Opposition To Rezoning Request Heard

Strong opposition was heard last night by the Murray Planning Commission at a public hearing on a rezoning request for a lot at the corner of Williams and Main Street.

The request came from Bill Coker, who owns the lot, requesting a zoning change to allow the construction of a duplex apartment.

Several area residents appeared before the board, opposing the zoning change, saying it would increase the population density and traffic of the area, and would decrease property values in the neighborhood.

Action on the issue was postponed by the planning commission, and will probably be taken up at the next meeting.

Conditional approval was given to the final plat of the Northwood Subdivision, on Highway 641 North. A public hearing on the issue failed to produce strong opposition to the project, but conditions were spelled out for compliance within a few days.

Rezoning requests were also heard for two houses north of Roberts Realty on South 12th St. Public hearings were scheduled for the two separate requests for the next planning commission hearing. The requests asked for a professional office designation for the two houses.

A discussion was held on the progress of the four-laning of 12th Street through Murray. A progress report was given by planner Dan Grimes, who said that the earliest possible completion date would be in the fall of 1981. The progress report was asked for by the commission to assist them in making decisions on several zoning change requests on 12th Street.

Copy Of 'This Is Kentucky' Is Presented To MSU Library

The first copy of "This Is Kentucky" a book by author-artist Robert A. Powell depicting Kentucky's heritage since 1774 in pen-ink drawings, has been presented to Murray State University by former Lt. Governor Harry Lee Waterfield of Frankfort.

Seventy-five places and activities significant to the development of Kentucky are pictured in the 148-page book along with accompanying essays by the artist. They represent considerable investment in research and travel time across the state securing the information and inspirations for the drawings.

Waterfield, a 1932 graduate of Murray State and a former member of its board of regents, calls the book "a Bicentennial masterpiece in words and pictures, an invaluable history book for the home library."

"This Is Kentucky" is an outgrowth of Powell being commissioned by the Investors Heritage Life Insurance Company, Frankfort, to do a series of historical drawings for the company's home office.

Waterfield is president and chairman of the boards of Kentucky Investors, Inc., and Investors Heritage Life Insurance of Frankfort. He also is chairman of the boards of Investors Heritage companies in Ohio and South Carolina.

The popularity of the original exhibit in the company's home office has prompted Investors Heritage officials to share the art by releasing collector prints. Investors Heritage holds the copyrights on each drawing and is releasing a limited edition of only 50 copies signed and numbered by the artist, a native of the Bluegrass country of Kentucky.

The subjects depicted in the book have been carefully selected to cover all areas of Kentucky to include extremely important, but often overlooked, bits of the state's heritage. The drawings and topics are indexed according to subject matter and by prominent individuals involved. They also are plotted on a map for easy geographical reference.

The first printing of "This Is Kentucky" is a collector's edition of only 500 copies. Each book in this edition has been personally numbered and autographed by the artist-author. A general release of 5,000 copies will follow the collector's edition.

The first-copy book will be placed in the University Library at Murray State among Waterfield's collection of personal papers and mementos from his 30 years in public service and politics. They were deposited at the University in 1969.

Court Orders Longshoremens To Resume Loading Russian Grain

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Under a federal court order, longshoremens here resumed loading grain today aboard a ship bound for the Soviet Union.

The longshoremens had stopped loading wheat aboard a Yugoslav freighter, the Bosanka, in the Port of Houston late Monday, contending the sale of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union would cause domestic food prices to increase.

U.S. District Court Judge James Noel granted the West Gulf Maritime Shippers Association a temporary restraining order Tuesday night after being told by lawyers for the international Longshoremens Association — ILA — the workers "would not return without a court order."

Noel then scheduled a hearing for today on the shippers' plea for a permanent injunction aimed at preventing future work stoppages involving the loading of grain purchased by the Soviet Union.

ILA officials said Tuesday their international headquarters had said to halt loading such grain "until there is assurance the sale of this wheat would not be inimical to the American people."

Noel's order applied to longshoremens from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., but those in Houston were the only ones immediately affected.

The shippers asked Noel to order the longshoremens to live up to the terms of their contract, which forbids work stoppages.

Hearing Held In Murder Case At Paris Tuesday

One of two Murray men accused of the shotgun slaying of Henry County community leader Travis Lax waived preliminary hearing in General Sessions Court in Paris, Tn., Tuesday. The hearing for the older was postponed to Aug. 28.

Paris attorney Brown Hawley, appointed to defend Terry M. Compton, 22, was granted a continuance by Judge Millard Kesterson Jr. to allow more time for preparation.

The other defendant, Donald Ray Scott, 20, waived his right to a preliminary hearing. That sends to the Grand Jury the evidence against him on four charges: first degree murder, assault with intent to commit murder, and two counts of second-degree burglary.

Scott is represented by Marvin Morton, Paris attorney.

In a surprise development, Hawley also presented a motion asking General Sessions Judge Millard Kesterson Jr. to step down from the case since he had already issued warrants in connection with the case and, in so doing, had heard some evidence that would give him prior knowledge of the case.

Kesterson denied the motion and said he would remain on the bench for the preliminary hearing.

Compton and Scott are accused of fatally wounding Lax and seriously injuring his wife, Dathel, on Aug. 4 as the Laxes returned from a night community meeting. The Laxes allegedly surprised the two attempting to burglarize the Lax home on Rabbit Creek Road, near Buchanan.

Lax was killed with two shotgun blasts in the front yard of his home. Mrs. Lax was shot once in the shoulder.

Compton and Scott were arrested later that night in Kentucky from a description of their car supplied to sheriff's deputies by a couple who happened on the scene of the crime.

Both Compton and Scott are being held without bond. The hearing for Compton is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 28.

Mrs. Robert W. Hahs' home was chosen as August Yard of the Month by the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club.

Chosen For August Honor

The lawn of Mrs. Robert W. Hahs, 105 South Eighth Street has been chosen August Yard of the Month by the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club.

An example of a controlled natural setting, the yard is marked with attractive cypress fences at the front, back, and one side, with a privet hedge running the length of the other side.

Pyracanthas are planted behind the front fence, with yuccas at each side of the circular driveway which is bordered with liriope. Walnut, birch and dogwood trees provide shade, and foundation plantings include yews, hollies, azaleas, and leatherleaf.

A deck, with foundation plantings of bush honeysuckle, shelters a great variety of potted plants and overlooks the back. This area has several interesting focal points including a bird feeder surrounded with wooden planters of red geraniums and impatiens. Many additional pots of ferns, begonias and other plants are placed at differing levels near or hanging from the high fence at the side.

Pines and hollies provide a background for hostas, marigolds, and golden glow which border a shallow bricked drainage ditch. A walk leads to a circular bricked sitting area near the wooded back of the lawn where a bed of tansy and daylilies is located.

Vinca-covered mounds provide contours, as do areas planted with azaleas and evergreens marked with logs, and cross ties. Bamboo grows along the back fence, and two large crepe myrtles and a hackberry tree add color to the peaceful atmosphere.

Food Co-op Started; Now Sells Art Work

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — About 2½ years ago Pat Coates and her daughter, Sandi Piccini, got interested in doing something about the high cost of food. To sidestep the consumer traps they feel are set by the big food conglomerates, they started a modest food cooperative which they operated out of their homes.

It started with 17 families and has reached its goal of 34. As the food co-op blossomed several artists contacted the women and requested that they promote their art works in addition to handling food. Soon the home was inadequate for the operation. Now they are installed in a nondescript South San Francisco warehouse. Dozens of artists use their services. In addition to the paintings there are sculptures, antique furniture and even an aquarium.

In consumer circles they have become such experts in handling food cooperatives, that they have become consultants for other groups who want to get into that money-saving business.

Jeans Wiz

SEEING DOUBLE—A trend in this summer's ready-to-wear and homesewing fashions is two zippers in front. It's said to give fashions a slimmer line with accents at the waist. Of course it's also the functional closing of the garment. Homesewing pattern books show it in skirts; these jeans are readymade.

Teacher in School Daze A Problem for Family

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for five years and have two children. Ward is 26 and I'm 25. Ward teaches sixth grade students, and he loves his work. That's the trouble: he loves it too much. All summer, he mooned around like a lovesick calf saying how much he missed his "kids." He has two children of his own who could use a little more of his attention. Last semester, Ward talked endlessly about one of his girl students. He would even call her on the phone to visit with her in the evenings. He says it's not exactly a "physical" attraction, but he would like to see her mature and blossom, and he would even like to have a hand in choosing her husband! Is this normal for a husband and father, Abby? On weekends he'd get "the blues" and could hardly wait for Monday so he could get back to his "kids." And on Fridays he would get the blues again. I think it's wonderful for a man to love his work so much, but he makes me feel as though the children and I are a drag. Do you think his feelings for his "kids" at school have reached a dangerous point? Please tell me what to do about this.

WORRIED WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband is either very immature or dangerously involved (emotionally) with his work. He needs counseling to get his priorities in order. Urge him to get it, fast.

DEAR ABBY: My father makes a lot of mistakes when he talks. He says, "He don't," and, "They was." I am only 14 and happen to believe that it is never too late for a person to learn. My father is only 34, and he was born in this country.

Sometimes I correct him in front of people because if I wait and tell him later, he claims he never said it, and a fight develops. My father has a hot temper and hates to be corrected, especially in front of people. Shouldn't adults take criticism with a smile and appreciate it even if it does come from a 14-year-old kid? JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: No one, regardless of his age, appreciates criticism from a 14-year-old kid in front of others. Your intentions may be good, but your timing is poor. Cool it.

DEAR ABBY: No one would think of dropping in on his minister without calling first to set up an appointment, right? So why do ministers think they have the right to drop in on their parishioners without any advance notice just because they happen to be in the neighborhood? One afternoon last week, I entertained some out-of-town friends and served some of my homemade apple cider. I am not a big drinker, but it was very warm that day, so I had more than I should have—and on an empty stomach, yet. Well, no sooner had my guests departed when my minister rang the bell. I don't remember what I said, but I do recall that I babbled on and on and just couldn't quit talking. The minister couldn't get a word in edgewise. I am sure I made a perfect fool out of myself. Anyway, now I can't look him in the eye. I hope you put this in your column because I know he reads you, and I want him to know that I don't usually sip cider in the afternoons—also, if he ever calls again, to please phone first.

Bridesmaids Luncheon Held At Jones' Home For Miss Crider

A luncheon for the bridesmaids and special guests of Miss Kathy Crider was held at the home of Mrs. Conrad H. Jones on Wells Boulevard on Friday, August 15. Miss Crider was married to George E. Long II on August 16.

Hostesses for the prenuptial occasion were Mrs. Howard Titsworth, Mrs. Jack Beale Kennedy, Mrs. Rex Alexander, and Mrs. Jones.

The luncheon tables were covered with cloths of linen-lace and centered with ceramic baskets of yellow daisies. Places were set for ten guests including Mrs. Albert Crider, mother of the bride, Mrs. Bob Long, Sr., stepmother of the groom, and Mrs. Bob Long, Jr.

Miss Crider wore an aqua knit dress and was presented a corsage of daisies by the hostesses. As a memento of her wedding, Miss Crider gave each of her attendants a silver bracelet.

Party Planned At Country Club

An "End of the Summer" party for the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade members of the Murray Country Club will be held Friday, August 22, from 6:30 to eight p. m. at the club. Mrs. Sue McCoart, chairman, said a charge of fifty cents per person will be made, and that each member may invite three guests.

Local Scene

BLANCHING IS IMPORTANT
When it comes to freezing vegetables, UK Extension food specialists emphasize that blanching is one of the most important steps to keep that just-picked flavor. If you don't do it, enzymes in the fresh vegetables will cause them to keep right on maturing, even when they're frozen. Dipping them in boiling water for the recommended time stops this enzyme action. For blanching most vegetables, use at least one gallon of water for each pound of vegetables. Peppers are that only vegetable that doesn't need blanching. Start counting time as soon as your lower vegetables into the boiling water. When blanching time is up, plunge them into cold running water right away to cool.

Timeout With Brandon

By MIKE BRANDON
Sports Editor

Great Lakes To Feature Great Talent

Johnny Reagan will be watching, professional scouts will be watching and so will hundreds of baseball fans today when the Great Lakes Regional American Legion Tournament begins at Holland Stadium.

In the first contest at 1:30 p. m. today, Indiana will play Wisconsin.

South Bend is the Indiana champion and they will carry a 29-9 record into the tournament. In post-season tournament play, they posted a 9-0 record. James Vile is the Wisconsin champion and they went 38-5 on the season.

In the second contest, Michigan will play Kentucky at 5:30 p. m.

Drayton Flains is the Michigan champion and they are 24-1 on the season. They went 16-0 on the regular season before losing a game in the District Tourney. Corbin is the Kentucky champion. They defeated Paducah in a best two-of-three playoff series. Corbin is 29-9 on the season.

The final contest today will begin at approximately 8:30 p. m. and will feature Murray's Legion team against Worthington, Ohio. Worthington posted a 33-8 record while Murray, the host team, was 13-15 on the regular season.

The Illinois champs, Belleville, drew a first day bye and will play at 1:30 p. m. Thursday against the Michigan-Kentucky winner. Belleville went 32-10 on the season.

If Murray should win tonight, they would play at 8:30 p. m. Thursday against the winner of the Indiana-Wisconsin contest. If Murray loses, they would play at 5:30 p. m. Thursday against the loser of the Indiana-Wisconsin game.

It should be an interesting tournament. The short fence in leftfield at Holland Stadium will be a welcome sight for power hitters who swing from the right side. It's 290 down the line in left but drops back to 310 in right. Anybody who hits the ball out in dead center could run around the bases until Sunday.

Both diamonds (Reagan Field will be used for a couple of games) are in super shape. Hours on top of hours have been volunteered and the Murray American Legion Post 73 along with Cleo Sykes is to be congratulated for such an outstanding job.

Looking Ahead

The fun will start next week. That's when students begin registering at Murray State University and the annual fall explosion of sports begins.

Among the sports this fall at Murray State are football, cross country, baseball, soccer and women's volleyball. In addition, the golf team will have several matches and the tennis team could be playing.

Football?

We'll get into that in the next few weeks but the outlook at Murray State is very bright. The major problem will be replacing All-American tailback Don Clayton but there are a bundle of super prospects, including freshman Joe Riley of Owensboro.

Cross country will be strong of course but Western Kentucky will again dominate the scene with their English Brigade. Murray should be second in the league this year.

Baseball is never a question mark at Murray State. Last year, the 'Breds ran up a 40-9 season record before being eliminated in the NCAA Playoffs in Starkville, Miss.

They were ranked 12th in the nation among major colleges and with the addition of several super prospects, should be outstanding again this season. Coach John Reagan will soon be releasing those names.

Soccer is always one of the most interesting and probably the fastest-pace sport on campus. It's always fun to spend a Saturday afternoon watching a soccer game. You usually get to see a couple of boxing exhibitions thrown in free too.

Women's volleyball has always been strong at Murray and this year should be no exception. And golf, although Bruce Douglass is gone, will be on the upswing.

It should be an exciting year for sports and hopefully, it will be as successful as this past one.

Pirates Snap Losing Skid, Cardinals Win

Bill Virdon and the Pittsburgh Pirates are back in business ... but at opposite ends of the National League.

The Pirates, who had lost six in a row and 11 of their last 12 games, blanked the San Francisco Giants 4-0 behind Jerry Reuss' three-hit pitching and reclaimed sole possession of first place in the NL East.

Meanwhile, Virdon, who managed the Bucs in 1972-3, made his debut as pilot of the Houston Astros — dead last in the West and the only team in baseball without at least a mathematical chance at a division title — and directed them to a 6-3 loss at the hands of the New York Mets.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who had been tied with Pittsburgh, fell one game back when the Atlanta Braves beat them 6-4 on Dave May's two-run pinch homer in the ninth inning. The St. Louis Cardinals remained 2½ out by edging the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 as Willie Davis returned from five days of self-exile with two singles, a double and a triple and Lynn McGlothen hurled a four-hitter.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles

Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and the Montreal Expos trimmed the San Diego Padres 5-0.

Al Oliver drove in two runs with a homer and double and Richie Zisk also homered as the Pirates returned from a 2-12 road trip during which they squandered a four-game lead.

Mets 6, Astros 3
Del Unser and Wayne Garrett hit solo home runs and Jerry Grote had a two-run double as the Mets spoiled the debut of Virdon, who was fired earlier this month as manager of the New York Yankees and hired Tuesday to replace Preston Gomez with Houston.

Jon Matlack, who hadn't pitched in 17 days because of an auto accident and a head cold, blanked the Astros until the ninth when he gave up a double to Enos Cabell and two-out home runs to Cesar Cedeno and Cliff Johnson.

Braves 6, Phillies 4
May was sent up to bat for Max Leon, who pitched 6 1-3 shutout innings of relief as Atlanta wiped out an early 4-0 deficit. Rookie Rob Belloir had the single before May hit his game-winning homer off Gene Garber.

Cards 2, Reds 1
Davis, who had been on the disqualified list following an alimony dispute with his ex-wife, returned to help the Cards end Cincinnati's nine-game winning streak. Bake McBride singled and Davis doubled in the first inning and the Cards got the only runs McGlothen needed on singles by Ted Simmons and Ted Sizemore. McGlothen limited the Reds to two hits after the opening inning and struck out 10.

Dodgers 2, Cubs 1
Lee Lacy's triple and John Hale's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning produced the winning run while Don Sutton and Mike Marshall held Chicago to two hits. Sutton was lifted for a pinch hitter after allowing only one hit in six innings.

Expos 5, Padres 0
Steve Rogers scattered 10 hits and Montreal scored three unearned runs in the first inning on two errors, a passed ball, a walk and Larry Parrish's two-run double. Pete Mackanin homered for the Expos.

Veteran Ken Willard Released After 10 Seasons In League

By ALEX SACHARE

AP Sports Writer
It was cut-down day in the National Football League, and nowhere did the axe fall with more stunning impact than at the training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals, where 10-year veteran Ken Willard, one of the National Football League's all-time leading running backs, was told he was through for the year.

Willard, who ranks eighth among career rushers — and second among active players — with 6,105 yards, suffered damaged knee ligaments in the fourth game last season. He underwent surgery and came back to play briefly in the Cardinals' last three games of the season as well as their playoff contest.

He was looking forward to a big comeback in 1975, but instead he was placed on the injured reserve list by the Cardinals Tuesday, making him ineligible for the season.

Willard, 32, took the news bravely, but realistically. He's not ready to give up just yet. "I had every intention of retiring until as late as last night," he said. "But I've done a lot of soul-searching lately, and I'd decided I would stick it out and make it work.

"I envisioned that the knee would be as good as new. I tried to convince myself that it was 100 per cent, so I went out and really irritated it. There's been a significant amount of pain and discomfort."

NFL rosters had to be pared to 55 as of 4 p.m. Tuesday. The next cut is not until Sept. 2, when the magic number goes to 49. Then the numbers are 46 on Sept. 9 and the regular season limit of 43 on Sept. 15.

Defensive backs Steve Tannen of the New York Jets and Thom Darden of the Cleveland Browns and linebacker Wayne Coleman of New Orleans, all injured over the weekend, also were placed on the injured list and like Willard are out for the season.

Running back George Amundsen, a top draft choice in 1973 as a quarterback at Iowa State, was among four players dropped by the Houston Oilers.

Washington cut a couple of prominent names: wide receiver John Isenbarger, a one-time Big Ten rushing champion at Indiana who played last season with Hawaii of the World Football League, and Bill Malinchak, a 10-year veteran who drew attention for his spectacular play on special teams.

A sixth-round draft pick, defensive back Rollen Smith of Arkansas, was cut by Cincinnati. Denver dropped five players, including veteran linebackers Ralph Cindrich and Rob Spicer.

Four players were cut by Philadelphia, including third-year guard Mark Ellison. Baltimore sent rookie defensive tackle Paul Linford of Brigham Young to Green Bay for a draft choice and released four players, including second-year cornerback Tim Rudnik.

Atlanta reserve center Ted Fritsch, a three-year veteran, was another player placed on the injured list. The Falcons also dropped three players, including three-year veteran wide receiver Louis Neal.

Among the trio dropped by Kansas City was veteran offensive tackle Wayne Walton.

Clayton Cut By Patriots, Going To Bell

There's some good news and bad news for Don Clayton. Clayton, a native of Malden, Mo., and the holder of every rushing record in the football history of Murray State University, was cut by the New England Patriots.

However, Clayton was contacted Tuesday afternoon by Philadelphia of the World Football League. That's part of the good news.

The other part is that he will be starting in the backfield for the Bell in their next game.

Clayton racked up over 2,500 yards in his last two seasons at Murray State and as a junior, was selected as an All-American.

Roy Cothran Wins Club Championship At Oaks

Roy Cothran won the club championship at the Oaks Country Club over the weekend.

Playing 54 holes, Cothran fired a 215 to edge out Jerry Caldwell by a single stroke in the championship flight. Homer Branch was third with a 222 while Don Cothran's 225 earned fourth place.

Greg Howard carded a 153 over 36 holes to win the first flight while Jim White was second with a 155, Mitchell Story third with 156 and Mickey Bogges fourth with 160.

In the second flight, Delmer Brewer took honors with a 155 while Jerry Hopkins was second with a 162. In third place was Kevin Shahan with a 163 while Amos Tackett was fourth, also shooting a 163.

In the fourth flight, Ted Lawson had a 176 to win while Bob Lemastus had a 176 for second place, Billy Brandon posted a 179 for third and Bob Sanderson a 183 for fourth.

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK — New York Jets free safety Steve Tannen, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in Saturday night's 14-13 win over St. Louis, was placed on the National Football League's injured reserved list. He will be lost to the Jets for the entire season.

The Tigers are currently practicing and are working double sessions. Next week, they will go to single session practice in preparation for their first contest for the season which will be at Reidsland September 5.

Tigers Sharpen Claws And Attack A's Again

By FRED ROTHENBERG

AP Sports Writer
The Detroit Tigers have lost their losing habit but it looks like the Oakland A's have found it.

The toothless Tigers, who paced their way through 19 straight defeats, have suddenly found their bite and have roared back with four straight victories, the last two at the expense of the A's, who have scored as many as five runs only once in the last 12 games.

The reversal in form has even made a winner of Mickey Lolich, who contributed four losses to the Tigers' tailspin that fell one short of tying the American League record.

Lolich was losing even before the Tigers made it fashionable and his personal slide had reached eight games. But that was before the portly left-hander picked on the A's Tuesday night, allowing them nine hits and beating them 3-1.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota beat Baltimore 5-2; Chicago beat New York 7-6 in 11 innings; Boston blanked Kansas City 5-0, Texas shaded Cleveland 2-1, and California edged Milwaukee 5-4 in 15 innings.

For those looking for a clue why Lolich didn't lose another well-pitched game Tuesday night, he provided it. "I bore down with runners on base," Lolich said.

Alvin Dark wants his A's, 5½ games ahead of second-place

Kansas City in the AL West, to do some of that bearing down too. And he told them so in a post-game clubhouse meeting. He said he reminded the players about making fundamental mistakes. "This was the first game we've given away in a long time," the Oakland skipper said.

Twins 5, Orioles 2
Rookie Doug DeCinces was the most successful Baltimore batter against Minnesota pitcher Bert Blyleven but he had to work for it.

"I think Blyleven has better stuff than Nolan Ryan," DeCinces said after Blyleven had throttled the Orioles on five hits, two by DeCinces.

Blyleven, 33-6, retired the first 13 Orioles en route to the victory that dropped second-place Baltimore eight games behind Boston in the AL East Division. The triumph was Minnesota's ninth in 11 games.

Rangers 2, Indians 1
Texas Manager Frank Lucchessi went against the baseball book and lived to talk about it. That famous guide to winning baseball games warns never to put the winning run on base but Lucchessi ordered hot-hitting Boog Powell to be walked intentionally.

The strategy worked when Ed Crosby fled out to end the game, giving Texas' Jim Umbarger the winning decision over Cleveland's Dennis Eckersley in a rookie pitching duel.

White Sox 7, Yankees 6
Jorge Orta's single scored pinch runner Nyls Nyman in the 11th inning, lifting Chicago over New York.

Angels 5, Brewers 4
Mike Miley, whose seventh-inning RBI single tied the game 4-4, slugged a leadoff homer in the bottom of the 15th to power California past Milwaukee.

Red Sox 5, Royals 0
Bill Lee, 16-7, hurled a four-hitter and rookie Fred Lynn slammed a double and a two-run homer to lead Boston past Kansas City.

Lynn's homer, his 20th, raised his league-leading RBI total to 88.

Little League World Series To Begin

By PAUL CARPENTER

Associated Press Writer
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Today's opening of the 1975 Little League championships leaves a pair of controversies in apparent limbo.

Little League Baseball, Inc., a federally chartered organization, has been under fire on two fronts — its image as a bastion of male chauvinism and its seemingly callow decision to kick out foreign competition.

Little League officials worked hard to defuse the first controversy — dropping a ban on female players and devoting equal time, if not equal passion, to girls' softball in this year's tournament.

They don't appear too worried about the second flap, dismissing charges that the for-

Appointed Director

TORONTO (AP) — Bob Frampton has been appointed director of officials for the World Hockey Association and veteran referee Bill Friday has been named referee-in-chief, league chairman Ben Haskin announced Tuesday.

Frampton will be responsible for all phases of the officiating while Friday will be in charge of supervising, training and disciplining officials. Friday will continue to work in approximately 50-60 games this season, Haskin said.

Haskin also announced the appointment of Frank Palnaszek as director of information and statistics for the WHA. Palnaszek has been the league's chief statistician since it was founded.

eight teams were excluded because they were too talented for the Americans to handle.

The 1975 Little League Series — it used to be called the Little League World Series — will run four days with competition ending Sunday. Four boys' baseball teams and four girls' softball teams are entered. All players are 12 years old or younger.

Today's schedule includes Lakewood, N.J., against Northridge, Calif., in baseball, and Medford, Ore., versus Tampa, Fla., in softball.

On Thursday, another team from Tampa will meet Davenport, Iowa, in baseball, while softball play will feature Dix Hills, N.Y., against Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Losers will play consolation games Friday and winners will vie for the championship in each category Saturday.

The potent team from Kao Hsiung, Taiwan, winner of the 1974 series, will not be in town. It was the fourth straight Nationalist Chinese team to win the title, and Japanese teams won it in two of the three preceding years.

Outcries against the Nov. 11, 1974 exclusion of foreigners haven't exactly staggered Little League officials.

"In the press we received quite a lot of opposition to it. As far as the leagues were concerned, even in the foreign countries, there was not much reaction at all," said Dr. Creighton J. Hale, president of Little League Baseball, Inc.

"This week, for example, the Far Eastern tournament is being played in Taiwan for that regional championship, and it's being played in Canada this

Lyons Leaves Hospital Bed For Banquet Speech

By MIKE BRANDON
Lester Lyons, Murray Ledger & Times Sports Writer, gave up, just 18 months ago ending his 30 years in professional sports when he moved back to Murray to assume ownership of Rudy's Restaurant.

Hillman Lyons was the featured speaker Tuesday night at Murray State at the American Legion Great Lakes Tournament Banquet. And that in itself was unbelievable. Lyons has been in the hospital for over a week. He received several shots last night and then got out of his hospital bed to appear before the large crowd and speak at the banquet. A few minutes later, he was back again in the hospital. It's called courage. It's something few of us have but many of us want.

Lyons praised American Legion baseball: "More players come from the ranks of American Legion ball than from any other outlet, including high school and college. Lyons left sports in February of 1973 because he said the money madness of some athletes was beginning to ruin athletics. He told of an event in his life and urged the young athletes in the audience to remember.

TOURNEY BANQUET—The Great Lakes Regional Tournament got sent off Tuesday at Murray State with a banquet honoring the guest teams. At left is Sid Easley, Calloway County Attorney and the master of ceremonies. On the right is Hillman Lyons, who checked out of the hospital to speak to the audience and then checked back into the hospital at the conclusion of his speech.

Vilas Thinks Rest Has Added Spark

By The Associated Press
Guillermo Vilas credits a week's rest with adding some spark to his game. The 23-year-old Vilas, 1974 Grand Prix champion from Argentina and the top seed in the $100,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Longwood Cricket Club in Brookline, Mass., returned from a week away from the pro tour and overpowered Jose Higueras of Spain 6-2, 7-5 in a first round match Tuesday.

In other matches, fourth-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain ran his victory string to 13 consecutive matches by whipping Jairo Velasco of Colombia 6-3, 6-0, and seventh-seeded Raul Ramirez of Mexico scored a 6-4, 6-3 victory over NCAA champion Billy-Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif. In a first-round upset, Juan Gisbert of Spain saved three match points and defeated No. 16 seed Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 2-6, 6-3, 7-6. Gisbert won the third-set tie-breaker 9-7 in the 2½-hour duel.

Big Vic Amaya scored the first upset of the $50,000 Tennis Week Open by defeating fourth-seeded Sandy Mayer of Mendham, N.J., 6-3, 7-6 in first round play at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club in East Orange, N.J. The 6-foot-7, 225-pound senior at Michigan drew a long and loud ovation. Then he was helped from the building and taken back to the hospital. Several dignitaries were on hand, including Congressman Carroll Hubbard, state representative Richard Weisenberger and a representative from the governor's office.

County attorney Sid Easley served as the master of ceremonies for the event. The 1956 Murray American Legion team was introduced. They won the State Championship but were eliminated in the Great Lakes Tournament that year in North Carolina. Members of that team were Tommy Wells, Thurman Baker, Dick Stout, Ted Billington, Jerry Buchanan, Larry Jetton, Tommy McClure, Glen Brewer, Nelson Shroat, Dan Pugh and Jimmy Futrell. Coaching the team were Lubie Veale and Gene Cohoon. The coaches of the seven teams in the Great Lakes Tournament were introduced and the squads were recognized.

Donohue Loses His Last Race, Snuffed By Death

GRAZ, Austria (AP) — Mark Donohue, the shy Brown University engineering graduate who never lost his boyish good looks, died late Tuesday of brain injuries suffered in a racing crash, just eight months after ending his retirement as a driver. Donohue's body was to be returned to the U.S. later this week. Funeral arrangements were incomplete. Donohue, 38, who had lived in Reading, Pa., died of complications following surgery for a blood clot, triggered by a freak knock in the head during the crash, which left him otherwise unscathed. Donohue, a $1 million career winner, left behind a string of racing honors achieved by few others in the sport's history. His most prized accomplishment was a victory in the 1972 Indianapolis 500. He retired after winning the International Race of Champions in February 1974, saying he wanted nothing more from racing. But Donohue was lured out of retirement when no suitable replacement could be found for the late Peter Revson, for whom Donohue had been developing Roger Penske's new Formula 1 car. Revson was burned to death in practice for the South African Grand Prix in March 1974. Penske, who with Donohue formed in 1966 one of racing's longest and closest car-owner-driver associations, was at Donohue's bedside, along with Donohue's bride of eight months, Eden, and his father Mark Sr. "This is a great personal shock to me," said Penske, adding Donohue's wife was also badly shaken. Doctors said Donohue's heart and breathing stopped several times during his last hours. Mechanical devices had been used to maintain Donohue's vital signs since emergency brain surgery Sunday. Donohue underwent a lengthy emergency operation after complaining of a severe headache after crashing in practice for the Austrian Grand Prix. At first, it was thought his injuries were nothing more than a mild concussion. But the headache became worse and turned to convulsions. Fellow American driver Mario Andretti said Donohue was lapsing in and out of consciousness and was unable at times to recognize friends. Donohue was rushed from the Oesterreichring track to Landes Krankenhaus in nearby Graz where Dr. Fritz Heppner, a noted professor of neurosurgery, directed an operation that lasted more than three hours. Two track marshals were injured, one fatally, in Donohue's crash. Manfred Schaller died earlier Tuesday. He was hit in the stomach by debris from the crash, which started with a punctured tire. Donohue's team leader Heinz Hofer said Donohue, who was walking around under his own power after the crash, told him the left front tire punctured on a sweeping turn, one of the fastest on the track. He went skidding off the course, through four rows of catch fences and through some billboards lining the route. It is theorized a support post from one of the signs caught Donohue's helmet. The car was destroyed, but he suffered no other injuries. Donohue is survived by his wife and his two sons, Michael, 11, and David, 9. His death was the second this

Red Fans Counting Chickens Early, Hotels All Booked Up

By BILL VALE
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Conventions are good, but "there's nothing like a winning big league baseball team." So glowed Steve Mullinger, president of the Greater Cincinnati Hotel and Motel Association. "We do a $30 million a year convention business in Cincinnati," said Marijune Eckert, manager of the Cincinnati Convention and Visitors Bureau. "If the Cincinnati Reds get into the World Series as well as the National League playoffs, it will mean millions of dollars more for the city." She speculated more than a million persons will be drawn to the city's downtown one way or another because of baseball. The National League's smallest city has a population just over 400,000 but nearly two million in the metropolitan draw area. However, lodging facilities in the downtown and near downtown are all but gone already, not because of the baseball but because of 10,000 rooms booked by the National Rehabilitation Association convention Oct. 13-15. The World Series is scheduled Oct. 14-15 in the National League team city. But the hotel and convention people are telling out-of-towners not to be discouraged. "There is no problem with the playoffs," said Oullinger, noting that October is traditionally a big convention month. "Sure, we'll be a little tight on rooms for the World Series, but we don't want to discourage anyone from coming. It's always the same way: if a person wants to see something, he will get there some way, they always do." The hotel-motel association will set up a hotline for all member inkeepers to keep the others advised of openings, he said. This goes into operation Sept. 1.

Tiger Kickoff Banquet To Be September 2
The State Champion Murray High Tigers will have their annual kickoff banquet at 6:30 p. m. September 2 at Holland Stadium. Tickets may be obtained from the Murray High cheerleaders, Murray Federal Savings and Loan or the Bank of Murray. The Tigers are scheduled to open the season September 5 at Reidland.

nearby every room in town. However, the Reds were unable to catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Western Division of the National League in 1974 "so the funeral directors had everything to themselves," she said. Meanwhile, the winning Cincinnati Reds continue to fill up the city's downtown restaurants, bars and hotels in their march to a second straight two million plus home attendance. The Chamber of Commerce is already funding plans for daily downtown entertainment during the playoffs and World Series plus bunting decorations. Mrs. Eckert said the 10,000 downtown rooms have been filled by baseball fans in July for a four-games series with Los Angeles and the weekend's series with the Pittsburgh Pirates. "This is really going to be a fun thing," she said.

Spain Retires FROM Florida. OR, HOW AMERICA picked up FLORIDA for $5 million.

No luxury hotels. No drinks served at the pool. Just sand and palms and alligators. And a lot of fighting for it that destroyed property throughout Florida. Americans in Florida figured Spain owed them $5,000,000 in property damages. Our government offered to pick up the tab for Spain, if Spain would retire from Florida. Spain accepted. And was out.

You know, money from our citizens helped pay for things back then. And it still does.

Today, you can help with U. S. Savings Bonds. And at the same time, they let you build savings. Easily. Automatically.

This happens when you join the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy Bonds where you bank. Year after year, you accumulate more and more savings. And it can add up to a bundle.

So maybe you'd better start this week. Because, someday, you'll have to retire, too.

New E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Eligible Students Can Get Up To $1,400 Through Grants

Students looking for ways to finance their education after high school (and how many aren't these days?) may be able to receive up to $1,400 a year in Federal grants in time for the next school year.

Under the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (Basic Grants) program sponsored by HEW's Office of Education, eligible students may be awarded anywhere from $200 to $1,400 a year to help meet their educational expenses. The U. S. Government does not require repayment of such awards.

Students who have begun their post high school education after April 1, 1973, and attend at least half-time can qualify. They may attend any one of the over 5,000 eligible schools. These include not only traditional colleges and universities, but also vocational, technical or business schools, and hospital schools of nursing.

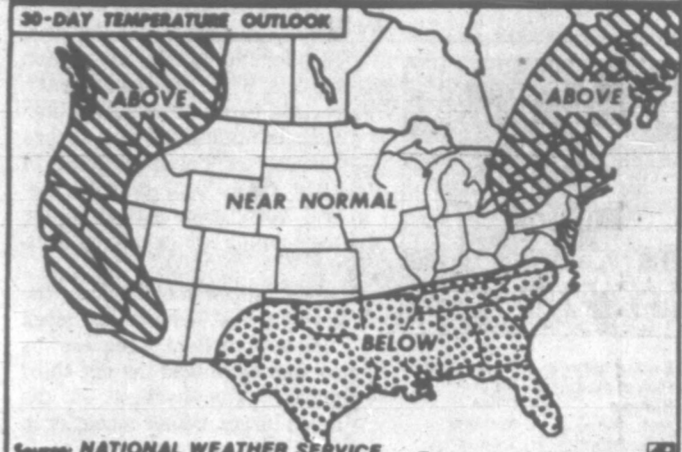

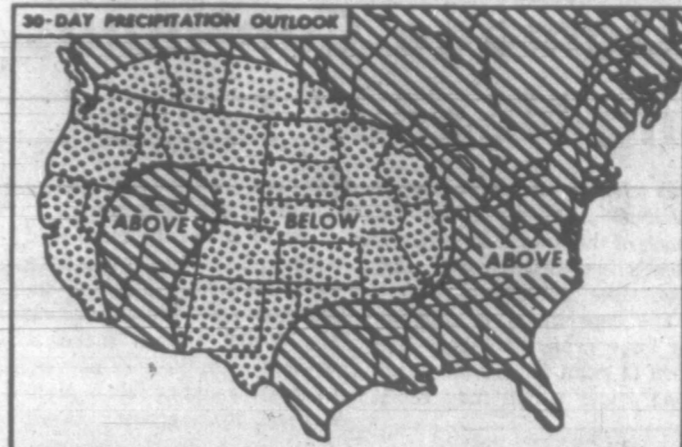

To apply for a Basic Grant a student must first complete and submit an "Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" for the 1975-76 academic year. These forms are available from high schools, colleges, libraries, or by writing Basic Grants, P. O. Box 84, Washington, D. C. 20044.

Within 4 to 6 weeks the applicant will receive a "Student Eligibility Report", which tells whether the student has qualified. When the report is received, it must be submitted to the financial aid officer at the school in which the student is interested in enrolling. The financial aid officer will then calculate the amount of the Basic Grant award.

A Basic Grant may not cover more than one-half of the total cost of education. This includes tuition, fees, room and board, books, supplies, and miscellaneous expenses.

In addition to qualifying for a Basic Grant, a student may also be eligible to receive any one of four other financial aid programs sponsored by the Office of Education. The financial aid officer is the best source in checking out these other forms of aid.

Corn Crop Damage Continues Despite Long-Needed Rains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Damage to the corn crop in the upper North Central states is continuing, despite last week's long-needed rains, the Agriculture Department says.

"Rains eased stresses in many parts of the corn belt during the week, but above-normal temperatures kept topsoil moisture supplies short for much of the area," the department's weekly weather and crop bulletin said Tuesday.

The department is counting on huge crops of wheat and corn to calm fears over rising food prices which may result from new grain sales to the Soviet Union.

Corn is one of the main feed grains for animals that produce the meat that so heavily influences U.S. families' food bills. If dry weather makes a severe dent in the corn harvest the effect would be felt in higher prices at the grocery store.

San Francisco Mayor's Home Is Scene Of Bomb Explosion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A pipe bomb exploded early today at the home of Mayor Joseph L. Alioto as he attempted to mediate a pay dispute which sent most of the city's police on strike.

A sign was found on the front lawn saying, "Don't Threaten Us," but Alioto said he did not think there was any connection between the explosion and the police strike.

The blast shattered windows and severely damaged the front door and concrete pedestals on the front porch of the Alioto home, but officials said no one was injured.

Alioto said, "No, I don't believe the police or the police strike had anything to do with it." Visibly shaken, he added, "We have a lot of people fishing in troubled waters. We have a lot of sick people."

Alioto, who strolled through the seamy Tenderloin district at nightfall Tuesday, had said earlier that leaders of the strike faced arrest if they continued to ignore a court order directing a return to work.

The strike by an estimated 90 per cent of the 1,300 rank-and-file policemen in the 1,935-man department entered its second day without major traffic tieups or outbreaks of lawlessness. Supervisory personnel continued to man telephones and keep about half the city's 60 patrol cars on the streets.

The possibility that the bells of cable cars would be stilled and fire protection severely curtailed also faced the city. Transit workers have set a midnight Thursday strike deadline and firemen continued to take a strike vote of their own.

125 Killed In Syrian Air Crash This Morning

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A Czechoslovak jetliner carrying 128 persons crashed into a sandy knoll and exploded early today while trying to land at Damascus airport. Authorities said there were only three survivors, two children and a man.

The four-jet Ilyushin 62 was coming in for a landing after a flight from Prague when, at 1:15 a.m., it dipped below the flight path and ripped into the hillcock about 12 miles south of Damascus, an official at the airport control tower said.

Officials said there were 117 passengers and a crew of 11 aboard the plane, which was on a flight from Czechoslovakia to Damascus, Baghdad and Tehran.

Rescuers at first found only two survivors, a man and a child, and the first announcement from civil aviation authorities said 126 persons were killed.

Grain Frauds Causes Buyers To Pay For Federal Inspections

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The great ripoff along the grain docks here has upset foreign customers to the extent that many export buyers now pay extra just to make sure they get what they pay for.

Harlan Ryan, chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's grain division here, said 40 per cent of the grain shipped out of New Orleans these days is federally inspected.

"It's working us to a frazzle," said Ryan. Normally, his 57 inspectors merely spot check the accuracy of private USDA-licensed agencies which grade and inspect corn, wheat, soybeans and other grains loaded onto ships in this port area.

Full federal inspection was unusual.

But criminal profits in the millions are reported skimmed off the $14 billion worth of grain exported annually and a continuing federal investigation of theft and fraud has resulted in indictments against 48 men and four companies at New Orleans, with more expected.

In reaction, some buyers for export have taken to making "federal appeals" in order to bypass private grain inspectors.

It costs an extra $2.25 per 1,000 bushels for federal inspection, plus $18.30 per overtime hour, with inspectors working 15 hours a day.

The hours are often unpleasant, since private inspectors go through the motions of the job right beside the federal men. Ryan calls it "a true exercise in futility."

A ship that recently took aboard 1.4 million bushels of Iowa corn had a federal inspection bill that totaled $22,203.

The $22,203 bought federal assurance that the ship was clean; the corn not sour or infested with weevils; that it was of good No. 2 yellow grade, not a lesser grade palmed off as No. 2 at the same price; and that there actually were 1.4 million bushels in the holds.

Foreign buyers have long complained about short weights and misgrading, but they had little recourse once it was delivered.

Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, attached heavy political significance to the fact that sheer market pressure already had forced a private inspection system to become 40 per cent federal.

"It goes to show that somebody, like the customers, believes in a federal inspection system," said Clark.

His reform bill to create such a system, financed by fees, has drawn opposition from the Ford administration, on the grounds that there is a need for less federal regulation, not more.

Board Of Ethics Drafts Code Of Behavior For Legislators

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Legislative Board of Ethics believes it finally has come up with a satisfactory code of behavior for state legislators.

"Any reasonably prudent legislator can live with it," said Al Dix, a Frankfort newspaper publisher who helped draw up the fifth and final draft of the measure which won unanimous approval of the board Tuesday.

Sen. Ken Gibson, D-Madisonville, the chairman, said the draft attains a double aim—"acquainting legislators and legislative candidates with the type of conduct expected of them and letting the general public know what's expected of those they elect."

Kentucky never has had a comprehensive statute on legislative ethics. Until almost two years ago it never had a group supervising such behavior.

Since the board of ethics was created in 1974, it has been discussing what it should do and what it should allow legislators to do.

Matters such as outright bribery were simple to list, censure and assign penalties. But the subject of what constitutes conflict of interest caused endless wrangling, and the board even heard a case with such overtones.

It declared last March that

Sen. Kelsey Friend, D-Pikeville, committed "no-actionable wrong" in voting in 1974 for a black lung lawyers' fee bill even though Friend's law firm is a prosperous practitioner of such cases.

The 22-page proposal combines all existing statutes pertaining to legislative conduct and also attempts to serve as a code in simplified form.

It now goes to the Interim Committee on State Government, which will decide whether to prefile it for the 1976 session.

The board decided against gaining some control over lobbyists, although such control recently has been suggested by several lawmakers.

However, the lobbyist-legislator relationship is mentioned, and some of the heaviest penalties—a five-year prison term and a $5,000 fine—are proposed for lobbyists who violate specific provisions.

Dix said the board also decided against severely limiting how legislators earn money outside the General Assembly.

He said that since Kentucky does not have annual sessions the lawmakers are not paid enough to forego various other compensation.

The draft calls for legislators to "endeavor to pursue a course of conduct which will not tend to raise suspicion among the people of the commonwealth" that they are violating their trust.

Then it spells out ethical behavior, indicating the bounds that fall within conflict of interest and what a lawmaker should do if such exists.

For example, under the proposal a legislator may introduce but not vote for a bill in a conflict of interest situation.

KKK Told Not To Carry Guns At Rally

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — Ku Klux Klan members planning a rally near here on Friday have been told that they won't be allowed to carry guns and that those who do will be jailed.

Graves County Atty. Benjamin J. Lookofsky said Tuesday that Klansmen will not be allowed to carry weapons.

He issued the order after Phillip Chopper, grand dragon of the Kentucky Ku Klux Klan, said some members planned to carry "rifles and shotguns to protect Klansmen from fanatics, if necessary."

Lookofsky said he told Chopper that any unauthorized person displaying a weapon at the rally would be jailed.

"If guns become a problem, it might help your boys out to tell them not to have them," Lookofsky told Chopper. "We might not have room for them up here."

Chopper said the rally would be peaceful but that he had no control over persons who might conceal weapons.

Graves County Sheriff Burl Youngblood discounted Chopper's statement that Klan members needed protection, saying his officers could take care of the situation.

"That's all right if you will stand out there and keep some fanatic from shooting a half dozen of us," Chopper said.

The Klan leader had been subpoenaed to testify concerning the rally.

Lookofsky said he looked for a satisfactory reason to prevent the rally but could not find one. He said Chopper was called to testify "to make sure no laws are to be violated."

Pat Hearst Look-Alike Is Sought

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A spokesman for the FBI says the federal agency is interested in interrogating three persons for whom the Kentucky State Police issued an all-points bulletin on Tuesday.

State Police issued the bulletin after a stolen credit card was used to buy an automobile in Frankfort.

Police said the owner of the car lot said the vehicle was purchased by two men and a woman and that the woman "looked" like fugitive Patricia Hearst.

Officers said one of the two men is wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of Diane Louise Klaas, 18, of Rockford, Ill., last week.

The girl was beaten to death with two rocks and a State Police detective said it was the most brutal slaying he had seen in three decades.

State Police said they had no evidence, other than the car lot owner's description, that the woman might be Miss Hearst.

And the FBI spokesman, who asked not to be identified by name, said it is routine for agents to question persons whenever someone claims to have sighted Miss Hearst.

"Every time we get a report on anybody who looks like Patricia Hearst we immediately send out agents," the FBI spokesman said. "We've already had agents in Frankfort and down here, where we got the call to begin with."

He said a jewelry store clerk in Louisville had called the FBI earlier in the day about a woman customer resembling Miss Hearst.

"At the present time, it's a look-alike, and at the present time we have no leads on where they are," the spokesman said. "We would be very interested when they are picked up."

Cracks In System Cause Readmissions

By WILLIAM BRADFORD Associated Press Writer FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

An Eastern Kentucky State Hospital official says because of "many cracks ... in the system" his facility readmits 75 to 80 per cent of the mental patients it discharges.

The problem is that comprehensive care centers don't follow up on discharged patients well enough, Dr. Michael Schaffer told a special legislative committee on mental health facilities Tuesday.

He is medical director at Eastern State, located in Lexington.

Efforts to improve in-house care at the hospital has had little effect on patient readmissions, he said, adding that the problem could be in the way the hospital prepares patients for release and turns them over to care centers.

If a patient does now show up at a comprehensive care center on the date scheduled by the hospital, the center doesn't try to find out what happened, he said.

"If the patient doesn't keep that one appointment, he's lost ... until he has trouble again and is readmitted," he said.

Dr. John Uzzman, medical director at Kentucky State Hospital at Danville, agreed that "follow-up is done only if the patient does it — comprehensive care doesn't."

The over-all readmission rate for all the state hospitals is around 65 per cent, said Ashar Tullis of Louisville, head of the Kentucky Association for Mental Health.

Dr. Don Ralph, an assistant to Health Services Commissioner William McElwain, said most comprehensive care centers do well on follow-up. He said all the centers have strong follow-up policies.

The centers are operated by semi-governmental corporations, with substantial state and federal funds.

John Gergen, who became deputy health services commissioner last week, said communication is poor between the state hospitals and the centers. He said he is certain the problem will be corrected within six months.

Schaffer said Eastern State Hospital has discontinued the practice of putting everyone from a certain area into one ward. Patients now are assigned according to the type of care they need.

The committee, headed by State Sen. Clyde Middleton, R-Covington, had criticized the geographic unit approach in a preliminary report.

BEATEN AT RALLY—Participants of a Communist Party Rally in a sports arena in Alcobaca, Portugal, beat and kick a man who was in a group which opposed the rally. He was seriously injured.

Committee Approves Many Measures For Pre-Filing

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Consumer cooperatives — in addition to producer co-ops — would be created in Kentucky under a bill approved for pre-filing by an interim legislative committee.

A group of citizens in Berea asked for expansion of the current state law so they could get federal funds to build a cooperative retirement home.

The bill approved by the Interim Committee on Business Organizations and Professions on Monday would not apply to banking, insurance, labor union, rural co-op or railroad operations.

The committee approved the bill for pre-filing with no expression as to whether it should pass in the 1976 General Assembly.

The panel approved for pre-filing with a "should pass" expression a bill prohibiting ex-convicts from being denied public employment or a license to practice a profession or occupation. The only exception would be if the crime involved were related to the position sought.

A federal court recently ruled that the State Board of Barbering could not deny a license to someone solely because the applicant was an ex-convict.

The committee also approved for pre-filing, with no expression, a bill to create a commission to screen applications for new professional or occupational licensing boards.

Four of the seven commission members would be private citizens, one would be a legislator and one each would represent the attorney general and state finance commissioner. An advisory council attached to the commission, without voting rights, would represent each of the state licensing boards.

The committee sent back to subcommittee a bill to transfer funds from 26 state professional licensing boards to the state treasury, beginning July 1, 1978. The bill would require each board to submit a budget and be funded from the state treasury, like other state agencies.

The committee approved for pre-filing with a favorable expression a bill to increase license fees for barber shops from $10 to $20 and annual barbers' licenses from $12 to $20. A board spokesman said license fees now are inadequate to allow it to hire the number of sanitation inspectors it needs.

The committee approved for pre-filing with no expression bills that would:

- License shorthand (court) reporters and radiologic technicians.
- Put money from uncashed parimutuel tickets into a fund to pay for medical expenses of jockeys, parimutuel clerks, "backstretch" and other race track employees needing such help. That money now goes to the state treasury after two years.

His Attitude Is Great Horse Trainer Reports

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "His attitude is great. I couldn't ask him to be any better."

Bill Wise isn't a football coach, although similar statements are made every fall when pre-season practice begins.

He was talking about a horse, a black gelding that has won the five-gaited grand championship at the Kentucky State Fair Horse Show for the past two years.

Wise is a horse trainer, and he says the horse he trains, Surefire, is at its best this year.

"This horse, he's more sure of himself, he's strong, he's healthy, he's a perfectly finished horse," Wise commented.

"He's working great and he's fresh," Wise continued. "He's ready to go to a horse show."

And Surefire will appear at the fair Wednesday night, in the gelding stake.

The animal won the stallion-gelding stake and the five-gaited championship at the Illinois State Fair earlier this month.

"He won without even a workout," Wise said of that event.

The trainer added that Surefire hasn't received the recognition he deserves.

"I'm not blue-ribbon hungry," he said. "We showed him at the Illinois State Fair because that was a $2,500 class. I just don't feel like taking this horse off and showing him just to be winning a blue ribbon."

"He's an important horse, and you know, Cassius Clay doesn't fight every Friday night," Wise quipped.

UK Sociologists To Study Problems Facing Kentucky

A statewide survey of public opinion on community problems, government spending, and vital issues facing Kentucky is being conducted by sociologists at the University of Kentucky.

The purpose of the survey is to provide state and local government officials with accurate information about the needs and wishes of Commonwealth residents regarding government policies and services. The survey is being directed by Rabel J. Burdge and Paul D. Warner, sociologists with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Burdge and Warner plan to use a questionnaire to gather public opinion. During the week of August 18, questionnaires will be mailed to a random sample of 5,000 adults throughout the Commonwealth. Because of scientific procedures used in selecting persons to complete the questionnaire, results of the survey can be used to accurately represent the opinions of all Kentuckians.

The questionnaire will ask people their opinions on problems in their community, on what programs they think state and local governments should be spending money, and what they think about some of the major issues facing Kentucky today.

The survey covers a wide range of topics, according to Burdge and Warner. People are asked to give their opinions on such varied subjects as the condition of roads, the state of the local job market, the amount of money spent on the public schools, and whether they favor or oppose strip mining. Questions will also be asked on how people are willing to change their way of living in order to conserve energy and protect the environment.

The results of this survey will be published in booklet form and distributed to state and local government officials and interested citizens. Preliminary results are expected at the end of the year.

American Who Survived Soviet Torture Writes

ALEXANDER DOLGUN'S STORY: An American in the Gulag. By Alexander Dolgun (with Patrick Watson). Knopf, 370 Pages, $10.

Out of the pages of Solzhenitsyn's towering "Gulag Archipelago" has stepped the A.D. who, for safety's sake, had to be anonymous then. His is a story whose pages are crammed with the most intense human drama, relieved occasionally by flashes of an indomitable sense of humor and by touches of tenderness that fleck a relentless sea of cruelty.

Dolgun's story is one that should be widely read by Americans in these days of detente. It may be prudent to remember that the Politburo members now ruling the Soviet Union were favorites of Joseph Stalin, whose era produced cruelties so monstrous as to defy the imagination of a George Orwell.

Dolgun is now a real flesh and blood person, an individual who suffered mind-boggling torture and hardship and — unlike millions of other victims — lived to tell it in a searing indictment of official Soviet crime.

This is another tour of hell on earth from a stream of them out of Russia, but this one different. It is also the story of an American abandoned by the embassy and nation he served.

He'd still be in the Soviet Union now if a noncareer diplomat hadn't been able to see him as something other than a diplomatic inconvenience and worked to get him out. He came home to America after 23 years, eight of them in an almost unrelieved nightmare of prisons and prison camps. He survived through sheer courage and strength of will even incarceration in a notorious torture prison from which few others ever emerged alive.

Dolgun was the son of a Polish-born American who accepted a 1933 offer to work in the Soviet Union as a technician, brought his family and was caught there by the war. Young Dolgun got a job with the U.S. Embassy, and his nightmare began in 1948 when strange men accosted him and kidnaped him from the street.

"When the hand of a secret police officer closes on your arm, it is like the hand of an evil god who needs no excuse," he writes. "And you don't resist."

He nearly died from torture a number of times. A prison hospital would pull him through and he would reason it would be illogical to do so if they were just going to "turn around and murder me." But nothing much was logical in the mad world of Stalin's Soviet Union, where they packed prisoners like sausages into stinking trains or carted them around in vans labeled "Soviet Champagne" or disguised as meat trucks.

The MGB demanded Dolgun confess he was a spy. He had nothing to confess, but anyone arrested had to be imprisoned and might be killed, guilty or not, because, as Dolgun was told, the secret police "never make mistakes."

This is a book that defies you to put it aside. You know it wouldn't have been written if the author hadn't survived, but the suspense is in the wonder how he possibly could do so. You are there with him, almost feeling the pain, knowing horror will be succeeded by horror, winning when the interrogator thunders, "I will beat you to death if I do not get your confession."

CHEMIST GETS PROTEIN FROM OATS

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — In the continuing quest for new sources of protein, a University of Wisconsin chemist has developed a method of extracting protein from oats.

Wisconsin Agriculturalist, a rural magazine, reports that Vernon Youngs is able to extract protein from oats by a simple method in which water is the only chemical used. Youngs hulls the oats and then mills them into four and bran. He then makes a water slurry of the oat flour and the bran and centrifuges the mixtures. Each yields a high protein layer of more than 50 per cent protein, which could be used to fortify snack foods and bread. A side benefit is a residue bran that is about 19 per cent protein and could be used in breakfast cereals.

National Bicentennial Event To Be Hosted By Ft. Donelson

The National Park Service has assembled 65 young performers and stage technicians to present "People of '76," a Bicentennial Living History presentation which opened a pilot tour in Concord, Massachusetts, August 5, and closes in San Francisco, California, September 14. Hosted by Fort Donelson National Military Park, afternoon and evening performances will be given locally at Stewart County High School, Dover, Wednesday, August 20.

The artists have come together from 16 states and such diverse towns as Monte Sereno, California; Cutchogue, New York; Angleton, Texas; Frederick, Maryland; St. Petersburg, Florida; and 28 others. Auditions for the company were held in a number of universities noted for their professional theatre programs. Military and craft specialists rounded out the cast.

The production reflects the lives of ordinary Americans on both the military front and the home front during the Revolutionary period. The great names of history are notably absent for this is the story of the "People of '76." The afternoon presentation contrasts with the evening show. The daylight showing, which will be open to the public from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. provides an opportunity for the visitor to wander through a small colonial village, chat with the citizens and learn of their daily experiences during the war (the period is 1778, well into the conflict), to see some of the crafts which sustained the people and the army during the struggle, and to participate in the political arguments which characterized the times.

In a second segment of the afternoon experience, the spectator visits the camp of a small military unit to witness soldiers of the Continental Army going about their daily duties. Military drill includes firing of the unit's "grasshopper" cannon.

The evening presentation, which begins at 9 p. m., is in a more theatrical format with the audience seated on the football field stands or on the grass watching the events unfold within a setting created by grouping the village elements and the military encampment into a unified picture. Again the emphasis is on the actions, and the opinions which motivate them, of the inhabitants of the imaginary village of New Brighton.

Both the afternoon and evening performances are free to the public on a first come first served basis.

State Health Insurance To Cover Education Workers

Beginning Oct. 1, 1975, all full-time certified employees of Kentucky's school system as well as full-time non-certified workers will be covered by the Kentucky state employee's health insurance contract.

In making the announcement of the added benefits, Gov. Julian Carroll noted that almost 57,000 Kentucky school system employees will receive the insurance coverage.

In addition to providing coverage for educators under the state insurance program, the remainder of the state's employees will also receive increased benefits from the expanded insurance program.

Gov. Carroll noted that the increased benefits for state employees will enable them to receive the same coverage as educators. Citing the fact that the cost of health care has risen 40 per cent faster than the Consumer Price Index and that hospital charges have risen 80 per cent faster than the index,

Gov. Carroll said it was imperative that the Commonwealth take the lead in providing adequate coverage for its employees.

The addition of the educators to the state health insurance contract and added benefits for other state employees will cost an estimated $11.6 million. The October, November and December premium payments will be made by the Kentucky Department of Education. Gov. Carroll will ask the 1976 General Assembly to make a supplemental appropriation to cover the premium cost for the remainder of the fiscal year.

In all, some 37,000 certified school personnel will be eligible for the health insurance coverage. An estimated 20,000 non-certified full time school board employees are also expected to qualify. A full time non-certified employee is one who works at least 80 hours per month.

Historical Novel Billed As First Of A Series

THE WORLD FROM ROUGH STONES. By Malcolm Macdonald. Knopf, 535 Pages, $8.95.

It is Aug. 26, 1839, and Nora is fleeing the Manchester produce market after learning that her boss in the market, whom she has tried to bribe, plans to have her killed. At novel's end — an improbable but single year later — poor, dirty and ragged Nora has become a lady married to a man apparently destined for power in 19th-century England.

One can only say "apparently" about Lord John's future since the reality of it is left to further books about Nora and John. For this is what the publisher is advertising as the first in a series of sagas about a family during England's period of industrial growth.

But in the year of this novel Lord John Stevenson — the "lord" is not a title but a nickname — manages to go from being foreman of sandhogs digging a railroad tunnel to an up-and-coming contractor. And Nora drops her rags and, in a blessing to the reader, is dropping that accent she had back in the Manchester market.

Nora's natural cleverness and head for figures has supplemented John's natural cleverness to help him achieve his ends. And later novels may tell where he gained the confidence and mastery that fascinate such men as Walter Thornton. (Thornton, educated, an engineer, with a large sexual appetite, and his naive wife, Arabella, are the other family of this saga.) But all the keys to Lord John's character won't be found in these 535 pages. Those presumably will be discovered by the reader with a zest for more of 19th-century England.

Cooperative Provides Market For Farm-Grown Produce Items

There are a lot of farmers in south central Kentucky who are enthusiastic about growing tomatoes, cabbage, and peppers. They have found that they can make money on these crops, and one reason they can make money is because they have a market.

Their market is a cooperative known as Cumberland Farm Products, Inc., with headquarters in Monticello. The co-op began operations in 1969, with gross sales of $90,000 the first year. Sales climbed to $575,000 last year, and the area served by the co-op has become the one of top areas in the state for commercial vegetable production, according to C. R. Roberts, Extension vegetable specialist at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

This year, 550 farmers, most of whom reside in Casey, Clinton, Cumberland, Russell, Pulaski, and Wayne Counties, signed contracts to grow crops for marketing through the co-op. Altogether, they have grown some 50 acres of cabbage, 125 acres of tomatoes, and 400 acres of peppers this year. They are charged a ten percent commission on the produce they sell through the co-op, and pay five dollars per year in dues. They also buy plants, fertilizer, and chemicals through the co-op at reduced prices.

Larry Snell has served as manager of the co-op since the time it began operation. He works on a year-round, full-time basis, and his chief responsibility is to line up buyers for the co-op's products. Most of the products go to large supermarket chains and vegetable brokers in Kentucky, Ohio, Florida, and other states.

Snell said that 1975 has been a good year for co-op members.

"Some growers were discouraged last year because of low prices," he noted. "It often happens, however, that a good year follows a bad year. Vegetables have been in short supply in supermarkets this year, and this short supply has resulted in much better prices being paid to growers."

Tomatoes making the number one grade (about 75 percent of those grown by co-op members make this grade) have averaged about 22 cents per pound this year. The average yield is about 10,000 pounds per acre, with top growers getting yields of 20,000 pounds per acre or more. Snell estimates the labor requirement for growing an acre of tomatoes to be 400-600 man-hours, with out-of-pocket costs amounting to about $600 per acre.

Cabbage prices this year averaged about five cents per pound, with yields averaging 20,000 pounds per acre. Top growers obtained yields of over 60,000 pounds per acre. Cabbage requires about 50 man-hours of labor per acre, with out-of-pocket costs averaging about $300 per acre.

Costs and labor requirements for peppers are similar to those for cabbage. Most of the peppers grown by co-op members are sold on contract for commercial processing, but some are packaged and sold by the co-op for fresh market. Pepper prices this year are expected to average over $100 per ton, with yield averaging five tons per acre and top growers getting ten tons per acre or more.

The co-op's receiving and packaging plant at Monticello can be a busy place during the summer, especially during the tomato harvesting season. Tomatoes brought in by co-op members are graded by a federal inspector from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are also cleaned, sized, and packaged at the plant. After packaging, they are pre-cooled and stored until they are shipped out in refrigerated trucks.

The co-op employs 50 seasonal workers at the plant during the peak operating period. Another 50 high school students work at the plant during the summer as part of a Neighborhood Youth Corps project.

Representatives of several agencies, including the University of Kentucky's Cooperative Extension Service, the Office of Economic Opportunity, and the Farmers Home Administration, worked with farmers in organizing the co-op. A 30-year loan from the FHA was used to construct the packaging plant and purchase equipment for its operation. A grant from the OEO was used to cover initial operating expenses. Payments on the FHA loan have been made on schedule, and the co-op is now planning to construct a new packaging plant which will have twice the capacity of current plant.

Local County Extension Agents and state and area Extension specialists from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture conduct an educational program for co-op members each year. The purpose of the program is to keep the members up-to-date on scientific crop production methods.

At the present time, Kentucky ranks rather low compared to many other states in the production of horticultural crops. But farmer-members of Cumberland Farm Products, Inc. are finding that these crops can be grown successfully in Kentucky, and that they can add a sizeable amount of income to a farming operation.

Drama To Encore On KET Show

Kentucky Educational Television's (KET) THEATRE IN AMERICA presents Langford Wilson's award-winning drama, "The Rimers of Eldritch," Wednesday, August 27, at 8 p.m. (CDT).

The encore of "Rimers" stars Frances Strenghagen, Tony nominee for best supporting actress, with "Dylan's" Will Hare, and Tony winner Rue McClanahan, as Theatre In America translates outstanding regional theatre to the television medium.

With the implication that a murder has been committed, the play delves into the personalities of the "Rimers"—parasitic survivors of the lifeless, listless town of Eldritch—who ring out their own death knell by feeding off mutual misfortunes.

The circumstances of the murder spin out in shuffled time sequences and the drama climaxes at a moment of shocking and unexpected truth on KET's Theatre In America, Wednesday, August 27, at 8 p.m. (CDT).

WOOD CHIPS IN OVERSUPPLY
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—An oversupply of wood chips has caused the giant Weyerhaeuser Lumber Co. to stop buying them.

It has been estimated 90 to 100 mills in the Pacific Northwest will be affected by this decision. Some mills have predicted they will have to shut down, because in recent months sale of the chips has been a bread and butter item. At one point chip sales were so strong and lumber sales so slow that prime logs were fed into the chipping machines.

Other chip buyers have announced they are cutting back buying by at least 30 per cent.

4-H'ers Mark Bicentennial With All American Foods

CHICAGO—From New England's Indian pudding to New Orleans' jambalaya, American foods reflect a diverse ethnic heritage and the bounty of the land.

To celebrate the nation's bicentennial, young cooks in the national 4-H food-nutrition program are dishing up some of America's favorite regional fare.

What's more, they are gaining a 200-year perspective on New World cuisine through "All American Foods." This 4-H members' manual contains easy-to-cook recipes spiced with anecdotes about characters out of history and folklore—like Pecos Bill, Johnny Appleseed and Squanto.

The manual is one in a series of educational aids provided by General Foods Corporation, sponsor of the food-nutrition program for the 15th year. Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, nearly 770,000 boys and girls from 9 to 19 take part in food-nutrition projects.

Learn-by-doing projects 4-H'ers may "shop" the newspaper ads, plan a week's menus on the basis of cost and nutrition, then do the actual purchasing. They'll learn how to store foods properly. And when they're ready to cook, they'll be taught basic culinary techniques plus the rules of safe food handling.

Projects stress good eating habits that last a lifetime. Health, physical fitness and appearance all depend on a daily diet that includes foods from each of the four major groups: meat, cereals and bread, fruits and vegetables, and milk and milk products.

As they learn by doing in the food-nutrition program, 4-H'ers can work for awards donated by General Foods and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

This year, $800 college scholarships will go to six national winners, selected from among 50 state winners who will receive expense-paid trips to the 54th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30-Dec. 4 in Chicago. Up to four medals of honor will be awarded in each county.

All winners are chosen by the Extension Service on the basis of their records of accomplishment. More information on the national 4-H food-nutrition program is available from county extension agents.

Flavorful jambalaya 4-H'ers enjoy preparing

During America's bicentennial, young cooks in the national 4-H food-nutrition program are preparing and serving dishes with an American flavor. While they learn by doing in the Cooperative Extension Service conducted program, 4-H'ers can work for a series of awards donated by General Foods Corporation.

jambalaya, a savory skillet meal influenced by early French, Spanish, African and Choctaw Indian residents of the U.S. Gulf Coast. The following recipe calls for ground beef but could be varied by substituting cooked ham or shrimp.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in skillet over medium heat. Add 1/2 cup diced onion, 1/4 cup diced green pepper, and 1 pound ground beef. Cook, stirring often until meat is browned. If a large amount of fat cooks out, spoon off excess. Drain 1 can (1 lb., 12 oz.) tomatoes, measuring juice. Add water to juice to make 1 1/2 cups. Add the liquid, tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon thyme, and 1 small bay leaf to mixture in skillet. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Then stir in 1 1/3 cups precooked rice, cover and simmer 5 minutes longer. Discard bay leaf before serving. Serves 4 to 5.

Dance Classes Keep 70- Plus Teacher Joyful

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In her mid-70s, Virgiline Simmons expresses joy for life by continuing to teach ballet and painting colorful flowers.

Known to thousands of former students in and out of Lansing, peppy and vivacious Miss Simmons is happy with the way life treats her.

"I knew I wanted to dance and eventually teach dancing when I was 9 years old and that helped a lot — to know early where I was going," Miss Simmons says.

"Each of us has art within us. We just have to let it come out," says the diminutive Miss Simmons.

She and two assistants teach in two studios with mirrored walls and chrome ballet bars on the first and second floors of her home. She lives on the third floor, approached by a hand-carved stairway leading past beveled glass windows into a setting of family antiques. There is also an artist's studio with a north light.

She wears a dark leotard and short skirt when teaching. She dons a svelte sweater, slacks and a bright chiffon scarf when off-duty.

Miss Simmons graduated from Lansing Central High School, studied dance in Chicago and eventually joined a vaudeville act with a male partner.

When she traveled back to Lansing, she opened classes in the old Porter Hotel — now part of the Capitol Park Motel complex — and since has taught thousands. Eleven of her pupils went professional.

"There are lots of girls in my classes, but only two little boys," she says. Her evening classes are for adults 18 to 60. "Some dance to keep limber," she says.

Her still-life paintings of flowers and fruits provide warmth and color for the walls of her four-story, turreted old house. There also are reproductions of painting by Degas, who immortalized delicate, poignant ballerinas with a brush, and black and white photographs of ballet scenes.

She's active in Zonta Club and Matinee Musicale and says, "I love these two clubs and my friends in them."

"But I must admit the most I've gotten out of life has been love for my work. It's more than dancing; it's communication. To see the response from my students, that's the thrill," she beams.

HOME STEEL DOOR TREND CONTINUES

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A continuing and growing trend to the use of residential steel doors is reported by door manufacturers around the country, according to Armo Steel Corp.'s marketing department.

Introduced to the market in 1964, the steel door has grown in popularity ever since. In 1968, for example, the steel door accounted for 11 per cent of the residential door market. Recently reported 1974 figures show the steel door was used for over 30 per cent of the interior-exterior doors in new homes constructed.

Bureau Of Corrections' Furlough Program Appears To Be Successful

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Nowadays people are normally more than happy anytime they get nearly 100 per cent return on an investment.

State Corrections Commissioner Charles J. Holmes is one of those people.

Holmes' "investment" was made last November when he ordered implementation of Kentucky's first-ever furlough program for minimum-risk inmates on good behavior and within three months of the end of their sentence or parole.

Since the first 13 inmates were furloughed over the Thanksgiving holiday, some 200 men and women have gone home for brief visits with their families and an additional 100 men have been released for job interviews.

So far, only one inmate out of the 300 or so has not returned in the allotted time.

James Breeding, a 39-year-old Knott County man, failed to return to the Blackburn Correctional Complex near Lexington after a two-day furlough over the July 4th weekend.

Holmes said "there has to be a first time," adding that it was unfortunate since Breeding was nearly the end of his stay at Blackburn. But the one incident does nothing to dampen his enthusiasm for the program, he said.

Holmes attributes much of the success of the program to the conservative way in which it has been administered.

"It's not an overly ambitious program, and we didn't intend for it to be," the commissioner said. "There are a lot of legislators, prosecutors and citizens who are watching it closely to see if it will work."

The application process is an indication of how tightly controlled the program is. Every application must go through the inmate's caseworker, the prison superintendent and the deputy commissioner for institutions before it finally ends up on Holmes' desk.

At each level of the process, the inmate's background, prison record and references from the community to which he will be returning are some of the factors given close consideration.

Holmes said it would be difficult to estimate the percentage of applications that are rejected but added that most of those reaching his desk are approved.

The majority of furloughs—about 40 per cent—have been granted inmates at Blackburn, which houses only minimum-risk offenders. An additional 25 per cent have gone to inmates at the state's other minimum security facilities—Frenchburg and the Bell County and Harlan County forestry camps.

Still, more than a dozen inmates at the state's maximum security prison at Eddyville have been furloughed, with about 20 inmates from the medium security reformatory at LaGrange and 50 from the state's women's prison near Pewee Valley also getting furloughs.

Holmes said the people approved for furloughs are generally the prison system's most trustworthy inmates. But the inmate, along with the person who picks him or her up, must sign an honor code before being released.

In addition, the inmate also is responsible for making provisions for getting home and returning to the institution.

Holmes said he will ask his research department to conduct a study of the furlough program, detailing the types of inmates being released, how many find jobs while on furlough and the number and nature of any incidents.

"Luckily, we don't have many incidents to report...If only we can keep it that way, we'll all stay in great shape," Holmes said.

Woman To Work In Minorities

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon National Guard has appointed a former director of the Northwest Coalition for Minority Women as equal opportunity specialist.

Mrs. Maria Hutchins, 35, will coordinate programs for Spanish-speaking Americans in her new role and believes opening lines of communication is a key to maximizing the Guard's affirmative action program.

"Too many manpower programs spend a large portion of their funds for administration because they fail to go out into the community and work on referrals," Mrs. Hutchins said. "People need to know what resources are available to them, and about programs providing opportunity to realize an education."

In her job, Mrs. Hutchins will work with the Chicano community, which makes up the largest minority group in the state.

Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard in 1957 to prevent integration of Little Rock schools. President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent in Federal Regulars to protect the black students.

Farm Family Chosen Amateur Musicians Of '75

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Beethoven down on the farm? Tom Wagner, his wife and five of their six children play Beethoven on their farm in Edison, Ohio, along with Sousa, Bach, Kern and their own arrangements of Dixieland and contemporary tunes.

Wagner and his family have been selected Amateur Musical Family of the Year by the American Music Conference here. This is the fifth year for the national citation, given by the nonprofit national music group. The selection is aimed at spotlighting a family that is representative of the nearly 38 million Americans who are amateur musicians.

The Wagners were selected from among 70 families nominated from 33 states, all of whom make music together.

Tom Wagner, his wife, Rosemary, and five of their six children are active amateurs. They play a total of nine instruments and are members of community and school instrumental groups.

When not rehearsing for a specific musical event, they'll gather for a family jam session — with 2½-year-old Tommy, who's too young to be an "active amateur" musician, "leading" the group and one of the family pets "singing" along.

The Wagner youngsters' participation in musical activities comes naturally. Tom and Rosemary, who met through a music group, were both active amateurs during their high school and college days and still perform with community bands today.

They encouraged the children to study instruments of their own choice, although four of the youngsters began piano instruction at home with Mrs. Wagner.

"Music is an excellent way for us to enjoy doing things together," say the Wagners. "We all love music and it gives us a common bond so that we don't have to go in separate directions. We enjoy each other and playing together."

In addition to piano, family members also play organ, trumpet, baritone, clarinet, cello, trombone, sousaphone and drums. Unusual, for these days, nobody plays guitar.

Several times a year, they'll appear at special church services — as a family group, as a brass ensemble featuring Wagner, Allen, 17, Mary Ann, 15, Carol, 14, and Charles, 11, or for cello and piano duets by Mrs. Wagner and Mary Ann.

Seven-year-old Dale, who has recently started piano instruction at home, will be joining group performances in the future.

While music is a central part of their lives, the Wagners are also busy with farm related chores and activity groups.

Since Wagner holds down a full-time job as science teacher at Bucyrus High School, all the youngsters have regular chores around the farm. In addition, the older ones have various livestock to care for, which are shown at state fairs and 4H events. These include sheep and dairy cows kept by the girls; hogs, sheep and feeder cattle kept by the boys.

Mary Ann and Carol are also developing their gardening skills with both flowers and vegetables through their 4-H group.

With all their school work, farm chores, daily practice sessions for the various band and orchestra groups, and church choir practice, the family always makes time to play together — preparing a special program for a church service, entertaining at a County Trustee meeting or for special functions in nearby communities.

AMERICAN DANCES CELEBRATE BICENTENNIAL

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Ballet Repertory Company, appearing under the auspices of Ballet Theater Foundation, offered the only dance events at the Newport Music Festival this year.

The company did four new works by American choreographers to music by American composers, to celebrate the Bicentennial.

"Mosaics" was choreographed by Kevin Haigen, born in Miami, to Howard Hanson's "Piano Concerto." Hanson, born in Wahoo, Neb., is professor emeritus at the Eastman School of Music.

Richard Englund, born in Seattle, recreated "Krazy Kat," a ballet choreographed in 1922 by Adolphe Bolm to a commissioned score by John Alden Carpenter, who was born in Park Ridge, Ill.

"Kouros" was choreographed by Margarita Banos, born in Los Angeles, to music by Texan Andre Rudin. Linda Crum, who teaches dance at Eastern Michigan University, choreographed "Area Code 615" to music by a group of composer-instrumentalists. The eleven members of Area Code 615 are from Tennessee and write and perform on a variety of instruments, music inspired by American folklore.

Jack Douglas Finds Humor Even In Hotel Business Misadventure

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedy, says funnyman Jack Douglas, is protest.

"What else is it?" the humorist asked in an interview. "It's a complaint told in a funny way. Mark Twain once explained humor as the difference between the right word and the wrong word. To me it's the difference between lightning and the lightning bug."

Douglas began complaining in the late 1930s through the mouths of Bob Hope, Groucho Marx, Red Skelton and other top bananas of the time. He wrote many of their monologues. Through the years he has created barbs for Johnny Carson, Woody Allen, Garry Moore, Danny Thomas and Jimmy Durante. Television viewers will remember him as Jack Parr's early late-night sidekick.

Douglas says he "protests about almost everything." At the moment, he's griping about some people he got to know while living in Maine. Two years ago, he and his Japanese wife, Reiko, and their two young sons bought a hotel in the Rangeley Lakes section of the Pine Tree State, intending to convert it into a home.

As Douglas explains it, after taking title to the deed, they learned they would have to run the resort complex as a hotel and that the people of the community depended on the hotel's financial failure as a primary source of income. The Douglas also learned that the hotel had had six owners in as many years and that, as Douglas says, "It was fixed to self-destruct."

While Douglas aims at laughter in a book he has just written about his hotel misadventure, "Benedict Arnold Slept Here," he himself is not amused. He has initiated several law suits in the matter.

Hotel owning is only the latest of Douglas' professions. He was born in Tahiti, the son of a cable engineer, and began his professional life at age 14 playing drums in a band. He soon dropped his drumsticks for a pair of boxing gloves but before he sprouted cauliflower ears, he turned to writing comedy. He became a monologist and remembers playing Liverpool, England, where he found that his mettle wasn't strong enough for British audiences.

"I worked there in vaudeville for a couple of years," he relates. "Liverpool audiences are the toughest in the world. The theater I played in had a steel balcony in front of the stage, and if the audience didn't like your act, they'd throw nuts and bolts at you. It got so I started dreaming of rotten tomatoes and old eggs."

Douglas says he wants to be known as a humorist. "What irritates me is when people call me a 'gag man.' You're a gag man when you write for a dollar a joke. I've done that, but it was a long time ago."

He never finished high school, but he has a lifetime contract to teach comedy writing at the University of Maine. "When we were living in Maine," he explains, "I taught one semester on the 'Craft of Comedy' and the university president sent me a contract for life. I taught students how to write for laughs, which is kind of a laugh itself since I don't think writing can be taught. The only way to learn how to write is to write."

His first writing job was on Bob Hope's radio show in 1939. "He paid me 50 bucks a week," Douglas recalls. "I was afraid to write for myself until I did the standup comic routine on the nightclub circuit in the '50s. 'I never did like working nightclubs. You have to sleep late because you work late. And you really can't enjoy the daytime. You can go to a movie in the afternoon but you can't concentrate on the film because you're thinking about the show that night. The only good thing that happened to me in nightclubs was meeting my wife in one."

"Benedict Arnold Slept Here" is published by Putnam.)

Searching For Treasure Creates Exciting Life

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — The Pacific Ocean is 200 miles from the home of H. Beason Painter, but the 30-foot Chinese junk that sits in front of his house — with its intricately carved dragons and teak decks — is not out of place if you know the man.

For he is a treasure hunter who has been to "The Sacred Well" on Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula; searched for sunken gold intended for Jamestown; and slept with natives on the jungle floor, braving snakes and nine-inch tarantulas.

Besides being an engineer at the Fast Flux Test Facility at Hanford, Painter is a member of Expeditions Unlimited, a Pampano Beach, Fla., corporation specializing in recovering valuable archaeological artifacts.

Although the company still conducts expeditions all over the world, Painter's last trip for it was in 1968 when he directed excavation of a sacrificial well in the old city of Chichen Itza, built by the Mayan Indians. He said the well was used by the Mayans more than 1,000 years ago to pay tribute to their rain god, Chac. To satisfy Chac, the Indians threw in great quantities of gold and jewels — and children. The expedition found remains of 400 persons.

"Most of the ones we found were those of young boys, and not virgins as depicted in history," Painter said as he fingered a small gold ring recovered from the well.

He said most of the jewelry and artifacts recovered are now on display in Mexican museums.

"It's hard to put a value on those artifacts," he said. "Many archaeologists consider them priceless."

Painter learned his traveling ways from his contractor father who traveled about the world, spending many years in China, where Painter grew up.

Painter, who is "somewhere over 40," wears his graying hair in a short pony tail. He said his job at Hanford has allowed him more time for his family, and he has turned down several offers from Expeditions Unlimited, one of which was a search for Inca gold in the Ecuador jungles.

"Beason Painter is the kind of guy who will get things done when other people say it can't be done," said Norman Scott, Expedition Unlimited president, in a telephone interview. "I need people who will keep their cool and stay together, even in nerve wracking situations."

UNSOOTHING MUSIC JARS
APOLLO MOON MISSION
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A rock 'n' roll radio station here temporarily threw a monkey wrench into an early Apollo moon mission.

An electronic device for the Apollo command module tested out fine at night, but unsatisfactory during the day. Then, for no apparent reason, the device was found to be working correctly again that evening. Day after day the phenomenon repeated itself, to the bafflement of Honeywell engineers doing the testing here.

The mysterious signal that was throwing off their tests, they finally discovered, came from a nearby radio station that was limited to daytime operation. When the station went off the air at sundown, so did its signal which interfered with the engineers' meter readings.
