POULTRY

By J. T. Watkins

Well, we got stung on the meeting of the board of directors of the fair association, which was to be held last Saturday. It was not held, so we are no nearer the show than we were. We don't know what they are going to do. We can't tell if we will have room enough to house a show or not. Last year we were so crowded we didn't have room enough to whip a cat, and with the show growing each year we don't know what is going to happen. Another thing a poultry show cannot be held on the spur of the moment, we have got to have time to arrange our premium list, and get our donations and arrange for our special premiums, and the time is growing short. If we could get a definite answer that we would have more room, then we could go ahead and shape our show so that we would be ready.

A DESCRIPTION OF A "SCRUB BULL"

He is sired by "Mistake" and damned by every law-abiding, self-respecting dairyman from Penobscot Bay to the Golden Gate.

He is runty, mutt-headed and sway-backed. Nature certainly has bestowed a wonderful appetite upon him.

The one thing he can do best in the world is eat. As a medium of putting perfectly good feed out of sight he is a wonder.

From the front he looks like a water buffalo.

From the rear he looks like a giraffe.

From the side he looks like an overgrown Hungarian nanny goat.

He is ambitious, but we understand he has lost his standing and his company is not desired by respectable dairy cows in most localities.—Progressive Farmer.

An effort is being made to place a good registered Jersey bull in every community in the county, and it is our purpose to rid the county of bulls like the above described animal.

Why not make Fulton county a scrub sire free county. It can be done and I believe our breeders have just about decided that it is time to sell every scrub sire in the county.

If your community has not got good purebred sires, let us know and we will do all possible to help you get started.

of the year you can tell where you are. You can easily see if you have won or lost and how much.

Well, MAYBE by next week we will be able to say just what kind of a chicken show will be held this fall—I don't know.

High School Notes

Joseph Williams, Avery Hancock and Juano Mays returned last week from Lexington, where they were victorious in the piano, American history, and mathematics contests. This is a splendid record for any school to win first place in every entry and this is what Fulton high did.

The American history class, of which these pupils are members, will give a banquet in their honor at the Usona hotel on next Tuesday night. The details of this banquet are being worked out by a committee composed of Robert Binford, Clanton Boyd, Cornelius Edwards, Lucille Smith and Mary Nelle Nall.

The Juniors presented their play, "The Hidden Guest," Tuesday night, in the New Science Hall. All the cast, and Miss Lisa Crittenden, the director, certainly deserve credit for the hard work which they have put on the play. Those participating in the play were Annie Laura McWhorter, Hazel Pewitt, Stella Seates, Elizabeth Williamson, Juanita Barger, Daron Grissom, Charles Kramer, Clyde Stephenson, Alton Wade and M. L. Parker. "Melons," played by Juanita Barger, unfolded the plot to the play when a debutante, a college boy and an escaped convict, suddenly and unknown to one another, invaded the home of a spinster.

The play ended in a comedy. All the characters were very well suited to their roles.

Increasing interest is being manifested in the coming spring meet, which will be held here in early May. It has been decided to have all the preliminaries over by the third of May.

The seniors are hard at work on their play, "Daddy Long Legs," which will be presented about the second week in May.

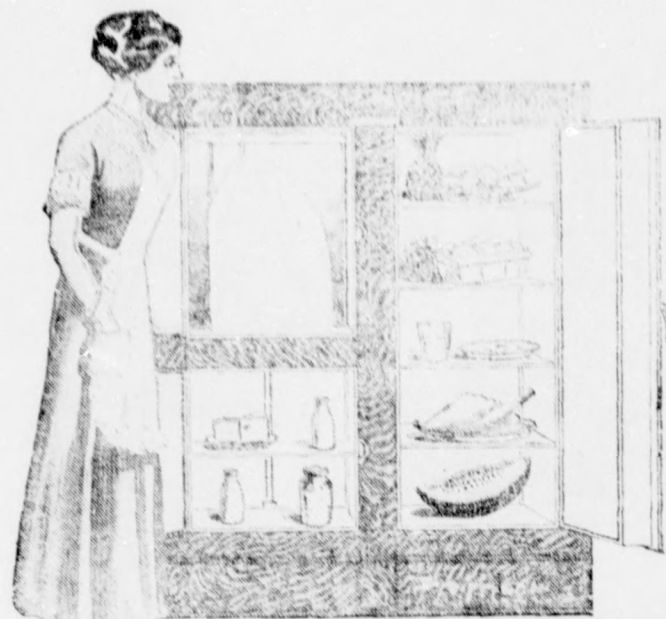

Miss McMinn, of the Domestic Science Department, gave the closing story of Grand Opera Week on last Friday, by telling the story of the opera, "Madame Butterfly." This is a pathetic story of the love and fidelity of Madame Butterfly for the American Captain, Lieutenant Pinkerton. When he leaves Japan, Mr. Pinkerton tells her he will return to her when the robins build their nests. After waiting for him three years, and seeing him return to Japan with his American wife, Kate, Madame Butterfly places her child, with an American flag, in his tiny hand, on a pillow, and stabs herself. This opera is a picture of old Japan with all its flowers and legends.

It is with much regret that the high school learns of the resignation of Mr. W. L. Swann who has been our principal for the past two years. Mr. Swann is planning to take an advanced course of study preparatory to becoming a college professor.

AT ORPHEUM THEATRE

There is something we want to tell you. Victor McLaglen, in company with Leatrice Joy, Clyde Cook and Slim Summer-ville, will be at the Orpheum tonight, and that is not all we want to tell you. On Monday and Tuesday, April 22-23, William Fox's great super special, "Fazil," with Charles Farrell, and Greta Nissen, will be the screen attraction at the Orpheum.

The picture is described as a romance of Arabia and the Paris boulevards, based on the Continental stage success, "L'Insoumise," by Pierre Frondaie. In his role of Arabian prince, the story takes Farrell through Parisian night clubs, Venetian canals, and Oriental harems. Greta Nissen portrays a Paris society girl. The principal theme is the conflict of Oriental and Occidental standards of domestic morality. It was directed by Howard Hawks, who produced the romantic film, "Paid to Love."

Moving Day

For many years May 1 was moving day in Fulton and in many other towns throughout the country, but there will be no more movings next Wednesday than on other days throughout the year. 50 or more years ago April 1 was the moving day, probably because the rural population was greater in comparison with that of the cities and towns and because it was necessary for the farmers to begin their season's work as early in the year as possible.

There are good reasons for the abandonment of May 1 as moving day. Probably the principle one was the impossibility of obtaining trucks and wagons to transport the household furniture and other personal property. Another reason was the impossibility of getting telephone, electric lights and water connection and disconnection in a single day.

Nowadays there are more houses and apartments available, and hence no necessity for the family to wait to move in until another family has moved out. More families own their homes and are no longer obliged to rent them. So it has come about that May Day is no longer the popular moving day. Painters, paper hangers, carpenters and plasterers are no longer overloaded with work for a few weeks in springtime.

The best plan, of course, is for every family to own its home and not move at any time.

The Ubiquitous Fly

Swatting the fly is meritorious practice, but swatting the fly's breeding places is far better. The best way to swat the fly is to eliminate, in and about the household, the places where it breeds, and the best time for this work of elimination is the present. A little spring cleaning is worth more than a lot of summer swatting.

Exposed garbage and filth in general represent the most prolific fly-breeding spots. Millions of these germ-carrying, filthy, annoying insects can be produced from a small accumulation of rotting refuse. Owing to individual carelessness in this direction, countless flies are each year bred to spread their damage.

There is no possibility of going too far in the elimination of potential fly breeding conditions, for the fly's death-dealing power is not exaggerated. It is probable that 50,000 deaths annually in the United States can be traced directly to infections brought by flies. Then the fly, there is no deadlier enemy of infancy and no greater obstacle to the reduction of the infant death rate.

The annual war on the fly must start early if this pest is not to spoil the spring, summer and fall for everybody. Housewives who do not relish fly-specked ceilings and flies in their iced tea will superintend an early clean up and early erection of summer screens.

Why should we think of posterity? It probably won't think much of us.

It is easy to think of something to say after it is too late to say it.

Judging from the divorce news, about the worst thing one can put on a love letter is stamps.

Loaning money improves the memory.

Beautifying Our Community

There is no more appropriate time than the present to aid nature in her work of beautification.

Every good citizen will find some time and give some thought to the planting of trees, flowers and shrubs at this season of the year when nature is so kind and beneficent.

Just a little effort and care on the part of the people of Fulton in the planting and cultivation of such ornaments and adornments will bring joy and satisfaction and will make this community a more attractive place to visitors.

It is unfair not alone to the present, but to the future as well, not to devote some money and energy to the beautifying of lawns.

We can make our community so alluring that none will want to leave it and that all who come within its gates will be captivated by its beauty and want to stay permanently.

When Brakes Are Needed.

In the early days of automobiles, when the world was in the horse and buggy age, a horn was probably essential. Today, in most cases, it is used by drivers in lieu of brakes, and thus it is not only annoying, but extremely dangerous. Many drivers today dash through a populated district without abating their speed one bit, sounding their horns almost continuously so that they may take the right of way by reason of their insistence and their recklessness.

The difficulty is that many drivers think that the sounding of a horn is the mark of a careful driver and is to be commended rather than condemned. Such, however, is not the case; the good driver is so careful himself and has his car so constantly under control that he has absolutely no need of a warning signal. If he is approaching a dangerous intersection he need not sound a long blast on his noisemaker, but approaches the crossing at low speed and makes certain that it is safe to proceed before he does so.

Room at the Top

In a few short weeks hundreds of thousands of boys and girls will graduate from high schools and colleges and face a world in which opportunities are almost endless. For it is one of the paradoxes of civilization that the more opportunities are utilized, the more new ones are thereby created.

The automobile, for example, has created a new field for the exercise of human ingenuity, while the byproducts of this invention are amazing in their reach and scope. It might seem to the young graduate that everything worthwhile has been invented, discovered or utilized. Yet there is not a thing that contributes to human welfare and comfort, not a stick of furniture, not a household necessity, but is capable of improvement.

There is still a big field for human enterprise in the trifles which others pass by. Men have made fortunes out of the commonest and meanest things; scraps of leather, slag, junk, grit and the byproducts of mine and mill.

Opportunities? They are all around us. There is power lying latent everywhere waiting for the observant eye and the ingenious mind. Find out what the world needs and then supply that want. The patent office at Washington is filled with useless inventions and discoveries that have wasted human time and energy without adding a single dollar of wealth to the world. Do not add your bit to this mountain of wasted effort.

The greatest hindrance to advancement in life is the lack of inclination to take pains. The great things of the world have not been done by men of large means but of large vision. They have usually started where they stood, as Edison began his experiments in a baggage car when a newsboy.

There's plenty room at the top. The history of America seems like the last effort of Providence in behalf of the human race. Never before were such fine openings, chances and opportunities. This is especially true for girls and young women. Emerson said: "The world is no longer clay, but rather iron in the hands of its workers, and men have to hammer out a place for themselves by steady and rugged blows."

IT CANNOT BE DONE

How man clings to life and its joys! One of the richest men on earth has been heard to say that he would give well-nigh all he possesses for a healthy, normal stomach. Quacks line their pockets with easy gold by merely holding out the hope that by a gland transplantation the old may be made young again. He who has lived to 60 or better and finds the fires of youth cooling like embers on the hearthstone, fondly believes that he would gain something could he recover the physical abilities of youth and couple them with the ripened experiences of elderly manhood.

Fallacious folly! Man walks the way but once, unless it be a fact indeed that his soul transmigrates and in another shape and time he returns to earth. If this were not true, then it would be possible for man to realize physical immortality; and we know that is impossible.

We experience youth but once, the rounded experience of manhood but once, the twilight hours of decadence but once, life and death but once. There can be no turning backward of the years, the hours or the minutes. That moment which elapsed between the reading of the last paragraph and this sentence has been rolled into the unnumbered centuries which mark the past. It will never return.

Youth but once! That is the sentence of deity. But it is not a hard sentence. It is possible to so live the days we have that even when the physical abilities are breaking down there remains a joy and gladness in the softening twilight hours which ripens one for the harvest and the heroic entrance into that magnificent experience which we are wont to believe awaits us beyond the tomb.

REACHING OUT FOR A GOAL

The average American community can become whatever it wants to become. This truth was uttered recently by a public speaker in discussing the possibilities of civic organization.

The fact that there are few limitations on development of a city or town has been demonstrated so many times that it scarcely needs reiteration.

But it has to be re-emphasized to refreshen the memories of those backward citizens who are pessimistic and have nothing but gloomy forebodings of the future.

Communities improve industrially but supporting and encouraging the industries within their own borders, and agriculturally by lending moral support to projects that will better the condition of those engaged in farming.

It has long since been proved a poor policy to offer large bonuses either in cash or favorable sites to pull industrial establishments away from other places.

If we have the thing that an industry wants, no inducement will be required. It will come if assured of the proper kind of treatment.

Any community can obtain any reasonable goal with the right attitude on the part of its citizens and hearty cooperation of everyone.

There would be no house shortage if an owner could brag about what a house does when he steps on 'er.

POULTRY

By J. T. Watkins

One of the early writers once said, "In the bright lexicon of youth, there is no such word as fail." We hope he was right. We are not exactly youths, but neither are we old. The poultry association was organized five years ago and held their first show in a house 25x48, but in the four years they have held their shows they have grown until last year the show was the largest in point of entries within a radius of 100 miles, even surpassing Jackson, Tenn., which is a West District show of Tennessee, and receives entries from all over the world. No one is exempt. While our show is confined to five surrounding counties, still we had more chickens than we had room for and not enough coops to properly display what we did have entered. The prospects this year are even brighter than they were last year. There have been organized in this and Obion counties, 4H club members enough to enter at least 200 birds. And they have been promised they could show at the Fulton fair, for this is the only fair in Western Kentucky. But where will we put them? I don't know. We have been for two months trying to get a definite answer whether we will have more room, but have failed so far. Maybe our lexicon of youth has not run its full course yet. I don't know. The time is getting short, only about four months now until the fair opens, almost too short a time to dally along and wait for a definite answer. The whole thing hangs on two of the fair directors. Maybe they don't appreciate the extent of the poultry industry in this county, but let me tell you if your tobacco crop fails, if your cotton does not make expenses, if your corn does not make you a profit, the little busy hen will pay your taxes and tide you over until next year. Within the next two or three years I feel like the poultry industry in this community will double itself, and when the farmer who comes to town to make his purchases he will have to pay for them with Chicken Money. All the big produce buyers are preaching, improve your flocks, produce more uniform stock, and receive a better price than you will for scrubs. But how can a breeder tell if he is improving his stock if he can't enter them in a good show, have them judged by a competent judge and compete against his neighbor?

If we can get a definite answer within the next few days we will get busy, and get up a better and bigger show than last year, but what is the use, if we haven't room to show them comfortably.

I had a new one sprung on me the other day. A little girl said, "I want to join your 4H club for next year, and I want some gingham chickens." I thought at first this was a new breed I had not come across yet, but found out later that she meant barred Plymouth Rocks.

Shakespeare says, "He who steals my purse, steals trash," but in the vernacular of the old Captain in the Katzenjammers, "He who steals my chickens, is a low lifer, and a snaker in der grass." I have only lost 15 of my hens lately.

The Farm and Factory, a little magazine issued by the Illinois Central System, for the month of March, contains quite a story on the care of the chick day by day, and for an illustration, they used a picture of one of the bunches of baby chicks being raised by Mrs. D. J. Perry, breeder of the Golden Glow Strain of Buff Orpingtons.

We have a few copies of this magazine at the Chamber of Commerce to give away to chicken raisers, if you will call for it.

COUNTY TEACHERS ARE APPOINTED

Board of Education Elects Teachers for Most of Schools

The County Board of Education at its regular April meeting elected the teachers for the county schools for next year, with a few exceptions. The position of principal at Sylvan Shade, and assistant principal at Cayce, are yet to be filled.

Because there are only 7 children to go to school in the Madrid Bend district, and the school is always interrupted by high waters, the board thought it best to transfer these pupils to the Tiptonville school and pay their tuition and transportation, instead of employing a teacher for Madrid Bend, so that school will be discontinued.

No action has yet been taken on the No. 8 Island school. The list of teachers follows:

Crutchfield: L. C. Cherry, principal; Mrs. J. C. Sugg, assistant; J. C. Sugg, Jr., Louise Roper and Winnie Cherry.

Sylvan Shade: Mary Prather, Mrs. C. L. Shaw, Katherine Bondurant and Evelyn Shaw.

Lodgston: Laverne Browder, principal; Jessie Lee Wade.

Sassafras Ridge: Louise French and Christine Jones, assistant if needed.

Roper: Mrs. Lillian C. Holland, principal; Julia Jeffress, Tyler: Opal Bryant.

Bondurant: Frances Prather, Walnut Grove: Mildred Nall, Montgomery: Mrs. Smotherman.

Beech Grove: Harold Shaw, Graves: Naomi Rice, Fairview: Effie Fields, Palestine: John Byrd, Taylor: Cecil Cruce.

McFadden: Mrs. Jim Dawes, Blue Pond: Marion Champion.

Stubbs: Elizabeth Whipple, Sycamore: Juanita Brooks.

VAUGHN TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Johnnie Vaughn, 19, of Union City, who shot and killed his "love rival," Roland Bell, 21, after waylaying him on a deserted road in Obion county, March 10, 1928, must take his seat in the electric chair in the death house at Nashville, on May 28, unless Governor Horton comes to his rescue with a commutation of sentence and such a move is not expected. However, defense attorneys are determined to go before Governor Horton in an appeal for mercy.

Vaughn, together with Edward Daniels, 20, stopped Bell on a road near Union City. Bell was in a buggy and by his side was Miss Angie Stone, the girl over whose affection the fatal rivalry is said to have existed. Vaughn whipped out a pistol, the girl testified, and fired as Daniels held the reins of the horse. Then he calmly took her home in his automobile, leaving Bell dead. Later that night he was captured at his home, but spirited to Jackson for fear of mob violence. He escaped prison and was captured again and later taken to Memphis and placed in jail for safe keeping.

Daniels, who was tried as an accomplice, was given 11 years, but later won a new trial.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Salvation Cost.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Suffering Savior.

This prophecy is the grand center of the Old Testament. The bond servant of Jehovah with great wisdom gloriously executes the divine purpose at the cost of great suffering.

I. The Servant's Triumph (52:13-15). By the servant here is meant the coming Messiah (42:1).

1. His wisdom (v. 13).

"He will deal prudently," for his name is "Counselor" (9:6). He was filled with the spirit of wisdom and understanding (11:2).

2. He shall be exalted (v. 13). He was to be exalted and magnified because he was the "Mighty God (9:6), even Immanuel." Because of Christ's devotion to His task of redemption, God has highly exalted Him and given Him a name which is above every name (Phil. 2:9).

3. The appearance of the Servant (v. 14).

Because of His marred "visage," He wholly disappointed the expectation of the carnal minds who looked for outward signs of royalty and worldly greatness. Jesus, as Jehovah's servant, was tortured and beaten by men as He went about doing the business committed to him.

4. The issue of His ministry (v. 15). "He shall sprinkle many nations." This reveals Him as the great High Priest sprinkling the nations with His blood, cleansing them from their sins. Just as the people were astonished with the silence of Jesus in the midst of His shameful treatment, so shall the kings and great men of the earth be dumb before Him when the suffering Servant shall be exalted.

II. The Servant Despised and Rejected (53:1-3).

1. The unbelief of the Jews (v. 1). (1) They disbelieved the words of the prophets.

(2) They did not recognize the hand of the Lord in the miracles and wonders which He wrought.

2. The origin of the Servant (v. 2). He sprang out of the stump of Judaism. The sad condition of the people at that time is expressed by "dry corn."

3. The Man of Sorrows (v. 3). He was afflicted and rejected.

III. The Vicarious Suffering of the Servant (53:4-6).

1. His griefs and sorrows were ours (v. 4). "His awful suffering was looked upon by the world as occasioned by sin—"we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted."

2. He was beaten for us (v. 5). That which was our due was meted out to Him. Observe the words, "wounded," "bruised," "despised," "stripes"—how awful they picture His treatment, and yet "our" shows that His suffering was vicarious.

3. The reason for (v. 6). All humanity, Jews and Gentiles, had gone astray. God laid upon Him the iniquity of us all.

IV. The Death of the Servant (53:7-9).

1. The strange silence (v. 7). He opened not His mouth. He went as a lamb to the slaughter. "He answered them never a word, inasmuch that the governor marvelled greatly" (Matt. 27:14).

2. Unconcern of multitude (v. 8). They failed to discern the fact that He suffered in their stead.

3. Buried with the wicked and the rich (v. 9).

The prophecy was fulfilled in His crucifixion between two thieves and burial in Joseph's tomb.

V. The Servant's Ultimate Victory (vv. 10-12).

1. His sufferings expressed the divine will (v. 10).

The Lord Himself laid this burden upon Him, and through His sufferings the law was vindicated and redemption was accomplished.

2. A spiritual progeny resulted from His death (v. 10).

The fundamental law of the universe, which is life out of death, found supreme expression in His death on the cross (John 12:24).

3. Through death shall come to realization His fondest hope (v. 11). He shall see the travail of His soul and shall be satisfied.

4. The divine reward (v. 12). The divine Conqueror shall share the spoils of victory.

He Bares Our Sicknesses

When the even was come, they brought unto Him many that were possessed with devils; and He cast out the spirits with His word, and healed all that were sick; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.—Matthew 8:16, 17.

Dresden Highway Will be Rebuilt.

Hickman, Ky., April 25—In an appeal to the state highway commissioner, C. W. Craig, of Paducah, by the Fiscal court of this county, and county judge, Judge W. L. Hampton, Mr. Craig promised to rebuild and take over for maintenance the Dresden road out of Hickman to Union City, Tenn., rebuilding it to the Tennessee line. The Tennessee highway commission will complete the road to Union City. This is the next construction project for Fulton county and every effort is being made to get this road built.

The road will have to be relocated, according to information from District Highway Engineer Shobe to Mr. Craig and the Fulton county committee. It is figured that the Dresden road will cost $90,000. The road probably will be started this year and finished next year.

Sunday's Hail Storm

Strawberry and Peach Crops Believed to Have Suffered Heavily

A loss of thousands of dollars probably will result from the damage caused to fruit crops of McCracken county by the hail storm which swept through that county and others of western Kentucky Sunday afternoon, according to W. C. Johnstone, McCracken county agent.

The hail storm lasted only a short while, but it was described as one of the severest on record in this vicinity. The storm was generally widespread, but the damage was more heavily in some sections than in others. According to reports from various sections, the southwestern part of McCracken county in the vicinity of Heath and Ragland and in the territory close to Lovelaceville suffered most from the hail. Hail stones covered the ground to a depth of about two inches for a stretch of 3 miles in the vicinity of Lovelaceville, farmers who witnessed the storm said. The storm also took heavy toll in the section below Kevil in Ballard county.

It is impossible to definitely estimate the loss in dollars at this time, County Agent Johnstone said, as some of the damaged fruit and plants may recover.

Practically all fruits and other growing plants were damaged by the hail. It is feared that the strawberry and peach crops suffered heavily. The strawberry plants were beaten to the ground and the berries bruised. The buds of peach, cherry and apple trees were bruised and broken. Young vegetable gardens shared in the damage.

Comparatively light damage is thought to have resulted from the storm in this county.

A hail storm of severe violence visited Murray. Considerable damage was done. The gardens and flowers were badly beaten, and several windows were broken. The storm lasted about 15 minutes after which a number of residents reported they had raked large size tubs full of the stones from their porches.

"IT" GIRL HITS WITH GLYN TALE

"Three Week Ends" Hailed As Popular Star's Greatest Moving Picture

Paramount has added another winner to the list of pictures which are making 1929 "Paramount's Greatest Year."

"3 Week Ends," Clara Bow's new Elinor Glyn picture which will open at the Grand theatre for Monday and Tuesday is the latest thing from this studio and it is a new sensation.

People are talking about "3 Week Ends" as they talked about "IT" the first one of the Clara Bow-Elinor Glyn combination and about the second, "Red Hair." It is a cyclone of love, laughs and legs with the Bow personality whirling all through it.

Why spend "Three Weeks" learning about love when "Three Week Ends" can teach "IT" in one evening? Clara Bow snaps things up in this story of a little East Side girl who gets a job dancing in a cabaret and dances right into the hearts of a rich playboy and a poverty-stricken salesman. She gets away with a lot on the playboy but she just gives and gives to the salesman.

There are pathos, fun, romance and melodrama in this story. Neil Hamilton is the leading man and Harrison Ford has an important part. The supporting cast has a group of established favorites and, at least, one surprise.

Get Lice and Mites Before Hot Weather

Successful poultry raisers are careful to do away with lice and mites before hot weather, notes J. R. Smyth, of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

A simple method of killing lice is to paint the top of the roost poles with nicotine sulphate or black leaf 40. This can be done by putting a small stream of the solution on the poles and then spreading it with a feather. Do this about half an hour before the birds go to roost. The nicotine fumes float up through the feathers of the birds and kill the lice. Be sure that all birds get on roosts that have been treated.

Lice also can be treated by dusting the birds with sodium fluoride or dipping them in a solution of a pound of sodium fluoride to 10 gallons of water.

Mites live in cracks and crevices and attack the birds when they are on their roosts and nests. Clean the house thoroughly and spray it with a coal-tar dip or with a mixture of oil drained from the crank case of an automobile mixed with an equal amount of kerosene. Be sure the spray material goes into all cracks and crevices, and paint the roost poles with it.

Is your machinery ready for the harvest?

Now's the time. Go over your equipment. Oil it, paint it and HAVE BROKEN PARTS WELDED. Why pay good money for new parts? Oxy-acetylene welding will repair anything of metal that is broken or worn. No delays—small cost. The parts will fit. A welded part is as good as new.
