Road Improvement Contracts Awarded For Calloway Roads

A $108,560 contract for road improvements in Calloway County has been announced in Frankfort.

According to Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the contract calls for blacktopping various roads in Calloway County for about four miles.

The various roads include sections of the Murray-Wisdew-Harris Grove Road (2.5) miles) and the Brady Road (1.5 miles). The contract was awarded to the Lake Paving Co. of Grand Rivers.

Government Could Owe Everyone For Tarriffs

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. government, collecting oil import fees illegally for the past three years, could owe every American about $5 plus a price reduction of about 4.3 cents per gallon on gasoline and other petroleum products.

But don't run out and spend that money just yet — you may never see a penny of it. For one thing, President Ford is considering appealing Monday's U.S. Court of Appeals ruling that he does not have the authority to place fees on imported oil. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford would discuss the possible appeal with advisers today in Vail, Colo.

The import fees began in April 1973, when then-President Richard M. Nixon ended direct quota limits on U.S. oil imports and replaced them with import fees. Ford raised the fees this year.

But the court said the fees "are beyond the scope of their (the presidents') authority and cannot stand."

The decision could block further government collection of import fees now totaling up to $2.21 per barrel on crude oil, $1.23 on gasoline, and $1.12 on other refined products and unfinished oils.

It also could provide the legal basis for further court or congressional action to refund to the public the fees already collected since April 1973.

Robert Moore, head of the Federal Energy Administration's oil import division, estimated in an interview that fees still being collected for imports in June, July and early August would bring the total fees to around $1.1 billion.

That amounts to about $5 for every man, woman and child in the United States, and there was already talk of forcing the government to make refunds.

Murray Ledger & Times Staff Writer The time is rapidly approaching when a decision must be made on the future of a Vietnamese family with local connections in Calloway County.

The family of Mrs. Gaio Dinh, whose daughter, Mai, is living with the family of T. Wayne Beasley of Calloway County, must find local accommodations within a very few days or else they face the stark possibility of never seeing Mai again.

Mrs. Dinh, seven brothers and sisters, an aunt, and two cousins are currently in Ft. Bragg, Ark., living in an Army barracks scarcely the size of a normal living room. They are to be shipped off to Oregon to a work camp in a few days unless they can find interested persons to sponsor them to live in Murray, where they want to live.

The Dinh family became closely acquainted with the Beasley's through Mrs. Beasley's brother-in-law and sister, who was killed this summer in an airplane crash. Mrs. Beasley's brother-in-law is now responsible for finding a home for the Dinh's, if possible, before they are flown to organization could sponsor the entire family.

There would be no legal obligations involved in such a sponsorship, living quarters and temporary support would be all that would be necessary until the family can get a start.

Judging from the past history of the family, it wouldn't take much for them to get a start in Murray; the family is originally from Hanoi, where they were Murray: the children could be split up and "wealthy upper-middle class citizens. They individual sponsors found for each, or a were forced to leave Hanoi and all their group, such as a church group or civic assets when they moved to Saigon. There,

Now the family is again left with nothing, and must start for the third time from scratch, but from most opinions, it won't take much support to get the industrious family started.

Mai's father is now in Singapore, after finally escaping Saigon with a 15-day trek through jungle territory with little food and water. He, too, was left penniless after paying his way on a fishing vessel to Singapore and having his remaining money taken by the ship's captain his first night on board.

Church groups, civic organizations or individuals interested in sponsoring any or all of the family members should contact Mr. or Mrs. T. Wayne Beasley. The family desperately wants to stay together in the same geographic area, and because they know people in the local area; and because of the educational opportunities here, they would like to be able to come to the Murray

Cancellation of the full effects of the oil import fees might reduce petroleum product prices by something like 4.3 cents per gallon, but there is great uncertainty whether those effects can be fully felt and even whether consumers will really see any benefits at all.

TVA's Wagner Blames Coal Prices For Electric Power Rate Increases

Valley Authority power rates have gone up sharply in recent months because coalprices have quadrupled in the past five years, Chairman Aubrey J. Wagner said

The authority uses coal to produce 75 per cent of the power it distributes in most of Tennessee and parts of six surrounding Coal is not the only reason for higher power rates, Wagner told a civic club. But, he said, "The overwhelming factor in increased power rates has been the unconscionable, skyrocketing cost of coal that TVA must have to meet your electric energy needs."

Wagner said critics of higher TVA power rates have focused little attention on coal producers and those companies which own and control the domestic supply and cost of coal and oil.

"Instead, electric power suppliers -TVA and others - have borne the brunt of the complaints," he said.

Electricity is a secondary form of energy, Wagner said, and is "subject to what happens to the supply and cost of primary energy so urces.

"We don't manufacture energy, we just

TVA and other power producers must have coal, oil or one of the other primary energy sources in order to generate the electricity that is needed.

In the final analysis the ultimate cost of electricity is closely tied to what the power producers must pay for fuel," Wagner said. "In the TVA region that basis fuel is coal, and it is by far the largest single item of expense in producing electricity in our Wagner said the average cost of coal burned in TVA power plants has increased age of more than $18 a ton. "And the trend is still upward," he added.

"Each $1 per ton added to TVA's coal bill adds $35 to $40 million per year to your electric bill," Wagner said.

He said electric companies and services 'in effect, serve as collection agencies to gather these dollars from you, as consumers, and turn them over to coal producers.

"We do not relish this role, especially when we know the prices paid include unconscionable profits."

Electric Rate Commission Has Second Hearing But Few Attend

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) - The Governor's Advisory Commission on Electric Utility Rates and Regulation has held its second public hearing to which almost no one came.

The commission-members in attendance did hear from the three officials of organizations working with elderly and low income citizens and from several representatives of municipally-operated electric companies.

Commission chairman H. Clyde Reeves of Lexington said he was afraid notice of the meeting reportedly circulated by the Department of Public Information was not explicit enough. He said he had hoped for a better consumer turnout, but observed that he didn't "attach any particular signifigance to the fact that people aren't coming out in droves.

But commission member David Vandeventer of Louisville expressed disappointment. "One of the things I want to know is how well people understand how their rates are set, and I can't find that outby talking to their representatives," he

Betty's Live-in Beau An Unwelcome Guest

DEAR ABBY: I am confused and distraught. My daughter and her boyfriend, both in their late 20s, are self-supporting. They both experienced disastrous divorces

When they decided to live together six months ago, my husband and I were very upset since we don't believe couples should live together out of wedlock. We were very fond of Betty's boyfriend until this happened.

We told her how we felt and that we would not set foot in her house under those conditions. We further told her that as our beloved daughter she would always be welcome in our home but never to bring Alan with her

She replied that she was sorry we felt that way, but she wouldn't think of marrying again without having first lived with the man for at least a year. Our only communication since that time was an anniversary card from her.
Today, I ran into Betty downtown. She bought me lunch, and we chatted like old times. She's happier and more mature now than I've ever seen her. When we parted, she said, "Remember, Mama, our door is always open. I cried all the way home. It's been a painful separation for all concerned. What do you think we should do?

Kentucky Blue Cross Says It Is Better

Blue Shield in Kentucky says it does a better job of holding down hospital costs than a recent series of stories indicated nationally.

In fact, president Ed McConnell said, the non-profit corporation has fought this battle for years, at the risk of unpopularity among medical representatives and com-

Blue Cross claims it is generally abreast or ahead of the field in economies that would keep subscriber rates from soaring.

McConnell cites a recent television commercial by Blue Cross which he said is hardly the image-building cited last week in Associated Press articles on health care as wasted advertising.

A man tries to talk his doctor into admitting him to a hospital for an unneeded week's rest in plush surrounding with pret-

The physician breaks the bad news: If Blue Cross decides the stay was not warranted, the patient will have to pay the bill. He rushes out of the doctor's office, declaring "I feel better already."

The five-part AP series said in effect that Blue Cross, the mammoth health care underwriter, is largely responsible for a soaring increase in medical costs because it does not police or crack down on wasteful practices in hospitals.

The contention of McConnell and several Blue Cross executives who were interviewed is that the non-profit corporation does its utmost to hold the line on costs, within built-in limitations.

"For one thing we just don't have the power," he said. "Maybe this could be legislated, but I doubt if it would really bring down costs."

The heart of the problem appears to be a lack of concurrent monitoring of all hospital stays and constant supervision of related costs.

McConnell insisted the Kentucky operation comes fairly close to the ideal. Among his points:

Blue Cross has firm policies not to contract with hospitals which overbuild, plan too many beds or do not obtain approval of the state's Comprehensive Planning Coun-

Blue Cross requires hospitals to submit yearly budgets and to stay within the limits - except if unspected costs arise, when they may bill the carrier more. Blue Cross profiles its costs among hospitals and doctors and, if it finds some out of line "we sit down and ask them to take another look.'

Much of this still is after-the-fact review, prevalent in most Blue Cross plans around the nation. But McConnell said that it pays dividends.

For example, he said, the average stay last year nationally in a hospital was 6.74 days, but in Kentucky only 5.98 days. That seems like a trifle, but even a quarter-day reduction has tremendous financial im-

Another statistic shows that nationally, the days of hospitalization provided for every 1,000 Blue Cross subscriber is 826 a year, but only 796 days for Kentucky.

However, Kentucky's operation, citing inexerable cost increases, has obtained a rate increase ranging from 6.9 per cent to 13.7 per cent. It began July 1 and applies to "community-rated" groups, with accounts of 150 contracts or more.

McConnell and his associates decline to point the finger of blame at individual hospitals, but are willing enough to cite a few with excellent records in holding down

Among them are Murray-Calloway County, 'Owensboro-Daviess, Kings' Daughers' at Ashland and Methodist Evangelical in Louisville.

Stock Commission Rates

Consumers who buy and sell stocks should begin by taking stock of their brokerage firms' commission rates on stock transactions. For the first time in 183 years, stock exchanges no longer fix the commission rates, thanks to a Securities and Exchange Commission regulation which prohibits this type of price fixing. Now competition is the name of the game. Consumers may comparison shop the stock brokerage firms for lower commission rates and may negotiate with brokers for special rates. To take advantage of this new opportunity, however, consumers should check with several brokerage firms to find the lowest rates. The rates may be simple, such as $30 commission to sell 100 shares of stock that are selling for $10 a share. The rates also may be fairly complex, as in the

If you're thinking of buying or selling, ask about any minimum charges on stock commissions. As in all consumer transactions, deal with a reliable firm. And, if you don't understand a transaction, wait until you've spoken with someone who can explain it to you. It's your money and it will be your stock.

By Seeing Your Own Kentucky With the high gasoline prices and all the other inflated expenses of traveling, it's going to be harder and harder to get very far from home for a vacation. At least, that's getting to be the situation at our

A couple of weeks ago, we found the opportunity to get away for a few days and having been all over Kentucky but having seen very little of it, actually, we decided to visit the restored Shaker Village up near Harrodsburg along with My Old Kentucky Home at Bardstown and its "Stephen Foster Story," which, incidentally, is a production. It is as enjoyable as anything I have ever seen at St. Louis' famous Municipal Opera.

We didn't know what to expect at Bardstown-just rolled in there with -no reservations or tickets to the outdoor musical, which was putting on its 1,181st performance that night. As luck would have it, we ended up with a room at the old, historic Talbott Tavern, right in the heart of town, and having dinner in its picturesque dining room.

The food was good and the prices reasonable, although a little higher than those of Revolutionary War days posted on the wall: "Lodging, 25 cents nite; Eating, 25 cents; Liquor, 61/4 cents; Wine, 25 cents; Oats for horse 1 cent per gallon, and horses stabled free.'

However, I couldn't go along with the management's claim for its chess pie. "Try our famous chess pie; Often copied but never duplicated," the menu said. If there is anything upon which I'm an expert, it's chess pie, and I can assure you that the Talbott Tavern chess pie won't hold a candle to the chess pie Betty Lyons

Our room, as well as tickets for the show, were handled for us by a pretty young thing in a modern "Information Center" in the center of town. The seats we ended up with at that late hour were on the right aisle near the front, way to one side of the big, outdoor stage.

At first, I thought this was a tough break, but not at all. They turned out to be about the best seats in the house. We were within an arm's length of several of the most important scenes, so close to the performers we could almost reach out and touch them-or pet "old dog Trey." We were so close to the big love scene near the end, we could practically hear Stephen and Jeannie's hearts pounding.

If you haven't seen-"The Stephen Foster Story," you should. It's a delightful experience, fast-moving, highly entertaining and beautifully done. I don't know why I waited so long to see it.

Shakers Village is a unique experience, especially if you spend the night in one of the restored buildings on the grounds and eat in the dining room of the historic Trustees' House

I knew hardly anything about the Shakers when we went there, and still don't know a great deal. I did learn that the settlement, known as Pleasant Hill, was founded by a religious group, the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing,

They got their name from the trembling and body shaking they experienced in their devotional dancing. They believed in celibacy, confession of sins, separation from the world and common ownership of property. Hardworking and inventive, they made many lasting contributions to the agricultural and mechanical areas of our nation.

After a 100 years of prosperity, the Pleasant Hill adventure, at times in which more than 500 people were involved, came to an end, which is understandable. The last member died in 1923, and the 3,800 acres of that fine Central Kentucky Bluegrass country they owned and farmed was given away by the last 10 or 12 members in return for care for the rest of +++++ Pleasant Hill has now been restored to its early 19th century appearance, when the Shaker colony there was at its peak. They were always hospitable to "the world's people," as they termed outsiders, and village once again is welcoming travelers as of old. The museum-type village, open year around, offers Shaker exhibits in the massive Centre Family Dwelling House, restored exhibition buildings and craftspeople are at work during the day in the spinning, weaving and cooper's shops showing you how the Shakers made the things they used and sold.

Overnight accommodations are much the same as when the Shakers were there except for the installation of modern conveniences, including air conditioning and television. You'll appreciate the TV, because after evening dinner at Pleasant Hill, it gets so quiet you can't hear a thing but crickets and kady-dids. The same thing the next morning if you get up fairly

An early morning walk around the grounds gave me the weird feeling that something had happened to mankind and I was the only person left alive. It's that unearthly quiet. So, if your doctor hasperscribed peace and quiet for you, Pleasant Hill is the place to hole up. It's not what you would call a "swinging place," just a Shaker.

The food, however, is fabulous. There are two sittings for dinner, at 5:15 and at 7:15 p.m., and you'll need reservations for one or the other. Overnight reservations are relatively easy to get. We got ours with only three days' notice.

I particularly enjoyed the buffet breakfast. all kinds of fresh fruit, juices, bacon or sausage, eggs-you name it, they had it. And all served by quick little girls dressed up in Shaker customs. I don't believe I've enjoyed a breakfast more since we were at Brenen's in New Orleans.

So, before you throw yourself over a cliff because you can't go to some far off place for a few days, take a look at some of the things our state has to offer. It's loaded with interesting places and things to see, and I, for one, am going to visit more of

Surgical Treatment For Heart Attacks

By F.J.L. Blassingame, M.D.

Immediate surgery for heart attack (myocardial infarction) victims may become the appropriate treatment in selected cases and may offer a better chance of recovery.

Some physicians in Spokane, Washington, prefer the surgical treatment rather than the traditional medical management. Surgeon Ralph Berg and his associates of that city have operated on 96 heart attack victims and made a report to the recent meeting of the American Association of Thoracic Surgery. Their surgical results showed a reduction of mortality rate to about one-third of the rate of cases

According to the Spokane roup, it is essential that surgery be performed in the first six to heart muscle, thereby giving the eight hours after the onset of preliminary evidence that pain and other symptoms. The bypass surgery should be done bypass graft to restore circulation around the occluded vessel before the heart muscle dies from lack of blood supply.

The patients who had surgery were under 65 years of age. They had failed to obtain relief from drugs to dilate the coronary arteries. Special x-rays showed stoppage, and changes were diagnosed in heart muscle as a result of the stoppage,

The favorable results in this series are in contrast to the unfavorable outcome in patients having undergone similar, bypass surgery at the Texas managed by only medical Heart Institute at least two days after the onset of the attack. These later operations failed to restore function to the damaged

Cross To Be In Murray Next Monday

Doug Cross will be in Murray next Monday, August 18.

It will be his first public appearance since his near-brush with death while performing his "Towering Inferno" jump in Marion, Ill., on June 21.

In that crash, Cross suffered a broken leg, broken jaw, broken hand, three cracked vertebrae and had five teeth knocked out. Even with all the injuries, he still plans to continue with his career.

He will be at Rudy's Restaurant in Murray with a press conference slated in the afternoon. Then from 3:30 until 4:30 p. m. Cross will be at Rudy's to meet with fans and sign

That will be the only time he will be there. He is not at full strength and is probably a long way from it. It will still be some time before he is able to put weight on his left leg.

So people who would like to meet and talk with Doug Cross are asked to be there at exactly 3:30 Monday. He will return home after the session.

For the rest of the week, I will be out of town and doing some fishing. However, every time it seems I'm ready to fish it seems the weatherman doesn't want to cooperate.

Things will kick off again on Monday when Doug Cross comes to town. Then on Tuesday is the pre-game banquet at Murray State for the Great Lakes Regional Baseball Tour-

Anyone who has not purchased tickets to the banquet yet should do so. This will be an outstanding banquet and Hillman Lyons will' be showing an excellent baseball film.

Then of course, Wednesday is the big day. That's when the Great Lakes Regional begins. In the first contest at 1:30 p. m. at Reagan Field on Wednesday, the 20th, Indian will play Wisconsin. The second game, immediately following, will find Michigan playing the Kentucky State champions, Corbin gained the state title by defeating Paducah in a best-of-three series this past weekend.

In the only night game to be played Wednesday, the Ohio State champs will take on Murray's legion team.

The tournament will run through Sunday.

Win Meals With Cross

We're going to try something different this time for the free meals at Rudy's contest. Instead of calling me and having to answer a question, here's what we'll do.

Two persons will win a free meal with Doug Cross. The two winners will sit with Cross at the head table during the press conference next Monday and will also receive an autograph color picture of Doug.

To win the free meals with Doug Cross, simply write your name and phone number on a piece of paper and drop it in the box at the counter at Rudy's. All persons are limited to one entry and the drawing for the winner will be Saturday.

Entries must be in by 5 p. m. Friday. Winners will be notified by phone this coming

The fancy feet belonged to slugging catcher Johnny Bench Monday night. Bench made it all the way from home to third base on an infield grounder in the fifth inning and the Chicago Cubs never recovered, eventually falling to the Reds 9-3.

"If a pitcher's not watching me, I'll get a jump and go,' warned Bench.

No one was watching him in the fifth, least of all the Cubs. The Reds, trailing 3-1, picked up a run when Pete Rose doubled, Ken Griffey singled and Joe Morgan hit into a force play to score Rose. Bench then grounded to Bill Madlock at third but was safe when first baseman Andy Thornton came off the bag too soon.

Morgan tried to go all the way to third on the play but was thrown out and Madlock, thinking the side was retired, rolled the ball to the mound. The Cubs trotted toward the dugout but Bench headed for

In the hot and uncomfortable dog days of August, Joe Schultz has the easiest job in baseball. Schultz is the third base coach of the Detroit Tigers, who haven't needed a third base coach in their last three games. The Tigers bowed to the Texas Rangers and Gaylord Perry 7-0 Monday night, becoming the first Detroit club to suffer three consecutive shutouts - one short of the major league record - and extending their team record to 16 losses in

The Tigers haven't scored in 29 innings. They managed only five hits off Perry and only Aurelio Rodriguez, who doubled in the eighth inning, made it as far as second base. He was promptly cut down trying to take third when a pitch rolled a few feet away from catcher Jim Sundberg.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Oakland A's edged the Boston Red Sox 4-3, the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Kansas City Royals 4-0 on Mike Cuellar's two-hitter, the speedy California Angels stole a club record six bases in routing the New York Yankees 8-1 and the Lubie Veale and Gene Cohoon. # FBI Rejects Claims Of Alleged Witness To Kidnaping Of Hoffa

LAKE ORION, Mich. (AP) -James R. Hoffa's son said a new witness claims he saw the ex-Teamsters president kidnaped, but the Federal Bureau of Investigation today rejected the man's account as "a complete fabrication "

The Hoffa family said the witness underwent an "intensive interview" by the FBI and offered "substantial leads.

But Jay E. Bailey, FBI agent in charge of the Hoffa probe, said, "We went into this one in depth and it has absolutely no basis in fact."

Hoffa dropped from sight 13 days ago. The mystery intensified late Monday when his son, Detroit attorney James P. Hoffa, said a man who claimed he witnessed the abduction of Hoffa on July 30 gave "very substantial leads which are being followed up very, very carefully.

His words conflict with statements by FBI investigators. They say hundreds of tips and leads are pouring in and being checked out, but that they have nothing promising to go on.

Speaking to reporters at his father's lakeside home 41 miles north of Detroit, the younger Hoffa said, "One lead we thought was very interesting and which is being checked out has to do with an individual who claims he was an eyewitness to the abduction at the Machus Red Fox.'' The Red Fox is a fashionable restaurant where Hoffa was last seen.

The FBI said it did not know to whom Hoffa referred.

Corn Drop Predicted Burley Crop Rise,

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Department of Agriculture is forecasting a three per cent rise in Kentucky's 1975 burley tobacco harvest and a three per cent drop in her corn crop.

Previously, federal agriculture experts predicted a Kentucky corn crop of 98.6 bushels. But Monday, that estimate was revised down to 92.8 million bushels.

According to the USDA's first burley projection, Kentucky farmers are expected to grow 441.8 million pounds of burley tobacco this year, a three per cent increase over the 1974

The drop in Kentucky's expected corn yield was credited to the dry weather which plagued state farmers until

The USDA projections were, however, made as of August 1 and do not take into account recent rainfall which may improve crop conditions for corn.

Despite the increase forecast in Kentucky's burley harvest, the estimate for total state production was lower than expected by many observers. Agriculture department officials noted that the harvest, based on increased Kentucky growing quotas, could have amounted to some 600 million pounds. The national corn crop estimate was set at 5.85 billion bushels by the USDA during its Monday news conference, down from an earlier prediction of 6.046 billion bushels. Federal agricultural experts predict nationwide a 639.5 million pound burley crop in 1975. This is about 30 million pounds more than sold last year, when prices climbed to a record of almost $1:14 a pound.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Ford administration is asking American grain traders "to refrain from further negotiations" with the Soviet Union for at least a month because of declining expectations for the U.S. harvest this year.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Monday that it would take five months to unload at Russian ports the 9.8 million metric tons of U.S. grain already bought, so "there is no real hurry about additional sales to the Soviets."

Butz said it is more important now "to make sure American livestock production is not short-changed" for lack of feed grains just to boost exports or supply the Russians with their
