NEWS BRIEFS

The Revival meeting at Harris Methodist Church, on the South Fulton Circuit will begin Sunday night, August 28th. The Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of Sharon Methodist Church, will assist the Rev. James E. Parr, Jr., pastor. Every one is welcome.

Rev. Parr will preach at Walnut Grove Sunday morning, August 28th, in the regular appointment.

Fulton High's 40-year school band demonstrated that it has made definite progress during the summer months, under the able direction of Yewell Harrison, when a concert was given at Carr's Park last Friday night. Many gathered to hear these talented young people, as they rendered a fine program of music.

The training received this summer was very valuable in preparing the band for the course planned during the regular school term which will start soon.

Members of the Ken-Tenn. Camp of the Spanish-American War Veterans held their annual picnic and convention at Hales Springs, 10 miles east of Mayfield, last Thursday, August 18, with a good attendance. On the speakers program were R. V. Hardeman of Mayfield, Jack W. Nelson, past department commander of Paducah, and Will H. Farley.

The committee from the Fulton Baseball Association made a canvass of the city last Friday, and were successful in raising approximately $600 for the local baseball club. This fund will be used to help clear off the indebtedness outstanding.

The Fulton club had very unfavorable weather conditions during the early part of the season, which caused a big decrease in attendance, and depleted the treasury.

October 1st Is Now Deadline On Bond Issue For School

Plans to erect a new school building to replace Carr Institute with funds obtained through a P.W.A. grant struck a snag recently, when a new ruling by the federal administration decreed that the project must be completed and ready for construction by October 1. It was the plan of the Fulton Board of Education to hold a bond election during the general election in November, but that would be too late to secure the support of the Public Works Administration.

It is required that the bonds must be issued before October 1 in order to secure P.W.A. aid. A special election can not be held at any time other than at the general election, so that method of solving the problem had to be dropped by the Board of Education and the committee working on the project.

Another method that has been adopted by other communities will be used to get the approval of qualified voters of Fulton. The Board of Education met Monday afternoon and agreed that if two-thirds of the voters approved a petition seeking completion of the project to obtain a new school, a bond company will be formed which will allow the board to issue bonds to provide funds to match the direct P.W.A. grant.

Meetings have been held this week with the P.T.A. organizations, a railroad group, the Business Woman's Club, and various civic groups, preliminary to the drive to circulate the petition Friday of this week. Every qualified voter of Fulton will be called upon, and the plan and need for a new school thoroughly explained.

For sometime there has been a definite need of expansion and improvement of the grade school system. The classrooms at Carr Institute are overcrowded and the time is near when it will be impossible to handle the pupils enrolled. This building is in a bad state of repair, poorly lighted and ventilated. It is pointed out. It is a matter of only a short while until expense reports will have to be made, and on addition added, and delay will mean that all the cost will have to be borne by the taxpayers. It is hoped that a new grade school building may be erected through federal aid, fill a long-felt need and save the people of the community money in the long run.

The petition to be circulated reads as follows:

Petition to the Registered Voters of the Fulton City Schools District:

There is a demand upon the part of some of the patrons of the Fulton City Schools District for the Board to tear down Carr Institute and to build a new building as a P.W.A. project. The Board had planned to have the patrons vote on a bond issue, of $42,000.00, on November 8, to defray its part of the total cost of the building, about $70,000.00. The Federal Government, through the P.W.A., will pay 45% of the cost, or about $34,000.00. This will be an outright gift to the district. The P.W.A. has just advised the Board that the bonds must be issued by October 1 if it desires to participate in the program. It will be necessary for the Board to form a Holding Company with the City, which is a legal process to meet this requirement. It is impossible for the Board to say whether the issuance of these bonds will increase the tax rate of the District.

Please write your name in one of the spaces below and then "yes" after it if you are in favor of the bond issue; write "no" after your name if you are opposed to the bond issue. The Holding Company will be formed if two-thirds of the legal voters are in favor of the project.

DUGOUT DIGS

(By B. V. N.)

Eugene (Turkey) Curtis, hails from Cairo, Illinois. This is his first year in pro-ball. He pitched Sunday against the Union City Greyhounds but lost the game 4-3. Wednesday night he pitched a beautiful game, as he did Sunday, but the Eagles failed to score.

Wednesday night "Dutch" Summers made a beautiful play on second base. He ran far behind the base to get the ball, then had to slide into it to make the putout.

"Hal" Gregory was laid out for several minutes Wednesday night when he slid into second base and was hit in the head by Huiskamp's knee.

Don't forget to get in all your baseball these last weeks. The Eagles will be in Owensboro for three days, returning to Fulton Sunday for a three game series with the Jackson Generals. Even though we have no chance to be in the first division, we can make a series that will. There are only eight more home games, so come come on out and see the fun.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

Wheat—

Letters have been sent out to all farmers who have in the past produced wheat asking that they furnish the committee with their intentions to plant this fall. These letters should be returned at once and those farmers who plan to sow wheat this fall for the first time should also report the acreage that is to be sown.

Cotton—

Farmers who have cotton in the lean should bring their papers to the office so that this poundage can be used in working up the cotton subsidy payment on last year's crop.

Since we have no record of who placed their cotton in the loan farmers who see this notice and know of others who have cotton loans should pass this information along.

Wrong Size Lamp Bulbs Are Misfits Too, Folks

By Using the Correct Bulb—

YOU PROTECT VISION . . . ENJOY EYE-COMFORT
CONSERVE NERVOUS ENERGY . . . SAVE MONEY

MOST people are smart enough not to wear shoes too small. But science has just recently proved that reading or working under the wrong size lamp bulbs may be even more harmful.

If you read, or if your child does his homework, under a 25-watt bulb, for example, you both strain your eyes without knowing it, and you both actually waste as much valuable nervous energy as a man digging a ditch.

ELECTRIC SERVICE IS CHEAP

For easy seeing without eye-strain, use one 100-watt Mazda lamp, or two 60's, or three 40's, in each reading lamp. The 100-watt size is more economical. You can use it for two hours each evening at a cost between 12 cents and 42 cents a month, depending on the average rate you pay.

Memphis, Tenn., August 31—Long looked on as the "Show Window of the South," the Mid-South Fair scheduled for September 12-17 at Memphis is expected to reflect the accomplishments of the "New Deal" as it applies to agriculture in the South in the six day carnival of education and entertainment.

Outstanding farmers of the Mid-South are preparing a series of "Live at Home" exhibits showing what has actually been accomplished in the Memphis territory.

Another series of exhibits is being prepared showing new and old crops for the South; a special cotton-by-products exhibit showing the great advance that has been made in developing new uses for cotton; also a special exhibit featuring the possibilities of soybean culture. These will be supplemented by exhibits prepared by 4-H club boys and girls and Vocational Agricultural students and exhibits showing the year round work done by communities in Shelby County.

The annual livestock show featuring the finest livestock in the South with a section for Junior livestock exhibitors will be especially interesting.

Editors and County Superintendents of the Memphis territory will be guests of the Fair on opening day, Monday, September 12th and special entertainment is being planned in their honor and they will witness the mammoth parade of Future Farmers of America on opening day.

ORANGE BOWL GAME . . .
by Jack Meagher
Head Football Coach
Alabama Polytechnical
Institute

This is the first of a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

No Southern team had made a score in the Orange Bowl in the four years the New Year's Day game had been played. Our squad felt that they had to beat the links as well as the powerful Michigan State team, led by Johnny Pringle, fast and hard hitting halfback. Auburn went into the game with the odds against them. Michigan outweighted Auburn ten yards to the man. From the snap of the first ball our team played back up football. Our line charged hard and refused to give ground when on the defensive. Fenton and Kelly lead the attack and before the first quarter was over we had the ball on Michigan State's twelve yard line. This deep penetration of the opponent's territory, with the ability to stop Pringle, seemed to be the turning point of the game.

Late in the second quarter we were deep in Michigan State's territory where we sustained a penalty which placed us on the Michigan 30 yard line. Kenmore received the ball and dropped back and threw a pass to O'Gwynne, who carried it to the two yard line before he was brought down.

After two unsuccessful attempts to cross the Michigan goal line the play again was called. It was an End Run from Notre Dame T Formation, which usually precedes the shift into the Notre Dame Box. The defensive set-up is the normal strong defensive arrangement against this formation.

The play is an end run from the T Formation and is optional, either inside or outside the defensive end. Like every other good play the success of this one will depend largely upon the effect other plays, immediately preceding it, have made upon the defense. It has the maximum interference ahead of the ball carrier; it develops fast and tends to catch the defense off balance.

Quick opening plays from the same formation, or plays after the shift into the Notre Dame formation usually precede this play to set the best effect. It is a good weapon inside the ten-yard line of an opponent.

Auburn used the play on the Michigan State two-yard line on third down for a score. Quick opening plays had been used with our fullback Stitz taking the ball inside tackle on the first and second down. Marion Walker, our quarterback, called on little Ralph O'Gwynne, right halfback, and he carried the ball over for the end score of the Orange Bowl game at Miami.

Auburn piled up 12 first downs to Michigan State's 2, made 547 yards to 40 on the ground and 81 to 25 through the air.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

For a time it seemed that the Russo-Japanese "incident" on the Siberian-Manchukuo border might mark the beginning of the long feared "second World War". That could have easily happened—as every European observer knows Hitler would be almost certain to invade the Ukraine if the Soviet became engaged in major hostilities on its far Eastern frontier. As a result, the truce came as a welcome surprise to a war-frightened world.

If you go beyond the surface, however, the incident takes on considerably more importance. It demonstrated two things of great significance. First, the U.S.S.R. is ready and willing to fight, when no other solution seems present, and at the same time is eager to conclude its disputes peacefully if it can. Second, it demonstrated the great military and economic weaknesses of the Son of Heaven's Little Empire.

As one news commentator said, the upshot of the "incident" was a sweeping military and diplomatic defeat for Nippon. It is reliably reported that high Japanese officers reported to their Emperor that they lacked the supplies and men for waging even a brief war in the Manchukuo-Siberian territory. The Chinese aggression—which is dragging on month after month, has made a mockery of Japanese expectations of a quick and easy victory—and has drained the empire dry. As a consequence, the Japanese had he humiliating experience of submitting almost in their entirety to Soviet Foreign Commissioner Litvinoff's terms of settlement. The Japanese government—for the time being at least—has accepted the Russian view of the dividing lines. Official Japanese government statements attempt to cover this up—but it is a fact, as reference to your atlas will demonstrate.

Looking elsewhere, there are other signs to indicate that the designs of the Fascists are far from materializing. A few months ago it seemed that the fall of the Spanish government was imminent. Franco, with his Italian troops and his German planes and munitions, was advancing almost unchecked. Today the government has rallied, has regained lost territory, and is again on the offensive. In spite of incredible horrors, the spirit of the population in government territory seems to have gained rather than lost in vigor. Franco still has the upper hand—but the experts are saying that he cannot possibly win this year, and that if the recently signed pact whereby Mussolini pledged himself to withdraw Italian troops from Spain is observed his chances of ultimate victory will be immeasurably lessened.

Germany is rattling the saber again at Czechoslovakia—but there has been a notable stiffening of spines in France, which leads to the view that actual German aggression of Czech territory is unlikely and would be extremely foolhardy.

AIR BATTLES

Great Britain has always been the power of the seas with her large and capable navy. Today she is giving more attention to air problems. Surrounded by discord and probable wars, Great Britain is making plans to teach a million men and women how to fly. Her Secretary of the Air announces that it will cost about 23 cents a week for each license of the new pilot to fly the ships of the air. The idea is to fight airplanes with airplanes and to attempt to maintain a force as complete in number as though the battle was to be fought on land between two armies. It is not a pleasant thought to us, who despise war, to dwell on the idea of a battle waged thousands of feet in the air, between two armies of airplanes, using machine guns and up-to-the-minute warlike instruments for purpose of wiping man from earth, by way of air. Fulton people find such a picture doesn't lessen their hatred of war.

OUR PRICELESS HERITAGE

All too often in this busy world the few really important things are neglected.

To us in America our most priceless possession is taken for granted. It is as everyone knows when he pauses to think, the right to freedom of speech, freedom of the press and freedom of individual action.

But it has ever been that distant pastures seem the greenest. And for the same reason there are always those among us who forget that the greatest privilege in the world today is to be an American citizen. They overlook that other people would pay money for this privilege which they received at birth.

And, having overlooked all this some people think that the government in other lands is better than our government. To them our institutions are out-moded. They are constantly proposing some change.

But perhaps the best answer ever given to one of these Ism Groups was given straight from the shoulder the other day from a speaker's platform. The speaker was defending one of the greatest organizations in America from a scathing attack which questioned its sincerity of purpose.

In the midst of this defense the audience hissed. But in a moment the jeers were turned to ringing applause. For the speaker said:

"The only right you have to hiss me is because this is a free and untrammelled democracy. If the principles of some of these professors were to be adopted, you could not hiss me and I could not talk like this."

In those two sentences the speaker had removed the foundation from all the Ismism in the world except the Americanism of freedom of individual rights.

'FIXED CHARGES' MYTH EXPLODES

There is a great deal of loose talk to the effect that fixed charges, bond interest and dividends are the main railroad problem—although Interstate Commerce Commission figures show that the worth of railroad properties is greater than their bonded indebtedness.

Two actual examples indicate the fallacy of the "excessive fixed charges" cry:

A 250-mile railway in the Middle West hasn't any bonds outstanding and no interest to pay. It hasn't paid a dividend to stockholders in years. Yet it cannot meet its expenses, and has been forced to petition the ICC for permission to tear up its track and go out of business.

A larger railroad in the East is now in the hands of receivers. The United States judge handling the case wrote to the receiver: "The earnings of the railroad are reduced so much that you will be forced to stop its operation immediately unless salaries and wages are materially reduced—probably more than 15 per cent—and taxes materially abated—probably at least half." The stockholders of this line have received nothing in several years, so payments to them can hardly be blamed for the company's dire plight. Last year the bondholders agreed to accept as little as 30 per cent of the interest due them. But they, too, have received nothing—because the line's revenues have fallen so far behind expenses as to make it impossible for it to even pay its taxes.

Incidents similar to this could be recited by the score. Fixed charges aren't even a significant item in the railroad crisis. The big things are artificially low rates, heavy taxation and rising costs of operation. Unless the whole industry is to collapse, drastic steps must be taken to reduce operating costs, which means industry is to be permitted a rate structure adequate to pay with bills and bring in the "fare return" specified by the Transportation Act.

THE DOOM OF DEMOCRACY

If it is established in the Mexican instance that a Latin American Government can arbitrarily confiscate the property of American companies and American investors without paying for it fully and promptly this will give collectivist and those countries such a powerful weapon that collectivist policies, whether fascist or communist, will become almost general throughout Latin America. And that will mean economic retrogression of a kind and to an extent that will affect the prosperity of the entire Western Hemisphere and even of the Old World. More over it will spell the doom of democracy in many countries.—The Texas Weekly

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY

Chas. A. Williams

GOOD IN EVERYTHING

The American public that constantly reads of dictators and their aspirations to become masters of the world probably wonders just how we could have rumors of wars and actually small wars and yet not have the major war that they talked and wrote about. The most plausible answer to this is the millions of unemployed all over the world and the numerous different national depressions plus a general world dilemma.

No one can realize more readily than can the dictators themselves, the precarious pinnacle upon which they stand. They know how surely their places depend upon the economic conditions of their respective domains. They know that they came into power as a result of a restless and hungry public. Unless pangs of hunger are satiated or the mind is made to forget that public soon become dissatisfied with Hitler and Mussolini. If Duce and Hitler have tried to make the mind forget but they know that they have not succeeded very well. They also know that the small reserve they have is nothing upon which to start a long war.

This is where the war in China and in Spain has served a part of humanity. Five years ago it was the general opinion of scientists and military experts that a modern war could not last for more than two months. Today, the examples of Spain and of China are marvelous rebuttals to such an argument. An ominous warning to those who would march forth to war to have their bread-baskets well filled! Thus while the toll of lives in Spain and in China has been ghastly, the very length of the slaughter has probably preserved a large part of the rest of the world from a world war that was thought eminent five years ago.

Whether that world war will come is a question most of us would hesitate to answer but the above is one reason for it not brewing at present unless, of course, a Dictator should find it necessary to start a war in order to make the mind forget the empty cavity called the stomachs of Germany and Italy.

BUSINESS RECOVERY STILL MOVES FORWARD

The immediate approach of mid-August found the forces of recovery throughout the country moving forward steadily, though slowly. As might be expected at this time of the year, shopping activities in a great many centers were rendered difficult by extremely hot weather so that retail trade continued to lag behind last year's levels, reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities, just received by its Louisville District Office, revealed. In many places, however, the margins of loss were negligible. Furthermore, while the statistics revealed losses in dollar volume, the actual turnover of goods probably equalled or even exceeded that of last year due to lower price levels. A general and moderate increase in wholesale trade was noted, although it was reported that buyers are still hesitating to order much beyond near-by needs.

Louisville reported that further strengthening of consumer demand pushed retail sales up 2 to 4 per cent over previous week and cut loss from year ago to 3 to 7 per cent, the narrowest year-to-year spread thus far in 1938.

State Fair Ready For It's Biggest Year

Its exposition this time again in Kentucky and Louisville proudly throws open her doors to welcome its guests from far and near to the 36th Kentucky State Fair held from September 12 to 17. Due to many improvements and enlargements there is reason to believe that this Kentucky State Fair will prove to be far superior to any in the past. The impressive $300,000 Merchants and Manufacturers Building has been thoroughly redecorated and industry has cooperated splendidly as evidenced by the huge demand for space.

Exhibition premiums have been materially increased this year. Intense interest in the various competitions is manifested by the fact that advance entries and request for premium books have far surpassed those of previous years. In the cattle show Aberdeen-Angus will be the first breed shown. Judging on this entry will begin at 9:00 A.M. on Tuesday; Herefords at 8:30 A.M. on Wednesday. All steer classes will be judged on that day also. The judging of Holstei-Enreians and Jerseys will take place on Tuesday. This year the committee has been very liberal and in providing separate classes for contestants in the dairy cattle competition.

Live stock and other farm exhibits are expected to be the finest in the history of the fair. Because of improved conditions in both rural and urban sections, enthusiastic interest in the 36th renewal of the fair is reported throughout the state. Indications are that from an attendance and participation standpoint the Fair will be the largest and most successful ever held. Much of the exhibits space has already been sold. H. S. Cleveland, Manager of the Fair, reports wholehearted support from manufacturers and merchants who plan exhibits. This would indicate that exhibitors are experiencing better times and are excited this year's Fair to be bigger and better than ever.

Improved and redecorated grounds and buildings will greet fair visitors this year. Exhibit buildings have been made more attractive, and many novel and unique exhibitions have been planned. Fair officials have decided to retain the 25c admission, since this reduction last year resulted in a decided increase in attendance and placed the Kentucky State Fair within reach of everyone.

According to an announcement by H. S. Cleveland, manager, the new 1936 Fair catalogs have been placed in the mail. Copies of this catalogue may be obtained by writing to the Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, Kentucky.

PERSONALITIES IN MUSIC

HARRY T. BURLEIGH, A.S.C.A.P.

The Student That Inspired Dvorak

By Daniel J. McNamara

"Glad to see you, sweet child!"

The stirring strains of this Negro spiritual are mirrored in the e-com theme of the first movement of Dvorak's "New World Symphony." Dvorak died in 1904, but the young Negro student who first revealed to the famous Bohemian composer the beauties of this refrain and of scores of other spirituals has lived to become one of the most notable figures in American music—Harry T. Burleigh, A.S.C.A.P., famous baritone soloist and composer.

Burleigh had won a scholarship to the National Conservatory of Music in New York while Dvorak was in the early '90's. Born in Erie, Pennsylvania, December 6, 1866, he learned music first from his talented mother, a college graduate whose cultivated mind flowered in the genius of her son. Dvorak often listened hours at a time while the young student played the spirituals he had learned from his mother. Their lasting impression on Dvorak is seen in the music of his New World Symphony, first performed at Carnegie Hall in 1893.

While still a student, Burleigh won appointment as baritone soloist in St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church. Now, as the only Negro member of a choir of 120 voices, he is completing his forty-fifth year of continuous service. Worshipers in the famous institution long since have come to regard Burleigh's singing as an integral part of their devotion.

As a concert singer he has appeared before distinguished audiences in Europe and America, and twice sang before King Edward VII. A tireless student, Burleigh is a master of German, French, and Italian. He has an honorary degree of Master of Arts from Atlanta University, and of Doctor of Music from Howard University. When Victor Herbert organized the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers in 1914 as an agency of musical copyright protection, he invited Burleigh to become a charter member.

Burleigh's first successful composition, "Jean," has been a concert favorite for many years. His arrangement of "Deep River" was one of his earlier efforts. John McCracken sang a "Little Mother of Mine" the world over. His list of original compositions runs into the hundreds.

Burleigh leads a busy life, but finds ample time to befriend many struggling young artists. He gave up the concert stage ten years ago for more attention to his church work and editorial duties with a music publishing house. He shows no evidence of advancing years, his rich voice ringing out in solo parts with the full vigor of his early concert triumphs. Burleigh deprecates his part in the New World Symphony, but musicians who know the facts trace in Dvorak's impressive symphonic creation the unmistakable influence of the young student who himself was destined to achieve fame as a composer long after Dvorak had passed on.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Stuffed Steak — Take a round steak and spread it an inch thick with chopped bread and butter, seasoned with pepper and salt, sage and a little onion if liked, and a sliced hard-boiled egg. Roll steak up, tie with twine, lay in a baking pan, with thin slices of pork on top. Pour round it a pint of water, cover closely and bake in moderate oven three hours. Serve with rich, brown gravy.

ON CLEANING DAY

Acids stain marble. To polish use another piece of marble and water. To clean plaster of paris, make a paste of starch and water, cover article and when dry, brush off. Feather pillows should be aired on a clear, windy day. The sun brings out the oil from the feathers. They may also be freshened and made sweet-smelling by placing talcum powder in them.

THE SEWING ROOM

Press woolen by covering with a piece of duck, which should be first moistened with a sponge. Lace up the baby's sweaters with shoe laces instead of buttons. This will eliminate the worry that it may swallow a button.

KITCHEN KINKS

Decorative colored sugars may be made at home by blending a few drops of cake coloring into ordinary granulated sugar. Keep a piece of dried orange peel in the tea canister and a pleasing flavor will result. Much of the tartness of our sour fruits will be taken away if a pinch of soda is added during the cooking process; also much less sugar will be required for sweetening.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

If object swallowed by a child can be seen, a careful attempt may be made to remove it with the fingers. If object has passed beyond the throat feed quantities of potatoes and bread but do not give a cathartic or produce vomiting. If allowed to pass slowly through the intestines it becomes covered with fecal matter and is expelled with no harm.

Close cut lespedeza stubble is not effective in erosion control without a cover crop through the winter months.

Tobacco growers should wait for four to five days of warm, sunny weather following rains before cutting the crop.

Farmers who do not have a silo but who wish to save corn stover, sorghum, or other ensilage crops can construct a trench silo with very little effort or cost.

In filling a trench silo, cut the corn and run it through a silage cutter into the silo. Tramp the silage around the edges and after filling, cover with six inches of straw, sawdust or weeds.

G. M. & N. AND M. & O. PLAN MERGER

A tentative plan for consolidation of Gulf, Mobile & Northern and the Mobile & Ohio Railroad systems has received final approval and is expected to be filed early next month for Interstate Commerce Commission action, according to the Wall Street Journal.

The deal, it was said in railroad circles, would mark accomplishment of the first railroad consolidation in years.

The M. & O. railroad penetrates Fulton county, with Cayce the principal station in this county.

SOME OLD MANNERS

Mrs. Emily Post knows a lot about manners, but she would be puzzled if she ran into remnants of former manners that so many of us remember. She would probably think them bad manners, just as so many people misinterpret left-overs in speech. Good manners are good manners still, however much out of style they may appear. Even Mrs. Post says that good manners are nothing more than kindness interpreted by means of words and acts. Nothing could have been kinder than the old-time gentlemen and ladies with their rather stiff, and now outgrown, ways of making social life endurable.

In my youth we were told to remove our hats just as we entered the church door. The old-timers of the community, with a dignity that I cannot possibly make you realize used to keep their hats on until they got to their places in the Amen Corner and were sitting down. Then they pulled off their hats with a reverence and dignity that were certainly as admirable as we showed at the church door. Mother told me that this was the approved custom in her younger days. We children laughed a superior laugh at the old fellow after we had learned how to remove our hats according to the new style. But none of us has acquired any more real manners than these bearded patriarchs showed at the little country church.

When the fireplace was the center of our little social world, even the rudest children knew that they should ask to be excused when it seemed necessary to walk between people and the fire. A violation of this was regarded as very crude. Our mother would hold up as horrible examples some children who did not know enough or care enough to ask to be excused for such a rude act. When the company left, there would be a reckoning, and woe to the little fellow who did not know his manners. Now, when we have no immediate center of social life in the modern house, when it is not necessary to sit at a given place to keep from freezing, what should children be taught? So long as they do not step on the floor or corns, we pay little attention to where or when they walk.

Abner's "Yes, Ma'am" heard nearly every day over the radio, it is not so funny to some of us as to others. We were taught to say it as religiously as any little Frenchman says "Oui, Madame," or "Mademoiselle," or "Monsieur." Sometimes it degenerated into "m" only. Not to say "Yes, sir" and "Yes, Ma'am" was to be ill-bred, almost to the point of insolence. I saw a small girl get a severe whipping at school because she said only "Yes" to the teacher. Both she and the teacher knew this meant for pertness. We very proper and polite little rough-necks felt dreadfully pious when the punishment was being meted out, much as the earlier Calvinists pictured the saints in heaven as looking as pleased as the cat that ate the canary while a just and merciful Divinity was roasting some of their immediate relatives in another part of the Hereafter. Just before the World War there had grown up a sort of hostility to "Sir" and "Ma'am" but military discipline brought back single out only gentlemen for special marks of dignity. Thus a cycle has been rounded out, and we, like Sir Roger de Coverley with his coat, are again in style.

Voters Will Decide

On New Court House

Voters of Obion county will have the privilege Friday, August 26th, of saying whether or not Obion county will have a new court house or will continue with the present building.

A recent federal grant of $90,000 has been made available to the county to use in construction of a new building provided the county will match this amount of money with $110,000 of her own money to give the county a $200,000 building.

In order to raise this $110,000 the county court has found that the most practical plan will be insurance of twenty year bond to be retired on an annual payment plan during the twenty year period. That taxpayers of the county may decide this question for themselves a bond election has been called for Friday of this week, August 26th, at which time voters will be called upon to express themselves on the question. If the bond issue carries, steps will be taken immediately to move officials from the present building and begin work of tearing down the old building and replacing it with a new structure.
