THE MURRAY LEDGER.

VOL. 88, NO. 24

MURRAY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1911.

$1.00 PER YEAR.

THE VALUE OF ORGANIZATION.

Seven or eight years ago the farmers in the "Black Patch" were selling their tobacco at an average of five cents a pound. This condition had prevailed for several years previously. At $5.00 the hundred pounds there is not much money in raising tobacco. In fact that amount does not cover the cost of production, and the tenant farmers, especially who relied upon an annual crop of tobacco for their living, were sorely pressed to make both ends meet.

It became necessary to do something to remedy the situation, and the Planters' Protective Association was organized in 1904, and the now familiar process of pooling tobacco was begun in West Kentucky and West Tennessee. Recently there was a meeting of the association in Clarksville, Tenn., at which the secretary made a most interesting report as to the business transacted since the inception of the organization. The secretary's figures as to sales of tobacco are as follows:

"1904—24,707 hogsheads; 39,531,200 pounds; $2,637,653.42; net average, $6.67.
"1905—34,638 hogsheads; 55,392,140 pounds; $3,944,227.64; net average, $7.12.
"1906—39,079 hogsheads; 61,615,850 pounds; $5,450,099.81; net average, $8.84.

"1907—60,417 hogsheads; 95,316,905 pounds; $8,135,089.19; net average, $8.54.
"1908—53,676 hogsheads; 81,637,141 pounds; $6,297,645.14; net average, $7.04.

"1909—24,319 hogsheads; 36,478,500 pounds; $4,377,420.00; net average, $9.02.

"1910—32,500 hogsheads; 55,000,000 pounds; $5,750,000; net average, $9.

"Note—The 1910 crop is estimated and based upon sales of about one-half of which had been sold up to June 1, 1911.

"Total—270,336 hogsheads; 429,971,738 pounds; $36,592,136.20.

"The average price for seven years prior to the organization, from best estimates, was about five cents per pound. The amount for which 429,971,377 pounds would have sold at that rate is $21,498,586.85.

"The difference between this amount and that for which it actually sold through the association is $15,093,548.34, showing a saving to the planters of over two million dollars annually."

The Planters' Protective Association is made up of tobacco growers in nine counties in Kentucky, and eight counties in Tennessee. While it has not always had plain sailing, it is said to have been from the beginning the most successful of all the tobacco pooling organizations in the State. The summary of its accomplishments shows that it has "made good" and that the 15,000 growers who compose its members have profited by their affiliation with it. It has raised the standard of tobacco prices in the "Black Patch" to a point where the growing of the product is once more profitable, not alone to its members, but also to the independent growers who have not seen proper to pool their crops.

Figures conclusively demonstrate the value of organization among farmers. A comparison of present conditions in the "Black Patch" with those of ten years ago will convince any fair-minded man that the Planters' Protective Association has been an important factor for general prosperity. In the face of these figures there is justification for the optimistic and enthusiastic tribute which Secretary Bingham pays the organization in closing his report:

"It has rebuilt the homes so ruthlessly wrecked. It has increased the price of lands, and put new life in the weak and despondent. New churches, new schools and new homes attest its revivifying powers. Good roads are even now a possibility. The whole land has been transformed from desolation to newness and thrift. The croaking of the pillager of former days is only heard on the outskirts, but is otherwise lost in the busy hum of an industrious and happy people."

County Committee Meeting.

Notice is hereby given, that a meeting of the Republican County Committee of Calloway county is called at Clay Erwin's office in the city of Murray, Saturday, Sept. 2nd, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. The purpose of the meeting to designate the time and manner of nominating a candidate for representative to be voted for at the regular November election, 1911.

A. DOWNS, Chairman.
CLYDE COLLIE, Sec'y.

IS SEEKING FOR DIVORCE FROM HIS BRIDE OF A DAY.

Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 23.—Arthur Hainline, of the south part of the county, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Della. He alleges that he and the young woman were married at Dukedom February 11, 1911, after a very brief courtship, they having met in Mississippi, and came almost directly to Dukedom, where the ceremony took place before a justice of the peace.

In the petition, which is drawn by W. S. Foy, Mr. Hainline makes some allegations against the young woman that are sensational. He says he discovered that she was not what a wife should be, a few hours after the marriage, and he straightway packed his belongings and left her. She then returned to Mississippi, where she at present resides.

Rheumatism Relieved in 6 Hours.

MORE PLEDGES THAN LAST YEAR.

The books of the Planters' Protective association will close September 2, which date will not only mark the time limit for pledges for the 1911 crop but will end a successful campaign over the western district by John Keys, of Almo, Ky., the association's influential division manager and speaker.

Results of the campaign are now evident. McCracken and Marshall counties have already pledged more than last year and the number of pledges will range far above those of the 1910 crop. Farmers have become interested through the energies of Mr. Keys and with two more weeks ahead of him he hopes to still interest more farmers.

Mr. Keys invaded Marshall and McCracken counties this week and will close the week at Massac to night. Monday night he spoke at Calvert City and Tuesday night he spoke at the Little Union schoolhouse in McCracken county.

On Wednesday night he spoke to a large crowd of farmers at the Holt schoolhouse, this county, and was present at the barbecue and bran dance Thursday at Maxon Mill. He returned to Marshall county last night and was greeted by a large crowd. Calloway and Graves counties will be visited next week and the week following Mr. Keys will visit other points throughout the western district. He will go to Mayfield Monday and assisted by John W. Usher, vice-president of the association, the lively campaign will be put through Graves county.

According to Mr. M. M. Tucker, of Paducah, who has been with Mr. Keys all week; the people are manifesting unusual interest and pledges are coming in rapidly. While Mr. Keys is not to be considered an orator he has established a wide reputation as a speaker and a teller of facts. He is an interesting speaker and gets to the point probably as well as any gifted orator can. He is not only interesting but convincing and to him will go much of the credit for the increased pledges this year. Three years ago Mr. Keys was elected chairman of Calloway county for one year. The year following he succeeded himself and the association, recognizing him as a valuable man, made him division manager for the western district.

The 1909 pledges brought forth between 6,000 and 7,000 hogsheads of tobacco in the western district and officers of the association look forward to a big increase in the amount this year. Paducah Sun.

Thompson School House.

Last Sunday evening, the 13th, Calvin Smith and Miss Lena Swift were happily married at Rev. Monroe Edwards' while seated in their buggy. We think there will be two or three more weddings soon.

Catching tobacco worms is the order of the day. Tobacco is looking fine down this way now, also the corn crop is very fine.

Mack Radford returned from a week's visit in Illinois last Saturday. He reports a nice time and says the crops are fine.

Gemie Beach is putting up a big feed barn.

Bill Crawford and family visited his brother, Dack Crawford, down on west fork last Sunday.

Tom Turnbow visited Mack Radford last Sunday.

Gay Ridd, of Brewers, Ky., visited Wash Carson last Sunday.

—We are having a good school taught at old Thompson this year. We think one of the best schools that has ever been taught here. Ivan Dunn is our teacher, one of Calloway's best christian boys. We wish we had more boys like Mr. Dunn. Everybody likes him fine as a school teacher and we do not think that anybody would make a mistake in employing him to teach their school. We want him to teach our next school. He takes a great interest in the school work, and that is the kind of a teacher it takes to teach a good school. We hope every patron of this district will lend him a helping hand in this school.

Riley Norsworthy and Johnston Langston are still buying cows.

Alex Fulton, of Hardin, has gone to Illinois on a ten days visit.

The Kirksey Telephone company had a meeting of its stockholders for the purpose of raising the capital stock from $1,000.00 to $2,500.00. There was a full turnout of the stockholders. The telephone business is getting to be a great thing down this way.

Mack Riley and wife and Alvis Beach and wife went to Almo last Friday.

Wife Got Tip Top Advice.

"My wife wanted me take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. F. Finkel, of Stroud, Okla. "I said put Buckle's Arnica Salve on it. She did so, and it cured the boil in a short time." Quickest healer of burns, scalds, cuts, corns, bruises, sprains, swellings, festering sores on earth. Try it. Only 25c at Dale & Stubblefield.

Boydsville Mason Dies.

J. E. Poyner, a well known citizen of the Boydsville vicinity died last Wednesday afternoon and was buried at the Boydsville cemetery, Thursday. A peculiar circumstance in connection with his death was the fact that he was thought to be dead several hours before he really expired. Preparations were already being made for the burial when he revived. Word was immediately dispatched to the men who had gathered preparatory to digging the grave to cease operations. The afflicted man had only rallied temporarily and expired later in the same day. His death was caused from measles. He was a member of the Boydsville lodge of Masons, under whose auspices the funeral was held. —Hazel News.

Fall Victim to Thieves.

S. W. Bends, of Coal City, Ala., has a justifiable grievance. Two thieves stole his health for 12 years, they were a liver and kidney trouble. Then Dr. King's New Life Pills liberated them. He's well now. Unrivalled for constipation, malaria, Headache, dyspepsia. 25c at Dale & Stubblefield.

Christian Church.

Services both morning and evening. All are invited to be present at these services. The members are urged not to neglect the Lord's Day services. Morning sermon: "What We Preach." Evening sermon: "How Are We Saved?"

It is hoped that all the members will not forget that our meeting will begin the third Sunday in September, and that now is the proper time to be making our plans for a great season of soul saving and spiritual growth. Let all the members of the Sunday school and as many others as they can, be present Sunday morning at 9:35.

South Hawkins, Minister. Miss Nora Steele, of Gleason, Tenn., arrived here the past week to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Witt T. Holley.

LARGE CROWDS ARE ATTENDING.

Two of the big four picnics in the interest of the tobacco planters of the county have passed into history. The Lynn Grove and Hazel meetings were both rousing gatherings and largely attended. The interest manifested in behalf of the association at these places was indeed gratifying to the local members and many new recruits were added to the ranks. Capt. Stone, of Eddyville, and president of the association, was present and delivered splendid addresses to the people. J. H. Keys, of Almo, and district manager for the western section, was also present and spoke. Close attention was given the speaker and the effect was very evident.

The meeting to be held at Cherry Friday also promises to be largely attended, and upon every hand it is agreed that the meeting for Almo Saturday will be a record breaker. The Almo band is attending the meetings and furnishing the music and the splendid entertainment is appreciated by the hundreds who are attending the gatherings.

Every indication points to an increased percentage of the pledged acreage and a new enthusiasm is being aroused in behalf of the association. The books close the second day of September.

WANDERERS ORGANIZE KENTUCKY CLUB IN OKLAHOMA.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 15.—For the ultimate purpose of reorganizing the Kentucky club a meeting was held here with a large number of the native sons of the famous Bluegrass State present. A Kentucky club was originally organized in Tulsa early in 1908, but since it has been allowed to run down.

The "come back spirit" so characteristic of the Kentuckians was very noticeable and they elected new officers and launched an organization that will be permanent. The following officers were elected:

Ed Crossland, formerly of Mayfield, Ky., president; Conn Linn, Murray, Ky., first vice president; W. I. Williams, Lancaster, Ky., second vice president; Paul Avis, Frankfort, Ky., secretary, and Dan Pace, Murray, Ky., treasurer.

Dr. W. W. Woody, formerly of Louisville, and founder of the local Kentucky Club organization was selected delegate to attend the State meeting which will be held soon.

An accurate and complete list of all Kentuckians in Oklahoma is kept by these clubs, making it a very easy matter to locate a friend, get assistance through friends and in fact the organization is beneficial in numerous ways.

Gov. Cruce, of Oklahoma, is a Kentuckian.

Birthday Dinner.

On Wednesday, Aug. 16th, the children, grand children and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. H. B. Neal, north of Dexter, to surprise him and wife and to celebrate his 50th birthday. All of his children were present, and who are: Garland, Hurdor and Layman, Misses Ellen, Myrtle and Bessie Neal and his married daughter, Mrs. John Morris. The following neighbors were present: Thos. Jones and family, Ben Holt and wife, James Jones and family, John Morris and family, Dock Stroud and family, Joe Walston and family, Arlie Jones and family, Milton Davenport and wife, Mrs. Burnett Jones and children, Mrs. Ella Culver, Peter Morris and family, Mrs. Jim Byars, W. Barnhart, Grandma Morris was present, 83 years old, she seemed to enjoy herself well. By 12 o'clock all the guest had arrived, all were invited into the dining room where the tablecloths were spread and the table was loaded down with everything that was good to eat. Mutton, chicken, ham, all kinds of vegetables, pies, custards, all kinds and sizes of cakes. All had an enjoyable time. After dinner we all repaired to the grove nearby where Mr. Meyers, the photographer, took a picture of the entire crowd. Mr. Henry Neal and wife are among our most substantial citizens and he has a very interesting family of children. Now Mr. Neal and wife we say goodbye hoping you may have many such occasions. W. B.

Mrs. T. D. Smith returned the past week from Clarksville and Cheatham county, Tenn., where she has been the past several weeks the guest of relatives. She was accompanied home by her nephew, Arthur Bracey, who will remain here and attend school the present year.

Independent Improvements.

Officials of the Murray Telephone company have just returned from Paducah, Ky., where they have made arrangements for a toll line to be built from Murray to Paducah. They also advise us that contract has been made and material ordered for lines to be built from Paducah to Cairo, Ill., and to Memphis, Tenn.

With the above named connections the Murray company will be in position to offer their patrons quite an extensive and up-to-date grade of toll service, and we see no reason why with their present business and the excellent local service that is being given by the present management that when the new connections are made why they should not get the cream of the entire telephone business of Calloway county.

When the Murray company entered the field and announced that they were going to build a telephone exchange the people rallied to their support and as a consequence they are today saving the people of Murray close to $1,000.00 per year. The people had been charged excessive rates by the old company, and they were glad to get a chance to get the same service at a cheaper rate and patronize a home industry.

Little Miss Edna Risenboover returned home last week after spending several weeks in Jackson, Tenn., the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Lufman. She was accompanied home by Scott Lufman, who returned to Jackson after a two days' visit here.

SPEAKING FOR ASSOCIATION.

O. J. Jennings will speak next Wednesday night to the tobacco growers of the Landron school district; at Russell's Chapel Friday night; Patterson's store Saturday at 1 o'clock, and at Pleasant Valley Saturday night. All tobacco growers, the ladies and children of each and all of the communities are urged to attend these meetings. Remember only one more week in which to pledge your tobacco if you expect to sign it to the association.

The Wright company, of which the Wright brothers are founders, filed suit in the United States district court of Illinois, against the officers of the international aviation meeting at Chicago, charging them with infringing on their patent rights.

President Meyer of the Western Federation of Miners delivered a lengthy address before the convention of the Colorado Federation of Labor at Colorado Springs, in which he expressed dissatisfaction with the policies of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

Dispatches from Paris and Berlin say that an almost hopeless deadlock has developed in the negotiations over Morocco, owing to the exorbitance of the demands Germany is making on France as the price of her withdrawal from Agadir.

Senator Smith (Rep.), Michigan, chairman of the senate committee on territories, announced at the White House that President Taft had given his approval to a compromise bill framed by the senate and house territories committees admitting Arizona and New Mexico to statehood.

Representatives of the four organizations comprising the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, have issued a strike order at London, England, calling on the 100,000 members of their allied unions.

Her head torn from her body and one arm severed, Mrs. Calvin Lovett was killed at Kalamazoo, Mich., in a mysterious explosion which wrecked her house and killed the entire section of the city in which she lived.

In a special message to congress, President Taft announced his veto of the wool revision bill. The president gave as his reason the fact that there is not now any available information showing how the rates of the wool schedule should be reduced or any data which entitles him to the present bill would accomplish a proper reduction.

A policeman on the regular force of Coatesville, Pa., was the chosen leader of the mob that burned Zachary Walker, the negro slayer of Police Officer Rice, according to private evidence District Attorney Gathright declares he has in his possession.

President Taft sent to congress his message vetoing the resolution admitting Arizona and New Mexico to statehood, basing his objection on the provision in the Arizona constitution making the judiciary subject to the recall. The president vigorously denounced this proposed system as "pernicious and destructive of free government."

Leaders of a mob of more than 1,000 men and boys fought their way into the Coatesville (Pa.) hospital and overpowered the police and physicians on guard, dragging the wounded Zach Walker, a negro, who killed a special watchman, to a farm a quarter of a mile distant and burned him to death on a pile of fence rails.

Twelve persons were seriously injured, two of them fatally, in a trolley accident in the northern section of Philadelphia. The brakes of the car refused to work as it was going down a steep hill. When the trolleyman reversed the car, the fuse was shut and a few seconds later the car jumped the track and crashed into a fence.

Seventy-five armed negroes, bent on wreaking vengeance upon citizens of Durant and Caddo, Okla., seized a Missouri, Kansas & Texas freight train and announced their intention of "cleaning out" the two towns.

Mrs. Alice M. Billings, of Chicago, 89 years old, mother of C. K. G. Billings, the multi-millionaire head of the Peoples Gas Light company, trapped a negro blackmailer in the drawing room of her home at 1224 West Lake street. Four detectives aided her.

After more than a decade of what he terms "persecution and imprisonment on perjured evidence," former Captain Oberlin M. Carter appeared before the house committee on expenditures in the department of justice to explain his part in the Savannah harbor improvement scandal.

Angry words, denunciations and headbanging marked the close of the session of the Socialist conference at Hilsan hall, Milwaukee, when Senator Gaylord of Michigan and G. W. Beswell, a Socialist alderman of Minneapolis, Mo., met in the corridors.

The streets of Liverpool, England, were the scene of the wildest riot of this week and the troops were compelled to fire on the mobs. The first of the serious troubles occurred in Vauxhall road, when five prison vans on their way to Walton jail were attacked.

The Aldrich national monetary commission got a new lease on life in the senate. Senator Cummins (R.), Iowa, who proposed that the body be abolished after December 4, accepted a substitute by Burton (R.), Ohio, requiring the commission of report on January 8th and dissolving it on May 1, 1912.

By flying the 280 miles from St. Louis to Chicago with only two intermediate stops in an actual flying time of 5 hours and 11 minutes, Harry N. Atwood of Boston believes he has set a pace that will result in his establishing a new record on his flight by aeroplane from St. Louis to New York and Boston.

Inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel corporation by a special committee of the house of representatives, which has been in progress since May, will be resumed October 16.

A mob set fire to two houses in Gerrard street, Liverpool, England, and stood about and cheered while they were burning. Altogether forty policemen were treated for injuries received during the fighting with the strikers.

Arthur Stone, driver of a Queen monoplane, was snatched back from death at the international aviation meeting in Chicago, after hopes for his life had been given up. Howard Gill, in a baby Wright, came almost as close to death, but escaped from under the wreck of his machine unhurt.

Andre Jager Smith, a French journalist, who is making a flying trip around the world in the interest of a Paris daily, reached New York from Montreal via the New York Central two hours too late to catch the French liner La Lorraine.

At the age of three-score and two, the time limit fixed by law at which naval officers may hold "office," was reached by Admiral Saxon Schroeder and he retired from active service. Until a few weeks ago he was commander of the Atlantic fleet.

One of the most severe electrical storms in years struck Freeport, Ill., starting 35 fires within a space of six hours and throwing the entire city into a semipanic. Many barns were burned and horses cremated. No persons were reported injured.

Skimming over the southwest corner of Lake Michigan and then over the sand hills of northern Indiana, Harry N. Atwood of Boston in his aeroplane flew the 101 miles from Chicago to Elkhart, Ind., in two hours and sixteen minutes without stop, thus completing 387 miles of his 14,000 mile cross-country flight from St. Louis to New York and Boston.

McDavid, a dentist at San Bernardino, Cal., Chief of Police Mesquit found huddled in a corner, a baby at her breast, a woman, Josephine McDonald, a high school girl, missing from her home 18 months. The girl declared she had been held in subjection in a house adjoining the dentist's office.

Pope Pius X is in better spirits, according to reports from the Vatican. His heart was stronger as a result of hypodermic injections of caffeine, but his condition has shown little sign of improvement generally.

President Taft has refused to grant further executive clemency to Raymond P. May, former business manager of a Kansas City newspaper, who was convicted of using the mails to defraud in the sale of mining stocks.

Running at terrific speed to make up one hour's lost time, the Pennsylvania 15-hour train between Chicago and New York jumped a switch and crashed into a freight train near the limits of Port Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Jessie Weeks, postmistress at Middleburg, Pa., was killed, her 18-year-old son Harris, was probably fatally injured and W. F. Williams, an escaped convict, was shot to death at Middleburg over an ordinary clothes line quarrel.

A resolution for a special investigation of the International Harvester company along the lines of inquiry into the United States Steel corporation was introduced by Representative Foster (D.), of Illinois.

An investigation of the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephen of Wisconsin was declared in a resolution passed by the senate. The resolution was reported to the senate by Chairman Dillingham of the elections committee.

Following the arrest of E. L. Hendon, president of the A. H. Night and day bank of Memphis on a warrant for the arrest of Hendon, charging that Hendon had violated the state bank laws of Oklahoma, a receiver has been appointed for the Memphis situation.

PELLAGRA REPORTS MUCH EXAGGERATED

State Board of Control Issues
Statement

DISEASE NOT COMMUNICABLE

Pellagra Has Been Known in Europe for Two Centuries—While There Is No Known Cure Cases Are Very Rare.

Frankfort.—The state board of control of charitable institutions, after an inspection of the three asylums for the insane in Kentucky, issued the following statements regarding pellagra at the various institutions, to reassure the families of those who are confined in the asylums.

The disease, while comparatively new in this country, has existed abroad for nearly 200 years. Nothing is definitely known as to the origin or cause, and its treatment to this time has been more or less experimental or expectant. Medical authorities are agreed that the disease is not communicable, and that segregating or quarantining is therefore unnecessary.

It is far more prevalent among the insane and in asylums for the insane, yet since its first appearance in our asylums, more than two years ago, we have had only seven cases among our 4,000 inmates.

There is, in the opinion of this board, no cause for great alarm.

Improvement of the Ohio.

At Cincinnati on September 5th the annual meeting of the Ohio River Improvement association will be held. It was the original intention to hold the convention in Cairo, Ill. Cairo is at one end of the Ohio valley while Cincinnati is at the other. Other things being equal there should be a bigger and better convention in the Ohio city than it would have been possible to gather in Cairo.

It is important that the Ohio Valley Improvement association should be maintained as a virile organization and should keep up the work it has been doing. The recent congressional election in the Ohio valley, pointing in some particulars to all persons concerned, was of great value, since it demonstrated to the traveling statesmen the difficulties of navigating the river in the low water season.

The improvement of conditions that has been brought about on those sections of the big waterway where the government dams have been completed. A few, at least, of the members of congress have had an object lesson that will undoubtedly hasten the day of all-the-year-round navigation.

In the meantime there is still a wide field for the endeavors of the O. V. I. A., and the cities and towns that have been sending delegates to its annual conventions should not weary in well doing. Measurable progress is being made toward the nine-foot stage and every citizen of the Ohio valley should be interested in accelerating that progress.

Secretary of State Very Sick.

Will Lyon, of the corporation department of the secretary of state's office, left for French Lick Springs in response to a telegram from Dr. Bruner's physician there, stating that Secretary of State Dr. Ben Bruner was very much worse. The telegram did not state that any dangerous condition had developed in Dr. Lyon's case, but the fact that Mr. Lyon was telegraphed for was taken as a foregone conclusion that the secretary's condition was regarded as serious.

Delegates Appointed.

The list of those appointed by the governor as delegates to the National Irrigation congress to be held in Chicago is: R. C. Ford, Middleboro; W. C. Berryman, Lexington; W. L. Gordon, Madisonville; R. C. Ballard, Thurston; Peter Lee Albertson, W. H. Knott, Louisville; Claude M. Thomas, Paris; and A. J. Alexander, Spring Station.

A Number of Appointments.

Gov. Willson has made a number of appointments of importance, among them being the delegates to attend the American Mining congress, in the fourteenth annual session, the following appointments were made, the delegates to go to the session in Chicago, September 26-28.

Announcement of his appointments will be made later.

Distilleries Pay $13,000 Tax.

This distilleries paid the state and Franklin county storage taxes due on the unit won by the state brought by Auditor James.

Editors To Be Solons.

Among the newspaper men who have been nominated for representation in the legislature are: J. R. Paxton, Lawrenceburg News; Francis H. Douglas, Danville Messenger; B. R. Thurman, Taylorsville Courier; Mal. J. Brown, Bardonia Standard; and Col. Green R. Miller, Carlisle Mercury.

All are from Democratic districts where the nomination is equivalent to election. J. R. Paxton, of the Prince, is a well-known editor. J. R. Paxton, of the Louisville Gazette, are held over from previous sessions.

Banks Show Increase.

Since the last report made by the state banks of Kentucky, nine banks have been closed by order of the state banking department, and two more are in process of liquidation. There are now 478 banks in Kentucky, counting the two which are being liquidated. This is nine less than the number of state banks in existence on April 12, 1910. Since September, 1910, thirty state banks have been closed, and it is believed that the weaker ones have been thinned out. Since April 12, when the last reports were called for, three new banks have been organized.

Secretary of State Bruner states that his reports of the 478 state banks and trust companies for July showed total assets of $104,842,433.77. The total assets for June 2, 1907, were $101,924,198.78; October 2, 1909, $100,629,219.62; June 30, 1910, $104,265,254.73, showing that the assets have gained nearly $700,000 during the last year.

The increase seems small, but Secretary Bruner says that it is certain now that the reports are more accurate, and that there has really been a greater increase of assets than the figures show, since the practice of padding the assets of the bank for making good reports has been eliminated with state banks, and that also thousands of dollars' worth of worthless assets have been charged off and the stockholders and directors of banks have been made to pay in the money for the worthless assets.

Team Chosen for National Shoot.

At the Orville range by the stern process of elimination, the whole membership of the Kentucky brigade of infantry has resolved itself into a rifle team of 15 experts.

The men who made good and will go to Camp Perry to try for national honors, August 21, 1911.

Lieut. Col. A. McLean, Moffett, Frankfort; First Lieut. D. W. Barrett, Booneville; Maj. Jackson Morris, Frankfort; Capt. William H. Meadows, Louisville; Capt. James H. Sams, Lexington; Lieut. Col. Frank Korrick, Louisville; Capt. James H. DeWers, Louisville; Sergt. Thomas Peyton, Earlinton; Corp. William Phipps, Salsburgville; Capt. Bolling G. Nelson, Hughesville; First Lieut. Frederick W. Staples, Lexington; Sergt. Dexter Hall, Somerset; Capt. Henry W. Rogers, Earlinton; Capt. H. Testa, Mon Back, Jackson.

Joseph Wendling, Poet.

Joseph Wendling, the murderer of little Alma Kellner in Louisville, who is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary, has translated some blank verses from the French which he thinks appropriate to his own condition. The poem is as follows:

"Don't be too quick to condemn me, because I was one victim of circumstances; Remember you see but the surface and know not what's in the heart. I may bear the marks of a sinful life And I may have been a bit wild, But back of it all remains in fact That I, even I, am God's child."

State Fair Clubs.

In order to make the state fair what it should be in every particular, M. C. Rankin, commissioner of agriculture, has arranged to organize a "State Fair club" in each county in the state. The work of organizing will be taken by the county institute organizers, and the clubs will be composed of progressive farmers who will help build up the farm exhibits in the state fair. The corps of farmers' institute organizers will hold a meeting in Frankfort on August 16 to hear an address by Gov. Willson on the subject of the state fair work, and Mr. Rankin also will make a talk.

Dora Is a Judge.

Gov. Willson appointed T. M. Dora police judge of Germantown, to succeed W. F. Tucker, who was elected but failed to qualify.

John W. McFarland, chief inspector of the pure food department of the state experimental station at Lexington, and his corps of assistants, who have been quietly at work in Paducah several days, have summoned farmers to be at the city hall.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS BARN.

Georgetown.—A seed barn belonging to James Ewing was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. It contained blue grass seed, corn and hay valued at $1,500. Forty neighbors assisted in keeping fire from the adjoining big valuable stock barn.

LARGE PURCHASE OF MULES.

Vanceburg.—The largest sale of mules for this year was made when W. L. Cooper purchased 34 head from Mrs. Steele & Sons.

Louisville.—Policeman Michael Bald was shot and killed by a negro and his death was averted a few moments later when another patrolman shot and killed the negro.

A "rat" saved the life of Miss Nan. A rat, a school teacher, when she was thrown from a carriage and killed in the head by a Mexican pony. The "rat" in her hair prevented her skull being fractured.

Publications in the daily newspapers of the item of news regarding collection of back money due from county officials has resulted in the collection of some thousands of dollars that would not have been collected but for the newspapers, according to Frank P. James, state auditor.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

There are very few of us who are always remembered at holiday time with things that they really want. We all know the horror of "anything and being a villain," trying to be pleased over some gift from a dear friend, that is absolutely useless to us and often worse than that, a perfect annoyance.

Probably the people who need this advice will not read this, and the long-suffering ones will.

Would it not be wise to study this problem early and try to give to people whose tastes are not easily satisfied something edible, which they can at least dispose of without feeling like a criminal?

This is the season of canning and preserving; why not add a few extra glasses and jars to the store for Christmas gifts?

Such a gift may be made as dainty and attractive as one's taste and purse permits. The pretty little baskets to pack such gifts in are always welcome and they can be passed on with similar gifts.

One little woman makes many tiny glasses of jelly of different flavors, including and packing a half dozen for each invalid friend.

Tomato Boy.—Peel and chop a peck of ripe tomatoes, put over the fire with half a cup of whole cloves, half a cup of allspice, one cup of salt, one tablespoonful of pepper, three red peppers chopped, five onions also chopped. Cook for one hour; add a quart of vinegar and bottle.

Beet Relish.—Take a quart of cabbage chopped, a quart of boiled beets chopped fine, two cups of sugar, a tablespoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of pepper, half a teaspoonful of red pepper, a cup of grated horseradish and vinegar enough to mix well and make of a smooth consistency. Can cold. Very nice for meats.

Gingered Pears.—Take ten ripe pears, six pounds of sugar, two lemons, a pound of ginger (candied) and water enough to cook. Slice the pears quite thin, and chop the ginger in small pieces; take the juice of two lemons and the rind of one. Cook slowly one hour. This is especially nice served with ice cream.

THOUGH expensive food be provided, if there be too much starch, the stomach rebels, the system starves. Variety is the spice of life.

—Lukes.

VARIETY IN MENUS.

The one great bugbear of menu making is sameness. The endeavor of the housewife to produce attractive meals with a certain allowance and variety, means some thoughtful planning. She who has an unlimited pocketbook need have little worry, but to the majority of women the problem of making ends meet and serving at the same time, attractive and nourishing food is a daily question.

Everything is high this year, even the potato is too expensive for everyday use. We must learn to use rice and hominy instead. The old proverb which tells us that "there is no loss without some gain" is proven to us, as we learn to substitute many foods for those which we have always considered indispensable.

The great criticism made of Americans, and justly, is that we eat too much. Our meals should be simpler, better served and served. The idea that it is necessary to have from five to six vegetables at a meal is extravagant. Two is plenty and three a luxury.

Emergency Diet.—Sift together four times two cups of flour and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a half a teaspoonful of salt. Rub in four tablespoonfuls of butter or less, add three-fourths of a cup of cold milk and drop by teaspoonfuls on a buttered pan. Bake in a hot oven twelve to fifteen minutes.

Rice Pudding.—Boil a cup of rice in a pint of water until dry, then add a quart of milk and cook until thick. To the yolks of three eggs add six tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind of a lemon; cook ten minutes with the rice, then cover with the beaten whites of the eggs, to which six tablespoonfuls of sugar has been added, with the juice of a lemon. Brown and serve when cold.

Thellie Maxwell.

The Editor's Drawer.

Mayor Speer of Denver was talking about a bill of which he disapproved.

"Why, a bill like that," he said, "would soon put the city in the condition of the Cinnaminson Seminary."

The foreman of the Seminary's room, posing room said to the proprietor one day:

"We need a drawer, boss, to put these blocks in."

"We haven't got a drawer that's put in use," said the proprietor. "Then he paused and added, 'Except the cash drawer. You might as well take that.'"

INFLAM- MATION AND PAIN

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I was troubled for a long time with inflammation, pain in my side, sick headaches and nervousness. I had taken so many medicines that I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. A friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to health. I have no more pain, my nerves are stronger and I can do my own work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after everything else had failed, and I recommend it to other suffering women."

—Mrs. W. W. SEALS 605 W. Howard St., Creston, Iowa.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 30 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

WAS IT ABSENT-MINDEDNESS?

Mrs. Nelson—My husband is awfully absent-minded.

Mrs. Nelson—In what way?

Mrs. Nelson—He went fishing yesterday. When he had finished he threw away the fish and brought home the bait.

Hard to Find.

"Decided where you are going on your vacation yet?"

"No; can't seem to find the right spot."

"What sort of a place are you looking for?"

"A place where my pocketbook can enjoy a vacation as well as its owner."

Birds of a Feather

"What's the bill for fixing my motor car?"

"It figures at $110, sir," replies the garage man.

"Where! I'll have to give you a check. I left all my money in my drug store."

"Why, are you a druggist?"

"Yes."

"Oh, in that case the bill will be a dollar and a quarter. We fellows ought to stand together."

ASTOR'S YACHT RESCUES FIVE

MYSTERIOUS CRUISE UP SOUND MARKED BY THRILLS AT MIDNIGHT.

SHIP MAY HAVE WEDDING

Members of Crew Believe Ceremony
"Will Take Place on This 'Fishing Trip'—On a Long Cruise.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 21.—The mysterious cruise of the John Jacob Astor and his youthful fiancée, Miss Madeleine Force, was marked by a thrilling moonlight rescue of five men from the wrecked yacht Zingara, according to the story of the survivors' brother early in the morning.

Col. Astor, Miss Force and her father, William H. Force, were enjoying the sail up the sound about midnight, when they heard faint cries for help. They rushed to the rail and soon the Zingara, a sailing yacht, was seen. She had been torn to pieces in the afternoon's gale.

The men soon were taken aboard the Astor and were found to be F. D. and A. H. Newton of City Island, owners of the wrecked boat, with three guests.

Rumor of Wedding on Ship.
The cruise of the Astor has attracted widespread attention on account of the reports that Astor and his fiancée were likely to be married before the trip ended. This the colonel denied, but, according to the reports, the Noma is prepared for every way for a long cruise.

When the yacht left its New York anchorage Astor said the trip would be a fishing cruise of four days. Miss Force's trained nurse is on board, and Astor said the journey was for the good of Miss Force's nerves.

However, it was the belief of members of his crew that the wedding would take place on this cruise and a longer trip on the Atlantic coast would follow, judging by the orders for provisioning and making the boat shipshape.

One of the crew remarked that the captain of the Noma was of the opinion that the trip would be a long one, and that he might be called upon to perform the marriage ceremony, when the yacht had reached the boundaries of what is called the three-mile limit at sea, when the captain has the authority to perform such a ceremony.

TYPOS, TO AID M'NAMARAS

Vote Assessment of 25 Cents on Each Member—Fight Made on Chinese Labor.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 21.—The administration faction of the International Typographical Union won every contest with the wing opposing President Lynch in proceedings of the convention here.

Acting on a recommendation made by Samuel Gompers in a letter to the executive council of the union, the convention voted an assessment of 25 cents for each member for the defense of the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles. A proposal by Delegate Koon of Chicago to vote $10,000 from the union treasury was defeated.

The convention passed a resolution expressing as the sense of the convention that all members of the union should refuse to patronize the Chinese laundries, restaurants and other establishments. Local unions are authorized to assess fines for violations.

MILLS BAR UNION LABOR

Employers of 10,000 Lumbermen Firm in Resisting Organizers' Demands.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 21.—For the avowed purpose of crushing out of existence what they term an anarchistic labor element, twenty-two mills of the Southern Lumber Operators' association, employing 10,000 men in Louisiana and eastern Texas, have closed down and will stay closed until the leaders of this element are forced to quit.

The closing down order was issued at the conclusion of a meeting in Chicago of leading mill owners and operators. The order has already been sent out, and not a mill wheel will be turned until the alleged unreasonable and objectionable demands of labor leaders are withdrawn.

Says Birds Spread Disease.
Baltimore, Md., Aug. 21.—Dr. Francis W. Hartley, a local physician, claims to have demonstrated that birds can spread disease. He obtained five pigeons suffering from throat trouble for experimental purposes, and has been doctoring them. A hammock was swung near the pigeons. Here the cat became infected and developed diphtheria. One of the pigeons was examined by the health department and was found to have diphtheria.

Retires After 33 Years.
San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 21.—After 33 years of continuous service with the Western Union Telegraph company as manager at San Antonio, Jersey L. Newton retired. Newton entered the service as lineman in November, 1868.

FIFTY HURT IN WRECK

MT. CARMEL, ILL., FAMILY SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Fast Passenger Train Leaves Track
on Curve Near Columbus, Ohio.

Columbus, O., Aug. 21.—More than fifty persons were injured, only one of whom may die, when the fast Cincinnati and New York special of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis was partly derailed just west of this city.

The most seriously injured is Mabel Heminger, 7 years old, of Mount Carmel, Ill., whose left arm was torn off and head bruised. Her mother, elated and two brothers also were severely cut and bruised.

Thirteen Seriously Hurt.
That no one was killed outright was remarkable. The cars were well filled, and the passengers were thrown in heaps in aisles and over seats, as the coaches went down the embankment. Most of those injured sustained head and body bruises, but several suffered broken limbs.

The list of the seriously injured includes the following:
Mrs. A. E. Brough, Cincinnati; back sprained.

Mrs. Callie Wuest, Cincinnati; jaw broken.

Miss Minnie Shank, Dayton, Ohio; scalp cut, internal injuries.

Miss Rose Marquard, Dayton, Ohio; ribs broken, right shoulder wrenched.

Miss Ethel Miller and W. Miller, Chicago, Ill.; bruised about the body, probably internal injuries.

Mrs. L. Strickland, Owensville, Ind.; right shoulder broken.

Mrs. Sarah Gardner, San Bernardino, Cal.

Mrs. Hazel Heminger, Mount Carmel, Ill.; perhaps fatally injured.

Mrs. Wm. Heminger, Mount Carmel, Ill.; cut and bruised.

Miss Irene Heminger, Mount Carmel, Ill.

J. S. Noe, Columbus, Ohio, engineer.

Stanley Dickerson, Columbus, Ohio, fireman.

Anna Schulte, 35, Springfield; skull fractured.

WILL FIGHT 9-HOUR LAW

St. Louis Merchants Wire Attorney to Bring Suit as Test of Statute.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—The validity of the woman's nine-hour law is to be tested by several South Broadway merchants and others who have places of business outside the early closing zone. These merchants say the law interferes with keeping their stores open Saturday nights, and they have retained Attorney A. A. O'Halloran to bring suit for the purpose of testing the law and having it set aside if possible.

The merchants say the previous conditions did not work a hardship on women clerks, many of whom worked less than nine hours a day and all of whom were paid for overtime.

Mrs. D. W. Knefer, president of the Woman's Trade Union League, who is credited with having secured the nine-hour law passed, says it is working very satisfactorily, especially in factories. Small merchants in the outlying districts are the only ones who object to the law, according to Mrs. Knefer.

SECOND COMING OF CHRIST

Zionists Send Sealed Declaration and Want It Made Part of Archives of St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—Charles F. Joy, recorder of deeds, has received a copy of a declaration, announcing the second coming of Christ before 1913, bearing the signatures of H. L. Burnett and John Taylor of Zion City, Ill., and asking that the instrument be recorded among the archives of the city.

The declaration bore a notarial seal, but no notary's signature, and Recorder Joy was undecided as to whether the instrument could be recorded. He was inclined to believe the lack of signature would not invalidate its right to record.

As a part of the document are Burnett's and Taylor's sworn affidavits that the second coming of Christ has been revealed to them, they command that Recorder Joy announce the message broadcast.

Scaglia Requisition Monored.
Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 21.—Pellegrino Scaglia, who is under arrest in St. Louis, must return to New York City, where he is wanted on a charge of killing Bartolo Cardinatti on July 13. Gov. Hadley honored a requisition from the governor of New York for the return of Scaglia. Scaglia claims he has been a resident of St. Louis for a year and was not in New York when Cardinatti was killed.

Maine Raisers Must Clear Debris.
Havana, Cuba, Aug. 21.—The engineers in charge of the work of raising the battleship Maine have decided to suspend the operation of exposing and exploring the hull until after they have cleared away the wreckage, which extends from the forward side of the turret to the bow.

Land Registration Totals 7,431.
Minot, N. D., Aug. 21.—Registration for the lands in the Berthold Indian reservation at the four registering points was 748, making 7,431 in all. Fewer persons registered this year than at any previous reservation opening.

THE AIR RACE—WHICH WINS?

CONGRESS PLANS TO END SESSION

HOUSE DEMOCRATS DEFEATED; PROBABLY WILL CONCUR IN SENATE COTTON BILL.

CLARK DEFENDS WOOL BILL

Speaker Willy Cheered as He Denounces Taft for Veto and Explains Stand Taken—Issue for 1912.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Following a meeting of Democratic members of the house ways and means committee, it was announced that the house probably would concur in the provisions of the senate cotton bill, and Chairman Underwood said congress would adjourn Wednesday at the latest.

The Democrats gave up the fight, the meeting with failure in their efforts to pass the wool and free list bills over the veto of President Taft.

At the suggestion of Chairman Underwood, the clerical force of the ways and means committee was instructed to make an examination and report on the rates of the senate iron and steel schedules as compared with the rates in the bill framed by the house committee. Representative Underwood is of the opinion that the rates in the two bills are approximately the same, and if this is found to be so, the cotton bill will go to the house.

A desire of Democratic leaders to open debate on the bill in the house was blocked by Representative Mann, who gave notice he would insist upon compliance with the rule that a bill reported has to lie over for a day unless unanimous consent for its consideration is accorded.

Speaker Clark was cheered from both sides of the house when he left the chair and took the floor to end the discussion on the wool and free list bills. The climax of his address was reached when he said:

"The president has a right to veto the bill if he wants to. I am not quarreling with him. I am lamenting his lack of wisdom as his personal friend. He has raised an issue that will rage with unabated fury until the close of the polls in November, 1912."

This was the signal for such an outburst as seldom has been known in the halls of congress.

TRAIN BANDIT CONFESSES

Jah Robber in Denver Jail Gives Details of a Former Hold-up.

Denver, Aug. 21.—A prisoner in the Denver county jail, giving the name of Frank M. Watson, has confessed that he, with two companions, held up the Southern Pacific Overland limited at Reese, Utah, on the night of January 1, when William Davis, a negro porter, was killed, and nearly 100 passengers were relieved of their valuables.

According to the police, Watson says his accomplices were Joseph Collins of Omaha and R. M. Roberts of Mullen, Neb.

It is also stated that Watson has confessed complicity in the robbery of the Oregon Short Line Butte-Portland special, three miles west of Ogden, on the morning of June 27, 1910.

Haytian Ruler Recognized.
Washington, Aug. 21.—Secretary of State Knox decided to recognize the new government in Hayti, as headed by Cincinnatus Leconte, provisioned by Cincinnatus Leconte, provisioned by Cincinnatus Leconte.

Instructions were given to Minister Furness at Port au Prince to notify President Leconte that the American government is convinced of his good faith and ability to maintain a stable government, with assurance of protection to American interests.

Kirkville Editor's Son Drowns.
Kirkville, Mo., Aug. 21.—Eugene Wilkey, the 14-year-old son of S. F. Wilkey of the Kirkville Democrat, was drowned in a pond near here. His younger companion made an effort to rescue him, but was compelled to break loose from the drowning boy when he was seized about the neck.

STARTS LAST LAP AROUND WORLD

FRENCH REPORTER SAILS FROM NEW YORK ON SPEEDY TRANS-ATLANTIC LINER.

AEROPLANE TO FINISH IT

From Cherbourg He Will Wing Way to End of His Swift Forty-Day Journey as Newspaper Assignment.

New York, Aug. 21.—Andre Jager Schmidt will start on the last lap of his round-the-world-in-40-days race.

Passage has been engaged for him on the giant steamship Olympic, and barring accident to the vessel, he will reach Cherbourg late Friday night or early Saturday morning, August 28.

An aeroplane will be waiting for him at Cherbourg, and he will wing his way to the French capital so as to arrive several hours within the 40-day limit.

Jager Schmidt is barely 27 years old, vivacious in manner and restless in his activity. He is tall, athletic and blond, with smiling hazel eyes that seem to inspire freedom.

Jager Schmidt was the guest of Louis Martin, the restaurateur who had made special arrangements for him on the world-encircling reporter. But before the traveler retired he performed his usual duty of sending to his newspaper, the Excelsior of Paris, a brief account of his day's doings.

A reporter met him on the train from Montreal at North Bennington, Vt., by arrangement and accompanied him to the city. On the way the Parisian told some of his experiences. He spoke in French as his colloquial English is slight, though he can read newspapers in that language without any difficulty.

"I want to get to Paris the minute I can, and I'm going to beg the Olympic people to crowd her a little, so I can slip off an hour or two from the time. When one has strived so hard for success, you would be surprised to know what a few minutes mean. I don't know what I wouldn't do to insure a gain of half a dozen hours or the 29 days."

SLAYERS ESCAPE POSSE

Iowa Murderers Elude Blood Hounds and Six Hundred Men Seeking Capture.

Modale, Ia., Aug. 21.—Riding in a special train which they had chartered for the purpose, 300 farmers reached Modale to assist in the hunt for the two men who murdered Marshall Butcher at Missouri Valley, Ia. Shortly after the special arrived 150 more farmers in fifty autos reached Modale to take part in the man hunt.

Six hundred farmers and 150 autos are out in the Missouri river bottoms for miles on either side of the stream which are being searched as closely as possible. The men were cornered in a wood several miles out of Council Bluffs and, despite the fact that 200 armed guards surrounded the grove they escaped.

TAFT SIGNS EXPENSE BILL

Measure in Which Rucker and Reef of Missouri Had Big Part Becomes a Law.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Taft signed the campaign publicity bill, making the question of the new statute provides complete publicity of campaign expenditures of candidates for the house and senate before election and limits the amount that each can spend in a single campaign to $5,000 for a candidate for the house and $10,000 for a candidate for the senate.

Republican W. W. Rucker of Missouri introduced the bill and Senator James A. Reed of Missouri offered the amendments limiting the expenses an extending the law to primaries.

Pharmacists to Have an Organ.
Boston, Mass., Aug. 21.—Sectional meetings concluded the program of the fifth day of the fifty-ninth convention of the American Pharmaceutical association. It was voted to found an American Journal of Pharmacy, to replace monthly bulletins and printed proceedings, and James Beal, professor of pharmacy at Pittsburg college, was elected editor.

Whites Kill Four Georgia Negroes.
Donaldsonville, Ga., Aug. 21.—Three negroes, members of a party of blacks who barricaded themselves in a house and fired on whites, were killed at Jakin. Race troubles of serious proportions followed the killing of Marshal Neugberry at Jakin. Around over the murder of the officer, people have burned a number of negro lodge buildings, schools and churches.

Cleans Shotgun; Found Dead.
Decatur, Ill., Aug. 21.—Dr. Fred R. Stoner was found dead in the basement of his home here, having gone there for the purpose of cleaning a shotgun he intended using on a hunting trip next week. He took two guns to the basement with him, and within a few moments the family heard a shot. Death is supposed to have been an accident.

Jurors Get Bonuses of $400.
New York, Aug. 21.—It was learned that Judge Roskensky has allowed a bonus of $400 to each of the trial jurors in the poultry trust cases. In addition to the $100 allowed for the fifty days they were engaged in the trial. When jurors have served more than three weeks the trial judge can make an allowance in addition to the $2 per day fixed by law.

G. A. R. IN ROCHESTER

THOUSANDS OF VETERANS AT NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.

Old Soldiers and Their Friends Well Cared For—President to Review Parade Wednesday.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The hosts of the Grand Army of the Republic, its allied organizations and its friends are crowding into Rochester for the national encampment, which opened today. All told, there will be about 150,000 guests here during the week, and elaborate preparations have been made to care for them and to entertain them.

Thousands of the old soldiers are being quartered in private homes, and for all who applied, free quarters have been provided in Exposition park. The local committee of arrangements, headed by Col. Henry S. Redman, has shown commendable diligence in providing accommodation for every one.

Commander-in-Chief John E. Gilman of Boston and his staff, arrived several days ago and opened headquarters. The big day will be, as usual, Wednesday, when the parade will take place. President Taft has accepted an invitation to be present on that day, and it is expected that he will be joined here by Governor Dix of New York and many other men prominent in public life. The parade will be made spectacular by the firing of bombs every two minutes which will burst high in the air, releasing beautiful silk tissue American flags, 12 by 15 feet in size, that will float above the spectators. These bombs were made in Japan.

Among the valuable historical relics exhibited here is the original signal flag used on Kenesaw mountain, October 3 and 4, 1864, to transmit General Sherman's famous message, "Hold the fort." The flag is priceless to the members of the United States Veterans' Signal Corps association. Another interesting object is an exact reproduction of the Andersonville prison where so many thousands of lives were sacrificed. The miniature is a note from a post taken from the stockade and is exact in every detail. It is the work of R. B. McCully of New York city.

WISCONSIN GROCERS CONVENTION

Watertown, Wis., Aug. 21.—Unusually large attendance marks the annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Grocers' and General Merchants' association, which opened in Masonic Temple this morning. Fred Bittner, head of the local association, called the gathering to order and handed the gavel to President J. H. Heiweg. Mayor Grube welcomed the city's guests and after several responses the members got down to business, which occupied them all day. Tonight there will be a smoker, and tomorrow a picnic at Tivoli island.

EXORBITANT OIL RATES IN THE WEST

Washington, Aug. 21.—Rates on crude oil alleged to be excessive by more than 1000 per cent were exacted by the Southern Pacific company from the Associated Oil company of Oil Center, Cal.

In Memory.

My dear uncle, Forester Callahan, better known as Sonnie, was born June 23, 1845, departed this life July 30, 1910; aged 65 years, 1 month and 7 days. We, the ardent lovers of this dear one, deem it a fitting tribute of respect to his memory to express our highest regard for the noble life which he led. About 35 years ago he professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist church of which he lived a true member until death. God called him home. He was married to Miss Mahane Henry March 29, 1866, the union was blessed with six children, of which three with their dear mother have gone to their eternal home. He leaves three children, one brother and two sisters to cherish his memory, a hallowed and priceless heritage. He died of the dreadful disease, cancer of the stomach. Long and bitter were days, weeks and months he suffered, but he bore his afflictions without a murmur, never once complaining about anything he had to or that was done for him. Oh, how sad it was to say goodbye to uncle Sonnie. So sweet to know that after a while if we but live faithful we will meet him again where there will be no more goodbyes. His dear companion finished her work and went home Dec. 10, 1903, there to wait and watch for her loved ones. One by one they are following. Children will that not be a happy morning when dear aunt Mahalie can strike hands with you and say she has a complete family over there. We are sure if the tongue and lips now closed in death could speak they would say there is nothing to be dreaded by those who are in Christ. We would say weep not dear hearts, the dear parents are safe in the arms of Jesus awaiting your coming and only tomorrow you meet again to part no more; there will be no more pain, no aching hearts. Their forms are laid away in Old Salem cemetery, they know no suffering, all is peace and love. We know it is hard to give them up; God doeth all things well. He will heal our hearts' wounds, dry the eyes and carry us home to meet dear uncle and aunt and all the friends and loved ones who have gone on before. Oh, God, heal the broken hearts with a balm of thy love. His loving niece, M. M.

James Calhoun Armstrong.

The death angel visited the home of Mrs. Armstrong, and family and took from them their father and husband, James Calhoun Armstrong, who was born June 7th, 1848, and departed this life Jan. 27th, 1911, aged 63 years, 7 months and 20 days. On July 18th, 1869, he was married to Miss Lucy Rozena Marine, to this beautiful eden of love God sent 9 children, 3 daughters and 6 sons one of whom was called for in early life.

Mr. Armstrong was liked by all who knew him; he was a kind husband and a loving father. He joined the Christian church at Antioch in the summer of 1888, of which he lived a devoted member until death. For several years his health had been failing and on the 13th of December he was taken sick with pneumonia. He strove bravely to regain his health but to no avail. Gradually but surely life and its promises ebbed away. It grieves us so but it was God's will and we had to give him up. He was the life of our home and lives but God giveth and he taketh away, and all we can do is to prepare to meet him in that sweet home above. So farewell dear one with many friends to mourn after you. He was laid to rest in the Bazzell grave yard, funeral services being conducted by Rev. John White. A host of friends join in sympathy with the grief stricken relatives.

A precious one from them is gone. A voice they loved is still. A place is vacant in their home Which never can be filled. Sleep on, precious one, thou art at rest. Gone home to Jesus who loved thee best.

Written by Mattie Armstrong and Vera Camp.

A Cold

Is not necessarily serious, provided it is taken care of. It is frequently the starting point of many dangerous diseases. When it comes use Dr. Bell's Pine Tar-Honey. Look for the bell on the bottle.

Miss Cordelia Chilton, of Oklahoma City, Ok., arrived here the first of the week to be the guest of Mrs. F. P. Stum for several days.

Mrs. C. C. Hughes and son have returned to their home in Little Rock, Ark., after spending the summer here the guest of her parents, Nat Ryan and wife.

Obituary.

On February 21st, 1910, the angel of death came and took away the wife of Wiley Stewart. Sarah Lena Lassiter Stewart was born March 13th, 1879, aged 30 years, 11 months and 7 days. She leaves a husband and five small children to mourn her loss. Five months later her little babe joined her in the great beyond.

Early in life she sought the Saviour and found hope in Him and joined the Baptist church at Blood river and lived in that faith until death. We cannot see why she was taken away, we only know God's law is right, and he doeth all things well. Oh, what is home without a mother? To say she will be sadly missed is but faintly expressing it.

Another home is saddest. A precious form is still. Another place is vacant. Which never can be filled.

She has passed to the great beyond. Where we must shortly go. And give an account of what we have done. While living here below.

Oh, how hard it is to part. With one we love so well. For it almost breaks the heart To bid a last farewell.

We extend to the bereaved family our sympathy and to the dear little children our love; that we earnestly beseech the Father's blessing to abide with those stricken ones and give them strength and comfort through the saddened days which must follow, and express an earnest hope that even so great a bereavement may be overruled for their highest good. Mary McCuiston.

Sale Notice.

I will on Saturday, the 16th day of Sept., 1911, at the late residence of Sandy J. Outland, deceased, 3 miles southwest of Murray, on the Murray and Crossland road, sell to the highest bidder on a credit of six months with good bankable security with 6 per cent interest from date, the personal property of the decedent, consisting of one good black Spandish Jack, 14 hands high, white tips and an excellent good breeder; one pair good wagon horses, well matched, and one good mule and other things too tedious to mention. All those indebted to the estate for season or Jack fees for the 1909 and 1910 are hereby notified to come forward and settle at once. This Aug. 19, 1911.—Mrs. M. V. OUTLAND, wife and agent for deceased.

Curt Moore who lives near the McDaniel shop east of town, was attacked by two dogs the past week and was bitten twice. It is feared that the animals were afflicted with rabies as they had before attacking Mr. Moore bitten several dogs and other live stock. Mr. Moore succeeded in killing both animals after quite a fight with them.

Mrs. Kate Kirk and baby, of Paris, have been the guest of her parents, E. S. Diuguid and wife, the past several days.

Mrs. E. A. Johnson, of Mayfield, has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Nannie Ferguson, the past several days.

The editor of the Ledger is under obligations to Jim Bowman for a large and handsomely twisted twist of tobacco. It is good, old fashioned, died-in-the-wool association tobacco and as each pipe full is puffed into clear, blue smoke we are going to build air castles and dream dreams of the day when the tobacco growers of this county will come into their own and receive full measure for their tobacco. We also are indebted to Fete Moss, of the Palestine section, for similar favors. However, Fete tried to fill our buggy with leaf and twists.

People with children should keep a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey on hand at all times. It is a wonder at night when it is sometimes hard to get a physician. Look for the bell on the bottle.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I want to say to the good people of the county and the town of Murray, that I want to thank you from the depths of my heart for the liberal patronage and kind favors you have shown me during my restaurant business at Murray. And while I will turn my interest to the west part of the county, leaving our good old country seat, I will forever have a sweet remembrance of the fair dealing and kind treatment shown me while with you.

I feel sure you will find in Mr. O. T. Keys, my successor, all and more than you expected of me. He is a fair and energetic young man, and I trust you will give him an opportunity to prove his ability to you.

Very respectfully,

T. C. NIX.

They will handle a complete line of millinery and accessories and will carry a complete line of goods. Miss Ruth is at present on the market studying the new things in millinery and buying goods. She will be absent about two weeks longer and as soon as she returns the goods will be open to the public. These ladies are recognized as two of the most artistic milliners ever in the city and will command a splendid patronage from the very beginning of their business career.

Apply a cotton cloth wet with Ballard's Snow Liniment to all all wounds, cuts, burns, sores or blisters, and note its wonderful healing power. It is prompt and very effective. 25c, 50c and $1. Dale & Stubblefield.

Obituary.

On the 17th day of June, 1911, the white robed Angel of Death visited the home of Jeff and Mavis Massey and laid the ice cold hand of death upon the spirit of their darling little daughter, Bertie Lorine, and took her home to that sweet resting place. She was born Aug. 30th, 1910, aged 9 months and 17 days. It was so hard to give little Lorine up but God knows best. Weep not dear parents for she is with the angels in heaven; weep not, but live so that when the pale death rider comes and claims you as he did little Lorine, that you may meet her up yonder where there will be no more parting, but joy and happiness forever.

God giveth and God taketh away. Sleep on, sleep on, and take Thy rest: We loved you, little Lorine. But God loved you best.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Murray People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles and dropsy, follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which have cured people right here in this locality.

H. M. Parks, of Wismar, Ky., says: "For twenty years I was a victim of kidney complaint. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells during which my sight became blurred and I felt tired and languid. The passages of the kidney secretions were too frequent and I was obliged to arise several times during the night. Whenever I caught cold it settled on my kidneys and aggravated my trouble. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and after using them a short time, I noticed great relief. The contents of three boxes completely cured me. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Dale & Stubblefield's drug store, and am always glad to recommend them to kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Dropsy

Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD, Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

F LIES have no use for a Westinghouse Electric Fan—they are as helpless in the air currents which it produces as a bi-plane in a hurricane. No matter what tempting morsels your table affords, turn the button that starts the fan and every last fly will vanish.

That's one reason why the larger sizes of Westinghouse Fans are used in all the best restaurants and why you should have a little Westinghouse Fan in your home. Another reason is solid comfort. You find the air currents that are shunned by the flies very agreeable and refreshing on a hot day.

You use the fan in the dining room at meal time and in the kitchen before and after, then in the living room, then on the porch, then in the bed room. It is always in demand somewhere. Keep it going all day—from 2 o'clock in the evening till 12 at night, and the cost for current will be between two and three cents. Pretty cheap comfort, is it not? Telephone for one to-day.

A TYPICAL AMERICAN BEAUTY

Mrs. R. H. Garay, whose charm is especially appreciated in London and Paris.

New York—Here, at home, we recognize the fact that the "typical American beauty" is a myth, pure and simple, that there is no particular type of face and figure which stands as an exclusive example of American feminine loveliness.

thrives in Europe. In London and Paris especially she is encouraged to go ahead and be just as typical as she knows how.

However, there are several Americans perfectly at home in England and on the continent who, while forced and, naturally, not altogether displeased to accept this title, the most complimentary which can be bestowed by a European on a woman from the States—are content to retain the simplicity of manner and style which distinguishes them "back home."

HIS BRAVE ACT UNREWARDED

Bestowal of Two Black Eyes Altogether Too Much for Helgus to Overlook.

They were a pleasant party at the country house, and it was only natural that Harvey Hardup should fall in love with Clarissa Coyne, the heiress.

One afternoon they went for a row on the river, but their boat struck a floating tree and sank, leaving them struggling in the water.

Mad with terror, she threw her arms around his valiant neck, almost strangling him. But he was determined to save her, so raising his fist he struck her twice, making her unconscious, and thus enabling him to save her.

She was carried to her room, and next day, when Harvey called, this note was handed to him:

"Sir: I quite admit that it was necessary to make me unconscious in order to save me, but you might have been careful not to black both my eyes. We part forever!—O Coyne."

GET POWER.

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of scientifically selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 pounds, my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. Grape-Nuts food did it. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed.

All my unpleasant symptoms, the heartburn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 98 to 116 pounds, my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. Grape-Nuts food did it. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A few days' trial will show anyone some facts about food.

Ever read the above letter? A new way appears from this to lose fat. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a horse-platman, is riding along the border of a frontier town, a decidedly popular "rebel." It was originally a two-room cabin with gable to the street, the front apartment at one time a low groggery, the keeper sleeping in the rear room. Whether sudden death, or financial reverses, had been the cause, the community had in some manner become possessed of the property, and had at once dedicated it to the commonweal.

CHAPTER IV.

An Old Acquaintance.

The Carson City lockup was an improvised affair, although a decidedly popular "rebel." It was originally a two-room cabin with gable to the street, the front apartment at one time a low groggery, the keeper sleeping in the rear room. Whether sudden death, or financial reverses, had been the cause, the community had in some manner become possessed of the property, and had at once dedicated it to the commonweal.

He was alone, with only the faintest murmur of voices coming to him through the thick partition. It was a room some twelve feet square, open to the roof, with bare walls, and containing no furniture except a rude bench. Still dazed by the suddenness of his arrest, he sank down upon the seat, leaning his head on his hands, and endeavored to think. It was difficult to get the facts marshalled into any order or to comprehend clearly the situation, yet little by little his brain grasped the main details, and he awoke to a full realization of his condition, of the forces he must war against.

Even should the case come to trial, how would it be possible for him to establish innocence, and could it ever come to trial? Keith knew the character of the frontier, and of Carson City. The inclination of its citizens in such cases was to act first, and reflect later. The law had but slender hold, being respected only when backed by the strong hand, and primitive instincts were always in the ascendancy, requiring merely a leader to break forth in open violence. And in this case would there be any lack of leadership? Like a flash his mind reverted to "Black Bart." There was the man capable of inciting a mob. If, for some unknown reason, he had sufficient interest to swear out the warrant and assist in the arrest, he would have equal cause to serve those fellows behind him in other ways. Naturally, they would dread a trial, with its possibility of exposure, and eagerly grasp any opportunity for wiping the slate clean.

The longer Keith thought the less he doubted the result. It was not then a problem of defence, but of escape; for he believed now that no opportunity to defend himself would ever be allowed. The arrest was merely part of the plot intended to leave him helpless in the hands of the mob. In this Hicks was in no way blamable; he had merely performed his sworn duty, and would still die, if need be, in defence of his prisoner. He was not too far from being an instrument they had found means of using.

CHAPTER V.

The One.

Keith said nothing, some moments, staring up at the light streaming through the window, grating his mind once again. The eyes of the black man had the patient look of a dog as they watched; evidently he had cast aside all responsibility, and that this other had come. Finally Keith spoke slowly:

"We are in much the same position, Neb, and the fate of one is liable to be the fate of both. This is my story."

And briefly as possible, he ran over the circumstances which had brought him there, putting the situation clear enough for the negro's understanding, without wasting any time upon detail. Neb followed his recital with bulging eyes, and an occasional exclamation.

At the end he burst forth:

"Yo—say—dar—was—two—ob—dem—white men murdered—one an' ol' man wid a gray beard, an' de odder 'bout thirty! Am dat it, Massa Jack, an' dey had to span ob mules, an' a runnin' hoss?"

"An' how far out was it?"

"About sixty miles."

"Oh, de good Lawd!" and the negro threw up his hands dramatically. "Dat suitly an' my story! Dat am Massa Waite an' John Sibley."

"You mean the same men with whom you came here from Independence?"

Neb nodded, overcome by the discovery.

"What caused them to run such a risk?" Keith insisted. "Didn't they know the Indians were on the war path?"

"Sho; I heard 'em talkin' 'bout dat, but Massa Waite, he jest boust 'bout to git movin'! He didn't 'pear to be afraid ob no Indians; reckned dey'd nebber stop him, dat he knowed ebbery chief on de plains. I reck'n dat he did, too."

"But what was he so anxious to get away for?"

Power of Prayer.

There is nothing which so many men, however generally disposed, can give, but which everyone, however poor, is bound to pay. This is praise. He cannot give it, because it is his own, since what is dependent for its very existence on something in another can never become to him a possession; nor can he justly withhold it, when the presence of merit claims it as a consequence.

"Have you noticed that man with the grayish hair and the important manner?"

"Of course. I could not very well help doing so. He would attract attention anywhere."

"What is his name?"

"I don't know."

"If you don't know his name, how have you found out that he was once a country boy? There is no haireed in his hair, and I can see nothing about him to indicate that he has not always been used to city ways."

"Of course you can't. There isn't anything of that kind about him. But you'll hear that man who pointed him out a moment ago say he was the greatest man in this great city."

"Ah, Sherlock, they can't beat you as a deducer. Since you explain it the whole thing is as plain as day."

Transferring a Bridegroom

By BELLE MANATES

Mark Wade opened his eyes and stared at the white, unmeaning walls. By persistent questioning of a white-capped nurse who came calmly forward, Mark at length culled the information that he had been ill with a fever at the hospital for four weeks; that he had been found by his landlady apparently in the act of penning a letter, but talking such gibberish that she had hurried him to a hospital. She reluctantly admitted that a batch of letters had accumulated for him. These he demanded, and she wisely produced them. From the collection he eagerly selected three which were addressed in feminine handwriting.

The first had been received the day after he had come to the hospital. It began: "My own, darling Mark," and assured him that she, Rose, would always love him; that she would patiently await the winning of her father's consent; that if said parental stubbornness could not be overcome she would do as her lover wished and elope with him. He pressed this letter impetuously to his lips and anxiously opened the second one, written a week later. This began: "My dear Mark," and expressed wonder at his silence.

With forebodings he opened the last, postmarked two days ago. It had no opening title for him. She had naturally assumed that her letters had not been received, regretted her lack of pride in again writing, but she was not unhappy. Her father had betrothed her against her wishes to Caleb Fenton, a wealthy, swain, dull and disagreeable. In spite of her protests the wedding night was set for two weeks hence, and she bade her former lover come to her rescue.

In haste Mark sent the following dispatch to his friend, Jim Wade: "Have been ill. Delirious for four weeks. Letters from Rose just read. Will come as soon as able."

Willingly he followed all his nurse's commands, his determination to convalesce speeding his recovery. When he was able to leave the hospital he took the first train to the city where Rose resided.

Jim met him at the station and they drove post-haste to the home of Winifred Rawden, next friend to Rose, who was awaiting his coming. "Oh, Mark!" she cried, all thoughts of her own distress banished at sight of his gaunt figure. "I am stronger than I look, Rose," he said, with a happy little laugh, as he took her in his arms. "Strong enough to carry you away from a hundred fathers and ten hundred old lovers."

"Then you must do it now, Mark, for I don't know when I can get away again. Such a change came over my spirits after your telegram that father's suspicions have been aroused and he has had me strongly guarded."

"We will be married tomorrow night at 7:30."

"Listen carefully to your instructions, Rose. My plans may have been born of a feverish fancy, but Jim indorses them. At the time set for the ceremony you are to be overcome by mortification at the non-appearance of the groom and implore your father to look him up, and you must shut yourself up with Winifred. Then you will remove your wedding gown and veil which she will don. Hurry into your traveling clothes and slip out the back way. Under the big elm in front of the vacant lot on First street, back of your house, I will be waiting in a runabout. We will go right to Mr. Barkley's parsonage and be married and leave on the eight-thirty."

"Oh, Mark! But I will do just as you say. I must go now, or father will suspect. You mustn't let it be known that you have returned."

"I shall not stir from the house until I come for you in Jim's runabout. Goodbye until then, sweetheart."

Mark adhered faithfully to this plan, Jim attending to all commissions of getting a license, seeing a friendly minister, buying tickets and securing transportation. About half-past six on the evening of the fateful day he cheerfully announced that everything had worked as scheduled.

"I saw Fenton's chauffeur," he reported, "and bribed him to let me run the car, telling him the bride-friends wanted to fix up the car. The rest will be easy. I will take Fenton by a circuitous route, making him think it necessary to avoid the gang who want to trim up the car. He is stupid, near sighted and deaf, so it will be smooth sailing. Outside the city limits I'll halt, get out to adjust the car, disable the machine, walk to the nearest house for a wrench and forget to come back. Even if he gets impatient and walks in, he'll be too late."

At 7:30 Mark sat waiting in the runabout at the rendezvous. His heart beat quickly at sight of the little figure dashing around the corner, but to his surprise and dismay she was in bridal array, her white veil floating in the breeze. When she had jumped into the runabout he put his arm about her.

"Rose!"

"Oh!" came with a gasp. "I am Winifred."

"Where?"

"Drive as fast as you can to Mr. Barkley's," she commanded, and he started up the car.

"Just after Rose had left the room to come to you," she explained as they rode on, "her father came in. There was only a dim light, and I had hidden my face. Rose, he said harshly, 'I have just heard that Mark Wade is back. There is some mischief afoot!'"

"I knew he would discover in another second who I was, so I darted from the room and down the back stairs, locking the door on the outside behind me. I overtook Rose and told her to take a street car right to the parsonage and I would come on to you, for I was sure he would pursue me. He did. He is following now in that big car."

Mark put on all speed, but the little car was not equal to the pace of the big motor in pursuit.

"Stop just a second, Mark," instructed Winifred. "I will get out at the next corner and run down that side street. By the time he discovers who I am you should be at the parsonage."

Mark again obeyed the skillful little schemer and her plan worked as she expected. He reached the parsonage just as the street car stopped and Rose alighted.

"Rose! No one can part us now!"

With his arm about her they went into the parsonage.

NEAT AND COMPACT BOAT.

A Parisian inventor has gone the limit in devising a craft for getting over the water, which is still so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suitcase. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped floats are made of waterproof canvas. When packed they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

TRAVEL OF TOY BALLOON.

A correspondent of Cosmos describes the remarkable journey performed by a paper balloon, such as may be obtained from the toy shops, which he sent up recently with a postal card attached. Two days later the card was returned from a point 238 miles distant, with a note indicating that the journey to the latter point had been accomplished in 2 hours and 45 minutes; i. e., at the rate of about 94 miles an hour. A northwest gale was blowing at the

LAUGHTER PLEASING TO GOD

Nowhere in Biblical Lore Can There Be Found Intimation of Any Other Idea.

We misjudge and distort the many human nature of the savior when we picture him going through life as Dante did after he had written his "Inferno," with the shadows of perdition on his brow. We may gravely question when it was that the cross began to darken our Lord's pathway; there is no hint of such a foreboding until we reach the middle of his ministry. From that on there are occasional tokens that he saw Calvary ahead of him, and was at times pressed down with a dreadful sense of the inevitable agony which awaited him at the end. But all this is very far from affording any reasonable ground for the conclusion that he smiled sometimes, but never laughed.

If God did not intend us to laugh, on occasion, why did he endow us with the capacity to laugh, with a sense of the humorous, with the faculty to see and enjoy wit, fun and the absurd side of life; and, furthermore, why did he produce so many things and people to laugh at?—Zion's Herald.

LAWYER CURED OF ECZEMA

"While attending school at Lebanon, Ohio, in 1882, I became afflicted with boils, which lasted for about two years, when the affliction assumed the form of an eczema on my face, the lower part of my face being inflamed most of the time. There would be water-blisters rise up and open, and wherever the water would touch it would burn, and cause another one to rise. After the blister would open, the place would scab over, and would burn and itch so as to be almost unbearable at times. In the way the sores would spread from one place to another, back and forth over the whole of my upper lip and chin, and at times the whole lower part of my face would be a solid sore. This condition continued for four or five years, without getting any better, and I began to get worse all the time, so much so that my wife became alarmed lest it prove fatal."

"During all this time of boils and eczema, I doctored with the best physicians of this part of the country, but to no avail. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Remedies, which I did, taking the Cuticura Resolvent, applying the Cuticura Ointment to the sores, and using the Cuticura Soap for washing. In a very short time I began to notice improvement, and continued to use the Cuticura Remedies until I was well again, and have not had a recurrence of the trouble since, which is over twenty years. I have recommended Cuticura Remedies to others ever since, and have great faith in them as remedies for skin diseases." (Signed) A. C. Brandon, Attorney-at-Law, Greenville, O., Jan. 17, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 25-cent book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 3 K, Boston.

Tuberculosis Patients Neglected.

Out of more than 225 public hospitals for the insane, with a population of fully 150,000, only 70, or less than one-third, make any provision for their tuberculous inmates, and this, too, in spite of the fact that the percentage of deaths from this disease is very high among this class of people. Such is the substance of a statement made recently by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Seventy hospitals in 28 states, providing all told about 3,350 beds for tuberculosis insane patients, sums up the provision made for this class of sufferers, although the percentage of deaths from tuberculosis among the insane ranges from 50 to 200 per cent. higher than among the general population.

The Bridegroom's Portion. Miss Esther Gerlach, who teaches Sunday school, had been reading to her class from the gospel of Matthew, and was examining a promising boy, a newcomer, about the subject matter. "There were ten virgins," said the young man, "five wise ones and five foolish ones, and the five foolish ones weren't in no hurry. And at midnight came the bridegroom. So the five foolish ones went across the street to buy oil and got locked out."

"Very good," said the teacher. "And what did the bridegroom do?"

"Why," said the good little student, "he married the five wise ones."—Cleveland Leader.

Advice. "Now that you've heard my daughter sing, what would you advise me to do?"

"Well," the music master replied. "I hardly know. I don't suppose you could get her interested in settlement work" or horseback riding or something like that?"

NOT A BRITISH UNIT IN IT

Irishman Would Not for a Minute Allow the Possibility of Such a Thing.

George Mockler has just returned from an investigation of "British thermal units" in the coal mines of the other cities. He brought this story from Baltimore.

An Irishman there inherited a coal mine up in the state. He immediately entered the lists for one of the big coal contracts and went around to say a good word for his coal.

The man who was letting the contract heard him a moment, and then interrupted with: "That's all right, but how about British thermal units?"

The other, being new to the coal business, did not know that coal is rated now according to the British thermal unit in tests.

"That's that!" he said. "How many British thermal units are there in your coal?"

The Irishman blinked his eye and snorted a bit.

"British thermal units in it?" he said. "Why, there ain't a wan in it!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HIS COLOR CHANGED.

Evelyn—But when it comes to love-making Harold is rather green, isn't he?

Myrtle—Not now. Evelyn—Indeed? Myrtle—No, he's blue; I rejected him last evening.

Absurd. Among the recent visitors to a metropolitan museum was a woman from a rural district, who was much interested in the ancient pottery exhibits.

The attendant pointed out one collection of beautiful old vases, saying: "Those were dug up at Herculaneum."

"What!" exclaimed the woman from the country. "Dug up?"

"Yes, madam."

"Out of the ground?"

"Just as they are now. They were cleaned up a bit, but they were found about as you see them."

With an expressive toss of the head, the lady from the country turned to her companion and said:

"He's a nice-looking young feller, but I don't believe what he says. They never dug up no ready-made pot out of the ground."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Little Pitcher. Lady Visitor—I am coming to your mamma's company tomorrow, Tommy.

Tommy—Well, you won't get a good supper.

Tommy's Papa—Tommy, what do you mean, talking like that?

Tommy—Well, you know, pa, you told ma you'd have to get some chicken feed for her old hen party tomorrow.

Could Take Her Choice. As the railroad train was stopping, an old lady not accustomed to traveling halted the passing conductor and asked:

"Conductor, what door shall I get out by?"

"Either door, ma'am," graciously answered the conductor. "The car stops at both ends."—Galesburg Mail.

Why, Willie! Sunday School Teacher—Yes, Willie, the Lord loves every living creature.

Willie—I'll bet he was never stung by a wasp!—Puck.

In Strict Obedience.

Master Gregory Graham, aged three, had been having an ocean bath, and breaking away from his older sister he ran all dripping wet to the door of the living room, where Mrs. Graham was entertaining a caller from the fashionable hotel.

"Why, Greg," his mother greeted him, "you mustn't come in here like that, dear. Go straight upstairs, and take off your bathing suit first."

A few minutes later Mrs. Graham turned toward the door in curiosity as to what sight there had sent her visitor's eyebrows up so high, and in the same moment her son's cheerful voice rang out:

"I took it off, mother, like you told me to. I'm coming in now for some cake."

No Wonder. "What's your husband so angry about?"

"He's been out of work six weeks."

"I should think that would suit him first rate."

"That's it! He's just got a job."

CHRIST-LIKE COMMON SENSE

Mutual Service-the Basis of Confidence and Means Justice, Peace,
Plenty and Virtue.

Mutual service is the basis of mutual confidence. Mutual service means justice, peace, plenty, virtue. It means the beginning at least of that mutual love which is the crown and glory of the divine life of a perfect humanity.
If we are committed to that we are on our way to the realization of the Christian ideal. If not, no belief, will save us. We may fast and pray and humiliate ourselves before we can put the message of Jesus into such form as to reach the mind and conscience of the heart, or this generation, we must get at the spirit in which he, being sympathy, we share the spirit that moved him we begin to know not what he said and did then so much as what we ought to say and do now and here. What he said about the rich and the poor, the scribes and the Pharisees, the Gentile publicans and Jewish sinners he might not say today
if he were dealing with the problems of modern society. What he did at any moment depended upon the peculiar circumstances of the time and place. He might act differently now and here. If, however, we can discover the spirit in which he used the words and the power of the power of that was in him we may in the spirit know how we ought to apply ourselves to the needs of our time and what will help us in our work today.

CORONATIONS OF OLD DAYS

Quaint Ceremonies That Formerly
Were Observed at the Banquet in Westminster Hall.

Westminster hall saw some picturesque pageants at old-time coronations. Among these, according to a writer in the Queen, was a coronation banquet, which was observed some quaint ceremonies. The first course was brought into the hall with much courtly splendor. At the crowning of George IV. Lord Anglesey, as lord high steward, rode in the center wearing his robes and a coronet, and with a plume of white feathers on his horse's head. The duke of Wellington as lord high constable rode on his right on a white charger most richly caparisoned, and on the left rode Lord Howard of Chillingham as deputy earl marshal of England.

These three, with many other attendants, escorted the gentlemen pensioners, who bore the hot dishes for the king's own eating. At this banquet cups of wine were offered by the lord mayor of London and by the mayor of Oxford; the lord of the manor of Lynton presented a plate of wafers; and another lord, of a manor gave three cups of maple unto his sovereign. These cups of maple were presented and accepted by King Edward at his coronation in 1902.
Westminster hall is no longer used on the occasion of this solemn service.

Ancient Discourse.

The vicar was a very old man. He had been in the parish forty-two years, during his last year, the curate was previously in charge of the services, but now and then, when he was able, he occupied the pulpit.
His eyesight was bad, and he was altogether unfit to compose fresh sermons. He had to fall back on old ones. One Sunday morning his hearers were alarmed with a discourse much as follows: "We are standing today," he said, "face to face with a great power in the past. We are on the verge of war. (Long pause). We are—we are—we are on the brink of war with Russia. I—er—we, I mean—we will now proceed to consider the next point." In the vestry, after service, the curate asked him about the projected war, as he had been nothing about it in the papers.
"That sermon," he said, with a very far-off look in his eyes, and a slight suspicion of a smile, "that sermon I wrote forty years ago."

The Man in the Stocks.

Thomas Hillyard, to see, many changes in his native Wessex. "I have seen with my own eyes things that many people believe to have been extinct for centuries. I have seen men in the stocks. I remember one perfectly when I was young. I can see him now sitting in the scorching sunshine with the flies crawling over him." Incidents like this were used in "Tales of the Dorsetshire" and "The Return of the Native." Max Gate, the house in which he lives, is built on what was formerly a common land belonging to the duke of Cornwall. When Hardy's offer to purchase was refused the late King Edward, then prince of Wales, remarked: "Let him have the land, his name, he has not his heart on it, and we must do all we can to make our authors contented."

The Main Requirement.

A pale, intellectual-looking chap,
wearing eyeglasses and a shaggy hair, visited an athletic instructor not long ago and asked questions until the diplomatic athlete finally became weary. "If I like boxing and wrestling lessons from you, will it require any particular application?" he asked.
"No," answered the instructor, "but a little attack will come in handy."

This Commercial Age.

"Are you acquainted with him at all?"
"Only in a business way. I married his daughter."—Spokesman-Review.

Blood News.

Health is very good at present.
Crops are looking better since the rains.

Misses Essie and Bessie Wells, of Cairo, Ill., are guests of Miss Madie Walker this week.

O. J. Jennings delivered an instructive address at Lone Oak church house Saturday night in the interest of tobacco association. Mr. O. J., we invite you back to the east side of the county. We like your talks for they preach salvation to the farmers.
R. P. Compton, of Los Angeles, Cal., is visiting his brother,
I. W. Compton, of Blood.

Misses Lee, Johnnie and Ruth Kirkland, of Fulton, Ky., are guests of Miss Cora Walker this week.

We are thankful to the superintendent and county board for our magnificent new school building. A greater interest is being manifest in our school work than ever before. The patrons can even find time to visit the school.
A debating society is to be organized Friday afternoon in our school and then look out for the eloquence of Webster, & Hayne.
Fred Vance lost his home Monday by fire, the cause of which was unknown.
