Dress Up With The Gladsome Springtime

The spirit of spring is abroad in the land. Every peeping bud on every leafy bough tells us spring is here and nature has awakened from her winter slumber. 'Tis the time when youth calls to youth—the bird seeks its mate and all creation preens itself for the season of sunshine and summer.

What could be more fitting than for men, women and children to give heed to their personal appearance—to discard the worn and ragged garments of bleak, cold days and step forth adorned in raiment harmonious with the gladsome Springtime? All up and down the nation cities and municipalities are uniting to emphasize the coming of these days. Societies, clubs, churches, organizations of all kinds, are joining hands with individuals, stores and merchants in a whole-hearted effort to bring home to men and women the stimulus of a new thought—that we should for one brief moment, lift our careworn faces from our tasks, and like the care-free birds of the air rejoice that SPRING has come—and, dressed up in our "best bib and tucker," reflect in our outward appearance the joy of our inner life.

When nature sings all the world is atune—why not we? Let's banish dull care—forget the biting winds of winter, discard all that reminds us of the shadows of the long nights—off with the old and on with the new—DRESS UP.

There's not a woman among us so fair but whose beauty may be enhanced when she steps forth in her new apparel—carrying in her heart and eyes the smiling spirit of Spring. There's not a man among us so modest but who will pause for self-appraisal when he glances at his new togs and feels in his soul the stirring spirit of Spring. And as for us plain folks—more's the need for us to garb ourselves in the happy raiment of the season.

Let's not be selfish, but in true harmony with the spirit of the day let's touch with the fairy hand of grace every chic and child of our household and the household itself. Yes, even more, let's "Dress Up" the home, the yard, the garden, that all the environs of our life may reflect the joy that is within us—that is within all nature.

Campaign

Twelve hundred dollars in prizes, and with a Whippet coach heading the list, are announced by the Orpheum Theatre, in a contest starting immediately.

A greater movie season club campaign is the title and Manager Chisholm is expecting the contest to stimulate a much larger attendance because more fans will be enlisted in seeing that everyone possible goes to the Orpheum.

The one securing the largest number of credits will be a happy movie fan indeed, for the Whippet coach is the first prize. The second largest will get a trip to Hollywood, Cal., with expenses paid, or $300 in cash. The third prize is a Crosley 8-tube Radio or $100 in cash. The fourth and fifth prizes are $50 in cash. In addition there are twelve other prizes, bringing the total up to $1,200.

Ten credits will be given with every adult admission. A nomination blank appears elsewhere in this paper and may be clipped out, filled in and mailed to the Orpheum Theatre.

Announcement

W. J. Fields Enters the Race
for Sheriff of Fulton County

Popular Magistrate of the Second District Well Known
Over the County

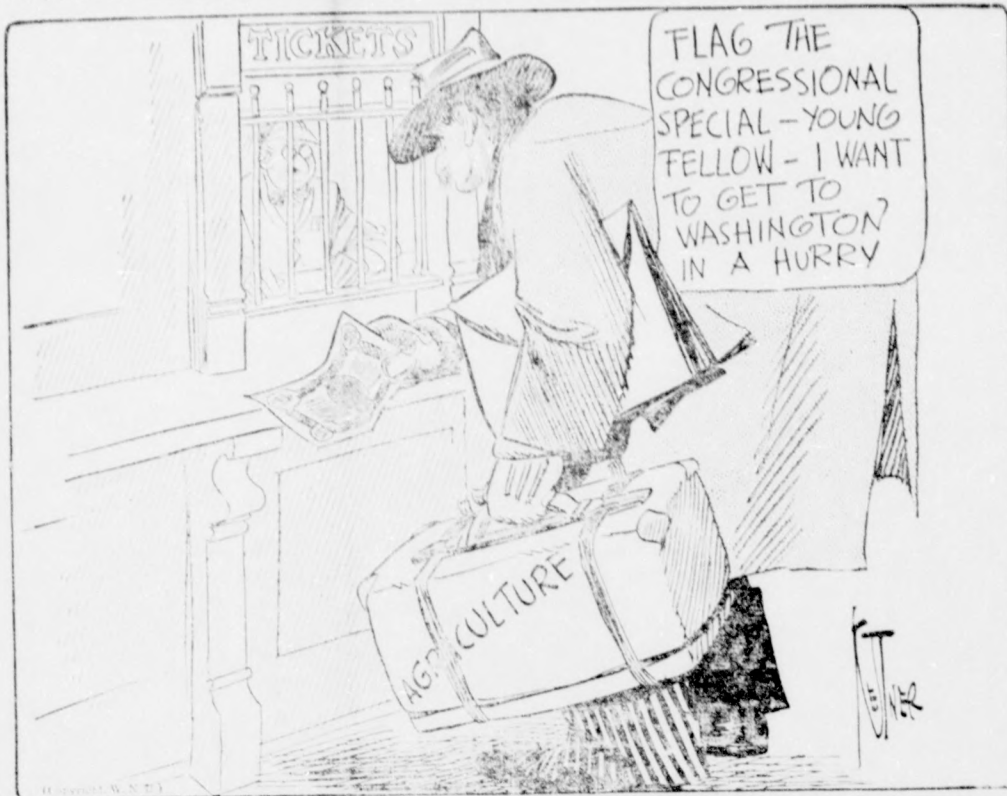

The Advertiser is authorized
to announce the candidacy of W. J. Fields for Sheriff of Fulton county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, election August 3, 1929.
Mr. Fields is too well known throughout the county for us
to attempt an introduction.
The best part of his life has been spent among the people he is asking recognition of today in his race for Sheriff.
His parents were pioneer settlers of the county and had much to do with its progress and development. In fact, the name of Fields has been closely associated with every good movement for the betterment
of community life.

In 1925 Mr. Fields was elected Magistrate of the second district and has made an enviable reputation as an honest and faithful servant of the people. So much so that his many friends urged him to enter the race for Sheriff, realizing that he is well acquainted with county affairs, and fully capable of making an honest, faithful and efficient official. While he is a lifelong Democrat and has always working for the party's best interest he has never taken part in factional fights or identified himself with any clique. He is just a plain, honest farmer who wants to serve the people of his county
for four years as their sheriff,
and promises that if elected,
he will give the people and the office the very best that is in him.

During the campaign he will make an effort to see each voter personally and press his claims with the assurance of his appreciation of your vote
and influence on August 3.

J. Frank Crouch Out for Sheriff

The Advertiser is authorized
to announce the candidacy of J. Frank Crouch for Sheriff of Fulton County, subject to the
action of the Democratic primary, election August 3, 1929.

Mr. Crouch is not a stranger to the voters of Fulton County.
He is a popular young business man of Hickman, associated with Mr. Voorhees in the automobile business. By adopting his motto: "Every Man a Square Deal," and practicing it in his daily life and business transactions, he has cemented friendships, not only in his home town,
but every part of the county.
Those who know him best say that he is a man of sterling character with a clean record, honest and capable in every way of filling the office he is seeking with perfect satisfaction to the taxpayers of the county.

Aside from his record of military service for a period during the world war, Mr. Crouch, in time of peace, has always been found sponsoring and fighting for those things that would promote the best welfare of his fellowman and the community at large, and his friends claim that if splendid service in private life entitles a man to favorable consideration for an office which offers the holder a fair return for his efforts, he should have

and comes to you with clean hands asking that you support him in his race for sheriff, and if elected, promises to serve the people to the best of his ability.
His announcement follows:

Fellow Citizens of Fulton County:

With this issue of The Advertiser I announce for Sheriff of Fulton County. I deeply appreciate the confidence and interest so many friends from many sections of the county have shown toward me in urging me
to take this step.

It is my desire and purpose to meet every voter in the county.
To the men and women with whom I am not now personally acquainted—I shall call upon you soon and appeal for your support. I desire the interest of the women as well as the men in my campaign. All I ask of my friends is that they get busy early and speak a good word in my behalf. I assure you that I appreciate every kindness done for me. If I am nominated my friends will do it.

I am entering this race to stay.
I do not intend to "sell out" or withdraw. I have never sought any public office before and I will not betray the interest my friends have shown toward me.
I propose to fight to a finish
a clean, vigorous, manly race, I will use every fair means of getting every vote I possibly can.

J. FRANK CROUCH.

FROM GAGS TO RICHES FOR MERVYN LeROY

When Mervyn LeRoy walked on the set to direct the opening scenes for Colleen Moore's new First National picture, "Oh Kay!", an ambition of long standing was realized.

For several years before he became a director, young LeRoy was attached to Miss Moore's company as a gag-man, and always aspired to direct the star herself. When he returned to the unit after directing three pictures, the members of the company greeted him enthusiastically.

"Mervyn is coming up in the world, all right," someone remarked.

"He certainly is," put in Colleen. "From Gags to Riches you might say."

"Oh Kay!" comes to the Grand theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Lawrence Gray is the star's new leading man. Others in the cast are Alan Hale, Ford Sterling, Claude Gillingwater, Julianne
Johnston, Claude King, Edgar
Norton, John Northpole, Jack
Wise, Fred Obeck and Jack Herrick.

Announcement

Chas. H. Moore, Popular Deputy, Resigns to Enter Race
for Sheriff

The Advertiser is authorized
to announce the candidacy of
Chas. H. Moore, of Hickman,
for Sheriff of Fulton county,
subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, election
August 3, 1929.

After making an enviable reputation for himself as deputy during Sheriff Thompson's administration, Mr. Moore resigns to enter the race for sheriff. No better testimonial can be given this sterling Democrat's popularity than the vote he received in the 1925 primary, when he made the race for tax commissioner and was defeated by one of the most popular citizens in the county by only 124 votes and in his home town (Hickman)
was given the largest vote of any candidate in the race,
leading the ticket with 983.
Mr. Moore served on the Hickman school board for 12 years
with satisfaction to the people and credit to himself. His duties as deputy sheriff the past three years has taken him into every nook and corner of the county where he made new acquaintances and cemented old friendships to encourage him in his race for the office he is now seeking. His home paper, the Hickman Courier, in announcing his candidacy,
said:

"To many, this announcement is not news, for Mr.
Moore had signified his intention of making this race a year or more ago. He has been deputy under Sheriff Thompson for the past three years and we believe it will be agreed by all who have come in contact with him in the discharge of duties in that position that he left nothing to be desired in courtesy, competence and general all around qualifications. He has added experience to his natural ability to fill the kind of office he seeks, and that really is the kind of an officer the taxpayers want and need."

"Mr. Moore's versatile attainments are the kind that fit
naturally into the shrewdly,
—a thorough knowledge of the clerical end of the position and a fearless nature to aid in the seeking and capturing of the criminal element."

"In the many years he has lived in Hickman, Charlie Moore has made friends by the hundreds. They know him
for the kind of man he is—affable, unassuming, and a solid citizen. His duties as deputy sheriff have widened his acquaintance the greater his circle of his friends to a great degree. The wider Mr. Moore's acquaintance the greater his strength—for he's the kind of fellow for whom a liking grows."

TRAFFIC SIGNS INSTALLED

The splendid work of Chief Lee Roberts and his assistants
in installing traffic signs at dangerous street crossings and also painting the names of streets on curbings at intersections is to be commended. Many accidents will be avoided if autoists will take notice and obey instructions. We know of no better method to be adopted unless the officers make a few arrests for reckless driving occasionally.

PROF. EARL VAUGHN MAKES TALK TO TOBACCO GROWERS

Some of the best tobacco growers in Fulton county had the pleasure of hearing Prof. Earl Vaughn, tobacco specialist, who is with the Extension Division of the University of Kentucky.

Prof. Vaughn stressed less acres and better quality. He stated that the whole state was going to increase the tobacco acreage and it looked as if it would mean a lot of low grade tobacco next season. Mr. Vaughn urged cutting down the acreage and producing a better quality of tobacco. He stated that a good guide to go by in fertilizing tobacco was to use from 300 to 750 pounds of 4-10-4 or 4-12-4 fertilizer per acre depending on the quality of soil. The following is a good rule to go by in fertilizing tobacco land that will produce 30 to 40 bushels of corn per acre. 500 to 750 lbs. of fertilizer should be used. 40 to 50 bushels of corn, 300 to 500 lbs.; 60 to 80 bushels of corn, 300 lbs.

Mr. Vaughn stated that he would like to have at least ten tobacco growers conduct demonstrations with county agent. He also spoke at some length on curing, stating that the best tobacco men kept a fire for at least 50 days. Some very interesting figures were quoted by Mr. Vaughn as to prices received from tobacco, depending on time cured.

Mr. Vaughn is planning on visiting the county several times during the year and keep in touch with the tobacco demonstrations conducted by County Agent H. A. McPherson.

OBION COUNTY TEACHERS MEET

County Association Gathering
Is Held at Union City

The Obion County Teachers' meeting was held in the Union City high school auditorium, Saturday, with 111 teachers and 20 visitors in attendance. Eighteen of the teachers in the county have already entered summer school and were absent on that account.

The program was opened with several musical numbers by Miss Ivora Cantrell, of Fulton, Ky., and head of the music department of the Interscholastic League, which meets in Union City in April. W. R.

Bourne, head of the department of education of the Murray State Teachers' College of Murray, Ky., gave a splendid address on "Ignorance," and R. E. Womack, president of Lambuth College at Jackson, Tenn., made an address on "Character Building." Supt. J. M. DeBow made some announcement concerning the interscholastic meeting to be held in Union City in April and the chief business of the meeting was the report of the various committees on the work to be carried out at this meet.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On last Friday, March 22 and 23, in the first round of debating, the Beelerton affirmative team won over the Barlow team at Murray, in the Interscholastic League District Tournament, the subject being: "Resolved: That the United States Should Refuse to Give Military Protection to Property located in Foreign Countries."

Friday night, in the second round, we debated with Shiloh and upheld the negative side. In the semi-finals, Saturday morning we gave the affirmative side, vs. Heath's team, and lost, but we were the only school of our size that remained in so long. We were very proud of our neighboring schools, for none of them were eliminated in the first round.

"In the Garden of the Shay," a musical comedy, will be given at Beelerton High School Saturday night, March 30. The three acts are supposed to take place in Persia in the "Garden of the Shay." The entire troupe will be in native costumes.

The high school students have taken the project of improving the looks of the school building and grounds. On Thursday, the girls oiled all the floors in the building. The boys have put up a few bird boxes and have set out about thirty shade trees this spring.

Don't forget to come out Saturday night and meet the "Princess Zoddah of Persia."

The Homemakers Club of Beelerton community, met here at the school building, Thursday afternoon. Much progress is being made by this club in our community.

"Be sure and see a real live sheik on the 30th."

NAIFEH WINS INSURANCE SUIT

Companies Fail in Effort to Avoid Payment on Building in Hickman

Hickman, Ky., March 28.—A verdict in favor of Sude M. Naifeh, of Hickman, was returned in the court of appeals at Frankfort last week in the suit of the Caledonia Insurance company and others against Mr. Naifeh. The suit was entered by the insurance company to prevent Mr. Naifeh from collecting $27,000 he claimed as fire insurance to cover the loss of his building and stock.

The building collapsed during an electrical storm two years ago during the 1927 flood. Witnesses said that they saw it struck by lightning and that it collapsed a moment later. The insurance company claimed that the building collapsed because the flood waters standing in it had disintegrated the mortar between the bricks at the base, and refused to pay the insurance.

The case was decided here in favor of Mr. Naifeh in the circuit court in January, 1928, and was appealed by the insurance company.

Fifteen insurance companies were represented in the suit. It is said that there has never been another case like this in the courts.

"HONEYMOON FLATS" A HOUSE OF MIRTH

A Laughable Expose of Newlywed Bliss Showing Today at Orpheum Theatre

An intimate, sophisticated revelation of newly-married life is contained in a clever comedy, "Honeymoon Flats," showing today at the Orpheum theatre with George Lewis and Dorothy Gulliver co-starring.

The picture is revealing and interesting, especially to all people who still consider marriage a romance and even to those who don't but did at least during the first year.

"Honeymoon Flats" permits them to peek behind the boarder curtains into the life of a young couple, who are more or less baffled and bewildered by their new status. Their quarrels are humorous and the "in-laws," butting in on everything, add much to the hilarity of this intensely human comedy of affairs.

Lewis and Gulliver are both very good in their roles. This pair will be remembered for their featured work in "The Collegian" series. Bryann Washburn and Jane Winton are the other married couple, adding much subtle comedy. Kathryn Williams and Phillips Smalley are the "in-laws."

Monday and Tuesday brings Nancy Carroll and Lawrence Gray in their latest.

"The Sin Sister" is a gripping drama of the frozen North which deals with six ill-assorted companions who are marooned in a deserted trading post, and their reaction to terrible conditions of hardship. The tense story is leavened with deft comedy touches. Woven into it is an absorbing love theme. Few romances in screen history have been more subtly and effectively told.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS STRENGTHEN FORCES FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Launch National Campaign to Perfect Preparedness Plans
in Every Community.

A nation-wide campaign to strengthen plans for preparedness against disaster and for emergency relief has been launched by the American Red Cross through its Chapters. The program is intended to perfect disaster preparedness committees in the ten thousand communities reached by Red Cross Chapters and their branches.

When carried out, through committees of men and women in the communities, it will insure that should a disaster come, an organization for emergency relief, including every modern method science has perfected—such as the radio, the airplane, the motor car and watercraft—can be mobilized to bring assistance, with the promptitude applied by the Red Cross in recent major disasters, such as the West Indies hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood.

These enlarged and strengthened plans for disaster relief are set forth in the revised Red Cross manual, “When Disaster Strikes,” which has been placed in the hands of every Red Cross chairman throughout the nation. The plan to encourage adoption of these added disaster preparedness methods was begun at this time because Red Cross records—covering 48 years of disaster relief—show that the period of the greatest number of disasters, large and small, ranges from the early Spring through the early Fall.

The Record of 48 Years

A historical summary of Red Cross disaster relief since 1882, shows that the society was active in giving relief in 928 domestic disasters and its expenditures in those relief operations were $49,594,000. The three groups of calamities appearing most frequently were: cyclones, tornadoes, hurricanes and other storms, 231; fires, 131; floods, 126.

During this period, the Red Cross also has given assistance to distressed peoples of other countries in 152 disasters. Total expenditures for relief at home and throughout the world, in 48 years, amount to $77,354,000. In the four most recent major disasters, among the greatest which have ever visited the American continent, Red Cross expenditures for relief totaled $29,188,908. Only in the event of large disasters such as the Florida hurricane of 1926, the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, the New England flood of the same fall, and the West Indies hurricane of 1928, does the Red Cross seek contributions from the general public for relief work; and frequently these are not ample, as in the four disasters listed, the Red Cross donated $1,335,291 from its own treasury to aid in the work. In the event of smaller disasters, the cost of the relief is met largely from Red Cross resources.

No Community Immune

No community is immune to great disasters of one type or another, the manual shows. One preparedness measure that can be adopted is a survey of the surrounding country, with the assistance of engineers and other experts to determine the type of disaster to which the section is subject. Hazards resulting from the presence of rivers and lakes, subject to overflow, of mines, munition factories, and other industries wherein dangers from explosion and fires may exist, are singled out for consideration.

Extension of existing disaster organizations in communities, and organization of men and women, trained in public health and community service, will result in the saving of lives and the prevention of extensive suffering, through privation, epidemic and other misfortune, should emergency arise through disaster. These organization plans, outlined in the manual, are similar to those now existing in most Red Cross Chapters, only strengthened in some particulars. They contemplate disaster preparedness and relief committees, under which function sub-committees on food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, registration of disaster sufferers and information service, transportation and communication and finance.

Coordination of all of the societies, organized groups and institutions in the locality is urged, so that all effort for emergency relief will be directed without conflict. Trained in advance, these committees can swing into action, and provide an orderly and systematic relief organization.

The following are expenditures made by the American National Red Cross for relief in the four most recent major disasters:

Florida hurricane, 1926 .....	$4,477,170.97
Mississippi Valley flood, 1927 .....	17,498,902.16
New England flood, 1927 .....	1,299,773.93
West Indies hurricane, 1928 .....	5,913,062.47
	$29,188,908.53

Better Means Are Needed.

While we take great pride in the public school system of this country, too much credit cannot be given the teachers who are working in many localities with inadequate tools for the bodily welfare, as well as mental growth of the children.

Conditions in Fulton county are above the average in all departments, but surveys made show that the country as a whole places a big responsibility upon the teachers. Healthful living is taught class after class by the teachers, often in school buildings that lack the simplest provision for helping the children practice what they learn in the class room.

Even in so primary a matter as supplying handwashing facilities, many of the schools are below the standards of the ordinary home.

A recent survey, conducted by a life insurance company, shows that only 32 percent of the 404 schools under study supplied hot water, soap and towels, and had enough lavatories to accommodate the pupils. As practically all of these 404 schools were located in progressive communities it is only too probable that the general average throughout the country is even lower. In other words not even one child in three has a real chance to wash his hands at school.

This condition should be a matter of concern to communities and parents, as it is to educators and public health groups. Medical authorities tell us that nearly all the communicable disease organisms enter the body through the mouth, and many of them enter by the hand-to-mouth route. Unless children are supplied with the facilities that make handwashing easy and agreeable, they are needlessly exposed to the possibilities of colds, influenza, pneumonia, and many other diseases.

Tongues That Talk Too Much

Many a life of purity has been clouded by the crimson tongue of shame—blasted by the idle gossip of tongues that never cease to wag. Purity is never safe as long as gossip is at large.

Sometimes it is not vicious gossip, but rather thoughtless or idle remarks that are not intended to harm, but that are taken in the wrong spirit and result in character crucifixion.

Good things said of a person are taken as a matter of course, and are often forgotten.

A detrimental remark, though small and of no material consequence, will be taken up from day to day until it becomes a mountain of iniquity.

That is what tongues do that talk too much.

The Saving Habit

Occasionally we hear of some youngster who has acquired a habit of saving his pennies instead of rushing right off to buy candy.

That is a good habit, and later in life he will be saving many dollars instead of a few pennies. Saving comes easy to people who gets the habit, and the habit comes easy if it is taught to the youngster when he begins to receive his first pennies.

The boy who learns to save in his young days never wants for funds in his old age.

But the lesson is seldom learned unless his parents are the teachers.

FORGETTING COMMON DIFFERENCES

In the battle of Salamis, when the ancient Persians for a time threatened the power of the Hellenic forces, Themistocles and Aristides the Just, who had been bitter antagonists in the council of war, forgot their common differences against a common danger and helped to wage successful naval battle against the Persian invaders.

This happened 480 years before the beginning of the Christian era. It constitutes one of the many examples in history where enmity between people in both public and private life is subdued or banished against a common foe.

Because of the historical and dramatic appeal of this incident there should be no less reason for its application in the less heroic affairs of modern life. Especially is the example applicable in community life where familiarity is likely to breed that contempt which is so destructive to civic progress.

We, as a people in this community, are not unlike the Greeks. For disturbances in our political, civic and social affairs liken us unto these Greek warriors. But the ends to gain are worthy of the sacrifice of personal grievances. This sacrifice is necessary in community activities. Indeed, it is indispensable to all progress.

To forget the trivial things that cause unpleasantness and wage battle for success in local endeavors of a public or semi-public character is a fine accomplishment. No community can advance as it should without such a condition.

Two Greek warriors did it in 480 B. C., and thus turned the tide of the world's history. Any two citizens of Fulton can do it and start a new era of civic development.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Thirty of the leading poultry farmers in Owen county attended a one-day school at Owenton. Many will blood test and cull their flocks this year.

The extension of telephone lines to all parts of the county will be the major improvement work in Boyd county this year, according to the decision made at a mass meeting of farmers.

A feeding school attended by 65 dairymen resulted in several communities in Anderson county seeking schools for next fall.

Farmers in six communities in Fleming county announce that they will drench all their sheep this year.

Three Floyd county farmers have built model poultry houses according to plans furnished by the Experiment Station.

All dairy herd improvement association members in Henry county report satisfaction with testing work. With one exception, all are making money, the testing shows.

The sale of milk cows and cream separators indicate growing interest in dairying among Russell county farmers.

The Sturgis and Morganfield Kiwanis clubs are sponsoring junior club work in Union county each member financing the work of a boy or girl.

A club has been organized in Fox Gap community in Franklin county to grow more and better tobacco per acre and fewer acres.

A limestone pulverizer has crushed several hundred tons of rock in Garrard county, and its operators have enough orders to keep busy throughout the year.

POULTRY

By J. T. Watkins

We are in receipt of a circular issued by the Agriculture Department of Nebraska, treating of turkey raising and after reading it over we have wondered why there are not more turkeys raised. There is always a good market for prime turkeys, with a good profit to be made therefrom.

It may be too late for you to make up your mind to raise turkeys this year and I would not advise anyone to go into the business and expect to raise turkeys and chickens in the same yard for if you do you will have a grand failure. Turkeys MUST be raised by themselves to be successful.

Another good proposition is raising Geese. There are certain markets that want A No. 1 geese at certain times and the person who has a flock to fill these orders gets the top price.

The proprietor of the Geyer hatchery at Memphis said to me the other day: "Where in the world can I get some young goslings? I have an order for some and don't know where I can pick them up." I had to admit I could not help him out for I did not know, so if any of the readers know of any goslings for sale tell me and possibly it is not too late for this order.

I was out to the Geyer hatchery the other day right after they had taken off the hatch. I never saw so many baby chicks at one time in my life. Put me in mind of Tennyson's poem about the Light Brigade chickens to right of them, chickens to the left of them, chickens in front of them boxes 25, 50 and 100, stacked all over the house and all sold. Mr. Geyer told me he had a larger bunch to come off the next hatch which was to be in four days. He told me he was going to set one machine to fill an order for 5000 white leghorns to one party.

I have not been out to visit any flocks the past week or so and have just about run out of dope on what is going on in this locality, but there is one flock I must mention. This flock is not any punkins when it comes to laying eggs, nor are they large meaty birds for the table but when they are put in the pit they always make good. This is the flock of games owned by Jim Gibbs. This stock was originally raised by Don Taylor who has a large flock of the same scrapers and both men ship fighters all over the United States and surrounding countries.

Jim has a cock bird heading his flock formerly owned by Don Taylor that is a 7 time winner in the pit, having killed his opponent in each of his 7 battles. The last fight he was in he lost one eye which unfitted him for any more battles so he is being used for a breeder but is still rearing to fight.

One of the younger breeders is Shannon Murphy who lives on the State Line road between here and Union City. Shannon picked Anconas as his favorite and I secured some eggs from Post Yard in Illinois, who ranks with the best. From these eggs he hatched a good hatch but one day his brooder caught fire and he lost all but two. These grew into a cockerel and pullet and were entered at the Fair last year and won first on each one. Shannon told me that he would buy some stock to fill out his pen and would come back strong this year so I am anxious to get his entry for I know he will make good.

I am down to one cock and one hen in the Rhode Island Reds now for the same fellow came back and got the rest of them, also two white leghorns. If he keeps up his system, I'll go broke in the chicken business.

BEELERTON HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

"In the Garden of the Shay," the musical comedy which was given at Beelerton on last Saturday night, will be presented at Fulgham on Saturday night, April 6. Those who failed to see this should go to Fulgham and see the Princess Zaddah and the real live shiek.

On Friday night, April 5, a play entitled "An Old Fashioned Mother" will be given in our auditorium by the Fulgham school. We are hoping to see a large crowd here as this is a real play.

NEW TECHNIQUE

"Street Angel," the William Fox screen version of the play by Monckton Hoffe, will be the feature at the Orpheum, on April 9-10. This picture again brings together the triumvirate responsible for the successful screen translation of the John Golden stage play "7th Heaven"—Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell and Director Frank Borzage.

In this new attraction, which comes to the Orpheum direct from its long run at the Globe Theatre, New York, the two youthful film lovers are transferred from the scenes of their first triumph in the sewers and attics of Paris to the streets and ateliers of Naples.

Miss Gaynor will be seen as a waif of the wharves who joins a small traveling circus in order to free herself from the persecution of the Neapolitan gendarmes. Farrell portrays the role of an itinerant Italian artist who, enamored by her charm, follows her about the countryside.

Director Borzage, who is of Italian parentage, has long been a student of Latin manners and customs, but despite his life-long familiarity with the theme of "Street Angel," he spent many weeks in and about Naples, while vacationing in Europe last year, gathering data and atmosphere which was to aid him in bringing the story to the screen.

COUNTING PENNIES

Everyone knows what it means to count the pennies, but some may think it is unnecessary for a business handling millions of dollars a year to be so careful of its receipts and disbursements. Every large business, however, needs to count the pennies in order to live within its income, and the Illinois Central System is no exception.

Pennies are the measure of the payments made for Illinois Central service. When this system in 1928 moved 61,937,935 tons of freight an average distance of 250.17 miles, it received an average of 914 thousandths of 1 penny for each ton hauled one mile. Similarly, when it transported 40,608,778 passengers an average distance of 22.64 miles, it received an average of 2.722 pennies for each passenger carried one mile.

Pennies also show where the dollars come from. Freight revenue made up 75.65 pennies and passenger revenue 13.37 pennies of the average dollar received by the Illinois Central System in 1928. The remaining 10.98 pennies came from various other services, such as express, mail and switching, and from rentals and investments.

Pennies likewise show where the dollars go. It took 27.89 pennies of the 1928 Illinois Central dollar to maintain the property. It took 27.08 pennies to operate trains, stations and other transportation service, exclusive of the 5.58 pennies spent for fuel. Other operating expenses took 12.85 pennies. Rentals consumed 4.29 pennies of the average dollar, and interest on borrowed money required 8.71 pennies. Taxes came to 6.52 pennies. It took 5.66 pennies to pay the usual dividends to stockholders, and after all these disbursements had been made there were 1.42 pennies left over out of each dollar to spend for improvements.

Prudent management of the pennies is what makes modern railway service both good and cheap.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

CONSTRUCTIVE

That community is indeed poor about which nothing good can be said, but poorer still is the citizen so blinded by petty prejudice and self-interest that his criticisms of the town of his abode are many and never interspersed with approbation.

Just as every human being has faults, every community, which is but a collection of human beings, has defects. But, considering the number of human failings, is it not surprising that the average city and town has so few shortcomings and can please so many?

In spite of these civic deficiencies there is not a community, not even the squalid frontier settlement, which, if it should count noses, would find its knockers exceeding in number its boosters. Would one say those who are blind to their town's disadvantages are more nearsighted than those who cannot see its advantages?

There would be less knocking if knockers realized that a community is just what its citizens make it and that it is a confession of personal weakness to diagnose the home town as incurably sick and decrepit. By their fault-finding knockers admit they have failed to do their part in making their town fit their ideal of what a community should be.

That citizen best serves his community who is unstinting in his praise where praise is due and who is fearless in his condemnation of things to be condemned. Constructive effort can be the fruit of destructive criticism.

SCRUB DAIRY NOTES

And behold a certain man had cows. And lo, the man's vocal chords waxed active in the temperature of the corner stone. And he spake aloud saying: "Verily, it ruins a cow to eat silage, alfalfa and ground feed. Her system is broken down by much feeding and she becomes as a tender plant in warm stables."

And the man upbraided the cow tester, likened him to an evil being, exciting farmers that they should give their cows more feed. And the man spat copiously and spake again saying that the straw stack, corn stalks and some nubbings of corn were the things to strengthen the vitality of the cow that she live long and shiver not at the howling of the breeze.

And hitching his suspenders in pride the man declared that it had cost him but little to winter his herd. And a certain joker lingering near, lifted his voice in question saying: "Vince, don't you get the biggest cream check in the county? And ain't everybody trying to buy your calves?" And all that stood listening laughed aloud, for they be thought how his cow's bones were as hat racks and their necks as scantlings and they produced but a dribble of milk.

And Vince, muttering a curse strode from behind the stove and went home. And when evening was come he roused his cows from the straw stack and sat down to milk. But the cow delivered but little moisture at the pail. And wise neighbors shook their heads and said: "Would that Vince could learn that profit be fed, not starved from cows."

Included in the list of handy things around the farm may be the mortgage.

Trouble seldom comes singly because it generally takes two to make it.

The biggest boost you can give Fulton is by trading in it, and by supporting its institutions for good.

Some people spend their evenings at the same place they spend their week's earnings.

A business serves in proportion to the support given it. Support is given a business in proportion to the service it renders. Neither side should wait for the other to start.

Many a fight is not for rights but for wants.

Many a husband is willing to accept advice from almost any woman except his wife.

Milliners are responsible for a great deal of the overhead expense of the average home.

The person who depends on others is usually looking for an opportune time to importune.

As long as so many persons are satisfied with the veneer of life there will be plenty of it.

MUSICAL EVENT AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH AT MAYFIELD, KY.

On Friday night, April 5, Mr. Adolph Steuterman, Organist and Choir Master of Calvary Episcopal Church, of Memphis, Tenn., will give an organ recital on the new $15,000 pipe organ recently installed in the First Methodist church, Mayfield, Ky.

This concert will consist largely of popular numbers; however, some classical numbers will be played by this master musician.

In addition to this, there will be anthems rendered by the Choir of the First Methodist Church, of Mayfield, and the First Methodist Church of Paris, Tennessee, and possibly some others.

The new organ at this church was formally opened in January, when Mr. Steuterman gave a recital to a packed house, and his return is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

This organ is the finest in Western Kentucky and Western Tennessee. It has the echo, chimes and harp effect, and contains three thousand pipes. It is the latest three manual organ that the Moeller Pipe Organ Company has manufactured.

This recital will begin at 7:45 p. m.

The choirs of Paducah, Benton, Murray, Fulton, Hickman, Clinton, Arlington, Bardwell, LaCenter, Union City, Martin, Paris, Dresden and McKenzie are all being invited and no doubt this occasion will bring the largest gathering of music lovers of West Tennessee and West Kentucky that has ever been assembled.
