There is . . . nothing that keeps the heart young like sympathy, like giving oneself with enthusiasm to some worthy thing or cause.—Anonymous.

What's The Matter With Fulton

The title of this editorial is certainly no intention to capitalize on the fame of the editorial written by the late great William Allen White, though it is no secret that burning in the heart of every small town editor is the desire to accomplish for his community what White accomplished for his own Emporia, Kansas.

Though God has not endowed us with the inimitable greatness of that immortal editor, we are in no wise handicapped by the lack of a sixth sense that tells us that we are in a rut, so vicious that the population of this city has not grown more than 1000 in number in the past 36 years. When you stop to think about it, we have not grown at all, the actual birth rate of the city would take care of that figure in 36 years.

Then what's wrong? Here we are situated in one of the most strategic transportation centers in the whole United States. Yet for all the advantage we take of this vital accommodation we would just as well be situated on a high bluff away from civilization.

We have been in your midst nearly two years. Not a week goes by but that some of our good merchants tell us that what we need is a few more steady payrolls to bolster the ones that we have. How true. Yet stop for a moment to ponder the predicament of the Henry I. Seigel Company. For several weeks now Manager Leo Greengrass has been advertising for machine operators, experienced and inexperienced to take care of his normal production. Mr. Greengrass employs mostly women, but we are indebted to him for some very important information. He says that he receives enough applications from unemployed men to staff a good sized factory. Most of the applicants live in the rural areas and are heads of families. Unable to seek employment in their native city they leave the vicinity and go elsewhere to seek jobs, thus depriving the city of its rightful buying public.

What employment inducement do we have to offer the great middle class of workers who would care to settle in a town the size of Fulton?

In the first place, with rental housing almost non-existent where would you put an additional 100 families if a factory were to settle here needing 400 to 500 workers (based on national average 5 to family). More mythical than rental housing is the possibility of home-ownership, what with the little inducement offered to make home loans.

What have we as a community done to package our wares and sell them to the Nation?

Once we tried to accept this inertia as complacency, but then we attend the meetings of such groups as the Illinois Central Service Club and we realize full well that there is no complacency there. Rather there is a resentment of the conditions as they are. Those people want this town to grow. They know that in community growth there is vitality and progress and economic stability for them and their families.

Then let us ask a few questions. Is there a lack of leadership, or is there a leadership so selfish and self-centered that they do not want competition? What have we done to encourage farm to market trading? Are we offering the proper inducements, community-wise and bargain-wise to interest out-of-towners in trading in this city? Do we show the proper appreciation to our industries for what they mean to our livelihood?

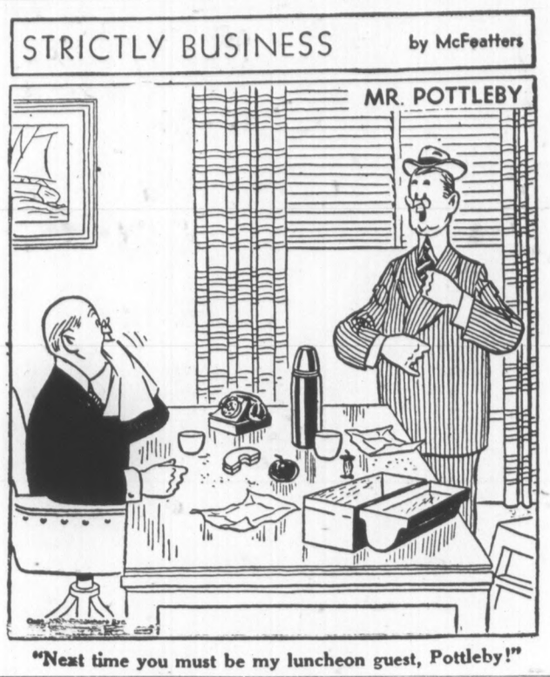
This editorial is brought about by a visit to our neighboring city of Mayfield. On last Saturday the streets were jammed with shoppers. They were not window-shopping either, for most of them carried packages, large and small. We stopped to inquire of the population of that city and found that it is hardly 2000 larger than Fulton. Yet, we looked around and saw the smoke-stacks that told us there were many, many payrolls there. The Curlee Clothing Co., Pet Milk Co., National Clothing Co., Polenesian Pottery Works, Merit Clothing Co., and a score of others too numerous to mention. Then we go further to Paducah to see a city growing with every day. . . then look at the new expansion at Murray, Paris, Dresden , , , and then we come back to Fulton . . . period.

There is no need to apologize for this editorial. We have certainly proved to you our loyalty and our great desire to see this city stand among the best in the South as a community of wide-awake citizens, because this is our home, too, you know.

We cannot sit upon a pedestal and use our columns to criticize, because we are certainly not doing that. It means infinitely more to us to praise than to chide our readers, and further what is your business is our business, too. Unless your stores are crowded and your tills are full, we certainly cannot hope to share in the wealth if there is no wealth.

Do you suppose that Erl Sensing was speaking for the majority of the people when he said, "we like Fulton as it is, we don't want it to change one bit." We don't believe that. It is hard to believe that you would tell one editor one thing and then turn around and tell another a different story.

We invite your solution to the problems of Fulton. Frankly we'd like to know if there's something we can do to help or should we all go down in a rabbit hole and say that things are all right as they are.



"Next time you must be my luncheon guest, Pottleby!"

Thank You, Harvey Pewitt

It is with genuine pleasure that the News reports this week that a contract has been let for re-surfacing of the Middle Road, which has long been promised by political leaders in this and adjoining counties.

It is with greater enthusiasm then, that we make known the indefatigable efforts of Representative Harvey Pewitt in coordinating the road program of this section with the ultimate result that at last something definite is known about the State Highway Deparment's plans for road building in Fulton County

We have kept in close touch with Mr. Pewitt in his attempts to get the roads in this immediate vicinity resurfaced and regravelled. He has made innumerable trips to Frankfort and consulted with dozens of Highway officials to bring about this announcement. We know that it must be a source of great satisfaction to him to drive along that road these days and see work started to make it a first class farm-to-market artery. If it is a great personal satisfaction to him, there are no bounds to the gratitude all of us feel for the work that has done to bring about the culmination of this project.

Mr. Pewitt is what is known as a "freshman" in state legislative procedures, but if the work he has done as a so-called freshman is any barometer, then there are greater things to come our way as he becomes a senior-legislator. He had been in the State Legislature only a few months when he did unprecedented work in passing a bill to materially assist our local school system. The bill that was passed in the eleventh-hour of the regular session last year was subsequently vetoed by the Governor, but the veto did not in any way minimize the outstanding strategy planned by Mr. Pewitt and Senator Charlie Waggoner in bringing about the passage of the bill.

Fulton and Hickman Counties, and the First District, is indeed fortunate in having such men serve them in the State Legislature. If we in our humble way, can ever help them to remain in such capacities, we are certainly going to pitch in our nickel's worth to do it.

Alcoholics Anonymous

The Duponts of Wilmington, Deleware decided that they would sober up some of their thirsty employes. Thus the Dupont Company is one of the first outstanding concerns in the country to challenge alcoholism as a disease and treat it as a health problem. The Alcoholics Anonymous system is reported to have saved the lives of 180 Dupont employes.

"When an alcoholic stops drinking he is somebody; he is a man of character and intelligence," said Dr. George H. Gehrnann, Dupont Medical Director, who added "I believe that we have actually saved the lives of those 180 Dupont employes who are members of AA now. If these alcoholics had not joined AA, in all probability they would be dead or insane by now."

Thirty-four of the graduates from Duponts Alcoholic Anonymous class have been promoted to positions in supervisory posts since they took the cure. Hurrah for them, and hip-hip-hurrah for the good old Dupont Company.

The Belle of the Bevy

Among the six "top" women of 1948 chosen by the Women's National Press Club last week was Grandma Moses. And here, indeed, is a pin-up girl worthy to be America's Sweetheart.

Grandma Moses is the answer to pessimists about America's future. Spritely and gay, she wears her 88 years with a dash of mischief, moving among her enchanting canvases as nimbly as she has moved for a lifetime among her spiced pickles and jellies. Who says that American democracy has grown old and tired, timid and conservative? Take a look at Grandma Moses, launching into the Great American Success Story only 12 years ago but with a childlike eye, a blithe spirit, and a Yankee intrepidity that glow in the reds and blues and yellows of her fresh and gladsome pictures.

It is time for Whistler's Mother to move over. Here is a grandma to be whistled at.

by ALICE AND ME

Last Saturday was a day with the kind of sun that breeds beauty, birds and blooms so Alice and I took advantage of that weather to take a tour of the flower gardens and yards in the country.

We found ourselves on the road that leads to Mayfield, which used to be farmland on the edge of town and where a wide band of modern homes has developed and keeps spreading outward. As we started the drive through the maple trees, well within our memory was the time, not so many years ago, when R. H. Wade planted those trees and we suddenly felt the beauty of that shady lane and within us came a feeling of gratitude for his thoughtfulness in that far-distant day.

We were first attracted by the rich beauty of the lake on the R. H. White estate. Then, across the road the rolling lawn, which its dominated by a background of weeping willows, and so well kept by its owner and flower hobbyist, Dr. J. C. Hancock.

The Wade maples left us just as we approached the lovely A.W. Mullins home where flowers overflowed much of the lawn space. Across the road the miniature Cape Cod cottage, with its picture window framing an antique lamp, is a dream come true for Evelyn and Ish Huffman. In the neighborhood is the rustic log house of the Clarence Stephens', nestled among the tall trees, which are a constant joy to them . . . in the winter as a protection against the severe elements and in the summer an even greater protection from the penerating rays of Old Sol.

On the spacious lawn of the Paul DeMyers' the squirrels were having a field day scampering here and there.

It must have been with the Carl Hastings' orchard in view that Alice and I journeyed to Clinton one day not too long ago and bought two Paducah apple trees for our own yard. But there will be many a day tacked on to our fast growing years before the blossoms on our own spindly trees give forth with the same outburst of grandeur that comes from the Hastings' acres.

On down the highway we came to the Ernest West home where the myriads of flowers in their yard have a fairy look.

In Water Valley we stopped for a visit with friends in the Citizens Bank and watched farmers around Paxton's Friendly Store as they talked over their spring planting problems. A little girl in a blue skirt was enjoying the sunshine and entertaining herself by skipping up and down the steps by the store. A boy, with a basketball, was on his way to the schoolground to shoot a few goals.

As we left Water Valley we were reluctant to leave the white clapboard home of Warren and Tops Johnson, with the lush pfitzer junipers, the tulips of all colors and the contrast of the purple iris to the snow whiteness of the spirea.

As our drive ended we felt that these people out on their farms live less tensely than we in town.

So—we leave the farm lands to this April, the month that is known as the giddy month, the child that will become summer.

Farmers--Do You Want Social Security?

By Claud L. Scroggs
(From the Southern Agriculturist)

Farmers and hired workers on farms will be included under Social Security if Congress passes legislation recommended by President Truman and introduced by Congressman Doughton of North Carolina. Only one word will describe the scope of this legislation—it's colossal! Congress won't be ready to vote on the bill before midsummer. By that time they hope to have completed hearings to determine whether farmers want to be included under the Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance Plan and whether they should be included. Some farmers aren't sure themselves. They want to know how thepl an would work and how much it will cost them.

In order to give a clearer picture of just what Social Security for farm people would mean, we have attempted to answer some of the important questions farmers are asking about the proposed legislation. Here ahev are:

1. What kinds of protection would farm people be eligible for under the proposed legislation?

Answer: Self-employed farmers and farm laborers would get the same type of benefits as workers now covered by Social Security. When retired at age 65 or later, they would be eligible for monthly retirement benefits for themselves and their wives, and for any children under 18 years of age. If the insured person should die at any time before retirement, monthly benefits would be paid to widows and surviving children under 18, or to parents chiefly dependent on an insured single person. If the insured dies without leaving a survivor eligible for benefits, a single lumpsum benefit would be paid to the nearest relative or to the person paying his funeral expenses. An insured farmer or farm worker who becomes permanently disabled before retirement age would be eligible for benefits at the time of disability (after a six months disability waiting period), if Congress approves this new type of social Security protection.

2. How would a farmer or farm worker qualify for retirement?

Answer: Any previous record of off-the-farm work under Social Security coverage would count inqualifying at age 65 or at death. To be fully insured farmers would have to be credited with employment record of at least 13 calendar quarters to qualify, although it is proposed that some liberalized provision be made for farmers now over 65 or approaching 65. To be fully insured during a calendar "quarter", one must earn $50.00 or more.

3. How much would monthly retiremept benefits be for farm people?

Answer: Benefits would be determined by the amount of yearly earnings and the number of years the insured person is under the program before retiring. The bill plans to count the highest five consecutive wage record years as a basis for determining benefits.

Widows, wives, and women farm employees when qualified may begin receiving benefits at age 60. Men cannot receive benefits before age 65 unless permanently disabled.

4. Under the new bill, could a farmer continue to operate his farm and start receiving benefits at age 65?

Answer: No. He would have to retire. However, he could earn as much as $50 per month from his farm and or other employment and still receive full benefits.

5. How would self-employed farmers report their income for Social Security purposes and what would the payment amount to?

Answer: It is proposed that self-employed farmers pay 2 1-4 percent Social Security tax on their annual earnings. The small farmers with meager earnings would pay the tax on the basis of subsistence wages which they allot themselves, say $11.25 on a $500 income. No farmer would pay more than $108 a year, since $4800 is proposed as the taxable maximum. Payment could be made quarterly or once a year as is permitted at present for payment of income taxes. Plans are to include the Social Security tax as a part of regular income tax forms to reduce record keeping.

6. How will contributions be reported for farm laborers and share croppers?

Answer: A stampbook plan like Danish farmers use is favored. Farmers with hired hands would buy Social Security stamps at a Post Office or from the rural mail carrier. Each hired hand would secure a stampbook from the nearest Social Security Office or from the Post Office for each quarter of employment, and stamps would be pasted in the stampbook in denominations that would represent four percent of his earnings. Two percent would be contributed by the employer and two percent deducted from the hired hand's wages. Household servants on the farm would be under the same regulations. It is probable that farmers with large numbers of hired hands could choose to make quarterly pay-roll reports.

In the case of share croppers, the landlord and the cropper probably would have to decide if the share cropper was self-employed or an employee of the owner of the land.

Pontiac—Division of General Motors

Even Better than it Looks!

When you observe its fresh and fleet new beauty, it might seem unbelievable when we say that the 1949 Pontiac is even better than it looks. But after you've experienced its really exciting performance, we're sure you, too, will agree that in basic goodness, it surpasses its own good looks!

It's hard to believe a car so low-priced could combine the flashing sleekness of Pontiac's new styling . . . the gracious comfort of Pontiac's new Vision-Aire interiors . . . and the almost incredible smoothness of Pontiac's exclusive "Travelux" Ride. Add to those unique attractions, the "zing" . . . the economy and proved dependability of Pontiac's famous improved straight eight and six cylinder engines . . . and the matchless driving enjoyment of GM Hydra-Matic (optional at extra cost) and you've got something almost irresistible! There's no better time than now to see it and place your order.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 1, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of son unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?" (Rom. 6:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." (Gal. 6:8).

Customers' Corner

Many millions of housewives in several thousand communities have helped to build A&P by their patronage, their suggestions and yes, their complaints.

Through them we have learned much about what women like or dislike and have tried always to conduct our business accordingly.

You can do a great deal to help us improve our service to you by telling us what pleases you or displeases you in your daily contact with our stores and our people.

All of our employees would be glad if you would point out whenever we fail to meet your needs or to make your shopping pleasant and economical. Please write:

MASSEY-HARRIS Clipper Combine...

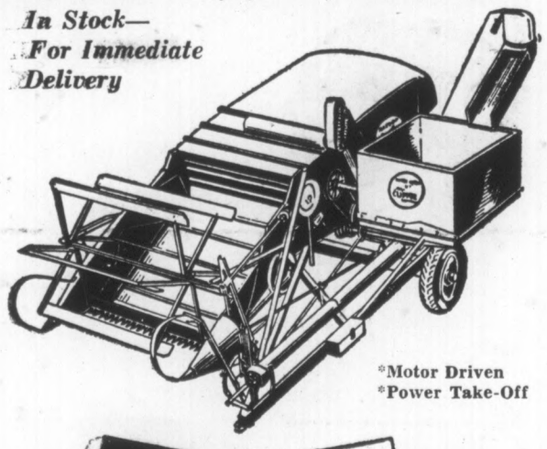
In Stock— For Immediate Delivery



*Motor Driven
*Power Take-Off

STILL THE Recognized Leader IN ANY GRAIN HARVEST

Proved experience in more than 110 different crops . . . strength to take tough jobs in stride . . . ability to save down and tangled grain other combines often give up as hopeless—that's the kind of crop insurance you get when you put the Massey-Harris Clipper to work on your farm.

And that famous Clipper 3-point construction (1) Full six (or seven) foot cut, (2) 5-foot rasp bar cylinder, (3) Full-width straight thru separation all add up to unequalled grain and money-saving advantages when you combine the Clipper way. Remember, the Clipper is backed by 8 years field experience in crops from tiny blue grass to the largest beans. That's the kind of combine efficiency you can rely on to handle your crop with profit-building dependability and speed. Stop in the next time you're in town. Ask us for complete details on the Massey-Harris Clipper. We have a catalog for you.

UK SCHOLARSHIP EXAMS SLATED FOR MAY 2-4

Examinations for various scholarships to the University of Kentucky will be given May 2, 3 and 4 in 11 cities throughout the state, according to an announcement from the University's Personnel Office.

All high school seniors who have applied for scholarships must take these examinations even though they may already have taken UK classification tests in their schools. Students who have not previously made application for a University of Kentucky scholarship may do so at the time and place indicated below, and take examination immediately. Applicants should report to the examination center in the city nearest their home at 10 a.m. on the date indicated.

The examinations in this vicinity will be given at the following places: McCracken County Court House, Paducah, May 4; Snell Hall on the campus of Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, May 2; Room 205 Speed Building, Speed Scientific School, Louisville, May 2; Elizabethtown City Hall, Elizabethtown, May 3; First District School, Sixth and Scott Streets, Covington, May 4; Personnel Office, University of Kentucky campus, Lexington, May 4.

PLANS MADE FOR 4-H DAIRY FOODS DEMONSTRATIONS

Plans for the 1949 National 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstration program are under way in Kentucky, according to the State Extension Service. It is the only nationally sponsored 4-H club program devoted entirely to demonstrations. Members enrolled in a 4-H Foods project may participate.

Last year Kentucky named 51 county winners. State honors for individuals went to Carol Williams, Oldam county, whose demonstration "How to make a Charlotte Russe" was given 4 times to 250 persons. Lorene Yaden and Janet Hibbard, of Harlan county, won the team award with their demonstration "Custard Desserts" presented nine times to an audience of 655. Based on a survey of 41 states conducting the 1948 program, an average of 32 persons attended the 3,758 dairy foods demonstrations given by 4-H'ers.

The program seeks to show the value of dairy products to general health.

WEAKLEY COUNTY HOSPITAL

By Randall L. Cashion

Special lobbys, winding stairways,
Long dim halls and smooth dark floors.
Each side lined with tiny bedrooms
With a number on each door.

Furniture so neat and tidy,
Service tables by white beds,
Chairs and rockers for the callers,
Electric signal at the head.

Lovely flowers so sweetly blooming
Upon stands and window sills
Bringing fragrant hopeful wishes
To the dear ones who are ill.

Each room holds a patient suffering,
Some with faces white and spent
Clinging to the white robed nurses,
Mercy angels Heaven sent.

Hearing footsteps, muted voices,
Sterilizers steady hum.
Scent of ether drifting downward
Means an operation's done.

Surgeons moving swift and silent
Nerves are taunt but hearts are brave,
Daily heavily waging battles
Snatching men from ill timed graves.

Yes, I know the one great Giver,
He who knows each souls travels,
Lends His aid to these brave workers,
For without Him man must fail.

OXYGEN THERAPY is a method used to assist us in helping to correct the colon by the use of pure OXYGEN and WATER.

PICTURE 1—Shows your colon as it should appear.

PICTURE 2—Is a typical case of colitis, as it appeared at one of our colon clinics. More than likely your colon will show two or more of the defects depicted in Picture 2. This illustrates ptosis, or a falling of the transverse colon. Also shown is a spastic colon colitis condition, with abnormal loops and adhesions caused by constipation.

Letters To The Editor

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN
Washington, D. C.
April 11, 1949

Mrs. Johanna Westpheling
Fulton County News
Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Just a note to tell you that we have read with great interest your editorial in the Fulton County News of April first relative to more women entering politics and public life. and that we hope you will keep up the good work. Our AAUW national Committee on the Status of Women, under the chairmanship of Judge Lucy Somerville Howorth, has an active program to encourage more in public affairs, from the local level on up to the international. We are receiving many fine reports from AAUW branches throughout the country of their success in supporting able women for office. And we find it very encouraging to come across an editorial such as yours, pointing out that the women should be in there "where they ought to be, guarding with their men folks the welfare of the city and county."

Sincerely yours,
Marjorie L. Temple,
Status of Women Associate

GOVERNOR MAY BE KY. DAM SPEAKER

Governor Earle C. Clements has tentatively accepted an invitation to address members of the Kentucky Lake Association at its annual meeting at Kentucky Dam State Park on June 24.

Governor Clements said in a letter to President Ed Paxton, Jr. of the lake association that he would not make the commitment definite, due to the possibility of conflict with his official duties; but that he is anxious to attend the meeting and will make every effort to do so .

Paxton stated that the governor's presence is regarded as so important, that the June 24 meeting date might be changed in order to suit Mr. Clements' convenience. However, notices of the annual meeting, together with invitations urging members to bring their friends with them.

County Judge E. J. Bennett Will Seek Re-Election In August Primary (In Hickman County)

To The Voters Of Hickman County

The voters of Hickman County, all of whom I number among my many friends, will elect county officers this year to serve them another four years.

This spring weather makes an "ole horse" that has been over the road, want to run. Last year I had the misfortune of being quite ill for a wrile and said then that I would not permit my desire to run for re-election as County Judge to interfere with my chances of improved health. Since that time, I have regained my strength, my health has greatly improved, I am as fit as a "fiddle" and I am ready to run.

While I am not as young as I once was, I am still young enough to be active and alert, progressive and interested in good government as it affect the lives of my friends and fellow citizens. With the vast and rich experience that I have had as a public official of Hickman County, coupled with my inherent desire to be of service to my friends and fellowmen, I take this means of announcing that I shall submit my candidacy for County Judge to the people of Hickman County, subject to their action on August 6, 1949 in the Democratic primary.

It would be fool-hardy for me to submit my personal life character and qualifications to the people of Hickman County. All people here know me and have known me all of my life. I know everyone in Hickman County and with the 12 years service that I have given you, having served as County Judge from 1930 to 1938, and again this present term from 1945 to 1949, I submit my case to you and am willing to abide by your decision.

Before entering this race for re-election. I want again to publicly express my very deep appreciation for the many past favors and for the trust that you have placed in me in years gone by.

There are many important decisions required of a county judge. He presides over the fiscal court of the county and must work in harmony with the magistrates of the various districts elected by the people.

Roads are one of the most important subjects to deal with that is required of the county judge and the magistrates. Under the turnpike system of roads which is being used in the county and state, the county roads and bridges and the setting-up of rural roads is governed by the magistrates by district. It has always been my policy, and it shall continue to be if re-elected, to cooperate with and work in harmony with the magistrates of the county in setting-up our road program in the interest of the majority to secure as many roads as is possible and to keep maintenance cost of the roads that we now have at as low a cost as is feasible for correct maintenance.

Fiscal affairs of the county are likewise of major importance to the taxpayers and people of the couny. I shall work with the court and other officers for economy and efficiency in county government.

Appointments of guardians, administrators, committees, members of the budgeting committee and the board of equalizers will be given my particular attention, and I shall see to it that all parties receive fair treatment and justice in such matters.

I am proud of the record that I have made as the presiding officer over the quarterly court which deals with civil cases of the county. I have been able to work out equitable settlements in many cases and over my 12 years as Judge I have only had one case reversed by the circuit court.

My county court cases have been equally successful. I have tried all cases with fairness and justice, and have treated all in like manner.

The health and welfare problems of this county, doing what we can for the needy, the blind, the unfortunates, will receive my continued support and diligent work and help.

I shall continue to render in the future the same service, which has always been to the best of my ability, that I have rendered in the past. I shall not attempt to make a house-to-house campaign. I shall not neglect the duties of the office that I now hold. I will, however, attempt to see as many of you as possible personally. I hope you will continue to feel free to consult me with your problems that we may work together to solve them to the interest of Hickman County as a whole. I shall at all times be at your service, and will continue to work with all county officers in the best interest of the people.

I shall very greatly appreciate your personal help, influence and vote. I shall reward the confidence you have, or may this year place in me by re-electing me your County Judge.

If elected, or defeated, I am your friend, as always,

E. J. BENNETT.

Get ready for BETTER LIVING

Plan for it - ROOM by ROOM

"I'd like to have a special circuit in the cellar for my power tools," said Mr. Smith.

"And I'd like to have an outlet right here for a floor lamp, and a number of them in the kitchen for my electric mixer and other appliances," said Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are lucky — and foresighted. They're planning their electric wiring while their home is still in the blueprint stage. Too many people don't realize the *in*adequacy of their wiring until after they've moved into their new home.

The time to plan the wiring — whether you're building or just remodeling—is before you start construction. Your wiring, like the placement of doors, windows, and heating equipment, should be a part of the plans.

Go over each room carefully. Start with the living room. You won't have to worry about where you might want to put floor lamps, table lamps, electric clocks or radios if convenience outlets are properly placed. One rule of Adequate Wiring is to have an outlet every 12 feet on unbroken walls, and at least one outlet on each section of wall with more than three feet between openings. Then outlets will always be within reach of the cord on any lamp or appliance.

Now check the bedrooms, the bath, the kitchen.

How about switches? Will you have to cross a dark room to turn on the light? Do you want your living room switches to operate some of the floor lamps? Would you like to turn the garage lights off and on from inside the house? Such conveniences cost very little more when planned in advance.

How much electricity will your house need now? A year from now? Five years? Do you hope to buy a home freezer? An electric range? On both your present and future needs depends the size of your entrance wire. An entrance cable of 3-wire No. 6 wire costs just a few cents more per foot, and will save you possible future replacement.

To be sure, wire AHEAD. All the values of your home — for living, for selling, for renting — depend on it.

Send for "Pass the Electricity, Please" a profusely illustrated, non-technical, easily understood booklet on Adequate Wiring. Whether you're building, remodeling, or just thinking about it, you'll want this handy booklet. It's yours for the asking. Fill in and mail the coupon. Or a penny postcard will do.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

The U.S. Forest Service recently released a raft of information on our national forests and, frankly, we were quite amazed at the extensive U.S. holdings that annually serve as a playground for millions of outdoorsmen.

First, there are 152 national forests scattered through 36 states, Alaska and Puerto Rico, with a total of 180,000,000 acres. This extensive acreage serves in producing timber and grazing land for livestock. In fact, this is an important aspect of the U.S. forests; yet it is the recreational benefits that gain the greatest recognition. For instance, a recent survey shows that more than 2,000,000 head of deer, elk and other big game animals—about one-third of the entire population—live in the national forests. Too, there are approximately 90,000 miles of unposted streams and 1,500,000 acres of fish-producing lakes. And last year 4,500,000 fishermen and hunters practiced their sport in the forests.

Some other facts gleaned from the report of Lyle F. Watts, chief of the U.S. Forest Service, were that the forests contain 4,500 camping and picnicking sites, 230 winter sports areas, 400 organization camps for group outings, 77 wilderness and roadless areas and 50,000 miles of highways and secondary roads. More than 20,000,000 people visit the forests each year, and an estimated 50,000,000 people motor through them annually.

Operating these national forests is big business, and surprisingly enough some of them actually pay their own way with income exceeding expenditures.

The overall cost of operating the forests in 1948 was $32,000,000. In addition about $13,000,000 was spent for roads and in buying new land. These expenditures were partially offset by income that totalled $25,000,000.

What does it all mean? Well, first, as a citizen of the United States these national forests are yours to enjoy as vacation spots. And there is actually more than one acre for every man, woman and child. Second, these forests, under proper supervision, mean that in the generations ahead we still will have a wilderness outdoors—places where you can fish for trout and other game fish: places where you can see bear and elk. And that's worth protecting always.

We predicted some weeks back that next fall's duck and goose season would be longer and the bag limit more lenient than during this past season Now a release from. the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service bears out this forecast.

Although Albert M. Day, director of the Wildlife Service, has not openly said that the season will be longer, he is on record as saying that the outlook is "encouraging" for more lenient regulations. And his reasoning is based on a survey just completed of waterfowl wintering grounds.

This annual waterfowl inventory in the southland and Mexico disclosed that the continent's duck and goose population has increased. A heavy decline in the number of coots, however, has kept the overall 1949 waterfowl count at about the same figure as for 1948.

Mr. Day credited the increase shown in the wintering grounds to improved conditions in the southland for waterfowl and to the stringent hunting regulations the last two seasons. Also Mr. Day said that the Wildlife Service's refuges helped by providing resting and feeding grounds for the birds on their migration south.

"The regulations have been purposely severe during the past two years," said Mr. Day, "to overcome the 1945-47 tailspin in waterfowl populations. The duck and goose increase in the 1949 inventory indicates that the regulations have had the desired effect and have halted the decline."

Setting of regulations for next season naturally will depend largely on the summertime survey in the breeding areas in the north. But duck hunters are almost assured of a longer season this coming winter.

There has been lots of yelling the last two years about the short season and the comparatively small bag limit, but apparently this did have the desired effect. Now that it is over, let's forget about the strict regulations and plan for the future. And let's not let the "tailspin" in waterfowl populations happen again.

A gauntlet is an armored glove used by knights in medevial times.

Dignity consists not in possessing honors, but in the consciousness that we deserve them.

We say FREEZING is the modern way to preserve

it's easier! it's cooler! it's quicker!

NO hot-water baths! NO arduous boiling for hours! NO scalding of jars, rubbers and lids! NO cooling jars to watch and turn!

Some day you'll wonder why you ever stood over a hot stove for hours to preserve, when it's so easy with a home freezer.

Just picture yourself preserving this modern, easier way:

1. You scald your vegetables.
2. Pack and seal them in sanitary, airtight containers.
3. Put them in your home freezer! And that's all!

We have the General Electric Home Freezer that's roomy enough to hold 280 pounds of food. There's also a smaller model—4-cu-ft—that holds 140 pounds. You can preserve foods the year round—and keep them delicious and fresh up to a year.

General Electric Home Freezers are available in 4- and 8-cu-ft models. Immediate delivery.

General Electric Home Freezer

New Reduced Price! $319.00

THE G-E Home Freezer is, we think, the finest home freezer you can buy. We say this after making comparisons throughout the field.

For one thing, it's dependable. In the General Electric Home Freezer is the very same type refrigerating system used in the General Electric Refrigerator. And, more than 1,700,000 of these systems have been in use ten years or longer.

The General Electric cabinet is called the "Perfect Seal." Repeated laboratory tests have proved that the cabinet keeps food frozen for several days after the current has been shut off.

After all, we don't have to sell you on the General Electric name. You probably have as much faith in this great electrical organization as we have.

With the General Electric Home Freezer, you get a written five-year protection plan, consisting of a one-year warranty against defective material or workmanship—plus an additional four-year protection on the sealed-in refrigerating system.

Remember, when you're buying a home freezer you're making a long-term investment. So invest in the best. Invest in a dependable, proved General Electric Home Freezer.

You may use our CONVENIENT PAYMENT PLAN to purchase your new G-E Home Freezer.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

REMEDIES AND HEALTH

When I remember all the folk remedies that were supposed to be specifics for certain diseases, I wonder why any one in Fidelity or elsewhere would admit being sick. Right at hand all the time were teas and herbs and salves and poultices and blisters and pills that should have routed even a plague. And yet chills and fevers raged every summer, as soon as the malaria mosquitoes could wake up and get into action. No. amount of sulphur and molasses and burdock bitters and sassafras tea and onion poultices could keep the dread "ager" away. When other things failed, the believers in these remedies broke down and sought the family doctor, who gave enough quinine to kill plenty of disease germs and also to set a dozen brass bands sounding in the ears of the patient. In most cases, however, few people learned much from this experience and were ready to try the home-made remedies again.

One of the nonsensical things that we hear repeated until one wonders whether anybody ever believed it is that people used to be so much healthier than they are now. "Tell it to the Marines" or the Army or the Navy, for these same organizations have incontestable proof that primitive people of our time fail most often to pass the tests for armed srevices. The boy from the cabin is just that, for the most part, a boy from a cabin. It is no disgrace to be from a cabin, of course, but primitive ways of securing and keeping health just fail to stand up under scrutiny as compared with more modern ones. Just today one of my students remarked about the large families that used to be, quite sure that all twelve of them lived always. I was forced to remind him of the great loss of life among small children in earlier days and not too long ago, either, since medical care was so inadequate. In spite of the published facts about the relative physical fitness of the boy reared in a fairly adequate home and the boy reared in a shack, many people still love to brag about the sturdy youngsters that cabins and shacks produce. Would you go so far as to brag about the meat-producing ability of the hog that fed on wild mast as compared with the one fattened by the most recently approved formula?

Thirty years ago there was more sickness in our college in a single week than in an average semester now. It was stylish to be sick, it seems now. The first time a visiting doctor said that a time would come when it would be slightly disgraceful to be sick, some of our faculty and many of our students became offended and wondered whether that fellow was not being actually insulting. Mankind was born to suffer, womankind to suffer more. Woman as the weaker vessel was almost supposed to suffer and to enjoy poor health. If she had physical vigor and could eat like a boy, she was certain to be of a coarse origin, certainly not a refined lady. Most people now who are actually sick and kept away from school apologize for being weaklings and wish for a time when they can go for years at a stretch without any serious ache or pain. I wonder whether any considerable portion of these students of mine take medicine as the older generations of students did. I have seen regular armories of remedies on students' shelves of other years. Maybe the present excellent health conditions of our students coincides with the passing of many of the remedies that we once thought infallible. Maybe the fact that this generation was not swathed in red-hot flannels had something to do with their present health. And I have not heard in years of any one's having to take sulphur and molasses and burdock bitters.

YOUNG CONSERVATIONISTS—Walter Louis Damron, Martin Future Farmer of America member, and 12-year-old blond, blue-eyed Faye Walker, seventh grade pupil at Bible Union School near Latham, are conservation minded. Walter, county champion F. F. A. orator, spoke on "The Land Belongs to Them." Faye wrote the winning essay on "Farming the Conservation Way."

"The profession of law is the only aristocratic element which can be amalgamated without violence with the natural elements of democracy, and which can be advantageously and permanently combined with them."

De Toqueville, famous French scholar and statesman, wrote the foregoing truthful lines in his "Democracy in America" a century ago.

Certainly legal minds have guided the destiny of this nation from its birth until today, and what might have become of the American republic without them is hard to imagine.

All my life I have heard people sneer at lawyers, saying they serve the public only when they have something to gain, and most of my life I have found the contrary to be true.

There is not a community betterment project in Kentucky in this good year 1949 that cannot get the free services of a lawyer for the asking. And every civic organization can use the sound advice of a good lawyer quite often.

Here in western Kentucky lawyers have been generous with their professional work in farmers' organizations—farm bureaus cooperatives, protective organizations for the apprehension and prosecution of thieves.

Recently the Committee for Henderson City and County picked a lawyer, John Palmore, for its president.

If I were to form a business partnership with as many as four persons in it, I would want one of them to be a lawyer. Any civic organization in the state that does not have a lawyer participating in all its councils should get one and apologize for not asking him to join up long ago.

While I'm on the subject of lawyers let me run the risk of being accused of giving a free ad to the legal profession by offering a suggestion to people with all kinds of business transactions. In the educational literature of insurance companies, public health organizations, you are told repeatedly to see your doctor when anything gets the matter with you. Few times if any have you been urged to see a lawyer when you have business deals to make.

Not long ago a man in our county bought a farm for $10,000 Several months later he dug up hisdee d and reread it. It didn't seem to be exactly right, so he took it to a lawyer. He had paid his good money for the life interest of a woman 79 years old and nothing more. For a nominal fee a lawyer would have saved the man a $10,000 headache.

Another man bought a filling station. Paid $5,000 for the real estate and equipment and $4,000 for "good will." Later he got to wondering if he hadn't been goldbricked, and consulted a lawyer. The lawyer told him he had paid four thousand bucks for two words that didn't mean anything tangible or intangible, because the filling station carried with it all possible good will that could be involved.

To civic organizations and to individuals I'd say: See your lawyer.

OLDSMOBILE'S HIGH-COMPRESSION "ROCKET" ENGINE GIVES YOU TOMORROW'S PERFORMANCE ON TODAY'S FUELS

YOU'VE GOT TO DRIVE IT TO BELIEVE IT! You've driven cars with good response. You probably know of engines that are smooth . . . quiet . . . economical. But you can't know how Futuramic in performance an engine can be—until you drive a "Rocket" Engine Oldsmobile! It's an entirely new kind of motoring experience—because the "Rocket" is an entirely new kind of engine!

HIGH-COMPRESSION IS ONLY HALF THE STORY! It's true that the "Rocket" has a high compression ratio . . . 7¼ to 1, in fact. But that's not all. To eliminate noise and vibration, Oldsmobile engineers designed a completely new engine that gives you this high-compression dividend of spectacular action . . . with even greater smoothness and quietness than before.

FIRST OF THE ENGINES OF THE FUTURE! The Oldsmobile "Rocket" begins a new era of Futuramic power. It takes the fullest advantage of present-day fuels. It squeezes more performance from every drop of gasoline. It establishes a lead that other engines will follow in the future.

TRY—"THE NEW THRILL"! Your best test of the "Rocket" will come when you feel that smooth, gathering surge of power yourself. We urge you to see your dealer soon . . . to try this "air-borne sensation" in either the luxurious Oldsmobile "98," or the spectacular new Oldsmobile "88"—the lowest-priced "Rocket" Engine car!
