Whenever you happen to drive up around Fulton's new overhead water tank, you will probably marvel at the prodigious supports erected under it. Water, in quantity, is a mighty heavy substance; in fact the 200,000 gallons in this tank weigh exactly 1,666,000 pounds (833 tons). We are reminded, in writing this, of an architectural firm up in St. Joseph, Mo., who constructed a 13-story building and decided, after construction was finished, to place a water tank on top of it. The tank was erected, all piping connected and the water was turned on. When the tank was nearly full, the whole works crashed down through the 13 floors to the ground.

The engineers had overlooked the fact that when the tank was full it would weigh a little matter of about 500 tons.

Ballots for the coming city and county elections are being delivered to Mr. Holland this weekend; if you are voting an absentee ballot, now is the time to write for it. One can understand the increased interest in this year's elections from the fact that county registration is up 1,179 from its 1947 figure of 6,754, and now totals 7,933; city registration is up 195 from its 1947 figure of 2,129, and now totals 2,324.

If you don't believe that's a lot of people to call on, just ask any of the perspiring candidates who are making diligent rounds these torrid days. It's a hot campaign in more ways than one.

The Fulton Lion's Club has embarked on a campaign to bolster attendance, and from the looks of things in its first week, it ought to do the job. The Club scoured around and found a big, husky, prolific-looking rabbit, which this week has been passed around for daily keeping to last week's absenteees. Records have included Happy Edwards, "Mac" McDaniel, Frank Neal, Harley Neal, F. H. Riddle and William Scott.

In the near future, the bunny is expected to present a number of additional offspring, all of which will be expected to continue to accompany mama.

Poor bunny had a narrow escape this week as attendants at Frank Neal's Hickory Log, awaiting an order to be barbecued, picked up the box containing the just-arrived rabbit and started for the dressing table before they learned their barbecue order called for chickens.

Ever been hypnotized or observe it done? Rotarians can tell you all about it since their program Tuesday in which J. P. Phillips, Professor of Psychology at Martin demonstrated the process, using as his subjects Mrs. Theodore Kramer, Jr., and Miss Pat David. The program was thoroughly enjoyed.

State Gas Usage Up

Kentuckians and Kentucky visitors purchased 14,000,000 more gallons of gasoline during the first six months of 1949 than during the same period in 1947, Highway Commissioner John A. Keck said today. The gasoline tax figures are supported by the traffic increase indicated by 14 automatic traffic recorders in Kentucky operated by the Department's Division of Planning.

POLICE NEWS

James Robert Hastings and R. H. Moss, both of McConnell, Tenn., were each fined $52.50 by Fulton Police Judge Perce last Wednesday for engaging in a fight in a local cafe. In the affair, last week, Hastings' throat was cut.

James Rogers, a Water Valley Negro, was bound over to the Grand Jury Wednesday following a hearing on charges that he broke into an automobile near the Chicken Shack and stole equipment valued around $25. He was released under $300 bond.

DEADLINE NEARING

August 1, 1949 is the deadline for filing applications for free cotton classing and market news services available to farmers in organized cotton improvement groups. They should be sent immediately to U. S. Department of Agriculture, PMA, Cotton Branch, P. O. Box 363, Memphis 1, Tenn.

Over 500 Enjoy Milk Producers Barbecue

An estimated turnout of 500 persons assembled on the Country Club grounds yesterday afternoon for a free barbecue and a frank discussion of the milk production situation.

The affair, sponsored by the Fulton Pure Milk Company and its 38 Grade A milk producers for businessmen and residents of Fulton, opened with a short talk by producer Claude P. Freeman, a response by Smith Atkins, representing local businessmen, and an address by Paul R. Farlow, General Agricultural Agent of the Illinois Central Railroad, who was a specially invited guest.

"It is our hope to establish a closer relationship and more co-operation in marketing the milk we produce," stated Mr. Freeman. "We want you to know more about the milk we produce, which is sold by the Fulton Pure Milk Company, one of the most modern and well-equipped plants in this part of the country."

Mr. Freeman pointed out that local dairy herds have been increased, better pastures adopted and production upped from 180,000 pounds of milk per month last fall to more than 300,000 pounds today. (Estimated income today is over $250,000 yearly... ed). "Increased production has satisfied the present market and created a monthly surplus of from 60,000 to 70,000 pounds, all of which has potential disposal market in Fulton."

Paul R. Farlow, well known locally for his long time efforts to swing this area over to dairying, was received with enthusiasm. Milk producers sponsoring the event included: Thomas Bruce, Jim Olive, Oris Leet, Howard Milam, Dewey Johnson and son, Herman Sams, C. C. Roberts, Jewell England, Paul DeMyer, Alzo Hicks, Lewis Jones, Leslie Walker, Bernard Bostick, Richard Gardner, John Wright, Carl Johnson, Henry Phillips, Larry Binford, C. B. Caldwell, Hillman Collier, J. W. Kimbro, W. W. Shelton, C. N. Brown, H. H. Via, Travis Slayden, Walter Farabough Jr., J. L. Howell, Rice Spence, Ray Moss, Cecil Burnette, Clyde Burnette, Eugene Bondurant, J. W. Shuck, J. F. Lattus, C. P. Freeman, Merritt Milner.

Get Drivers License Today In Fulton

All Fulton County vehicle drivers are reminded that Justin Atterbery, Clerk of the Circuit Court, will be in Fulton today (Friday) to issue new operators' licenses. Deadline for renewing these licenses to all except ex-servicemen is July 31.

Mr. Atterbery reminds all ex-servicemen whose licenses are good for the "duration plus six months" that, since the end of the emergency has not yet been declared, such licenses need not be brought in for renewal; they are still good.

INTERNATIONAL DAY TEA

The International Day Tea of The Fulton County Homemakers will be held Tuesday, July 19 at Cliffcrest, the beautiful home of Mrs. L. A. Clifton on Central Avenue, at 3 in the afternoon.

P. R. FARLOW, General Agricultural Agent of the Illinois Central, who was principal speaker at the Milk Producers' barbecue here yesterday.

PARAMOUNT BUYS FULTON THEATRE

Paramount Pictures, Inc., joint operator with M. A. Lightman of 32 theatres in the Mid-South, has purchased outright control of nine theatres currently being operated by the partnership, including the Fulton Theatre here.

The change of control becomes effective October 1st. Joe Brown, local manager was not available for comment, being away on a two-week vacation. What changes will be made in policies and operation here are not known at this time.

Princeton Field Days To Be July 28, 29

Two days, July 28 and 29, have been set aside as annual field days by the Western Kentucky Experiment Substation at Princeton, when farmers and others interested are invited to see the experiments carried on there. Staff members familiar with the work of the Substation will be on hand to conduct groups over the farm. On the first tour, scheduled for 10 a.m. each day, visitors will be shown the results of crop experiments on limestone soil. Another tour will show the results of crop, pasture and fruit tree experiments on sandstone soil, said Supt. S. J. Lowry.

In order to accommodate the large crowd that is expected, July 28 has been set aside for farmers from these counties: Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Crittenden, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Livingston, Lyon, McCracken, Marshall and Trigg.

Jeffress Buys Jersey

Philip W. Jeffress, Fulton, has purchased the registered Jersey female, Shelton Raleigh Lilac. The animal comes from the herd owned by W. E. Shelton, Jr., Mayfield, Ky.

The purchase adds to the steadily growing number in this area. Dairymen buy Jerseys because of the high quality of the milk they produce.

Purebred Jerseys are registered by The American Jersey Cattle Club which has its national headquarters in Columbus, O.

VETS ON COUNCIL TICKET ISSUE POLICY STATEMENT

To The People Of Fulton:

There are many matters and issues which are brought before the City Council. Every matter should be given fair and impartial consideration by the Council before action is taken or refused. To act or to refuse to act, without the necessary information, is not only foolish and unbusinesslike but also unfair to the people.

To take sides on any issue before the Council has the facts is to pre-determine an issue before trial.

As Fulton is situated, it should be a great transportation center, which should be naturally followed by manufacturing and production locally.

We have not assumed the roll in any of these which we should. We cannot progress unless we are progressive minded. Few localities progress by accident.

Today we face the situation that by standing still we are moving backward, for our neighboring communities are definitely moving forward.

The men who represent the Progressive Veterans Ticket for City Council have represented Fulton over many far-flung fields and now desire to represent you locally.

You can be assured that progress is the platform; a better Fulton is the ideal; to be your City Council is the ambition of the Progressive Veterans ticket. Merely because they are veterans does not of itself entitle them to the office but, because they are veterans, they have proven their ability and willingness to serve, and if other things are equal may they ask your consideration?

Your business will be the business of the Progressive Veterans Ticket, consisting of Charles Robert Bennett, James Meacham, Joe Treas, Raymond Williams, Al Owens and Russell Pitchford.

New Cumberland Bridge

The Department of Highways today called for bids on the substructure and approaches for a bridge across Cumberland River on the Paducah-Eddyville road in Lyon County. The span will be on a road now under construction which will provide a new route to Kentucky Lake. The department said it eventually will become a part of U.S. 62.

Bids on the project to be financed jointly by the state and federal governments, will be opened July 22.

Whitesell Heads Elks

Hunter Whitesell, Fulton, has been elected to Exalted Ruler of the Fulton Elks Lodge to replace Roy Greer, who has removed from the city.

Jack Adams was elected to the post of Lecturing Knight, replacing Kenneth Watt, who has also left Fulton.

Installation will be made at the August meeting.

APPLY FOR LICENSES

Two applications for beer licenses in Fulton were received by the City Council in its meeting last Monday. They are: Eugene Springs, for retail beer sales at 227 East Fourth street.

C. L. Patterson, for retail beer sales at 405 Lak. Street extension.

SOMETHING NEW has been added to the Fulton horizon... the city's new overhead water tank, just completed and put in operation this week.

'COVER GARBAGE' WARNS COUNCIL

"Residents of Fulton must keep garbage in covered cans," warned the Fulton City Council at its meeting last Monday evening.

Many complaints have come to council members in the past few hot weeks, when uncovered cans and garbage heaps thrown on the ground have created odorous nuisances in neighborhoods, as well as breeding spots for swarms of flies.

An existing city ordinance requires the sanitary handling of garbage and waste in back yards and alleys, and persistent offenders will be called to account, the Council warned.

At its meeting, the council also:

Learned that its committee appointed to study the natural gas possibilities for the City is making surveys;

Contributed $100 toward the paving of an alley between the Malco Theatre building and the new Huddleston hardware company building off Main street;

Issued a credit refund to the Pipeline Gas Company on sewer tax charges assessed against the station, when it learned that the firm does not use the city sewer system;

Learned that a water district is being set up by residents of the Highlands for purposes of buying water from the city mains.

Contract Let For Graves County Road

Award of $580,619 worth of contracts providing for improvement of 60 miles of rural roads, and $698,351.75 for improvements on 72 miles of State roads was announced this week by Rural Highway Commissioner Emerson Beauchamp.

Included in the latter group is the Mayfield-Symsonia road in Graves County. Contract was awarded to the Southern Quarries Construction Company, Columbus, Ohio, for $43,346.12 for improvement of 8.8 miles.

New Meters Double Department Income

CITY WATER TANK IS NOW IN USE

Fulton's new 200,000-gallon water tank is now being used to store water and deliver it through city mains.

Perched atop a 100-foot tower at the peak end of Eddings street, it is located along side the I. C. tracks and directly across from the ballpark outfield.

The all-welded tank was erected by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company, and boasts of such things as a device for removing rust from the water, visible gauge on the outside, and is now operated by an automatic control system which, when the water level drops to a certain point, turns on the pumps and fills it to the top.

With use of the tank, a constant and uniform pressure can now be maintained throughout the city; and the costly 24-hour pumping operation, with attendant personnel, reduced to around an 8-hour maintenance job.

FINANCE OFFICER WARNS COUNTIES OF DANGER AHEAD

The financial picture of Kentucky's counties is both optimistic and pessimistic, says D. M. Magill, state Local Finance Officer.

Magill has just finished reviewing the 1949-1950 budgets of Kentucky counties, as required by law. All counties are now operating under the uniform budget law enacted in 1936 when county finances were in a very unhealthy condition.

Now all but one of Kentucky's counties have their debt in an unmanageable form, and progress is being made on the last county. Following the reorganization of the county debts, the bonded indebtedness has been reduced substantially in the past several years. The only significant new bond issues are those of the ten counties which have issued bonds to build hospitals.

The great improvement in the counties as a result of the debt reorganization and the operation of the budget law was named by Magill as one of the hopeful signs.

During the war years and immediately following, most counties accumulated treasury surpluses. Now that road and building projects are going strong again and all costs of government have increased, county expenses are going up rapidly. Because of this, Magill observed, many counties are rapidly using up their accumulated surpluses.

At this rate in two or three years many counties will have used all their surplus. Then they will have either to reduce expenses sharply, go into debt again or raise taxes. "This sober side of the picture brought a word of caution from the Local Finance Officer. Since Kentucky counties are almost completely dependent upon the general property tax for their income, local property assessment is the key to county finances."

"Kentucky counties can not get on a safe financial basis for the future without a fair and adequate assessment of property on which their income is based," Magill said.

According to Fulton County Judge Homer Roberts, Fulton County has not accumulated any surplus during the last 7 years, although each year has seen expenses kept below the budget. The surplus each year has been used by the County road fund for equipment and maintenance of county roads.

This year Fulton County will add around $6000 surplus (from last year) to its $17,000 budget for roads and machine equipment.

Judge Roberts stated that in the past seven years the bonded indebtedness of the County has been reduced from around $550,000 down to about $375,000.

Assessment valuation here is considered average, with some counties higher and some lower.

Mrs. J. E. Williams left Tuesday for an extended visit to relatives in New York.

Since the installation of water meters and the beginning of the modernization of the City's water distribution system, income from this department has nearly doubled, the City council learned in its meeting last Monday.

From an income of around $13,000 during the seven months prior to installation of meters, when all homes and commercial outlets were on a flat charge basis, the income has reached $25,000 in the seven months of October 1948 thru April 1949. (the first seven months of operation by water meter.)

Aside from the fact that water income is now more fairly distributed among those who use it in varying quantities, installation of meters, repair of leaky mains and of leaky house pipes has cut consumption almost in half, effecting a considerable saving on wear and tear of pumping equipment. Use of the new overhead tank, started this week, will eliminate much of the 24-hour pumping operation entirely.

The city now has around 900 water users, a slight increase in users in the corporate limits over old flat-charge era, when, in a number of cases, one charge covered several user units.

Another pleasant aspect of the meter era, reports City Clerk Martha Smith, is in the collection department. When notices are sent out requesting payment of delinquent bills or the alternative of receiving no more water, delinquent collections now run about $15 a month, compared with $300 in the meter days.

G. B. Butterworth, Councilman in charge of water department operation, stated this week that although the department is now able to enjoy increased economy in operation, plus additional revenue, that it will first have to pay off much of its indebtedness before any savings can be passed on to local water consumers in the form of lower rates. He stated that he was hopeful that an initial rate reduction could be made next summer... if all goes well.

POLIO STRIKES AT TWO IN MARTIN

Two cases of polio in Martin were recorded in the County Health Department last week, Dr. M. R. Beyer, County Health Physician, said.

W. S. Howard, 23, of 307 Fonville, was sent to Isolation Hospital in Memphis Monday with what Dr. Beyer described as a "pretty severe" case of polio.

No cases of polio have been reported in Fulton County thus far this year, the Fulton County Health Department reports.

Howard's illness led doctors to suspect that a three-year-old Martha child who lives at the same address must have had the disease three or four weeks ago. At the time the child's case was so light that diagnosis was questionable, Dr. Beyer said, but the illness left him with a slight limp and he was to be sent to Crippled Children's Clinic for examination.

These cases bring polio total for Weakley County to three for this year, the health department physician said. There was one case in March in the river bottom near the Obion County line.

"So far this year doctors have noticed that polio is striking more at people in the older age group than ever before," Dr. Beyer reported. "In previous years most of the victims have been under 16."

"I do not believe and I certainly hope that polio will not reach epidemic stage in Weakley County this year," Dr. Beyer said, reiterating that the best preventive measures for polio are to avoid crowds, don't get overtired.

Scouters Take Trip

A group of Boy Scouts from the Four Rivers Council left from Fulton last Monday morning for a three weeks' trip to the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

The Scouts were in charge of Elbert Johns, who is being assisted on the trip by Louis Weakley and Uel Killebrew of Fulton and Phil Wehman of Union City.

Waterfield Announces Candidacy; Blasts Administration

My Fellow Citizens:

I am deeply grateful for the opportunity you have given me to serve you in the General Assembly. I am profoundly grateful also for your loyalty and militant support of my candidacy for Governor in 1947. Your consideration in the past imposes upon me a great obligation to persevere in your behalf and in behalf of the great common people of Kentucky. I promise that with your continued cooperation and mandate, I shall not falter in the discharge of that obligation. It is, therefore, in the discharge of what I feel to be an obligation that I have become a candidate to again represent this district in the General Assembly.

Opposing me nominally in this campaign is a most worthy citizen whom I have always respected. I did not expect to have him as an opponent in this race, for the very good reason that upon his own initiative, and voluntarily, he told me he would not be a candidate against me and to succeed himself and preferred that I make the race. I am sure he was in good faith though naive respecting the ruthlessness of political machine pressure later to be brought upon him. I regret to have seen him quail under such pressure to become a tool and a vassal of the Governor and his political machine, and to put himself in the position of being willing to trade his and his people's right of representative government for a mess of pottage.

It is astounding that any man, even a Governor can become so ambitious, so ruthless, so oblivious to the American concept of democracy as to regard Kentucky as his empire and to seek to assert dictatorship over the free people of this state.

Is it democracy—is it freedom—is it representation, if a people of a legislative district must bow to dictation from Frankfort as the price of service for which they institute government and pay taxes? Is it democracy—is it freedom—is it representation when a Governor through emissaries demands election of a man to represent him rather than you, or after your taxes are paid into the treasury of the state that you must bargain and trade with him in order to obtain roads or other governmental services to which you are properly entitled? That is the issue in Fulton and Hickman Counties and in every legislative district of this state where the free choice of the people is challenged. The people of these two counties are not unfamiliar with such dictatorial demands, and in every instance have repudiated them in no uncertain tones.

If it were not for the dastardly aspects of the threat, and the dictatorial attitude of the Governor, the promises and road bribing attempts couple with innuendo of reprisal to those who fail to bend the knee, the whole propaganda of this campaign would be ridiculous. For promises and threats of reprisal are not unfamiliar to the people of Fulton and Hickman Counties. The people here have never yielded to dictatorship nor have they been intimidated into submission. But roads have been built in Fulton and Hickman Counties during the years that I represented the district in the

Know Your Neighbor

During the past year or so we have observed a growing amount of desire on the part of Fulton organizations to get out as a body, and meet the folks who live in the communities around Fulton, and we certainly add our commendation to this worth-while idea. While the idea is by no means new around here, being often practiced prior to the war, we know of a lot of worthwhile things that were cut off by war years and have yet to be revived.

Incident With A Shine

Here is a case where gratitude came out in the wash.

The boys of Seventeenth Street in Brooklyn, equipped with old stockings, frayed curtains, hot water, and wax, gathered around the doctor's car after he went into his office. When he came out at noon, there stood his car, washed and sparkling, and a group of boys shouting enthusiastically: "Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate?—Dr. Gardner!"

It was a simple act of spontaneous grati-

No Park For Now

Although the City of Fulton certainly could use the Carr property on Second street for a park site, and despite the fact that this property is available to the City, we have learned, since our article last week, that buying is not considered feasible and the matter will probably be dropped.

It's just one of those cases where something extremely desirable will have to be by-passed in favor of more urgent uses for the business men that all of the residents in the area do all of their trading here, as practically all of them do, yet one discovers many new faces and names at these community gatherings, and makes new friends. It is a whole-some idea to get together with your neighbors and talk over mutual advantages and seek a solution to differences. Such understanding brings real team-work and harmony to farmer and merchant alike.

It is in this spirit that the area milk producers for the Fulton Pure Milk Company reversed the procedure this week, coming to Fulton to meet with local citizens to point out to them their big, and growing, investment in the dairy industry hereabouts. Dairy-ing around Fulton is big business, and growing bigger every year.

Every time that you buy a dairy product that is locally-produced you are encouraging the growth, and adding to the income of these milk producers. Their income comes right back to Fulton to buy clothing, feed, automobiles, groceries and other merchandise. It is steady, comfortable and year-round.

It can be readily seen, then that one way to help ourselves grow is to help our local milk producers grow. Buy dairy product that are produced here at home.

tude. A day or two before, Dr. Gardner had run out of his office to the rescue of their 10-year-old chum, Patty Ryan, when Patty was run over by a truck. Anyone who could have helped would have done the same. But gratitude doesn't stop to philosophize about such things, any more than mercy does. A "great guy" is a "great guy," and how about making that car of his really shine?

Anyone who needs to have his faith in human nature shined up a little might pay attention to the boys of Seventeenth Street in Brooklyn. —C.S.M.

Tidbits of Kentucky Folk-Lore

What Is Folk?

When I first started writing and speaking about folklore, I was often met with the proverbial blank stare. Educated people wondered what another so-called educated person could mean by wasting his time on such nonsense; less well educated ones thought that I was making fun of them. It was not popular then to be a folklorist. But in the many years since I first began to talk about folk customs, folklore or what passes for it has often become a fad. In fact, the mere faddish nature of it has often crippled the genuine study by those who have the proper attitude toward the folk and their customs. Some people have realized that it might be profitable to seem to know a lot about the folk; as a result they have cashed in on their fad and have had plenty of solid pudding to eat. Others have kept the more dignified side of the study in mind and have not run away to any extremes. Folklore, like semantics, has come to be a shibboleth to many; there are books written on both subjects that seem to me to have missed the boat.

Folklore is not merely a matter of ignorant people and their customs. It is not a lot of old wives' tales about home remedies and charms against disease. It is not a sign of degeneracy. All of us are of the folk, and most of us show our folk connections daily in some way.

The most elusive aspect of folklore is what could be called folk feeling. Deep down in most of us are certain feelings that we have never thought to analyze. Some of these are worthy of the best thinking and respect; some are pretty sorry. Older than recorded history are prejudices and customs that are a part of our everyday lives. How these customs started is shrouded in the mystery of ancient days. But it is something more than a local habit or prejudice, something more than a fad or style. What lies behind the age-old hostility of Germanic and Latin Peoples? Why is this prejudice so hard to drive out by charms or culture? Take differentiation in dress for the two sexes as one of the most ancient tabus. Any invasion of this ancient custom usually arouses the wrath of men and women alike. Progress in a more active life for girls and women has been achieved in spite of this age-hallowed tabu. Just how far this barrier can be broken down without harm to both sexes is one of the 64-dollar questions, but the folk resent any serious and permanent attempt to differentiate too little the sexes.

Night and fear are also a part of the superstitious life of nearly everybody. The presence of electric lights has done something to uproot this ancient fear, but even today it is not easy to be perfectly normal when one is alone at night. If there is not a fear, there is at least a quickening of the senses that allies the most sophisticated with the primitive man of the forests and the caves. In my mature life I have camped out a great deal, often alone. I will not pretend that night does not pose a problem, however much I may have overcome its more fearsome aspect. I find myself hearing noises that would not have been noticed when I was in my own room under a roof. I am not especially afraid; my being out alone would prove that. But night is just not day, and humanity is not so far away from primitive days that it does not feel the appeal and mystery of night.

Death poses another problem that our Christian faith does not entirely solve for many people. It may not be a special fear of death as such, for humanity seems pretty immune to any serious thoughts that last long. But the strange mystery is always around, not yielding as have so many other things to modern methods of study and comprehension. The most philosophical person knows that the Old Enemy, Death, is near; he may not have any feeling that keeps him awake at night, but he feels this disturbing presence in every situation. The less philosophical may have, deep within his heart, a morbid fear of every aspect of death and may resort to many a strange folk way to ward off its certain approach. These dimly conceived fears lie behind every life and color many of things that all of us do, whether we are hopeful or doubtful. It is hard to escape our being human beings.

Turning Back The Clock

July 19, 1929:

D. W. Longstreet, Vice-president of the ICCR in charge of traffic, announces the appointment of Mark Fenton as General Industrial agent of the railroad. Establishment of this post marks an "aggressive expansion of activities."

Voters of Fulton should be glad of the opportunity of electing three of the old councilmen: Murrell, Phillips and Hannephin. (Adv.)

The Robey reunion will be held next Sunday. Big basket dinner. Whoopie! Let's go!

Club notes: Members are getting ready for the coming county fair. Billie McGehee of Sylvan Shade, who was awarded a trip to the International Live Stock show last fall, is getting his spotted Poland China pigs ready.

... Jones R. Davis is going to show his cow and yearling heifer . . . Thomas Stone, who won first and second at Hickman and first at Memphis with his corn, is also bringing along some Poland Chinas . . . James Garland Shaw, Mill Shaw, Murrell Roper, Evelyn Shaw and Lyle Shuck, of Sylvan Shade, are getting their calves ready.

Cecil Burnett has a heifer with her second calf that has been milking 44 pounds per day. Ed Browder stated that his three cows purchased from Calloway have been producing $11.50 worth of cream per week; including skimmed milk at 40c per 100, they total $14.00 per week. These are good ones!

The following attended a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powell, 10 miles east of town, last Monday: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kentucky On The March

With this column appearing in between 100 and 110 Kentucky newspapers of, say, an average of 2500 circulation each, I figure I reach close to 200,000 farmers and absentee landowners. Twice, I recall, I have written about the menace of Johnson grass to our agriculture. Outside Henderson, Webster and Union counties, exactly two farmers have written to find out where they can get sodium chlorate and how to use it. Perhaps a few have appealed to their county agents for information. All of which facts are set forth to show that in some instances it is mighty hard to move people to do a simple little job even when their own property is endangered.

In the three counties mentioned above I have told at least fifty farmers where to get a deadly chemical that is both cheap and easy to use. These farmers ask me personally for the reference and I write it down for them.

One came to me last week. Said his bottom land had patches of Johnson grass all over it. I recommended 1,000 pounds of sodium chlorate, which in that quantity would cost him seven and a half cents a pound. He probably will have to use a weed-killer power spray with a gun on the hose. I have been writing about Johnson grass in the Henderson Gleaner for eleven years. This river bottom farmer didn't heed the warnings until the inevitable happened.

Johnson grass is getting a hold in practically every county in the state. Few landowners pay any attention to it when they see a clump here and there. Or they may see it and postpone poisoning it until next year.

For the convenience of readers I am giving full directions for getting the poison. The concern is the Oldbury Electro-Chemical Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y. In quantities of less than 600 pounds it is eight and a half cents a pound. Six hundred pounds, eight cents; 1000 pounds, 7 and a half cents. You pay the freight, which is around one dollar per 100-pound drum.

You dissolve one pound of the crystals to the gallon of water. The solution will kill every plant it touches. Now, with the seed falling, the ground should be well sprinkled. For killing small, scattered clumps, use a hand water sprinker.

Every farmer should keep sodium chlorate on his premises. Johnson grass seed is dropped by birds and may spring up anywhere. Nobody nowadays should buy hay without assurance that there is no Johnson grass on the farm it comes from.

Incidentally, I have no profit interest in selling sodium chlorate. I am passing along the manufacturer's address for the convenience of readers.

Farm Bureau News

Straight From Washington

Criterion For Congress

Several actions upon which the Board of Directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation agreed unanimously last week indicate clearly that farmers are intensely interested in having Congress perfect agricultural legislation already "on the books" and have no enthusiasm for the so-called farm program proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Representing agriculture in all areas of the United States, the Board was solidly in agreement on four courses of action relating to farm price supports. The Board agreed:

1. To oppose the Brannan proposal. 2. To oppose the bill of the Farm Program Subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture which incorporates most of the essential features of the Brannan proposal. 3. To op-

Possibly none of the words of Christ are more often quoted than these, "And ye shall know the Truth, and the Truth shall make you free (John 8:32). They lend their beauty to many a political speech and many an educational lecture. They gleam like brilliant gems and the rubbish of many a sterile sermon. They are engraved on the walls of university libraries and carved over the doors of college chapels.

In one sense there is freedom in all truth. However, truth is arrived at by two different ways. Some truth comes by discovery; some truth by revelation. The scientist in his laboratory, by experiment and research, may discover truth in the realm of science. The biologist, the botanist, or the chemist may discover truths of natural law and use those truths to free man from the scourge of disease. The archaeologist may uncover truths from buried civilization and free man from false ideas about nations long since vanished. By the trial and error method, many may attain to truth; and truth brings freedom from error.

Spiritual truth, however, comes by revelation from God Himself. God, who in Himself is the embodiment of all truth, reveals Himself to man in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ, His Son. The truth of man's lost condition, the truth of the life hereafter, the truth of the person and love of God is revealed in the Bible, the Word of God. Truth which man discovers for himself frees him from error, but only the truth which God reveals frees man from sin and its power and its penalty. The mind of man by searching cannot discover God, and only God is able to strike off the shackles of habit and sin and weakness which bind man body and soul. This eternal freedom which evades human discovery but comes as the gift of divine revelation is found in the Lord Jesus Christ. He who said, "And ye shall know the Truth, and the Truth shall make you free," said of Himself, "I am the Truth;" and only God's Son frees man from self, from his own sinful passions and tendencies, and from the condemnation of his sin.

Wonderful words, these, "The Truth shall make you free," but completely realized only in Christ, the Incarnate Truth. "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:36).

pose any "trial run" of the Brannan plan. 4. To support amendments to the Agricultural Act of 1948 which would provide increases in the minimum support prices for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, and rice when acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect.

Recommended Changes

The Board recommended that the Agricultural Act of 1948 be amended to provide:

1. That the loan rate on cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts and rice be 75 to 90 percent of parity whenever marketing quotas or acreage allotments are in effect, instead of 72 to 90 percent (with quotas or allotments) as the law now stands.

2. That whenever acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect the schedule for cotton and peanuts provide a 90 percent loan rate if the supply is 108 percent of normal or less, and that this rate be graduated downward as the supply increases above 108 until the rate becomes 75 percent of parity when the supply is greater than 130 percent of normal.

3. That whenever acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect the support schedule for corn, wheat and rice provide a 90 percent of parity support for a supply of 102 percent of normal or less, and that this schedule be graduated downward for supplies greater than 102 percent of normal to a loan rate of 75 percent of parity when the supply is greater than 130 percent of normal.

In the words of Allan B. Kline, President of AFBF, these clear statements of American Farm Bureau position, clarified and affirmed unanimously by the Board, furnish a most satisfactory basis for sound agricultural legislation in the present Congress.

No changes were recommended by the Board in provisions of the Act relating to tobacco. Those changes which were recommended would not affect the operation of price support programs when neither acreage allotments nor marketing quotas are in effect. In such cases, the price support would be 60 to 90 percent of parity, depending upon supply, as now provided in the Act.

Spare the Rod is Rule in Mooseheart Village

Kids in the child city of Mooseheart, Ill., never are spanked.

The 800 children of the Loyal Order of Moose, sponsor of Mooseheart, live under a system of self-government. The 850,000 members of the fraternity have poured more than $28,000,000 into the project, set up to care for the dependent children of deceased members.

Malcolm R. Giles, executive director of Moose affairs, said that since Mooseheart was established in 1923, not one of its 2,000 graduates has run afoul of the law. More than 5,000 children have lived in the city. One third of the graduates have gone to college.

Founding father of Mooseheart was James J. Davis, U.S. Senator from Pennsylvania from 1930 to 1944. He took over leadership of the fraternity in 1906.

Davis envisioned a place where fatherless, motherless, or orphaned children of Moose members could be cared for until maturity. Members have supported his plan to the tune of $1,500,000 annually.

Some 56 teachers in six departments train the boys and girls in separate groups. The same course of study given in public schools is provided. Vocational training is emphasized.

A laboratory for child research directed by Dr. Martin L. Reymert, serves as a psychological clinic for the community.

An annual health examination is given each boy and girl. The 65-bed hospital is used more for preventive medicine than for the care of the sick. X-ray examinations, dental checkups and other services are provided.

Some 700 Mooseheart boys and girls served in the armed forces during the war.

The children are housed in groups in homelike dwellings. Each house has its own cook and house mother. Meals are served family style.

Boys and girls work if they wish. Each child is given a plot of ground to care for during the summer. One day a week each is assigned to a job for pay. It may be clerking in a store or gardening in the greenhouse. Earnings are credited to each individual's bank account.

After school, there are movies, roller and ice-skating, dances, band concerts, plays, handicraft shops, basketball, and football. Agnes is ready to give a piano concert. David is looking forward to a career in accounting.

The spare-the-rod training for the 800 children is based on a system of self-government. Infractions of rules and regulations are recorded as demerits.

Too many demerits by the few who misbehave send them to "West Farm." This is an isolated farmhouse two miles from the center of Mooseheart activity.

A short stay here usually is enough to convince the student that bad behavior doesn't pay, Giles said.—Courier-Journal.

Shirley Booth, noted radio, screen and stage actress, has the starring role—as an ambitious five-and-ten cent store clerk—in the new comedy show, "Hogan's Daughter," Tuesdays, on WLW NBC at 8 p.m., EST.

Customers' Corner

How do you like the fresh fruits and vegetable department in your A&P store?

Are the vegetables fresh and crisp—as they should be?

Are the fruits firm and ripe—as they should be?

Are the displays neat and orderly—as they should be?

Are the clerks helpful and courteous—as they should be?

We maintain buying offices wherever and whenever fresh fruits and vegetables of top quality are available. We rush this produce in refrigerated trains and trucks to our warehouses and stores. We price it to sell quickly and we inspect it constantly all along the line for any sign of deterioration.

In other words, all our efforts are aimed at offering you only the finest and freshest fruits and vegetables.

If we ever fail to do this, we will consider it a favor if you will tell us about it. Please write:

POWER

I have never been able to conceive how any rational being could propose happiness to himself from the exercise of power over others. —Thomas Jefferson
Since nothing is settled until it is settled right, no matter how unlimited power a man may have, unless he exercise it fairly and justly his actions will return to plague him.

Waterfield States

General Assembly, although I have never been subservient to any administration, and have been accused of being in opposition, when I have stood for measures that you were for and wanted, when Governors have been opposed to such measures.

While there is nothing in the Constitution or the law that gives a member of the State Legislature or State Senate any authority to build roads, people are sometimes easily persuaded to vote for the administration's candidate on the promise of roads, thereby permitting the Governor to control the Legislature and have hand-picked men to represent him instead of the people.

Those who are now holding jobs under the administration are going up and down many roads in Fulton and Hickman Counties promising a paved road, if the administration's candidate is elected. When I hear of all these promises, that cannot possibly be kept, I am constrained to think that if, somehow, they could just build half of all the paved roads they promise in an election, that when the great day comes for us all to go to the great beyond, that there would be a paved road for every man, woman and child on which to travel when we go to the New Jerusalem.

My opponent says he has a road program. If he has, it certainly is on paper and in promises. There has not been a State road built in Fulton and Hickman Counties since he has been Representative, except the 8 miles of paved road that is now being built and that runs by his home and farm. I claim the credit for that road, however. The Governor is paving that road to get him to run against me, and if I were not running, the Governor wouldn't be building it now. My opponent told me that and it must be true.

Those who oppose me would have the voters think that I can get nothing done in Frankfort. While I don't claim credit for every road that has been built, I do claim that if my opponent has a road program, that I had one too while I held the same office. I would like to remind you that practically every "State road" in Fulton and Hickman Counties today was built during the period I was in the Legislature, as follows:

1. The Fulton-Metropolis road, highway 307, was built.
2. The Cayce-Moscow-Clinton highway, 127, was built.
3. The Clinton-Oakton road was built.
4. The Arlington - Columbus road was built.
5. The Spring Hill highway, No. 288 was built.
6. The highway from Clinton to Pryorsburg, No. 58, was paved as well as the Columbus streets.
8. The Middle Road in Fulton County was built.
9. The road from Hickman to Tennessee line (Reelfoot Lake) was paved.
10. The Hickman-Brownsville road was built.
11. The Hickman-Union City highway was paved.

The only other "State roads" we have in the two counties are U. S. highway 51, the highway from Hickman to Fulton and 2 or 3 miles on highway 45 between Fulton and Mayfield.

Therefore every "State road" in Fulton and Hickman Counties was built while I was representing you, with the exception of these three. There was none built before I ran in 1937 and none have been built since I vacated the office to run for Governor in 1947.

It is already a known fact that the Cayce-Moscow-Clinton road and the Fulton-Metropolis road is set up to be paved next year. If they are built, the construction will start preparatory to or during the time Governor Clements is running for the U. S. Senate. The construction of these roads, or any road, that have been promised has no bearing on this legislative race.

If the Governor is sincere about building all the roads that are now being promised in this election, why didn't he let the contracts for these roads in Fulton and Hickman Counties before the election. Nothing was ever heard about roads in this district until the election got under way. I believe the people are getting pretty tired, but wise, of all the road promising, surveying, sighting through instruments, and stake driving. The people want roads, not promises.

Because the contracts were not let before the election, is sufficient proof to the people of Fulton and Hickman Counties that the Governor is using promises as bait, in an effort to control the election.

The people of Fulton and Hickman Counties have paid their taxes just like the people of every other section of the state. They are collecting an extra 2 cents per gallon on gas from you now, which brings the total gas tax to 7 cents per gallon, and we should receive our proportionate share of road money and road construction.

While the Governor may be trying to defeat me this year, when he runs for the Senate next year, I suspect he will be after me to help him and because of the connections I made in 120 counties in Kentucky in my race for Governor in 1947, and through the years of experience in politics and government, I will be able to get more done for you than my opponent. The Governor has already settled the score with him when he surfaced the road by his house. That was what he got, thanks to me for running again.

Thus, it will be seen that I have had a road program, as well as the Governor's candidate, and that my first and prime consideration was not just to get a road by my house and farm, but comprehended the general need for roads in the two counties. I wouldn't be at all surprised but that I could deal with Governor Clements to build a hard surfaced road by my house and farm, if I would agree to vote for any and every bill he might sponsor without regard to whether you wanted me to or not, and regardless of its effect upon the people generally of the state. I know the people of these two counties would not want me to make such a deal and I know they will not endorse any other candidate doing so. The people of these two counties will not be deceived, neither will they be mocked, for they believe that whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap, if we sow to the wind we shall reap the whirlwind.

Promises are easier than performance, and a dictator feels no compulsion to carry out promises for his philosophy is that the people are his political chattels. To any who may be beguiled by promises just remember that all over Kentucky in every county and district, any kind of promise that will appeal is being made. Any kind of road anybody may want is being promised but when fulfillment comes, there will be other demands and other stipulations required. There is only so much money available and there will be more promises than there is money. But regardless of fulfillment or non-fulfillment, there is a grave, a broad, and a more fundamental issue. That issue is taxation with representation. Whether the people are to have free and untrammelled representation or whether they shall send a man to represent Governor Clements. He demands you to send one to represent him regardless of what your interests may be. The Governor will not dare, as no other Governor has, to treat you too badly, for undoubtedly he will be a candidate for U. S. Senator next year and then he will be even more solicitous than now.

I have no unkind feeling for my opponent. We have been friends and I want that friendship to continue. I regret the gravity of the issue compels me to speak so much in candor and frankness. But, it is a grave thing to barter away the inherent liberties of the people, or for one with dictatorial designs to attempt to bind and shackle them, by depriving them of free representation in the General Assembly where laws affecting their homes and firesides, are made. I have therefore said that my opponent is the nominal candidate in opposition. The real opposition is Governor Clements, a candidate to usurp your right to free representation.

I have been charged with being an oppositionist. I deny that and call on Governor Clements to point to one single instance where I have opposed any administration measure unless my people were opposed to it.

When I was fighting for the gasoline tax refund for farmers on gas used in tractors and on the farm; when I was fighting for the people of Fulton and Hickman Counties and Kentucky to defeat the "Moss Bill" which would have hampered and destroyed Rural Electrification in the state; when I was fighting the "gag rule" in the legislature which prevented a representative sent there by the people from being heard and having a fair and just chance of presenting his proposition or legislation; when I was fighting to increase the rural highway fund to counties from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. I was not fighting against the administration. I was fighting for your rights and mine and for better government in Kentucky. But, if that kind of fighting makes me an oppositionist; if to represent the wishes and interests of my people makes me an oppositionist, then I am ready to wear that label and answer to you rather than to a politically vindictive Governor. It is time for the people of this section to send Representatives to Frankfort that can stand on their own feet and fight for the type of Government you want and are entitled to. If we are ever to get our just share of the benefits of Government in lower Western Kentucky we will have to fight for it.

I have fought a good fight and have kept the faith with you, to whom only have I felt responsible and to whom I have given every scintilla of my allegiance and devotion. I ask you to continue to uphold my hands and to continue to assert your freedom as Kentuckians and Americans. I am proud of this citizenry and to have represented the people of Fulton and Hickman Counties. I tried very hard in 1947 to win the Governor's race for the people of my district and Kentucky. I was not discouraged, I shall not quit. I do not believe in quitting because of temporary set-back or bad luck.

While those who oppose me say the Governor has promised to send $10,000 in cash and more if necessary, for all the assistance available from State employees in an effort to defeat me, you may be sure of one thing—that the people of these two counties were recognized in Frankfort as mature men and women, untrifled, undefiled and unpurchaseable, while I was representing the people of Fulton and Hickman Counties in the Legislature.

Twelve years ago, a callow youth, I came to you and asked you to entrust me with the honor and privilege of representing you in the General Assembly. I told of my purpose and acquainted you with my philosophy of Government. You honored me and have done it again and again. I am grateful.

If I have achieved some measure of distinction in the General Assembly of Kentucky, I humbly pay homage to you and lay the laurel leaves at your feet. I have never let you down nor shall I ever do that.

Liberty is a great thing in the affairs of men and nations today. I paraphrase the scripture for your thoughtful consideration. "What shall it profit a people if they gain material advantages of government, for a time, if in the process they lose their liberty, or what will a people give in exchange for liberty?"

Respectfully,
HARRY LEE WATERFIELD

State Representative

It is a pleasure to extend to Harry Lee Waterfield the endorsement of the Kentucky State Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the endorsement of Phoenix Lodge, 216, Fulton Branch, of the B.R.T., and the endorsement of the Ladies Auxiliary, No. 883, Fulton, of B.R.T., in the race for the nomination for State Representative of the 1st District (Fulton and Hickman Counties) in the coming primary election to be held on August 6th, 1949.

We have reviewed the record closely and find that Mr. Waterfield, having served in the 1938, 1940, 1942 sessions of the General Assembly, and as Speaker of the House of Representatives in the 1944 and 1946 sessions, is one of the few Representatives who has served such a long term as a member of the House, and also as Speaker of the House, who has a 100 per cent record for labor and the common people.

It is our firm opinion and belief that Mr. Waterfield's record in behalf of labor and the common people merits this endorsement, and we earnestly request that each and every member of our Brotherhood organizations, their families and friends give Mr. Waterfield their fullest cooperation, support and vote and join with the people in nominating him in the coming primary election to be held on August 6th, 1949.

SEVENTEEN BEGIN UK SUMMER STUDY

Seventeen persons from Fulton County are among the 3,802 students attending the University of Kentucky this summer. Numerous short courses scheduled to begin throughout July and August are expected to boost the over-all summer enrollment to considerably more than 4,000 students.

Students all ready are enrolled from all of Kentucky's 120 counties, 37 other states, the District of Columbia, one U. S. possession and 10 foreign countries.

Those from Fulton County now attending classes on the Lexington campus are: William Byrd, James Carter, Jerry Cavender, Betty Davis, Jerry Jones, Harold Mullins, William Mullins, Harvey Pewitt, Jack Snow, Joseph Stephens, Glenn Weatherspoon and James Green, all of Fulton; David Holland, Elsie Hurt, William Nipp and John Harrison, Hickman; and Eugene Waggoner, Crutcherfield.

Mississippi Plantation: The Writings Of Mattie Dear

Last week I worked so hard until I wasn't hardly able to go to church and said to Babe: "Well if it don't be raining I will go to the field. So-I began dressing and I said if my pastor don't come for me, I'll go to Travels Rest so he come and taken Babe and I to his new church where he newly elected. I enjoyed myself at the True Vine M. B. C. pastored by the Rev. C. R. Raymond of Shelby. Prayer Service conducted by the officers.

Public collection raised by Bro. Joseph and Bro. Wade, the sum of $14.80. Rev. Powels preached the installation sermon.

After service they had plenty of things to eat. I wants all the other days I live to be like the 3rd of July.

I seen an old friend of mine, in person of Luella Woods, better known as Shine Robinson. She's a sweet woman. Her husband know more about that than I. I also chance to see Mrs. Bessie Herzin.

I wants to go back to Mattson again to the True Vine. Some good people there. On the 30th of June the funeral of Sister Willie Jackson was attend at the Locus Grove M. B. C. by the Rev. W. H. Lang of Clarksdale. I has a fine crop. Just needs cleaning. So here is a poem. To think kind is good But to act kind is better But to speak kind is the best of all.

Mrs. Lynn Steinke of Memphis is the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Brady on College street.

The EXTRA capacity in these WHITING freezers, with SANTOCEL INSULATION, means EXTRA SAVINGS on your family food Costs

On this page, you see the three freezers that are making history in the freezer field. With no increase in the overall space they occupy, they provide greatly increased food capacity.

For kitchen or apartment installations, the new Whiting 8 now provides EIGHT CU. FT. CAPACITY, in space that formerly held only 4½ . . . over 77% more storage space.

For utility-room or basement installations, the new Whiting 17 provides SEVENTEEN CU. FT. CAPACITY, in space that formerly held only 12.

These tremendous capacity-increases have been achieved through the use of Santocel,* revolutionary new insulation, which permits cutting freezer-wall-thickness in half, while increasing FREEZER EFFICIENCY. *Monsanto Trade Mark, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

CHECK THESE ADVANTAGES

SANTOCEL—world's most efficient insulation, gives Whiting greater capacity for space occupied. Only Whiting's are pressure-packed with Santocel.

SAFETY—Patented pick-proof lock, cannot lock accidentally.

EFFICIENCY—Runs on minimum current. No annoying noise or vibration.

DEPENDABILITY—Backed by Whiting's 66-year record of no product failures.

SIMPLICITY—Free from complex controls, lights, bells and other trouble-making gadgets.

ECONOMY—Greater capacity means added saving in food costs—so your Whiting pays for itself quicker.
