Vote For Your Favorite Saturday

Saturday is election day and every voter in Fulton county should cast a vote for his or her favorite. You are to nominate and elect your county and city officials. It is not a matter of voting just to be voting. Each one voted for should be considered carefully, the same as you would employ an individual to care for your personal affairs, because if you are a taxpayer that is exactly what you are doing when you cast your vote—employing a servant to take an interest in your general welfare during his term of office. Vote for the one whom you feel will serve you the best, and one who will be faithful and loyal to his trust. Below we are again publishing the official list of candidates for your consideration:

Lon Adams For County Attorney

It is estimated that Lon Adams will receive the largest vote of any candidate in the race. Some say his majority will go around 450 votes.

A CARD TO THE VOTERS

The office of County Judge is one of more importance than most of us think. He it is who presides over the county court, the fiscal court the quarterly court, makes settlements with guardians of orphans, qualifies and approves the bonds of executors, hears and decides law suits, tries those accused of lesser crimes and holds, where the evidence warrants it, criminals to await the action of the grand jury.

In addition to this, the county judge must acquaint himself with the financial condition of the county. He must be able to figure out how much revenue will be received, how much of it will be required to meet interest charges, etc., and tell the magistrates about it so the latter may assist him in apportioning the money among the various departments, such as roads, bridges, etc.

After giving the subject considerable thought, I have come to the conclusion that one of the men aspiring to the office of county judge more nearly measures up to what we people in Fulton need than do any of the others. I may frankly say that this man and I have not always agreed as to how things should be done and more than once we have gone to the mat, but I must admit he has always proved to be a square shooter. His honesty has never been questioned by his opponents and his judgment has usually proven good.

In years gone by, the object of this sketch, W. O. Shankle, served as magistrate from the First District, and he was a booster for good roads and a warm supporter of the public health department. He tells me he believes the road taxes collected and as much more money as can be spared, should be spent in building feeder roads leading out to the state-maintained roads, so that all of the citizens of the county may receive the benefits. Although he helps pay for it, the man who lives off the main highways gets little benefit from it in wet weather and a way should be found to bring him out to markets. As a magistrate, Shankle kept the dirt roads in his district in fine shape. He argued for and got what this end of the county was just entitled to. As a county judge, I believe he would take more interest in us than would either of the other candidates.

So it is not so much what I want to do for Shankle as it is what Shankle can do for us, that prompts me to write and pay for this article. The town of Fulton has never elected one of its citizens to this high office. The opportunity to elect Shankle is the best I have ever seen and if Fulton voters act for the best interest of the town he will be elected by a fine majority.

A Citizen.

Away From Home

SMITH POULTRY

THE GENERAL FAVORITE FOR SHERIFF.

By J. T. Watkins

Do you realize it is only a short time now until the big fair opens? It is just 26 days. And I have a lot to do in that 26 days. I have to collect the money already promised, get about fifty or seventy-five members. Lay out my work so that it won't all come due on the first day of the fair. I am going to call on all those who have donated this next few days, also any other prospective Boosters who wish to see the show go over big. And I want you who are in favor of boosting something that will eventually boost the whole vicinity, to kick in.

I want you to men to know the Fulton poultry show is known outside of our little circle of farms around Fulton. We are known all over this territory. If I was allowed to take entries from breeders outside of the five counties named in the premium list, I could have at least 500 birds here from points as far south as Mississippi and north as far as northern Illinois and Indiana east to the boundary lines of Tennessee, and west to Oklahoma, and they would be good birds from some of the largest breeders in the country.

One friend of mine from Indianapolis told me if I would let him come in, he would ship me 100 bantams, that is all he breeds, but he has shown from Los Angeles to Boston. Pat Smith, of Quincy, Illinois, who is state poultry husbandman, told me he would ship a string of birds down here that would clean up. And he could do it. But these men are barred. We are trying to build up the poultry business down here until we get it on a par with those fellows, but we can't do it by our lonesome, we must have the support and backing of all those who will eventually benefit by our exertions.

We are going to put on the show. It is going to be bigger and better than ever. We want at least 800 birds in the show this year and we believe we will have them, and we have some extra good stock down here right now. There are four or five breeders of Black Minors here in Fulton, who, if they are so minded, could furnish ish eggs for hatching purposes that are as good as you can get from Pape; Buff Orpingtons that are far above the general run of flocks; White Wyandotte, Barred and White Plymouth Rocks, White Leghorns and some other breeds that will improve almost any flock around here. I tell you men, we are growing, but we need help, your dollar will go a long way toward reaching a goal we have set, of making Fulton county the best poultry county in the state. Now help us, and help yourselves.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Blue Book, gotten out by the manufacturers' record, which deals with southern progress. Over in the poultry department are a few statements I wish to pass along for your information. "The poultry production for the south may conservatively be placed at a minimum of $300,000,000."

"The opportunities for development of the poultry industry are shown by the fact that in 1898 the United States imported 5,800,000 pounds of dressed poultry, valued at $1,500,000 dollars; one million and a half pounds of live poultry at $378,000; eggs in the shell and other whole eggs, $2,850,000, and eggs in other form to total $3,750,000, a grand total of $8,500,000 in those few items."

Now I want you farmers to read these figures over carefully, understand they are not mine, but from a reliable source and from a place that backs up what they print, and see if you can make up your mind to get away from scrubs and get yourself at least 100 standard bred poultry on your farm.

If Mr. Nugent, Br. or any other business man of Fulton would tell you they had a way in which you could make fifteen or twenty per cent on an investment of a few dollars, I believe you would all jump at the chance, but gentlemen, I am putting a proposition before you where you can make from fifty to one hundred per cent on a small investment, and at the same time double your stock each year. Think it over. Get your chickens ready for the show. Pay your dollar for your year's dues. Be a live wire. Help make this county the best chicken county in the state. Don't be afraid you can't find a market for your surplus, you can sell everything over what you want for your own use. Lay your plans for next year.

SEVERAL INJURED ON FULTON-HICKMAN HIGHWAY SUNDAY

An auto collision Sunday afternoon on the Fulton-Hickman highway near Loggston school house injured seven persons and wrecked two cars. Fortunately none were seriously injured and reports today say all are recovering from the cuts, bruises and wounds received.

The Whippet car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Simpson of Cayce, and their two children, Helen and Lebeul, all of whom were injured. Two other children in the car escaped injury.

The Ford car was driven by P. S. Staggs, of Route 3, Clinton, and with him was his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Staggs, Sr., J. A. McBride and Miss Ida Franklin, all of whom were injured. They were all taken to the Nailing hospital at Union City for treatment.

Those occupying the Simpson car were taken to their homes and Fulton doctors were called.

The Simpson car was going toward Cayce and the Staggs car was coming toward Fulton. Apparently both drivers became confused as they attempted to pass each other and a head on collision was the result. Both were driving at a moderate speed.

"SOLDIER" WILSON AND MIKE DONLIN IN FILM

Farrell Macdonald, starring in "Riley the Cop," has two of the outstanding sport characters of America in his cast. They are Tom Wilson, popularly known as "Soldier" Wilson, and Mike Donlin, one of the most famous baseball players in the United States.

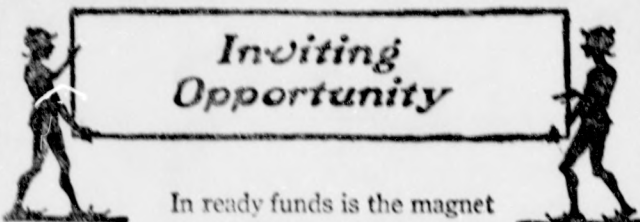

Wilson was a well-known boxer before he deserted the boxing arena for the screen. He has been a blackface comedian and has worked in hundreds of pictures. In "Riley the Cop," he is cast as a sergeant of police.

Donlin, whose honesty in baseball is well-known, becomes a crook. In the supporting cast are Louise Fazenda, Nancy Drexel, David Rollins, Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, Mildred Boyd and Russell Powell. The production, directed by John Ford, is based on a story by Fred Stanley and James Gruen.

The picture will be seen beginning Monday for two days at the Orpheum Theatre.

Inviting Opportunity

In ready funds is the magnet that will draw opportunity, not once but many times to the thrifty man's door.

The funds need not be large. There are opportunities of all sizes. But the possession of capital, no matter how limited, implies the presence of other desirable qualities—such as business sense, stability, ambition.

By starting a savings account with us now you will soon have sufficient savings accumulated to enable you to welcome Opportunity when she next knocks. Without money you may not even recognize her.

NOBODY READS THEM

Why do newspapers print editorials? The editor is told that nobody reads them and that the day is past when newspapers can mold public opinion.

No, Nobody reads the editorials unless they attribute to Shakespeare a Biblical quotation.

Unless they "exhibit clearly the colossal ignorance of your editorial writer" upon the subject at hand.

Unless they display "a spirit of unfairness scarcely in keeping with the fine tradition of your paper."

Unless they contain facts "so palpably false" that a retraction is demanded at once.

Unless they are so biased that people write in to say they have stopped reading them, indicating that at some previous time they were read.

Unless they have stated the case so clearly, so accurately, so fairly and so entirely in keeping with the opinion of the reader that he is provoked to offer his heartfelt congratulations.

Unless they have fiercely and courageously attacked the terrible corruption existing in high places.

Unless they contain a typographical error, corrected after the first edition, giving Rabelaisian flavor to an innocent sentence, which makes the whole town smile.

No, Nobody reads the editorials.

WHEN WORK IS PLAY

There is a lesson for grown up men and women in that facility of childhood to make play out of work. Many adults can recall when the "haunting home of the crows" was made the occasion for a buffalo stampede and the real wild west and lasso sort of cow punching, and the fun which made play of the harvest labor, and the snow house and snow man which made walk shoveling great sport, as well as the many play games that came to raking the leaves, running errands, beating rugs, etc. Was there anything men call work which those same men as boys could not have made a rip-snorting good game of?

Making play of work is the real secret of happiness. Happiness is never attained through slaving today in the anticipation of being able, financially, to play tomorrow. The man who takes a pleasure in his work—makes play of it—is enjoying life in its full. He does not need to depend upon financial independence for his happiness. He is a man or woman whom the world has always mistaken for the inspired genius because "love of work," "ambitions," and "aspiration" are terms foreign to a world finding in work nothing but "toil," "slavery," "labor," "struggle" and "drudgery," and working for nothing but "repose," "relaxation," and a perpetual holiday.

Love of work is possible either in digging ditches or sculpturing eternal marble, but good work is only possible from men and women who make play of their work. To the eye and ear it seems paradoxical, but the mind has long conceived that human beings who make play of their work, play less at their work.

Three stages, showing unhappy progress of man: Empty; fed; fed up.

A liberator is one who suppresses those who formerly suppressed his crowd.

Europe has intellectuals, but they can't say "yokel" in that withering way our have.

Nothing can long astonish a country that can so quickly adjust itself to a new flivver model.

One thing Americans have in common is a desire to acquire culture in six easy lessons.

The vulgarities that shock people most in public are the ones they enjoy most in private.

Communism will work. All we need is a world of people who had rather give than get.

Anything called "a necessity in every household" is made of tin and gets out of fix the next day.

If a modern should invent a better mouse trap, the beaten path would be made by people asking him to make speeches.

CRYPTIC ENOUGH

Educated Egyptian—You have no wonderful hieroglyphics in America, no mysterious inscriptions, no indecipherable relief of an ancient literature whose secrets the wise men have tried in vain to discover.

American Tourist (humbly)—No, we haven't any of those things, I admit. But brightening up—we have our railroad time-tables.

A Loony Couple

"They say Decca is crazy on the subject of golf and his wife is equally crazy over auction sales."

"Yes, and the funny part of it is they both talk in their sleep. The other night a lodger in the next flat heard Decca shout 'Fore!' and immediately Mrs. Decca yelled 'Four and a quarter!'"

The chiggers must.

Lending

"Your constituents lent you strong support."
"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "But they only lent it. They may decide to call the loan and go the other way next election."—Washington Star.

Just Like the Old Home

Mr. Scraggle—Can you give my daughter a home such as she has been accustomed to?
The Sultor—Well I've got a bull terrier and a fighting cat and a parrot and if that won't do it I know where I can get a chimpanzee.

Irrational Rations

Landress—I couldn't come yesterday, Miss Johnson, I had such a pain.
Miss Johnson—What was it, Melissa, dyspepsia?
Landress—Well, ma'am, it was something I eat; the doctor called it acute indiscretion.

WANTED TO LEARN

Instructor—So you want to learn how to run your car?
Reggie—Oh, dear, no—the engine does that. I want to learn how to guide it, if you please.

Bargain Bliss

We cannot make bargain of blisses, Or keep them like fishes in nets; But sometimes the things our life misses Help more than the things that it gets.

Be Swamped With 'Em

"Too bad you ladies are not giving a rummage sale right now," remarked Mr. Grunch.

"Why?" asked his wife, suspiciously.
"Because I know a lot of men who gladly would contribute smoking jackets, bathrobes, bed-room slippers and boxes of cigars to it," he growled.

SPECIALIZED SERVICE

The Illinois Central System announces, effective July 15, 1929, owing to the growth in volume of work incident to the development of Agriculture, Dairying, Colonization, Location and Expansion of Industrial Enterprises, that to more efficiently care for these branches of its specialized service to the public, it will divide its present General Development Department.

Mr. H. J. Schwietert has been appointed General Agricultural Agent in charge of those questions pertaining to Agricultural development and colonization. He is a recognized authority in this field.

Mr. Mark Fenton has been appointed General Industrial Agent in charge of location and expansion of industrial enterprises in which line of effort he has had a wide experience.

Mr. Schwietert will be available as heretofore but with increased facilities for work along General Agricultural and Colonization lines.

Mr. Fenton will be available in preparing and further plans for industrial expansion and for service to industries seeking location.

The Illinois Central System now offers the services of these officers with a cordial invitation to make use of them.

Communications in regard to Agricultural Development and Colonization, should be addressed to Mr. H. J. Schwietert, General Agricultural Agent, Chicago, Illinois; Industrial Development, to Mr. Mark Fenton, General Industrial Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

Practical Dishes For Busy Days

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Reine Company

We suggest these recipes for easily-prepared, savory dishes for use on busy days when dinner must be prepared at the last minute. When you have used them you will think that they are good dishes for any day!

Chili Con Carne—Brown 1 pound ground beef in skillet with 2 tablespoons fat and finely chopped onion. Season with salt and pepper, add 1 medium can Oven Baked Red Kidney Beans. Simmer for few minutes, add 1 small can Tomato Soup. Add ½ teaspoon Chili powder, cook for ten minutes. Serve with boiled or baked potatoes. (Some people prefer to omit the Chili powder).

Sausages with Kidney Beans—Brown Sausage in a skillet. Pour over it 1 can Kidney Beans and simmer or bake in slow oven for ½ hour. Place beans in center of hot platter, surround with sausages and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Ham with Ketchup Sauce—Brown thick slice of ham in skillet, place in casserole, cover with the following sauce:

½ cup Tomato Ketchup or Chili Sauce, ½ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon Pure Vinegar, 2 teaspoons Flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon Prepared Mustard.

Bake in a moderate oven or simmer until tender (about ½ hour).

Creamed Ham Patties—½ cup sliced cold cooked ham, 2 tablespoons Stuffed Mushrooms, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons Flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 leaf bread.

Melt butter in a saucepan, add flour and stir until well blended. Add ham and seasonings to cream sauce. Cut bread in 6 slices, trim off crusts, cut in squares and hollow out center. Toast boxes thus made, fill with the creamed ham, garnish with parsley and serve. Cold pork or veal may be prepared in the same way.

Everyday Chop Suey—

1 pound ground beef; 2 onions; 2 green peppers; 1 cup water; 3 tablespoons butter; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 1 medium can Cooked Spaghetti in Tomato Sauce with Cheese.

In a skillet with butter, fry chopped onions and green pepper, until slightly brown. Add chopped meat and fry until meat browns. Add water, season with salt and pepper, simmer for 10 minutes. Add Spaghetti, allow to boil and serve.

Boston Rolls—

1 can Baked Beans, 1 cup grated cheese; 1 tablespoon chopped onion; 1 cup bread crumbs; ½ cup milk. Drain sauce from beans, chop them, add crumbs, onion, cheese, salt to taste, and enough milk to moisten. Form into small cakes or rolls, place in buttered baking dish in moderate oven for 20 minutes. Baste several times with one cup boiling water to which has been added ¼ cup Tomato Ketchup. This dish makes an excellent substitute for meat.

SHERIFF HURBS OF OBION COUNTY, CLOSES JOINTS

5 Injunctions Secured Against Bootleggers in and Around Union City

Through the activity of Sheriff Jack Hurbs, booze drinkers around Union City will find a desert area for the next few months so far as five sources of supply are concerned. Sheriff Hurbs this week got injunctions against five places where liquor has been sold and these places are being padlocked. The injunctions secured were heard before Circuit Judge Elkins at Dresden, Tuesday, and in every instance were sustained. These injunctions are good until the September term of court.

Clyde Fuller's two pig stands on the Union City-Troy highway will cease to dispense to the thirsty wayfarer, simply because an injunction exists against both of these places, and they are padlocked by order of his majesty, the law of the land. Other victims of his attack are Harry Lee Watson's pool room at Samburg, Moser Hockett's dance hall in Baptistville in Union City, and Wallace Tipton's home in Baptistville. However, Tipton will be allowed to continue his residence in his own house, but under drastic penalty he is forbidden by the injunction to dispense his popular brand of liquid to Union City's thirsty citizens.—Union City Messenger.

ALL PEDDLERS ARE NOT BAD

But the Home Merchant Is Entitled to Your Patronage

The summer complaint of which the average Fulton housewife suffers most is the persistent drum-drum of the itinerant peddler on the front door. The news has gone out to the world that Fulton is a rattling good town, in a rapidly developing and prosperous territory, and the peddler tribe has multiplied tenfold during the past few weeks, if reports coming to this office may be relied upon.

All peddlers, mind you, are not bad.

Canvassers and peddlers all come under the category of pest, but they can be divided between the deserving and undeserving, and their wares can be divided between the good and the bad.

If there were not so many of them, one would willingly give time and money to the young men and women who, through canvassing, partially or wholly finance their next year's schooling. And then the frauds cannot always be distinguished from the bonafide.

But it is against the peddler that the housewife directs her complaint. He is ubiquitous and excessively insistent and is not above trickery and dishonesty.

Patrons of the peddler often injure two in benefitting one. They take away from their own merchants, who spend their profits at home, business that is rightfully theirs, giving it to a fly-by-night stranger. And not infrequently peddlers' bargains prove to be gold bricks.

But the chief complaint against peddlers is that they take up our time, when they are least welcomed, spend little money in the community, and contribute nothing toward community advancement.

The local merchant, who pays taxes, contributes to every worth-while community endeavor—an ever present neighbor and friend—is entitled to our patronage—and we should be able to look the peddler in the face, smile, and tell him so.

GOOD WOMAN SUMMONED BY DEATH

The death of Mrs. Horace Reams, Thursday, July 25, in a Dyersburg hospital following an operation for appendicitis, was cause for grief and sorrow by her friends and loved ones. Mrs. Reams was a devoted wife and mother and her passing leaves a vacant place in the once happy home, that cannot be filled. Her presence in her home community will be sadly missed.

She is survived by her devoted husband and two small children; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Bruce, of Fulton; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Henderson and Mrs. Gip McDade, of near Fulton, and one brother, Silas Bruce.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from her late home on Route 2, conducted by the Rev. D. W. Folks, of Paducah, and Rev. C. H. Warren, of this city. Interment followed in Mt. Moriah cemetery in charge of Winstead, Jones & Co.

OUR MESSAGE OF SERVICE

There is going to be a lot of activity in the building line this year. Architects and contractors, carpenters and masons all, are busily sharpening up their pencils and their tools, and getting set for business. It is not the young married folks alone who are going to build homes—who dream dreams of happiness in homes of their own—but many others who have long, too long, been renting the roofs over their heads are going to try this year to realize their desire to have a home of their own.

Whatever you plan to do by way of BUILDING — REMODELING REPAIRING we want you to feel perfectly free to come in and consult our service department without the slightest obligation. Whether it's a big house or a bungalow, a new garage, new roof or new floor, a sun parlor or a sleeping porch, an alley fence, or built-in fixtures—we are prepared to give you unequalled service and low prices on Quality Material.

LET US HELP YOU MAKE YOUR DREAMS COME TRUE.

CASE-HARDENED

"Viper!" she hissed. "Scoundrel! Wretch! Blackguard! Fool!" Smiling sweetly, he continued to glance over his paper. "Villain!" she resumed, her eyes flashing vivid fire. "Robber-r-r!" "Yes, yes," he said. "Go on!" Then a thought suddenly occurred to her, and she sank hopelessly into a chair at the uselessness of it all. He had been a baseball umpire.—Pathfinder.

Try It Out, Ladies

Wife—I made a terrible hit at the club this afternoon.
Hubby—Make a speech?
Wife—No, but I wore my dress that I just had cleaned and the odor of gasoline was so prevalent that everybody thought we had a car. We'll have to get one now, dear.

WAS LEFT A PA(U)PER

She—When my father died I was left a pauper.
Dumb Dora—Oh, wasn't it nice of him to leave you a papa in his place!

Ho, Hum!

Woman, lovely woman, isn't she fair and sweet?
She wears more clothes when to bed she goes
Than she does upon the street.

Candid Admission

"Do you always tell the truth when you make a campaign speech?" "Invariably," answered Senator Sorghum. "But I am compelled to admit that with me, as with others, the truth regarding some subjects is a matter of personal opinion."

Makes a Difference

Room for Improvement

John (passionately)—The more I look at you, dear, the more beautiful you seem.
Julia (expectantly)—Yes?
John (brutally)—I ought to look at you oftener.

Frigid

Blinks—What kind of a woman is his wife?
Jinks—Well, when she comes into a room the temperature usually drops 15 or 20 degrees.

Has the Appetite

Harold—And has she a soul for the higher things in life?
Scotty—No; but she has an appetite for the higher things in life—take her out to dinner some time.

They Usually Are

"Are the children all in?" asked father as he sat down to breakfast.
"How can they help but be, dancing until daylight?" snapped mother.

The Patchwork Quilt

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright.)

THE long row of automobiles drawn up on either side of the street and the motley crowd gathered in the neglected yard adjoining the old farmhouse attracted Paul's attention even before he saw the large white sign announcing in letters of black an auction of all the furnishings of the Mallison house.

He drove in at the first empty parking space three blocks away, got out of the car and sauntered back. What was time to a man just started on his summer's vacation?

He knew of the Mallison family, although it was from hearsay rather than personal acquaintance.

As he turned in at the gate that sagged unhelpfully on its hinges, his mouth twisted in a very smile. Couldn't seem to get away from Lucie at all. "Here, now, ladies and gentlemen, is a fine old mahogany candle table. What am I bid? Come now, ladies and gentlemen, what am I bid?"

Paul's glance was caught by a mammoth quilt draped over a line evidently stretched for the purpose. The intricacy of its pattern fascinated him. Some woman's fingers had spent months and perhaps years fashioning the thing. And to what end? For a few years to keep somebody warm while he or she slept unconscious of what was warming them and then to be knocked down under the unfeeling hammer of the auctioneer.

Paul waited until the quilt was reached.

"Five dollars!" he heard himself say, just to start the thing going. Surely it was worth more than that as a genuine antique.

"Five dollars—five dollars! No more than five dollars for this beautiful counterpane? Well, it's yours, mister."

Paul, when he came to take away his purchase, was dismayed to find that there was no wrapping paper available for so large a bundle. So, feeling that his bid had been the most foolish act of his life since asking Lucie to marry him in the way he had, he rolled it up as best he could and carried it out to the car.

Even then, he did not know what to do with it. The back of his small roadster already bulged with tent, cot, blankets, gasoline stove, and other equipment for the Maine lake region.

He looked at his watch and sighed resignedly. There was nothing to do but take it back to his mother. By giving it to her as a sort of premature birthday present, he could explain his purchase.

He had turned around and was headed for home with the quilt on the seat—leaving him to remember that he would have to pass Lucie's house again. Yes, twice more, for that matter. And every time he went by her house, the mere sight of it did upsetting things to his heart.

And yet she had accused him of having no sentiment. All because he had proposed to her at full moon at the church picnic in Pine Grove. He had been planning to ask her for some time and had been so afraid of her refusing that he had let opportunity—moonlight and all that sort of thing—slip by with his offer ungiven.

Then, obeying some devilish impulse as they sat side by side on the long plank that served for a seat at the picnic table, he had blurted out his hopes, and the minister's boy, just beyond, had overheard him and had snickered. Lucie had blushed to the roots of her sunny hair and had called him down furiously for it afterwards. Had said he must have no more sentiment than a fish.

Paul was living it all over again as he drove along the home road.

By jinks! There was Lucie. His heart missed a beat, then pulsed the faster to make up for it.

She was out in front of the house raking a flower bed. As she heard the sound of his car, she turned around, hesitated, and came slowly down to the road.

"Thought you were going away for the summer," she said innocently, as Paul slowed down and stopped. She looked as if she had been crying, but of course, it could not have been for him.

"I am," he said. "But seeing a sale at the Mallisons', I stopped and bought an old quilt for my mother."

"Oh," cried Lucie. "A quilt from the Mallisons! I wonder how it—do let me see it!"

What could Paul do but show it to her? Yet he had not expected she would get down on her knees, spread the quilt out on the grass, and go over it inch by inch.

Suddenly she shrieked. "It is!" she cried. "The very one! Old Grandma Mallison used some of my dress that mother was making for me while on a visit there!"

Paul looked over her shoulder at the faded bit of print her finger rested on. "Yes," he said dreamily, "that little dress!"

Lucie jumped to her feet. "Oh, Paul!" she breathed. "To think you should remember it! Don't tell me you bought that quilt because it had that bit of my old dress in it!"

Paul might have said he hadn't because he didn't, but he refrained. Perhaps the occasion seemed to demand deeds not words, for, taking her by the hand, he led her gently to a more secluded spot under the apple tree and presently, with her head on his shoulder, he was begging her to turn his vacation into a honeymoon.

RADIO TELEGRAPH NOW GOES INLAND

Fourteen Cities in Nucleus of Network, With Plans for Twenty-nine as Wave Lengths Are Granted.

Plans for the immediate establishment of a radio-telegraph system serving all the interior of the United States through fourteen strategic cities just have been announced by General James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America. The service will be managed and operated by the Corporation's subsidiary, R. C. A. Communications, Inc.

The stations will be at New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Denver, New Orleans, Kansas City, Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston and Washington, General Harbord's announcement reveals.

The establishment of the new service, which will give the inland cities direct communication with the world wide wireless networks radiating from New York and San Francisco to foreign countries, was made possible by the recent grant of ten exclusive channels and five shared channels from the Federal Radio Commission.

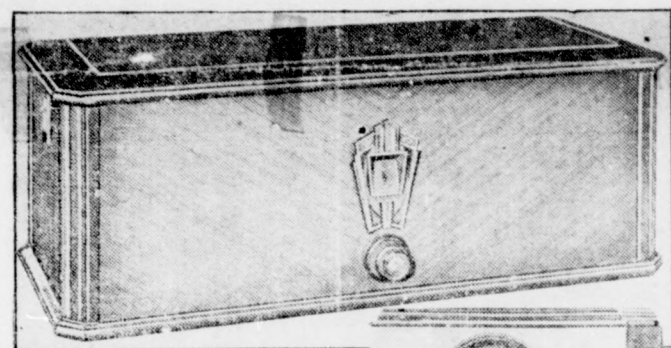

The above map shows the twenty-nine cities which the Radio Corporation of America hopes to include in an inland radio telegraph network soon. Work already is under way to give radio telegraph service to fourteen of the cities, on wave lengths already granted. These stations will be at New Orleans, Kansas City, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles, Seattle, Denver, St. Louis, Cincinnati, New York, San Francisco, Boston and Washington.

able means of communication with each other.

"But its greatest significance, as the United States turns more and more to foreign markets, is that it brings Europe, South America and the Orient closer to America through radio's new and efficient avenues of communication."

Supplementing General Harbord's announcement, W. A. Winterbottom, vice-president in charge of communications, revealed that the construction program for the fourteen cities was already under way. Three million dollars has been set aside for the initial expenditure.

New Sets Use Screen Grid Tubes

Two new Radiolas employing the new AC screen grid tubes and a new power amplifier in a specially designed circuit to bring out their full capabilities, have been announced by E. A. Nicholas, vice president of the Radio-Victor Corporation of America.

One of these sets, Radiola 44, is a table model, and the other, Radiola 46, is a console with a built-in electro-dynamic loudspeaker. Both receivers are encased in cabinets of two-toned walnut veneer.

"Radiola 44," the announcement of Mr. Nicholas explains, "utilizes three UY-224 screen grid tubes, two of which serve as radio frequency amplifiers, and the third as a power detector. The new UX-245 power amplifier tube is used in the single stage of audio amplification. The receiver has three tuned radio frequency circuits, but because of the characteristics of the screen grid tubes, has as much selectivity as a set having four tuned circuits and using the standard three-element tubes. The two UY-224 tubes which are used as radio frequency amplifiers give as much amplification as four of the ordinary three-element tubes."

"The screen-grid power detector tube gives such a strong signal that it makes possible the elimination of one stage of audio frequency amplification, reducing to a minimum the possibility of distortion, sometimes present where successive stages of audio amplification are used. The output energy from the plate of this power detector tube is transferred by a choke and filter system to the UX-245 power amplifier tube instead of through a transformer. This results in an exceedingly high quality of musical reproduction and brings out particularly well the full tones of the bass register. As an additional precaution to insure undistorted reproduction, the UX-224 power detector tube has a radio frequency filter which prevents any radio frequency disturbance from being carried over into the audio amplifier."

"The UX-245 power Radiotron used as an audio amplifier is capable of delivering a power output equal to that of the UX-210 Radiotron, but operates with a lower plate impedance which results in a greatly improved quality of tone reproduction. As used in Radiola 44, the UX-245 Radiotron will give undistorted volume in excess of the requirements of the average home."

Models Designed Especially to Get the Most From New Radiotron

An unusual type of selector dial is employed in Radiola 44. In addition to the usual scale markings of zero to one hundred, the selector dial has approximate kilocycle markings to facilitate tuning. When the set is in operation, the scale markings and numbers, greatly magnified, are projected upon a small translucent, composition screen in the center of the escutcheon plate. Another unusual feature is a two-in-one tuning and volume control, arranged concentrically so that they appear to be one control, adding materially to the external appearance and enabling the user to operate both controls simultaneously with one hand. A local distance switch maintains the quality of reproduction for both strong local and weak distance stations.

The same radio circuit and Radiotrons as used in Radiola 44 are incorporated in Radiola 46, together with a built-in electro-dynamic loudspeaker of the Model 106 type.

Baby Foods in Cans

THE Pure Food and Drugs Act is the United States Government's guarantee that foods processed in cans are pure and wholesome. After seeking the advice of eminent pediatricians, dietitians and domestic science experts, and subjecting their products to tests in the world famous laboratories of national institutions, the commercial processing of vegetables for babies has not only been allowed but also approved, under the stringent provisions of this act. This fact should go far to dispel any lurking fears of canned foods which still persists among a few people who are not abreast of the times. If foods can be canned that are not only fit for but beneficial to the delicate system of a little baby, canned foods will certainly agree with grown-ups.

For the normal baby vegetable feedings should begin, according to leading pediatricians, at from six to eight months. But this is a question which you should not decide for yourself or on hearsay. Consult your doctor as to the best feeding schedule for the individual problem of your own particular and precious baby.

Consult Your Doctor

It is permissible, however, to ask him whether the many tedious time-consuming hours spent in cleaning, cooking and straining vegetables for your baby cannot be avoided by the use of specially prepared strained vegetable products in cans. He will tell you that the manner in which they are processed effects a greater conservation of the rich mineral salts and vitamin elements than is possible when the same vegetables are cooked in the presence of oxygen in open vessels.

Vitamins In Winter

IN der wintertime, as our Teutonic friends would say, you need plenty of vitamins. Indeed you need them at all seasons of the year, but they're harder to get in winter because you have less outdoor life and less of the sunshine whose health-giving rays supply you with vitamin D. There are, however, many foods which are known to be rich in vitamin D, such as cod liver oil, milk, eggs and green vegetables.

One of the best ways to get a supply of the other vitamins in winter—A, B, C and the recently discovered vitamin E which assists the red blood cells to absorb iron from foods—is to drink canned tomato juice. In a recent article in "Herald," published by the American Medical Association, Dr. E. F. Kohman states that commercially canned goods have been found to be richer in vitamins than home cooked foods and that canned tomatoes have been tested three years after canning and no evidence found that their storage results in any appreciable loss of vitamins.

For Baby, Too

This drink is good for baby, too. Dr. A. F. Hess of Columbia University says: "Canned tomatoes are the most serviceable antiscorbutic for artificially fed infants. It is well borne, inexpensive and available." And William Howard Fitch of the U. S. A. Medical Research Bureau says: "The popularity of the tomato, fresh and canned, is fully justified by our present knowledge of food values, for the tomato is rich in all three vitamins (A, B and C) and retains them well when cooked and canned."

Farm Notes

By H. A. McPherson,
County Agent

Around 500 tons of lime has been unloaded at Fulton during the past week. About 100 tons are being used near Cayce.

Will Sowell purchased a nice young Jersey bull last week. Arch Oliver sold a scrub bull and replaced it with a nice Jersey out of a fine cow. This makes our total number of registered bulls up to 13 in the past 60 days. Help us get our quota of 25 registered Jersey bulls by January 1.

Everything is pointing to a fine Jersey show at the County Fair. Preparations are being made to have the best possible judge. The boys and girls are getting their calves ready and they are going to surprise you with a good bunch of calves. Every farmer who has a registered cow should show her. It is not the sole object of a fair to win premiums, but to show to the public what you have on your farm. Some of the highest producing Jersey cows in the U. S. would not win at a county fair. In fact, there are but few show cows in the state, but we want the people of this county and the surrounding counties to see cows that will make for their owners a nice profit above cost of feed.

Twenty-five of our most progressive farmers attended the Graves and Calloway county Jersey Picnic last Thursday. Around 1,500 farmers were there and they had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Morley, secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club, talk on the natural possibilities of dairying in the South. O. E. Van Cleave, field representative of the American Jersey Cattle Club, of Kentucky and Tennessee, stated that it was the best meeting that he had ever attended during the past 6 years of his field work.

Those who attended had the pleasure of seeing some of the best cows in the U. S., both from the point of production and show. Mr. Harrison has two gold medal cows and Noah Rogers had the five heifers that won first place at the National Dairy Show last year.

Mrs. Harve McClannihan is right sick at this writing.

Shell Shock

HAVE you ever suffered from shell shock? No, we don't mean the effect of a war time barrage, but the weariness that comes from shelling a great pan of peas. It's a hard chore during the summer, when all of outdoors is so bright and stirring. And it is a very disappointing one when, at the end of your toiling, you find that you have only half as many peas as you had anticipated, because some of the pods were misshapen, filled. In the woods of the valleys, where there is so much in vogue just now, "beans" ought to be a few against that!

How to Cook

Fortunately we can get some of our much of our and peas for all dishes that are cooked with peas. Canned peas are more satisfactory to use than fresh peas, for the former are always tender and good. Fresh peas are sometimes tough and often they will cook hard and tough.

Canned peas combine with other foods to make delicious salads and luncheon and dinner dishes. Here is a recipe of which your family will approve highly:

Carrot Roots with Peas: Because of their effective contrasting colors, carrots and peas are always a favorite combination. Cut in halves, lengthwise, large even sized carrots, and cook until tender, in boiling salted water. Drain. Scoop out the centers and sprinkle cavities with salt. Heat a can of peas, drain, season well with salt, pepper and butter, and pile in the carrot boats. Stick a potato chip in one end to simulate a tail.

The New Mackerel Industry

AND now they're canning mackerel and having a hard time supplying the market. What will California be canning next? After two years of experiment, the canning of fish at San Pedro, Wilmington and San Diego has developed with great rapidity, and has reached a position recently which justifies its classification as a thriving new Southern California industry. The output for this season amounts already to more than 4,800,000 cans.

Fish Are Plentiful

It isn't lack of fish, but lack of machinery which makes it difficult to supply the demand at present. According to some packers and fishermen the fish are available the year round, immediately off shore, and in apparently unlimited quantities. One packer declares, according to the "Pacific Fisherman," that the catch can be doubled on a day's notice to those engaged in it.

Canning methods, though varying slightly, are almost identical with those used for salmon, employing the same procedure of exhausting and processing. Canned salmon is one of the staple foods of this country, and one reason for its popularity is its comparative cheapness. Scientists tell us that sea foods made by nature are cheaper than the foods cultivated by man on the farm. But, after all, taste is the test, and we wouldn't eat salmon or mackerel if they didn't tickle our palate as well as appeal to our purse.

For The Vegetarian

IT'S a long time since vegetarians have had to vegetate in the country to get their vegetables. Nearly all kinds of these succulent foods are now available ready prepared in cans. But it was not until some fourteen hundred years after Nebuchadnezzar was turned out to grass "like the kine" that the Frenchman Nicholas Appert, discovered the process which has enabled vegetarians to become city dwellers.

At the present time there are thirty or forty different kinds of vegetables canned, several combinations and varieties of many of them, and more kinds are being added to the canned menu every year. Some of the principal vegetables which are universally and always available in canned form in this country are artichokes, asparagus, beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, corn, hominy, kale, lentils, mushrooms, okra, olives, onions, peas, peppers, pickles, pineapples, potatoes, pumpkin, sauerkraut, spinach, squash, tomatoes, turnips and wholewheat.

A Healthy Diet

Not only can the city dweller get all of the canned vegetables he wants, but he has the assurance of scientists that they are equal in nutritive qualities and superior in vitamin content to fresh vegetables cooked in open receptacles by the usual home methods. This is because canned vegetables are processed in hermetically sealed containers, and the oxygen which attacks their vitamin content is excluded.
