I read with avid interest many stories and articles which are written by various writers who now live in England. Some are magazine writers, some are columnists, some are working newspaper men, and between them I get a good picture of how life goes on in the British Isles. All my life I have had much interest in England; this interest is probably caused by early reading of the books of Charles Dickens and Thomas Hardy, and no doubt my ideas of England are all formed by the impressions I secured in reading those books. For London itself I have only moderate interest, although it, too, forms part of my ideas of Old England. I am more interested however, in other sections of the British Isles, particularly rural England, or the smaller towns of the island, in which I became interested while reading Hardy. I wonder many times how Casterbridge is faring, that being the scene of one of Hardy's best books, "The Mayor of Casterbridge," but I have never seen it mentioned in the war news.

The other day, however, I read a story written by Ernie Pyle, who sends his stuff across the seas by wireless, and who generally manages to make an interesting yarn about whatever he sees. Pyle, for some reason, took a trip to York, an English city of almost 100,000 population, and a place which has hardly been touched by the German air attack. York is 160 miles away from London, north, and Pyle said that it seemed strange that a seat was difficult to secure on the train. It was filled with soldiers, and every soldier in England carries his rifle and full equipment at all times. There is no such thing as leave for soldiers these days. While they may be allowed to go home for a few days, they must carry full equipment at all times, and if anything comes up they are under orders to report to the nearest army unit and begin shooting.

Arriving in York, Pyle said that he found difficulty in finding a hotel room. All hotels in the city were jammed and after hours of telephoning by a girl at a switchboard a room was located in what Pyle describes as a "funny little semi-hotel which turned out to be grand." Pyle goes on:

"The owner of the funny little hotel was also the bellboy, and he built a fire for me in the grate of my room, put a hot water bottle in the bed and then stood and talked to me for a good half-hour. Until nearly midnight I sat before the fire and read the newspapers. I felt strange, way up here in York. The city, covered in snow, seemed terribly old and nice in a Dickens-like way. Although it was February, you somehow expected to see Santa Claus come down the chimney at almost any moment.

"Probably I would not have slept a wink if it had not been for the bathroom. I discovered it after midnight, when everybody else had gone to bed. The bathroom was 20 feet square and it had twin bathtubs. Yes, sir, two big old fashioned bathtubs standing side by side, with nothing between them, just like twin beds. Twin bathtubs had never occurred to me. But having actually seen them, my astonishment grew into approval. I said to myself, why not? Think what you could do with two bathtubs. You could give a party. You could invite the Lord Mayor in for tea and a tub. You could have a national slogan, 'two tubs in every bathroom.' The possibilities of twin bathtubs assumed great proportions in my disturbed mind and I fell asleep on the idea, all fears forgotten."

York, Mr. Pyle says, has suffered very little during the air attack. There have been a few raids but relatively little damage and few people killed. The city goes along its placid way as it has for centuries, with the war passing it by.

British To Win
With U. S. Aid,
Hopkins SaysRoosevelt's Envoy
Returns From London

New York.—Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal envoy, returned from London Sunday convinced that the British "will win the war" with the help of the United States.

"I don't think Hitler can lick those people," he said, as he stepped out of the Yankee Clipper. "They're as tough a crowd as there is. With our help they'll win."

"Will they get that help?" Hopkins was asked.

"Yes," he said.

Expects No Stalemate

In his briefcase was confidential data gathered during a first-hand survey of Britain's war effort—in information he said he would hand over to President Roosevelt in Washington Sunday night.

"This war will not be a stale-mated war," he added. "My opinions are based on observations I made during four weeks in England and Scotland. I saw their military and naval strength. I watched their preparations for the air raids from the hotel and homes I visited. They're tough, these English."

He said they were "desperately in need of help."

"We won't have to give them soldiers," he added. "My opinions are based on observations I made during four weeks in England and Scotland. I saw their military and naval strength. I watched their preparations for the air raids from the hotel and homes I visited. They're tough, these English."

He declined to discuss provisions of the British aid bill pending in the Senate, nor would he comment on the extent of the "financial help" he said England needed.

He left shortly after the Clipper landed for a conference in Manhattan with John G. Winant, new Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

During the conference, which lasted several hours, Hopkins talked by long-distance phone with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Then he left for Washington by train.

Confederate Veteran Thinks
Boys Made Quite Good Soldiers

Paducah, Ky.—A Confederate cavalryman who will observe his 95th birthday Sunday is convinced that the 16-year-olds who carried rifles for the South were as good as a grown-up soldier then or now.

He is B. D. Stallings, who at 16 volunteered for the Ninth Tennessee Regiment of Gen. Nathan B. Forrest's cavalry corps and saw action at Shiloh.

Stallings is one of Paducah's last two remaining Civil War veterans.

Stallings said the Southern youngsters had an edge on the Yankees because all of them grew up in a saddle with a gun. When

South Fulton
Defeats Tornado
To Win Tourney

South Fulton's Red Devils swamped Union City, 42-22, in the finals of the Obion county tournament Saturday night at Obion to annex the county championship. Harwood, high scoring ace of the county, was credited with 24 of South Fulton's markers.

In the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, South Fulton eliminated Rives, 31-22. The game was close during the first half, but South Fulton then took a commanding lead and outplayed Rives during the remainder of the game. Harwood and House were the high scorers with 11 and 8 points each. The Dixie girls team turned back Rives 41-38 in the finals.

Lineup: Finals—
S. Fulton (42) Pos. U. City (22)
McKinney, 8 F. J. McAdoo, 3
House, 6 F. Kemp, 6
McConnell, 1 C. Howard, 2

Harwood, 11 G. Phillips

Substitutions: South Fulton—Wall, Coffman, Dyer, Brundige, Yates; Rives—Shore, 2, Orton.

Harwood Named Best Player

Paul Harwood was named the most outstanding player in the tournament and was also chosen as captain of the All-Star team. South Fulton had two other players named on the All-Star team. James McKinney and John McConnell both were given berths on the team.

To Compete in District Tourney

Coach Haynes' Red Devils will participate in the District tournament to be held at Union City beginning Tuesday, February 18. South Fulton plays Troy Thursday. The District is composed of practically the same teams as the county and South Fulton is favored to win this meet also. The schedule of the tournament will appear in tomorrow's paper.

22 Bodies Found
After 3 Rail Cars
Topple In River

San Sebastian, Spain.—Three coaches of an electric train running between Bilbao and San Sebastian toppled from a bridge into the Urola River during a storm Saturday night and it was reported that twenty-two bodies had been recovered.

A power failure stalled the train on the bridge and the three coaches, buffeted by a wind of near hurricane force, rolled over.

The cars were still partly under water and had not been fully searched.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Little returned to their homes in Fulton last night from a motor trip to Florida.

Senators Would Require That British Make Public Terms Of Peace

Washington.—Senate opponents of the administration's British aid bill were reported today to be drafting an amendment which would require Britain to state her "peace terms" before receiving any assistance from the United States under the proposed lend-lease program.

The opposition group, led by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), was said to be in general agreement on the idea that Britain should say what sort of peace she would make if, with American help, she defeated the axis powers.

The provision as tentatively drawn would call on the State Department to ascertain Britain's peace terms before any American-made war equipment could be released to her.

The amendment was one of about

Cars Collide
Saturday Afternoon

Eight persons were injured, although none seriously, when the car driven by Mrs. Guy Gingles and a pick-up truck driven by Leon Carter of Dukedom, Tenn., collided at the corner of Norman and Walnut Saturday afternoon about 2:30.

In the car with Mrs. Gingles were Mrs. Roscoe Wilkins, who received bad bruises, and the Gingles' cook, who was also injured. Mrs. Gingles suffered an injured chest and was lacerated about the face. They were treated at the Fulton hospital.

Canter was painfully cut about the head and is necessary to take 18 stitches in his forehead. He was treated at the Fulton hospital.

The other occupants of the truck were John Crittenden and son, Delbert, J. T. Rushing and Will Rhodes, all of Dukedom. They were badly bruised and cut and were brought to the Haws-Weaver clinic for treatment.

Canter was arrested for reckless driving by local officers and Judge Adams placed him under $250.00 bond to appear on February 25th for trial in Fulton Police Court.

The truck was practically demolished in the accident and the Gingles car was badly damaged.

Bomber For Britain
Flies Non-Stop
Across U. S.

New York.—Averaging 270 miles an hour without being "pushed," the first of twenty-six four-motored bombers being built for Great Britain by Consolidated Aircraft Corporation landed Sunday at LaGuardia Field after a non-stop flight from San Diego, Calif.

It was reported unofficially at the field that the camouflaged ship, bearing the R. A. F. insignia, would leave within forty-eight hours for a direct flight to England, which if made would be the first of its kind from New York by a bomber.

The twenty-ton, high-winged monoplane, built from a new design, can carry four tons of explosives from England to almost any sector of belligerent Europe and return non-stop, its builders have asserted.

Uruguay Sends
Missions To U. S.
To Purchase Arms

Montevideo.—The Uruguayan Government designated two missions Sunday to go to the United States to buy arms and airplanes and a third was said to be planned to purchase small warships and minelayers for coastal defense.

This was Uruguay's first move toward defense since an internal dispute several months ago over the issue of co-operation with the United States in establishment of hemisphere defense bases.

Firm Claims That It Bought
Wind Instead Of Good Cattle

St. Paul.—Some tall tales have been told about prairie country winds, but listen to this one:

Representative L. Lenerts introduced a bill in the Legislature to reimburse the Farmers Union Livestock Company for $245.38 which the company claims it lost because wind increased the weight of livestock it bought.

The wind during last Armistice Day's storm, it was explained,

Priority Rating
Of Defense
Work SlatedArmy, Navy Reaches Agreement With Board

Washington.—A working arrangement has been reached between the army and navy and the Office of Production Management, it was announced Sunday, designed to speed deliveries of defense orders through the priority system and balance civilian needs with the armament program.

The Army and Navy Munitions Board will determine priority ratings on the nearly 500 items on its "critical list." For instance, it might determine whether an airplane manufacturer or tank plant should have first call on certain machines tools.

Stettinius Explains Plan

The priorities divisions of the O. P. M. will have authority over preference ratings for all raw materials and over the general field of commercial and civilian needs.

E. R. Stettinius, Jr., priorities director of the O. P. M., said that although the system was intended primarily to aid the purchase and production of defense materials, "certain important civilian projects and foreign orders may be given priority aid, where speed is essential, and civilian needs will have to be carefully balanced with defense needs at all times."

Installment
Plan Adopted
By Airlines

Chicago.—Air travel on a monthly installment paying plan will be inaugurated on March 1 by seven leading airlines, the Air Traffic Conference of America announced Sunday.

The plan, similar to one used for nearly a year by many railroads, applies to fares of $50 or more. No collateral or down payment is required, with the cost spread over several months.

"The airlines in adopting this plan are convinced it will enable them to tap an enormous new market," the announcement said. "A recent survey showed that 63 per cent of the persons who have availed themselves of the opportunity to purchase railroad transportation on the installment plan would have stayed at home had the plan not been available."

Applications for travel credit may be made at any airline ticket office or travel bureau. A service charge for such accommodations is made.

Forrest Ladd Takes Bride In Church Ceremony Sunday, February 16th.

Witnessed by a large assemblage of friends, the marriage of Miss Virginia Worshum and Forrest Ladd, both of Memphis, Tenn., was publicly solemnized last evening at half after six o'clock in the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Fulton with the groom's father, Rev. E. R. Ladd, pastor of the church, performing the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated and the altar, before which the vows were exchanged, was lovely. Ferns and greenery formed the background, interspersed with candelabra. Tall baskets of pink gladioli were also used in forming an attractive setting.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. G. G. Bard, pianist, played "Liebestraum" by Liszt and Mrs. Charles Gregory, soprano, sang "O Promise Me," by DeKoven. J. Hengrin's Wedding March was used for the processional and during the ceremony Mrs. Bard softly played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "Melody of Love." For the recessional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used.

The bride, who entered the church with her matron of honor and only attendant, Mrs. Lawrence P. Cockrill of Memphis, Tenn., wore an outfit of light blue and her flowers were white orchids. Mrs. Cockrill wore purple and carried a bouquet of yellow orchids. Mr. Lawrence P. Cockrill attended the groom.

After the wedding, the couple left Fulton immediately for Memphis where they will make their home at the Claridge Hotel.

Out-of-town people attending the wedding were Misses Jane and Ann Bray, Miss Virginia Stroder, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Levy, Mrs. Lucy Moore, Chauncey Barbour, Tillman Taylor, Pete Smith, Fred Goldsmith, Jr., and Jim Davis, all of Memphis; Tom Winsett of McKenzie, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Houston, Miss Martha James Houston and Miss Inez Abernathy, all of Paducah.

Mrs. Ladd is the daughter of H. W. Worshum of Ozark, Mo., and was educated in Oklahoma and Arkansas. She has been in Memphis for the past three years and has been employed with the Chicago & Southern Air Line's downtown Memphis office at the Peabody.

Mr. Ladd attended high school at Tullahoma, Tenn., later at tending Bethel College at McKenzie and was graduated from Western State Teachers College at Bowling Green. He is now maître d'hotel at the Claridge and is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Memphis.

LIBERTY W. M. U. IN REGULAR MEETING

The regular monthly program meeting of the W. M. U. of Liberty was held last week at the church with eleven members and one visitor, Mrs. Conley, present.

The meeting was opened with the hymn for the year, "Jesus Saves," and followed with the usual routine of business, conducted by the president, Mrs. Carl Wade. The devotionals, taken from Psalm 34: 1-10, was given by Mrs. Knox Cooper, after which Mrs. L. M. Bratcher led a prayer. The program, "Urgent Gospel," conducted by Mrs. Frank Key, assisted by Mrs. Mary Bondurant, Mrs. Fred Bondurant, Mrs. Edwin Hardy and Mrs. L. M. Bratcher, was very interesting. A part of the study course book, "The Trail of Seed," was reviewed by Mrs. Fred Bondurant.

The meeting was then dismissed with prayer.

BARNES ENTERTAIN AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Barnes were hostess to a well-planned birthday dinner yesterday at their home on Bates street, celebrating the birthday of Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. E. B. Newton.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Newton and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Barnes and children, Al Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Paschall and son, Miss Virginia Hale, Miss Faira Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family.

The afternoon was spent informally and at a late hour the guests departed, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Barnes for their charming hospitality.

UNION ALUMNI WILL HAVE MEETING HERE

The Union University Alumni of Northwest Tennessee and Southwest Kentucky will meet at the First Baptist church in Fulton next Monday evening, February 17, from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Alumni Secretary Russell Reed, and Dean S. S. Sargent will be present and Dean Sargent will address the group.

It will be necessary to elect a new president to succeed the Rev. Woodrow Fuller, who recently moved to Corbin, Kentucky. Every former student of the University is cordially invited to be present. The meeting will be informal.

LOTTIE MOON CIRCLE MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Lottie Moon Circle of the First Baptist W. M. U. will have its meeting tomorrow night, February 18, instead of tonight. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Johnny Owen, 504 Park Avenue, and Mrs. Russell Rudd will be assistant hostess.

RUTH ALLEN CLASS WILL MEET TUESDAY

The Ruth Allen Sunday School class of the Baptist church will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. J. W. Elledge at her home, 431 Fourth street. The president of the class urges that all members be present.

MRS. J. L. HORNBEAK DELIGHTFULLY SURPRISED

Mrs. J. L. Hornbeak, who celebrated her birthday yesterday, February 16, was delightfully surprised when her children and grandchildren gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Hornbeak on the Union City highway, for a dinner.

All of Mrs. Hornbeak's children were present and all of her grandchildren except two were present. Children were Mrs. Stella Yates, Mrs. C. E. Bushart, Mrs. Elizabeth Milner, Alf and Paul Hornbeak. Grandchildren attending were Lawson Yates of Nashville, Charles, Harry, and James Bushart, all of Fulton. Miss Evelyn Hornbeak and James Milner were the two grandchildren unable to be present.

FRED WINTER IS HOST TO DINNER

Celebrating his fifteenth birthday, Fred Winter was host to five of his friends at a chicken dinner yesterday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winter, Sr., Fairview.

Two small tables were arranged in the living room for the meal and places were marked with comic Valentines. For dessert the birthday cake, topped with a red heart and burning candles, was served with home-made ice cream.

Fred's guests were Wallace McCollum, Jack Moore, Glenn Crawford, Don Sensing and Buddy Steele.

Sensational New York Pros Feature Of Heavy Schedule On Tap For The Union University

As always, the Celtic game will attract more attention than any other one game. Science Hall should be packed and jammed for this event.

The Celtic coming in for the loudest praise this year is the spark of the team, Bobby McDermott. Fulton fans will be awed by the smooth playing of the star, who is being hailed far and wide as the greatest basketball player in the world. He is not only an amazing shooter from mid-court but is possessed with exceptional speed and can flick crisp shots, after taking bullet passes, without so much as slackening his speed or batting an eye-lash.

To Meany, famous sports editor and an authority on the court game, has declared that McDermott is the best cagster alive today. Supporting his opinion is Paul Mooney, Columbia University coach who says, "McDermott has the best hook shot underneath since Hobby Fyfe came out of Hoboken 25 years ago."

Davey Banks is the gentleman who lends color in every fray. Banks is just a little fellow with an eagle-eye for the hoop, but when he goes into his clowning act there is nothing else to do but watch him. He is the oldest member in the service, acts as captain and is always doing the unpredictable.

Teamed with McDermott and Banks are Nat Hickey, Pat Herlihy, and Paul Birch, forming the world's greatest basketball show.

The preliminary game will start at 7:00 p. m., and the Celtics game at 8:00 p. m., tonight at the Science Hall.

Japan Admits Tension Increasing

Japan admitted Friday that "the Far Eastern situation is becoming more difficult" but the atmosphere cleared a little as purveyors of Thursday's alarming statements took a calmer outlook.

But the situation still was grave after a day which brought these developments:

1. The Australian Government announced after a grave War Council meeting that the Commonwealth and her people "can and will face any crisis calmly and with deliberate purpose."

2. Mutual expressions of concern over strained American-Japanese relations marked the cere-

Great Cage Star To Play Here

Bobby McDermott, the eagle eyed forward, considered the greatest basketball player living today, and among the immortals of the game, is one of the sensational players who will show basketball fans how the great ones do it, when the New York Celtics meet the Union University Bulldogs at the Science Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Preliminary game starts at 7 o'clock.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

As the year 1941 opens, activities in those industries most closely associated with the efforts to prepare for our national defense, and to supply the military necessities of the British, are moving at almost war-time tempo. Operating on a backlog of orders estimated at $3,500,000,000, the aircraft industry has within 12 months doubled its capacity and is expecting to double its production in 1941.

Machine-tool production in 1940 was estimated at $400,000,000, and the figure is expected to climb another $200,000,000 in 1941.

All shipbuilding yards of any size are operating at capacity and many are expanding their facilities. The expansion in this industry, however, has been less an overnight development than that of aircraft and machine tools.

Some of the questions which cannot be answered at the moment are: How can we train enough skilled workmen to turn out the planes that we are going to need in the next few months? Is our plant capacity adequate to the burden that the arms program will place upon it in a year or two? Have we sufficient power resources?

These are but a few questions which must be answered in 1941. It would seem, however, that much depends upon the methods used to quickly train men for exacting tasks. It takes time to train an unskilled man, but in this national emergency there can be found many men who already have some measure of skill. Today most attention is focused on them. There are rare opportunities for these men if they will make use of the facilities available for acquiring the needed training. They can put our national defense program ahead, but to do this means hard work and country-wide sacrifice.

Boy Meets Girl At College Party, But She's Teacher

Waco, Texas. — You can't really blame Slim Boston, of Memphis, Tenn., for wanting to get acquainted with the pretty girl standing by the punch bowl. After all, it was the annual Baylor University reception to help the freshmen feel at home in a strange town.

"Slim Boston's my name," he told the petite miss, flashing a friendly smile.

"Christine Fall," she smiled back. "I'm glad to meet you, Christine," said the young man. "I hope I meet you again some time."

He will all right. She was Dr. Christine Fall, one of the Baylor English Department's five Ph. D. professors.

65 Billion Limit On Debt O. K'd By Senators

Washington. — The Senate Fin-sony in which Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, new Japanese Ambassador, presented his credentials to President Roosevelt at the White House.

3. A Tokyo radio broadcast by Domei Wireless quoted the Jingoistic newspaper Kokumin as describing Nomura's task as "hopeless" and saying he would have done better not to have gone. "In fact, relations are almost on the brink of rupture," the newspaper was quoted. It interpreted United States activity in the Pacific as approaching a state of war.

4. Deepening shadows of a possible new crisis in Europe and Asia led to a proposal in the U. S. Senate for an extraordinary closed session to hear confidential diplomatic reports on world conditions.

5. The House Naval Affairs Committee moved to obtain more information on the reasons behind the Navy's program for reinforcing defense outposts in the Pacific, especially the plans for a new air base in Samoa in the Southwest Pacific.

VALUE OF AN INDUSTRY

You may be surprised at what it means to a community to have an industry that employs 150 persons—

A plant investment of at least $100,000 . . . annual payroll of $200,000; support of 1,000 people; support of one dozen stores; a 10-room schoolhouse; $60,000 annually for transportation; a new market for the farm products from 8,000 acres of land; an annual expenditure in trade of at least $1,000,000; an increased taxable valuation of at least $1,000,000.

Multiply these benefits 100 times, and you have an idea of what Kentucky's brewing industry—which employs 15,000 persons—means to this state.

The purpose of the Kentucky Brewers & Beer Distributors Committee is to help preserve beer's benefits for Kentuckians, by cooperating with law enforcement authorities to keep beer retailing as wholesome as the beverage itself.
