NUMBER THIRTY TWO

SCHOOL PROJECT IS APPROVED BY VOTERS

Although the petition which is being circulated to obtain the sentiment of the people on the proposed construction of a new grammar school here has not yet reached every voter, there is every indication that it meets with the approval of the majority. Already approximately 1000 has signed the petition favoring the erection of the new school with aid of PWA funds, with 48 voting not favorable while others failed to vote either way.

The new grammar school would replace Carr Institute, which needs repair and is inadequate to care for present day demands, and will cost approximately $70,400 of which amount 45% will be obtained through a PWA grant, if the plan goes through. Local voters will vote on a bond issue of about $42,000 in November to meet the federal appropriation.

A telegram was received here Tuesday from Alben W. Barkley, Senator from Kentucky, which stated "PWA advises Kentucky Docket 1328 for erection of elementary building in Fulton now under active consideration in Washington office. Feel sure final action will be taken in the next few days."

Actual construction should begin in about two months, because it will require about thirty days to form a holding company, prepare bonds for a bond company, and advertise for bids.

Both Mr. Meacham and Mr. Hutchens are well-known business men here and have a host of friends who will extend their congratulations. Hutchens has been employed at the H. H. Bugg Grocery for a number of years, and Meacham has been connected with the Paul DeMyer market.

In a drive to keep the city clean, officials have provided new baskets at convenient spots back of the Lake St. stores, where merchants are asked to place all rubbish and papers that will burn. By destroying loose papers this will prevent it from blowing onto Lake St.

CAYCE SCHOOL ONE OF THE FINEST RURAL SCHOOLS IN WEST KENTUCKY

Enrollment at the new consolidated school at Cayce has shown a decided increase this term, and this year promises to be the finest that this institution has ever known. Classes and courses are well organized for maximum efficiency. A. J. Lowe is principal and is ably assisted by a corps of teachers well versed in their chosen field.

Being centrally located in the county, the Cayce school draws pupils from a large area, and this year former Crutchfield high school students are attending this institution. Cayce had a good basketball team last year, and there is every indication that the team will be even better this season.

HICKMAN BOY WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Elvis Stahr, son of E. J. Stahr of Hickman, Rhodes scholar, breezed through to an easy victory over young Fritz Nagel, Jr., of Paducah Sunday afternoon. He won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

The young Paducahan, whose brilliant play up to the finals gained him several upset victories could not cope with the versatile play of the Hickman southpaw. There never was any question as to the outcome after Stahr once warmed up. Nagel took the first and third games in the first set and then the rout was on. Nagel didn't win another game until Stahr was 2-love in the second set. Nagel's final win was in the fifth game of the third set.

The triumph of Stahr was the second for Stahr in the Paducah tournament. In 1936 he first won the men's singles championship. This year Stahr swept through the tournament without the loss of a set and was a vastly improved player.

Stahr advanced into the finals in another division when he and Nagel teamed together to defeat the Mayfield team of Ralph Pickard and Billy Wilson in men's doubles, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1.

Stahr and Nagel won the men's double crown by defeating Frank Turner and Max Beasley Tuesday afternoon, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

FIVE MEN HELD FOR SLAYING T. CALVERT

Preliminary hearing for five men charged with the murder of Travis Calvert, whose body was found July 5, on Highway 94, seven miles west of Hickman, were held before County Judge C. L. Walker. The men under arrest, all of whom are held without bond, are Sam Love, Jr., Darnell, G. L. Barnell, and Harve Fletcher all of the Ashlog community and Orville Goodale of East Prairie, Mo.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at the hands of a hit-and-run driver. When the body was sent to Tennessee for burial, however, an undertaker found a bullet wound in the victim's head. Sheriff Henry started an investigation which resulted in arrest of the five men.

Out in 36 Shelton secured a 5 hole lead on the Hickman star, but on the incoming nine Randle reached all of the greens in par figures and had a 35, one under par, to beat Shelton, who had trouble putting.

The daily bag limit is 15 and the possession limit at any time is also 15. The shooting hours are from 7 a. m. to sunset. All guns must be limited to three shells and any violation of these laws carries a heavy fine.

HOGS FURNISH 8 1/2 PERCENT OF FARM CASH IN KENTUCKY

Although classed as a major farm enterprise in only a few counties of the state hogs still account for 8 1/2 percent of the total cash income of farmers in Kentucky, according to a new bulletin of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Hogs furnish 10 percent of the total income from livestock.

The cash income from hogs, the bulletin points out, does not show the full importance of hog raising in the state since a large proportion of the hogs are consumed on the farms. During the 10-year period, 1926 to 1936, the gross income from hogs in Kentucky averaged $20,954,000 while the cash income averaged only $11,038,000.

In 1870 Kentucky was one of the leading hog-raising states, raising more than 7 percent of all hogs produced in the United States. Now it raises about 2 percent of the total production. Commercial production is confined largely to the corn growing counties of Henderson, Davies, Union, Webster and McLean, the counties along the Mississippi river, and to Barren, Warren, Simpson and a few other counties.

In much of the state insufficient corn is grown to make commercial hog raising profitable. A considerable number of feeder pigs are produced in the Bluegrass region.

The bulletin, which reports a study made by C. D. Phillips of the department of markets and rural finance, deals with the regional development of hog production in Kentucky.

A committee of four representing the West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, as the local project is named, returned from Louisville early this morning bearing the news. The committee, composed of Attorney Farland Robbins, Ed C. Ray, Dr. D. W. Doran and H. B. Douthitt, presented facts and figures on progress in the local sign up to C. O. Falkenwald head of the Examining Division of REA, and his associates at the Brown Hotel at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Satisfaction was expressed with the results of the pre-allotment survey just completed, and arrangements were made to hasten construction of the lines. "All red tape is being cut," said Mr. Falkenwald, "to make it possible for you to speedily electrify your farms."

An engineering firm in Memphis is being employed by the local pro-

Applicants on these routes will sign easement forms right away, and as soon as this material can be sent to Washington for checking formal allotment will be made and contract to build the distribution system let.

"LITTLE CHANGE IN 1939 FARM PROGRAM"

The 1939 agricultural adjustment program will be similar in most respects to this year's program, according to M. D. Royse of Winchester, chairman of the Kentucky state committee, who attended the national conference on the program in Washington.

The essential points of the program as it applies to Kentucky are:

- (1) The establishment of national allotments for soil-depleting crops and a national objective for soil-building crops and practices.
- (2) The establishment of individual soil-depleting acreage allotments, for the following crops: Wheat, cotton, corn, burley tobacco, fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, and potatoes. The AAA took under advisement a proposal that special provisions be included for commercial vegetable crops.
- (3) A maximum payment to be calculated for each farm participating in the program. Payment will be made for keeping within soil-depleting acreage allotments and for attaining soil-building goals by the carrying out of soil-building practices.

(4) Crop classifications and soil-building practices similar to those approved in 1938.

(5) The provision that land used for home gardens may be excluded in determining soil-depleting crops grown on the farm. This is a new provision.

In 1939 the general soil-depleting crop goal and the individual soil-depleting crops goals for wheat, cotton, potatoes, and tobacco will be divided among states, counties and individual farms as was the case in 1938.

The wheat acreage allotment for Kentucky next year will be 337,534 acres. Wheat growers who comply with the 1939 wheat acreage allotments will qualify for advantages that other phases of the farm program offer, including 1939 conservation payments, price adjustment payments, eligibility for loans on wheat, if a wheat loan program is effect next year, and the renewal of crop insurance program policies.

In view of the current supply of cotton, the acreage allotment for cotton in 1939 will approximate the 27,000,000 acreage allotted for 1938. The acreage allotments for tobacco and other commodities for which individual acreage allotments will be made in 1939 will be determined upon the basis of the situation affecting these commodities, and can not be determined until the 1938 production is known more definitely.

The cotton, wheat and possibly payments with respect to some kinds of tobacco will be made up of two parts; first, payments from the appropriation under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, and second, a price-adjustment payment. The probable rates of payments on the 1939 allotments to farms in the program are as follows:

TOBACCO — Probably the same as the 1938 rate for most types of tobacco. (1938 rates: Burley, 1-2 cent per pound; fire-cured and dark air-cured, 1.53 cents per pound.)

COTTON — 1.8 to 2 cents per pound plus the price-adjustment payment of 1.6 to 2 cents per pound—a total of 3.6 to 4 cents per pound on the farm's normal yield per acre of cotton for each acre in the cotton allotment.

WHEAT—16 to 18 cents per bushel, plus a price-adjustment payment of 10 to 12 cents per bushel—a total of 26 to 30 cents per bushel on the farm's normal yield for each acre in the wheat allotment.

CORN in the Commercial Area—8 to 10 cents per bushel, plus a price-adjustment payment of 5 to 6 cents—a total of 13 to 16 cents per bushel on the farm's normal yield per acre of corn for each acre in the corn allotment.

POTATOES — Approximately 3 cents per bushel on the farm's normal yield per acre for each acre not in excess of the potato allotment.

General Depleting and Non-Depleting Acreage—70 cents per acre.

Vegetable, Orchard and Pasture—About the same as in 1938. (1938 rates: commercial vegetables, $1.50 per acre; commercial orchards, $2 per acre; pasture, 25 cents per acre.)

As was the case in 1938, deductions from conservation payments are to be made for planting in excess of soil-depleting acreage allotments. Payments for soil-building must be earned by carrying out soil-building practices.

In general, the soil-building practices approved for payment in 1939 will correspond to those approved in 1938, although some changes may be made to better fit the program to the local needs of the states. The carrying out of the 1939 program is contingent upon the appropriation of funds authorized for this purpose by Congress.

State Fair Offers More Entertainment

The 36th Kentucky State Fair, to be held September 12 to 17, promises to be one of the most entertaining and interesting ones ever undertaken. According to H. S. Cleveland, Manager of the Fair there will be a bigger and finer midway free attraction in front of the grandstand day and night including circus acts and racing, free dog show and the widest representation of agricultural, horticultural, poultry and livestock exhibits that the Fair has ever seen.

The Management has this year provided for a free entertainment by the nationally famous WLS Barn Dance Troupe on Sunday afternoon and night, September 11. Some of the features of this program will include such outstanding performers as Henry Burr, nationally known ballad singer, and the Maple City Four. The performance for this group will be augmented by the addition of a number of guest artists from other radio stations, all of whom will be national reputation and prominence.

Tickets of admittance at the outside gate, will admit the holder free to the barn dance performance either Sunday afternoon or Sunday night.

Johnny J. Jones and his troupe will be on the midway beginning Sunday, September 11, with new riding devices, lighting effects, stages, scenery and other equipment to give you newer and more modern midway shows than ever before.

Some of the many new attractions include Captain Von Fendrick known as the "Human Cannonball". He is shot from the mouth of a monstrous cannon for a distance of 200 feet. The Temple des Rhythms, with an all new cast of twenty Hawaiian and Cuban dancers, and musicians. The world's largest tight rope walker, Colonel Cliff Gatewood's Rodeo and a dozen more headline features.

A feature attraction has been produced for the nightly Grand Stand performance at the 1938 Kentucky State Fair. Col. Cliff Gatewood's Flying X Rodeo, one of the nation's outstanding wild west performances has been secured for this featured entertainment.

This show includes such specialty acts as Mary Graham, Champion Trick and Bronco Rider, the Roman Standing Jumping Team, whose act consists of jumping over an automobile while standing on horseback and the roping of steers from a speeding automobile.

The Management has gone to a great deal of expense to provide this outstanding exhibition for the delight and entertainment of the patrons for the Fair. It will be presented each evening in front of the Grand Stand at 7:30 P. M.

"CAPITOL" AT HICKMAN THURS. NIGHT, SEPT. 8

The popular excursion steamer "Capitol" has started on its journey to New Orleans from Saint Paul, closing the excursion season this closing the excursion season, President and Gen'l Mgr. of Streckfus Steamers, announced,—our thirty-seventh season on the Upper Mississippi River.

Night after night during the summer, the Capitol has been carrying large crowds of merry-makers on these cruises and the coming of the steamer is an occasion for dance parties to arrange a night of gay fun in its big ballroom, "air-conditioned" by Nature herself.

Captain Roy Streckfus, "skipper" of the steamer, advises that everybody wants to come to the last Party Excursion of the Year, not only residents in river cities plan to attend, but also scores from cities nearby are happily anticipating the last call of the palatial Steamer "Capitol".

We will have a real Jamboree for them aboard the "Capitol", Capt. Roy says. Pichon's Cotton Pickers, 11 Magicians of Melody, directed by Fats Waller double of New Orleans, Singer, Piano Player and Master Entertainer, will be a-broad to play for dancing, and, of course, there will be plenty to eat, all kinds of games, comfortable chairs for those who enjoy just the ride,—Music and Entertainment all the time.

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Overcoming nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you may need is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better than famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and thus help calm your shrieking nerves, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

Everybody should remember that an itching ear is just as bad as a forked tongue.

YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS

There are certain gangs of boys in Fulton who seem to have gotten out of control of their parents and the authorities, according to the reports of their vandalism. This is a problem that every community has to face. In the long run it is a matter of education and training, providing proper recreation and amusement.

But when boys reach a certain age without having had proper training, recreation facilities, and start out making trouble it is too late usually, to reach them through the ordinary methods which must be started in childhood. If they are still young enough they might be reached through the Boy Scout or Boys Club. Otherwise the only thing to do is to make an example of a few of the ringleaders to teach them some respect for law and order.

Such boys, if not curbed grow up to be criminals. In many cases they do not mean to be criminals, but get into mischief, get a kick out of the destruction of property and when they are not curbed drift into petty thievery which eventually leads to worse things.

As we have said this is a problem that faces every community and as yet Fulton has not tackled it very earnestly.

SCHOOL AGAIN

Eager-eyed school children in most of the rural schools of this section have returned to their classrooms for the 1938-39 term. They have enjoyed a glorious vacation, and returned refreshed in mind and body.

Hundreds of teachers are back on the job and will drill the youngsters in various subjects necessary to their proper education. Our best wishes are extended to these instructors who are preparing these young folks for a fuller and finer life, and may the new term be most successful.

UNCLE SAM BIGGEST REAL ESTATE DEALER

The federal government, says the United States News, is today the nation's largest single owner of homes and farms.

This is one of the fruits of the federal building and lending program. It all began in 1933. At the time, depression was at its peak and private mortgage holders were foreclosing on properties by the thousands, because the mortgagees could no longer make their payments. The government then came forward with its credit, and took over the mortgages, giving the holders bonds in their places. In most cases the principal was scaled down before the deal was made.

This work was done principally by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, which made loans to the extent of nearly $3,000,000,000. After wards, about $2,000,000,000 in loans on a similar basis were made by the Federal Credit Administration.

The government made it clear that in no instance were mortgagees to regard to loans as gifts, or as obligations which could be paid at some vague future time. Interest rates were reduced to 5 per cent and the length of time in which payment could be made lengthened—usually to 15 years, on a monthly installment basis. In 1936, largely because of the series of great droughts which seriously impaired the incomes of Middle Western farmers, the interest rate was reduced to 3 1/2 per cent by act of Congress. At the same time Congress made provision whereby borrowers, if necessary, could defer the time when they must start reducing their principal obligation.

To a large part of the borrowers these remedies proved sufficient, and they have been able to make their installments as specified. But to another part, even the easier terms were not enough. It is this fact which has put the government into the farm and home business on an unprecedented scale. And the situation has been growing worse, not better.

Between 1933 and 1936, inclusive the government foreclosed on 60,180 properties whose original loan value was $200,000,000. By the end of 1937, the number of foreclosures reached 124,803, with an original loan value of $490,000,000. And by July, 1938, inclusive, the total was 160,083 foreclosures, with an original loan value in excess of $657,000,000.

Thousands of other farm and home-owners are also behind in their loans and are in danger of foreclosure.

On the credit side of the ledger is the fact that three-quarters of the borrowers have managed to meet their contracts—and every one of them was in distress at the time the government loans were made. Also to be credited is the fact that the HOLC has never experienced a deficit and has actually earned a modest profit.

There is the lending picture as it exists today. There is a strong Congressional drive in prospect for further reducing interest rates and perhaps extending on urban homes, which in the past have been less favored than farm properties. The HOLC, whose officials are apparently trying to keep their bureau operating on a business basis oppose this, and insist that it would cause operating deficits and would not materially lower the rate of foreclosure.

MODERN DAY POLITICS

Oftentimes we, the people, talk about the good old days—such conversations being relative to many things. For the past few years such criticism has been made of the horse and buggy days. Modernism, however, it not always the progress it is sometimes proclaimed. We, the people, sometimes wonder about this sudden departure from the so-called horse and buggy.

The sudden change in political tactics is cause for some of our wonder. Formerly, the politician made rank promises as to the jobs he would create and the taxes he would reduce. They still do that today, but the modern politician has done the antique one, one better. Today, if he is an incumbent, he creates the jobs just before election and puts everybody with a job on W.P.A., provided of course, said fortunate one votes the proper way. If those who were working do not vote the proper way then the modern political way is to discharge him. No longer is a man's financial distress or his mental or physical ability indicative of his opportunity to work for State or National government. Today, the number of votes he can command is the surest indication.

If the politician is elected; i. e., whips the machine, he starts immediately to build his own. In order to do so he must bless those who supported him with jobs—political handouts. Today, we are rapidly retrograding to the favoritism idea of government where ability is not considered.

This condition is not to be blamed entirely upon the politician but more upon the American citizen. The American citizen, in modern days, has forgotten the heritage of so cherished in the horse and buggy days. If the American citizen wants to take a stitch in time to save himself from despotism it is high time he could demand only good government for his vote and not some puny government handout which is as fleeting as good government when such conditions exist.

AGRICULTURE STANDS ON ITS OWN FEET

Agricultural co-operations from almost every corner of the nation reaffirmed their faith in self-help as the dominant factor in bringing farm prosperity, at the recent annual meeting of the American Institution of Cooperation.

Scores of speakers addressed the 1,010 delegates—and practically all of them dwelt on the theme of self-sufficiency. Strong warnings against the "let the government do it" attitude were uttered. The virtues of marketing cooperation were stressed.

This speaks well for the character for American agriculture. The farmer wants a fair chance—but he doesn't want to be a ward of paternal government, as the rapid growth of the marketing co-operatives mutely testifies.

There is still a lot of fun in running a weekly newspaper—for the fellow who never had it.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The business pictures have been marred by some unfavorable factors lately, but taking it by and large, the outlook for steady, if slow improvement seems to remain good.

One of the bad elements has been the chaotic abroad. Hitler seems to be playing the old game of "Bluff Czechoslovakia" again. Foreign currencies, notably the franc and the pound have lost ground in their relation to the dollar. But most authorities regard all this as being of little importance. They think a general war is unlikely, largely due to the economic weakness of the totalitarian states, and that matters abroad will continue about as they have been during the past two or three years.

with "crises" appearing periodically, making the headlines, and dropping into obscurity.

So far as the figures are concerned, the domestic situation is good. Everything seems to be present that is needed for a stable recovery movement. The 1937 recession resulted in production falling behind consumption. Merchants large and small reduced their inventories to the minimum. Buying was on a hand-to-hand basis, both because of hard times and because of the expectation that sharp price reductions must occur. Today, with consumption of perishable goods rising, and with the government's latest emergency spending program putting a spurt of life into the long-paralyzed durable goods industries, commerce is being forced to replenish its stocks. This is proven by the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production, which made its first gain of the year in June, and which is now five or six points above that level.

Mr. Roosevelt may succeed in defeating Senators George and Tamm, and Representative O'Connor—the three Congressmen who head the Administration's "purge list." But even if he does, his troubles will not be over by any means.

That is the gist of political opinion on the President's recent tour. Reason: If these and other more or less anti-New Deal Democrats are beaten, it will be credited to White House intervention. Their thousands of followers will be bitter at the Roosevelt leadership. They will be eager to change the control of their party.

Furthermore, there is a growing feeling of restiveness among congressmen, including some of these have been 100 per cent New Deal, because of what they regard as White House dictation. The prospect is that the President will have plenty of trouble getting his legislative program through next session, irrespective of what happens in the elections.

Mid-South Fair Bigger And Better This Year

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 1—The greatest Rodeo in the history of the South will be featured at the big exposition at Memphis Sept. 12-17 according to Secretary Frank D. Fuller.

Homer Todd, rodeo expert, of Fort Smith Ark. has been in the West lining up a vast number of cowpunchers bulldozers, calf ropers and the wildest steers and horses he can locate. He states that this year's array will afford more entertainment and excitement than ever before.

Trick riders and ropers, both men and women, are coming to participate in the Rodeo which is slated every afternoon, Monday through Friday at 2:30, and each evening at 7:30 in front of the grandstand.

STRECKFUS STEAMER COMING TO HICKMAN THURSDAY, SEPT. 8

There's a "Steamboat a-comin'" —It's the popular "Steamboat" Wheeler Capitol, paying its usual late-summer visit.

It's always a grand night when the big Streckfus pleasure boat comes to town for a starlight dance cruise—a night for gaiety and romance, for dancing on broad, breeze-swept decks that laugh at the thermometer.

Capt. Roy Streckfus

The Capitol is en route to New Orleans from St. Paul, where it operates during the summer. The largest stern-wheeler on the Mississippi, it also is the most traveled member of the Streckfus fleet and Capt. Roy Streckfus and his picturesque crew are known in every port along 2,000 miles of riverways.

It takes a crew of 75 to operate the Capitol and the steamer is home to them virtually throughout the year. Traveling between towns by day, the Capitol carries an excursion crowd almost every night. Its coal supply is taken on between these starlight outings, 15 to 20 tons being consumed every day and 125 tons being carried regularly in its bulk.

The brilliantly lighted steamer may be seen cruising down the river long before the lifting time of its calliope is heard, for the Capitol has an electrical plant of sufficient capacity to supply the needs of a good-sized town, and thousands of gaily-colored lights that lend a carnival atmosphere to the steamer.

Riverboat dance devotees like the Capitol not only for its large and attractive ballroom, but for the dance rhythm its famous band brings to town. This season Pichon's "Cotton Pickers," featuring the latest thing in "swing," have proved a popular attraction on the boat. Directed by Walter "Fats" Pichon (Fats Waller's Double of New Orleans), singer, piano player and master entertainer, they are a whole show in themselves. Recruited from the night clubs and cabarets of Dixie, these versatile colored entertainers offer a well-balanced program of "hot" numbers for "trunkin'" and "The Big Apple," and those melodious plantation-type tunes so popular with those who like to wait.

Ringling Bros. Circus, and a great array of sensational juvenile performers including Dan Stewart, Pat Clary and Shirley Adams, will also perform here during the Rodeo.

Another feature will be the return of Black Fox, the horse with the human mind, which made such a hit with Fair visitors last fall. Black Fox is almost human and amazed the thousands who witnessed his act last year. He is coming back and will perform during the Rodeo twice daily.

On Saturday, the final day of the Fair, daredevil automobile racers will compete for gold and glory. Leading dirt track stars from all over the nation are coming here to go after new track marks.

Every indication points toward the biggest Rodeo and most thrilling auto races ever staged in the history of the Fair. Many Mid-South people are coming, and the outlook is for a record-breaking attendance.

DIVIDE DEMOCRATS AIM OF COMMUNISTS

Dr. J. B. Matthews, writer and lecturer, and a witness before the House of Un-Americanism investigating committee, said Monday that Communists were trying to destroy the Democratic party as a step toward a "Soviet America."

He told the committee it was the "deliberate aim" of Communists to "disintegrate the Democratic party by driving a wedge between its so-called 'liberal wing' and it so called 'conservative wing'."

"You can preach a better sermon with your life than with your lips."

Taxes—The Public's Biggest Bill

By RAYMOND FITCAIRN

Although the next session of Congress is still months in the future, certain Senators and Representatives are already discussing methods of collecting a larger federal income.

Opinions differ as to how the money shall be raised. Some members foresee heavier direct tax burdens laid on the shoulders of a larger number of citizens. Others look to greater yields, at current rates—dependent, of course, on hoped-for improvement in business conditions.

A few propose meeting the problem by curtailing government expenditures.

The American public would undoubtedly favor the plans of the last group. That is because the people realize from experience that all taxes, whether federal, state or local, ultimately come out of their earnings and savings; ultimately raise their living costs; ultimately shrink the value of their wages and the contents of their family market baskets.

They realize, too, that under these circumstances, heavy taxes constitute the biggest bill which the people, as a whole, are called upon to pay.

Many significant issues will confront the American people at the polling places this year. But of these none is more important to more workers and earners than that now being raised by members of Congress themselves—the problem of heavy taxes and their effect on the family pocket-book, on recovery and on re-employment.

And no candidate, regardless of party, could run on a platform more significant to the average American family than one which promised curtailment of waste of public funds supplied by the people through the sacrifices that heavy taxes entail.

For the people, as well as the candidates, know that high taxes and high cost of living are inseparable twins. And they want both held down to reasonable proportions.

TRADE OUTLOOK CONTINUES OPTIMISTIC

While the current week developed manifestations of the continued slow movement of recovery forces, there was evidences of a slowing down of trade, both retail and wholesale. This reduced tempo, as reported in business surveys to the Department of Commerce from 35 key cities throughout the country, just received by its Louisville District Office, apparently

Trade Optimistic Over Prospect For Autumn

The advance of the recovery movement throughout the country was quickened somewhat during the week reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities just received by its Louisville District Office, indicated. For one thing more favorable weather and the approach of school days helped retail trade to such an extent that losses from last year's business were narrowed considerably while actual increases were revealed in several areas. Wholesale markets were more moderately active, but the aggregate amount of business placed was limited. Considerable interest was shown in Fall lines, but buyers were inclined to await a better demand for retail sources. Caution continued to be the watchword, although the trade was reported as being optimistic over prospects of a good Autumn season. Capital equipment markets continued to open up slowly.

Important indices lent strength to the belief that the present recovery movement is fairly deep-rooted. The most impressive of these statistical exhibits was the study made public by the Department of Commerce showing that in July, for the first time in nearly a year, the seasonally adjusted monthly index of income payments in the United States showed an increase over the preceding month.

Additional damage to crops reported from some sections due to more rain during past week. Spread of wildfire scald and other diseases of the tobacco crop has been checked somewhat.

World-Wide Tobacco And Commerce News

Australia's imports of leaf tobacco during the calendar year 1937 are placed at 21,060,324 pounds as compared with 22,086,288 during the calendar year 1936.

In 1937 the United States applied Australia with 20,564,400 pounds of unmanufactured tobacco which volume represented 97.65 per cent of leaf imports from all sources.

The export tobacco trade of Australia, although comparatively small, enjoys a wide distribution throughout the Pacific Islands. New Zealand ranks first as an importer of Australian tobacco manufactures.

Substantial gains in Greek exports of tobacco were recorded in the period from January 1 to April 30, as against a year earlier.

Leaf tobacco was one of Bulgaria's principal export items in the year 1937, shipments totaling 22,098 tons valued at 1,609,721,000 leva.

Japan led as an outlet for iron and steel shipments from the United States in June its trade totaling 36,286 tons.

Philippine gold production again set a new high record in June when the output was valued at $2,796,000.

Imports of passenger cars into Cuba during June numbered 53 units, recording considerable declines compared with the 178 units imported during the preceding month and 282 units during June 1937.

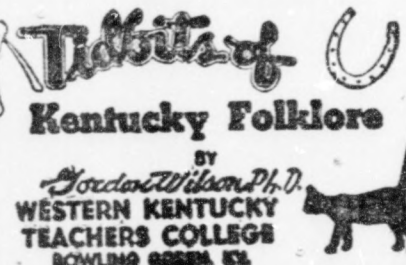

According to the terms of a decree recently promulgated in Chile wheat may only be imported into that country with the authorization of the Chilean Agricultural Board.

Exports of eggs from Denmark to Great Britain during 1937, amounting to 135,000,000 dozens valued at approximately $28,000,000 accounted for 40 per cent of British imports of this commodity compared to 32 per cent during the previous year.

FENCES

To the folklorist fences are keys to cultural and historical periods quite as much as furniture and clothes. Some of my generation have seen all kinds of fences that are possible, each one belonging to a definite age or section. Clearing in the woods sometimes had only fallen trees and tree lops for fences. This most primitive fence was succeeded for a long time by the most picturesque of them all the rail fence laid worm fashion. As long as timber was plentiful everywhere, this was regarded as the normal fence, as much a matter of course as log-rollings and barn-raising. A well-built rail fence lasted a good lifetime and some times longer, depending pretty largely on the kind of timber used. In sections where cedar rails were possible, it seems that time itself is hardly to be considered in the life of a fence. Some old cedar fences built with slave labor long before the Civil War have lasted down into our time, as good as new.

When timber became less common, all sorts of devices were developed to fence farms. The hedge, always a doubtful, though picturesque, fence, developed in many places and is nearly impossible to destroy. Post-and-rail fences gave stability without using so much wood but lasted only a brief time before being replaced by palings, which in turn gave way to woven-wire fences of various kinds. I have had a part in building fences of all these kinds from brush to woven-wire, and have thus seen the evolution of the fence from the beginning.

In the limestone sections of Kentucky stone fences date back to early days. I know one place where a single farm has more than five miles of stone fences, all built by the same Negro. On another farm a Negro hired hand spent all the winter months blasting out surface rocks and building stone fences for more than thirty years. Many of his fences have long been a part of foundations of houses in my home town and its suburbs. Stone fences really have the palm for fences that last and that become a part of the landscape. Some have so completely taken on the appearance of ledges that children or visitors to this area might regard them as natural outcroppings. There is nothing more poetical than an old fence overgrown with vines and mosses.

Fences in other parts of the world have their own distinctiveness such as the stump fence in the area where the huge pine woods once stood. Long-settled areas in the Old World have had for ages mere banks and ditches, a system that may, conceivably, be known here if wood continues to decrease. Rather oddly, though, fences are not so necessary as formerly because of the stock laws; and it is possible that they will sometime be regarded as expensive luxuries except for actual pastures. Meanwhile representatives of all the various types can be found in the average country, each one a monument to certain times in the history of settling and developing the country.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?

Poise and posture stand for health or disease. Indigestion, colds, tuberculosis, melancholia and many other diseases, according to latest authorities, may be traced to bad posture, both in sitting and standing. This leads to distortion of the spine.

Few people know how to sit. They sit on the end of their spinal column in a slouchy way instead of placing their weight on the fleshy part of their thighs. Sit, stand and walk erect to promote good health.
