No Need For Waiting

As this section of the News goes to press (Tuesday evening) final election returns have just reached the office. The callers, markers and commissioners have worked hard to make an accurate count.

The election was held on Saturday, you know, and the polls closed at four o'clock on that day. Yet on Tuesday evening late thousands of voters were not aware of the final and complete tabulation.

All around us, in Hickman County, Obion County, Graves County and other counties, a final vote was known at approximately noon on Monday. In Graves County, with nearly 13,000 votes cast, the counting was complete on Monday night.

We sat in on nearly every vote counted at Hickman. It was a back-breaking job for the commissioners and equally trying on the anxious candidates and their supporters. The law says that no ballot box shall be opened after twelve o'clock. It says too, that sufficient help should be hired to count the votes, with the county standing the expense.

There was no earthly reason, as far as we can see, why three or four groups of tallers and counters could not be hired. The expense of keeping one crew for two or three days, would not have been any greater than keeping three or four crews for one day.

Candidates put in hard and long hours campaigning. By election time their minds and bodies are witnessing great fatigue; it seems an unnecessary and added hardship to prolong the anxiety as was done in this election.

Next year this county will vote for a United States Senator and Congressman. Already interest is being manifest in the election. By election time the enthusiasm will know no bounds. The entire State will be looking for a trend in the late hours of the counting. We think that we can say without fear of contradiction that the majority of the county would want complete returns submitted as early as do the other counties.

Elections of the nature just completed happen once every four years. We can understand how lots of people enjoy the excitement of vote-counting, congregating and sweating. But the number who enjoy that pastime are far in the minority to the folks who want to know what the score is so they can get started on another project.

That's where we come in.

Kentucky Fescue Brings Wealth

The now-famous grass discovery of a Kentucky mountain farmer has brought new wealth to those struggling to make a living in the poor grazing areas of the state.

Discovered by the late William M. Suiter, has proved itself capable of carrying a cow to the acre on cheap land which hardly provided a living before.

This is the report given in the August issue of Country Gentlemen by Howard Bloomfield, a well-known writer who was assigned to take a second look at the famous grass experiment and check its accomplishments of two years against its original claims.

Bloomfield found that fescue 31 thrives on poor soil, does well in droughts and stays green all year. Describing a trip he made into eastern Clark County with William C. Templeton, Jr., associate state agronomist, Bloomfield said he saw millions of pounds of beef and gallons of milk coming off cheap land. It was not unusual, Bloomfield reported to see a farm of 200 green acres of fescue, entirely surrounded by a completely brown landscape.

The practical side has also brightened. Kentucky 31 fescue seed can now be had from most Kentucky seed dealers for from 35 to 75 cents a pound, depending on quality. The 1948 seed crop in the state was between two and a half and three million pounds, according to B. W. Fertenberry, manager of the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association at Lexington. In 1947—just two years ago—Kentucky 31 seed was so scarce it sold for up to $3.00 a pound, and the year before there just wasn't any.

The National Foundation Helps

1. At the first sign of illness, call your own doctor. If he suspects polio he will report the case to the local Health Department and arrange for hospitalization or home care, as indicated. The National Foundation does not select physicians or hospitals. This is a family matter. If you have no family physician, call your City or County Medical Society, your Board of Health or the nearest hospital.

2. If your doctor says it is polio and requires hospitalization, the local Chapter of the National Foundation will help arrange for transportation to a treatment center. As soon as the patient goes to the hospital—or if your doctor advises the patient can be treated at home—get in touch with your Chapter of the National Foundation to arrange for any needed assistance.

3. The Chapter representative will notify the hospital that it is arranging with you for full or partial payment of expenses for medical care. Adults are as eligible for help as are children. Discuss with your Chapter how much of the full bill the Chapter will pay.

4. Chapters pay for hospitalization, professional services including nursing and physical therapy, transportation to and from hospitals, convalescent centers and clinics, treatment after hospitalization and appliances such as wheelchairs, braces, etc., as needed. There are no hard and fast rules. Each case is decided upon individual medical and financial needs. Assistance is given regardless of age, race, creed or color. More than 110,000 polio patients were directly assisted in full or in part up to the end of 1948.

5. In addition, your Chapter can put you in touch with proper sources for nursing and physical therapy at home, can refer you to rehabilitation and vocational training agencies, will provide literature designed to foster better understanding of infantile paralysis—so you will know what to expect and how to help your polio patient back to a useful life.

Short Cut To Education

The two-year community college, growing in popularity year by year, may soon prove the short cut to higher education.

A group of educators representing colleges all over America met recently to solve some of the problems which they said were common to educators the nation over, and that was one of the trends they saw.

The occasion was the sixth annual Institute on Higher Education at Scarritt College, an institution for Christian Workers. Although a Methodist-supported institution, it invited authorities from private or state-supported institutions to the conference.

California's experiments with the two-year community college have proved one of the most successful trends in modern education. Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of the College of the Pacific, Stockton, Calif., said.

Sixty such institutions are now in existence in California, and an estimated 100 will be organized before long, he said.

"Present indications are that, by 1960, college enrollments will have doubled," Dr. Burns said. "If this proves to be true, obviously a great extension of educational facilities by either private or public institutions is called for."

He said that since these two-year schools are making great inroads on the lower grades of established institutions, his College of the Pacific has taken the lead in abolishing freshman and sophomore years.

One result of this setup will be that the student must make his real decision about furthering his education at the junior college rather than the high school level, when he is more conditioned to make a decision.

Democracy's Oxygen

Visiting German students, after a year in American schools, said that democracy was something they could not study but that they could feel it.

Our democracy was probably like fresh air to them. The exhilaration and pleasure of "living in it" was like the life-giving effect of oxygen in the air we breathe. The things that give life to our democracy are our free institutions and an opportunity to live a life unmolested by powers beyond our control.

Some of the elements that caused the German students to "feel" our democracy are a Constitution to protect the rights of individuals, legislative bodies to form the laws, a judiciary system to interpret the laws, and last but not least, private enterprise as the tangible evidence of the freedom enjoyed by our citizens.

Turning Back The Clock

September 5, 1890

The court is experiencing considerable trouble in securing a jury, which was begun at Clinton last Tuesday. A special venire was summoned from Carlisle county yesterday, from which the jury will be selected.

NOTICE: Strayed, between Aug. 1 and 10 from the undersigned citizen, five miles west of Fulton, Ky., one yellow steer, with a white stripe on his back, white in his forehead, white in flanks; short thick shoulders, short horns and neck, and will weigh about 1,000 pounds. A reward will be given to the finder.—M. PEWITT

HON. W. J. STONE, ... Places himself in no uncertain position before the people.—Some little anxiety has been felt upon the part of Mr. Stone's friends in reference to his position on the Sub-treasury bill, and other questions agitating the minds of the people at present, but the following is so plain that the man who runs may read and understand.

The Committee's Letter.
Mayfield, Ky., Aug. 18, 1890
Hon. W. J. Stone, Washington, D. C.

We of the First District are now very much interested in the candidate who will be before the people, and as you are in the race we want to have a positive expression from you, nothing evasive or indefinite will satisfy.

First—Do you endorse the demands made by the meeting of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union at St. Louis, last December—and this, of course, includes the issue of money direct to the farmers on the Subtreasury plan, or something similar or better?

Do you agree to hold yourself aloof from party caucus if elected? Also, do you favor the Australian ballot system of voting?

Also, do you favor the election of U. S. Senators by the vote of the people?

Also, do you favor the election of the President and Vice-President of the United States by the vote of the people?

Please answer at once.
Yours truly,
J. A. WESSON
J. M. ARMSTEAD,
JOHN COSBY.

Committee, Graves County.

Going To The Pen
Sheriff Johnson passed through the city Monday evening, enroute to Frankfort with the following delegates to the Penitentiary, elected at the recent term of our Circuit Court.

Tom Hayden, J. W. Yuengert, Tom McNeil—Forgery. McNeil is the man who forged a note on Captain Tyler of this city and attempted to cash it at the Farmers Bank. The jury let him off with two years. McNeil is a bright young man, and a school teacher by profession. He formerly resided in Illinois, and was a knight of the cross tie at the time he committed the deed.

Geo. Brown—Grand Larceny. Brown is one of the tramps who robbed the shop of Jas. Nanny in this city last winter. He was captured at Dyersburg, Tenn., and brought back to this county for trial. He is only 20 years of age and has a remarkably good face for a thief. He is a ward of the State for two years.

The prisoners seemed to be satisfied with their sentence, and were as jolly as if they were going on a pleasure trip.

Ewing Galloway:

Kentucky On The March

A bigger and better Committee for Kentucky show will be a top feature at the State Fair. That means it will be something worth traveling from Fulton county in the west or Pike county in the east to see.

Last year Kenneth Morgan, display director for the Kaufman-Straus department store, set up the booth, and there were motion pictures with sound effects. This year's plans for the display and the talkie slides and motion picture lectures will be far better than last year's. Recently I got a preview of the illustrated lectures to be given by James W. Armstrong, community service director for the Committee for Kentucky, and Maurice D. Bement, executive director, and if you go to the Fair and find the Committee's show disappointing, you can write a letter to your local paper saying the Galloway guy is a shameless exaggerator.

At Lexington the other day R. M. Watt, President of the Kentucky Utilities Company, told the State Chamber of Commerce, that thus far in 1949 only six new industries had been established in 73 counties served by his company as compared with 75 new plants in the calendar year 1948.

Well, that's not as bad as it may appear at first glance. Last year was a boom year, and the state should be thankful for the new industries it got. The problem now is consolidating our gains to avoid losing industrial plants set up during the boom. That problem is universal, of course. We are in a recession which may continue for two or three years, and intelligent Kentuckians know that the best way to prevent a depression is to adapt ourselves to the task of softening the recession.

To hold on to the industries built in the boom years, manufacturers can do a better job of selling their products and organized labor can adjust wage and hours demands to the capacity of employers to make a reasonable profit and maintain steady employment. Unless this policy is followed scores of Kentucky factories, large and small, will be shut down indefinitely. Some have been closed already for that reason.

Blatherskite labor agitators stirring up trouble to glorify themselves and caring little about the future welfare of the rank and file are our worst menace right now.

I am neither pro-management nor pro-labor. I'm pro-public. I'm old enough to remember when wages and working conditions generally were unspeakably bad. In those years I was pro-labor. Most of the evils of those times have been corrected. I'm not pro-management now. I'm pro-public, because the immediate future of the nation depends as much upon labor peace as upon any other economic factor.

I believe that 90 per cent of the union laborers who read this column would prefer to consolidate the gains of recent years and stick to their jobs as a means of preventing a bad depression and wholesale unemployment which might last three or four years and lead to state socialism.

It sometimes seems to me the worse sin of our day is the sin of conformity. We fall in line too readily. What other people do, we do. All too often those who claim to be Christian imitate in their lives and habits those who make no claim of being Christian. Many a man violates his conscience rather than be thought peculiar by refusing to do something he knows is wrong. There is many a young woman who accepts a cocktail because friends around her drink them, and because in the set in which she moves it has become an accepted custom.

We need nonconformists. "Be not conformed to this world: But be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God" (Romans 12:2). Is a good motto for Christian people in our day. They are not supposed to follow with blind devotion the popular practices but by God's will. That which is intrinsically wrong does not become right because it becomes commonplace. Sin is sin whether it is popular or not. The great souls who have blessed the world have not been those who went with the crowd. They have been those who went against the crowd. Many of them were willing to die to be different. They gave their lives for holding to an ideal or a truth counter to the practices and beliefs of their day. Today many people would rather die than be different.

When God gave Moses instructions for His chosen people. He included this admonition. "Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil" (Exodus 23:2). The tendency of the multitude is away from God and along the pathway of selfish gratification. He who follows the multitude is apt to find himself more often than not doing evil.

Letters To The Editors

The News accords all its readers to express their views in the columns of this paper. Views expressed here do not necessarily represent the views of the editors.

Dear Johanna and Paul:
Your paper is swell. The best small town paper I ever read.

Would like very much for you to publish my letter if possible. I may get in trouble but believe it is worth it. Here's my story; lately I have heard several men that have large farms with several hired hands on the place complain men you get now days won't work. They don't go to the fields until 7 o'clock and quit at 6 o'clock and are always wanting you to get something for the houses they occupy or loan them your car. I just stood by and listened for I never have that trouble and since I asked a few questions I understand why I don't have trouble with my men and the fellows I hear talking do.

First, they have to live in places that are unfit to live in. Second, they only pay them $3.00 a day which is not enough for a man with a large family to live on. I don't like to brag but I feel proud of myself for a few good deeds I do. Now my men do everything they can to please me. They are in the field at 6 o'clock and quit at 6 o'clock. I screened their houses and had them sprayed with DDT and either loan them the car or else carry them to town on Saturday to get their groceries. They quit on Saturday at 4 o'clock. I pay all my hands $5.00 a day and don't lose a thing by doing it and it's a shame to ask a man now days to work for less than $5.00 a day as high as every thing is, after all slave days are over. I believe in the long run we all will have a better help. I don't blame a man for not going out early. I would not do it for $3.00 a day.

With the peak of the summer's heat playing havoc with fishing in general, it takes a lot of experimenting to land a decent stringer of bass or other fresh water batters. And you can bet your bottom dollar that the boys who come in with the best catches are the ones who have some special tricks for outwitting finny gamesters during the hottest days of summer.

I've learned two things about hot weather fishing. First, you've got to know the water you are fishing like your own living room; and, second, it takes a lot more arm power and work on most fishing jaunts to make a fair catch.

When fishing lakes this time of the year that I also fished early in the season, I go to the same spots that produced well on early trips—certain shore lines, brush piles or other cover—and then move out into deeper water from these areas for heat-of-the-day fishing. Seldom do game fish in lakes move far from their choice hiding spots, but as the water warms they will seek cooler places—and the closest places that are available. That's why I always fish the deep water that is adjacent to the spots that produced when the water was cooler early in the season.

Frequently early in the morning or late evening you will find the gamesters feeding in the shallows for food most always is more abundant in this water. But you'd better try the deep holes when the sun is high overhead. I've found, too, the artificial lures that produce early in the season often are a complete bust in hot weather. Why I don't know, but in August I carry a tackle box loaded with new lures and if 10 or 15 minutes of fishing in a good spot fails to offer a fish I switch lures until the right one is found.

Almost every body of water needs special tricks in hot weather. And if you're a wise fisherman you will check with the boys having the best luck and find out their methods. It may take a little spying to do it, but the rewards often are rich.

CARD OF THANKS

Now that the results of the election are definitely known, and the candidate for whom we worked has been declared the nominee as county court clerk, we feel a great sense of humility in thanking the hundreds of friends who supported Kathryn Rogers Kelly. Campaigning with the ultimate counting of votes is a wonderful barometer of one's friends. In this instance we feel that our friends proved their loyal worth in not only voting for, but working diligently for Kathryn.

We know that Kathryn will make you a good and efficient court clerk. You will always feel proud of your vote for her, and we shall be ever grateful for your confidence in our endorsement of her.

MR. and MRS. HORACE REAMS

CARD OF THANKS

In searching my heart I cannot begin to tell all of you how deeply and sincerely I appreciate your loyal vote at the polls last Saturday. It is still a great appointment that the election has been held, and yet there are some of you whom I did not get to see.

It is my promise as long as I am in office to show you at every turn my gratitude by giving you good service. To those of you who did not find it possible to vote for me, let me say that yours is the good sportsmanship that every candidate appreciates.
I know it must have been a difficult decision to make in choosing your candidate, for it was my distinct privilege to be pitted in the race with three of the finest candidates in Fulton County.

To Hammer Johnston, Hazel
Bradley and Herman Gaddie I can only say that it was a great pleasure to be associated with you in the race. With my sincerest thanks I am,

KATHRYN ROGERS KELLY

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 14, 1949.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else." (Deut. 4:39).

WEST STATE LINE
Mrs. Edgar Grissom, Cor.

As Saturday was election day several that were away were in the community to vote for their favorite candidate.

A good attendance was at the State Line Mission Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. We are always glad to have visitors and friends with us to worship.

Rev. Earl Baird of Cayce is the pastor and is a fine preacher.

Mrs. Thelma Grissom has been confined to her bed for the past few days but is better at this writing.

Our sympathy goes out to the Emerson family of Pilot Oak in the loss of their wife, mother and daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Emerson, who died on Tuesday of last week in the Paducah Riverside Hospital with polio.

Georgie May Edington is spending a few days with her aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edington.

Charlie Phillips is on his vacation. Mr. Phillips works on the railroad at the freight depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Taylor of Baton Rouge, La., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Taylor and Joy. Joy returned home with them for a two weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Taylor visited Mrs. Thelma Grissom a while Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sutton and children attended church at Cayce Assembly of God Sunday morning and also Sunday evening.

Quite a few of the farmers of this community are getting their fall breaking done for their wheat, barley and oats planting later on.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson and little daughter, Mary Elizabeth attended church at the State Line Mission Sunday afternoon.

The Assembly of God church of Cayce called their preacher, Rev. Jones of Mayfield. Rev. C. E. Grable was their former pastor and went to Florida in July. I am sure the Cayce community will welcome Rev. and Mrs. Jones and family in their midst.

"MY dinner started cooking half an hour ago"

Here's the Cooking Center You Want!
... Of Course, It's Electric!

Kitchen work speeds up when you plan work space and storage space around the preparation, cooking, and dish-washing centers. Build your cooking center around the range, with work tops on which to set serving dishes and pots and pans, shelves and drawers for the utensils you need at the range.

You don't have to remodel the whole kitchen at once. Install your "centers" one at a time, as you can afford them. You'll find that each will leave you with less work to do, more time for leisure.

That's only one of the joys of this glorious new way of cooking. Not only do the new, automatic electric ranges make it unnecessary for you to rush home in the middle of the afternoon to start dinner—they give you a multitude of other benefits as well.

Electric cooking is so-o-o clean. There's no flame to smudge your pots and pans, no grime to settle on walls and curtains.

Electric cooking is fast. Five-position burners let you cook at any speed you like.

Electric cooking is automatic. Just set the dials for the time you want the oven to turn on and the length of time the food must cook. While you're away from home or doing other things around the house, the oven comes on, cooks your food to the exact minute, then shuts off.

Electric cooking costs little. Our average electric range user cooks for about $2.50 a month—less than 10 cents a day for the average family.

See The All-Electric Kitchen At Your Dealer's

If your electric range is more than five years old, your cooking costs will be greater than with a new model. The new electric ranges are marvels of economy, with speedier heating, many new features.

Customers' Corner

Have you ever noticed the date stamped on each carton of A&P eggs? It is put there to protect the quality and freshness of this perishable item.

An egg that is Grade A when it is inspected and packed could become Grade B or C by the time you buy it if it has been improperly or slowly handled.

We don't want that ever to happen to an A&P egg. That is why we put the date when the eggs are graded on each carton. Eggs not sold within a few days of that date are removed from sale even though they are still of good quality.

If you should ever find that any of our egg cartons bear old dates or that any eggs fail to live up to our high quality standards, please tell us about it. Please write:
