FULTON, KY., FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1938.

NUMBER TWENTY-SEVEN.

CRIME COSTS THIS COMMUNITY $690,000

Crime is costing Fulton and vicinity approximately $690,000 yearly based on figures compiled by the law enforcement committee of the American Bar Association. One out of every 37 persons in the United States is a criminal, this committee states, and that means there are 200 criminals in Fulton and South Fulton, most of them outside of jail.

The committee reported the annual cost of crime in the United States is about $15,000,000. Crime in this community is costing the citizens $20,000 yearly through the sheriff's and police department alone, a very small part of the total. To this must be added the cost of anti-crime insurance, uninsured losses, upkeep of the jails and maintenance of prisoners. According to the Bar Association, criminals cost us yearly an amount equal to $115 collected from each man, woman and child in population.

In other words, for each 36 who are not criminals are losing or paying out a total of $4.45 yearly because of the 37th one who is a criminal. With 200 in Fulton and vicinity, this community pro rata share of the national crime bill is $690,000 annually.

These figures bring out more clearly just what crime is costing communities throughout the nation. For example, if the $690,000 crime cost here, could be saved, a much higher standard of living could be enjoyed, many diseases and unemployment could be wiped out.

Fulton has no major crime problems like many of the larger metropolitan centers, but the problem is serious enough considering the population of the area. Enforcement of the law, justice in the courts, and proper teaching and discipline in our homes and schools can reduce the crime cost, the committee points out. This course will produce good citizens instead of criminals.

JACKSON 2, FULTON 0
Although Pickel hurled a 4-hit ball for the Eagles, Dacus was too much for the local club and held them to two safeties, to win, 2 to 0 last Thursday night. It was really a pitchers' battle. Errors and wildness by Pickel at times probably lost the game.

Friday night the Eagles came back with a 10-6 win over the Jackson Generals. The Generals used three pitchers but failed to stop the Eagles hitting. Cooper was the hitting star for Fulton getting four hits at four times at bat.
Batteries: Jackson—Glenn, Howe, Gray and Walker. Fulton—Long and Ulsney.

HOPKINSVILLE 3, FULTON 2

HOPKINSVILLE 4, FULTON 0
Lefty Haas marked up his fourteenth victory of the season at Hopkinsville Sunday, when he defeated Fulton 4 to 0. The Hoppers southpaw yielded five hits as he won a pitchers' duel from Nagle. The victory gave Hopkinsville two straight from Fulton.

HOPKINSVILLE 14, FULTON 5
Monday the Hoppers took the third game from the Eagles 14-5. The winners pounded out 20 hits off four Fulton pitchers.
Batteries—Hopkinsville: Goff and Stewart. Fulton: Pickel, Long, Goldman, Clonts, Burns, and Clonts, Ulsney.

Miss Nedra Marlin, student nurse at the Methodist Hospital in Memphis, was shown holding Barbara Kay, 39-ounce, 31 day old baby, in the Commercial-Appeal in last Saturday's edition. Miss Marlin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Marlin of this city.

CANDIDATES IN SIX STATES NEAR ELECTION

Democratic candidates in six states launched into their final campaign this week before early August primaries testing President Roosevelt's party leadership as well as their own vote-drawing power. Next Tuesday, August 2, primary elections will take place in Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia. Two days later Tennessee Democrats will pick their candidates, and August 6 will come the bitterly contested Kentucky primary.

In no other intra-party race has the administration so large a stake in prestige as in Kentucky, where Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley is opposed for renomination by Governor A. B. Chandler. But elsewhere issues have been drawn which may result in concrete indications of voters reaction to the President's recent plea for election of liberals over conservatives.

In Kentucky thirteen candidates have announced the Senator race, but the contest is definitely between Alben W. Barkley and A. B. Chandler.

In Tennessee state control of the Democratic party overshadows all other questions. The forces of E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader, and Senator K. O. McKellar are lined up against those of Governor Browning, who is seeking renomination. The Crump-McKellar group has endorsed Prentice Cooper to oppose him, and there are also other candidates.

YBMC In Session Here Last Tuesday Night

The Young Business Men's Club met in regular session here Tuesday night, when several pertinent civic matters were discussed including Boys Scouts, T. V. A. and the Horse Show.

Plans for the horse show are proceeding nicely, and one of the best shows ever presented in this section will be held at the Fair Grounds Park Tuesday night, August 23. Len Askew, chairman of the committee in charge states.

Bertie Pigue, chairman of the Boy Scout committee, announced that D. D. Crisp of Union City, will probably be named as all-time Scout director in this area. Vernon Owen and Billy Blackstone told of T.V.A. activities.

Lucia's Tourist Camp Makes Improvements

Lucia's Tourist Camp, three miles north of Fulton on Highway 51, near Wolberton, under the able management of Mr. and Mrs. Lucia, is attracting more and more tourists who travel through this section of Kentucky, going north and south. This camp is one of the nicest places in the state, and many improvements have been made since the Lucias took over the camp.

Five new cabins have been erected, and modernly equipped with inner spring mattress, lights and water, and heat in the winter. Showers are being installed, and a large and spacious lawn, terrace dining room and modern rest rooms have been innovated. Mr. and Mrs. Lucia are very proud of their camp and striving in every way to make it attractive to both tourists and local people who wish to enjoy an evening out. They invite club and organizations to make use of their terrace lawn for special occasions meetings and parties. Supervised conduct prevails, and intoxicating liquors or beer are not served, in conformity with their policy in order to make their camp attractive to tourists and family groups.

KID' ELBERFELD JOINS EAGLES AS NEW COACH

Directors of the Fulton Baseball Association went into a huddle this week, following a prolonged slump by the Eagles, member team of the Kitty League. And as a result of this conference, it was decided to bring to Fulton "Kid" Elberfeld, manager of the Eagles in 1936, to coach the local club. Several new players have arrived, and others are being sought. Ray Clonts will remain as manager, and Elberfeld will act as coach.

This action was decided upon after due deliberation by the "front office," and every effort will be made to finish the season in the first division. Elberfeld, who is in Chattanooga, has been sent for and is expected to arrive in Fulton today. He is a man of wide baseball experience in both the majors and minors, and is popular in the Kitty League, being chosen manager of the All-Star aggregation in 1936.

Genity at second has been released, and Goldman, pitcher, has been suspended. Malcolm Smith, southpaw hurler, and Elmore "Red" Price, right-hander, have been signed. Paul Golden, outfielder is being tried for a berth. With the combined experience of Manager Clonts and Coach Elberfeld, and a few minor changes, it is believed that the Eagles will be made a winning team in short order.

Mrs. Dalton was born in Henry County, Tenn., near Hazel, in 1872, and was united in marriage with T. D. Dalton in 1891. To this union twelve children were born, four of whom preceded her in death. Mrs. Love was a native of Obion county, being born near McConnell, September 5, 1867. She was a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Steven Turner, and in 1885 she united in marriage with Robert Bellfield Love who died several years ago. Two children were blessed to this union, Beecher and Ernest Love. For years they made their home at Crutchfield in Fulton county. She was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

She is survived by her sons, Beecher of Memphis and Ernest of Freeport, Ill., three grandchildren, Ernest, Jr., Louis B. Jr., and Jane; one sister, Mrs. J. P. Cotheran of Fulton; a nephew, Jeter of Chicago.

NEGRO ATTACKS TIM McCLAIN WITH HAM'ER

James Stevens, 24, colored, attacked Timothy McClain, 23, also colored, about 9:30 o'clock Monday night, as the latter entered his house on the premises of L. H. Howard in the Highlands here. McClain had just returned from a service station nearby where he assisted Mr. Howard.

The Stevens negro, who had been helping John Parrott on a farm near Fulton, was known by the Howards. He was seen a short time before as he started toward the building where McClain stayed but was told nobody was there. He turned and left the premises. Stevens had been laid off by Mr. Parrott for a while, and had told his employer that he would be gone until after August 8. It is believed that he knocked McClain in the head with the intention of obtaining the key to his car, but McClain had taken the key out of the ignition switch and hidden it in the machine.

Shortly after the attack McClain succeeded in attracting the attention of Mr. Howard, and a bloody hammer was found in the room where the attack was made. Stevens is believed to have fled toward Fulton, and is probably connected with the murder of Willie B. Lunsford, Fulton taxi driver. Stevens is said to have come here from Detroit, Mich., and investigation indicates that he is an ex-convict, it is stated.

Holland, county clerk of Fulton county, the Democrats held a 5.5 to 1 majority over Republicans in the number registered and eligible to vote in the primary Saturday, August 6. Belev of Fulton, met at the clerk's office in Hickman, for the purpose of studying the record of registrations. MUTILATED BODY OF SLAIN MAN FOUND

The mysterious disappearance of Willie B. Lunsford, 40, Fulton taxi driver for Myatt Johnson, was solved here Wednesday when his body was found at 4:30 o'clock under a bridge in Whitesell woods, one mile south of Fulton, between the Union City highway and State Line road. Lunsford had been missing 42 hours, when Thelmer Valentine and James Evans discovered a cap lying in a nearby road. Investigation led to the body, which had begun decomposition.

Police authorities were notified, and it was determined that Lunsford met his death from foul play, the body bearing evidence of having been shot and beaten. The entire community had been searching for the missing taxi man, who went on a call for an unknown negro man Monday night.

The negro came into the Bob White Motor Company, where the Greyhound bus station is located, Monday night about 10:30, and asked for a taxi to go get his wife. As Lunsford left with the negro he said he would be back shortly in case other calls came in. When he failed to return after several hours, the local police were notified. Up to press time the taxi car has not been found.

Mr. and Mrs. Landon Roberson who reside near where Lunsford body was found, said they heard two shots fired late Monday night, but thought little of it at the time. It is believed the negro forced the taxi driver to go to the woods, then shot and beat him to death and then fled with the car.

Interest Grows In Aviation In Fulton

Interest in aviation is keener in Fulton than in most cities of equal size in this area, according to federal aviation authorities in charge of his district. More than a dozen persons if this city have been taking solo stage-flying without an instructor.

There is talk around town about the organization of an aviation club, and the establishment of an airport for Fulton. This city is said to be well located geographically, and probably could obtain federal aid in the establishment of an airport here.

Fulton, the hub of highways and railroads, is in line with the routes traveled by cross-country transports, and a movement to obtain an airport would likely be successful because of the strategic location. Those interested in securing an airport here should contact Kellie Lowe or Paul Turbeville, as the assistance of local citizens and civic clubs will be needed.

FULTON PASTOR ON MISSING LIST

Lewis Evans, pastor of the South Fulton circuit, has been missing since last Friday night.

He left afoot from his home on his parents Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Evans in Murray. He was to have returned Sunday and conduct a revival at Walnut Grove.

Mr. Evans of Murray was in Fulton the early part of the week seeking information about him.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED

The local fire department answered a call from the Usons Hotel to extinguish a trash fire in the rear of the building which spread to a near by truck. Small damage was done to the truck.

Miss Mary Virginia Whayne returned home Tuesday morning after several days visit in Peoria, Ill. Mrs. John Noel, Lucille Noel, and Lola Homra spent Sunday in Mounds, Ill.

• AROUND TOWN

The other night I attended a ball game here, and despite the fact that it was a bitter battle, I became amused at a lady in the grandstand, and got more fun out of watching her than I did the game. Fulton was losing, anyway. This lady, about 40, was a Jackson fan, we judge, from the way she was cheering. But there she was—40 plump rouged, painted nails, cigarette, chewing gum, care-free. When some Jackson player would strike a man out, she would let out a whoop-ee. In between times, she was setting there chewing away, smoking, puffing and all out of breath. As she held her cigarette in her hand, with a little finger sticking up in the air prominently you could see a diamond in a ring sparkle. It was really an amusing sight.

Joe Hall, one of Fulton's inveterate tennis player, has been playing a steady game. But Joe tells us every time he plays, the sweat begins to roll, and the pounds disappear. Joe doesn't mind, however for figures he can well afford it. J. D. Hales pleads that he wish he could pick up those extra pounds that Joe loses.

Len Askew's hobby is horses and he is looking forward to the horse show that is being sponsored by the Young Business Men's Club. He's kept busy these days as chairman of the committee in charge, arranging for the show, and hopes to attract the interest of local owners of fine horses and children owning ponies.

Malcolm Gilbert, manager of the Fulton theatres, is a marksman with a rifle—and it is said that it was well that he can shoot. The other day he went out squirrel hunting so we are told, and the woods was full of snakes. He didn't bag any squirrels, but he had to kill five snakes before he could find his way out of a thicket.

Gilbertsville Dam will not mean as much to Fulton, as it will to other points nearer the dam site, but it will affect this section materially, it is generally conceded. It will require a period of several years to complete construction, and the work will employ hundreds of workers from this vicinity, as is testified by the number of applications being filed. Not only will construction of the dam be an asset to this territory, and provide cheaper power, but the money to be spent in building the dam will circulate throughout this area. It is a worthy project that will benefit Kentucky and the entire country.

We don't know how many persons in the United States are members of the Communist party or other 'ism' groups, but we have a suggestion for all them.

For those who preach to us from

TOO MANY LAWS

When wise old Moses was on earth, and had a prominent part in running it, he found that only ten laws were needed for the regulation of its conduct. Woodrow Wilson believed that the famous 14 points he submitted to the Versailles peace conference was sufficiently to save the world for democracy.

Keeping these figures in mind, it should interest Fulton county taxpayers to learn that the legislatures of our 48 states passed during the year 1937—in one single year only—more than 19,000 new laws as they joyously assumed the burden of regulating the lives and activities of our people. Either the world has grown to be a terrible place since it accepted the Ten Commandments as all that was necessary to keep it morally safe, or the making of laws has become a habit and a "racket" there's no way out of it. It scarcely seems possible that so many human transgressions were still at liberty after a century and a half of lawmaking.

Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, once said: "That government is best which governs least." But we have come a long way since Jefferson's time. Are we any better off? Is the world any better with its thousands of laws than it was when it hand but the Ten Commandments? Surely the average taxpayer, who has to go down into his pockets for the cost of all these laws, has an interesting answer to those questions.

ON YOUR FINGERNAILS

The principal causes of the railroad crisis can be written on your fingernail: higher taxes and wages accompanied by abnormally reduced rates.

In 1937, according to the Association of American Railroads, the hourly earnings of railroad employees were 250 per cent greater than in 1916. The burden of taxes were 175 per cent greater. Yet the revenue received for hauling a ton-mile of freight was but 23 per cent more, and the average revenue for hauling a passenger one mile was actually 12 per cent less.

The rate of return to investors was 61.5 per cent less than in 1937 than in 1916. Out of this, interest and other fixed charges had to be met before anything was available for dividends and reserves. In many other cases there were deficits which meant more failures and more receiverships in the industry.

Furthermore, last year was substantially better for the railroads, and all other industry, than this year. Railroad carloadings and revenues are now running well under 1937 levels. Even the most prosperous and best situated lines are earning next to nothing in the way of profit.

Here is more evidence of the vital national need for overhauling our out-of-date transportation policy. If the industry is to survive—and its collapse would cause a financial and industrial crisis throughout the land—revenues must be brought in line with wages and other costs. Regulation and laws must be relaxed sufficiently to permit the railroads to operate on an equitable basis with their competitors. And rate bases which are in accord with operating costs must be established.

The railroads are still our greatest single industry. They buy more than a billion dollars worth of products annually from American business. They are responsible for millions of jobs, directly and indirectly. Their salvation is essential to the welfare of the United States as a whole.

NO "SUBWAY ROMANCE" FOR GINGER

From the annoyed expressions on the faces of Ginger Rogers (left) and Dorothy Tree it is evident that the attention of Ronnie Rondell and George Meeker are entirely unwelcome. The scene is from "Having Wonderful Time" in which Ginger is co-starred with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. It is the story of a city girl who captures romance during a summer vacation and was adapted from the hit play by Arthur Kober.

Whether the large power companies will have some soiled linen to wash later remains to be seen. But this much can be said for them, just at a time when someone has turned loose the dogs of a few private political kennels upon them—the praise the power companies have received for developing the benefits of electric energy on the farm and in the small town communities, up to this time, has been generally deserved. Especially this true when you compare the small amount of criticism to be compared.

You can't find a Fulton county man foolish enough to think his wife married him for his faults, but you can find a lot of them who think she married him just for a chance to talk about them.

THE LENDING-SPENDING MONEY

There can be no possible excuse for using any of the $3,375,000,000 provided under the new lending-spending bill for projects which compete in any way with private industry.

The purpose of the appropriation is to stimulate business and employment. And it is certainly reasonable to presume that the money should be used for projects which will give business orders — and which will not take orders and customers away from it.

There is no lack of projects which are properly a concern of government, which create a vast demand for labor and materials, and which compete in no way with private enterprise. The country needs more and safer roads, for instance. It needs grade crossing elimination. In some cases, it probably needs river and harbor improvement. It can doubtless use more public buildings.

All such projects as these give a very large part of each dollar spent to labor, both on the job and in the plants supplying necessary materials. These are the kind of projects for which the lending-spending money should be used exclusively.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?

Not many years ago fevers were thought to be illness in themselves, and people were mainly interested in cooling them. Today, we know that fever is only Nature's bonfire to burn up poisons in the system, and that the real trouble lies deeper. We also recognize that swellings are really caused by sudden crowds of workman cells and material which Nature has gathered to repair an injury. We know that pain is only Nature's way of warning that something is wrong within the body. Chiropactic no longer seeks to allay pain alarm. It seeks out and corrects the cause of that pain. See your Chiropactor today about that pain. It may be the seat of a serious trouble.

Why not have a complete Chiropactic Examination Today?

THIS CHANGING WORLD

Boom times previous to 1929 brought us wealth beyond our wildest imagination. Jobs were plentiful. . . wages reached a new And when exaggerated values of that period tumbled, a world-wide depression followed.

Then came the national election of 1932, and Roosevelt with his New Deal policies. Many of these policies were beneficial in bringing the country to a saner way of thinking, and the average American citizen was in favor of Roosevelt's medicine.

But as time went on, and these policies started reaching out and usurping state and civil rights, the tide of public opinion changed. Today candidates having the support of President Roosevelt have lost in several states. And the principal reason for this is that the taxpayers are realizing more than ever before that "soaking the rich" also brings grief to them. Regardless of what form of taxation is enacted, or who is taxed in the beginning, the whole thing boils down to the fact that the average citizen and taxpayer, the country over, must stand the gaff in the long run.

Billions of dollars are being spent by the federal government, and the principal plus interest must eventually be paid back to the money-lenders. Anyone that understands the way interest piles up over a period of years, and over-reaches the principal, can readily see the danger of this spending spree Uncle Sam is on. It is high time that a halt be called. The people are over-burdened by taxation in one form or another. About all we need to come to this conclusion is some common horse sense, and let us hope that before we are engulfed by bankruptcy our legislators will endorse this deduction.

War-glorifying nations are threatening this country outside of our borders. Our principles of government are in serious danger right within our own country. The Nazi groups and Fascists have secretly joined together, and they are well represented here. Reckless spending and sound democracy principles need support of our country's leaders. Drastic regulation of business and suppression of individual endeavor has no play in American government, and only hampers our advancement and encourages activity on the part of the Communists and other Anti-American groups.

Many New Deal policies have served worthy purposes, and we have backed Roosevelt from the start, but it is time for us to try safe and sound democratic principles that in the past have brought us nearly half the wealth of the world and the highest standard of living enjoyed by any country in the world. If Roosevelt is as shrewd politician that we believe he is, he certainly will see the changing trend of thought that gains momentum with the American taxpayers.

A F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, predicts that railroads will likely withdraw their demand for a wage cut, because of the prospects of a widespread business revival. This business pickup will naturally cause rail revenues to soar and probably will be the means of extricating the carriers from their bad financial spot. Therefore, the wage slashes will not be necessary.

A new sphere in trans-Atlantic commercial aviation is appearing by Howard Hughes around-the-world flight, Corrigan's daredevil crossing to Ireland, and by the trip of the pickaback plans from England to this country. Fifty trans-Atlantic survey flights are planned for this summer by England, Germany, and France to usher in regular commercial service across the ocean. It is a three-cornered race against America for supremacy on the immensely valuable trade routes of the Atlantic air.

Japan doesn't seem to think that China is enough of a problem so now they have turned on Russia, too. The current crisis developed July 15, when Japan called attention to alleged movements of Russian troops near Changkufeng, near the junction of the borders of Russian Siberia, Manchukuo and Japanese Korea. Russia contends in is Russian territory by treaty of 1869, but Japan orders evacuation. Russia defies the order, and sends aeroplanes and a million troops to the area. Japan will probably find Russia far different from China should it decide to engage that country in battle.

Recently a Soviet airplane made a non-stop flight from Moscow to Vladivostok, a distance of 4,300 in twenty-four hours. It is only about 2,000 miles from Vladivostok to the Aleutian Islands, owned by the United States, and from there it is only a short hop to Alaska. American territory is therefore, within a day's bombing distance of both Russia and Japan. Soviet Russia holds besides the nonstop record the "load-carrying" (bomb carrying) record. Alaska is the gateway to the Pacific coast cities from the east in case we are ever engaged in a war in that part of the world. It should be heavily fortified as an invading army can almost step across the Behring Strait.

Why not designate all individuals opposed to Americanism as "Totes." Let Tote describe a Communist, a Nazi and Fascist—and be a good short-cut to all isms that are anti-American. Russia, Germany, Italy, for instance are Tote States. Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin are Totes. An Anti-Tote would be one who believes in Jeffersonian, individualistic democracy in which the servant of the people and the evolution of which is toward more and more personal liberty. America must watch all these foreign isms which are already being felt in the good old U.S.A. and if America goes to sleep at the switch, we too, will have most of our civil liberties and rights usurped by power-hungry politicians.

Young Corrigan, who flew the Atlantic recently, in a ship condemned as unsafe by the government, represents the spirit of America. This country has been made by men who achieved the impossible—who did not know that it was impossible, or care. The most important thing in the world for America is to continue to produce such men—to continue to keep alive such spirit. Nations do not live by wealth alone, nor by numbers, nor by area, or resources, but by inspiration. Corrigan has expressed the indomitable spirit of America. He has inspired in it others. Yes, there is something more important than matter, and that is spirit. "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."—II Timothy, 1:7.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." This spirit should be kept forever alive in our people. Allegiance to our country, to our state, and to our community. For by this spirit shall we progress.

And speaking of our community, something should be done about making Fulton more attractive and healthful. In the interest of health, safety and economy, our streets and alleys should be kept cleaner. Any casual observer can readily see the need of a city-wide clean-up. City officials and every individual should become civic-minded to the point that all would work continuously toward making our city as clean and as possible. Rubbish and weeds are an eye-sore and unsanitary. They are a blemish on the landscape. Besides they provide fertile breeding grounds for hay fever, infectious and disease. A clean-up campaign is needed. Weeds and grass on lots and along alleys and streets should be cut and destroyed. The Woman's Club and the NYA has been doing good work along this line in recent years, but a city beautiful movement has been neglected this year.

All around us neighboring towns and communities are obtaining worthwhile PWA projects in the way of schools, health centers and public buildings. Now there horns on the horizon a possibility that Fulton, too, will obtain an appropriation for construction of a new grammar school building to replace the obsolete and over-crowded Carr Institute. A new school with modern features is badly needed, as the present building is not only incapable of handling present day demands, but is in a bad shape of repair. Construction of a new school now with federal grant and aid, will be much easier than to wait until PWA appropriations are no longer available, and taxpayers have to dig down in their pockets and pay all the cost themselves.

This prohibition business is a funny business. The country comes along and legalizes the sale of whiskey and beer. Kentucky, ranking high in the manufacture of intoxicants, take advantage of the change of time, and provides liquid refreshments to many of the wet and dry states. Here in Fulton thousands of dollars were turning over weekly, and business felt the stimulation of the dollars that poured into the community from the outside. Then Kentucky comes along and passes a new act that puts a damper on the wholesalers, especially those along state lines.

Now comes another enactment prohibiting the sale of beer in Kentucky on Sunday. So we have the peculiar situation which we might call the "Communters' Dilemma." During the week, Tennesseans come to Kentucky to get their bottled liquors, the on Sunday, Kentuckians drop across the line to swallow a bottle of beer. Tennessee is supposed to be a dry state, while Kentucky is all wet—except on Sundays. These cockeyed laws we have sometimes are beyond understanding.

SAFE AT HOME?

"Home sweet home. There's no place like home," would lead us to believe in the safety of them as well as the sanctity of them. Our home is our refuge and our shelter. We seek it as the surest and safest place on our existence of disorder and confusion and little stop to think that 33,500 persons perished in accidents in the home during the year of 1936, while traffic, the more publicized evil, took 37,000 lives. Would we be safer to stay in the street instead of in house? Our Sunday afternoon drive causes us to remember the Monday morning papers with their list of auto fatalities—but what about those accidents that happened to the fellow who remained at home? Statistics compiled by Federal relief workers, under the supervision of the National Safety Council, have made the most complete research into home accidents occurring in Chicago where 4,602 cases were investigated from records of the Cook County Hospital.

There are many traps of danger to be found in Fulton homes, the kitchen leading as the worst with its poor stove connections, careless usage of kerosene and gasoline, grease, water and bits of food on the floor resulting in serious falls; steam from covered kettles causing fatal burns, and so on we could enumerate the various hazards. There are many accidents caused by stairways to steep and with steps holding odds and ends of things. Cellar steps are usually too dark for safety. Skidding on scatter-rugs and on polished floors, and slipping in bathtubs always enter into the picture. Accidents occur in bedrooms where little children fall out of bed or are smothered by too many covers or pillows. Falling on and over furniture in the dark is apt to happen to old people. There are many other kinds we have not mentioned that have probably taken place in your own home. The safest way out of such a situation is to eliminate the causes by getting together with your family and putting on a safety campaign in your own house.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Pineapple Pudding—Here is a recipe for pineapple pudding in which corn starch provides the thickening agent: 2 1/2 cups scalded milk; 1/4 cup cold milk; 5 tablespoons cornstarch; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 cup crushed pineapple; 3 egg whites. Scald first amount of milk. Blend cold water with cornstarch mixed with sugar and salt. Remove from fire, cool slightly, fold in egg whites and turn into moulds to chill.

ON WASH DAY

Chlorinated bleaches are invaluable for removing stains and bleaching household linens during the summer season. Except for wool and silk materials, such a bleach may be used on any stains found on white goods. Grass, fruit and other stains, which always begin to appear at this season of the year will yield quickly to such treatment. Do not, however, use the bleach on colored clothes.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Canned pear halves, rolled in flour and browned in fat, are tasty served with roast or chops. Water drained from canned or fresh vegetables may be used for its mineral value and flavor creamed soups. Grape juice sauce makes a pleasant change when served over baked, spiced or cottage puddings.

A STYLE HINT

The feminine fashion pendulum has swung back to hat-pins. Many of the 1938 variety of hat-pins, which are somewhat shorter than those your grandmother wore, have bright, jewel-studded heads, for their first purpose is to decorate the hat and the second to anchor the head gear.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

The family doctor says wise parents early make it a rule to kiss the baby only of the back of the neck, but this is hard to enforce with relatives and friends. Babies have not the resistance and immunity to infection that the older child and adults have acquired with the years. Measles, scarlet fever, modified, forms of these diseases, mumps tuberculosis and the common cold, all highly communicable, are often transmitted to the infant through kisses.

AN INSPIRATION

"The eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and His ears are open to their prayers; but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil."—The Bible.

Memphis, Tenn. — With special emphasis being laid on agriculture the 1938 Mid-South Fair, scheduled Sept. 12-17 inclusive, promises to set a new record for interest and attendance. With a large number of agricultural exhibits already definitely promised and with more certain to come, this feature of the Mid-South Fair will prove one of the high spots of the mammoth fall exposition.

Future Farmers of America, some 6,000 strong, will be in Memphis for the fair and not only will parade on opening day, but will be honored at various entertainment features during their stay here.

Editors and County Superintendents of schools from the Mid-South have been invited to be special guests of the fair on this day, with a round of entertainment planned in their honor.

Children will be admitted for the on Monday, Friday and Saturday. Monday will be F. F. A. Day, Tuesday Tennessee Kentucky day, Wednesday Alabama-Mississippi day, Thursday Arkansas-Missouri-Oklahoma day and Friday 4-H Club and school day.

REFUGEE PROBLEM

When representatives from 32 nations recently met in France to discuss the refugee problem and attempt to arrive at some sort of a solution, it didn't make headline news. But to the thoughtful observer, the conference served to emphasize the fact that this is one of the most tragic and difficult social and economic problems of the modern age.

Never in modern history has the plight of racial minorities, principally the Jews, been so bitter. The programs of ancient times almost pale into insignificance beside those of today. Germany, of course, is the seat of the Jewish oppression. It is apparently Hitler's desire to completely eliminate Hebrew influence of any kind in Teutonic territory. In Germany and also in Austria since the Anschluss, Jews have been forbidden to engage in any kind of profitable occupation. Even when they are not driven out of business, their stores are placarded, and the Germans who trade with them come at once into conflict with the dread Nazi secret police. Jewish professional men—doctors, lawyers, writers, teachers—are boycotted. In German schools, the instructors tell their pupils to have nothing whatever to do with Jews, either socially or as a matter of business. Persons with a little as one-eighth Jewish blood are classified officially as Semites and are consequently ostracized. In brief, the Jew, under Hitler's dream of a race of Nordic supermen, is regarded as an enemy of the state.

Matters would not be so bad were the Jews allowed to leave Germany and Austria with what resources they possess, to seek a place in other lands. But the Jew who is given a German passport is necessarily a bankrupt. His money, his property, even his personal effects, are taken from him. He must leave his home and his occupation with no resources with which to make a fresh start. And, according to late reports, the German government is P. Claxton, president of Austin-going even farther in the case of rich Jews, and is virtually holding them for ransom. For example, it is said that the release from Austria of Louis Rothchild, head of the Vienna branch of the great European banking house, can only be obtained when and if his foreign friends and relatives give $10,000,000 to the Reich.

Some time ago it seemed that the problem might be solved with them by the action of England in opening Palestine to Jewish colonization and setting it aside as a land where the Jews might create a nation of their own. Today that hope is largely gone. The Jews came to Palestine. They liked it. They proved to be excellent settlers and capable business men. But the Arabs, whose religion is strongly anti-Semitic, immediately began to fight the migration. Hundreds have been killed in guerrilla warfare. Arabian sentiment against the Jews has steadily increased, and it is said that there is grave danger that the cause may develop into a holy war. England now has 12,000 troops in Palestine to defend the Jews—and still the rapine, slaughter and pillage continues. The result is that only 12,000 Jews a year are to be admitted to the country—a drop in a pail bucket. There are about 1,000,000 Jews remaining in Germany and Austria alone.

The 32-power conference took all this into account. Its attitude was extremely sympathetic toward the oppressed people. But talk was about all that resulted. No major country is willing to open its gates wide to the Jew, or to any other refugees. In the case of famerous men, there is usually a place—many educators, for instance, have left Germany for England and this country, and obtained suitable occupation. For the rank and file of Jews there seems to be nowhere to go. All the big powers are occupied with unemployment problems. There is not enough work for their own people and not enough money to go around. Thus, they pity the Jew, they realize the injustice that has been meted out to him—and they regretfully say, no, when he asks permission to enter.

Fulton Students To Receive Degrees At Murray

Murray, Kentucky—With 52 candidates for degrees in the August graduating class, Murray State College will hold its commencement exercises on Thursday, August 18. The total number of graduates for the year 1938, including both the June and August classes, will be 126. From the time of the first graduating class in 1926 through 1938 there will have been 1,238 graduates.

Of the 52 to receive their degrees in August, four will receive bachelor of music education degree, five the bachelor of science in home economics, five the bachelor of arts, and 36 the bachelor of science.

Commencement week will be officially opened on Sunday, August 14, with the baccalaureate sermon, which will be given by Rev. A. Warren Huyck pastor of the First Baptist Church, Paducah, Ky. Graduation exercise will be held on Thursday, August 18, and Dr. P. Claxton, president of Austin-

Peay Normal, Clarksville, Tenn. will address the class.

Following is a list of candidates for degrees from Fulton county: James Carnie Hicks, Fulton; James Alton Lowry, Fulton; Margaret Mae Smith, Hickman; Josephine Elizabeth Sullivan, Hickman; Katherine Browder Williamson, Fulton.

Poultrymen Warned About Bad Eggs

Poultry producers have an important duty to perform if the consumption of eggs is to be materially increased, states A. J. Chadwell, U. S. Extension poultryman, in pointing out three things that have retarded the consumption of eggs: (1) Dirt on the shell, (2) Production of fertile eggs in hot weather, (3) The time that elapses between the production of the egg and its consumption.

By using clean nests, clean litter on the floor and clean containers, dirty eggs can be largely eliminated. Clean eggs attract attention and encourage consumption.

The poultry raisers who sell fertile eggs in hot weather is injuring his own business and contributing his share toward retarding the consumption of eggs throughout the nation. Selling of the male birds at close of the hatching season is the answer to this problem, Mr. Chadwell states.

Many of the eggs that go through channels of trade require 16 to 20 days to reach the consumer. The poultry producers can help to remedy this difficulty by marketing his eggs more often. Infertile eggs retain their interior quality much longer than fertile eggs. Eggs should be gathered two or three times a day and marketed at least twice in hot weather. They should be cooled in wire baskets and kept in a cool room at a temperature of approximately 55 degrees.

UNCLE JIM SAYS

We have to buy from other countries if we expect to sell to them. During the last fiscal year, the value of farm imports was only 68.5 percent of 1924-29 average.

Out of 865,000,000 people gainfully employed in the world, 550,000,000 are working at agriculture.

The United States is now exporting over 300 times as much corn and over 8,000 times as much wheat as it is importing.

To be sure you don't start a forest fire when camping, break your match in two with one hand before throwing it down.

A safe farm and home program must provide for a family food, supply, feed for livestock, and cash to buy necessities that cannot be produced on the farm.

Limestone and phosphate, in relatively large amounts are necessary in the soil to produce successful alfalfa, and inadequate amounts of these materials are the most frequent causes of failure.

New uses for cotton being tried out include: Bagging for cotton bale itself; reinforcement for highways and airports runways; lining for irrigation canals and terrace outlets; covering for highway cuts and fills; covering to protect tree seedlings, and as roofing and sidewalk material for covering houses.

Picked-Up About Town

Paul James declares the trouble caused by too much money is not as bad as that caused by too little. "It takes a lot of people to make an auto," asserts Henry Edwards but just one man has to earn the cost of it."

It has gotten so that the average girl thinks a wash board is some sort of antique furniture.

According to Bennie Williams you can usually tell by the number of honeyed words one woman is using in talking to another how catty she is when she is behind her back.

"I'll never believe the woman wanted equal rights," declares Randolph Scott, "until I see some of them cutting the grass with an undershirt on."

Gip McDade says the reason some men would be happy to be traffic cops is so they can talk to somebody else the way their wives talk to them.

"Back in the days when girls put more of themselves and less of their money in clothes," asserts Doc Hughes "it wasn't necessary to look in the dictionary to find modesty."

Did you ever stop to think that maybe the other fellow's faults you see so plainly are only reflections of your own?

How many Fulton women can remember when they hoped the first one would be a girl so she could take care of the balance?

After the flood old Noah probably swelled up every time a big rise came along, because he was the only man in town who could remember when it was higher.

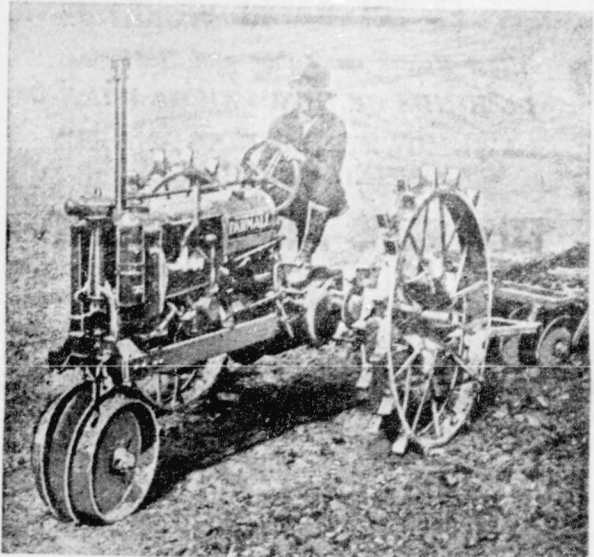

Still another rather difficult job is for the father of several children to try to look dignified while riding in a rumble seat.

Many a man who is known as a "go-getter" in the business world is known as a "bring-it-to-me" at home.

The Issue

Cold, case-hardened figures, compiled over a period of years reveal:

THAT Kentucky has not received the benefits, due her from the Federal Government, in proportion to the revenue paid by the State.

THAT Kentucky has been grossly discriminated against by Federal legislation.

THAT the farmer, the laborer, the veteran, and all of the people of the State, have been the victims of these discriminations.

THAT those benefits due Kentucky have either been swapped off to other States in return for personal favors, or

THE SENIOR SENATOR FROM KENTUCKY LACKS ABILITY AND PERSONALITY TO GET FOR KENTUCKY THAT WHICH IS KENTUCKY'S.

Achievement—or Ruin?

Today Kentucky stands at the top of the states in modern business-like government. Her Reorganization Act is the envy of every other state; the progress made, under "Happy" Chandler has attracted nation-wide admiration and approval. Better schools, modern institutions, fine state and rural highways; a pay-as-you-go financial set-up and a HUGE STATE DEBT that is almost a THING OF THE PAST.

DO YOU INTEND THESE THINGS SHALL BE UNDONE AND THE FUTURE OF KENTUCKY MADE UNCERTAIN. . .

Know The Facts

BARKLEY never aided in writing the Old Age Pension Bill. He did not write any part of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. He has nothing to do with whether or not the farmer shall receive a "Cut-out" check. IF HE HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY OF THESE THINGS ASK HIM TO QUOTE YOU THE SECTION OF THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD IN PROOF. Barkley did forget the farmer and the Old Folk on certain pieces of legislation as the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD will show. He voted against low interest rates and a moratorium for farmers and against a Federal increase for Old Age Pensioners.

Good Ram Pays Big Dividends

Divide the cost of the ram by the number of lambs he will sire, and it will be found that for a difference of not more than 50 cents a head on the lambs, a good registered ram may be had to head the flock, points out Richard C. Miller of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Buy a good, blocky, thick-set ram that will sire market-topping lambs is Miller's advice. Then feed him well. A little grain should be included in his ration. Where conditions permit, it is considered a good practice to keep the ram in a barn or lot during the day, turning with the flock at night.

RED-HOT FLANNELS

All of us know how much a passing institution the home-made yarn stocking is; probably few have thought how equally passed are red-hot flannels. Not long ago I made a talk to a parent-teacher association and exhibited a pair of home-knit stockings to show how they would hold enormous quantities of Christmas goodies. Nothing that I have been connected with in years created so much interest. I did not talk then of the passing red flannels, but I will now. With the coming of better methods of heating houses has come a custom of dressing less warmly.

You spend their days out in the cold probably still cling to warm underwear, from necessity; but imagine sitting in a room with a temperature of 70 degrees all swathed in woolen underwear! It makes me warm, though I am writing this on one of the coldest days of the winter. Even outdoor men tell me that shorts or B.V.D.'s are sufficient for the worst weather. Evidently we have developed warmer blood or are less sensitive to cold.

When we went to the country school, we wore so many clothes that we looked like Dutchmen. Next to the skin we wore red flannel shirts, or "bodies". On top of those was an under garment of cotton flannel. Then with a hickory shirt, a coat and vest, an overcoat, a fascinator or a pair of ear-muffs over our ears or a cap pulled down with the ears, the upper parts of our bodies ought to have been sufficiently warmed. We were equally well clothed on the lower part of the body, though I cannot recall having seen any red flannel drawers on the clothes lines in our community. That was reserved for Indiana, many years after my flannel shirt days. I think that I first felt an interest in Huckleberry Finn when he mentioned itching in eleven places at once. Any one who wore flannels lived in a perpetual itching, so that on Sunday when the preacher described certain warm and toasting places, we experienced them in advance.

You riddle-aged people and I ought to be much better than we are, for the tortures we endured as infants and small children should keep before us always the horrors of eternal punishment. I have seen more than my share of sweating, prickly-headed little red bodies swathed in voluminous petticoats of red flannel. Perchance we looked: parboiled we were until we could outgrow this curse of childhood. A monument ought to be erected to the memory of the first physician or old granny who believed that red flannel was necessary for the comfort of a small child. That monument might take for its theme some of the warmest passages from Dante's INFERNO. It might represent a man, dressed up to represent a doctor, clad in a clinging garment of flame that quenches not, like the fire kindled by lightning. I would have visions of bodies swathed in the same fashion float forever before his eyes, like the visions of water and fruits before suffering Tantalus.

Where is linsey-woolsey, and petticoats of wagon-sheet proportion? Where is red flannel, the enemy of comfort and the promoter of itching? Where are the layers of hot clothing that we used to sweat in until we were offensive when we stood around the schoolhouse stove? Whether we are warmer-blooded than we used to be it doth not yet appear; certainly we can keep warmer with fewer garments than formerly and suffer not occasional chilblains.
