THE LISTENING POST

● I never saw a boom town get under way, for my life has been spent in sections of the nation where booms rarely came. During the World War I did see a little bit of development of the Muscle Shoals area and saw those towns in that section boom for a while and then almost die for a long period of time. Now that a boom town is rising nearby, I am going to watch developments with an interested gaze.

● What is in the future for Milan remains to be seen. It appears certain that it will mushroom swiftly for a time and no doubt some people will make a lot of money. A casual glance at Milan, even now, will show some striking developments. A few weeks will bring even more startling things, for as yet actual work is hardly started.

● Driving into Milan yesterday I noticed new houses being built far on the outskirts of the town, and then came the inevitable real estate developments. On every side of the town are these new subdivisions, with lots marked off and the for sale signs erected. What the prices are I have no idea, but I guess they are far higher than the owners ever dreamed of a few years ago. No doubt there is brisk activity in the real estate business, for a lot of houses must be built in Milan within a short time. Some people say that Milan will be a town of 20,000 within a year or even less. Personally I am rather inclined to believe that a lot of the expected population will finally be found in Jackson and Humboldt and Medina, but it appears certain that Milan will grow rapidly in population. It may really be a town of 20,000 within a year and that means a boom town, with all that boom towns have, both good and evil.

● Rents have already taken a big upward jump there, and it is said that those of lower earning capacity—say twelve to eighteen dollars a week—are having a hard time in meeting these new conditions. For years they have been getting along all right on eighteen dollars a week and paying ten or fifteen dollars per month for rent. Now they see rental charges mushrooming up to forty or fifty dollars per month and there is nothing they can do about it. They can't pay it, and so they are confronted with the problem of getting more money, and this may be a bit difficult. There never was a boom which was evenly divided, and some classes always suffer.

● The most striking thing I saw in Milan was in the building or rebuilding of huge places to serve as rooming houses. One old garage had been turned into such a place, and while I did not see the interior, I am told that it contains several hundred bunks and this place proposes to furnish bunking privileges for about five dollars per week per person. Another building for the same purpose had been built new, and it reminded me of pictures I have seen of oil boom towns.

● All over the town new buildings are being erected, old ones are being remodeled; there are many signs in front of homes which advertise sleeping rooms, and in general Milan is seeing the last of those peaceful years it has known in the past. Naturally the people are enthusiastic, and perhaps justly so, but those who have lived in boom towns say that it is not entirely a pleasant way in which to live. The blind forces of commerce bring strange conditions, and right now Milan is a town caught in this unknown force, and no man can say what the final results will be.

Governor To Weigh T. V. A. Act

Murray Group Asks Law To Give Cities Power

Murray, Ky. —Gov. Keen Johnson has promised Murray's young business men he will give "thoughtful and sympathetic consideration" to their request that he assist in the enactment of legislation at the 1942 session of the Kentucky Legislature that will permit cities throughout the State to acquire T. V. A. power.

W. T. Sledd, president of the Young Business Men's Club of Murray, said the organization had petitioned the Governor to assist in obtaining this legislation and also in obtaining a T. V. R. power line in this area, even before the Kentucky dam at Gilbertsville is completed.

Governor's Letter Quoted
"I appreciate so much your thoughtfulness in directing my attention to this subject at such an early date and I can assure you it will afford me a pleasure to give your request thoughtful and sympathetic consideration," the Governor wrote Mr. Sledd in reply to the request.

Reasons advanced by the club for seeking the Governor's assistance included:

1. The action of the Court of Appeals in the Middlesboro power case indicated that enabling legislation is necessary if Kentucky municipalities are to have T. V. A. power.
2. Several large manufacturing concerns have declined to establish plants in the State because of lack of power facilities, as contrasted with those in other States.
3. The $112,000,000 power dam at Gilbertsville is being constructed in West Kentucky, and thus far no city in the area has T. V. A. power. The club hopes the T. V. A. may extend a high-line from its other dams to this project, making power available now.

"Psychic Wonder" In Comeback; She'll Shaw Powers March 1st.

Ferry, La. — Definite and important questions concerning the world will be asked Alice Belle Kirby, the "wonder girl" of Catahoula Parish on March 1, the 16th birthday of the Jonesville "psychic" marvel. Devotees of physical research throughout the Nation and hundreds in Louisiana, Mississippi and other states, who declare they have seen demonstrations of her remarkable power are eagerly awaiting the red letter day—when she will again demonstrate her powers.

Such all-important questions as "When will Hitler attempt an invasion of England?" "When and What Will Happen to Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin?" "Who Will Win the War and When?" and "Will the United States Enter the War and When?" will be asked.

Friends and relatives of the girl say Alice Belle has given the assurance that at this time she will be able to demonstrate in broad daylight the remarkable psychic powers with which she is credited by many persons of responsibility and standing. Heretofore all the reported demonstrations have been made in her own home or in the

Bulldogs Face Bardwell Team Here Tonight

After dropping a game to the Milburn team last Friday night, when all the odds favored a victory, the Bulldogs will try to regain some of their lost prestige at Science Hall tonight. Bardwell comes here for a game, and early in the season the Indians walloped the Bulldogs by a five point margin. Based on games up to the Milburn debacle, the Bulldogs figured to take Bardwell in the second game, but if the same style of play is to be used tonight it is likely that the Indians will take home an easy victory. On the other hand, if the Bulldogs can remember their coaching and their set plays, and play as a team instead of as individuals, they might play as they have against some other strong teams and win over the visitors. The team has the training and the condition to win over pretty strong teams, and local fans are hoping to see them do their best.

In this connection, it should be remembered that Milburn will be the first team which the Bulldogs face in the district tournament in Clinton in early March. Bardwell is also in the same bracket, and this week the Bulldogs will probably show the fans whether they have any chance in the tournament. Bardwell and Cunningham both play here this week, and both are strong contenders. In fact, many observers say that Cunningham has a chance of upsetting the powerful Clinton team.

The preliminary game with Bardwell will start at 7:15.

New Land Type Planes To Replace Atlantic Clippers

New York. —Huge new-type land planes now under construction will supplant transatlantic clippers, under a plan of Pan American Airways.

Company President Juan T. Trippe announced the projected substitution upon his arrival on the trail-blazing Dixie Clipper, which brought Wendell L. Willkie from Europe.

Although declining to give details, Trippe said he hoped to see the land aircraft in service by next year.

He termed "entirely successful" the experimental route followed by the Dixie Clipper, which flew from Lisbon to Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, on the West Coast of Africa; thence to Trinidad, Puerto Rico and New York. Its approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board is awaited before all west-bound clippers begin using it.

Willkie Declares He Heard No Talk Of U. S. Entry Into War

New York. —Wendell L. Willkie, home from a "see for myself" tour of England and Erie, said Sunday he had heard "no talk expecting, anticipating or suggesting that the United States become an active ally in warfare with Britain."

The 1940 Republican Presidential candidate said he went abroad 18 days ago "as a private citizen on my own responsibility and I'm coming back the same way."

Declines Conclusions
He declined to express his conclusions on the trip pending his appearance, probably Tuesday, before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at a hearing on the British Aid Bill passed Saturday by the House.

Willkie said that "they (the British) are naturally very hopeful that we as a free people will give to them as a free people all the material aid that we can give."

He said that he had gained "certain supplemental ideas" on aid to Britain, although he declined to discuss them. Nor would he comment on his visit to Erie, where he conferred with Prime Minister Eamon De Valera.

"I am deferring completely any comment on my observations because what I have to say I want to say in consecutive order," Mr. Willkie said.

War Idea Discussed
In a later press conference Mr. Willkie issued this statement: "I have been interested since my return in reading press dispatches concerning discussion about aid to Britain."

"Apparently the issue is being drawn by some on the basis of war or no war. In other words, the opponents of aid to Britain are saying that if the United States give aid to Britain we may become involved in war, while if we do not give aid to Britain, we can remain at peace."

Walter Evans Named Head Of Bd. Of Education

At the meeting of the Board of Education of the Fulton City Schools, Walter W. Evans, local druggist, was elected chairman with Roper Fields being named vice-chairman.

At this meeting the members decided that the board will cooperate with Fulton County, Hickman County, Carlisle County and the Hickman City School district in operating a community 4-year high school for colored students, this school to be located in Hickman.

Students attending from Fulton will be transported to Hickman but details for transportation have not been worked out yet. This will be done in the near future. The Fulton Board of Education is cooperating in this movement because the colored high school of Fulton has been recently ordered closed by L. F. Taylor of the State Board of Education, because of lack of students. Only 18 high school students were enrolled.

The Board also decided to reconsider the building of a school building under W. P. A. The board members here will go to Sedalia for an inspection of the building being constructed there under W. P. A. and if this construction meets with approval of the Fulton men, they will go into possibilities of construction of a building here under W. P. A.

A preliminary copy of the budget was presented at the meeting last night and will come up for final adoption at the March meeting.

House Approves Big Increase In U. S. Debt Limit

Sixty-Five Billions Approved As Peak Over GOP Opposition

Washington. —An increase in the federal debt limit to $65,000,000,000 was approved by the House today after Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), of the ways and means committee had described it as a necessary defense measure.

The administration bill, which now goes to the Senate, also would remove federal tax exemptions from future issues of United States government securities and would give the Treasury greater flexibility in issuing saving bonds.

Republicans sought unsuccessfully to hold the debt limitation to $60,000,000,000, arguing that Congress could increase it later if events required. Their proposal was defeated 148 to 105 on a teller vote. The bill finally passed by a voice vote without amendments.

Spending Criticized

Several Republican members utilized the afternoon's debate to criticize spending under the Roosevelt administration. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), asserted that the present government debt represents expenditure of 045 "for every minute since the dawn of the Christian era," and added:

"President Roosevelt spends all the money we give him. If he hasn't got it, he'll spend it anyway."

Rep. Dewey (R-N.Y.), described the proposed increase in the debt limit from the present maximum of $49,000,000,000 "astronomical." It was both unwise and unnecessary, he argued.

Doughton, on the other hand, told the House:

"Both consistency and duty demand that we be as prompt and willing to implement the Treasury with the money necessary to discharge our national defense obligations as we are in creating them."

The present debt limit actually is $53,300,000,000, he contended, nothing that it includes old authority to issue $300,000,000 of short-term securities and to have $4,000,000,000 of war savings certificates outstanding.

State Law Valid On Most U. S. Jobs Contractors Told

Frankfort, Ky. —Contractors and others working on Federal Government property in Kentucky must comply with the State laws, unless they are on land ceded to the Government.

That was the opinion given by Assistant Attorney General H. Appleton Federer Monday to Irving G. Idler, a New York attorney.

Federer added that where land has been ceded by the Legislature and accepted by the Government, it is Federal territory and State laws do not apply.

Those working on land bought or leased, but not ceded to and accepted by the Government, work under State laws, Federer explained.

St. Lawrence River Project Is Backed In Report Of Com. Dept.

Washington. —The Commerce Department said in a special report Sunday that completion of the St. Lawrence Waterway project would open new shipbuilding facilities in the Great Lakes States that would be needed for a "long period to come."

"Disquieting" war losses, the report said, have overtaxed construction yards on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Coasts while the availability of inland facilities was restricted by the navigation limitations of the St. Lawrence River.

The report was the first of seven on the project being prepared at the request of President Roosevelt.

Negotiations with Canada for an agreement for development of the St. Lawrence were revived by Mr. Roosevelt some time ago. A treaty was rejected by the

CHURCHILL THE HOPEFUL

It was a new role which Winston Churchill played yesterday in his address to the British Empire and to the entire world. For in this address, his first in five months, Churchill sounded a more hopeful note than he has yet sounded. He has never been a foolish optimist; rather he has told his people the grim and bitter facts of the horrors which were ahead, and even in his address yesterday he again reminded his home people in the British Isles that more dreadful days were coming when Hitler launched his final attack on Britain. That gas will be used Churchill appeared certain and that means more dreadful days and nights than have yet been experienced in the stricken Island Kingdom.

But through all the Churchill address there was a new note of courage and confidence and a more certain note of victory. Almost as the great Prime Minister spoke guns from a powerful British fleet were raining destruction on Italy's fourth largest city, and British bombers were dropping tons of explosives on other cities of the Italian mainland. The British fleet made its most daring rain against Italy in this particular case, and when a fleet headed by two battleships shells a city it is certain that vast damage is done. The British have brought the war home to Italy. The Italian African empire is a thing of the past. It has been shattered to pieces by a veteran British army, armed with the latest in guns and equipment and the best Italian troops have been thrown into utter rout by the British Army of the Nile. Unless German aid is given Italy is definitely beaten, and it becomes increasingly difficult for Hitler to give aid to his stricken partner in crime.

These developments probably inspired the Churchill note of confidence, and he went even further with his note of victory. He said flatly that no American aid would be needed, except for the munitions of war. No American troops will be needed for the defeat of Hitler, he said. The British are able to do the job and will do it if America will only furnish the machines and arms which are needed. "I see no time this year or next year or any year when American armies will be needed," the Prime Minister said. Continuing, he said, by way of warning:

"But I must drop one word of caution, for next to cowardice and treachery, overconfidence leading to neglect and slothfulness is the worst of martial crime. . . . An invasion now will be supported by a careful plan; with prepared tackle and apparatus of landing craft, all of which have been planned and manufactured in recent months. We must be prepared to meet gas attacks, parachute attacks, glider attacks, with constancy, forethought and practiced skill."

Referring to the letter sent him by President Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill said:

"Here is the answer which I will give to President Roosevelt: put your confidence in us. Give us your faith and your blessing, and under Providence all will be well. We shall not fail or falter; we shall not weaken or tire. Neither the sudden shock of battle nor the long drawn trails of vigilance and exertion will wear us down. Give us the tools and we will finish the job."

No Englishman ever uttered a more forthright challenge. In that final sentence is America's way marked out.

Sixteen Years Ago

(Feb. 11, 1925)

At the election of officers for the Chamber of Commerce held last night Esq. W. O. Shankle was named president of the organization. The meeting was the largest ever held by the Chamber of Commerce, with the big dining room of the Usona Hotel filled to capacity.

Prospects are said to be bright for an early beginning of the Hickman and Fulton highway, according to County Judge Chas. D. Nugent. State highway engineers have already been in the county making preliminary surveys, and it is believed that all legal difficulties are now cared for and that work can start within a few weeks on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cook announce the birth of a son on February 9.

J. D. Walker is reported improving, following an operation in a Paducah hospital.

The weather here won't stay put. Yesterday was a balmy spring day, with a temperature of 60; today is a winter day with streets and sidewalks covered in ice.

Rescue workers are approaching the place where Floyd Collins is pinned in Sand Cave. It is not known with any certainty that he is still living.

Mrs. Jesse Jordan is reported ill today at her home on Jefferson street.

Selected Feature

Making Progress

(From The Atlanta Constitution)

The extent to which the United States has progressed in its preparedness in comparison to progress of World War days is indicated in the announcement that 350,000 men will participate in war games in the Southern States this year. This will involve more men than were in the entire Army only a few months ago and will be five times greater than last year's maneuvers—than the largest ever held in peacetimes. Also highlighting this progress is the statement that the selective service will have 800,000 men undergoing training by early summer, with the draft process to be speeded up considerably as new camps are completed.

Meanwhile, other reports show the equipment required by the American—and British—Army will be shoved along far ahead of schedule. For example, steelwork has already been completed at the new Chrysler tank plant and at the Ford plant being constructed for the manufacture of airplane engines.

Against these optimistic reports must be placed the statement of OPM executives that more than 50 per cent of the nation's mechanical equipment is either idle or in use only eight hours a day and that defense orders have gone to only 13,000 contractors when 200,000 firms are available. The solution to this bottleneck, OPM leaders say, rests in new plans to spread defense work through smaller industries by encouraging large companies to sublet the maximum quantity possible to the smaller units. Only in this way it is said, can maximum production be obtained in a short period of time. In addition, this subcontracting should prevent all but necessary overexpansion of plant facilities and in turn lighten the economic readjustments in the aftermath of the conflict.

All in all, progress has been great—much greater than during a similar period of the World War after this nation entered the conflict. But mere progress is not enough. It must be the ultimate progress obtainable whether that progress is obtained in normal ways or by temporary shifts in that procedure. Only then will America be satisfied.

Wage-Hour Chief To Appeal Ruling On 40-Hour Week

Washington, —Col. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator, today announced his division will appeal the U. S. District Court decision dismissing an overtime charge against the Dallas News, Dallas, Texas.

The decision, handed down by Judge William H. Atwell at Dallas, if allowed to stand, would largely destroy the forty hour week which has been doing so much to increase employment in this period of increasing production, Fleming said. "With all due respect to Judge Atwell, a reading of his opinion inclines one to believe he regarded our act as a minimum wage law rather than a wage and hour law."

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

As the year 1941 opens, activities in those industries most closely associated with the efforts to prepare for our national defense, and to supply the military necessities of the British, are moving at almost war-time tempo. Operating on a backlog of orders estimated at $3,500,000,000, the aircraft industry has within 12 months doubled its capacity and is expected to double its production in 1941.

Machinist production in 1940 was estimated at $400,000,000, and the figure is expected to climb another $200,000,000 in 1941.

All shipbuilding yards of any size are operating at capacity and many are expanding their facilities. The expansion in this industry, however, has been less an overnight development than that of aircraft and machine tools.

Some of the questions which cannot be answered at the moment are:

How can we train enough skilled workmen to turn out the planes that we are going to need in the next few months? Is our plant capacity adequate to the burden that the arms program will place upon it in a year or two? Have we sufficient power resources?

These are but a few questions which must be answered in 1941. It would seem, however, that much depends upon the methods used to quickly train men for exacting tasks. It takes time to train an unskilled man, but in this national emergency there can be found many men who already have some measure of skill. Today most attention is focused on them. There are rare opportunities for these men if they will make use of the facilities available for acquiring the needed training. They can put our national defense program ahead, but to do so means hard work and country-wide sacrifices.

U. S. Way Best Boy Scouts Find

During Boy Scout Week 1941 the Boy Scouts of America is reminding Americans that "the paramount need in national defense is the strengthening and invigorating of democracy in the United States." This organization proposes to do through its normal programs of activity and education.

Boy Scouts in this country following a non-military policy, are engaged in a program of learning how to do the simple necessary things of life from tying a knot that will hold to cooking a meal in the open. Their program is an active one stressing outdoor life and the ability to think under emergency conditions.

This is not unfamiliar to the people of this country. The Scouts in this country have an enviable record in service which older people many times cannot match. Each year brings its quota of news stories, telling how some youngster who learned the rudiments of first aid from his Scoutmaster has saved the life of a human being in some crisis. Drownings annually are lessened by the prompt actions of the boys in the khaki uniform.

They are being trained in swimming, horsemanship, boating, proper methods of running messages, as well as how to travel under adverse conditions. Stressing the necessity of clean living, the program emphasizes outdoor life, giving the Scouts training in camping with and without shelter, the preparation of food, and knowledge of woodcraft lore.

Calling to mind the long list of Scout heroes who have received medals for saving life, local Scoutmasters are teaching their boys safe methods for dealing with fire-arms, cutting tools, and fire, as well as instruction in methods of water rescues and first aid for the injured.

Rural Scouts are playing an important part in this emergency service program through raising garden truck for food, studying the importance of food and its conservation, raising birds and animals for food, as well as fish hatching.

Although in no way advocating military training for the forty-seven thousand Scout Units throughout the country, the Scout Movement has recognized the necessity of preparing the youth of the United States for efficient and valuable service to the country in time of emergency. Scout service in times of recent crises has shown the value of the Boy Scout training in first aid, signaling, pathfinding, safety and use of knife and axe.

LADDIE, NEAR DEATH BECAUSE OF LONELINESS, REJOINS HIS MASTER

Monterey, Calif.—The love of a dog for a man found expression in a dramatic reunion at the end of a 2,000 mile trail today.

Laddie, desperate ill and inconsolable since Everett Scott was called to Army duty from Chanute, Kas., three months ago, was met at an airport by his master.

Scott peered into the basket in which the 10-year-old airedale, wrapped up in blankets and hot water bottles, had made the plane trip.

"Laddie, old boy, you don't look so good," Scott said softly.

A flicker of eyes and the lifting of one ear constituted the aging dog's response.

The dog was taken to special quarters by a veterinarian at Fort Ord, where Scott is in the service. If he lives, he'll be mascot of the entire 7th division of 15,000 men. The dog, previously affected when Scott left Chanute three months ago, pined for his master, became disconsolate and refused to eat.

Then it was arranged to send the dog to Scott by plane. He arrived yesterday, but his heart was so weakened veterinarians feared he might die.

BRITISH LANGUAGE

EXPERT GUILTY OF SLAYING HIS WIFE

London. — Prof. Arthur Lloyd James, English language specialist charged with slaying his wife, was found guilty but insane today and ordered kept in custody "until the king's pleasure could be known."

Mrs. Lloyd James, who taught and played violin under the name of Miss Owen, was found dead, her skull fractured, in the Lloyd James home at Hampstead Jan. 14. Her husband was quoted in Hampstead court at a hearing the following day as saying he killed her to save her from a "bleak future" when he found himself unable to "cope with my works."

During that hearing Lloyd James, linguistic expert for the British Broadcasting Corporation, took issue with some of the statements police attributed to him among them that he had intended to take his own life. He is 54 and had been reported in ill health.

Packs Plenty of Power
—but no "Pack"
in the Price!

HOW'S THIS FOR VALUE?

This big, roomy, Buick Special 4-Door Sedan with 115-hp. Fireball straight-eight engine, only

$1,1156.00

DELIVERED HERE!

THIS sleek 1941 Buick is packed with power and value—but you have our word for it, there's no "pack" in the price!

A "pack", as you probably know, is an extra item slipped into the delivered price of a new car.

This hidden price in the charge allows a dealer to offer more for your present car than it is really worth in trade.

You may think you're getting the best of the bargain. But the "pack" in the new-car price often more than makes up for the extra "bait" allowed on your trade-in.

We don't want any part of that kind of practice.

So when you buy a new Buick from us we give you an itemized invoice showing exactly what each charge is for.

But better yet—we give you an iron-clad written guarantee that there are no "padded" items, no "pack" in the price you pay.

You get a good allowance on your present car—an honest price on the new car—and a square deal all around!

And best of all—you get a big, sturdy 1941 Buick with super-roomy style and power-packed Fireball engine—at a price that means more value for your money!

We give every purchaser this iron-clad guarantee that the price he pays contains no "pack" or hidden charge of any kind.
