REVIVAL MEETING AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH STARTS SUNDAY, APR. 14

The Rev. Warren, pastor, announced Sunday that the revival meeting at the First Baptist Church would begin Sunday, April 14, with the Rev. W. H. Horton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Mayfield, doing the preaching.

Rev. Horton is well known throughout this entire section of country as a gifted divine and will deliver his messages in a forceful and interesting manner. The song service preceding the sermons will be a delightful feature during the meeting.

RADIO TALKS FOR FARM AND HOME

The College of Agriculture and Experiment Station will broadcast farm and home programs three days a week from station WHAS, Louisville, beginning April 3. Through special arrangements made with WHAS, these programs will come directly from the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

The programs, which will include talks on various phases of farming and homemaking, will be given from 12:45 to 1 o'clock, central standard time, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. Two talks will be made in the 15-minute periods on Mondays and Wednesdays, and the Friday period will be devoted to questions and answers.

These radio talks will supplement the agricultural educational services of the College and Station and enable them to reach a larger number of people over the state.

High School Notes

Our High School was represented at Murray at the Scholastic Tournament held there last week-end. Three of our representatives brought back first places in Piano, Mathematics and American History. Joseph Williams, Juano Mays and Avery Hancock were the three. Augusta Williams won third place in English and Lucille Smith won third place in public discussion.

The Fulton Debating Team won in the first round of debates against the Lynn Grove High School team.

The other representatives certainly made a splendid showing for the school. Mary Elizabeth Stevenson represented us in voice, Randolph Kramer in oratory, Elsie Winsor in Senior English, Lucille Greene in Junior English and Kellena Cole in Declaration. Quite a large crowd of Fulton people attended this tournament and it was good to see so many former Fulton High students who are going to college in Murray this year. Joseph Williams, Juano Mays and Avery Hancock will represent this district in the State contest which will be held in Lexington next month.

These inter-scholastic events tend to bring the high schools of the districts more closely together and are certainly bringing out the talent of the high schools.

Rev. Vaughn, Rev. Akers and Mr. Yates were present for chapel Monday morning. After a prayer by Mr. Yates, Rev. Akers delivered a most inspiring address. The hero, if he might be so called, of the story was David of Biblical fame and Rev. Akers took the five outstanding qualities of David's life and discussed them.

1. Fidelity in little things.
2. Perfect control of temper.
3. Purity of motive.
4. Courage of individuality.
5. Faith in God.

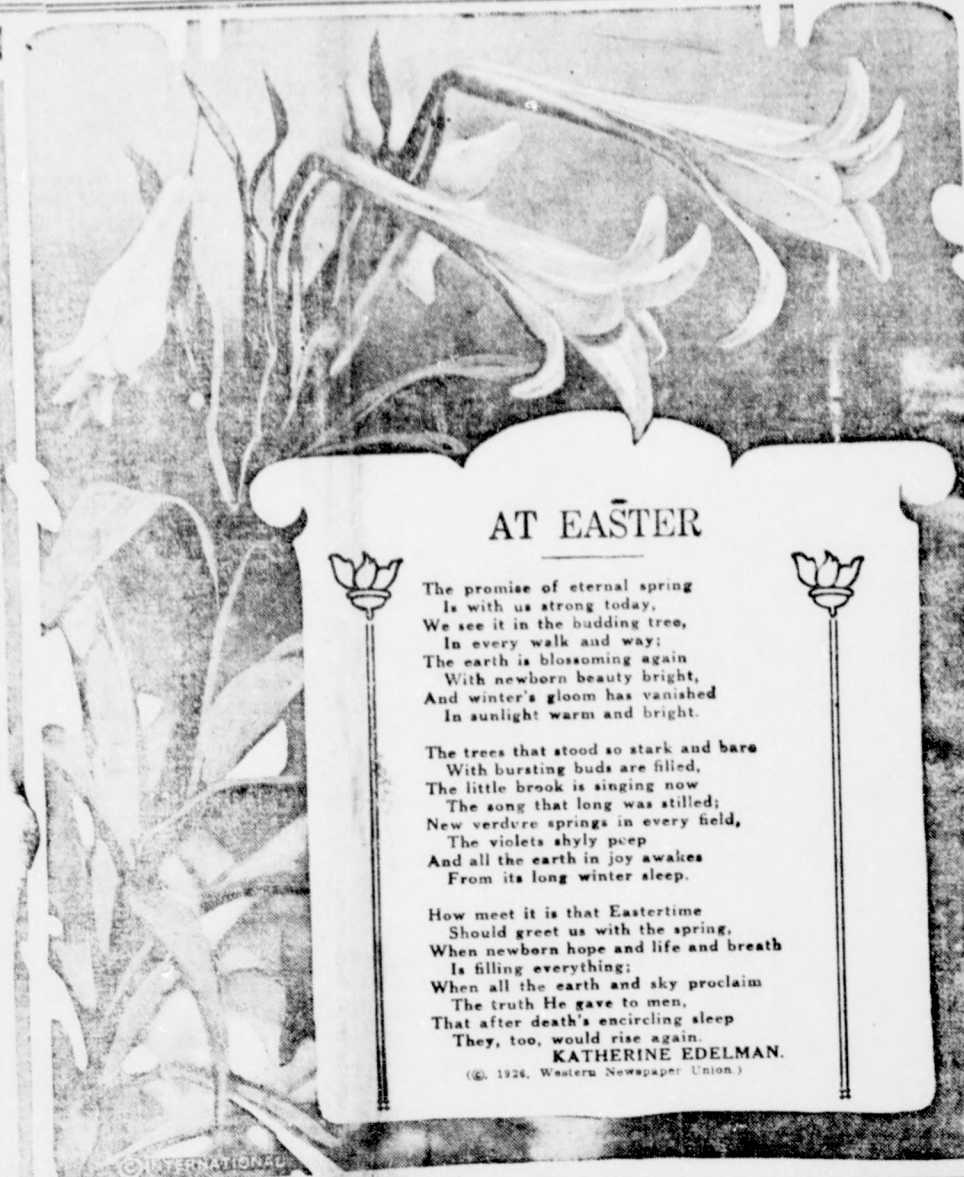

All these things go to make up a perfect man. Mr. Akers is a speaker of rare ability and holds the students spell-bound when he speaks to them.

All the high school students were asked to attend the Methodist Revival services. Monday night was high school night.

The loving cup which the Fulton Basketball team won at the Wickliffe tournament for best sportsmanship was presented to Louise Huddleston, captain of the girl's team, Monday morning.

Mr. Aubrey Nugent presented a most enjoyable chapel program Tuesday morning. He portrayed a chapter out of the country school life and very humorously enacted the part of the teacher and pupils. The high school students always enjoy Mr. Nugent and invite him back soon.

AT EASTER

The promise of eternal spring
Is with us strong today,
We see it in the budding tree,
In every walk and way;
The earth is blossoming again
With newborn beauty bright,
And winter's gloom has vanished
In sunlight warm and bright.

The trees that stood so stark and bare
With bursting buds are filled,
The little brook is singing now
The song that long was stilled;
New verdure springs in every field,
The violets shyly peep
And all the earth in joy awakes
From its long winter sleep.

How meet it is that Eastertime
Should greet us with the spring,
When newborn hope and life and breath
Is filling everything;
When all the earth and sky proclaim
The truth He gave to men,
That after death's encircling sleep
They, too, would rise again.

One of Fulton's Growing Industries

Rucker's Flower Department in the Rucker's Gift, Music and Flower Shoppe at 215 Main street is a very busy place the week preceding Easter.

Under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rucker, the flower department at Rucker's is growing. Prominent representatives in many of the neighboring towns now send orders to Fulton to be filled. All flower lovers recognize the quality flowers that Rucker's carry and make beautiful designs.

Hardly a day passes that express shipments do not leave this shoppe for neighboring towns. This attractive shoppe has representatives in Clinton, Arlington, Bardwell, Wickliffe, Martin, Water Valley, Wingo, Sharon, Dresden, Greenfield, Milan, Troy, Tiptonville, Obion and Newbern.

The work done in this shoppe is excellent. The designs and sprays for funerals are beautiful. The wedding bouquets, corsages and colonials are dainty and as perfect in arrangement as if made in a larger city's shoppe.

Fulton and vicinity are to be congratulated on having in its midst a floral store with such modern methods. It should be patronized and appreciated fully. If one will only tell the Rucker's what they want, describing it minutely, their orders will be filled with gorgeous, fresh flowers, the best the Grand Central Flower Market can grow, shipped daily from Chicago, "the greatest flower market in the world."

To remind you to place your order for her Easter Corsage or a box of fresh cut flowers for her Easter Sunday. The unusual and exclusive patterns in ties and mounts and that final touch of daintiness, characterize our corsages. She will be delighted with a corsage from Rucker's Flower Shoppe.

POPULAR COUPLE WED IN ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY

A wedding of interest to their many friends was solemnized Sunday, March 24, when Mr. Joe Kasnow, of Fulton, was happily united in marriage to Miss Sophie Stone, of St. Louis. The beautiful wedding ceremony was said by Rabbi Grutsky in the Temple, 4800 Page and Euclid, St. Louis.

The bride is a charming young lady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stone.

The groom is a young man of sterling character and associated with his brother, L. Kasnow, in the dry goods, clothing and ladies' ready-to-wear business, 448 Lake street, of this city.

Both are popular young people and their wide circle of friends are showering them with congratulations.

After a honeymoon trip, the newlyweds arrived in Fulton, and are at home to their friends at 313 Fourth street.

DR. JOHN GOFF AT THE CITY HALL

Rev. John Goff, Ph. D., of Hopkinsville, Ky., Evangelist and Superintendent of Home Missions in Muhlenburg Presbytery, will arrive Saturday to assist in a meeting to begin Sunday, at 11 a. m., at the City Hall.

Dr. Goff is one of the outstanding Christian workers of today. By education, by travel and by actual experience on the field he is wonderfully fitted for the great work of making the Bible plain, and of leading souls to Christ.

He has been around the world, giving special attention to learning the things of all Bible lands, besides for years he has served as Evangelist in a number of the southern states hence he speaks as with authority, and his sermons are enriched by illustrations taken from extended travel and a wide field of instruction.

We hope that not only all Presbyterians, but many others of other denominations, or no denomination, may avail themselves of the opportunity of attending upon these services.

We want all lovers of music to come, and help us in the singing, also we hope that many children may come, and help in children's choruses. We extend a hearty welcome to every one.

Yours in His service,
J. T. WADE.

FARM NOTES

Several farmers over the county have agreed to do all year spraying. They have been supplied with all information needed and they should have splendid success with their fruit.

County Agent H. A. McPherson stated that he had enrolled several farmers in tobacco and cotton work. He expects to use a heavy application of fertilizer on these list crops and keep an accurate record on cost, etc., and publish results on both fertilized crops and those not fertilized.

Plans are just about complete for the purchasing of three or four good Jersey bulls. If your community needs one, get in touch with the County Agent or the Chamber of Commerce.

If you are thinking of using fertilizer this season you will do well to get in touch with your County Agent. He came from a section that used up to $50,000 worth annually and he has conducted many valuable experiments with fertilizer. In 1925 Mr. McPherson had the largest 4-H cotton club in the South and the boys used 200 pounds of nitrate of soda and 300 pounds of acid phosphate. The boys produced 535 pounds of lint cotton per acre. The average yield in the county was 156 pounds per acre.

LIFE OF MILUS WHEELIS SNUFFED OUT BY FIRE EARLY MONDAY MORNING

The entire community was shocked Monday morning at the untimely death of Milus Wheelis, well known Fulton citizen, who was trapped in the flames of his burning home on Walnut street at 3:15 o'clock.

When the fire was discovered, the dwelling was a mass of flames. Mrs. Wheelis and her son broke through the window, thinking Mr. Wheelis was following, but the unfortunate man opened the door leading into the hallway and was met by a gust of flames which enveloped him and from which he could not escape. As soon as his wife discovered he remained in the building, it was with much difficulty she was restrained from returning to the roaring furnace.

Mrs. Wheelis' mother occupied another part of the house and safely escaped. However, it was a narrow escape for all the occupants as the dwelling was enveloped in flames when the alarm was first given. The fire department reached the scene as quickly as possible and did heroic work, but not in time to save the life snuffed out. It was a horrifying death and a good citizen and former employee of the Kentucky Light and Power Company today sleeps in the silent city of the dead. The entire community is bowed in grief with the bereaved family. At the time of his death Mr. Wheelis was 55 years of age.

Besides his widow he is survived by one son and two sisters.

The funeral was held from the Fulton Undertaking Company Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. H. B. Vaughn conducting the service. Interment followed in Fairview cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

An Art Club, under the direction of Miss Mary Martin, was organized last Tuesday afternoon. The officers are as follows: Julia Frances Beadles, President; Ruth Payne, Vice-President; Grace Hill, Secretary and Treasurer. This club will meet semi-monthly and promises to be a source of much pleasure. The program committee for the first meeting consists of Julia Frances Beadles, Mary Croft and Christine Brown.

The seniors had a class meeting last Wednesday afternoon and elected the following people for the annual class day exercises: Prophet, Harold Norman; Historian, Jane McAdams; Grumbler, James Wallace Gordon; Poet, Mary Nelle Nall, and Class Will, Luella Wood. The invitations have been ordered and will be here in a few days.

The preliminaries for the declamation, oratorical and public discussion contests were held Thursday morning to determine who would represent Fulton in the Inter-Scholastic meet at Murray, Friday and Saturday. The contestants in the oratorical contest were Randolph Kramer and Alton Wade, who gave "Efficient, but Not Sufficient," by Cook, and Webster's Reply to Hayne, respectively. It will be remembered that Mr. Kramer was the representative of Fulton High at the contest last year which was held at Mayfield. Winning in Mayfield, he went to Lexington and was in the finals in oratory there. As a representative of Fulton High in Murray, we hope Randolph will do the same this year.

Kellena Cole, giving "Pro Patria," was the winner of the declamation contest. Other contestants were Elizabeth Williamson, who won second place with "Cherokee Roses"; Erin Brock, who gave "Judith of 1864 and Julia Frances Beadles, with "As the Moon Rose." All the contestants did splendidly.

Lucille Smith was the winner of the Public Discussion Contest. The other participants were Avery Hancock. "Calendar Simplification" was the subject under discussion and both people had good argument for their side.

The judges for these three contests were Mr. Steve Wiley, Mrs. Irby and Mr. Aubrey Nugent.

The piano contest was held Friday morning, between Martha, Norman Lowe and Joseph Williams, who played "Novellette in F" by Schumann. The judges, Mrs. Lochridge, Miss Elizabeth Lochridge and Mrs. Happy, all of Mayfield, awarded the decision to Joseph Williams.

Dr. Hawkins, Field Secretary for Washington University of St. Louis, was present at school Monday morning. He addressed American History Class the second hour, and then he talked to all the students during chapel. In both talks he urged the students not to be "misfits" in life, to be assets and not liabilities to the world, and to make the world a little better because of having lived in it. Today is the day of the educated man and woman and every high school student owes it to his parents and his community to take advantages of his opportunities and make something of himself.

Dr. Hawkins explained in detail the different colleges and courses which Washington University offers to students. Dr. Hawkins is one of the outstanding educators of the middle west and the high school welcomes him back anytime.

Dr. Hawkins has reached the ripe old age of seventy-seven and is still as active and ambitious as many men much younger.

Bro. Vaught of the Methodist church introduced Dr. Akers, evangelist, and Bro. Yates, singer, who are conducting a revival meeting at the Methodist church at present. Dr. Akers delivered a forceful lecture to the students.

MUSICAL EVENT AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH AT MAYFIELD, KY.

On Friday night, April 5, Mr. Adolph Steuterman, Organist and Choir Master of Calvary Episcopal Church, of Memphis, Tenn., will give an organ recital on the new $15,000 pipe organ recently installed in the First Methodist church, Mayfield, Ky.

This concert will consist largely of popular numbers; however, some classical numbers will be played by this master musician.

In addition to this, there will be anthems rendered by the Choir of the First Methodist Church, of Mayfield, and the First Methodist Church of Paris, Tennessee, and possibly some others.

The new organ at this church was formally opened in January, when Mr. Steuterman gave a recital to a packed house, and his return is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

This organ is the finest in Western Kentucky and Western Tennessee. It has the echo, chimes and harp effect, and contains three thousand pipes. It is the latest three manual organ that the Moeller Pipe Organ Company has manufactured.

This recital will begin at 7:45 p. m.

The choirs of Paducah, Benton, Murray, Fulton, Hickman, Clinton, Arlington, Bardwell, LaCenter, Union City, Martin, Paris, Dresden and McKenzie are all being invited and no doubt this occasion will bring the largest gathering of music lovers of West Tennessee and West Kentucky that has ever been assembled.

The APPLESAUCE TWINS make painting a farce

"Cheap" paint with its skimpy covering, cheap colors and short life is costly enough. Its low price and alluring promises are "applesauce."

But when "Cheap" Paint's twin brother, "Applesauce" Painter, does the job with his careless, unskilled brush, you have the most expensive painting job to be had.

Don't throw away good money on these "Applesauce" Twins.

There is just one way to save money on a house painting job. Use the best paint and let a skilled painter do the work.

When a master painter applies SWP you can count on many years of beauty and protection--with no repainting expense.

Two Great Reasons for Rejoicing at Easter

While the earth remaineth,
Seedtime and harvest,
Cold and heat,
Summer and winter,
Day and night
Shall not cease.

The happy coincidence which brings the spring of the year and Easter day so close together makes for a very joyous occasion. In fact the word Easter is derived from Eostre, who was the Goddess of Light or Spring, which makes the association between the two even closer.

But even Christmas does not carry the glad promise of Easter. Socially, the season has come to mean the resumption of more formal and larger gatherings after the comparative quiet of Lent. And the children find in the legends of the Easter hare and the enthusiastic pursuit of his colored eggs, the same mystery that has made Santa Claus live through the ages—Exchange.

LIFE'S SPRINGTIME

Symbolical of Easter is this little maid, with all life's hopes and joys stretching before her.

NO housekeeper who uses an electric vacuum sweeper would ever willingly throw it out and go back to the old-fashioned broom.

C. She knows the electric sweeper gets all the dust, dirt and grit in her rugs, upholstery and draperies, while the broom merely stirs up the dust—which settles back pretty much where it came from.

C. The electric sweeper saves time, eliminates back-straining labor, helps preserve rugs and upholstery which are regularly cleaned.

C. And for all this, the housekeeper pays only a few cents a week for electric current to operate the sweeper.

CELEBRATING EASTER

EASTER, the first day after Lent, is fittingly the day for a party. Either a luncheon or a breakfast. Because Easter is a day of joy, the colors used at the party should be light and delicate, pink, yellow and green are the most desirable ones—especially as they give an opportunity to use your colored glassware and modern gaily-hued linens. Table decorations may be as simple or elaborate as you like. Bright spring flowers are all that is necessary, but a downy gossamer looking wonderingly into a broken egg-shell, or an Easter basket filled with Easter eggs, jelly beans and Jordan almonds may be used instead.

If a breakfast is served, the hour is set late, any time from nine o'clock to noon, and the menu is more elaborate than for an early breakfast. The luncheon may be as simple or formal as you please. Suggestions are given for both a breakfast and a luncheon, and recipes for the more unusual dishes.

PULLING TOGETHER

If the citizens and residents of a town do not pull together how can they expect strangers to think well of their own community? True, every town has people who have disagreeable characteristics. Each one of us is "peculiar" in some respects in the mind of the "other fellow." But even if it is the truth, we should not say evil things of our fellow-townsmen.

Far better be like the Scotch, of whom Dr. Samuel Johnson said that no matter how big a rogue a man was in Scotland, all other Scotchmen sang his praises to every stranger in their precincts, simply because the rascal was their fellow-countryman.

It is better be like the Scotch, even straining our veracity, at least in a harmless way, than to be like the Irish of whom this same sage facetiously said: "I love the Irish because they are so honest; they never speak well of each other."

All of us know that Mrs. So and So should not let her chickens ruin the spring garden, but we should remember that the chickens themselves are things of practical value even if foragers in manner and predatory in disposition. We should be thankful we do not live in a country or community among the nabobs whose peacocks wake up the inhabitants with their screeches and roost all day on the front porch, and which serve no useful purpose except to satisfy the vanity of their owners.

Learning to look for the good in our neighbors (and much good there is to be found) is a quality that will reap a harvest of benefits. A town divided against itself can never rise to the height to which its natural situation would not otherwise permit it. Forgetting our differences in petty affairs, or even in matters of magnitude, is absolutely necessary if we are to pull together.

To be blinded by prejudice is a condition that harms most him who is afflicted. Having eyes with which to see, minds with which to think and enthusiasm with which to work, no job is too big for Fulton in a public way.

Do Your Shopping Now!

There are many things which December and April do not have in common, weather being the first point on which they differ, but there is one bit of good advice which can be accepted without question either in December or April. This message of pure wisdom is: "Do your shopping early."

The buying public has learned from experience that Fulton stores do not emulate the traditional "general store" in buying stocks in the lump for the next 5 years. Parodying that bromide, "The early bird catches the worm," it can be said with truthfulness that "the early shopper catches the pride of the shops." If you don't buy early you take what the other shoppers have refused.

Spring and summer buying is limited chiefly to wearing apparel, household needs and the implements of out-of-door life. At this time of the year the mind of every man, woman and child turns to the thought of light and colorful raiment, to furnishings which lend a cool summery atmosphere to the city home and to the multitude of accessories to summer play. Our merchants recognize this seasonal demand and provide amply for it, but it is manifest that the wide choice of the new stocks can not be maintained to the end of the season.

Many people defer their spring buying until the passing of winter. Others advance their seasonal buying a few weeks and give themselves the privilege of leisurely shopping and wide choice. The late shopper saves no money and loses that enviable satisfaction given only to early shopper.

Spring stocks are fresh on the counter. The very first choices are already being made. He and she who hesitate will lose. Shop early for spring as well as for Christmas.

Easter and Christianity

Easter is one of the mileposts in the life of all Christian people.

It is a big event in the lives of all those who profess to be followers of Jesus Christ, regardless of the denomination through which their spirituality finds expression. Indeed, whether affiliated with any denomination, all people in America should show their respect to those millions who celebrate the historical resurrection of the Man of Nazareth.

At times we hear voices in this modern age raised against the Christian religion by a certain class of authors and others in the public eye. They seem to think that if they do not make light of Christianity they will somehow lose cast with the masses. However, to the real student of 20th Century conditions the world over, it is clearly apparent that the Christian religion, even with all of the weaknesses that we who profess to follow it often lapse into, is the philosophy under which the most prosperous nations of the world have been developed and now live.

We need but to turn to countries of other religions, notably India, to see into what depth of degradation the human race droves when it lacks the moral influence and spiritual significance of the Christ. In India, one of the oldest countries in the world and admittedly the richest country in the world from the standpoint of hoarding precious metals we find the lowest degree of prosperity of any people on earth. Altho the people of India are without doubt the most intensely religious in the light of fervor and sacrifice, still they are mentally, morally, physically and financially at the very bottom of the scale of human progress, not even excepting the aborigines of the central part of Africa.

Religion in itself brings happiness, culture and prosperity only by application. It is the Christian religion that is the one outstanding code under which are developed the arts, the sciences, and the modern democratic institutions for the benefit of mankind.

At the Easter time millions of Christians will observe the loving memory of the Resurrection of the Christ whose single influence for good in this world has been and is now greater than the combined influences of all other religions and religious leaders since the beginning of time. The services in Fulton will be an indication of the high devotion which our people dedicate in the cause of Christianity.

CLEAN UP!

There is no "sure sign" of spring, but spring should be a "sure sign" of the arrival of that time for the community to clean up. There is no superstition or prophesying about this clean-up sign.

When warm weather has come to stay (until cold weather returns in the autumn) every owner of property and tenant should instinctively feel it his duty to remove the evidences of winter's ravages and to aid and augment nature in her work of rebeautification.

Every spring clean-up program should include disposal of winter's accumulation of litter and decayed vegetation, repairing, and repainting of buildings, and landscape gardening. Landscape gardening is no longer associated with large estates alone.

Cleanliness about the person or home costs nothing. A community clean-up need involve no expense, except of a moderate amount of labor on the part of the householders. If there ever were excuses for uncleanness they were removed long ago.

What is the compensation of a community-wide clean-up campaign? It improves the general health of the community by removing deposits that are breeding places of disease germs and disease carrying insects. A clean town is a better place in which to live than one that is unsanitary and unsightly. And the best community advertising is the appearance of being "cleaned up, painted up, and planted up."

What Newspaper Ads Did.

It was only a few years ago that the retail stores in towns and the smaller cities did the bulk of their week's business on Saturday. While the other five business days might have paid expenses the merchant depended upon the Saturday sales for the major portion of his week's profits. Needless to say the average merchant would have been exempt from excess profits taxes in those days.

The newspaper is given credit for discovering the possibility of scattering the Saturday peak load over the six business days of the week and it was newspaper advertising which has achieved the present more equitable distribution of the week's business. Saturday still is the merchant's busy day, but now he is only a little less busy on the preceding five days.

This is only one of the many services preformed for business by newspaper advertising. It is irrefutable that a great part of the increase in business experienced by the retail stores generally in recent years has been created by newspaper advertising. Newspaper advertising has been the "Aladdin's Lamp" of the retail merchant. There are still isolated towns where one may see for himself what "might have been" the nation over if newspaper advertising had never been.

POULTRY

By J. T. Watkins

We are still patiently waiting for word from the Fair directors about the new poultry house, but as yet nothing doing. However we are still hoping they will build us a new and up-to-date house for we certainly need it.

Some dirty low down scoundrel stole four of my best Rhode Island hens. No, I'm not mad; just peeved.

I see a great many farmers bringing coop loads of hens in to the market. Remember, there will be a shortage of pullets this fall if you don't hatch all the stock you can this spring. Another thing, the price of poultry will hold up for the next two or three years, so why sell now after you have kept them all winter on feed and now when they can rustle a great deal of natural feed and pay you back for what you have spent on them. One more thing right now they should be laying and if the eggs are hatched you will realize more than you can now.

One of the outstanding flocks that always make good at the Fulton Fair is the flock of White Wyandottes belonging to Mrs. Robt. Rhodes, who lives on Route 2, near Ruthville, Tenn. Mrs. Rhodes has a flock of 135 hens, 40 of them are "REGAL DORCAS" direct from John S. Martin, Dover, Ont. This bunch of hens have produced wonderfully this spring and at the present time she has over 300 baby chicks that will weigh close to two pounds each. Mrs. Rhodes says she is always ready to supply prospective customers with either week or eggs for hatching.

Some of the readers may wonder what is meant by "REGAL DORCAS" birds. This is a firm name or brand given to his flock by John S. Martin who has one of the best flocks of White Wyandottes in the United States or Canada.

"Persian Apples"

As they're not a new fruit, but simply good old peaches under a very old name. The peach is believed to be a native of China where it has been cultivated ever since prehistoric times. About 100 A.D. it was introduced to Greece and Rome via Persia, and in these two countries it was called the "Persian Apple." But by whatever name you call them peaches always have been a delectable fruit. Why not try one of the following recipes?

Peachy Pies and Tarts

Peach and Raisin Pie: Turn the contents of an eight ounce can of sliced peaches and one-fourth cup of raisins into a sauce pan, add one tablespoon sugar mixed with one-half tablespoon flour, and one teaspoon lemon juice, and simmer five minutes. Line a pie tin one-half the usual size with plain pastry, pour in the peach mixture, dot with butter and cross the top with narrow twisted strips of pastry. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes. This little pie will cut into three or four pieces.

Peach and Nut Tarts: Add two tablespoons sugar and three-eighths teaspoon cloves to the contents of a number 1 can of sliced peaches, and cook five to ten minutes, or until peaches are very tender and syrup somewhat thickened. Remove peaches, and, when cold, arrange in baked tart shells. To the syrup add one-half tablespoon cornstarch smoothed with one tablespoon cold water and cook again until thick. Cool and pour over the peaches. Sprinkle one-half cup chopped nuts on top and garnish with whipped cream. This recipe will make eight or ten tarts.

GOVERNOR CALLS ON KENTUCKIANS FOR FLOOD AID

Sampson Asks Immediate Response With Money,
Food and Clothing

Declaring that immediate relief is necessary for hundreds who were made homeless by the flood in Kentucky, Gov. Flem D. Sampson issued a proclamation calling upon Kentuckians to contribute liberally of money, clothing and food to local Red Cross organizations for distribution among the sufferers.

The proclamation follows: "Disasterous floods have been and are afflicting eastern, south-eastern and western Kentucky, and immediate relief is necessary to enable the people in these stricken areas to meet the exigencies of the situation and to feed and shelter themselves until their homes can be restored and food and clothing provided.

"The American Red Cross through its local chapters in Kentucky and Tennessee, are rendering all the assistance possible. Their agents of mercy are on the scene in each flooded area, directing the relief work.

Funds Badly Needed.

"Funds to carry on this work are imperatively necessary. Without funds many families made desolate by the flood will suffer from hunger and cold, and epidemics of typhoid and other dangerous diseases may be expected to follow the floods if proper sanitary methods are not employed. It all cost money but is worth more than money. We should give and give liberally to the Red Cross so that this work of relief may be expeditiously and effectively carried on.

"Now, therefore, I, Flem D. Sampson, governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, declare an emergency to exist, and call upon the people of the Commonwealth to aid in this relief work by contributing as liberally as they reasonably can, through the local American Red Cross chapters and other relief agencies, to help our unfortunate citizens in the flood ravaged districts to which reference is made. Money, clothing and food are needed and will be greatly appreciated by those from whom everything has been taken by this great calamity. Prompt response to this appeal will redound to the good of all.

BUY FROM FULTON STORES

The housewife usually regards the peddler who comes to her door and the mail order catalog which the postman brings as twin nuisances. But too often she buys from both, impelled by the same human motive that results in sales of worthless stocks. "It might be a bargain this time," she thinks. But it never is. When worth-while merchandise is available for free distribution, or for sale at less than the cost of manufacture, Fulton merchants will be found in the utopian vanguard. For that is how progressive they are.

Local merchants and business men usually sell articles of a given quality for considerably less than the price asked in the cities and by peddlers. The explanation is found in lower overhead and smaller profits, plus a personal interest in satisfying their customers.

When you spend your money with them you are not only a good citizen; you also get more for your money.

ROAD AND ALWAYS WILL BE

Reports on failing grave roads in winter are no novelty, and registration of this paper's opinion of them isn't either. The evidence gets stronger all the time, however, and at the risk of being tiresome, The Sun will continue to battle for their elimination as main arteries of travel until that happy day comes when they have disappeared, if it ever comes.

The roads we have here now are the highest type of gravel, the state can build, yet in spite of that and with all the care that is lavished on them, no power on earth or under high heaven can make a good road for heavy travel.

In winter they crack, as they have cracked recently; in summer they bury the traveler in a nauseous cloud of suffocating dust. They are always dangerous, always doubtful and not until they are crossed off the road building program will Kentucky cease to be a road joke.

Those who stand for them know in their hearts, that they are nothing more than a stop-gap, and expedient, a concoction to drown the complaints of those who do not see the primary system expanding as it should—just paregoric for the baby's colic, no cure.

This state would have been leagues ahead of its present place had it long ago courageously gone to road building by bond issue and created a sensible system of hard surface roads. Our people would be traveling on them now with the debt being paid off. As it is, we stay on the high-tax list and endure roads, where we would have roads that we could be proud of.—Paducah Evening Sun.

J. W. Ridgway, Mayfield, Dies

Was One of Best Known Men of Graves County

Mayfield, Ky., March 26.—J. W. Ridgway, 65, one of the best known men of the county, died at his home on East Broadway this afternoon at 2:40 o'clock, following an illness of three years of heart trouble.

Born and reared in the Pilot Oak section of the country during the time of the war between the States, "Billy" Ridgway, as he was familiarly known to all, came to Mayfield with his parents the late Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ridgway, when but a lad of 7 years. Reaching 21 he entered the hardware business with his brother, Pat Ridgway, who died about 2 years later, and Billy continued the business making a success in his chosen field. He later retired, and entered the tinware business, making the same measure of success.

About 27 years ago Mr. Ridgway entered the hardware business again with the late W. S. Lochridge, under the firm name of Lochridge & Ridgway, which they continued until some years ago the firm was incorporated.

LEGION WOMEN HOLD MEETING

Hickman, Ky., March 26.—The annual district convention of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion convened here today at the American Legion hall of Aubra Townsend Post 57. The hostesses receiving delegates and visitors were Mesdames H. E. Prather, D. P. Aquino, A. Robbins, Harvyl Boaz and Harry Dubia, with Mrs. Agnes Owens presiding at the register.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. D. P. Aquino, president of the Hickman auxiliary unit and then turned over to Mrs. Lawrence Shelton of Paducah who acted as chairman. Prayer was led by Mrs. P. H. Weeks of Fulton followed by the pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. George Hannin of Paducah. The welcoming address was delivered by Mrs. Aquino and was responded to by Mrs. K. R. Patterson of Mayfield with a short address that contained not only appreciation of the hospitality tendered by the Hickman unit but also a short outline of the different ways in which a Legion auxiliary may become a community asset.

Minutes of the last district convention which was held at Fulton were read by Mrs. Robert Harkey of Paducah, secretary of the convention. Roll call was responded to by all units of the district with the exception of the new unit at Marion which was organized only a week ago by Mrs. Aquino. The yearly reports of the units were read by Mrs. Alexander, secretary of the Mayfield unit, Mrs. Ramsey Snow, president of the Fulton unit, Mrs. Lawrence Shelton, president of the Paducah unit, and Mrs. Fred Stokes, secretary of the Hickman unit.

Committees on finance, resolutions, courtesy and credentials were appointed. Then followed a discussion of unit questions led by Mrs. S. A. Blackburn, state president, of Versailles, in which the question of what a unit must accomplish to become a 100 per cent unit was discussed at length. There are only four 100 per cent units in the state at this time, Sturgis, Frankford, Danville and Hickman.

During the noon recess the visitors were taken for a short drive over the town.

Luncheon was served in the dining room of the Christian church.

After the luncheon the meeting convened again in the hall with the first number on the program a reading by Miss Nell Duckworth of Hickman. The aims and purposes of the auxiliary were discussed in an address by Mrs. Blackburn and Community Unit service in an address by Mrs. Lawrence Shelton of Paducah.

Reports on the committees were heard and were followed by adjournment.

Lesson for March 31

THE FUTURE LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:1-12; John 11:1-14. GOLDEN TEXT—He that faithfully unto death and I will give thee a crown of life. FUTURE TOPICS—The Glad Resurrection Day. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Glad Resurrection Day. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living Hope and Hereafter. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Ground of Hope for the Future.

1. The Resurrection of Jesus Christ (Luke 24:1-12).

The supreme test of Christianity is the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. It matters little what Jesus said and did while alive if His body remained in the grave. If He did not come forth in triumph from the tomb, then all His claims are false.

1. The empty sepulcher (vv. 1-3).

(1) The coming of the women (v. 1).

As an expression of affectionate regard for the Master, they came with spices for His body. If they had believed His words, they would have known that His body could not be found in the sepulcher.

(2) What they found (vv. 2, 3).

When they came to the sepulcher they found the stone had been rolled away, but they found not the body of Jesus. For them to have found His body in the sepulcher would have been the world's greatest tragedy. The empty tomb spoke most eloquently of the deity and power of the Son of God (Rom. 1:9).

2. The message of the men in shining garments (vv. 4-8).

(1) "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" (v. 5).

This question, uttered by the angels, has been reverberating through the centuries.

(2) "He is not here, but is risen."

Jesus had told them that the Lord must be betrayed and crucified and that on the third day He would rise again. Had they given heed to His words they would have been relieved of their perplexities.

3. The women witnessing to the eleven (vv. 9-11).

Their thrilling testimony concerning the empty tomb and the words of the angels appeared to the apostles as idle tales and they refused to believe.

4. Peter investigating (v. 12).

While the testimony of the women seemed as idle tales, Peter was not of the temperament to dismiss the matter from his mind; therefore he ran into the sepulcher. Upon finding that he found the linen clothes lying in such a way as to prove the reality of the resurrection.

5. Jesus Preparing a Place in Heaven for His Own (John 14:1-3).

These last words of Jesus were words of comfort. The hopes of the disciples were utterly shattered when Jesus told them about the cross. He consoled them by pointing to the reunion in the heavenly Father's house.

1. He asked them to trust in Him even as God (v. 1).

Faith in the God man, Christ Jesus, will steady the heart, no matter how intense the grief, or how great the sorrow.

2. He informed them that He was going to the Father's House in heaven to prepare a home for them (v. 2).

He assured them that there was abundant room there for all. He said, "There were many 'abiding places.' Heaven is an eternal dwelling place for God's children."

3. He assured them that He would come again and escort them to heaven (v. 3).

Jesus will not depend upon our wait for His own to come to Him, but will come and call forth from the grave those who have died, transforming living believers, and take them all together to be forever with Himself in the heavenly home.

III. Jesus Christ is the Way to the Heavenly Father (vv. 4-6).

Jesus informed the disciples that they knew the place to which He was going, and the way. To this Thomas interposed a doubt, in answer to which Christ asserted that He is:

1. The Way (v. 6).

Jesus Christ is more than a mere guide to God. He is the way itself.

2. The Truth (v. 6).

He is not merely the teacher, but the Truth incarnate. In His incarnation the spiritual and material worlds were united; therefore every line of truth, whether spiritual or material converged in Him.

3. The Life (v. 6).

Christ is not merely the giver of life, but He is the very essence of life. Only those who receive Christ have life in the true sense.

FOOD LIKE YOU GET AT HOME

This is truly a home-like restaurant because it has endeavored to break down the prejudice based on the theory that restaurants could not serve food like you get at home. Many patrons will testify that there is no difference between our meals and the meals they get at home. That's the reason they come here so frequently to eat. Years of catering to the appetites of particular people make it possible for us to serve appetizing meals. The next time you want to eat away from home, bring your family here.

DAY BY DAY With Governor Patterson in Commercial Appeal

Two men at Samburg, on Reelfoot Lake, in Obion County, Tennessee, played poker last Sunday and wound up the day's festivities by shooting each other dead. It must be said to the credit of both that no advantage was taken by either. They settled their difficulty, whatever it was, by the very simple and fair process of clashing hands, drawing their revolvers and pumping lead into each other's body until they could shoot no longer. This is the second tragedy recently occurring in this section of our country.

Down in Mississippi two men quarreled over a dime in a poker game, but only one slew the other. Here in Tennessee, Sunday poker players are more thorough. With both men killed, the courts will not be bothered, the expense of a murder trial will not be necessary, and everything from now on will be very peaceful. There is no survivor. The participants will wrangle and fight no more. Only their families, the innocent who are now suffering. The men have forgotten what it was all about. There are always left behind those who will grieve and whose lives will be saddened by these occurrences. Such tragic and useless blood-letting evinces nothing more certain than the failure of civilization to civilize. The thought always is how can such things be. That they occur shocks and confuses us with a sense of futility.

In Mississippi and Tennessee the two killings mentioned are of a different type to some we read about in Chicago, but it is the story of the same old human fierceness and passion unrestrained by the fear of God or man that is responsible for all of them.

There is one thing to be noted in most of the accounts of the homicide that we see in the daily press, and it is that bad men are generally killing their kind.

Seldom do the gun fighters go out of the circle of their fellow law-breakers to commit murder, which leads to the other thought that as they are being murdered so fast, whether the places of the dead ones can always be supplied with fresh material. Some people think that a public service may thus be unconsciously rendered if any good can ever come from the taking of human life. Our civilization is yet crude in many ways. There is much to be desired in our general tolerant attitude towards lawlessness in the manifold forms that it presents itself, and we are not escaping the price exacted for our omissions. We are sounding here in our country almost every depth and shoal of honor and dishonor. Our virtues are great, and so are our vices. We strike high, clear notes of human conduct, and then descend to make sounds like unreasoning animals, harsh and discordant to the ear.

Our area is so extensive, our population is either so thick in the cities, or so scattered in the country, and is composed of so many heterogeneous elements that it is difficult to mold the individual and national consciousness into any settled attitude of action or opinion.

The good influences, though, outnumber the bad. While recklessness abounds and the flaunting of the moral laws is all too pronounced, yet I think it may be fairly said that nowhere else can one find finer examples of public and private fidelity than here in our own country.

All cannot be lost so long as this is true. We are yet in the experimental stage of our development, in which great tests are being made. We will be fortunate indeed if at the end of them we establish to our satisfaction and adopt it as a rule of our conduct, that law observance is the surest foundation upon which to build for permanence and human happiness.

DYER COUNTY VOTES HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE

$1,000,000 to Be Spent on Road Improvement

Dyer County, Tenn., favored a third $1,000,000 road bond issue Saturday by a six to one vote, with approximately 2,000 voters balloting in favor of the measure. The vote was comparatively light, due to the fact that many voting precincts are located in the overgrown sections of the county.

Funds for the issue will be used for the construction of 200 miles of gravel roads, giving practically every farm in the county a hard surface outlet. With the largest concrete highway mileage of any county in the state of Tennessee, Dyer will have about 500 miles of hard surfaced roads when those provided for in the issue are completed.

The issue was authorized by the present legislature and is the third $1,000,000 highway issue voted in the last five years. The measure was introduced by W. H. Ward, direct representative from Dyer County.
