A Call to Industry

The Illinois Central System lies in a community—the Mississippi Valley—which is more than a thousand miles in length and which includes fourteen important states. To assist in the industrial development of this vast territory is one of the railroad's major undertakings. Such a program is one of enlightened self-interest, for its purposes are many, not the least of which is to build up and maintain the kind of facilities that can perform the purpose of the railroad.

Good transportation is an industrial necessity. First, therefore, the Illinois Central System endeavors to give the best service that a company can give to industries working with adequate facilities can perform.

In addition, the Illinois Central System is constantly seeking to be helpful to the industries of its territory in the solution of their varied problems. Assistance is rendered in helping to secure raw materials, in determining the best location for buildings and plants, in assisting in securing modern equipment and in providing every facility that may be necessary to the establishment of an industry. The railroad has a personal organization working with the industrial forces of the territory, and, in addition, is constantly watching for and reporting to the industries of the state the opportunities of the territory to use its products and markets of its region.

Industrial and transportation are closely related. They work together for mutual benefit in the development of the Illinois Central System. Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.
