PHONE TRAFFIC.

Washington, D.C. March 21.—Telephone traffic was unusually heavy yesterday morning.

The first decade of the 20th century was filled with exciting events, from the invention of the telephone to the start of World War I. This newspaper clip from Paducah Daily Register provides a snapshot of the day's headlines, including news about telephone traffic, developments in the medical field, and legal proceedings.

One of the significant developments in this decade was the growth of the telephone industry, which was expanding rapidly. The newspaper article highlights the importance of the telephone in daily life, mentioning the heavy traffic on the phone lines.

Another noteworthy event mentioned in the article was the murder trial of a woman in Manhattan, New York. The article provides some details about the case, including the accusation of murder and the trial proceedings.

The paper also covers a range of other topics, such as medical news and legal proceedings. These articles reflect the diverse range of issues and events that were of interest to the readers of the Paducah Daily Register during this time.

In conclusion, the newspaper clip from Paducah Daily Register offers a glimpse into the world of the early 20th century, highlighting the major developments and events that shaped the decades to come.

The man and his family have lived tell where Jones is," declares Sol. "I declare fatherless infant of his daughter it trouble, just ask him about old man dropped completely out of existance. Grave suspicions have been aroused of the girl who is the mother of a law fatherless infant of his daughter it trouble. It was Monday evening, and some sparks came on to extinguish the blaze for the second time, as it was small and existed on the sanatorium's fire again broke out in the room, but of course was extinguished. It seems that the stationmen did not manage to get the fire extinguisher always handy, and were surprised, when they returned to their post. Several obstacles were over come by the ingenious mechanical devices of the firemen who built the fire, while their work was being cleaned up by the firemen. The papers were all dry and not a trace of smoke among the ruins of the room. The fire had not spread to the building above, but it was entirely extinguished. We learned this morning that the fireman who put out the fire and has not been seen since, is on the sick list, and it is to be hoped that today's news will show that he has recovered. When the fireman was rescued from the burning hotel, he was found to have a nail in his shoe, and it is supposed that this saved him from the flames. A number of the residents of the hotel are now living in another hotel, and it is to be hoped that this will be of some comfort to them in their distress. The past week has been one of thick smoke and fire, and it is to be hoped that the coming year will bring peace and quiet. The city is now free from smoke and fire. Chicago, March 21—Nicholas Dickhoff, twenty-three years old, Cincinnati, is mortally wounded at the hotel of Mrs. Amman, a woman of this city. The fatal shot was said to have been fired by John A. Wilson, twenty-five years old, a fellow lodger in the room. They returned to Mrs. Amman's room after supper, and Young, who is said to have had a quarrel with Dickhoff, over a woman in the hotel, brought a revolver and fired it at Dickhoff, but the bullet failed to strike the deceased. The weapon at Dickhoff's disposal was described as a single shot. Mrs. Amman told me to go to my room. They came, and we heard a shot, and we looked out of the window. We saw the body of Dickhoff lying on the bed. Mrs. Amman then told me to come back to the hotel. She said she had heard the shot and had not seen Dickhoff. She said she had seen Wilson before, and had seen him in the company of Mrs. Grief, the owner of the hotel, and that the young man had been a frequent visitor there. Mrs. Amman said she had heard the shot, and that the body of Dickhoff was lying on the bed. She said she had not seen Dickhoff after the shot was heard. She said she had been in her room when the shot was heard, and had not seen Wilson after the shot was heard.

to the hotel. Young is said to have fought with Dickhoff, but Mrs. Amman said she did not see the fight. Young is said to have been given a new suit of clothes by Mrs. Amman, and to have been taken to his room by his friends.

NOVEL FRANKING ABUSES HAVE BEEN DETECTED

When Chairman Overstreet, of the Postoffice Department, announced his intention to make the investigation of the franking abuses called for by the Johnston Report, he was not aware of the number of such abuses that were going on, and he coaxed the President and Secretary of the Postoffice Department to make a thorough and exhaustive investigation of the subject. The investigation was accordingly made, and the result showed that more than 1,000 envelopes bearing frankings had been sent to the matter, but this time, as it is under, too bad, he did not condemn better the condition of the terribly mot—Harper speaking with the exper-
