NEGRO CONVICTS CAPTURED NEAR MARTIN MONDAY

Five negro convicts who escaped from Brushy Mountain Prison near Nashville were recaptured near Martin at 12:30 Monday by a posse of officers and townsmen.

They were found lying by a railroad track by Herschel Williams, Martin policeman on duty, and Dug Murphy, Martin undertaker, who had joined in the search. Others in the posse, forming an ever-narrowing ring, quickly closed in on them.

First word the convicts were heading toward Martin reached Police Chief H. H. Ivie early Monday morning in a message from an Illinois Central station agent, at Martin. The agent reported the fugitives had been seen on a freight train due in Martin at 6 a. m.

Chief Ivie and two policemen were at the station when the train rolled in, but the convicts jumped from between two cars and escaped into a wooded area. It was still dark and the officers were unable to locate them.

A call later in the morning from Mrs. Cecil Quailes, who lives on a farm about four miles from Martin set them on the chase again. The convicts, Mrs. Quailes said, had been to her house asking for food.

Officers at Dresden and Fulton were then called in on the search by Chief Ivie, and a shotgun-bearing posse was formed.

Only one of the convicts showed any resistance. One of them, drawing a dagger to attack Mr. Murphy, was stopped by Patrolman Williams.

The negroes, serving sentences of from 2 to 25 years, gave their names as Perry Brown, Derney J. Turner, Freddie Lee Adcox, James Branley and Joe N. Smith. Their ages range from 18 to 25. They told officers they escaped from the Brushy Mountain Prison Sunday night on a prison coal car, which they rode to the nearest town, then caught a freight train to Chattanooga, another to Jackson, and finally the one to Martin.

They have been taken to Henderson, Tenn., for imprisonment.

Johanna Westpheling
Fulton County News
Fulton, Kentucky
Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Thank you very much for your letter of yesterday in which you suggested that Fulton would make a good addition to our series on various Kentucky cities.

We already have it on the list. I am sure it will make an interesting story.

Right now I'm not sure when we will use Fulton or when we will be down to take the ground pictures. We have Pikeville coming up next and then Bowling Green, so perhaps we could make it the one after that. Personally, I think very early spring might be the most appropriate time because we have found that a town the size of Fulton looks

We Would Like To Know

If we lived in Bangor, Maine, we would care not one hoot about what happened in Hollywood, California. If we lived in Tennessee and had a hot dog stand in Kentucky we would care not a hang for what happened in Kentucky except for what it meant in nickles and dimes to our hot dog business. Further, if we had children whose education had been completed it isn't likely that we would be concerned about what happened to hundreds of other school kids. We mean we'd feel that way if our vision went no further than our typewriter keyboard.

We are using the editorial "we" advisedly, to bring home a point that is getting monotonous.

We have reference to recent published reports concerning the Scrivner plan of federal aid to education. Comes a local editorial that says federal aid to education is a smooth approach to statism and facistic control. Yet in the department of its usual inconsistency the paper last week strongly suggested that the Government take over the care, treatment and research of infantile paralysis.

Frankly, we think that to set aside one percent of all corporate and personal income taxes collected in the state for use in the educational system of that State is a fine idea. Last year when a group of local school patrons went to Frankfort, worked furiously to enact legislation to give us just a little more money to help our school system we gladly would have taken one percent of anybody's funds to help us along. The Governor chose to veto our bill, but there is no use ghosting around picking up the pieces of a broken dream, the thing to do is get to work and try something else.

The Kentucky Educational Association is strongly in favor of federal aid to education. As long as we can remember we too, have been enthusiastically in favor of some kind of aid to education from the government. Perhaps with a little less money in the hands of Congressmen they will not be as prone to think up such screw-ball ideas to spend it. Of course, if a publisher has educated his children, lives in another State whose educational finances are in good shape, we cannot expect too much interest in this all-important problem of ours that tears at our hearts when we see our teachers so frightfully underpaid.

Let us give you a quote from that editorial in case you missed it:

"We would rather see our educational systems grow slowly and educate our children at home than to see magnificent schools throughout the State dependent upon the federal government for support."

If the educational system in Kentucky grew any slower we would have to back up to catch it. Educate our children at home? Well, at least that's a new idea in this twentieth century. This danged new-fangled automobile is a nuisance . . . what's wrong with a horse and buggy. And the airplane . . . didn't the covered wagon get there just the same.

Make up your mind, Mr. Publisher. This prolonged action toward anything progressive for Fulton is getting us weary. Tell us now, if you will, your stand on such Federal assistance matters as:

1. On-the-job training.
2. Social Security
3. TVA
4. Unemployment Compensation
5. Support prices for farm products
6. Old Age Pensions
7. Veteran's Compensation
8. Government Health Insurance

Don't keep us guessing. Tell us all at once, so we can get over our shock all at one time instead of the small, inconsistent doses you have been doling out.

Adventure . . . That's Scouting

Read this — and reap!

For the past 39 years, our country has been enriched by the existence of the Boy Scouts of America. This thriving movement has affected the lives of more than 15,500,000 boys and men who have, in turn, contributed to the general welfare of us all.

The theme of this year's Boy Scout Week is "Adventure—that's Scouting"—but it's much more than that. Boy Scouts get the satisfaction of "learning by doing" exciting things, to "help other people at all times," and enjoying outdoor activities. The week will be observed from February 6 to the 12th.

No yardstick can measure the harvest of advantage Boy Scouts bring to the nation and the community. But the Scouts depend on the active support of each one of us to increase and extend these benefits.

Let's help them grow—and thereby reap for ourselves a larger crop of healthier, happier young men!

HE WHO IS GLAD

Grace Noll Crowell

HE WHO is glad for every day's bright beauty,
For a flower or a red leaf in the wood,
Who seeks fresh color in each hour's drab duty,
I think he thanks his Maker as he should.

He who is brave to meet each day's new sorrow,
Whose courage marches with him as he goes,
Carries a stronger heart into tomorrow,
And thus thanks God the very best he knows.

He who walks calmly, surely, through disaster,
Trusting an unseen hand to bring him peace,
Lifts up his life, a prayer unto his Master,
And offers him a praise that does not cease.

He who moves gently when the stress is pressing,
Lending a hand, such as a woman would,
Who turns his days and years into a blessing,
I am sure he thanks his Maker as he should.

TOWN & FARM ANNALS IN THE WASHINGTON NEWS

Grain-Surplus Solution?

Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told the Kansas State Board of Agriculture last week that substantial expansion of our livestock and dairy industry may be the answer to the grain-surplus problem that is generally feared by grain growers, once heavy exports for European relief have fallen off.

"The grain-surplus problem doesn't look anywhere near so real," said Kline, "when you actually get down to a discussion of adequate diets for our people. We actually had a meat shortage in 1948, although we ate close to 20 pounds of meat per capita more than we ate during the pre-war years of 1935-39. As long as we have 60 million people employed at good wages, there is bound to be strong demand for meat."

"It seems to me that it is simply good sense to recognize the importance of this demand, to expand it, and then produce the stuff to satisfy it. Expanding meat production experts a tremendous leverage on the grain-surplus problem because about seven acres of land is required to feed the same number of people on a meat diet that could be fed from one acre where the grains are used directly as human food. Furthermore expanded meat production means more pastures and better land use, and that is very important."

Economists at Michigan State College, said Kline, have calculated that between 1930 and 1948 if we had increased our production of livestock and livestock products only 1.3-4 percent, the entire wheat surplus would have been utilized for livestock feed.

However, a program of expanded livestock production cannot be relied on to protect the farm economy against periods of rapidly-falling prices, said the Farm Bureau leader. "I earnestly hope that Congress will give the present farm program a fair opportunity to prove itself before undertaking too sweeping changes in the law under which it operates," he said. "To be sure the law needs some clarifying amendments, but it is basically sound and its underlying philosophy should not be changed."

The Hope-Aiken law, passed by Congress last summer, provides for continuation in 1949 of wartime price supports at 90 percent of parity for basic crops and many non-basic commodities such as hogs and milk, and sets up a flexible schedule ranging from 60 to 90 percent of parity for basic crops and many non-basic commodities, starting in 1950. For certain non-basic commodities, supports ranging from 0 to 90 percent of parity are discretionary with the Secretary of Agriculture, who is directed to take into consideration availability of funds, supply of the commodity in relation to demand, price levels at which other commodities are being supported importance of the commodity, and so on.

Mr. Kline said that the law was passed with bipartisan support, with the strong backing of the Secretary of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, and that President Truman commented favorably on the bill when he signed it.

In addition, Mr. Kline pointed out, the President's Council of Economic Advisers, in its latest report, definitely favors a system of flexible price supports.

Storage Plan

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer announced last week that a proposed voluntary plan to make available 8,400 tons of steel products each month for manufacture of grain storage bins has been approved by the Steel Products Advisory Committee.

Plan, which would operate from next March through next August, would free 8,000 tons of 18-26 gauge galvanized sheet and 400 tons of heavier gauge rolled sheet and bar-size angle irons each month.

It is expected that the plan will provide enough additional space to store one million bushels of grain.

Telephone Service

Better telephone service for farmers is being sought in the new Congress.

A bill (S.78) authorizing an appropriation of $300,000,000 to REA for loans to improve telephone service in rural areas, has been introduced by Senator Langer (R., N.D.) and has been referred to Senate Agriculture Committee.

On the House side, Rep. Poage (D., Tex.) has introduced a measure (H.R.113) to amend the Rural Electrification Act, for the same purpose. Bill declares that Congress should see that "adequate telephone service be made generally available in rural areas through improvement and expansion of existing telephone facilities and construction and operation of such additional facilities as are required to assume availability of adequate phone service to widest possible number of rural users of such service at rates which are within such users' ability to pay."

This bill has been referred to House Agriculture Committee.

Fifty Years and Going Strong--That's the Magazine Club

"We're Going to Form a Club," Wrote Bettie Fall to Augusta Paschall in 1899

Fifty years ago . . . when knighthood was in flower, when the treaty with Spain was signed, when Martha Place was recognized as the first woman to be put to death in the electric chair, when the South American war began, when Pretoria surrendered, and the Philippine-American war began many other historic events were happening in the world, but in Fulton it was different.

In 1899, fifty years ago on January 28, the Fulton Woman's Magazine Club was organized and though the date and the incident may not be recorded in the world almanacs, it inexorably took its place in the history of Fulton. Today it is reputed to be the second oldest woman's club in the State, and who knows how high it stands in the historical annals of the Nation.

There was no great fan-fare on that date of long ago about the actual organization of this elite group of Fulton damsels. As a matter of fact there may be some difficulty in explaining the real intent of its organization. But one thing remains certain and that is that on that cold January day in 1899, when Bettie Fall, (now Mrs. Clint Foster) sent a note to Augusta Paschall, (now Mrs. T. N. Fields) via negro boy messenger, it is certain that an event was occurring that would certainly have its influence on Fulton social circles from that day forward.

Bettie wrote to Augusta, "come over to my house this afternoon, we are going over to Lena's (Lena Sellars, now deceased) to form a magazine club." At the hospitable Sellars home that afternoon there were twenty ladies, which number was degreed in solemnity that it shall be the maximum membership of that group and that subsequent members could only be voted into the club at the resignation or demise of a member. Today the membership maximum is ten, what with other women's cultural and church groups taking a large part of milady's time. But even in the curtailment of the maximum roster, there has been no lessening of enthusiasm in the club's program or in the calibre of its membership.

With no intention of skipping over the years lightly the pages of time will be flipped back quickly to point out the lovely ladies who sat in the parlor that day to discuss magazine articles of current and general interest to its members.

They were: Misses Sarah Wooten, Della Dook, Mattie Proctor, Hettie Collins, Annie Bransford, Lena McGee, Lena Sellars, Mary Usher, Augusta Paschall, Georgia Pierce and a maiden whose last name was Mooney who first name was recorded. Mesdames Bettie Foster, Sallie Cook, Jessie Bransford, Julia Gordon, Fannie Lou Shacklett, Addie Nolan, Willie McCall, Anna Hall and J. C. Flournoy.

In the original membership there was a preponderance of school teachers who felt a need for such a group in view of the limited school facilities. A program was arranged whereby the membership was divided into teams with two of the members combining to report on a specific article. On interviewing Mrs. T. N. Fields, the only charter member still residing in Fulton she said: "There were no love stories or any of that kind of writing reported upon. We selected articles from such magazines as Harper's, Century, the Atlantic Monthly, and . . . I don't quite remember many of the others." In her bright, cheerful manner, Mrs. Fields was enjoying the little visit into the past with a News reporter. There were many interesting items of that day that the News reporter revealed in hearing, but there will be a time in the not too distant future when those events will be recorded for your reading pleasure.

The Magazine Club thrived in its first early years and more and more the members were taking cognizance of the Nation's fast moving events. It was this progress that prompted the little, but influential club to federate with the Kentucky State Federation of Women's Club. "We wanted to keep abreast of what other women over the State were doing and it was important to join with the State Federation in 1904," Mrs. Fields related. Having grown up and looking afield within the boundaries of the State was not enough for this progressive group, whose families, and who they themselves have pioneered in the development of western Kentucky. In 1907 they federated with the National Federation of Women's Clubs and set to work to keep informed as to women's activities from the lighthouse in Maine to the sandy beaches of California.

In the early days of the club the members assembled each Saturday afternoon for a session that took most of the hours of that part of the day. The meetings were held at that time in order to accommodate the school teachers and ministers wives who were members.

At the beginning of each club year it was a gala affair that announced the call of the October meeting. At the home of Mrs. Willie McCall, who occupied the residence now owned by Mayor and Mrs. Tom Boaz the living-rooms of that spacious abode were opened for a "come-and-go" party and the members in their long dresses with their invited guests in equally fancy attire, made a stunning picture of genteel living.

The club met twice a month in those days. Things went along beautifully in their cultured way until about 1921 when though there was not an unhappy incident, it did bring about changes in the routine of the organization. At that time the Fulton Woman's Club came into being and naturally an invitation was made to all women's groups in the city to join in an overall woman's club. At that time there was in existence such clubs as the Fortnightly Club and the Philharmonic Club, which joined with the new group. It was not the wish of the Magazine Club to join the new group however. In view of the desire of some members to join the new Woman's Club the club maximum roster was reduced to ten and it then became a luncheon club, with each member having the club as her luncheon guests about once a year. As a token of esteem the club presented the new Woman's Club with a silver service.

When one thinks of the Magazine Club as such, it fails by a wide margin to grasp the real significance of the group. Though its name suggests a study group of contemporary literature, the club is really the epitome of gracious living and a segregation of the finest points of sincere friendship past, present or future.

The Magazine Club was the brainchild of the former Miss Sarah Wooten, who later married E. M. Waits, an eminent educator and dean emeritus of Texas Christian College in North Worth. Mrs. Waits has passed away, but Mr. Waits still resides in North Worth.

The years have taken its toll of the charter members of the group, and only five members survive. Besides Mrs. Fields, the others surviving members are Miss Georgia Pierce, who lives with a cousin in Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Fannie Lou Shacklett who lives in Houston and who corresponds frequently with her old friend Mrs. Fields; Mrs. J. C. Cheek, the former Annie Bransford, now lives in California, and Mrs. Bettie Fall Foster of Lexington.

The present membership claims a number of ladies who have upwards of forty years of affiliation. They are Mrs. Herbert Carr and Mrs. E. M. Jenkins.

An interesting side-light on the barometer by which its members were selected is noted in the case of Mrs. Herbert Carr and Mrs. Jenkins. When it became known that local boys such as Herbert Carr and Ed Thomas were to be married, vacancies in the club were reserved for their future wives. The judgment of the boys was accepted as final for the ladies in the group as to the suitability to membership of their lady loves. Mr. Thomas is deceased and his widow later married Mr. Jenkins.

There are examples of infinite good in the works of the Magazine Club. Though the dues are $1.00 a year per member, which defray the expenses of state and national federation, there is never an incident of joy or sadness in the lives of its members that it not remembered with some token of esteem. On the philanthropic side they annually remember the students of the school in Caney Creek, Ky. The school is in the mountainous regions of the State, where poverty among the mountain-folk is prevalent. Toys, clothing, food and sometimes money is sent to them at Christmastime.

The ladies have also done their share in introducing Fulton to prominent guests the nation over. In an accelerated program of educational and cultural activities, they have sponsored the appearance here of such guests as Woodrow Wilson, Henry Waterson, Bob Burdette, famous comedian, and the band of John Thomas.

Present membership of the club is as follows: Mrs. B. B. Alexander, Mrs. Herbert Carr, Mrs. L. A. Clifton, Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. Elbert Jenkins, Mrs. H. B. Murphey, Mrs. Sue Schoe, Mrs. Daisy Terry, Mrs. J. D. White.

One vacancy exists. The officers are: Mrs. Sue Schoe, president; Mrs. J. D. White, first vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Carr, second vice-president; Mrs. Elbert Jenkins, treasurer; Mrs. B. B. Alexander, secretary.

The club motto is, "I rest, I rust."

Fifty years is a long time. Especially true of groups formed among local friends. But fifty years is not so long in the case of the Magazine Club when one considers the foundation upon which its structure was laid. And then even that foundation fades into insignificance when we consider the staunch, strong, honorable founders who laid it. May we, in our humble way, salute the pioneers of that yester-year and strive for the courage they possess.

Can Uncle Sam Preach The Gospel?

No! Nor Should He Direct a Person's Health!

Read This Pertinent Message
From Minister and Father:

WASHINGTON, D. C. — DECEMBER, 1948

DEAR CHRISTIAN AMERICAN:

As a father, my right to choose our family physician is as sacred as my right to choose the church which my children shall attend. It is part of the "police state" system for politicians to step in and seek to "regulate" or dictate the relationship between my family and our physician.

As a minister of the Gospel, it is my right and duty to visit and help those who are ill in body, mind, or soul. In the sick room, the minister and the medical doctor frequently work side-by-side for the benefit of the suffering patient. Only in a police state is a bureaucrat placed between them!

As minister of the Gospel, we would be without vision or understanding if we did not recognize that political control of the medical profession involves real threats to religious liberty as we know it in America.

It is true, of course, that — in the sick room, as well as outside — the clergyman and the medical doctor work in different realms. But these realms are interrelated. Good health requires a pure heart as well as a pure blood stream.

Man has a soul as well as a body. Will his soul long be left free, after his body is enchained? How long will we, ministers of the Gospel, be left free, after our fellow-workers in the sick room, the medical doctors, have been bound down by bureaucratic red-tape and political controls?

I am addressing this appeal to my fellow-ministers of all churches at the very time that the strongest pressure is being mobilized behind the proposal for "compulsory health insurance" by Federal enactment. This is not "socialized" medicine, strictly speaking. It is worse than that. It is political medicine of the most sordid kind.

The term, "health insurance," as employed by the socialistic politicians, suggests the totalitarian nature of this "made-in-Moscow" importation. Health, like life itself, is the gift of God. It is beyond human power to do more than seek to preserve and safeguard it. Only politicians, infected with the delusion of grandeur common to totalitarians, would seek to "play god over the people" by promising them that the health of 145,000,000 Americans can be "guaranteed" or "insured" by permitting the bureaucrats to regiment the medical profession.

Any system of "compulsory health insurance" violates the religious liberty of those millions of our church people who believe in "Faith healing." Believing that God heals all illness in answer to prayer, there are at least several million devout church people in our country who feel that the only way to better health is through an increase in Faith, rather than an extension of medical services. They may be wrong, but they are entitled to their convictions.

Under any system of "compulsory sickness insurance," these millions of religious citizens would be taxed to support a "health program" in which they do not believe.

Political medicine would necessarily regard and regiment our people after the fashion of "145,000,000 guinea pigs." Medical service is a great deal more than the diagnosis and treatment of physical ills. The family physician should rank next to the minister as a faithful counsellor on many matters related to individual personality and morals, as well as health.

By controlling the medical profession, power-mad politicians could attempt the radical reorganizing of family life in America. Does this sound unbelievable? All right, let me give you some facts on this phase of the subject.

More than ten years ago, the drive was launched for political medicine by a special group who saw in "Federal control of medicine" an opportunity to "put Uncle Sam in the birth control business."

In testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 1, 1934, Mrs. Margaret Sanger, head of the birth control organization in America, declared that her group would demand "an appropriation from the Federal Government" for "regular Federal birth control clinics."

In October, 1938, Mrs. Sanger boldly announced that her movement would demand that a portion of any public health appropriation voted by Congress must be used to set up government service stations for the promotion of the traffic in contraceptives. As reported in the New York Herald-Tribune and the New York Times on October 5, 1938, Mrs. Sanger in an address at the Y. W. C. A. hall in Washington, D. C., demanded that "It must become a necessary government function to provide birth control service through public health agencies." Any system of "Federal" medicine, she argued, "should inaugurate birth control services on a nation-wide scale."

Whether you approve or disapprove of birth control, you must agree that this is a matter to be determined by the individual family, in consultation with pastor and family physician. Once the Federal government imposes political control of medicine, "population planning" would inevitably become a major occupation of the bureaucrats. The medical "czar" in Washington would doubtless order a "plowing under of babies" after the fashion of the unlamented Secretary of Agriculture who abolished the little pigs.

Lenin, the first Bolshevik dictator, declared, "Socialized medicine is the keystone to the arch of the Socialist state."

Marxian socialism has always stood for free-love. To attain the "Soviet paradise," the home must be destroyed. Because they interfere with the "free-love way of life," and because they stabilize the home, children have always been regarded as "enemies of the Soviet program."

When the Red Revolution triumphed in Russia in 1917, one of the first "reforms" of the Bolshevik government was to inaugurate political control of medicine. Immediately thereafter, "free abortion service" was provided to all Russian women as a part of the system of "free medical service." The anti-children program was vigorously pushed as a part of socialized medicine, until the growing power of Nazi Germany caused Stalin to fear for the safety of the Russian nation.

More than ten years ago, the Bolsheviks outlawed abortion in Russia and mobilized socialized medicine behind the "new" militaristic program for more abundant cannon fodder. Today, insofar as he is able, Dictator Stalin has made multiple-motherhood "compulsory." At the present rate of increase, the population of the Soviet Union will double in the next fifty years.

To the Christian who believes in the sanctity of life, nothing could be more outrageous than the spectacle of politicians arbitrarily juggling the birth rate, through the application of propaganda or compulsion by means of an abuse of political medicine. Once power over all medical services is concentrated in the hands of a few bureaucrats, it would be inevitable that—sooner or later—they would misuse it to establish "quotas" for the baby crop in the same way that the Agriculture Department theorists set "quotas" for farm production.

If this sounds fantastic, just remember that a generation ago it would have sounded outlandish to suggest that the time would ever come when farmers would be told how many little pigs might frolic in their pens and how many rows of cotton or corn might grow on their land.

But is it so fantastic to suppose that political medicine might produce the same fruits in America that it has in other countries that have experimented with it? Germany was the first country to have a substantial form of socialized medicine. We all know how the German militarists used it to convert German women into breeding creatures for the war machine. Is it not possible that the military mind could work the same in our country—if socialized medicine opened the door to the militarizing of the cradle?

Once political control over medicine is established, the way will be open for any group of scheming regimenters to enter in to control the family life of our people. The militarists will doubtless try to prostitute political medicine into a device artificially increasing the birth rate. On the other hand, the professional birth control and anti-children societies have already served notice that they will seek to have any system of "Federal" medicine used to make childlessness universal, by propaganda spread through "public clinics" if not by outright compulsion. It will be recalled that America's foremost apostle of socialization, Henry A. Wallace, suggested, darkly and vaguely, in the 1948 campaign that it might be necessary to take away from certain classes of Americans the right to parenthood!

The remark caused such a furor that he never did elaborate. However, other radicals have been more outspoken. In 1935, a leading "Silver Shirt" agitator advocated the "compulsory sterilization of all non-Aryans." He said this would be the sure result of the coming "Nazification of the medical profession." It did happen in Germany. Who says it cannot happen here?

Christ taught the separation of church and state. I do not believe the political authority has any more business "socializing" the medical profession than it has our churches. I do not believe that the bureaucrats have any more business regimenting medical doctors than they have dictating to ministers of the Gospel.

If the physician's liberty in the sick room is taken away, the pastor's will not long endure. My home has been violated when politicians step in and interfere in the relationship between my family and our physician.

I believe that children are a heritage of heaven, as the Bible teaches. I believe that God plans the population of our world. Christ taught that not a sparrow falls to the ground without being observed by our Father in Heaven. Certainly, no baby comes into the world possessed of an immortal soul, without our Creator sending that little one into somebody's home.

I believe in the Divine right and responsibility of parenthood. It is for me and Mrs. Gilbert, as parents of our children to provide for them—for their physical, mental, moral, and spiritual welfare. I deny that the Federal bureaucrats in Washington have any right to poke the long arm of bureaucracy into my home and direct or dictate in any way in the relationship between my family and our physician. I deny that they have any right to tax me to support a system of political medicine which is the enemy of free men, free homes, free churches, and free government itself.

As a minister of the Gospel, I am preaching against this monster of Anti-Christ—political medicine. I am urging Christian believers everywhere to work and pray that our beloved land may be delivered from the blight of this monstrosity of Bolshevik bureaucracy. I am urging my fellow-ministers to give the facts on this subject to their congregations on the first or second Sunday of January, if possible, to the end that the church people of America may pray and work for the preservation of our free and righteous way of life.

Faithfully yours,

DAN GILBERT

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 30, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings." (Ps. 36:7)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love." (1 John 4:7,8)

THIS IS AMERICA

This is freedom—many religions, many races, living in harmony together. For freedom is more than a way of life. It is a state of spirit—and our richest asset.

Under freedom of religion, Americans attend more churches than any other nation. Under freedom of speech, we have more newspapers, more radio stations than any country in the world. Under freedom of opportunity, our children attend more schools, have more chances to succeed in life.

We are only 7% of the world's people, living on 6% of the world's land. Yet we who live in America have the highest standard of living the world has ever known.

Under freedom of enterprise—you may call it Democracy, or Capitalism—we make just about one-third of the world's goods, mostly for our own use. We drive three-fourths of the world's autos, use about half the world's electricity. Our homes are unrivaled for comfort and labor-saving devices. We eat more meat, buy more clothes, see more shows, own more insurance. We even save more money.

Yes, freedom pays—in the coin of tolerance and understanding, and in the coin of progress and prosperity.

Let's don't forget to drop a get well card to our friends when they are ill either at home or in the hospital. It is appreciated by all, so if you don't have any on hand get some to day so when you hear of a friend being ill you will have some and won't have to dress and go to town to send that person a card.

There will be more people hurt within the next 80 days than any other time so let's all remember to be careful as well as safety minded at all times.
