THE LISTENING POST

It is strange what creatures of habit we are. For days and months and years we do a certain thing a certain way and then something comes along to make a slight change necessary and it seems that we will never become accustomed to this change. It takes many days to grow accustomed to any slight change. One notices it when the month changes and a start is made to write a letter or a check. Nine times out of ten we will use the wrong month. When a year changes, as it will shortly, it will require several days for us to write 1941 without hesitation, and many letters and checks will be written on January 1, 1941, with the old 1940 being written in.

The other day Kelly Lowe and Sam Brown decided to change their front door around. These two excellent gentlemen claim that with the door opening as it has been opening they receive a lot of cold air as they stand at the cashier's place. Of course, a fellow using the first three booths on the other side of the house will now receive all the cold air and no doubt they will enjoy it. I usually use one of these booths when I am there eating a dollar dinner—which is not very frequent—but I am willing to do my part in keeping these two men comfortable. They stay there more than I do, and I think that Dutchman Eulen is the only customer who has entered a stern protest. The Dutchman just naturally likes to object, and it never matters whether he has a reason or not—he likes to object.

But changing that door brought on more confusion than one might believe possible. I know that I tried to kick the door down eight times before I saw that the opening had been changed. Then I went out after about five minutes and again I wrestled mightily with the door on the wrong side.

That night, being driven away from home from various causes and having to spend some time downtown, I used Lowe's place for my loafing. A group of fellows made up of Bonus Callahan, Kelly Lowe, Ward McClellan, Buren Spence, Jim Stone and Punk Butterworth spent some time in discussing the war and deciding what strategy England should be using. After we settled the war situation we fell to amusing ourselves by watching the customers start in on the wrong side of the door.

Finally we saw Orian Winstead approach the door. He grabbed confidently at the door handle—where it used to be—and appeared greatly puzzled. For two or three minutes he clawed at the door without any success and, watching through the glass, we saw how puzzled he was. Finally he thought to look on the other side and found the handle and came on in. "I see you have changed your door," he told Kelly.

Kelly looked at him quite solemnly. "No, I reckon not," he said gravely. "It's just like it has been for years. Isn't it, Ward?" and he turned to Ward at the table. Ward was as solemn as three or four owls. "Yes, it's just like it has been for the last eight years," he said. "That's as far back as I can remember it, but I know it has not been changed in that time." Bonus and I agreed quite heartily, and Orian began to look unhappy. "What is this—a liar's convention?" he demanded. "I know darned well that the door has been changed. What's wrong with you fellows?"

"The trouble is with you," Ward retorted. "If you will keep on drinking too much at Christmas you'll always have trouble opening doors. Come back here tomorrow when you are sober and you will have any trouble with that door."

But I don't think we made Orian believe that the door had not been changed. If so, here is official notice to him that the door really opens on the other side now.

British Fleet Unchallenged In Adriatic

Rome Source Confirms Report Nazi Planes Ferrying Fascists

LONDON.—Britain's Mediterranean fleet, in one of its most intrepid exploits of the war, has penetrated the Adriatic, heavily shelled the vital Italian supply base of Valona on the Albanian coast and swept the sea vainly in search for Italian ships to fight, the admiralty announced today.

Battleships of the fleet hurled almost 100 tons of high explosive shells on Valona, the admiralty said, without meeting opposition, while cruisers and destroyers swept the sea as far up the coast as Bari, on the Italian side, and Durazzo, on the Albanian side.

"No Opposition" "Throughout the operations no opposition from the enemy was encountered," the admiralty said succinctly of the bombardment by its battleships.

"No enemy shipping was encountered," it commented of the sweep of its cruisers and destroyers made into the Adriatic in search of a fight.

The bombardment and the sweep of what has been called a private Italian lake was carried out Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Vice Adm. Sir Andrew Browne-Cunningham, commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, led the battleships which poured their great shells into Valona, in the Strait of Otranto just inside the entrance to the Adriatic.

Vice Adm. H. D. Pridham-Wipell commanded the cruiser and destroyer force which swept up the Adriatic as far as Bari and Durazzo, the big and important Italian base on the Northwest Albanian coast.

Taranto Raided Last month British airplanes, operating above the protective guns of the fleet had raided Taranto, inside the heel of the Italian boot, in an attempt to drive out the Italian fleet from there to face a fight.

But in its new exploit the British fleet had gone inside the Adriatic itself.

Bari, on the Italian side, and Durazzo, on the Albanian side, are well inside the "lake."

(Only a few minutes after the issuance of the admiralty communiqué the Italian high command communicated that British planes had bombed Brindisi, on the Italian Adriatic coast 70 miles below Bari, in four waves.)

After the raid on Taranto, the fleet had returned to Alexandria, Egypt.

Miss Eleanor Ruth Jones will arrive today from Willsboro, La., to spend the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jones, Edmonds street.

Dog Gets Drunk And Is Sent To Jail To Sleep It Off

Brockton, Mass.—A good-natured police dog, which took "one too many," wound up in a police cell yesterday to "sober up" after giving an uncanny-like exhibition on Main Street that puzzled even the dog officer.

Shoppers were amazed to see the big animal leap in the air and then roll over on his back. When Dog Officer Frank McKay reached the scene, he noticed the dog's eyes were dilated.

"Give me your paw, old boy," said McKay. The dog tried to comply but fell on his face.

The source of the dog was some window cleaning fluid, containing denatured alcohol, which had spilled into the street.

POLICE COURT

Roy Colley of Palmersville was fined $2 and costs on a charge of public drunkenness yesterday before R. A. Fowlkes in South Fulton police court.

Anyway, women are hard to check when they plan to do something or go somewhere. Maybe their husbands told them "they couldn't." If so, that was sufficient inspiration to come. So they came, strong with wagon and teams, bringing most of the food. After six o'clock, the visiting dinners came, more than we expected. But again we were nervous. At home, when we just have one biscuit we can either draw straws for it or else break it in two, but when guests are present, that's rather an embarrassing thing to do.

Well, the miracle happened! The neck and ribs either turned into white meat or when "case of imagination" ran its course into reality, we somehow discovered that we had plenty of food for a good hungry crowd. Cleared $29.00 on 126 plates at 25c each.

E. C. Roddie, Local Railroad Man, Shoots Self Through Head This Morning; Dies Instantly

E. C. Roddie, Jr., 44, employee of the Illinois Central Railroad for the past 10 years, committed suicide this morning at his home in the Baldrige apartments about 9:30 by shooting himself through the head. He died instantly.

Magistrate Homer Roberts held an inquest this morning and the verdict was that death came as a result of self-inflicted wounds made by a .38 revolver.

Roddie had been in bad health for the past few months and his long illness was thought to be the reason for his act. He had been in the I. C. hospital for sometime, but was discharged recently. He worked for the first time yesterday at the round-house since September and his wife stated that he seemed to be feeling much better. He got up and ate breakfast this morning, then told his wife he was going into the bedroom to lie down for a while. His children heard the shot and summoned their mother, but he was dead when they found him.

He leaves his wife Mrs. Anna Yokeley Roddie and two children, Lillian Pearl, 4, and Laura Ann, 7. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Roddie, Sr., of Paducah also survive. His father is a retired shop superintendent at Paducah. The Roddies moved to Fulton from Vicksburg several years ago. He has been working as machinist at the round house during his residence here.

During their stay in Fulton the Roddies have made many friends and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Roddie and the children in their bereavement.

Funeral arrangements are as yet incomplete and will be announced in the next issue of the paper.

Company Loses Claim For Water In Chickens

Chicago.—A municipal court jury Thursday decided against the claim of a soup manufacturing company that John L. Dick Colfax, Iowa, poultry dealer, in marketing chickens injected water and then froze them for added weight.

Dick sued the company for $1,229 for poultry delivered and the company countered with a suit to recover $36,506, the amount it claimed it had paid for water in the chickens over a period of two years. The jury made it a clean sweep for Dick by awarding him the $1,229 also.

Ban On Dancing Lifted By Nazis During Holidays

Berlin.—Germany, which forbids dancing when war calls for the exertion of the nation's fullest energies, Thursday lifted the ban which has been in effect since the drive into the Low Countries and France last spring.

Germans may dance every day between Christmas and New Year's and three times a week otherwise.

On New Year's Eve, however, Berlin's night spots must close at 11 p. m., as usual.

FULGHAM NEWS

By Miss Docie Jones

How we can suffer through imagination when we allow it to lead us on and on, down a dark rainy path, descending gradually until we reach that state called an "awful predicament." Well, that's where we were during that all-day rain and Thursday with a church supper scheduled at Mr. Pleasant that night, planning to feed 110 people.

Miss Imagination argued both sides of the question and we like-wise agreed. We couldn't "put it off" because most of the visitors were on hard roads or gravel with plates already bought and a rainy day doesn't dull the appetite. Then Miss Imagination stepped on the negative side and said "You can't put it on." Nearly half of our folks furnishing food live on dirt roads and they can't get there with the eats. Again we agreed and suffered more for the chickens were killed, pies were made and the church already filled with long tables. We felt like those on program would be there for three of them were Methodist preachers and we knew the chickens would help to "toll" them along.

Anyway, women are hard to check when they plan to do something or go somewhere. Maybe their husbands told them "they couldn't." If so, that was sufficient inspiration to come. So they came, strong with wagon and teams, bringing most of the food. After six o'clock, the visiting dinners came, more than we expected. But again we were nervous. ## Boyd Raeburn To Play For Christmas Dance

"Rhythm by Raeburn" is a familiar phrase throughout the middle west. Boyd Raeburn, who brings his popular dance band to Union City on Christmas Night for the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce dance has been featured at hotels, in theatres, ballrooms and smart clubs from Memphis to Minneapolis.

He has played at the Congress in Chicago, the Nicolet in Minneapolis, the Peabody in Memphis, the Muehleback in Kansas City, the Jefferson in St. Louis, and the St. Paul in the city of that name.

Boyd Raeburn played in Nashville after the Vandy-Tenn., game this year and was so well liked that he was booked to play a return engagement for the Proms to be held in February at Vanderbilt. This is in itself unusual as college students seldom want the same band twice, preferring to hear a new orchestra on each occasion.

As a high school athletic in South Dakota, Boyd Raeburn won letters in four sports, was graduated as valedictorian with the highest grades ever received in the school and won several scholarships, one to the University of Chicago, which he accepted.

He began athletic activity in college, but injured a finger playing on the varsity baseball team and began to concentrate on music. He has studied piano since he was six years old and had taken up saxophone and clarinet, too.

In his sophomore year he organized his orchestra, and began to receive such interesting commercial offers that he became a professional band leader, and "Rhythm by Raeburn," now a by-word in ballrooms, hotels and theatres throughout the middle west.

The dance will be held at the New Gymnasium, beginning promptly at 9 o'clock Christmas Night.

Kennedy Quoted As Claiming U. S. Defense Lags

Washington.—Representative Ludlow (D., Ind.), Thursday told the House Joseph P. Kennedy, retiring Ambassador to Great Britain, has declared "our production for defense is nowhere near adequate for the protection of our situation, let alone aid to Britain."

Ludlow said Kennedy had written him that it "would be suicidal" for the United States to "get into the war in our present state of unpreparedness."

"While our own defenses are weak," he quoted Kennedy, "we are limited to what we can do for Britain, even though we want to. Therefore our first obligation is to speed up defense with all our might."

Use Water And Wet Sand To Fireproof That Yule Tree

Washington.—Water, water and more water—that's an expert's tip on the best method of fireproofing your Christmas tree to prevent a lot of grief during the holiday season.

Dr. S. H. Ingberg, chief of the Bureau of Standards' fireproofing division, said that years of research with all suggested tree fireproofing methods had shown that the best precaution against fires is a fresh and moist tree and observation of usual safety measures.

2 Rules Are Given Other experts favor treating the trees with chemical solutions, but this method is not advised for all types of trees and may be injurious to some.

Ingberg said good results could be obtained by following these simple rules:

1—Pare the butt of the tree with a sharp knife, making vertical cuts some six inches up the trunk. This will promote water absorption.

2—Place the tree in a large container—bucket, wide mouth jar or crock—and pack wet sand, moss or leaves around the trunk. Put plenty of water in the container and add more at frequent intervals as the tree uses up the moisture.

"This should keep the tree fresh and moist for a considerable time under most conditions," he said. "But high temperatures will cause rapid drying out and spraying with a mixture of borax and boric acid will help."

He suggested a solution of seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid and three quarts of water for this purpose.

The Agriculture Department's forest service recommends a special chemical solution to be placed in the container to keep the tree fresh for a longer period. This calls for five grams of citric acid and six grams of malic acid or peels in three quarts of water, to which fifteen grams of calcium carbonate are added.

Reports Hint Germans Are Aiding Italy

Estimated 20,000 Italians Trapped In Vicinity Of Base

Berlin.—Enough evidence of concern over stumbling Italian military operations in Greece and Africa appeared here tonight to give some support to widely heard reports that Germany has decided to crutch up her ailing ally.

Any news of actual military plants could not be reported even if known. But occasional chuckles once heard over Italian reverses in Greece were reported in strictly private quarters to have disappeared since the British naval air force launched its smashing attack on the Italian navy at Taranto and British forces commenced a somewhat precipitous withdrawal of Fascist forces from North Africa.

Nazi Planes Aid Duce (An informed Rome source confirmed today a report that German transport planes are carrying Italian troops to Albania and said Italian-flown Stuka dive-bombers are in Italian service.)

For the past several days various Berlin papers have carried articles emphasizing that the Italian reverses merely are casual instances in the course of a war which has gone steadily in favor of the Reich from the beginning.

With the possible view to drawing attention away from Italian reverses, Adolf Hitler's own Volkischer Beobachter declared that after all the war was going to be won in the zone of the British Isles and not elsewhere.

PROPER FERTILIZER GIVES BIG TOBACCO

Gail Creamer of Fleming county believes he has struck the right combination in fertilizing tobacco land. At least he cut an average of 1,466 sticks to the acre this season and never had made over 1,100 sticks before. He told County Agent Orem LaMaster that he broadcast 375 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate to the acre and in the row put a mixture of 125 pounds of superphosphate and 100 pounds each of ammonium sulphate and sulphate of potash.

IS GERMANY CONTEMPLATING AN INVASION OF SPAIN

There is something ominous in the lull in the Luftwaffe over the British Isles and the almost complete cessation of military activity in Germany while Italy is reeling under the blows of the Greeks in Albania and the British in Libya. The only explanation is that Hitler is preparing to strike, but where? On this question all Europe is speculating.

The recent political shake-up in Vichy indicated that Hitler may have planned to rush aid to his hard-pressed Axis partner by way of unoccupied France. The disclosure of Pierre Laval's attempted coup d'état also disclosed the possible move, to embark troops from some French port for Albania and North Africa. Sending an army through Italy would be too arduous and dubious and undertaking at this time. The soldiers would have to cross the snow-covered Alps with inadequate railway facilities and they would be sure to be unwelcome to the Italian people.

For the time being the campaign through unoccupied France is out. The Germans, however, do not have to cross through unoccupied France to get to the Spanish border. A strip of coastal territory connects Spain with occupied France, and, according to Helen Kirkpatrick, London correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, it is generally believed in the British capital that an Axis invasion of Spain is imminent. A march into the Iberian peninsula could easily be made with or without the consent of the Fascist regimes in Madrid and Lisbon and it would be another blitzkrieg.

The conquest of Spain and Portugal would have a double effect of tremendous importance. It would divert British activity from the Eastern to the Western Mediterranean. It would put into the hands of Germany the Canary Islands, the Madeiras and the Azores more menacing to British shipping and more threatening to the Americas than the French naval and air base at Dakar.

Hitler follows the line of least resistance and war-weary Spain offers that line. His most effective weapon against Britain is his counter blockade, and an Iberian campaign might greatly strengthen that campaign. Both logic and speculation point to a German invasion of the Iberian peninsula. —Courier-Journal.

The Gleaners Sunday School class of the Cumberland Presbyterian church enjoyed its annual Christmas party Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turbeville on the Union City highway with thirty-six members of the class attending.

The Turbeville home was beautifully decorated throughout in the Yuletide motif. The archway outside the front door was marked with a string of colored lights and adding attractiveness to the interior of the home was a huge Christmas tree, on which hung a gift for each one present. The dining table, covered with snow, also held a lovely Christmas scene with Santa Claus driving his reindeer across.

Games and contests were enjoyed by those attending and then the group gathered around the piano to sing Christmas carols. The class presented the teacher, Mrs. Gus Bard, a special gift in recognition of her splendid service throughout the past year, and a lovely gift to Mrs. E. R. Ladd, also, who was formerly teacher of the class. The members were very glad to have Mrs. Ladd at the party.

The gifts from the tree were distributed by Santa Claus and a delightful Christmas party plate was served. The plates consisted of Christmas tree, bell and star open-face sandwiches, a red salad of cranberries, a snow man of marshmallows and coffee.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mullins, Mrs. Jewell Morris, Rev. Mrs. E. R. Ladd, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Wallace, Mrs. Clifton Linton, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Stille, Mrs. Buren Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bryan, Mrs. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Puckett, Mrs. Eph Dawes, Mrs. A. ## AUXILIARY OF B. OF R. T. ENJOYS PARTY

The Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen met at the home of Mrs. E. H. Knighton on Second street last night for its annual Christmas party. For the event Mrs. Knighton's home was beautifully decorated with a pretty tree holding gifts for each guest.

Attending were fourteen regular members and one visitor, Mrs. Allison of Akron, Ohio, who enjoyed games and contests throughout the evening.

Winning prizes were Mrs. Paul Workman, Mrs. Sam Steele and Mrs. Knighton.

A pot-luck supper, with turkey as the main course, was served buffet style early in the evening. Later, the gifts from the tree were exchanged.

Physicians Try To Save Police Chief Shot By Buchanan In Gunfight

Middlesboro, Ky. — Physicians struggled tonight to save Police Chief George Minton from the same fate that overtook his assailant—death from bullet wounds.

Minton was wounded in the abdomen and shoulder, Deputy Sheriff George W. Fisher was killed and City Patrolman P. L. Perry wounded in the hand when Clyde W. Bruchanan, 40, a former Army sharpshooter and later a Virginia convict, shot his way to short-lived freedom after being arrested Tuesday on an Alexandria, Va., burglary warrant.

Beil County Attorney Walter B. Smith who described Minton, 48, as a "fearless, efficient, popular and well-known" officer in this Cumberland mountain section, said the chief was in a critical condition but that some hope was held for his recovery.

Smith disclosed today that although shot twice, Minton walked from a trailer in which he was shot, drove Perry and himself about three miles to a hospital here and walked, unaided, to the operating room.

Scout News

Troop No. 46 met last Thursday night at Milton School. One of the best meetings ever witnessed by the scouts was held with fifteen happy enthusiastic boys and one commiteeman answering to the roll.

After going through a simple drill for five minutes, all scouts filed into the meeting room promptly at 7:00 p. m. Standing at attention we pledged Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

After the opening ceremony, dues were collected and each scout responded with a Biblical verse (this being the custom each night). The patrols went to their dens and completed plans for Christmas activities which were as follows:

December 22—All scouts attend church at some church.

December 26—Scout Celebration Night. Each scout is to give a present to his scout brother this night.

We are planning to have a fine program with an address by commiteeman Rev. Glinka, and several demonstrations by the scouts.

Several interesting games were played being led by different scouts. The meeting was dismissed by all giving the scout oath. The scouts broke ranks by giving the scout hand clasp.

BANK ROBBER GETS $1

Sold on its merits—with No "Pack" in the Price!

This 1941 Special 4-Door Sedan with 115-h.p. Buick Fireball straight-eight engine, only...

$1156.00

DELIVERED HERE:

WHEN you buy one of these sprightly 1941 Buicks you pay for what you get—there's no "pack" or hidden charge in the price!

Just to be fair and square, we give you an itemized invoice showing what each charge is for—the advertised factory price of the car, the freight bill and the prices of any accessories you order.*

But better yet—you get an iron-clad written guarantee that the price you pay includes no padding.

To everyone who buys a Buick here we give one of these ironbound guarantees that there is no "pack" or hidden charge in the price.

ded items—no "pack."

It's the only way we like to do business—and we know it's the way you want to be treated.

You certainly don't want to deal any place where prices on new cars are "packed" in order that larger trade-in allowances may be offered to new-car buyers.

That kind of "deal" may make you think you're getting more on your present car than it's worth. Actually, the extra charge tacked on the new-car price often more than makes up for the extra amount allowed on your trade-in.

In any case, you've been deliberately fooled—and nobody likes that kind of business operation. Play safe and deal here—where you're guaranteed that nothing underhand goes on when we quote prices.

And where that whopping big 1941 Buick with super-roomy style and power-jammed Fireball engine is sold strictly on its merit!

*Local taxes we are required to collect are of course additional.
