started home about six o'clock. Rain which had been falling constantly appeared to be falling even more copiously, and a tearing wind caused the car to sway from side to side as it clung to the wet road. Taken altogether, it was not a happy prospect as I headed towards home in that driving rain, with the wind ripping and tearing at the car, with the glass fogging up so swiftly that I could not keep it in shape for good visibility. The wipers on the outside had all they could do to keep the outside swept clean of the racing water, and inside the glass fogged over every hundred yards or so. Clarence Reed, my driving companion, finally sacrificed his best handkerchief for the occasion and acted as swabber in chief for the entire trip. That helped some, but I still have an uneasy feeling that I should buy him a new handkerchief for Christmas—although I believe I will be able to resist this temptation.

● Well, we rolled along, and after what seemed like a matter of hours, reached Troy. It was not possible to make any time at all on the blacktop road into Troy, but fortunately there was little traffic and I had little trouble about the glare of lights. Reaching Troy I felt that the worst was over, for I always prefer real pavement on a rainy, wet night. But I had forgotten the difference in traffic and shortly after reaching the pavement, I saw that we were going to have plenty of cars to face. Where all those folks were going on that rainy night I have no idea; I only know it seemed everybody in the world was traveling south on Highway 51. There was hardly a moment when another car was not approaching us, and it seemed that just when another car swung around a curve and bore down on us it was the precise moment when the glass fogged over.

● This was where the disturbing memory bobbed up to plague me. I guess I was thinking about the chances of a crash or of leaving the road at one of the deeper curves, but as I kept facing those glaring lights, which seemed doubly worse when they were reflected from the wet pavement, I had a sudden memory of some automobile statistics read a few months ago. That memory came to me with such utter clearness that it was disturbing. Whether the statistics are correct I do not know; I only know that I read them once and of all times in the world, picked that rain swept road to remember them.

● The statistics I remembered so suddenly and so clearly had to do with the general average life and conduct of all new automobiles. Out of every one thousand new automobiles bought in this country, according to these figures, two will wrap themselves about a telephone pole or some other unyielding obstruction during the first year, and only five will be driven for the ensuing fifteen years. That was what I chose to remember Sunday night. I knew the first year had passed on my car, even the second, but I felt to wondering what happened to those others, the ten, of which no mention was made. I was not one of the two to wrap myself around a telephone pole in the first year, but I had a feeling that some worse fate might befall me. I wondered how many of the ten tried to beat a

FDR Returns To Work On Arms Output

Knudsen Declares Problem Is One Of "Terrible Urgency"

Washington.—President Roosevelt returned from a Caribbean cruise today to tackle the problem of speeding up rearmament in a situation described by William S. Knudsen as one of "terrible urgency."

The chief executive came home to find the Capital absorbed in speculation whether he might give the chairmanship of the defense commission, and with its substantial power over industry, to Knudsen.

Many persons close to the defense program advocated such a step; other high officials were as firmly opposed to any fundamental change in the setup of the commission, which now has no chairman.

To many analysts, some major Presidential move seemed foreshadowed by Mr. Roosevelt's statement yesterday that he hoped to visit Warm Springs, Ga., again next spring "if the world survives."

Knudsen, former president of General Motors Corporation and now production chief for the defense commission, spoke grimly in letters made public today to machine tool manufacturers and their employees.

Declaring that nothing was more vital to the country's welfare just now than to hasten the production of machine tools "desperately needed" to make airplanes, torpedo boat destroyers, and other weapons, Knudsen wrote the manufacturers: "I'm not telling you how to do your job. But if you could see as I do from the inside, the terrible urgency of the situation, you would agree with me that I am not asking too much in requesting that you use every conceivable effort to speed up delivery and increase the production of machine tools during 1941. Let's forget everything except the welfare of our country."

"The industry as a whole has done practically the impossible in trebling its rate of output in the last two years. I am appealing to you to do the impossible again."

In other letters addressed to machine tool workers and designed for posting on bulletin boards in their plants, Knudsen said they were even more important than soldiers and sailors today because the latter were helpless without munitions.

"Every day, hour or minute saved by greater efficiency helps Uncle Sam arm that much faster."

30,000 Persons Contract Flu In Boom Town Of Alexandria, La.

Alexandria, La. — Approximately half of this Army town, riding the crest of a construction boom, Sunday night was stricken with influenza.

The normal population of 25,000 was swelled to 65,000 by persons who rushed to get work on the huge program at Camp Beauregard and other nearby Army posts. The Board of Health said 30,000 cases of influenza had been reported and that many others had not been attended by a physician. Across the Red River at Camp Beauregard, where 30,000 National Guardsmen from Michigan and Wisconsin were in training, few cases were found. The chief surgeon attributed this to the fact the men spent most of their time in the open air and were used to the weather.

As in the first World War, the disease spread rapidly in crowds. This river town more than doubled almost overnight. Houses, garages, stores, old warehouses and abandoned buildings near the levee were jammed to capacity. The city and parish jails have no room for criminals; cells and cots are rented for $1 a night.

England Says She Is Ready To Put Guns Ahead Of Butter

London.—The Axis blockade is costing Britain approximately 62,000 tons of shipping weekly, a maritime source said Sunday, adding "this is not going to slow down our war effort, although we may have to tighten our belts."

If an answer to the shipping raiders is not found in more destroyers for convoy duty or in permission to use Irish ports, this source said, Britain would simply "put guns before butter."

An unspecified number of destroyers is under construction, and the effort to persuade the Irish to permit Britain to use her seaports is continuing.

No Pinch As Yet
"We really haven't felt any pinch from rationing yet," the source said. "We have stocks on hand in quantities we never had in the World War. If the shipping situation worsens we can decrease luxury imports in proportion to the ships lost so that the flow of war materials won't suffer and we can make ends meet for a mighty long time."

Several factors contribute to the British shipping difficulties which have already led to a reduction in meat rations and fruit imports as well as official warnings of possible stricter future rationing.

Record Crowd Attends Singing Concert Last Night

Fulton's Science Hall was crowded beyond seating capacity last night by an enthusiastic crowd to hear a singing concert by the Stamps Baxter Dixie Four quartet and a contest in which five other groups participated. The affair was sponsored by Fulton High and Superintendent J. O. Lewis said that the largest crowd ever to attend an affair of this kind at Science Hall was present last night.

Taking part in the contest were Paducah Mixed Quartet, Murray Kentucky Boys, Clements Junior Trio of McKenzie, Tenn., Lampkin Junior Four from Clinton and Blytheville Junior Four, which can be heard over the radio each morning at 8:30 o'clock. The Clements Junior Trio from McKenzie won the cash award as first prize with Paducah Mixed and Murray Kentucky Boys tying for second honors in popularity.

Mr. Lewis and others in charge of arrangements for the event wish to thank R. E. Sanford and his employees for the use of their public address system and sound car.

Clinton Boys Receive Medals From Railroad

Three Clinton boys, Tommie Wroe, W. Moss Grouse and W. L. Byassee, were awarded medals today at Clinton for meritorious service to the Illinois Central Railroad. Trainmaster H. K. Buck presented the medals. On the night of October 6th, these boys discovered a fire on an overhead highway bridge one mile south of Clinton on fire and blocking the main tracks of the I. C. The matter was reported, thus preventing a possible serious accident.

For over a year the Illinois Central has been recognizing meritorious service rendered by the public as well as its own employees in reporting conditions that might result in interruptions of train operations, damage to property or possible accidents. Medals are presented to persons rendering such service.

Hitler Asks Laval Ouster Explanation

Bern, Switzerland.—Adolf Hitler sent Otto Abetz, his Paris representative, to Vichy Monday for conferences with Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain and foreign observers here believed the visit might mean life or death for the reorganized French Government—possibly even total Nazi occupation of France.

What the future holds for the old Marshal's regime, these observers said, hinges on what explanation he gives Abetz, sometimes called the "Unofficial King of France," regarding the sudden dismissal of Pierre Laval as Vice Premier and Foreign Minister.

Change Called Surprise
Dispatches from Berlin reported authorized sources there said the Cabinet upheaval at Vichy came as a surprise. They said also that not until Germany has obtained full information concerning the purpose, intentions and effects of the change would the Nazi press even be permitted to publish the news of Laval's dismissal.

155 Plants In Los Angeles Building Plane Accessories

Los Angeles.—Keeping pace with the great boom in airplane production, the number of manufacturers of airplane accessories and parts in the Los Angeles area has increased to 115, a Chamber of Commerce survey shows.

Of this 115, the eighty-four from whom figures were available have a total of more than 9,800 employees. The list includes enterprises ranging from public equipment to airplane engines.

Some are only small shops with no more than two, three or four employees. Others include major plants, such as that of Menasco Manufacturing Company, engine makers, with 550 employees, and the Vega Airplane Company, subsidiary of Lockheed, with 2,300 workers. Vega is listed because it is building parts and accessories until plant expansion makes room for plane manufacture.

Latest Chamber of Commerce figures on plane manufacturing proper shows total employment of more than 45,000 persons in the Los Angeles County plants.

These figures exclude the parts and accessories plants and those

WAR IS THREATENED

While we are reading of wars and threatened conflicts across the seas, another first rate war seems to be developing right in our own territory. For, if incidents continue to multiply and if two sheriffs mean what they say, it appears that Tennessee, or at least that part of Tennessee which is represented by Memphis and Shelby county, may soon be in a bitter war with the neighboring state of Mississippi. Perhaps all efforts will be made to localize the war to the two counties of Shelby, in Tennessee, and DeSoto, in Mississippi.

It appears to be a war over the matter of roadhouses and gambling places which are located on the outskirts of Memphis in the Mississippi county of DeSoto. Probably those places get the bulk of their business from Memphis, and their existence is annoying to Sheriff Joyner of Shelby county. Last week the Shelby sheriff erected a large signboard on his side of the line, pointing out the fact that these gambling places did exist and sparing no words in saying that all the places were crooked and operated by thieves. The sheriff also added the information that the sheriff of DeSoto county knew all about these places and could close them up if he desired. Shotgun guards were placed around the big sign in order that the Mississippi folks might be prevented from destroying it.

There was a lull in the war for a few days, and then Sheriff Joyner blasted again. Pointing out the fact that there was some dispute about the location of the state line, leaving the inference that the gambling places might possibly be in the State of Tennessee, after all, the Shelby sheriff stated that he "might" take a few deputies, a few prison vans and invade those places. He proposed to destroy all gambling devices, pick up all those who were found about the places and bring them to Shelby county for trial. The Attorney General for Shelby county, Mr. Gerber, promised to put these persons in the county jail and finally put a ball and chain on each of them.

Such statements do not suit the sheriff of the county where such raids are planned and Sheriff Baxter at once took action. He wrote Sheriff Joyner a letter in which he said that he would treat him as any other law violator if he caught him engaged in these raids. He stated that he had deputized hundreds of citizens to help him repel any invasion and had received offers of volunteers from hundreds of men from other counties. So it can be seen that we have all the elements of a first class war in the vicinity of Memphis. Perhaps Sheriff Joyner will stay his hand until the powder plant is finished at Millington, for if such a war starts it will require a lot of powder.

In the meantime, the matter is being taken up on what might be called the diplomatic front. Newspapers in Mississippi are commenting on the affair quite acidly and a majority of them are of the opinion that Memphis is not all sweetness and bliss when it comes to gambling. Quite a number of Mississippi newspaper men, as well as other citizens, have said they can find plenty of gambling in Memphis, although Sheriff Joyner says that this is not true. "Shelby county is clean," he says quite absurdly. "These places across the line are getting money from Memphis people and I propose to put a stop to it."

DENTIST, DUCHESS AND AN EMPRESS

The story of the duchess and the dentist livens up the picture pages and enables Louisville's School of Dentistry to shine with reflected glory.

A number of years ago another American dentist, not so young nor yet as personable as the present-day hero, saved the life of an empress. The scene was Paris and the empress was the lovely Eugenie, of a sudden stranded by the surrender at Sedan and the debacle that threatened the very foundations of French society. Eugenie was, to all intents and purposes, a prisoner in the Tuileries. To escape to England was the problem, to disappoint the mob that turned against her with a ferocity as unreasoning as the adulation that had been hers but a brief season earlier.

At this juncture her dentist, a Philadelphian by the name of Evans, offered his services. He proposed to escort her to the coast where a boat would be easily available if no suspicions were aroused. Disguised as the doctor's sister or maid, the record is not quite clear, the lady who had set the fashions for a fashionable world, crept down a back-staircase, entered a hired carriage, fled Paris. Not many days later the Commune burned the Tuileries as a gesture of farewell and proceeded to mess up things with an efficiency German looters may have learned from them.

The dentist, true to his promise, in no way affrightened by repeated challenges, placed the empress aboard a boat and returned to his patients. Not many years later he died leaving a neat sum to Philadelphia's medical schools.

Eugenie languished in exile. Her son, the Prince Imperial, had been killed by Zulus in a quarrel not his own, and an affray not too creditable to his British companions. The dynasty died out. Before the last chapter was written, Eugenie had given her name to a baby princess who is today the former queen of Spain.—Courier-Journal.

The second rural community in Rowan county has received electricity.

Elliott county farmers are selling hatchery eggs at 14 cents premium.

A "Soybean festival" attracted large attendance in Henderson county.

It is not likely that open warfare will develop. There may be a shooting, more or less indirectly, but it does not appear likely that armed forces will move back and forth across the state line. In any event, the newspapers of Memphis have had some interesting news for the last part of the year.

GENERAL MEETING OF W. M. U. HELD YESTERDAY

The general meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church was held yesterday afternoon at the church with a good attendance. The opening song was "Joy To The World," followed with a devotional given by Mrs. M. L. Rhodes, the theme of which was "Looking Unto Jesus." Her scripture was Matthew 2:1-2. Prayer was led by Mrs. G. D. Robertson.

The theme of the program was by Mrs. Morgan Wallace, gave a charge of Mrs. Carl Hastings. The room was then darkened and before the group was a miniature Christmas scene of the babe in the manger, the shepherds on the hill, the wise men on their camels, with a background of blue sky and one large electric star. Miss Ruth Knighton softly sang "Silent Night" and Mrs. S. M. DeMyer gave "His Star Again In The East." Mrs. J. S. Mills, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. J. E. Hannepin and Mrs. E. A. CLUB LAST NIGHT WITH MRS. MATTHEWS

Mrs. DeWitt Matthews delightfully entertained her bridge club last night at her home near Fulton when she was hostess to seven club members and one visitor, Miss Lily B. Allen.

Early in the evening a well-planned pot-luck supper was enjoyed. The rest of the evening was spent in contract and holding high score at the conclusion of the games was Miss Bessie Jones. She was given a luncheon set as prize. Mrs. Hal Kizer, with second high score, received a pen and pencil Coulter received an attractive gift for introducing the most new members to the club. At this time, the Aid presented gifts to Mrs. Vaden and to Mrs. Roberts for their faithful work as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, throughout the year.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. H. A. Coulter and during the social-hour the hostesses served a salad plate to the following:

Mrs. Claud Linton, Mrs. H. A. Coulter, Mrs. Bill Gossum, Mrs. E. M. Vaden, Mrs. Fred Worth, Mrs. Bob Wade, Mrs. R. L. Bushart, Mrs. Rupert Stille, Mrs. Morgan Wallace, Mrs. Clarence Puckett, Mrs. A. B. Roberts, Mrs. J. O. Anderson, Mrs. Fred Roberson, Mrs. Eph Dawes, Mrs. A. W. Mullins, Mrs. Gus Bard, one new member Mrs. J. H. Lawrence and one visitor, Mrs. Jewell Morris.

A Christmas letter was read to the group from Miss Sara Linton. An enjoyable feature of the party was the filling of Christmas baskets for poor families with each one attending bringing something for the baskets.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore announced the birth of a daughter, Margaret Sue, born Monday night, December 16, at the Fulton hospital. The baby weighed 8 3/4 pounds.

LADIES' AID IN MEETING YESTERDAY

The Ladies' Aid of the Cumberland Presbyterian church held its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Arnold Mullins on the Mayfield road. Mrs. Gus Bard was co-hostess.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. M. Vaden, and opened with a song, "Silent Night." Mrs. Fred Worth assisted. Following a lengthy business session, the nominating committee named the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. Morgan Wallace, president; Mrs. E. M. Vaden, vice-president; Mrs. A. B. Roberts, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Vaden then presented Mrs. R. L. Bushart a lovely gift for best attendance during the past year and Mrs. H. A.
