Farm Products Show Advance

THE AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK FOR KENTUCKY IN 1929

General Conditions

The relative price of farm products advanced during 1928, and on an average, farm products had a higher purchasing power during this last year than any year since 1921. The increase in purchasing power since 1921 has been about 14 per cent, that is, farm products will buy 14 per cent more now than in 1921.

In a time of deflation or falling prices as in 1921, the prices of raw materials, such as farm products, fall earlier and more than prices of manufactured products. When the prices of manufactured products begin to decline, the purchasing power of farm products begins to increase and continues to improve for a good many years after the beginning of the deflation period. The purchasing power of farm products is expected to continue this improvement in 1929.

Beef Cattle

The outlook for beef cattle continues favorable with prices about as high as they are expected to go. Present high prices will act as a deterrent to any marked rise in demand and the small supplies available for market seem likely to prevent any serious decline. In the past, situations such as the present have resulted in increased production and lower prices a few years later. This does not seem to be a favorable time for entering the beef breeding industry, except on farms where conditions are exceptionally favorable. The farmers now raising beef cattle may expect a favorable market for the next two or three years.

The price of feeder cattle is expected to be lower in 1929 than last year because the speculative bidding which resulted in heavy losses last year is not likely to be repeated.

Hogs

The hog outlook for 1929 is more favorable than a year ago. Slaughter is expected to be lighter, with some improvement in foreign demand and no change in domestic demand seems likely. It is expected that the present rise in hog prices will continue, with the usual seasonal fluctuations, until the spring pig crop of 1930 goes to market.

Sheep

Because of Kentucky's advantages as a sheep state, the sheep industry should be expanded. A small flock of sheep usually can be kept on a farm with but little additional expense and may be a means of increasing the farm income. In most of the counties in Kentucky farmers would profit by raising more sheep.

Lions Plan Annual Easter Egg Hunt For Kiddies

The Lions club began preparation for their annual Easter egg hunt to be held at the Fair Ground Easter Sunday.

Plans are to make this the biggest hunt they have ever had, about 5,000 eggs will be hidden with many valuable prizes to be given to those finding the prize egg. Children from all the territory surrounding Fulton are invited to attend. Further announcement and rules regarding the hunt will be published later.

The Larue County Club plans to show two carloads of lambs at the annual fat lamb show at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville in June.

HARRELL (BIG BOY) HUBBARD IS OUT FOR THE OFFICE OF JAILER

The Advertiser is authorized to announce the candidacy of Harrell (Big Boy) Hubbard, of Hickman, for Jailer of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 3, 1929.

Mr. Hubbard is well known over the county as "Big Boy" Hubbard, the talented singer, and his host of friends are taking a lively interest in his race for the office of jailer. In his announcement he briefly sets forth a few facts for your consideration and says if you believe him to be honest, upright, sober and capable of attending to the jailer's duties, to line up with him and his friends, and boost for him. He makes his appeal to men and women alike in a clean cut, straightforward statement that is due the consideration of every voter in the county. His announcement follows:

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the office of county jailer. A number of my friends have urged me to make the race; I consent, and throw my hat into the ring. I enter this race to win and propose to wage a clean, vigorous fight for the nomination in the August primary. I have many friends over the county, who have already assured me of their support. I deeply appreciate them and with their help I sincerely hope to win many others.

For a number of years I have been a resident of this county. Most of the time I have lived around Hickman where I have followed the barber trade. If I do not win this race I am going to give my opponents a very close shave.

My friends and neighbors know my life and my record. I have stood consistently for the highest moral things in my community. I also recognize and attempt to render my moral duty by actively and sincerely supporting the religious causes of my community. Many of you have known me at singing rallies. If singing is my talent it has been joyfully given for the righteous cause. My record stands as a sober, Christian citizen always interested in the things that are right.

Almost two years ago I took charge of the County Farm. Wife and I have tried to give the very best of care and attention to those unfortunate inmates at that institution. We have endeavored to be kind to them. We have beautified the surroundings and kept things sanitary and in good condition. All the time I have practiced strict economy. We believe the county generally is well pleased with the service and management we have given at the county farm, as many complimented our management. I feel that my record at this post should be a recommendation to the office I now seek and should be an index to the way I would meet the responsibilities of the jailer's office. Anyone is at liberty to examine my work here.

There appears to be no other ex-service man in the race thus far. I shall be glad to have the support of my ex-service friends. You may depend upon me for faithful, efficient service. This is my first time to ask the people of this county for an office. My appeal is to every

Big Shipment Of Wall Paper

LARRY BEADLES BUYS WALL PAPER BY CARLOAD

The largest shipment of Wall Paper ever received by Larry Beadles, proprietor of Fulton's exclusive book store, arrived last week and is now ready for your inspection. The beautiful new spring patterns are gorgeous and Mr. Beadles delights in showing them.

"A home with dingy, faded walls," says Mr. Beadles, "is not inviting or pleasant to live in. New paper will brighten up the whole house and make living in it more cheerful and desirable. Spring is the time to have your redecorating done and avoid the congestion later. It will be finished and out of the way by house cleaning time, too, which is a big item. You will like our New Spring patterns. In our large new stock for Spring there are patterns and kinds to please every individual taste and add beauty and charm to the home. Yes, we also sell DuPont paints, varnishes, enamels, Duco. Du Pont finishes give you more lasting beauty and protection for every surface of your home, inside and out."

W. L. HAMPTON OUT FOR RE-ELECTION TO THE OFFICE OF COUNTY JUDGE

The Advertiser is authorized to announce the candidacy of Judge W. L. Hampton for re-election to the office of County Judge of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, election August 3, 1929.

No man in the county stands higher in the esteem of the people than Judge Hampton, and no man is more capable to give a fairer, honest and efficient administration. He is appreciative of your past support and confidence and feels that he is better prepared to serve you than ever before. No one is better acquainted with his past record of accomplishments than his home folks in this end of the county who have known him from childhood. But his excellent record as a public servant and official has not been confined to his home community but has permeated every nook and corner of Fulton county. We are reproducing the following, taken from the Hickman Courier, which, in our judgment, is a fair and honest expression and one we heartily endorse:

Judge Hampton was elected at the special election last year in a three cornered race to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge C. D. Nugent and took office in November.

Certainly Judge Hampton needs no introduction to the people of this county, as he is one of the best known, best liked and respected men in the county, with an outstanding reputation for honesty, ability, fairness and ruggedness of character. Born and raised near Fulton, Judge Hampton farmed for some years. He represented this district in the state legislature for one term and made a splendid record at Frankfort. After this he filled the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court for two terms, and made a splendid record in this office, winning the respect and esteem of all who came in contact with him.

It was generally understood when Judge Hampton retired as Circuit Court Clerk that he would run for County Judge this year, but the sudden death of Judge Nugent hurried things up and he was elected for the short term, with the understanding that the winner would be unopposed for the long or regular term. Judge Hampton feels that he is entitled to election this time so that he can work out his plans to put the county on its feet from a financial standpoint. While he has started a campaign of strict economy in county affairs, Judge Hampton said that he wanted to do everything possible to carry on the work of the county, especially as to roads, and that he expected to be able to do considerable road work this year, if his plans work out right.

Judge Hampton says he feels the people of the county want the county to stay within its income and that he intends to do everything in his power to give the county an efficient, honest administration, so that the people will get a full dollar's worth for every dollar of tax money spent, and get as much accomplished as possible for the money available. It is well known that Judge Hampton runs the people's affairs with the same care, attention and efficiency as he runs his own affairs, and his friends believe he is well qualified in every way to continue in charge of the county's affairs, at this time when the county needs the best supervision.

Judge Hampton will make a strong campaign at the proper time in an effort to see as many voters as possible, but the many duties of his office may keep him from making as extensive a canvass as he did last year so he is counting on his host of friends to work for him this time.

CHARLES E. ROPER, WELL KNOWN FARMER OF CAYCE, ANNOUNCES FOR JAILER

The Advertiser is authorized to announce the candidacy of Charles E. Roper, of Cayce, for Jailer of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, election August 3, 1929.

Mr. Roper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Roper, born and raised in the county three miles of Cayce, and is well known throughout the county. He has tilled the soil practically all of his life and belongs to one of the best known of the pioneer families of this section a family that has helped to develop Fulton County and has always stood in the forefront of community interests. His reputation as a progressive farmer, honest business man and good citizen, is well known to his large circle of friends and acquaintances.

While he has been a lifelong Democrat and worked for the party's best interests at all times, this is the first time he has ever asked for an office and feels that he is due the consideration of every loyal Democratic voter in the county, and if elected, he promises to give the people an honest and efficient administration of office, making every effort to fulfill the duties of the office to the best of his ability.

Mr. Roper says it is his ambition to serve the people of Fulton county, if elected jailer, as faithful and honest as his grandfather did when he was Sheriff years ago.

He will make an attempt to see every voter in the county during the campaign and personally press his claims, but is anxious for his friends and acquaintances to lend him every assistance possible, which he will sincerely appreciate.

Twenty Boone county farmers within a radius of five miles of Burlington will keep records this year, using the Kentucky Farm Account Book.

A representative of a Wisconsin cheese manufacturer has been visiting farmers and studying conditions in Bourbon county with a view to establishing a factory at Paris.

By J. T. Watkins

I was talking to one of the men connected with the poultry house, last week, about the chicken situation, and he told me there was a greater demand now for poultry and eggs than there had been since the war and that they were bringing a higher price than at any time since. Now, what is the reason? Well, there are three or four reasons as I see it, and I don't think I am very far wrong. First, there is a shortage of beef and pork in the United States and as the people of this country are meat eaters to a great extent, they have to fall back on chickens and eggs for their meat. Second, last fall when the price was high on all classes of poultry, farmers gathered up all the available stock they had on hand and sold it, so now there are fewer pullets in the country at large than ever before. Third, there were not as many chickens raised last year as should have been and with what was sold, has cut the amount on hand down to a minimum. Now, my suggestion is to hatch every available egg that you can, and raise as many as you can, especially the pullets, so that next year at this time you will be getting two and three eggs where you get one now.

Some of you will say that if we have lots of chickens and produce lots of eggs we will glut the market and can't get anything for our stuff. Bosh, there will always be a good demand for poultry products just as long as there is a shortage of beef and pork.

If you can't get your old hens to set, you can either hatch your eggs at the hatcheries here or you can sell your eggs to either one of them for a margin above the market price, and you can buy baby chicks by the hundreds, or fifties and still make money.

Turkeys, ducks and geese are also a profitable side line that is way below the market department, and we are mand. Even guinea swill pay you to raise them. Now, get busy, raise more poultry. Join the poultry association, show your stock and make this vicinity one of the best poultry points in the country.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Eighth grade pupils have bought several new library books with the funds received from their negro minstrel, which amounted to twenty-eight dollars and a half. This will be nice for the Library of the Junior High Department, for 1930.

The high school students have taken over the project of raising the pigs which the 6th, 7th and 8th grade pupils took as their project at the first of their school. At the time when the high school bought these pigs. They weighed between 50 and 100 pounds, but one week later they had averaged a gain of 2 lbs. each per day.

The project of a museum, which is being put on by the biology class is now practically completed, as the grade pupils took their examination on the birds and animals last week.

The geography class, which is composed of the Sophomores and Juniors have organized a weather bureau. So look out for the weather report of Beelerton high school.

On last Monday morning, during chapel period, we were very fortunate in having with us, Mr. E. J. Bennett, a member of the Hickman county Board of Education, who made a splendid talk to the entire student body which was enjoyed by all, and as this was the last day for the grades, each teacher gave their farewell speech.

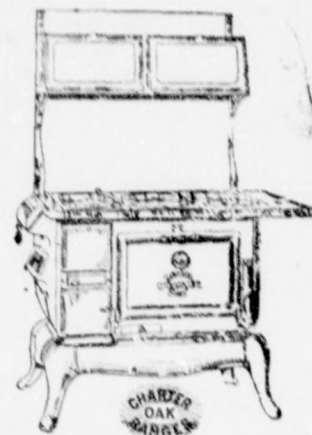

Mrs. Crisp the first and second grade teacher, entertained her pupils with a party at her home on last Thursday afternoon. Each one reported a nice time.

On last Tuesday, February 26, Mr. Noel Kendall, the Junior High teacher, was greatly surprised when going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gynn, his boarding place, for lunch, to find the house was filled with friends, students and the other members of the faculty. A beautiful table was laden with delicious food; also there were three beautiful cakes which were placed in the center of the table, one was decorated with twenty-one candles, which very easily proved the purpose of the occasion and it was none other than celebrating his twenty-first birthday. Mr. Kendall made a short talk telling how very much he appreciated the surprise and also the kindness these people had shown him during his fourteen months of school work with us. We want to say we have certainly enjoyed having him with us and his school work has been a success in every way and he has made many friends by his wonderful personality. We regret very much to learn that he is not planning to be with us for another school year. He will leave with the very best wishes of the entire school and community for his success and happiness in any phase of work he may undertake.

Every one left with happy hearts and expressing their splendid time during the noon hour and wishing Mr. Kendall many more happy birthdays.

At the District Tournament at Wickliffe, the Beelerton boys played their first game with Cunningham and won with a score of 38 to 13.

The second Beelerton game was between our girls and Shiloh girls. We were not sure of victory until the latter part of the game, as Shiloh scored four points in the first few minutes, but when the game ended it was a score of 12 to 7 in our favor.

Our third game was between Beelerton and Kevil boys, who were the runners up in Ballard County Tournament, was expected to be a hard fight, but due to superior pass work of Beelerton's team and the good shooting ability of Brown, our center, the game resulted in an easy victory for Beelerton.

Probably the hardest game Beelerton played and won was between our boys' team and Bandana. Bandana was winners of the Ballard county tournament and according to dope, is one of the strongest teams of the district. At the end of the first quarter the score was 6 to 6 in favor of Bandana. The Beelerton boys got on their feet during the second quarter and at the end of first half the record showed the score to be 11 to 6 in Beelerton's favor. The game ended with a score of 17 to 11 in our favor. These victories made Beelerton the winners of all schools of our size.

On Saturday night the Beelerton teams played Bardwell teams, both games resulted with a victory for Bardwell, but not without difficulty. According to past records, the Beelerton girls piled up the largest score in the history of Beelerton and Bardwell playing this year. In previous games between our girls and Bardwell, the score has been an average of 20 to 4. This time the score was 38 to 19.

Beelerton's teams and coaches appreciate the hospitality shown by Wickliffe people. We also appreciate the kindnesses shown us by all the ball teams of the district. The thing which means as much to us as winning are the compliments paid us on our good sportsmanship and good behavior during their entire stay at Wickliffe. We will receive two silver loving cups for being winners of B class schools, which makes the third loving cup we have won this year, and also the first three in the history of this school.

We are still climbing, so look for us at Murray this week end. Our boys still hold their record of having played 27 games this season and lost to only two schools. Our girls also have a good record as they have played 19 games and lost to only 3 schools.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO THINK CLEARLY THE GREATEST DEMAND OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

Bankers Association President Gives the Five Essentials
Sound Thinking in Business—Greater Opportunity
Than Ever Before for Young People With Educational Training and Power to Analyze Problems.

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
President American Bankers Association

ONLY half a century ago Michael Pupin, a shepherd boy, guarded his flocks by night among the fields of Serbia. Thieves often lurked in the bordering cornfields awaiting an opportunity to make off with a part of the herd. Serbian boys were taught a method of signalling one another for warning and help. Each carried a knife with a long wooden handle which he would thrust deep into the ground and in case cattle thieves approached he would strike the wooden handle. The sound would be transmitted through the ground to other boys some distance away who could hear and interpret the message.

CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD

"Why is it," Pupin asked his mother, "that we can signal this way? Why is it the sound can be heard through the ground, but not through the air? Why is it the signals can be heard in the pasture land so much better than in the plowed fields?" The boy's mother could not answer his questions, nor could the village teacher. However, having an eager mind and great determination, the boy decided to go to America, where he might win an education and find out the answers to these and other perplexing questions. Hundreds of other boys under the same circumstances and with the same set of conditions merely accepted these things without once questioning them just because they had always done them that way.

The Land of Education and Success

So a penniless immigrant boy from Serbia at the age of fifteen landed in New York in 1874 and, years later, having worked his way through Columbia University, concentrated the wonder and simplicity of his mind upon the problem of sound, which had puzzled him as a shepherd boy. The results of his thinking—what he has accomplished for the long distance telephone and for radio communication by his inventions—are known the world over. "If during the past twenty-two years this company had been compelled to do without one invention of Michael Pupin," an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company once said, "and yet give the same service it is giving today it would have had to spend at least $100,000,000 more than it has expended."

These inventions, in which millions of dollars of capital have been invested, were the result of the thinking of a mere country lad who had the simplicity to wonder, the determination to know and the power to apply what he learned.

Stimulating the imagination and thinking is the greatest purpose of education. What American business needs more than anything else is young men and women to think—individuals who are not mentally anchored to tradition, who do not merely appropriate other people's ideas, but who are hard, purposeful thinkers, independent and unprejudiced, with the ability to concentrate and strike straight for the heart of a problem.

Business Needs Folk Who Think

America has astounded the world by its readiness in casting aside traditional viewpoints, disregarding traditional difficulties and pioneering new shortcuts formulas in the realm of business. Business is undergoing epochal changes.

Business problems are crowding in upon us so rapidly that the executive knows not where to look for adequate help or relief. With the enormous increase in size and intricacy of business affairs the problems have become so complicated and the mass of information necessary to their solution so great that the "days are not long enough." The demand for managerial and executive ability is rushing ahead—the opportunity for young men and women who have the professional training and who develop genuine thinking power is greater than ever.

All business feels the same crying need for the men who see clearly and think conclusively. Wherever we look—manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, banking, financing—new forces are at work. Vast movements are under way and executives are seeking light upon perplexing problems daily. Let us consider briefly the five essentials of a sound thinker. If I were looking for a young man of exceptional promise I should hope, first, to find in him the simplicity to wonder. Every great advancement in business has been made by men who dared to wonder, who had the courage to inquire into present procedure and who had the audacity to ask whether something that had been done a certain way for a long time might not be wrong. Although the history of America's progress from its very discovery to the present time has shown the value of an inquiring mind, there is still an inevitable tendency in most men to accept in a docile manner the opinions, methods, supposed facts, procedures and processes of the past. With due reverence to the effort, the spirit, the accomplishments of the past, let us make it our rule that everything be looked at with the clear questioning mind of the scientist.

Business Requires an Open Mind

Second, among the essentials for sound thinking I would write down an open mind. We have mentioned freeing our minds from the influence of tradition. Let us think also without prejudice of personal feelings, desires or consequence. Let us seek only the truth. Mere surface reasoning must be discounted. Old "can'ts" and "don'ts" must be thrown into the discard. A man who has an open mind will do a great many things because he doesn't know they can't be done.

The third essential to sound thinking is knowledge—a thorough, comprehensive understanding of all the factors involved in a problem. It has been said that most problems answer themselves when the facts have been gathered. A well known student and teacher of business describes the method of attacking a problem as tearing it down, reassembling the problem and drawing the conclusion. There can be nothing but guess work or intuition unless the unknown quantities are discovered.

As a fourth essential sound thinking requires the capacity to generalize. How often we have seen men sweating and confused before a mass of details which they were utterly unable to classify and crystallize. We have the problem of sorting out the relevant, attaining a perspective and reaching a conclusion that can be defended against any attack. To certain minds this procedure comes naturally; to others training in the solution of complicated problems points the way out.

The Time for Action

Fifth among the essentials of sound thinking is the power to apply. A few individuals have minds that travel at random or in circles. Some have minds that even refuse to budge. But there are still others who naturally or through training have minds that can be directed straight through to the practical application of their thoughts. They refuse to compromise or to be thwarted in purpose before definite application of their ideas has been achieved.

It is possible, I believe, for young people to train themselves to an inquisitive attitude, an open mind and the ability to classify and interpret material step by step from the beginning of a problem to its final solution and application. Here, then, is the thought I would leave—the paramount need of business is sound thinking. Some may think I have overstated the case, have set too high a standard. They may feel that they are merely cogs in a machine. That, too, is a part of the problem. The only way to solve that is to find time and place in the day's work for thinking.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKING MOVEMENT REACHES IMPRESSIVE PROPORTIONS

Almost 14,000 of America's schools now have school savings banking plans in operation, and about four million pupils are learning systematic savings through this type of thrift, with deposits in excess of $25,000,000, recent reports of the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division show. The schools included in the reports are attended by 4,609,825 pupils, of whom 3,950,237 are participants in the school savings banking plans as depositors. During the year these pupils received interest in the amount of $947,610 on their deposits. The reports gathered by the association also show that there are 38 cities in the United States in which a full 100 per cent of the grammar school enrollment is participating in school savings banking. The first covering high schools show that 100 per cent of the cities are school savers in this class are school savers.

George G. Payne Retires After 50 Years Service

All But Two Years of This Time Spent With Illinois Central

George G. Payne, section foreman at Fulton, Ky., having reached the age of 70 years, was retired on pension January 31. Mr. Payne's retirement brings to a close 50 years of railroad service. All but two years and 8 days of this time which was served with the M. & O. Railroad, has been with the I. C. Uncle George, as he is familiarly known on the division, went to work on Jan. 9, 1879, at Bolivar, Tenn., as a laborer. A few months later he was promoted to foreman of a fence gang where he remained for about a year. He then went to Toone, Tenn., under Foreman A. Gooch, later took charge of Toone section where he worked until transferred to Malesus, Tenn., as foreman. He served as foreman at this station for four years. From 1888 until 1890 he worked for the M. & O. Railroad. He returned to the I. C. as foreman in charge of Fulton yard. From 1895 to 1897 he was foreman in charge of the night shift getting out gravel at old Fort Jefferson just south of Wickliffe for division use. Mr. Payne worked various extra gangs and served as track supervisor on several occasions during his long years of service.

As a token of long friendship and pleasant association his fellow employees presented Mr. Payne with a tidy sum of money to use as he desired and wished him many years of continued health and prosperity.

Funeral Services for Ernest Rawls

Funeral services for Ernest Rawls, who died in Hopkinsville Tuesday morning, were held at the Ruthville Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with burial following in the family lot near Ruthville in charge of the Fulton Undertaking Co.

Besides his widow he is survived by one son, Jack Rawls and one grandson.

James Wiley Commits Suicide in Paducah

Paducah, Ky., March 12.—James Wiley, 45, committed suicide by drinking poison at his home here this afternoon. He was found dead in bed with an empty vial close beside him. The bottle had held about an ounce and a half and most of the contents had been drained. No cause has been assigned for the act.

James Wiley formerly resided in the Kingston Store vicinity near Fulton and his relatives here were shocked to learn of his untimely death.

Mayfield Post Office Robbed

Robbery Recalls Looting of Same Post Office of $74,000 in 1923

Mayfield, Ky., March 12—Mayfield's postoffice, which attracted nation-wide attention on the morning of Oct. 11, 1923, when it was robbed of money, stamps and money orders to the value of approximately $74,000, is in the limelight again. The office was again robbed early this morning. The reports vary as to the amount taken by the apparent experts at the job. Money to the amount of something like $25 to $30 was secured, with some checks and stamps totaling less than $200, it is reported. The officials are secretive in their statements.

Farm Products Show Advance

The number of sheep on farms in the United States has increased each year since 1921. The market cannot be expected to continue to absorb these increasing supplies except at a lower price level. However, the present price of lambs and wool can be decreased considerably and still be a profitable enterprise for Kentucky farmers.

Dairying

Dairy products in 1929 are expected to maintain the satisfactory margin over feed costs with which they have been favored during the past two years. Dairying has increased in Kentucky as indicated by a 60 per cent increase in the production of creamery butter in the last 5 years. The situation is favorable to further expansion of the dairy business by farmers who grow most of their feed and who are willing to expend the effort necessary to maintain a good producing herd.

Horses and Mules

Strengthening of horse and mule prices in 1927 and further increases in 1928 indicate that the long price decline has been checked and that a period of increasing horse prices is before us. The total number of horses and mules have decreased nearly one-fourth since 1925 and farmers cannot expect to replace their work stock a few years from now at present prices. The replacement now of older work animals with young mares will enable farmers to raise colts when prices have reached higher levels.

Potatoes

The time of marketing Kentucky potatoes places the Kentucky grower in a more favorable position this year than the growers of earlier potatoes. Last year's carryover estimated at 131 million bushels, will offer serious competition to potatoes marketed before July 1, but are expected to be out of the way by the time Kentucky potatoes are ready for market. It is likely, however, that last year's carryover, the second largest in history, may affect the market until later in the season.

Poultry and Eggs

The outlook indicates higher prices for live and dressed poultry than in 1928 and lower prices for eggs. The number of chickens raised in 1928 is estimated at 10 per cent less than in 1927. There are fewer hens now on farms and storage holdings of dressed poultry are lower than a year ago. Storage stocks of shell eggs on January 1 were 60 per cent above a year ago and losses on storage operations last year may lessen the demand for eggs to go into storage this spring. Consumers are losing their prejudice against storage eggs, and the spread between spring and winter prices are not expected to be as wide in the future as they have been in the past. Spread in prices between grades is expected to be greater.

Dark Fired Tobacco of Kentucky and Tennessee

The production of 113 million pounds of Kentucky and Tennessee dark fired tobacco, in 1928, was approximately 40 per cent above the exports of 82 million pounds during the first 11 months of the year. The exports last year were approximately 30 per cent less than 1927. The outlets for this type are shrinking and no increase in acreage seems justified.

Strawberries

In recent years the strawberry acreage, in Kentucky and competing states, has increased decidedly. This year, however, the acreage is about 14 per cent less than in 1928. In Kentucky, tobacco competes with strawberries as a cash crop and because of present tobacco prices, 1929 is likely to witness some shifting from strawberries to tobacco.

The influence of high or low prices of strawberries upon acreage in succeeding years is most effective two or three years later. It seems likely, therefore, that market conditions will be better when berries are harvested from 1929 plantings than they have been during the last two or three years.

By J. T. Watkins

I have had this question asked me many times since I have been boosting chickens here in Fulton and will try to answer it for all concerned. What is the best chicken to raise? The only answer I can give to this is ALL. It all depends on what is your favorite breed. And again it depends on what you want to raise them for, either eggs or meat. Or you may be just a fancier, and want to raise a few for a hobby.

Now, if I was going to raise chickens for eggs I would get white Leghorns from some breeder who has bred for egg production. I would buy a couple of hundred baby chicks and when the cockerels reached the broiler stage I would sell them and keep only pullets. I would try and procure these chicks the latter part of March or first two weeks in April so they would begin laying the latter part of October and on through Christmas holidays for the highest prices.

On the other hand, if I was going into the chicken business for meat, I would buy Orpington, Brahma or Langshan baby chicks during the months of March and April, and as soon as I could determine the sex of the chicks would separate into two flocks as they would do better. I would force these chicks and when they were about five or six months of age, shove them on the market for prime roasters. But if I was wanting both eggs and meat or a dual fowl, I would procure Rocks, Dottes, Reds or Orpingtons. In these four breeds you would have the ideal bird for both wishes.

Now, we come to the fancy. Here is where I shine for I can take any breed in the Standard and be satisfied with them, and make a success of that breed, for I would go to headquarters and get a stock of eggs from the best flock in the country, and go to it. Now, if you want fancy, pick out your choice and I can put you in touch with the best breeder of that breed and you will get satisfaction from almost one hundred per cent of the large breeders.

Another question is often asked me: "Where can I buy first class baby chicks?" Answer: Lots of places, but I want to impress on your mind that you may send away to any of the large hatcheries and buy chicks and not get any better than you can get right here in your own town. We have two hatcheries here, and you can get just as much satisfaction from either one as you can get by sending to Ohio or Illinois or any other state in the Union.

The Whitesell hatchery is putting out a grade of chicks that are as good as any, every egg incubated in this hatchery is from an accredited flock and Mr. Whitesell has a state license to inspect and accredit flocks so before he hatches an egg to sell, he has to know it is right.

The Fulton hatchery is the other hatchery.

Then there are several breeders who are hatching their own stock and selling the baby chicks in lots of twenty-five, fifty or hundred.

I only mention these facts so you can see there is no need of sending away and buying baby chicks when you can get just as good at home, and keep our money in circulation here. This is not an advertisement.

Now, another thing: The new plant that is to be built by the Swift company early this season will buy all the poultry that can be raised in this entire territory, so there need be no fear of having a lot of stock left on your hands, in fact, if we don't get busy and hatch to the limit, there will not be enough poultry to keep them busy, so hatch every available egg you can spare, and when your flock is large enough to pick out the ones you want for breeders for fall laying, sell all the surplus to the poultry houses of which we have or will have three doing business in Fulton. There is an old saying of trade, so with three poultry houses to sell to the producers, should get a good price for their stuff. I will even make this prediction, during the next two years there will be MORE money paid out in Fulton community for poultry products than has ever been paid before.

A word about when to hatch. Now is the time to begin hatching the larger breeds, Rocks, Wyandottes, Reds and Orpingtons should be hatched all through the month of March, while the smaller breeds, Leghorns, Anconas, Minorcas and Andalusians hatched in April should produce layers during the months of October, November and December.

I visited the poultry yard of Carl Hastings last Saturday, and was surprised at the wonderful bunch of Silver Laced Wyandottes. Carl make a specialty of this breed and has about sixty or seventy hens and pullets, which are producing about seventy per cent at this time. He is going to have his entire flock culled at once and sell all off color and poor producers and will then have as good a flock of Silvers as can be found anywhere. With the introduction of a few new male birds from some of the best producers will build his flock up to one of the best.

A Continuous March That Keeps A Step Ahead For You

An expenditure of more than $27,000,000 was required last year to expand and improve the Southern Bell Telephone System in the nine southeastern states.

More than 51,000 new telephones were added to the system, convincing evidence of the increasing value of telephone service in every line of business.

This activity and growth reflect the progress of the South east, and the improvement in the service emphasizes the Bell System effort to provide the best possible service at the lowest cost to the user.

At the end of the year there were 960,587 telephones in the Southern Bell System. In addition there were 345,572 telephones owned by other companies and 38,508 telephones in farm homes, connected with the system.

The investment in service reached the enormous total of $199,492,700 on December 31, 1928. It represents such permanent property as 912 central offices with switchboards and other associated equipment; 3,731,357 miles of wire (3.9 miles per telephone); 36,789 miles of pole line and 3,409 miles of underground duct.

To build, operate and manage this great telephone system requires an army of skilled men and women whose payroll amounted to $25,991,300 last year.

The tax bill for the year was also the largest in the history of the company, amounting to $5,235,132. This was an increase of 224 per cent over the tax bill of 1920.

There was a greater number of local and long distance calls and the speed with which they were handled was substantially increased.

Noteworthy as has been telephone progress during the past year, it will not stop. The entire telephone organization appreciates the friendly interest and confidence of the public—a spirit of cooperation which encourages them in their determination to provide the most efficient service at the lowest possible cost to the user.

Fannie Brice in "My Man," a
Warner Bros. Special Production at Orpheum Theatre
Thursday and Friday

Fannie Brice will send Theatre audiences into hysterical gales of laughter and tears, in "My Man," her first picture. For years, in musical comedy or on the vaudeville stage, she has been doing the same. There are other people who go thru strange physical contortions to get laughs. Fannie Brice's antics are quite her own, nobody can duck, or wriggle, or grimace, or discover a refractory finger with such sure-fire deftness as she.

What is Fannie's secret? How does she let loose all the giggles and the guffaws and the tears, too?

One inkling of the secret no doubt comes from the fact that she is a born mimic, another in the fact that she has studied humanity all her life, the odd quirks of gesture and dress and expression—but the best one yet suggested is the fact that she really likes folks. Her limitations never have a touch of bitterness. They are genial, understanding, compassionate!

No one should fail to see the world's greatest comedienne in her first movie—"My Man," at the Orpheum theatre.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The eighth grade commencement program was presented at the Beelerton Auditorium on Wednesday night, March the sixth. The piano duet, "Iris," by Reynolds, was well rendered by Misses Mary B. and Margaret Walker.

The speaker of the evening was Hon. S. V. Craig, of Clinton, who delivered an interesting talk and gave some excellent advice to the class of seven on "Being Prepared," to meet life as well as death.

Mr. Kendall presented the diplomas and made a brief heartfelt talk to his class.

The song, "Be the Best Whatever You Are," by Wells, was sung by Misses Pauline Brown and Tommie Wiley was very appropriate for the occasion.

The Beelerton teams attended the First Regional Tournament at Murray, on Friday, March 8. The game which our girls was to have played with Brewer's girls was forfeited to our players by the opposite team. In the semi-finals the Beelerton girls lost to the Bardwell girls.

At 8 o'clock Friday night the Beelerton boys played Tolu. As Beelerton was ahead one minute and Tolu the next, neither team had the pleasure of knowing they winning until the final whistle was blown and the game ended with a score of 21 to 18 in Tolu's favor.

On Saturday night, March 16 the Beelerton high school girls will give their declamation contest. Everybody come and we are sure you will enjoy it.

THE BUSINESS OF COOPERATION

Liberty of thought and action is the basis of all freedom. Whatever tends to direct the legitimate activities of the people in arbitrary manner meets with resistance. Within the limits of morality and in the bounds of reason, it is the thing a man wants to do, plus the untrammelled right to do it, that determines whether or not he is enjoying his natural freedom. And while the exercise of choice is a dear privilege, the method of action may be criticized.

Organized effort, whether in religion, politics, education, government, business or social relationships requires the undivided attention of the people, the unhampered forces of finance, and the uninterrupted execution of the plans necessary for accomplishment. An organization prospers and renders good service in proportion to the ability of the faithful to increase the strength of the group.

There are comparatively few people who are able either financially or in point of time to make a great many interests their principal objects of devotion. But nearly every citizen can have at least one major purpose for the advancement of the community welfare. Some can give money, others can devote time, and others can give counsel and advice. ALL can CARE.

Every citizen should find his or her place of best help and then strive to fill it. If the place is in the home, or the church, the club, the lodge, the public service, the forest, the mine, the shop or the farm, it should be found.

Service in fact as well as in name is what distinguishes men and women in all levels of society. By filling one's place in the community, one becomes more able to cooperate in assisting those engaged in the other lines of service. Cooperation, indeed, is a business itself.

LAND GRANTS

To aid inland waterway transportation to the same extent that it aided by means of land grants the construction of pioneer railroads such as the Illinois Central, the federal government might give to waterway carriers stretches of unimproved streams and adjacent worthless land and then require the recipients to make all the improvements themselves, pay special taxes and handle government traffic at reduced rates, according to President L. A. Downs, of the Illinois Central System.

As matters now stand, Mr. Downs explains in a letter to the public on "Land Grants," government expenditures on inland waterways are valuable at the time they are made, the beneficiaries give nothing for them, and where the government itself goes into the transportation business, there is no increase in taxable property values.

The first federal land grant for railroads was made to the Illinois Central. President Downs points out, and it was of substantial help in bringing that railroad into being. Yet the government gave away nothing of value, for the land was not selling, while on the other hand the building of the railroad increased the value of that which the government had left. The railroad became taxable property, and it was further required to handle government traffic at reduced rates.

WHAT HATH ROADS WROUGHT?

Good roads are the monitors of a higher civilization. Bad roads are the landmarks of community slovenness. Good roads also include common sense in their building and good business judgment in the letting of contracts. To say that one wants a road from Dingbucktoo to Pinkatink is only half the battle. The fight is never finished until the project is seen through with a width for future needs, as straight and level as practicable, a solid foundation of understructure of adequate thickness, a high quality of materials and workmanship, and backed by an honest contractor. Then you have a road. Until then you have only a wish.

Good roads have brought prosperity, convenience, safety, self-respect and happiness to countless millions. A city, town, county, state or nation that is not going after more good roads is commercially and socially committing self-imposed ostracism from the rest of the busy world.

Good roads are worth all they cost. Comparable to a financial panic would be the sudden deprivation of any section of this country of its good roads. The community without good roads is "losing out" every inch of the way in competition with more progressive communities who have had the vision and have set about to make that vision real and lasting.

Ernest Fall says it is better to die boosting than to live rusting.

If The Advertiser does no more good than to keep the family home long enough to read it, it is worth while.

Fulton will become the kind of a town all good citizens want it to be, less the proportion by which it is held back by those who don't give a rap what becomes of it.

You can catch more customers with advertising than you can by standing out in front of the store and complaining about how rotten business is.

NO APPETITE NOW FOR CANNED HEAT

A certain woman who married a well-known club man to reform him and then had to cast him out, will be glad to learn that the work is going forward and he is making wonderful strides under the management and direction of his second wife and her two half-grown sons. Careful attention on the part of the lady and the two cherubs has resulted in a complete loss of his appetite for canned heat and similar nourishments and it is believed that after a couple more trimmings they will have him in shape to resume his position in society.

Guiding Your Children

Bad habits lead children astray. Good habits guide them safely into the path of character, uprightness and independence.

You can start them right by teaching them to save money. Set them an example by saving yourself. Make them admire thrift.

Once started, the saving habit helps to form other good habits. It provides experience for them in handling their own funds.

This start in the right direction is but a simple step. Bring children to the bank when you start them to school.

An advisory council of presidents of all Homemakers clubs of Fulton county was held here Saturday at the office of Miss Myrtle Jackson, county home agents, with Miss Monroe, state leader of home agents, in charge. The council was held with a view of making plans for continuing the home demonstration work another year, which was done, and also to strengthen the junior club program. Mrs. G. W. McClanahan, of Cayce as secretary of the county Homemakers' Association, to fill the office vacated by Mrs. Raymond Mitchell, of Jordan. Besides the presidents of the various clubs Mrs. E. A. Mayfield, county clothing leader, was present. Plans were also made to hold a county picnic at Cayce in late April or the early part of May.

Rev. Earl Gooch will leave in a few days for Nashville, Tenn., to take a short course of instruction in Vanderbilt University, which is given free each year to one minister from each county in Kentucky.

Stanley Davis and Miss Mary Haworth were united in marriage at Fulton Friday afternoon. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. U. Haworth, is one of Bardwell's prettiest and accomplished young girls. She was born and reared here and is popular among a large circle of friends. For the past year she has taught in the Bardwell high school. Mr. Davis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Davis of Columbus. He is a popular young man, held in high esteem by his many friends.

Farmers Pay High For "Filler" Feed

Lexington, Ky., March 14—Fillers of more or less worthless materials sold in commercial feeds are costing Kentucky farmers three-quarters of a million dollars annually, it is estimated by Prof. J. D. Turner, head of the feed department of the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky.

This loss comes about through the purchase of feeds containing oat hulls, grain screenings, screenings refuse, flax plant by-product, cottonseed hulls alfalfa stems, corn cob meal and other materials known as "fillers," which have little or no feeding value as concentrates. Feeds containing such fillers are required to carry a yellow tag, which warns purchaser of their content.

The higher class feeds are usually labelled with white tags printed in red.

Minerals mixed in commercial feeds are also costing farmers dearly, Prof. Turner said. White limestone, salt, bone meal and other minerals have value when needed, they are high priced when purchased mixed with grain feeds. The Experiment Station recommends that they be placed before stock in their natural form. Stock will take care of mineral requirements if allowed free access to salt, limestone, bonemeal, and the like, put in boxes protected from the weather.

Famous Pair Seen at Night Club Together

Richard Dix and Ruth Elder were recently seen together a great deal frequenting a night club in Hollywood. This association between the motion picture star and the first girl to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight did not cause comment, however, as the night club in which they appeared was on the set at the Paramount studio in Hollywood where they made "Moran of the Marines" which opens next week at the Grand theatre.

All of the trimmings from jazz orchestra to dancing revue were provided for the club and even a first class patronage was secured for it from the ranks of extra players. It is in this club that Dix and Miss Elder meet in the opening scenes of the story.

Fans of Richard Dix who were delighted with his acting in uniform in a previous picture, "Shanghai Bound" will again see the popular star wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam this time as a private in the Marine Corps. The story was written for the screen by Linton Wells, himself a soldier of fortune and famous as a reporter in the more remote sections of the world where he covers the "big news" of the day. An added military touch is given by the director, Frank Strayer being a former naval officer.

Miss Elder makes her motion picture debut in a featured dramatic role in "Moran of the Marines".

Hickman News

Hickman, Ky., March 12—Memories of the 1927 flood arise in the minds of Hickman business men as the waters of the river begin to creep up Clinton street, which is the main business street of the town. The N. C. & St. L. railroad yards have been flooded and beginning today the trains will stop at the I. C. Station in West Hickman instead of coming up town to the N. C. depot. Yet business goes cheerfully on as usual and even though more water is predicted than was at first expected no serious trouble is anticipated. At no time is the unique location of Hickman so noticed as in flood time when it sits with its head in the clouds, so to speak, and its feet literally in the Mississippi.

Lesson for March 17

THE CHRISTIAN'S SABBATH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Matthew 12:1-8.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is Lord even of the Sabbath Day.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Day, Sabbath.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Day, Sunday.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Keeping the Lord's Day.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Lord's Day in Modern Life.

The designation "Christian's Sabbath" is a misnomer. The word "Sabbath" has a definite meaning. It signifies rest, cessation from action. When God had finished the heavens and earth, He desisted from creative action (Gen. 2:1-3). Since God's creative work was completed in six days, He ceased from action on the seventh day, which was therefore called the Sabbath, or Rest Day. Five definite objects may be assigned to the Sabbath:

1. To commemorate the work of creation (Gen. 2:2, 3; Ex. 20:11).
2. To keep alive the knowledge of the true God. Creation witnesses of a creator. Keeping the Sabbath in mind kept in mind the creation, and the creation made real the Creator.
3. A forward look to the time when man shall enjoy full fellowship with God (Heb. 4:9-10).
4. To Israel it was a sign of the covenant between them and God (Deut. 5:12-15).
5. It was made for man's well-being (Mark 2:27).

At least while man's earthly condition continues, the Sabbath is needed to keep a proper balance between his body and his soul.

1. The Fourth Commandment (Ex. 20:8-11).

(1) Obligations enjoined (20:9, 10).

(2) Work through six days (v. 9). The command to work six days is just as binding as the command to rest the seventh day. In fact, there can be no rest unless there first be work.

(3) Rest on the seventh day (v. 10).

There must be cessation from all work on the Sabbath. Since God gave the example and then sanctified the day, it should be kept holy. It was not only to give relief to the physical body but to be a time when man's thought would be turned to God. It was designed to keep fresh in his mind the consciousness of God and His mercies. The human spirit should be refreshed by the study of God's Word.

2. How this commandment may be broken.

(1) By engaging in labor or pursuing business interests on this sacred day.

(2) By devoting it to amusements since it was designed to keep fresh in mind the consciousness of God.

(3) By making it a day of feasting.

II. The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath (Matt. 12:1-8).

1. The hungry disciples plucking corn (v. 1).

The took place on the Sabbath day and became the occasion for criticism.

2. The Pharisees finding fault (v. 2).

They asserted that Christ's disciples were breaking the law, when in reality they were only violating the traditions with which the law was encumbered. The Lord's purpose in instituting the Sabbath was to conserve man's highest interest and contribute to his happiness. It is extremely unfortunate when human tradition is elevated above the Word of God.

3. Christ's reply to the critics of the Pharisees (v. 3-8).

In this reply He shrewdly answered the Pharisees and pressed His transcendent claim as to the dignity of His person. This claim moved them to plot His death. As to His claim, observe:

(1) He is greater than their greatest king (v. 3, 4). David, when rejected, was forced to do that which was unlawful for him to do (1 Sam. 1). Because they had rejected the one greater than David, the plucking of the ears of corn became a necessity.

(2) He is greater than their sacrifice and priesthood (v. 5). If the priests, because of their position and services, could violate the Sabbath laws and be blameless, much more the One greater than they in performing His work of sacrifice and redemption for them should be considered guiltless. He was the true sacrifice and priest.

(3) He is greater than the temple (v. 6). The temple, with all its gorgeous rites and ceremonies, was typical of Christ. Much more then did He have the right to do what He did.

(4) He is greater than the Sabbath (v. 8), because He is Lord of the Sabbath.

Great Task of Happiness

It was not the joy that was set before Him that our Lord endured the Cross, despising the shame. The joy of the Ascension is but an echo of the joy of Bethlehem, and the task of Christ was one "great task of happiness."

To Gladden Our Hearts

Love's sittings often precede His sittings. He sits to get rid of the chaff, and He lifts to gladden our hearts.—Selected.
