Beloved Methodist Minister Superannuated After 46 Years of Service to His Church

One of the best beloved Methodist ministers in the South and one who has given many of his 46 years of ministerial service to Calloway county has retired to the quiet and peace of his Calloway county farm. He is Rev. R. H. Pigue, who was superannuated at the annual Methodist Conference of the Methodist church in Memphis last week.

For the past five years, Brother Pigue has been pastor of the Hazel church and circuit, being granted a special extension by request of the conference but since four years in the regular limit and five years the extreme limit he was obliged to surrender this post. Brother Pigue did not ask to be placed on the retired list but indicated his desire to "carry on" if he could remain on the Hazel circuit, so that he could continue to live on his farm. However, the church decided that this could not be since he has reached the age for retirement he was placed on the retired list. During these years he has performed hundreds of marriages, including those of some of the most prominent couples of Calloway county, and has been a member of the church for many of the leading citizens of this section. Other pastorate that he has served are Newbern, Gadsden, Gibson, Fulton and South Fulton.

Brother Pigue is the father of eight sons, all of whom are living, and six are engaged in newspaper work. Marvin is in the railroad business in New Orleans, R. W. is a concrete contractor in St. Louis while the six newspaper boys are Murray, Dick, Neville, Paul, New York; Bill, Pittsburg; Sid, Murphysboro, Tenn., and Bob, Sports-editor of the Evening Appeal, Memphis.

Brother Pigue was educated after entering the ministry and for seven years published a religious newspaper called "The Methodist" with a circulation of 5,000.

Once each year the boys and their father hold an annual reunion on the farm southeast of Murray, near Hazel. No matter where the sons may be they always gather around the hearthside on the Rev. Pigue's farm.

Brother Pigue is far from broken-down and was not a candidate for superannuation. When they would talk about it to him he would say:

"I don't know about that. They mention it every year. But I'm still good for a number of years, and I can't seem to get the idea of dropping out of the harness."

Mr. Pigue was superannuated at the Thursday session of the conference.

"Riding in a buggy through all sorts of weather out to a charge are going to be too much for you," the presiding elder told him. "You have done more than your share in the service, and I would rather see you retire now, before you break down under the load."

So the 46 years of his ministry comes to a close and he has retired to his little Kentucky farm to enjoy a well-earned rest.

William-Holland Wedding. Miss Trava Billington and Mr. Edd Holland were united in marriage Sunday, November 16. The bride was dressed in a beautiful blue ensemble.

Mrs. Holland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conn Billington. Mr. Holland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ciesle Holland.

A delicious wedding dinner was given at the home of the bride's parents. Those present were Estell Williams, Marvin Billington, Lela Billington, Guy Billington, Lela Morris, Henry Billington, Woodrow Billington, Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, and Mrs. J. M. Billington, grandmother of the bride. Their hosts of friends and relatives wish them a happy and prosperous life.

Frazer, Berry & Melugin, Inc., First Floor, Gatlin Building, Murray, Kentucky.

Gentlemen:

We desire to express our appreciation of the prompt and efficient manner in which you have served us in connection with the unfortunate accident in which our truck was involved near Murphysboro, Ill., the 26th of last month.

Although the accident occurred almost 175 miles from here and we notified you of the accident about 11 o'clock at night, your claim man was on the ground 5 hours after he received notice and rendered every possible service to us in connection with the accident. Not only did he investigate the accident thoroughly in a manner which should help to keep the claim down within the limits of our policy but he arranged to have our damaged truck transported back here and the cattle transported on to St. Louis immediately in order to avoid the delay that would have been occasioned by their legal attachment, and stated to us that should the property be attached he would immediately sign a Release of Attachment Bond for us without charge. We consider that additional service outside of the policy contract and ask that you accept our hearty thanks.

We appreciate the employment of an efficient attorney in Murphysboro at the expense of your Company to look after our interests, and wish to express our appreciation of the manner in which you have handled every detail in connection with this misfortune.

Very truly yours,

SHROAT BROTHERS

Let a Convention Choose.

Considerable interest has already been manifested in selecting the Democrat who shall have the honor of carrying the party's banner in the governor's race in Kentucky next year. The early announcement of Lieutenant Governor Breathitt was the starting signal for a number of editors and editorial leaders to institute a campaign for their respective favorite. Encouraged by the Democratic victory in the recent Senatorial race, would-be governors and their friends from Middlesboro to the Big Sandy have been popping up with claims of greatness and merit for themselves or their able May 10th, the Governor's chair with credit to himself and advantage to the state. Yet, most of them are too sectional in their attitudes and policies to permit them to take preference over other, available material.

The mere fact that a man is a good man and has served his community, his county or his district with loyalty and faithfulness is not sufficient qualification for the highest executive office of the commonwealth. Many eminent characteristics are essential in a chief executive, who can carry Kentucky forward with accomplishments instead of promises. He must be more than a "business man" or a "politician"; he must not only be intelligent, capable and untraced in the ways of government and administration but he must also retain the "common touch" with the many classes of people who make up this great state. He must be more than brilliant; he must have the knack of getting honest things done honestly.

Nothing could more please our reader but when Kentucky's friends that to see Kentucky's Democrats embroiled in a long, drawn-out quarrel over the respective merits of sectional favorites. This dissension and a bitter primary that will engender animosity and factionalism are their fondest hopes for creating breaches in our ranks that will enable them to win an easy and unexpected victory and make the G. O. P. in Kentucky for another four years.

The only pathway to avoid this disaster is to select the Democratic candidate in a state convention and the choice should be made as early as possible in 1931.

And this is not the only reason

JUST JOTS
By Joe

Now a writer says that a woman's best years are after she is 50. But how few will admit that they are at their best.

The country really needs four per cent money lots, worse than four per cent beer.

Have you nominated your candidate for Governor yet? Only 418 have thus far been nominated. Get your choice in early!

Don't forget to give Thanks just because everything hasn't been breaking just right lately. We still have more to be thankful for than any nation on earth. Suppose we had Mussolini bossing everything.

Orators came all the way from Oxford, England, to debate the question, "Resolved that emergence of woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life". But after they decide what we want to know is what the men are going to do about it?

While folks are getting scared over money matters, it is well to remember that every piece of currency in your pocket is a mere scrap of paper without the faith and confidence of the American people in the stability of the country. Folks set run over and crushed by fools losing their heads in a crisis.

All Murray joins in extending a most sincere and hearty welcome to the amount of their stockholdings in the event... The borrowers may lose much sleep over wondering if their loans will be called at an inconvenient time. But the depositors have preferred claims and it is very seldom that they lose anything in the end. The amount of money lost by depositors from bank failures is almost negligible.

The articles of the city financiers, while sometimes disastrous to their victims, mean nothing to the well-managed country bank, such as those of Marshall County, just as they make front wave news for the big city dailies. Editor J. C. Olds in Benton Tribune-Democrat.

Fifty hundred tons of hay and 20,000 bushels of grain were shipped into Franklin county last month.

The greater portion of the loans of a country bank are placed right at home. It assembles the small deposits of many people into larger sums which may be available for business or agricultural use. In this way it benefits the community in which it is located. The big banks scatter their money all over the country, even to foreign lands, but the small banks know where their money goes. A certain portion must be placed in quickly salable bonds or notes to provide for a sudden emergency but a good share of local money deposited in the country banks is loaned right out again in the country. Thus it is kept at home and aids in upbuilding the county. None of the loans are very large and the fact that they are widely scattered over the county makes for safety.

While banks sometimes fail, it is very seldom that the depositors lose anything. The stockholders may have something to worry about as they are responsible for

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement.

For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty of line and color, new luxury, new comfort and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

In every curve and sweep of Chevrolet's modern lines—in every detail of its smart new Fisher bodies, you will see the fine hand of the master designer and the skillful craftsman. And the more closely you inspect it, the more deeply impressed you will be.

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the smart new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper and unusually efficient. Due to the increased wheelbase, the lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional sleekness and grace. And the new Fisher bodies combine with this more attractive exterior appearance, a new degree of interior luxury.

The upholstery is of fine quality mohair or broadcloth, carefully tailored and fitted. The number of individual springs in the rear seat cushions has been increased by 25%. The windshield and windows have been redesigned to provide wider vision. And all interior fittings have been made more pleasing to the eye.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier, deeper and stronger than before. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism of the worm and sector type; an easier shifting transmission. In fact, every vital feature of the new car has been made better and more satisfactory to the owner.

Obviously, these many improvements are responsible for a higher standard of quality than before. And they become doubly significant when you consider that they are offered in a car which provides the smooth, quiet, flexible performance of a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—the comfort of four long semi-elliptic springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers—the safety of a gasoline tank at the rear of the car—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.

AT NEW LOW PRICES

Fine as it is, the new Chevrolet Six now sells at lower prices—making the economy and satisfaction of Chevrolet ownership even more outstanding. We urge you to come in and see the Bigger and Better Chevrolet. Its modern design reflects the spirit of the times—and it represents a value which will commend the interest of every buyer in the low-price field.

SAVINGS accounts are larger than ever before, more insurance is being written, wise investors are buying good bonds—financial security is a common desire.

It is always a good time to buy bonds, but now is a particularly good time. Public utility debenture bonds are lower in price, and higher in yield than in many years—including bonds with security unimpaired by the slowing down of business. Such a bond is the Associated Gas and Electric Company Gold Debenture, due 1968

The gas output of the Associated System during the 12 months ended September 30 increased 3.8% over the same period of last year, and electric output 2.3%. Operating subsidiaries of the Company produce over 81% of the total System operating revenue.

These Gold Debenture Bonds are playing an important role in building financial security for 11,000 customers and other investors in the areas served by the Associated System. They have invested a total of about $6,300,000 in recent months. These customer investors derive satisfaction from knowing their money is working for them shoulder to shoulder with that of conservative investors, including banks and insurance companies, who have invested over $40,000,000.

Conservatism in Banking Means Safety For Depositors

Banking is essentially the field of the conservative, because conservatism in banking means safety, and safety is the prime consideration of every bank depositor. Beside it everything else is incidental.

A conservative in banking, as in every other avenue of life, is not inclined to take risks. He encourages and promotes legitimate business, but does not chase rainbows,
and loan depositors' money on doubtful ventures.

The Bank of Murray is essentially a conservative institution, because its officers and directors are that type of business men. For over forty years this sound policy has carried it through panics and periods of severe deflation,
and it has always emerged unscathed.

Every dollar deposited in the Bank of Murray is amply protected by capital, surplus and profits, in addition to our long record of successful banking.

Conservatism in us means safety and security to you as a depositor, and it is upon this basis that we solicit your funds.

STATE G. O. P. MAY BE MOIST IN 1932

By Elric Hill
In Louisville (Courier-Journal)—
Washington, Nov. 18.—Word was carried to President Hoover's political advisers today that Kentucky Republican leaders—some of them—are eyeing the wet bandwagon.

In support of it was the discussion that Edwin P. Morrow has been declared the party's 1932 Senatorial hope by the ruling coterie in the State organization.
Morrow for Senator against Alben W. Barkley in 1932, and Mayor Harrison of Louisville, for Governor next year—that is the state projected as a result of conferences here during the last few days.

Close political friends of former Governor Morrow, at the same time, took pains to express their conviction that Mr. Morrow, although not a member of the Hoover administration, is so convinced that prohibition has failed, that he cannot be considered available as a dry candidate.

Mr. Hoover's closest political advisers figuratively leaped with astonishment when evidence was borne to them that it is possible that Kentucky will send a wet or moist delegation to the 1932 convention.

Kentucky, Hoover's
stronghold of 1932, have never been reckoned with, heretofore
save as a wholly dry State, in calculating the political problem deposited in the Administration's path by the prohibition dispute,
and the wet triumphs of November 4. Wet threats chiefly have come from the Eastern Republicans, some of whom have proclaimed themselves ready to force a party split, if need be, to prevent the next convention from again taking the dry side. Now, by every sign, both from their observation of the State's trend, and from the general elections results, some of the Kentucky leaders are putting themselves in a position to make the plan.

This revelation comes at a time when speculation in Washington is widespread as to how far recent threats from dry groups have influenced the Administration and the Wickham Commission to referring from a trend for a light wines and beer recommendation.

Five hundred tons of pulverized
lime were used in Powell county
last month, and the county agent says half that much will be used in November.

Thanksgiving News
of Hospital News

these issues from time to time we promise to try to make it as much like a wood-burning letter as possible. We are always open to suggestions and criticisms. We may not be able to please every one, but we shall strive to pass on to our friends what we hope will be of interest to them.
Several particularly interesting articles to the public are included while a column gives the whereabouts of former nurses and employees. Of interest also are articles describing the many hard details of operating a hospital, a comparison of hospital past and present, and what it means to be in it under right conditions.
The News is also liberally patronized with advertisements, among them being Lee & Elliott, Model Chemists, W. T. Sledd & Co., Dale, Subbield & Co., Holbrook-Hart Drug Co., Murray Paint & Wall Paper Co., McClrath & Ross, Lewis H. Branan, Wear Drug Co., Franco, Berry & Melugin, J. T. FORMER RESIDENT KILLED IN WRECK

William F. Spiceland, a former resident of the Locust Grove vicinity, was accidentally killed in an automobile wreck while on his way to visit his old neighborhood last Saturday, near Piqua, Ohio. For several years Mr. Spiceland, with his wife and daughters, have resided in River Rouge, Mich., where he is employed in a lumber yard.
His remains were returned to River Rouge, where burial took place. Only meager facts have been learned of the accident causing his death.

Hazel News

Joe Leo Wilson, formerly a resident of the Oak Grove vicinity, five miles west of Hazel, was accidentally killed by an automobile on Friday, November 21, in Detroit. Mr. Wilson had resided in Detroit for the past few years and had just left his home for his work at about 5 o'clock in the morning. He was standing in the safety zone waiting for a street car, when a speeding auto failed to observe the safety zone, struck him. He was removed to a hospital, but died the same morning about eleven o'clock without regaining consciousness.
The body arrived in Hazel Sunday morning. Burial took place at Oak Grove cemetery Sunday afternoon. Rev. R. F. Gregory, pastor of the church, conducted the services. W. D. Kelly was the undertaker in charge.

A Short Talk on Harmony

By R. H. Emerson
Harmony. Without it we would be looking upon an ugly mass of stone. Let us turn our eyes to nature. See the noble mountains piercing the sky, the valleys. The river winding its way like a silver thread to the distant sea. Thus it is with music that beautiful art which comes nearer to touching the soul than any other. Without harmony in music our ears would be assailed with a jangling discord. Music would be monotonous in the extreme. It would lose its appealing power. Its pleasing qualities. Harmony is the very foundation of music. What a grand thing for the music

SHOP EARLY

Work on the grade and drain on the Murray-Hazel road is progressing nicely. A large levee just north of Hazel is complete and the concrete piers of the bridge at that place are being constructed. Also about four miles of the grade and drain is practically completed and several culverts and small bridges have been built. When the road is complete it will shorten the distance between Hazel and Murray about a mile and connect Murray and Paris with a direct route.
The Jno. M. Perkins Co., of Frankfort, Ky., are contractors in charge of the road.

TEACHERS, THE PLAYER OR THE SINGER

to have a full and complete knowledge of this beautiful and interesting subject. No one should be permitted to teach music unless he or she understands the principals and laws of harmony. How can any one teach music intelligently who does not understand its grammar? For harmony is to music what grammar is to language. To express thoughts or to use any language correctly, it is necessary to be familiar with the rules that govern the correct position and use of words; the relation of one word to the other in the sentence. Now just imagine our public school teachers trying to teach English without knowing any thing about its grammar. It would be a failure, so it is with those undertaking to teach music.
