THE LISTENING POST

● I notice that the medical experts now say that the march of influenza across the United States has about run its course and some improvement may be looked for within the next few weeks. They add, as their opinion, that the next stop for flu will probably be in Europe, and if this is true it means more and greater disaster for the war-shattered continent. It is likely, if flu does invade Europe, that it will be in far more severe form than has been the case in the United States. In this country the people were well fed, in good condition, and the present epidemic has not been really serious. It has been annoying, and some deaths have occurred, but the broad general picture has been that millions of people have been ill for a few days only.

● In Europe it is likely to be far different. In all the nations of that continent food has been scarce for many months. For months the millions of people in various countries have been living on substitutes largely, and in many cases sufficient substitutes have not been available. While actual starvation has not yet come, so far as we can ascertain, there has been much suffering, and the trend of physical condition in those nations has been steadily downward. The body building foods have been reduced to the absolute minimum, and if influenza starts its sweep there, no man can guess the outcome. If it assumes the seriousness of 1918 there is little doubt that more lives will be lost from the epidemic than the war itself has cost to date.

● It is indeed a grim and bitter picture which we catch glimpses of through the curtains of rigid censorship. We can only see the broadest outlines of the picture; the intimate details are mercifully spared us. In looking at the outlines, however, we sense the fact that millions of people are suffering; that this suffering is certain to increase and that there is no relief yet in sight. Winter is now at hand in those countries and practically all of the nations on the Continent have been suffering one of the coldest winters in recent years. This, extreme cold is taking its toll. The lack of food is taking a heavy toll, and if this epidemic of influenza attacks those closely packed millions, we are likely to see the worst disaster since the days of plague.

● For a long time the world has grown accustomed to terrible losses of life in China, India and the other so-called half civilized nations. Even a famine in Russia in recent years, which cost millions of lives, did not stir us deeply, for those places all seem so far away, and to tell the truth, our training has been to regard those underprivileged races as only half human. Now it seems that the nations which we regard as on a par with the United States are to suffer the same fate. In those teeming cities of Europe, where nations are crowded closely together, it seems likely that the fate which has befallen China many times is to come to the more highly civilized nations.

● Forgotten are all the lessons of progress. Forgotten are the fundamental tenets of civilization. Forgotten are the dreams of those who lived and died trying to make a better world. Now the entire world is learning to hate; the only work which is going on is the work of utter and total destruction. The progress which has been so painfully slow and at such bitter cost through past centuries is forgotten as air fleets and submarines, long range guns and embattled men battle in all parts of the world. The year of 1941 is likely to be written down in history as the period of greatest destruction ever known to mankind. For in this present year these forces of destruction must finally make a settlement. It does not seem likely that the present pace of destruction can be continued through an-

Haven't Funds To Pay For All Needs

Hull Urges Passage Of Lease-Lend Bill For U. S. Defense

Washington. — Secretary Morgenthau testified before the House of foreign affairs committee today that the British "just haven't got" dollars to pay for "anything like what they need" in war supplies from the United States.

Presenting the much discussed "Balance sheet" of the British resources here, he said Britain's total dollar assets as of January 1 were $1,775,000,000. Alongside this figure, he placed another, $1,555,000,000 representing Britain's estimated dollar receipts during the calendar year, and a third figure, $3,019,000,000 the total of expenditures already contracted for during the year.

He left a fourth figure blank, to be supplied to the committee later by the War and Navy Departments. It was the total of what Britain expects to purchase in 1941 over and above what she has already ordered. Then, in explanation, he said:

"They can pay this year for what they have already bought in dollars but when it comes to finding the dollars to pay for anything like what they need—they just haven't got it."

His voice dropped to an ominous tone as he reached the last sentence.

GIRLS SCOUT NEWS

Girl Scout Troop No. 1 met at the Woman's club Sunday night and the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Robert Bard. The Girl Scout promise was repeated and the roll was called. We then went to our patrol meetings and there discussed various badges for which we wish to work. The Thoroughbreds group decided to work on the Sports badge; the Blue Grass, their Reader's Badge; The Nags are working for their First Aid. After reports on the patrols were given we played games and sang. At the close of the meeting we repeated the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and were dismissed.

Norse Official Relates Capture Of 100 Nazi Parachute Troops

Jersey City, N. J. —The American Export Liner Excalibur, delayed thirty hours when she was forced to heave to in a seventy-mile-an-hour gale, arrived from Lisbon today with 170 passengers including fifty-three Americans.

Arne Sunde, 57, Norwegian Minister of Supply and Shipping, described how he had fled Oslo, with the coming of the Nazis, into the mountains north of the city, to take command of a group of fellow-countrymen resisting the invasion.

Trapped in Building. At the town of Dovle, Sunde said, his force surrounded a group of forty-seven German parachute troops trapped in a building and demanded they surrender. The German commander sent back a message that the "German

McIlwain Gives Himself Up In Walters Shooting

John C. McIlwain, local player and brick mason, who is alleged to have shot down Walters, Tuesday, January 15, walked into local police headquarters yesterday afternoon and gave himself up. He was with L. G. Walters, second hand furniture dealer and a cousin of the wounded man, at the time he surrendered. He was placed under arrest on a charge of malicious shooting with intent to kill, and waiving preliminary hearing, he was taken to the county jail at Hickman. McIlwain gave himself up about 4:45 p. m. yesterday afternoon.

McIlwain has been sought by county and city officers since January 7, when he went to the home of Sam Walters in Rice City and attempted to buy whiskey, which Walters refused to sell him. He then turned on Walters and shot him four times, seriously wounding him. Walters, who was taken to the Fulton hospital, was given little chance of recovery but according to the latest report, his condition is now satisfactory.

When questioned about his whereabouts since the time the shooting occurred, until he surrendered today, McIlwain said that he had been in the vicinity of Fulton all the time, but refused to say where. Regarding the shooting, McIlwain told Officer Boaz that he was drunk and mad at the time and that he was ready now to accept his punishment.

Stolen Car Is Abandoned Here

A 1941 Oldsmobile, with only 153 miles on the speedometer, was found abandoned on the Bennett schoolhouse road this morning by local police. The four wheels and spare had been taken from the car, which had a Graves county license.

This is the second stolen car found recently at this same spot.

To the delinquent tax payers of South Fulton. You should be aware that the City of South Fulton cannot meet its financial obligations unless you meet your financial obligations to the city. As much as we dislike to do so we will have to take steps to collect these delinquent taxes in an honest and legal way. After the first of March 1941 all delinquent taxes for the years of 1937, 1938, and 1939 will be turned over to the Chancery Court Clerk for collection. We hope that any who may be delinquent will take advantage of this and save extra cost.

Army Leaders Perfect Plans For United States Air Defense

Washington. — Britain's costly experiences in co-ordinating her air defenses are quietly being applied by the Army to the perfection of plans for protecting the United States in event of air attacks.

War Department officials are talking little about these activities, but informed sources say the work has been going on steadily for about a year, chiefly under direction of Brig. Gen. James E. Chaney, head of the relatively new air defense command. That unit, first of its kind set up in the United States, is responsible for correlation and co-ordination of the activities of anti-aircraft organizations, air raid warning systems and warplane squadrons under its jurisdiction.

Chaney, whose headquarters are at Mitchell Field, N. Y., recently returned from an official trip to England where he had full opportunity to observe how the British air defense set-up functioned. Authoritative quarters said careful study was being given the British system, evolved after many years of planning and improved in the light of the grueling tests imposed by German raiders.

To illustrate the complexities involved, one army officer said a situation might develop in wartime necessitating defense of the Hampton Roads area from attack. In the area is a navy yard commanded by a rear admiral, an army air corps base with a general in charge, some anti-aircraft batteries, a couple of coast defense fortresses and observation plane units stationed at Baltimore.

"Figuring out whose would be the supreme voice in that area in event of an attack, who would tell the fighter plane squadrons when to move and the anti-aircraft batteries when to hold their fire is just one of the things that has to be ironed out in planning this country's air defenses," the official continued.

Half Fare Offer Made Teachers And Students

Washington. — Students' or teachers who want to study or lecture for a year in a Latin-American country may travel for half fare under a plan announced by the Maritime Commission.

Teachers who will spend three months studying or teaching in Latin America may claim a 25 percent discount. The same will apply to post-graduates or research scholars and fellows who will stay for a similar period. The rate reductions also apply to wives and children of the teachers and students.

The rates were established, the commission said, by the American Republics Line, the Mississippi Shipping Company, and the Grace Line.

SCOUT NEWS

The scout meeting of Troop 43 was held at the scout cabin last night with at least fifty persons attending. Troop 44 visited the boys of Troop 43 in this meeting. John Mac Travis led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag and Don Morris led the group in the Scout Law. Then Mr. Edwards presented Mr. Hampton who in turned presented the movie star Bill Elliott. Mr. Elliott talked for a few minutes on the producing of western pictures and his parts in them. The boys then asked him some questions on the western pictures.

When they had finished, Mr. Askey took some pictures of the boys with Mr. Elliott. After this, the meeting was closed with the Scoutmaster's benediction.

The scouts wish to express appreciation to Harold Thomas, manager of the local theatres, for making possible Mr. Elliott's appearance at the scout meeting. Scribe: Virgil King

Europe Next Stop For Influenza Outbreak, Indications Point Out

New York. —Next stop of the flu epidemic is Europe.

Although medical authorities will not be quoted, the trail is plain.

The first place to report an outbreak was Honolulu, late last summer. California health authorities traced it from there, via passengers coming to the United States, to the west coast, where it started in late fall.

Its eastward progress since has been so inexorable that it might be said to have traveled 60 miles a day, although actually it came east spotted all along the lines of travel, with its van at any one time always next door to an area farther west where the outbreak had become epidemic.

The first outstanding feature of this outbreak was its steady progress eastward.

Another sign of the eastward trail was the fact that England recently asked for, and received large shipments of the new influenza

Anti-Aircraft Fleet Protection Wins Approval

Navy Asks Authority To Build 400 Small Ships At 400 Millions

Washington. —A Navy request for strengthening the fleet against the menace of dive bombers won unanimous approval of the house naval committee today and admirals immediately sought authority to construct 400 new small ships, including subchasers, escort vessels and minesweepers.

The committee recommended without debate a $300,000,000 program to give the Navy's fighting ships many more "pom pom" and heavier caliber anti-aircraft guns and to provide the men with "splinter protection."

It also was disclosed that the Navy intends to equip some ships with "blisters" to protect them at the water line from explosions of bombs which burst alongside— "near misses."

Meanwhile Secretary Knox told a press conference that the Navy was attempting as rapidly as possible to organize its shipyards for operation 72 hours a week. At present, he said, most yards are on a 48-hour week with employees being paid time-and-one-half for work in excess of 40 hours.

Some departments in some yards already are working three shifts, the secretary added, and other shifts will be started in the remaining yards as soon as enough competent foremen are available.

Knox also announced that Army and Navy forces would hold joint training maneuvers in the Caribbean.

Rear Admiral Samuel B. Robison, chief of the bureau of ships, told the committee that 280 of the new small craft were "urgently needed" and that funds for their construction would be sought in a forthcoming supplemental appropriation bill. The entire 400 vessels would cost about $400,000,000.

THE AXE IS FALLING.

There are some uneasy folks in Frankfort these days. The well known executioner's axe is at last beginning to fall and official heads are beginning to roll. Such might have been expected months ago, but when Governor Johnson allowed the weeks and months to pass along without such action, a lot of folks began to take heart and believe that they might be safely entrenched in their jobs.

But beginning with Miss Woll, Governor Johnson has been chopping quite steadily at some good jobs, and any time this starts it creates a lot of uneasiness in the capital city. Latest head to fall was that of Bailey P. Wootton, who held a thirty-five hundred dollar job as park director. Mr. Wootton, who is a practicing lawyer in Hazard and part owner of a newspaper there, has held this job since early in 1936. In 1939, when there was a great deal of criticism of conditions in Kentucky by federal authorities, Mr. Wootton offered to resign, feeling that he was being unjustly criticized. Governor Chandler refused to accept the resignation, stating that the federal government was trying to make Kentucky the goat in the dispute. An agreement was finally reached which stopped projected removal of certain C. C. C. camps from the state, and since that time Mr. Wootton has apparently been safe in the position. He weathered the storm which many thought likely when Governor Johnson took over the state helm, and many thought he would go on through the present administration.

Mr. Wootton did not assign any reason for his resignation and Governor Johnson offered no comment. The resignation was merely accepted, and Mrs. Nello Vaughn of Glasgow was given the post effective on the first of February. Mr. Wootton announced that he would resume his law practice in Hazard, and he will probably take an active part in directing the newspaper of which he is part owner.

It now begins to appear that the cleanup which many expected in the early part of the Johnson administration will really take place during the latter half. It is likely that the picture of the next state race is beginning to assume its pattern, although as yet details are not clear. It has never been the custom for an incoming Governor to retain all the men who held key posts in the preceding administration, and events of the new few weeks will reveal whether Governor Johnson intends to make a clean sweep.

There has been little criticism for the Governor's action, except in the discharge of Miss Woll from the welfare department. This brought on a storm of criticism from Louisville newspapers, but criticism from that source is generally ex-

SIXTEEN YEARS AGO

(Jan. 16, 1925)

Fulton Post, No. 73 of the American Legion at the annual banquet last night at Smith's Cafe, outlined the plans and desires for securing a new home for the post.

New shops at Paducah, costing about $6,000.00 and of sufficient capacity to handle the repairs to locomotives, and other equipment are to be built by the I. C. railroad according to C. M. Markham, president.

Almond Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dunn, underwent a tonsil operation yesterday at their home on Jackson street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Graham have gone to Miami, Fla., to spend the remainder of the winter.

T. T. Boaz now furnishes fresh meat as well as good fresh groceries.

Mrs. Joe Peck and children, Helen and Forrest, are guests of Mrs. Clarence Williams and Mrs. Boyd Alexander on Walnut street. They are enroute to Laurel, Miss., from Dawson Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Williams have gone to McComb, Miss., to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Chambers have moved to their new home just completed on West State Line.

Phil H. Stuart of Shawnee, Okla., is a guest of his sisters, Mrs. R. M. Redfearn and Mrs. T. H. Irby. He is enroute to the New York markets.

pected and is largely discounted in advance. It seems impossible for any Governor to please the Louisville newspapers, and it is likely that the Governor is right as that the newspapers are right.

It is notoriously true, however, that when heads begin to roll in Frankfort there comes a feeling of great uneasiness. No key men feel easy when other key men are being discharged, and this uneasiness usually goes all through his department. With no legislative session going on, a Governor has plenty of time to look over the situation and ascertain if any changes are needed. Last year at this time the Governor was occupied with getting his program through the law making body; this year he has ample time to study the various departments in the capital city. He is evidently doing this—and creating a great deal of unhappiness as he pursues his study.

THE ETHIOPIANS HAVE VERY LONG MEMORIES

In the midst of the most inhumane war in history, Britain makes a magnificent gesture of humanity. It offers to facilitate the evacuation of Italian women and children from East Africa if the Rome Government will accept its good offices. It takes steps to prevent the slaughter of innocent civilians should the Ethiopian tribesmen rise up against their Italian masters.

The sincerity of this humanitarianism cannot be doubted and yet the distinction made in the suggestion between the Italian Government and the Italian people cannot be avoided. The Italian women and children in Ethiopia could not escape from the barbarity of the natives when the natives get the upper hand as now seems inevitable. The barbarity of the natives would be a direct consequence of the barbarity of the Italian Government which deluged villages with mustard gas and killed thousands of Ethiopian women and children with this fiendish and outlawed weapon of war. That brutal attack, it will be remembered, was led by Count Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law. It is reasonable to believe that the Ethiopians have not forgotten it.

With Italy's North African empire fast crumbling under the blows of the British land, sea and air forces, East Africa is isolated, cut off from reinforcements and supplies. Its doom is as sealed as was the doom of Carthage. Its fall waits only on the fall of Libya when the weight of British attacks can be directed upon it. In the near-by Sudan Haile Selassie marks time until he is called to resume the throne of the Lion of Judah and receive the fealty of his tribal chiefs.

The black barbarians, it seems certain, will return to power, and the white barbarians of the Fascist regime will be overthrown—Courier-Journal.

Drama Dept. Holds
December-January
Sessions Jointly

The Drama Department of the Woman's Club held its postponed meeting from December and its regular January meeting jointly yesterday afternoon at the club home which proved to be very outstanding in interest and enthusiasm.

Members and a few visitors arrived at the club home at one o'clock, each with a covered dish, and at 1:30 a delightfully planned luncheon was served buffet style. Those attending were seated at ten card tables. The big table held a center piece of pretty roses and a lovely bouquet was also placed on the piano.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Norman Frey, Mrs. Ronald Jones, Mrs. Paul Boyd, Mrs. J. C. Suggs, Mrs. S. R. Mauldin and Mrs. Bertie Pigue.

Immediately following the luncheon, Mrs. James Warren, the chairman, presided over the business session. The roll call was made and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Robert Graham. The main discussion during the business period was concerning the open meeting of the Woman's Club in March at which time this department will be host. Mrs. Warren appointed Mrs. Harvyl Boaz as chairman of the committee to arrange a program for that meeting.

Mrs. Warren then turned the meeting over to the program leaders, Mrs. William H. Atkins and Mrs. Robert Graham. Mrs. Graham introduced Mrs. Malcolm Smith, a member of the South Fulton High school faculty, who presented members of her dramatic class in a most enjoyable I-act comedy, "The Witless Witness." Billy Stem and Ruth Ellen Valentine were the two characters with Bobby Palsgrove acting as property man. Mrs. Smith gave a most interesting synopsis of the play and its author, preceding the presentation.

Mrs. Bertie Pigue was then presented and she gave current events of drama, mentioning a few of the most popular players on Broadway, some of whom were Ed Wynn, Ethel Barrymore and Catherine Hepburn.

Mrs. Pigue's discussion concluded this unusually interesting program and the meeting adjourned.

Attending were thirty-seven members, three of who were new members—Mrs. Bill Holman, Mrs. R. E. Sanford and Mrs. Robert Long. Three visitors, Mrs. William Woodburn, Mrs. Robert Palmer and Mrs. H. M. Garnett of Spartanburg, S. C. attended.

MISS ANN LINTON IS HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Honoring her daughter, Miss Ann Linton, on her seventh birthday, Mrs. Clifton Linton was hostess to twenty-three boys and girls at her home on Maple Avenue yesterday afternoon. Each little guest presented Ann a lovely birthday gift.

Games were enjoyed throughout the party and Mrs. Linton conducted a clever shooting contest, this being won by Charles Wade.

Late in the afternoon, the children gathered around the dining table where a pretty birthday cake, holding seven burning candles, formed the centerpiece. After Ann blew the flames from the candles, Mrs. Linton served ice cream and cake and gave each guest a balloon as a favor.

Those present with the honoree were Charles Wade, Martha Sisson, Jimmy Sisson, Barbara Askew, Wade Askew, David Daniels, Alice Coleman, Jimmy Coleman, Billy Gregory, Mary Ann Hill, Betty Bowen, Betty Johnson, Claudene Wade, Algie Wade, Dottie Edwards, LaMarr Edwards, Peggy Sue Cummings, Joan Nelms, Buddy Valentine, Joel Golden, Nancy Breeden and Dorothy Tooms.

LIBERTY W. M. U.

BROTHER BANDITS ARE INDICTED FOR MURDER IN NEW YORK KILLINGS

New York.—Precisely 24 hours after they had terrorized a lunch-hour crowd of mid-Manhattan pedestrians, killed two men and wounded two others, today on first degree murder charges.

Description by an assistant district attorney as "walking arsenals of destruction," they remained under heavy guard in the Bellevue hospital prison ward.

Possessors of long police records and several aliases, they were booked as William Esposito, 28, and his brother, Anthony, 36. They were known to the police also as Di Stefano brothers.

William was shot in the leg during the 20-minute gun-battle yesterday and, like his brother, was beaten severely on the head when subdued by police and bystanders.

LIVE CARTRIDGES ARE FOUND IN SUPPOSEDLY BLANK AMMUNITION

Fort Dix, N. J.—Brigadier General Ralph K. Robertson, acting commanding general of the post and the 44th division, disclosed today that a number of live cartridges had been discovered in supposedly blank ammunition being issued to troops for use in a combat problem.

Issuance of the "blanks" was "immediately recalled from the troops before any were fired," Robertson said. He added that "an investigation is being conducted."

Officials said the "guard cartridges" found in the allotment were capable of inflicting deadly wound.

Officers explained that "guard cartridges" are deadly and normally used by Army sentries. It was stated at the post public relation office, however, that none are used here. Fort Dix sentries have blank ammunition in their rifles.
