Franklin's 20th Anniversary

Entire Store Reflects Spring-Time Gladness

Great Crowds Join In Celebrating Eventful Occasion

The Franklin Store is in the midst of celebrating their 20th Anniversary, an event long to be remembered in the history of Fulton.

This great mercantile establishment was organized and incorporated under the firm name of the Franklin Dry Goods and Clothing Company in 1909 with T. M. Franklin, president; S. T. Butler, vice-president, and C. W. Binford, secretary and treasurer. For a time the firm occupied several store rooms in the Meadows Block on Church street. On September 10, 1916, they removed into their handsome new home on Main street which they continue to occupy.

Measured by the excellence of its merchandise, The Franklin store is without a peer in this entire section of country. The principles upon which this store has been reared and nourished, which have given it its giant stature and sound constitution, are straightforward dealing, fairest prices, best goods, and a civil and obliging store service, backed by alert enterprise and intelligent direction and management.

What The Franklin Store means to our city can hardly be estimated. We do know that hundreds of people of fastidious tastes come here from neighboring towns and quite a distance to do their shopping.

The amount of merchandise moved by this store every year would be marvelous indeed, were it not that people have grown accustomed to it. Sixteen thousand square feet of floor space is occupied, and around fifteen to twenty salespeople employed.

A great many visitors to Fulton make it an especial point to see this store, even if they are in the city but a day or two. They all declare it is among the most interesting "sights" to be seen in the city. Patrons having friends visiting them find it pleasant for their guests to include a visit to Franklin's as a part of their entertainment. Many of out-of-town people are thus shown through this store every month.

The season's newest novelties are here, many of them. The store is crowded with shoppers. A tacit acknowledgment and recognition of the style leadership of this store, and which has been won on merit alone.

Today this store invites to a display of fashions as distinctive, as exclusive, as irresistibly charming and beautiful as can be seen anywhere.

For value-giving it is a challenge to the surrounding country and especially to the lovers of the beautiful.

The Franklin store is a tremendous asset to Fulton. It is one of the leading mercantile establishments of Western Kentucky. There is a note of refinement and taste from the ground floor to the skylight. The stocks in every department possess three great essentials—individuality of style, quality and reasonable prices, and all persons who shop here cannot help but be richly rewarded for their visit, because the high values and pronounced savings are indeed remarkable.

"Satisfaction guaranteed or money promptly refunded." That is the principle that has built this business and established this store in the confidence of the buying public. They satisfy their customers, no matter what the cost, nor how much the trouble. The matchless values they are constantly offering, the efficient service that they place at your disposal, the liberal assortment that they lay before you, are all important factors in the success of the Franklin organization.

Every day this store wins new friends—discriminating buyers who have been taught by sheer force of values and qualities, that it is to their interest to trade here, and to familiarize themselves with new fashions, new fabrics, and other new wear-things and home-things for the season that reigns with the dawn of tomorrow.

You are invited to join the crowds in attendance at Franklin's 20th Anniversary celebration.

You will receive a hearty welcome by the following: Clothing department—S. T. Butler, L. O. Carter, Cecil Bell, Dry Goods department—Miss Flora Oliver, Mrs. Elizabeth Osgood, Mrs. Felix Gossum, Miss Nell Matthews, Mrs. Rupert Barber, Shoe department—C. W. Binford, M. C. Nall, Ready-to-Wear department—Mrs. R. V. Putnam, Mrs. T. J. Grigg, Miss Carrie Maddox, Alteration department—Miss Catherine Lowe, Millinery department—Miss F. H. Galbraith, Mrs. W. O. Stubblefield, Office—T. M. Franklin, Mrs. S. P. Moore, Mrs. DeW. Stokes.

Congratulations.

A large number of leading business men and citizens met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday afternoon and marched over to the Franklin store in a body, where they met Mr. Franklin, the genial manager, and his co-workers. Congratulations were showered and each one was made glad of the opportunity and privilege of wishing the Franklin organization many more years of happiness and prosperity. The spirit of good fellowship displayed by the well wishers marks an epoch in the history of Fulton, well to pattern by for years to come.

Mr. Franklin and the entire sales force were overwhelmed with gratitude at the hearty and sincere congratulations. After a brief social session, Mr. Franklin distributed souvenirs and "Chancellors" to the party and all left for their respective businesses feeling better for having honored one of Fulton's successful business organizations on their 20th anniversary celebration. It was a beautiful spirit displayed in a beautiful way. Long live the Franklin organization.

GOOD WATER ONE OF FULTON'S GREATEST ASSETS

Fulton has often boasted of its pure sparkling water, but the supply and pressure has not always been up to the highest standard of perfection. During the past year the mains have been extended, old ones taken out and replaced with new ones; hundreds of new supply connections made and a large new reservoir built and work is now in progress on a new well.

Chief Lee Roberts reports the water supply and pressure the best ever known in the history of the city.

Councilman W. P. Murrell, chairman of the water committee, and his associates have kept a watchful eye on Fulton's water plant for years and much hard work has been done with an effort to give the people service second to none.

With Fulton's growing population it has been no little task to keep the plant up to the highest standard of perfection, but Mr. Murrell was equal to the task and today we can boast not only of our pure, sparkling water, but also the best supply and pressure of any city in our class.

With our new equipment we are not only prepared to adequately supply our sister city of South Fulton, but all industrial plants that may locate here for some time to come, and when the demands warrant, more mains will be extended and other improvements made to keep the Fulton Water Works abreast of the times.

Coco-Cola Bottling Company Buys New Site

To Erect Modern 2-Story Plant Right Away.

Tuesday Mr. Hugh Smith, owner of the Coco-Cola Bottling Co., consummated a deal for the purchase of two lots on the corner of Lake Street Extension and Burton Ave. for the purpose of erecting a modern two story plant for the manufacture of Coca-Cola and soda water. These two lots were bought from Clint Reed in the city of Fulton.

As soon as Mr. Smith can work out the details he will begin the erection of his new plant. This will be a valuable addition to the city of Fulton, for Mr. Smith will spare no expense in making his plant attractive and convenient. This will add materially to the looks of that part of town where he is to be located.

Fulton is to be congratulated on having Mr. Smith interested in the business life of our community because he is a progressive, energetic and law abiding citizen. He lives in Union City, Tenn., but he has always been interested in the welfare of Fulton and has done his part at all times in every progressive movement.

SMITH-WILLIS STOCK COMPANY IN TOWN.

The Smith-Willis Stock company opened a week's engagement in Fulton, Monday night in their big tent theatre on Fourth street under the auspices of the fire department. This company is an aggregation of entertainers second to none and our people look forward to their annual visits with genuine pleasure.

They carry with them a band and orchestra of talented musicians. The vaudeville acts are of the higher class and the comedy dramas are presented by an all-star cast. No wonder the big tent is filled each night.

You will enjoy the show to-night, as well as the music and vaudeville features. Don't miss it

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TAKES FARMERS TO TENN.

Inspection of Dairy Herd Creates Enthusiasm

Last week, the Chamber of Commerce, through the cooperation of E. C. Hardesty, Enoch Browder, R. H. Wade, Joe Browder, F. M. Hall, A. M. Nugent and Joe Davis, who furnished their automobiles, seven carloads of farmers from various communities around Fulton, drove to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, for the purpose of seeing better methods of dairying.

These men left Fulton Thursday morning, arriving in Murfreesboro at one o'clock. The delegation was met by Mr. John Bagwell, secretary of the Murfreesboro Chamber of Commerce, David P. Adams, secretary of the Tennessee Dairy Products Association, and a large number of the business men of Murfreesboro. In the afternoon they were conducted to various farms in Rutherford county, where they saw the type of Jerseys kept; the kind of barns constructed, the pastures and feed grown and the method of handling the herd and its product. That night they were the guests of the Princess theatre, through the courtesy of the management. The next morning the party was conducted through the Rutherford County Cooperative Creamery and the Carnation Milk Plant. They were also shown the Middle Tennessee Teachers College Dairying herd. After this the party was driven to Nashville, where they saw Mr. Farrell's prize herd of Jerseys, considered to be the best in the United States. On this farm conditions were so ideal that no man could have a suggestion for its betterment. The purpose of the Chamber of Commerce in promoting this trip was to create enthusiasm in the minds of our farmers for greater production of the dairy products. The farmers were so enthusiastic over the prospects that they came home with glowing reports of what they had seen and heard, and with a determination in their minds to go out into this community and preach the gospel of better dairying.

Instance after instance was shown them where men had taken good herds of cattle and paid themselves out of debt in a few years, and the people of the Murfreesboro district unhesitatingly say that they shall never go back to the proposition of the one crop system in their farming. The people up there seem happy and contented. Their farms are well kept with the buildings painted and their fence rows clean. Every farm has a beautiful field of clover or alfalfa, and the herds of pretty Jerseys make a picture on these green fields of grass and clover that our people will never forget.

Proclamation

Clean Up and Paint Up! Hear This, Ye People. Think! Act!!

Know all men, women and children by these presents: That, Whereas, the National Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign has resulted in many advantages of community life throughout the United States. In safeguarding health; In promoting thrift; In furthering fire prevention; In stimulating civic pride; and Making the home and city beautiful.

Now, therefore, be it known that plans have been perfected for a thorough Clean-Up and Paint-Up Campaign in Fulton, Kentucky, beginning next Monday, April 15th. This date to mark the opening of a real campaign of persistent and constructive effort in cleaning up and KEEPING IT UP. In this worthy movement of Cleaning, Painting, Planting, Repairing and general rehabilitation and beautification, we urge each citizen to do his or her best to make our community

Clean, Healthy, Thrifty, Safe and Beautiful.
Signed: W. O. SHANKLE, Mayor.

We are today publishing a proclamation by the mayor of the city calling on the people from every station in life who live in the city of Fulton to join enthusiastically in the campaign for a clean and more beautiful city. Every red-blooded man, woman and child should join in this clean up campaign. Your sense of pride for your home town should cause you to do your part in helping to make Fulton what you really want it to be. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, and if this campaign is conducted successfully, every citizen here will feel a sense of satisfaction over the results to be accomplished.

This campaign will develop a better community spirit by bringing all of the people together in a work for the beautification of their own little city. If there should be any chronic knocker this work will lead them into the ranks of useful boosters. It should make and keep our streets and alleys clean and pretty. Fire losses will naturally be reduced by the removing of rubbish and of fire traps. Vacant lots cleaned and smoother off and the weeds kept cut throughout the summer, or thrift gardens planted will turn eyesores into beautiful grounds. Home should be beautified by thorough cleaning and painting; shrubbery trimmed; trees planted; lawns raked and mowed and flowers planted. Our city should be more healthful by the elimination of the breeding places of mosquitos, flies, rats and other pests. By so doing, lives of the community can be saved. This should be the greatest advertisement for the city to prospective residents who might come here because when they see well kept buildings with pretty lawns, and clean streets and alleys, they will want to live here. It should help business of all kinds because a campaign to clean up, paint up and fix up demands purchases of various kinds to accomplish this. Everybody realizes that money spent for these necessities will yield a wonderful dividends in satisfaction, and this will make satisfied customers.

What more could you ask that would cause you to throw yourself into this campaign with the determination to make it successful?

Railroad Men In Lively Session

ILLINOIS CENTRAL BOOSTER CLUB ORGANIZED

103 employees of the Illinois Central Railroad located at Fulton, met at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:00 p. m., April 8, for the purpose of organizing a Booster Club.

The meeting was called to order and opened by Superintendent H. W. Williams, who stated the object of the club, and called attention to clubs organized at other stations on the Railroad. Talks were made by J. J. Hills, trainmaster, Cairo district; O. H. McFarlin, trainmaster, Fulton district; S. J. Holt, roadmaster; J. Huddleston, general foreman; T. D. Clark, supervising agent; W. A. Love, superintendent of water service; R. E. Hubbard, supervisor of bridges and building; S. P. Critz, division engineer; W. H. Purcell, supervisor; J. A. Purcell, supervisor, and others. Mr. R. C. Pickering, assistant chief clerk, acted as temporary chairman and the following regular officers were elected:

R. A. Stille, chief yard clerk, president; E. E. Willingham, engineer, first vice president; Claud Linton, engine foreman, second vice president; R. O. Williams, chief clerk to agent, third vice president; E. T. Heywood, air brake machinist, advertising agent; R. B. Kemp, secretary to trainmaster, secretary.

Regular meetings of this club will be held the fourth Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. of each month, and its purpose is to boost the Illinois Central Railroad, solicit freight and passenger business, and stimulate interest in connection with unfair competition with bus and truck lines, as well as promote a better fellowship between all crafts of employees at Fulton.

HEAVY STRAWBERRY SHIPMENTS OVER I. C.

More than eleven hundred car loads of strawberries, grown in the Hammond, La., vicinity, have passed through Fulton over the Illinois Central system during the past two weeks, for Chicago and eastern points.

About the time the Louisiana berry crop is gone, Western Kentucky will start shipping. While the crop will not be as large as last year, the quality and flavor promises to be extra fine. The plants are literally covered with blossoms and in excellent condition. McCracken county will continue to lead all other counties in the Western district, but some luscious berries will be shipped from this vicinity during the season.

Beginning May 1, vegetable shipments from the south will be routed over the Fulton-Edgewood cut-off, saving 22 miles in transit between north and south.

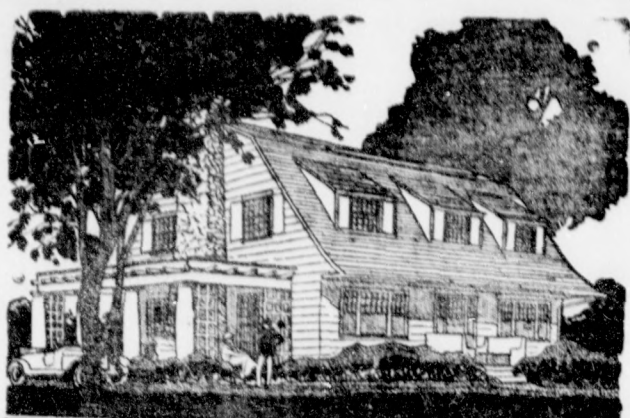

There is no road in the country better equipped for handling this big business with all around satisfaction, than the great Illinois Central System, and it is pleasing to know that Mr. R. M. Alford, of Fulton, is associated with the good work.

EASTER EGG HUNT

Mrs. S. J. Walker, superintendent of the Epworth Juniors and Primary Department of Wesley Church, entertained the members of this society with games in the early part of the afternoon and then with an Easter Egg hunt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Clark Saturday afternoon. There were twenty-two present to enjoy the hunt.

CARE OF CREAM IN ORDER TO PRODUCE AND MAR- KET A BETTER QUALITY

One of the main factors a producer should watch is the quality of his cream. Butter manufacturers have got to purchase a good grade of cream in order to make a good grade of butter and in turn pay a good price for cream to the producer. You, as a producer, want the highest possible price for your product, one way to get that price is to market a grade of cream which is of good quality.

A few ways to better and retain that quality are: Keep your cow barns clean and well ventilated. Clean the udder of the cow before milking. Milk in scrupulously clean utensils. Keep the dust and dirt out of the milk. Keep your separator clean. Do not mix cold cream with warm cream. Why? When warm cream and cold cream are mixed together you give the yeast germ a favorable home to work in, consequently making it multiply very rapidly. That is one of the causes of cream boiling over which loses the producer large sums of money each year.

Keep your cream in a cool place, on the porch out of the sun and if possible, in some container which you can keep cool water circulating around it. Do not keep it in the cooler or the kitchen because cream very easily picks up undesirable odors which hurt the quality a great deal.

Keep all utensils scrupulously clean at all times. Why? When milk or cream has once been in a container it leaves a substance called "Cassin," which is alive with bacteria, this bacteria multiplies very rapidly, ruining the quality of the cream or milk as they grow. Therefore, your milk pails, stirring rods and separators should be washed very clean and let hang out in the sunshine to dry. The sunshine is probably one of the best purifiers and dryers.

Market your cream as often as possible. It is a good plan to bring it off on or before the fourth day because it has been proven that after cream gets four days old it deteriorates very quickly.

Always keep in mind the following slogan: Better cream makes better butter, better butter enables the manufacturer to pay better prices to the producer for his product.

High School Notes

Mr. Moorland of the Department of Extension of Georgetown College was out at the high school Monday. He made a short and interesting talk in chapel.

Track practice is in full sway now and this year's track team promises to be a fine one. Everyone is working toward the end that F. H. S. will again win the track meet this year, as she has done for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade of the Presbyterian Church had charge of the chapel program last Friday. Mrs. Wade, who was a Missionary to China for eight years, gave a very enjoyable address to the students, telling of the life and customs of the Chinese. In closing, Mr. and Mrs. Wade sang a beautiful duet, entitled, "Transformed."

The Science Club, under the direction of Mrs. Wayne gave a most educational program in chapel Wednesday.

The examination on the Bible Study Course, which has been held recently, was given in Chapel Tuesday morning. Important questions on religion, citizenship and moral improvements were discussed. The papers were sent away to be graded and we are sure that we will have some grades to be proud of among the number.

The Juniors are hard at work on their play, "The Hidden Guest," which will be presented a week from tonight. It will be remembered that the precedent of having a Junior play every year was established last year when the present Seniors gave the play, "Seven Chances."

The minor athletics for the making of points for the Fulton High award, the highest honor that Fulton High can bestow on her pupils, will be begun immediately. These minor athletics include swimming, hiking and tennis.

With the beautiful spring weather the annual field meet comes before our minds, with its suggestion of track, dramatics, declamation, orations and music. This meet will be the largest ever held in Fulton and will be held in early May.

Plans are under way for beautifying the campus with grass, canna beds and hedges. With the new Science Hall and some flowers and grass our campus will be indeed a thing of beauty, especially in the spring of the year.

The Dramatic Club is busy with two playlets, "Propping the Triangle" and "A Yard of Argument," which will be presented soon.

GOOD MEETING AT BOWERS SCHOOL

Community Club Held Meeting
Saturday Night

Saturday night the 4-H club of the Bowers community met at Bowers school. The boys and girls held meetings. Will Boydson, the leader for the boys, and Mrs. Claud Williams, the leader for the girls, were present. Many of the parents were also present, as was Secretary Davis of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce.

Club work for the year was outlined by the leaders and the prospects are very bright for a great year. There are some outstanding boys and girls in this community, and with the proper encouragement from the elder people these young people will do big things.

D. M. Counce and Will Boydson have glowing reports of the trip to Murfreesboro with the Chamber of Commerce committee on Thursday and Friday. Each of these men stated that they had the greatest inspiration of their lives on the trip. They have seen that by the right methods cows will pay on the farm as nothing else will, and they promised to do all they could to get things started here.

Joe Davis talked to the audience about the interest that Fulton had in the communities adjacent to the town. He outlined the plan of the Chamber of Commerce to help and asked for suggestions from the farmers. He told them that he wanted the whole community to come to the Chamber of Commerce at an early date to see the moving pictures that were made by Joe Browder on the Tennessee trip. When this meeting is held refreshments will be served and a good program arranged.

Everyone Can Help

While Fulton has much to be proud of as it reviews past achievements, it would be sheer folly at this stage of the city's development to rest on its oars and be content with laurels already won.

Fulton's present high standing among communities of its size has been won as a result of foresight and aggressive policies on the part of those who in earlier years believed in the home town and, armed with that faith, fought a long, uphill fight for the things that make Fulton a better place in which to live.

Never before in its history has Fulton been in position to go forward in such rapid and substantial development as right now. But to do the things that must be done if the community is to continue to progress there can be no diminution of that spirit which made it what it is today.

In this work of upbuilding the town everybody may and should contribute his bit. In fact, it is unfair for the great body of citizens to stand idly by while a minority of more public spirited citizens takes upon its shoulders the whole burden of making Fulton larger, better and more prosperous.

A few energetic citizens can accomplish much, but no matter how great their work it would be dwarfed by the achievements possible from 100 percent community cooperation.

With every citizen talking and working for Fulton there can be no retrogression.

The Unpardonable Sin

In his preachments Elbert Hubbard reflects: "I am not sure just what the unpardonable sin is, but I believe it is the disposition to postpone and evade the payment of small bills." How vast is the army of workers-for-their-fellowmen who can say amen to that little sermon!

Perhaps there are sins more unpardonable than "the postponement and evasion of bill-paying" but at least it can not be said that there is a sin more frequent in commission. Tradespeople, professional men and other public servants will attest to the latter as a declaration of fact.

To be sure, no one would place the brand of "dead-beat" upon all who are slow in paying. There are extenuating circumstances in all phases of life, and financial reverses, poverty and ill-fortune are visited upon any member of the human family sometime during their worldly existence. Toward such the creditor world gladly shows patience. But Hubbard remarks that "curiously enough, the people who are most given to this sort of sin are not the poor nor the illiterate."

Hubbard might have mused over the matter further and found that the "postponers and evaders of payments of small bills," may be divided into two groups: Those who must gratify a mania for buying, knowing they have not the wherewithal to pay for their extravagances, and those who, without any perverted intent to defraud or cheat, have allowed themselves to acquire the habit of "slow paying." The former in time lose their credit, but the latter loses the respect of their fellowmen, which is even greater than credit. Make a bargain and keep it. Every man is entitled to the dollar he has earned, and if you accept service you admit his title to his pay for that service.

Distrust

All this talk about the "brotherhood of man" causes one to wonder if the foundation for such an idealistic relationship have yet been laid. It is a fact that the civilized world has long been laboring on those foundations, but do they now stand completed? From the evidence in the case the verdict must be that they are not.

A "brotherhood of man" must be preceded by a universal faith in man. As long as individuals, nations and races can not—or at least do not—trust one another, there can be no world brotherhood.

Mutual distrust seems as instinctive in man as in the jungle beasts. The world war was a war of distrust and international fear. Nations maintain large armies and navies because they distrust their neighbors and men pass laws because they lack faith in the honesty or judgement of each other.

Perhaps there is greater faith in man today than at any other time in recorded history. There is much to sustain such a conclusion. But man still lacks that universal understanding and faith which is essential to a "brotherhood of men."

COUNT THE PENNIES

An average of less than one penny—914 thousandths of 1 penny, to be exact, was collected by the Illinois Central System for each ton of freight it hauled one mile in 1928, according to a public statement by President L. A. Downs in which he analyzes the railroad's receipts and expenditures on a penny basis. The average Illinois Central passenger in 1928 traveled one mile for 2.722 pennies. The Illinois Central System's freight business in 1928 consisted of hauling 61,937,935 tons an average distance of 250.17 miles. Its passenger business consisted of hauling 40,608,778 passengers an average of 22.64 miles.

"Every large business needs to count the pennies in order to live within its income, and the Illinois Central System is no exception," declares President Downs. "Pennies show where the dollars come from. Freight revenue made up 75.65 pennies and passenger revenue 13.37 pennies of the average dollar received by the Illinois Central System in 1928. The remaining 10.98 pennies came from various other services, such as express, mail and switching, and from rentals and investments."

The average dollar was spent as follows: 27.89 pennies to maintain the property, 27.08 to operate trains, stations and other transportation service, 5.58 for fuel, 12.85 for other operating expenses, 4.29 for rentals, 8.71 for interest on borrowed money, 6.52 for taxes and 5.66 for dividends to stockholders, leaving 1.42 to spend for improvements.

The Newspaper Guide

The newspaper that carries a good line of advertisements is to the shopper what the time table is to the traveler and the published guide is to the tourist. Busy people study these advertisements in the home or in the office, and before they start shopping they know where they are going.

The newcomer or the visitor to the city finds the advertising columns of the Advertiser a reliable guide to follow. In fact, business places are points of interest to all tourists, and the non-advertiser puts himself outside the pale so far as strangers are concerned.

The weather forecaster has lots of competition.

Neighbors judge a new family by the furniture that goes in.

Trying to keep up with the neighbors is a fine way to get behind.

Luxuries are still so high we have to go without some necessities.

HEZEKIAH LEADS HIS PEOPLE BACK TO GOD

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 30:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord your God is gracious and merciful.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping Others to Know God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping Others to Know God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Leader with a High Purpose.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Influence of a Good Ruler.

I. Hezekiah Proclaims a Passover (vv. 1-12).

The way for a shunning and divided people to get back to God and be united is around the crucified Lord. The Passover was a memorial of the nation's deliverance through the shedding of the blood of the sacrificial lamb.

1. The invitation was representative of the nation (v. 2). The king took counsel with the princes and the congregation to show that the proclamation was the expression of the nation's desire.

2. The time was unusual (vv. 2-4). There was not sufficient time to sanctify the people, nor to gather them together at the regular time, so they resolved instead of postponing it for a year to hold it on the fourteenth day of the second month. This liberty had been granted before in an emergency (Num. 9:9-10).

3. The scope of the invitation (vv. 5-9).

It included all of both nations who would come to keep the Passover to the Lord God of Israel. "Israel" is now used to include both kingdoms. The effort was intended to win back the nation which had seceded. The messengers were authorized to supplement the proclamation with urgent exhortation to restore a united nation. This urgent invitation was tactfully put as follows:

(1) It touched ancestral memories—"Turn again unto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel" (v. 6).

(2) Recalled bitter experience—"Be not like your fathers and brethren, who trespassed against the Lord God, and were given up to desolation, as ye see" (v. 7).

(3) Aroused yearning for captive kinsfolk—"Your brethren and children shall find compassion before their oppressors" (v. 9).

(4) Stirred instinct of self-preservation—"So that they shall come again unto this land" (v. 9).

(5) Pledged forgiveness (v. 9).

4. Israel's reception of the invitation (vv. 10-12).

This invitation in Israel met with a mixed reception.

(1) Some mocked. The urgent and sincere invitation only excited opposition and ridicule. (2) Some with humble hearts came to Jerusalem.

In Judah, God gave them one heart to accept the summons to unite in the Lord around the great Passover.

II. The Passover Kept (vv. 13-27).

1. Altars removed (vv. 13, 14).

In the time of Ahab (28:24) these heathen altars were erected in Jerusalem. Before there could be worship of the true God all traces of idolatry must be removed. This voluntary act of the people showed a right spirit.

2. The Passover killed (v. 15).

The zeal of the people was shown in their going forward with the service, though the priests were not ready for their task.

3. The priests and Levites ashamed (vv. 15-20).

The zeal of the people put to shame the priests and Levites, stimulating them to perform their duties according to the law as given by Moses. The Levites then took charge of the killing of the Passover. Though many of the people were ceremonially unprepared to take part in the most sacred service, they were accepted as worshippers through the intercession of Hezekiah. God accepted the purpose of heart rather than the letter of the law.

4. The praise of glad hearts (vv. 21, 22).

They continued seven days with gladness: (1) The Levites and priests sang God's praise daily with loud instruments (v. 21); (2) Hezekiah spoke comforting words to the Levites (v. 22). He commended them and their teaching of the knowledge of God.

(3) They made confession of their sins to God (v. 23).

5. The Passover prolonged seven days (vv. 23-27).

The king's object in prolonging the feast was to make as lasting an impression as possible, so as to result in the thorough conversion of their souls to God.

DUKEDOM, TENN.

It has not been many months ago since the Fulton people had to come by the way of Dukedom to get to Mayfield, on account of the roads. At that time Dukedom people tried to keep the State Line road in good shape for them. Now the Dukedom, Latham, Austin Springs and Bunie Vista people want to go by the way of Fulton to get to Mayfield.

Do the people in Fulton want to help keep the State Line road in shape so we can go by there to Mayfield and Paducah? If so, how come it so bad?

We also want to know if it would hurt Dresden and Mayfield to donate a few dollars of our own tax money to help on the State Line, if so, give us your reason why.

—Dukedom Citizen.

DUKEDOM'S BIG SECOND SUNDAY SINGING

Lest you forget, next Sunday is our big Second Sunday singing at Dukedom. H. O. Cashon, the promoter of the singing, has the promise of some of the best singers in both Graves and Weakley counties, including the famous Mayfield quartet, of Mayfield, Ky.

We are expecting this to be the greatest of all our singing and invite all singers to come and bring their books. We will use Vaughn's 1929 book which was adopted by both Graves and Weakley county singing conventions. There will be a supply of these books there for sale. Come early if you want a seat.

Hickman News

Stewart Johnston, past exalted ruler of the Elks Club of Paducah, accompanied by Frank Iseman, also of that city, were in Hickman last week for the purpose of installing the newly elected officers of the Hickman Elks Club. There was quite a large attendance and after the installation, a big spread was enjoyed.

The new officers are: Arthur Hale, Exalted Ruler; W. F. Busby, Esteemed Leading Knight; A. Robins, Esteemed Loyal Knight; Henry Fethe, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; W. C. Reed, Secretary; W. E. Owens, Treasurer; John Hunzicker, Tiler, and Joe Walls, Trustee, elected for three years. Judge W. J. McMurphy was elected as delegate to the Grand Lodge in Los Angeles, with W. C. Reed as alternate.

The first injury on the scaffolds over the high water on Clinton street occurred last week when Dave Morgan stepped from a scaffold in front of the Amberg Store to a box, which served as a step, to the next scaffold below, the box toppling over and throwing him on the edge of a plank. He suffered two broken ribs and severe bruises. Mr. Morgan is connected with the Amberg company department store.

FULTON COURT ADOPTS BUDGET

County Treasurer Authorized to Call in as Many 1928 Warrants as Possible

Hickman, Ky., April 5.—The Fulton county fiscal court has adopted budget plans again for this year, as follows: 13 cents for bonds and interest; 7 cents for roads and bridges; 13 1/2 cents for general expenses; 8 cents for salaries; 3 cents for paupers; 3 1/2 cents for health; 1 cent for emergency; 1 1/2 cent for juvenile and 1 1/2 cent for vital statistics. This covers the 50 cents general levy, the 20 cents special levy going exclusively to the special road bonds.

The court authorized the county treasurer to call as many more of the 1928 warrants as he could at this time, and then call the remainder as fast as possible.

A committee of women from Sylvan Shade, Cayce and Jordan, with Miss Zelma Monroe, assistant state agent in charge of home agents, and Miss Myrtle Jackson, county home agent, appeared before the court and asked for $450 and office equipment for the home agent. Their request was voted down and the county will not assist the work of the home agent for the coming year.

A new road program was adopted for this year when Magistrate S. A. Hagler moved that only one road crew be employed to work in all four districts. The court appointed J. W. Jones and Jim Ligon as the road crew.

TENNESSEE VS. KENTUCKY HIGHWAYS

The road straight through to Martin over the new bridge is open to traffic. We understand the contract was let last week for the surfacing of the highway from Fulton to Greenfield via Martin. This will be a concrete slab road built to the highest standard of perfection. When completed this will give Fulton two outlets south over first-class concrete surfaced highways. Neither one of said concrete roads cost Fulton, Kentucky, one penny. Thanks to Tennessee.

In Western Kentucky we will continue to travel over gravel surfaced highways and eat dust or wade through mud. It looks like the more money collected for road building the less we get.

"There is little left out of $14,000,000 collected for actual road building when $7,000,000 is required for preliminaries," says Commissioner Con Craig.

It is a joke, puzzle or something the tax-payers are unable to figure out. Fulton county voted a $450,000 road bond issue. We don't know how much was extracted for preliminaries, but we do know that part of the time the main highway through the county is under water and impassible. The engineering skill must have been overtaxed as the preliminary funds didn't hold out.

High School Notes

As has been the custom for three years, the teachers in the high school set aside one week each year as grand opera week. The opening opera, "Otello," by Verdi, was given by Mr. Myers, Monday. This opera adheres closely to the famous drama, "Athello," by Shakespeare.

The opera is a story of love, jealousy and revenge. The leading characters are Otello, the husband, Desdemona, the wife, Iago, the human moccasin, Cassio, who is believed by Otello to be in love with Desdemona, Roderigo, who is in love with Desdemona, plots with Iago to make Cassio drunk and let Otello publicly disgrace him. This is done and Cassio goes to Desdemona to get her to ask her husband, Otello, to reinstate him. Meanwhile, Iago, has aroused the suspicions of Otello by telling him that Cassio has talked of Desdemona in his sleep. Otello hides behind a curtain and hears Cassio telling Iago of his love for Desdemona, and he thinks he is talking about Desdemona. The story of this passage, "Cassio's Dream," was then sung by Ricardo Stracciari, baritone. Iago places Desdemona's handkerchief in Cassio's room and when he sees it, Otello's suspicions are confirmed. He takes his dagger and as Desdemona, his beautiful wife, lies dying by the cruel dagger of her jealous husband, she protests her innocence. Emilia, the maid servant, runs in and exposes the whole plot of the devilish Iago, to Otello, then, as it is too late, he stabs himself and falls, a victim of his own made jealousy and distrust.

Track practice is going on fine and the team will be in readiness for the big field meet which will be held here next month.

The Junior play, "The Hidden Guest," will be presented in the new gymnasium on the night of Tuesday, April 16. The Juniors are expecting a big crowd that night and we hope the gymnasium will be packed, because we are sure the audience will be delighted with the play.

In the absence of Miss Martin, who was out of school, Tuesday, on account of her mother's illness, Mrs. Rucker gave a most enjoyable musical program on the Victrola. The program was varied, consisting of some classical, sacred and popular musical numbers.

Mrs. John Stewart is taking Miss Martin's place teaching, while the latter is out of school. Joseph Williams, Avery Hancock and Juano Mays, left Tuesday morning for Lexington where they will represent this district in piano, American history and mathematics, respectively.

GOLD MEDALS FOR TON LITTER OWNERS

The Louisville Livestock Exchange and the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards Company will give medals to Kentucky farmers who raise ton litters of pigs this year, the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky announces.

Farmers who own litters weighing 2,500 pounds when 180 days old will receive gold medals, while owners of litters weighing 2,300 to 2,500 pounds will receive silver medals, and those whose litters weigh 2,000 to 2,300 pounds will receive bronze medals.

Cups and other prizes and cash also will be distributed among men who raise ton litters of pigs this year. The Kentucky State Fair Board will divide several hundred dollars among exhibitors of ton litters at the State Fair.

Other companies cooperating in stimulating profitable hog-raising in Kentucky are Ballard & Ballard, Louisville; The Simmons Milling Company, E. Kahn's Sons, the Joslin-Schmidt Corporation and the Early & Daniel Feed Company, all of Cincinnati, and Munns Bros., Lexington.

According to Grady Sellards, of the College of Agriculture, the spring has been favorable to the production of large, healthy litters of pigs. The United States Department of Agriculture predicts continued good prices for hogs. Many Kentucky farmers are said to be interested in the ton-litter plan of hog-raising as the result of the success of this plan in recent years.

"Glory Be—
Look at that Chimney!"

NIGHT after night this was the regular tune. If the wick wasn't cut "just so" the result was a smoky, sooty chimney. And not only that. It was always sticky with oil—what a mess it was to fill the lamps in the morning. Cleaning chimneys, cutting wicks and polishing reflectors was no fun.

In spite of all this work you had limited light.

Now, with the snap of a switch, light floods the room. The electric bulb is always ready, with bright, cheery, sootless light. Brighten the home by filling every socket. Electricity is convenient. Electricity is cheap. Use more of it.

Actress Invests in Real Estate

Rebe Daniels' Business Sense Wins Admiration of California Home Builders

In years gone by it was the popular belief that stars of the motion picture colony were delightfully dumb, beautiful but blank, clinging vines without intelligence or initiative. It is impossible to tell where the libel originated. But libel it was and a cruel one at that.

For, as a group the stars of Hollywood are more than wise in many ways. Many of them have made considerable money in activities apart from their studio work.

One of these is Rebe Daniels, whose new picture, "What a Night!" will open Monday for 2 days at the Grand Theatre.

Rebe Daniels is recognized in Los Angeles and California as one of the shrewdest real estate operators in the west.

She has built and sold some of the finest homes at Santa Monica, noted beach resort of the West Coast, and she owns business property in Los Angeles that has increased in value four times over her initial investment of a few years ago. She has just announced plans for a new idea dormitory apartment building to be erected near the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles. This venture will accommodate 200 girl students and will provide them with a "real home," according to the star. Each little apartment will have individuality. There will be a swimming pool, tennis courts, a gym and all home conveniences.

Do You Remember?

Do you remember: When all school pupils walked to school? When papers, made of newspapers by the housewife, were used instead of matches?

When tobacco users carefully destroyed the revenue stamps on packages which contained cigars, cigarettes and chewing tobacco?

When one sorapilla soda or a strawberry milkshake a week was the average boy's soft drink allowance?

When the sportiest thing a young fellow could do was to hire a buggy and take his girl to ride up and down the street of the town?

When college students wore beaver hats and took them off to their professors?

When the only women's organizations were the missionary society, the King's Daughters and the Woman's Temperance union?

When people had dessert and chicken only for Sunday dinner, but country ham for almost every breakfast?

When young women were shocked by the "concert" just after the regular circus performance?

When a funeral invitation written on a card and framed in black ribbon was carried from house to house by a negro boy or man?

When one person's washing for a week cost a quarter?

When everybody along the line knew and familiarly addressed the train conductor and when he would allow his friends to ride free or on credit?

When in almost every home there was a framed picture of Lee, Davis, Hampton or Jackson?

When the poetry of Mrs. Hemans, the work of Josephus, and Peter Parley's histories were still widely read?

When it was considered a sin for children to play on Sunday?

When people wishing to dig wells used a divining rod cut from a peach tree to locate water?

When old ladies carried turkey-tailed fans to church?

When quinine was administered without capsules, but with a bit of bacon "to take out the taste"?

When everybody blacked his or her own shoes every Sunday morning?

When pajamas were known merely as clothes worn by the heathen?

When molasses were eaten at breakfast, dinner or supper?

When children had to go to Sunday school, to both Sunday morning and night services, and to prayer meeting every week?

When a college graduate was considered a person of intellectual attainment?

Well, if you remember all these, you weren't born yesterday.

DEVELOPING THE DAIRY INTERESTS IN THIS VICINITY

Alive to the dairy interests of this community and surrounding country the Fulton Chamber of Commerce is active in its endeavors to make 1929 the banner year of the organization in its activities of development and nothing will be left undone to accomplish this feat.

Last week a committee from the Chamber of Commerce was accompanied by a number of interested farmers in the dairy business to Murfreesboro and Nashville, Tenn., on an inspection tour.

At Murfreesboro, the party was met by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and a number of business men, who extended a hearty welcome and did all in their power to entertain and lend their assistance in pointing them in the right direction. This is a dairy section of Tennessee the natives are proud of and they are only too glad to impart all the information possible along dairy lines, therefore the trip was an inspiration to all in the Fulton party. A number of farms were visited and our people are more enthused over dairying today than ever before.

In the party were Joe Browder, R. H. Wade, Joe Davis, E. C. Hardesty, A. M. Nugent, Enoch Browder, H. G. Hall, G. L. Clelland, H. A. McPherson, Wilmer Owens, Fred Bennett, E. C. Lowery, D. M. Counce, Albert Hutchens, Ben Kimberlin, Lee Smith, Herman Harrison, W. P. Jefferess, Leigham Drysdale, C. C. Hancock, Edgar Maxwell, Ed Browder, J. W. Howell, T. M. Resse, J. W. McClanahan, Neal Little, Ed Thompson, C. O. Bryant, W. F. Ward, J. B. Calvert, Cecil Barnett, Lewis Burke, B. Hewitt, Jess Coleman, Wm. Boydson.

Each and everyone in the party is now a full fledged missionary in the field of development preaching the true doctrine of dairying and we may expect wonderful results to follow. Cooperation is the keynote of success. Let's all do our part in developing the dairy industry in this vicinity.

Some time in the near future Joe Browder will exhibit a motion picture of the scenes and conditions as they were found on the trip which will be educational and inspirational to our people.

NOTICE

To the big, little, old, young, rich or poor, I am going to give you my views on a subject that has been worn out by talk and nothing done and it is nothing more than how to have a good road from Fulton to Dukedom, and it is this first I think we ought to have some one who has the legal right to run this line and show the people along the road just where the line is located, so they can begin discussing what they think of it and what they would be willing to do if we are ever so lucky as to get a highway, as there is going to be some one dissatisfied with the location of the line by it running too close to his henhouse, and they will say it is too close to their piggery. We are going to have all of this to contend with before we can start a highway, after thinking and looking over the proposition; if there is anyone so slow who doesn't want a good road, I think he belongs to the terrapin tribe and should move to some large bottom or slough where he can have plenty of water and mud the year round as a terrapin is too slow to travel with horses, teams, autos or trucks which is running over our roads every day for the benefit of our country. If this terrapin, as anyone knows, gets out there to run with them, he is going to get run over and it is possible that he will get hurt. Second, I believe, as Mr. Craig said, at the meeting here that he could not help us any before April 9, 1930, so I think life too short for the people in the country to sit down and do nothing until then. I suggest that we see some good road man who has a tractor large enough to cut a good ditch and one who has the backbone and nerve to cut it regardless to what anyone says about it. We need a ditch that will carry the water and not let it enter the road, and that should be done at once, and then someone should see each county judge where the county touches the said road and see if they are willing to help us build a good ditch along the line. If not, don't this, you or I would want him for our judge. Now, I know what his answer will be before you approach him, and it will be this: "Go and see your road commissioner, he has control of the road money." I will say this, that if you have a county judge that has no influence with the leaders of our country (I will say this so that anyone can understand me) I would not think him a man for our county judge, at least I would not want him to judge for me.

After this is done, I think some one should see each citizen who lives anywhere on this road and ask him for help, no matter how little he gives, will help some, and if he refuses to help on this road that he uses to go to town and back home, I believe that he will pay well for it in the long run, by his feelings, and that is when he is using the road and enjoying the ride as it is so much better than it was. A feeling that he knows not where it came from but he will feel just like a person would feel that had stolen his way through a toll gate on a good road or had stolen his way into a show every time he got to enjoying the good shows they were putting on something would come over him and say, suppose everybody had gotten in here like I did, what would become of the show men? So his feelings would not let him get anything out of the show at last, so he pays for going in whether we get anything out of him to help on the road or not. He pays for his ride with this same feeling.

I will admit that we are somewhat peculiarly situated in this part of the country, as we have five counties and two states that join this short space of road, and one who has not studied the situation, has no idea how much taxes the people pay in those five counties that use this road. So if it is not asking too much, I will ask one of the judges or one who is seeking to be a judge of one of those counties, to get his chair some fair day on Saturday when the roads get dry, place it under a good shade tree and take the number of people that travel up and down the road one day. Ask him which county he lives in and which state he lives in, then this judge would be able to inform the other four judges just what the need of a road is here to the taxpayers of the five counties and the two states? If the judge who takes this job thinks the task too hard, I will ask him to change jobs for one day only with some old man who is working tobacco to pay his tax. This will be for one day only and then he will know what the old tobacco raiser's job is. I know the tobacco raiser would be willing to pay him a good sum if he will change jobs the year round. Now I am going to make a comparison right here that someone is going to kick about, but it makes no difference to me, if the shoe fits, wear it. And if it doesn't fit your case, you are not the one I have reference to.

We have some people who remind me of stock. Take a good mule, put him in a barn, feed him well all winter and by spring his head has grown so big it will take five or six men to bridle him and get him to the plow. When you have worked him a week, any little boy can go to the field and bridle him alone. Just so it is with some office holders after they are elected to an office by the voters; by the time he gets in his office at the courthouse, his head has grown so big you could not have a business talk with him if you were to go there to have business attended to. In other words, his head is like a pumpkin, it has grown large in size, but it is hollow in the center.

We voters are to blame for it, both women and men, because the office belongs to the majority of the voters and we have failed lots of times to select the right sort of material to take charge of the office. So it pays well to investigate each and every one asking for an office before you select one. We need men and women in offices to give the taxpayers of his county justice, no matter where he lives in the county or the neighborhood he lives in. We especially need a county judge of this type; then he will not stoop so low as to take the advice of some two by four politician that his head is so big and his brain so small that he would not know B from a bull's foot. But is always standing around the courthouse to give advice.

I think the best words ever said for the country you live in was when Abraham Lincoln said, "United we stand, divided we fall." That word applies to the smallest of families and the largest of words between nations, and Fulton people are as guilty of this as the people around Dukedom, and that is this, when we go to have an election, we divide up as to who shall hold the office and go to fighting each other, regardless of his qualifications or his classification.

I meet men who will say the building of roads has nothing to do with politics. I know at once he is ignorant if he is sincere in what he says, as I call a man a politician who asks for an office from the smallest office to the highest. So a politician, man or woman, handles all the tax money and has the right to say how and where it shall be spent, but he never forgets to take his salary first.

Now I am going to tell you what I think is wrong with our country. We have too many politicians that will promise you or me anything before he gets in office and will do as little as he can get by with to draw his salary. The way a lot of them get in office they round up a lot of voters, both in town and from the country, give them a bottle of soda pop and cheese sandwich, or carry them to a ten cent picture show, and some of those voters will vote any way that politician asks him to vote for the next ten years, even if it is against his own interest and against the interest of every neighbor it matters not what his qualifications may be. Let it be for county judge, county attorney, county court clerk, circuit clerk, sheriff, magistrate or constable. And if this leader asked him, he would go to the county judge and recommend someone for your supervisor that doesn't know the value of land and anything else, than a bullfrog, and nine times out of ten he will get someone on that list just a type of himself. This supervisor being of the same type, when he gets in town and this leader gives him a free supper and carries him to a ten cent show, he forgets he was ever on a farm, then this leader can come around and if he asks it of him he will raise every neighbor's farm around him regardless of the value of it, if he could not make enough to pay the tax; he would be willing to let his neighbor do without a living. Now this sort of management has been the cause of all young men and women leaving the farms because they cannot pay the expense and have a decent living. The only way to control this situation is to call meetings in your voting precincts and agree with each other to vote for the man that the majority of the voters want and quit fighting each other, and all fight for the same man or woman. This is human nature, if you give every vote to the right person, when you go to them with a proposition you need not fear but what you will get your rights from the right person. This is what is the matter with the State Line, there is too much division. I don't believe you could find another place in the United States where there are five counties and two states joining in a space of three miles. So it will pay all that are interested to have a good road on the State Line to organize and vote together on the state officers as well as the county officers. This will leave the two by four politicians sitting on a bunch of grass or a tobacco hill to work out his own salvation as to how he gets money to go to shows or buy cigarettes. When this ditch is cut sufficient to carry the water and no one can see where it is of any benefit, I will pay the bill myself just to show people what can be done, as I believe in having a good road and let people have a way to go anywhere they want to go. Let it be to church, Sunday school, ball game, horse race, dog chase, picture show, cow show or a bull fight, it doesn't make any difference with me where he goes if that is where he wants to go, for I have found out by experience long ago that a man or woman is of no benefit to any of those places I have mentioned if you have to force them to go, even to work in a store or in a field, they are no account when you get them there.

I have always been told that the State Line was to be and understood by each state that they were donating to the public sixty feet for a State Line road, so you see, if you or anyone else has put our house or pig pen on this part of the line it is our fault and not the people's fault that the sixty feet was donated by the two states, and we must keep this in mind that the people are entitled to sixty feet for this road and that is my reason for wanting it surveyed. I have property on the State Line and if I have made a mistake and built where the line is I have no one to blame but myself as I am the one that made the mistake. Now, as I have said before, I think this ditch should be cut at once that will secure us a good road for the next ten months, and if I can get no one to help pay for this ditch I will pay for it myself if I have to sell every work mule I have on the farm to pay for the ditching.

If anyone else has any better plan for this road let me know and I will throw all of my plans in the fire and help you on yours. I believe that when a man or a woman begins paying the greatest penalty for their wrong acts on this earth is about the last day of his visit here on earth. When the door is closed behind him and the light goes out. For the good book has too much to say in the twenty-three chapters of Matthew: "Woe unto you Scribes and Pharisee hypocrites." If there is any such thing as evolution, I think some of you office holders are going to drive the human race to it by taxation; causing them to quit the farms as they can get more money for work than a farmer can pay without going broke himself.

Most all of the boys I talk with when they come back from Detroit tell me they have a Wop for a boss. I don't know what nationality they claim to be but from what I have seen in my life they look to me as though they were the breed of the lowest class of the American people, as low down as a monkey, and you must keep in mind the human race can be bred down the same as an animal.

If some of our office holders would change the word of the second commandment out of the ten and say, "I will treat thou taxpayer as myself," we would have had this road ten or fifteen years ago.

I hear people say everyday that Fulton ought to build this road.

I am proud I am broad-minded enough to see it will be a great help to Dukedom, Pilot Oak, Cuba, Lynnville, Boydsville, Palmersville, Latham, Ruthville, Buena Vista, Austin Springs and Kingstons, west of Dukedom. I have enough confidence in the people around Dukedom to say when they study this proposition as I have that each and everyone will do what he is able to do to get this road. ROAD is the subject; ROAD is what we need; ROAD is what we want and ROAD is what we will get, if we will unite, work together, pull together until we get someone in office in all five counties that will work, pull and think for the benefit of the taxpayers who put him in this office with confidence in him to deal with all regardless of the color, friend or foe, to the best of his knowledge to give justice.

I will give you a diagram of where the taxpayers live who are interested in this road, beginning on the State Line one and one-half miles east of Fulton; thence south to Ruthville; thence east to Latham; thence east to Palmersville; thence north to Boydsville on the State Line road to Lynnville; thence northwest to Cuba, Kentucky; thence southwest to Pilot Oak; thence west to Bennett's school house in Hickman county; thence south to State Line at Boaz Chapel church.

Dukedom is located near the center, with Buena Vista and Austin Springs east of Kingstons west four miles on the State Line.

If the taxpayers in this circle will unite, vote together, work together, we will get this road. There is enough voters in this circle to change the office holder in either of the five counties most of the time.

My belief is when a man or woman is brought into this world he is placed on a line and two little sparks placed near him, one on the good side and the other on the wrong side, with a small scale placed in front. When they are old enough to become responsible for their acts, the scales will show and he can begin building on either spark, and if kept on the right side building on that side, I think that they are the grandest and noblest women and men we have, and they are the ones who should hold all of the offices that men and women have the power to give.

I began wondering on both sides of the line forty-five years ago, when I came to Dukedom, and began a public business that forced me to mix with all classes of people. My first experience with the Pharisee hypocrite as I call one, was when an old man whom I had heard argue Prohibition so much on the street, came to me with a plan laid out to get a gallon of whisky, and his plan was this: For me to fill the jug with whisky. Come by the molasses barrel and pour molasses all around the stopper; set it on the outside of the door, as he was such a hypocrite, he did not want anyone to see him in a store where whisky was sold. There are some office holders today that I believe are as big hypocrites today as that old man was and that is why I am urging the people to investigate well before you select one and see if he has been building up the little spark on the right side all of the time or has he begun building on the right side since he decided to run for an office.

I could tell you of my experience with a Pharisee hypocrite many and many times in the last forty years, and lots of them was just as surprising to me as the one I have just re-

Another lesson that I learned back then was when I went to church to hear a man preach they would put up some half-cracked brain to explain the good book, and his explanation would be to say all sorts of mean things and say things he knew was not the truth, about a man who would sell whisky according to the laws of our country those days. He would take the advantage of the pulpit to say things he would not say on the street because he did not have the backbone and nerve to say it elsewhere. I made up my mind right then if that was what they called religion, I did not want it and I am still of the same opinion today. And this is why I don't think I was ever a fit subject to hold an office or to be a church member.

I believe if each county judge in the five counties knew the need of a good road on the line as I do, I believe we would have the ditch on each side cut sufficient to drain the water from the middle of the road to the ditch and I believe they would have it done inside of the next two weeks. The people at Dukedom and along the line would fill the holes and keep it dragged that would secure us a good dirt road for the next ten months.

Yours very respectfully,
