NEGRO GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE IN KILLING

James Stevenson, 23, negro, who was tried last week in Union City on a charge of killing Willie L. Lunsford, of Fulton, taxi driver, was found guilty by an Obion county jury after deliberating less than one hour. Judge Elkins pronounced sentence, and the negro was removed to unknown jail for safe keeping, until he is taken to the pen.

Company K, 117th Infantry, unit of the Tennessee National Guard was mobilized for duty during the trial for protection against mob violence. However, no demonstration was made at any time.

The murder, which occurred in Tennessee, just across the Kentucky line near the Fulton-Union City highway, was committed by the negro on Monday night, July 25. The negro hired the taxi driven by Lunsford, whose body was not found until Wednesday of that week under a bridge one mile south of Fulton. Stevenson was caught at Mt. Vernon, Ill., and brought back to await trial. He admitted that he killed Lunsford, but on the witness stand contended that he did it in self-defense when an argument developed over payment for the taxi trip.

Suit Brought To Rebuke Barkley

A petition has been filed in the Circuit Court at Frankfort, asking that U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley be declared guilty of corrupt practices in the Democratic primary campaign and that his name be withheld from the November ballot.

It charged that Barkley and others, acting with consent "by threats of the loss of their employment, coerced and forced" employees of various branches to the federal government to "contribute money" to aid Barkley's campaign fund and also "did intimidate and coerce" such employees into voting for Barkley in the primary.

The suit, attacking the Senate majority leader, who was backed by President Roosevelt in winning the Democratic nomination for the Senate in the August 6 primary over Gov. A. B. Chandler, was filed by two Newport attorneys, Charles E. Lester, Jr., and Lawrence Riedinger, Jr.

Charles D. Arnett, Kentucky secretary of state, was named a co-defendant. The Circuit Court was asked to restrain him from certifying Barkley's name to the county clerks who print the ballots for the coming election.

Thomas Pointer of Martin, Tenn., has taken the place of J. W. Thomas, as clerk at the Fulton U-Tote-Em Store. Mr. Thomas has removed to the Paris, Tenn., store, and young Pointer comes from the company store at Martin.

West Fulton P-T-A Met Tuesday Afternoon

Members of the West Fulton P-T-A held their first fall meeting Tuesday afternoon at Carr Institute. The opening discussion pertained to work planned by the organization, which will be carried out under the supervision of Mrs. J. C. Hancock, president, who opened the meeting.

Mrs. Roper Fields, program chairman, presented Miss Fannie Lee Nix who demonstrated the new reading machine recently innovated by the schools. Then an outline of programs to be given this term was discussed and an article from the National Parent-Teacher magazine was read.

Following the program, a business session was held when reports were made by the secretary, Mrs. Eldridge Grymes and the treasurer, Mrs. Claude Linton.

On Thursday night, October 13, a reception and silver tea is planned for the purpose of creating a better acquaintance among the parents and teachers, and to encourage finer co-operation on the year's work. The high school band will provide music at this affair, and proceeds will go into a fund being raised to purchase uniforms for the band.

Preceding the regular meeting, a brief session was held by the executive board and committee chairman. The general meeting was closed, with the next session scheduled to be held Tuesday, October 18.

REVIVAL MEETING BEGINS AT WALNUT GROVE SUN.

The Annual revival meeting for the Walnut Grove Methodist church will begin Sunday, with the Rev. A. L. Dickerson of Keville, Tennessee, doing the evangelical work, assisted by the pastor, Rev. James E. Parr, Jr. Rev. Dickerson is well known for his ability as a revivalist, and Rev. Parr states that he is very fortunate in securing him for the meeting.

Walnut Grove is situated south of town, on a gravel road, and the membership of this church extends a cordial invitation to all.

LIONS CLUB IN MEETING AT CHURCH

The Fulton Lions Club held its meeting last Friday night at the First Methodist church, with almost 100 percent representation of membership. The principal theme of the meeting was woven around athletic activities at the Fulton High School, in conjunction with the opening of the football season.

Members of the Board of Education were guests of the evening and made brief talks appropriate for the occasion. Clarence Reed, who is always enthusiastic about youth activities, made an interesting talk about what the boys and girls of our community mean to our future progress.

Miss Robbie Clark has returned to Murray to resume her studies at the Murray State Teachers College.

Council Votes In Favor Of Bond Vote

Members of the Fulton City Council and Mayor Paul DeMyer met in called session Wednesday night for the purpose of discussing the legal status of the project sponsored by the Young Business Men's Club to obtain TVA service in the city, and to pass an ordinance providing for a vote of the people on the question at the regular November election.

Although the Young Business Men's Club has already circulated a petition signed by a majority of voters approving the project, in order to give the matter the necessary legal procedure, the people will be asked to vote for a $110,000 revenue bond issue at the regular election on Tuesday, November 8.

The bond issue will be against the revenue of the proposed TVA system in Fulton, and will not increase the taxes of the bonded indebtedness of the city, it is pointed out by local officials. It will be necessary for the city to offer to purchase the distribution system of the Kentucky Utilities, which company now services Fulton.

Church Fair To Be Held In Water Valley

Saturday, October 8 marks the day of the Water Valley Fair held by the cooperation of the Water Valley, Palestine, and Pleasant Valley churches. This fair promises to be far better than the one last year as it is held in the interesting, wholesome work of the churches.

The Water Valley gymnasium will hold the exhibits which will be of sewing, canning, cooking, home produce, rare fruits and vegetables, and field products. The blue ribbon winners will be awarded prizes. The exhibits will be sold to many Fulton, Mayfield and surrounding territory people who will attend. The remainder will be sold at auction, Saturday afternoon.

The Baby Show, also will be held Saturday afternoon with babies ranging from four months to three years entering. There will be three judges who will award the trophies and blue ribbon winners will receive prizes. You are invited to enter your baby.

The prizes are donated by the merchants of Fulton, Water Valley, and Mayfield.

FORMER FULTONIAN IS BADLY BURNED

Leon Connell, formerly of Fulton but recently of Union City, received severe burns Tuesday when dyeing fluid with which he was working at a shoe cleaning plant exploded. Connell sustained dangerous burns as he attempted to carry the burning liquid outside in a container.

He was taken to the Union City Clinic and later to the I. C. Hospital at Paducah. The young man is well known in Fulton, having married Miss Edith Elise Carver of this city and operated the Cities Service Station for several months.

BULLDOGS DROP 1ST. GAME OF SEASON

Last Friday night the Fulton Bulldogs lost their football game to Lexington 13-0. Early in the play Lexington gained 50 yards down the field and then Fesmire passed to Dere, who scored. The try for the extra point failed, but later in the game the Giants made another touchdown and their extra point. The Bulldogs held the Giants several times but failed to make their gains to a position of scoring.

Next Saturday night the Bulldogs journey to Paducah to clash against the Tilman Tornadoes. The game was scheduled for Friday night but due to the West Kentucky Fair and the Horse Show being held that night the game was moved to Saturday. Last year the Tornado Team beat the Bulldogs 58-0. This year the Fulton team dares them to score against them. This will be the Paducah first home game and they want to put on a good show for the home folks, so let's go to Keller Field and watch the Bulldogs.

Friday night, September 30 they will return to their home field to play the Union City eleven.

Church Attendance Month Draws Near To Start

Sunday, October 2 will be the first Sunday on which Church Attendance Campaign plans will be in effect. On that Sunday, the definite aim is to have 40 percent of the roll of resident members attending the morning worship service, with the percentage increasing 5 per cent each Sunday during the month of October. In the Sunday School, 75 percent of the enrollment is expected to attend on the first Sunday of the month, with the percentage increasing 5 percent each Sunday.

This movement is being sponsored by the Fulton Ministerial Brotherhood, and is meeting the wholehearted approval of the churches of the city.

FULTON MEN RECEIVE TREATMENT IN MEMPHIS HOSPITAL

J. O. Lewis was taken to the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., Monday, Sept. 12 and was operated on last Tuesday. The operation proved successful and returned to Fulton Tuesday night.

Mr. Lewis will not be able to continue his duties at the Fulton High School for several weeks after his return, however.

A. G. Baldrige returned from the Baptist Hospital in Memphis Monday night and is improved considerably. He will return to work after several days rest. Mr. Baldrige had a stroke last Wednesday and received treatment at the local hospital, later it was necessary to return to the hospital and from there was taken to Memphis.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Stanfield of Fulton, a sister, Mrs. Mollie Green of Dyersburg. Mrs. Tolley was a native of Dyer county, and had spent her life in Dyersburg.

BAPTIST REVIVAL STARTS SUNDAY

Beginning Sunday morning, Sept. 25, the membership of the First Baptist Church will enter into one of the most intensive Revival Campaigns in recent years. This series of services is scheduled to continue through Oct. 9. The day services will be held from 7 to 7:45 a.m. This departure from the customary later hour will enable teachers, students, and many who do not go to work until eight o'clock to attend the morning service. The evening services will start at 7:45.

The music and personal work will be under the direction of Mr. Edgar A. Patterson, Director of Church Activities in the First Baptist Church in Tulsa, Okla. Mr. Patterson is a man of striking personality and ability in the fields of church music and personal work activity. He is just now in the prime of his usefulness. He has been serving this Tulsa Church in his present position for the last seven years. The preaching will be done by the Pastor, Rev. Woodrow Fuller.

During the first week the church has invited church congregations near Fulton where Rev. Fuller has held meetings since his pastorate in Fulton. The schedule for these congregations is as follows:

Monday evening, Sept. 26—Liberty Baptist Church; Tuesday evening, Sept. 27—Crutchfield and Mt. Carmel Baptist Churches; Wednesday evening, Sept. 28—Johnson Grove Baptist Church; Thursday evening, Sept. 29—Clinton Baptist Church; Friday evening, Sept. 30—Popular Grove Baptist Church.

Sermons will be reserved each night for the special groups and their pastors.

All people who love old fashioned gospel preaching and singing will welcome the opportunity to attending this meeting. A cordial welcome awaits all who will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending these meetings.

During this week a large number of cottage prayer meetings have been held in various homes over town in spiritual preparation for the meeting. The final group of prayer services will be held tonight, sponsored by the Baptist Training Union of the Church. The homes are as follows:

Mrs. E. O. Walker, rear Kramer Lumber Co.; Mrs. Emma Mann, Oak St.; Mrs. Ben Gholson, Maple Ave.; Leon Smith, McCall St. (in front of South Fulton High); Ann Lee Cochran, Vine Street; C. L. Humphrey, Union City Highway; Marvin Sanders, Church St. (Tenn.); Edward Pugh, Pearl St.; G. H. Duley, Pearl St.

You are invited to attend one of these prayer services.

Several Wrecks Occurred Last Week

MARTIN, Tenn. — Car wrecks seemed to be the order last week. On Friday night there were two crashes. A car occupied by Harold Rushing, Taylor Dudley, Misses Helen and Mary Foster, all of Fulton, was crowded into the railing by the Highway Office. Their car was considerably damaged and the two young ladies quite painfully hurt. The driver of the other car is unknown as he did not stop.

Also on the same night a car occupied by Miss Bunker Abney, Miss Dorothy Bushart, and two young men from Fulton, collided with a car occupied by Charlie Gaylord and family of Sharin. One version of how this accident occurred is that a cow in the road caused one of the cars to swerve from its course. However, we have been unable to ascertain if this is correct. Anyway, both of the Martin girls were cut and bruised considerably about the head, and Miss Calhoun suffered a broken leg. Others of the Gaylord family were also bruised and cut.

Miss Abney, Mrs. Bushart and Miss Calhoun were carried to Weakley County Hospital.

Both cars were badly wrecked.

It's annoying, says the Louisville Times, to know that you talk in your sleep. Still it's more annoying to observe that others sleep in your talk.

THIS WAR BUSINESS

Everyone is discussing the world situation as it prevails in Europe today. For a while it looked like the Czechoslovakian and German dispute would ring in England, France, Russia, Italy, and probably other countries. But now since England and France have abandoned the Czechs and capitulated to Hitler's demands, the trouble may exist for the present, at least, between the democracy of Czechoslovakia and the imperialism of the German Nazi. A clash between these two countries is inevitable since France and England have seemingly given in to the bluff of Hitler, and run out on President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

If an European war should come, it is indicated that Germany, Italy and Japan would be allied, while France, Russia and England would team up. Premier Mussolini of Italy has declared that the solution to the Czechoslovakian-German dispute is to divide the former's country into a plebiscite which would mean dismemberment of that country.

Mussolini and Hitler are working hand-in-glove against European democracies—in fact, they are opposed to the form of government that exists in the United States, and have not hesitated to say as much. The world has stood by as Italy took Ethiopia as much bloodshed, Japan makes war on China, Germany took over Austria, and Italy incited and aided the Spanish revolution. The next step for Italy would be to gain control of Spain.

Dictators of Europe are fast growing in power, and annexation of new territory is adding more wealth, facilities and manpower with which to push forward their insatiable desires of conquest. England and France may escape an European war by capitulating to Germany now, but the day is almost certain to come when tremendous trouble will spread over the world as a consequence of allowing these master criminals to force their will upon the peoples of the world.

CLEANING UP

Again we urge that everyone clean-up now for the fall and winter. All weeds and high grass should be cut at once, especially around fences and buildings, as a protection. This applies as well in rural and suburban districts as in the city.

In the fall grass fires are easy to start and can just as easily do much damage to property. The best control is to cut all high weeds and grass before it dries out enough to burn easily. At the same time it is a good idea to clean-up our premises and do all the fixing-up you can.

The appearance of every home and the premises around it, is important, for it is the collective appearance of all the homes in it that give the community appearance, which marks a city, suburb or rural section. Every week in the year should be clean-up week, but right now is a particularly important time to work on this.

THE SCHOOL BAND

Many local citizens have remarked lately that they would like to see the Fulton High School band dressed in attractive uniforms. Leeland Bugg suggested this week that something be done about it.

So it has been proposed that a good way to obtain uniforms for band members would be to put on a benefit show at the Science Hall under the sponsorship of some local civic organization. Such an occasion would not only be a capital idea for raising needed funds for this purpose, but would provide entertainment for those who enjoy such affairs.

Now the problem is up to some of Fulton's progressive organizations, and we wonder who will be the first to launch such a program.

PURGE BOUND PRESIDENT

With pomp and circumstances the President has departed to separate the New Deal sheep from the Democratic goats, and to immortalize as a definition of liberalism "the man who has his shirt for them."

Behind the headlines, however, one gathers that the party purgation isn't the howling success that Tommy Corcoran dreamed of. Van Nuys has been welcomed back into the fold in Indiana, Cotton Ed Smith in South Carolina, and Kentucky's Alben Barkley gained his victory over Happy Chandler through no aid from President Roosevelt (for it is believed in many quarters that he would have gained more votes if Roosevelt had never come to Kentucky).

We disapprove of this practically thwarted attempt to make all Democrats the same pale pink in color. Politically, President Roosevelt has a right to clean house, and he had precedent for such attempt. But we don't think it was a good thing for the party, or for the government of the United States. And we sincerely hope that the purge will fizzle out like a wet firecracker.

JUST A FEW LAUGHS

Three Scotchmen went to church each clutching tightly the penny he intended to contribute when the plate was passed. Consternation reigned when the minister announced that this particular Sunday an effort would be made to raise the mortgage and asked every member of the congregation to make a substantial offering.

During the prayer, the Scots held a whispering consultation as to the solution of their dilemma and reached a satisfactory solution.

One fainted and the other two carried him out.

"Now my son," said the conscientious father, "Tell me why I punished you."

"That's it," blubbered the boy, indignantly. First you pounded the life out of me, an' now you don't know what you done it for."

you never to come here again?"
Tramp: "I beg your pardon, madam; it's the fault of my secretary. I told him to strike your name from my visiting list."

General Upswing In Retail Trade

General business throughout the country presented evidences of considerable improvement in the period immediately following Labor Day, according to reports to the District Office. The upswing was quite general, although retail trade appeared to be particularly favored. For the first time in many months the vast majority of reporting areas were able to tip sales records of the comparable period last year. A feature of the retail upswing was the greatly improved consumer response to special offerings. Another auspicious feature was the improvement noted in leading industrial centers. Most of the wholesale markets in New York felt the stimulating effect of the general business improvement. Records increased both in number and dollar volume. Reports from important cities throughout the country indicated that building operations are being well sustained.

Louisville reported that retail buying increased 12 to 15% from year ago. Furniture lines most seriously affected, with totals in leading stores off 39 to 40%. Wholesale dry goods sales in August, 5% higher than July and 25% lower than last August. Schedules advanced in furniture plants. Pay rolls reported advance for first time since Fall 1937.

Kentucky employment services reported placements during week, 506, increase of 33.4% over preceding week.

Additional $100,000 Federal funds allotted to Graves County, Ky., for rural electrification.

KENTUCKIANS HOLD BALANCE OF POWER ON COURT BENCH

Washington—The final fate of much major federal and state legislation rests in a large measure with three native Kentuckians, member of the United States Supreme Court which convenes October 3.

The three who give Kentucky the largest representation of any state on the nation's highest tribunal are Justices James Clark McReynolds, Louise Dembitz Brandeis and Stanley Forman Reed.

Of the trio, only Reed, an appointee of President Roosevelt still maintains a home in Kentucky and is considered an active resident of the Bluegrass State. He alone received his appointment while an active resident of Kentucky. He took his place on the bench this year, succeeding the veteran Justice George Sutherland.

Use of Electrical Equipment Eases the Burden of Farming

By IRA MILLER
Rural Electrification Bureau

CONTINUED extension of high lines in all parts of the country — and the resultant use of numerous large and small electrical appliances — has brought undreamed comfort and convenience to some 1,300,000 farm homes, and relief from many tiresome and unpleasant chores to at least that number of farm women.

Perhaps even more important savings in labor, time and money result from the use of electrical equipment in the business of farming. In fact, the difference between a real cash income and an actual financial loss is determined by the extent to which electricity is put to work on farm jobs. Electrical "hired hands" have proved that they can and do produce greater profits.

As in the farm home, adequate wiring of all farm buildings is essential to the profitable and enjoyable use of electricity. Also, like the rooms in the home, each building should be amply lighted and provided with a sufficient number of convenient outlets and suitable switches.

Among the electrical "servants" for the dairy barn are milking machines, drinking cups, ventilating fans, animal groomers, fly traps and hay hoists. An ensilage cutter, operated by a portable motor, will fill the silo in short order.

In the milk house, an electric cream separator and churn eliminate much drudgery. The combination of an electric milk cooler, water heater, utensil sterilizer and fly screens will help keep the bacterial count of the milk so low that it will command a premium in many localities.

Poultry houses not only require ordinary lights to increase winter egg profits by lengthening the working day for the hens but also ultra-violet lights to keep them healthy and strong. An electric brooder, incubator, water warmer and burglar alarm add to the profit and surety of poultry raising.

Many granaries and barns equipped with a feed grinder, mixer, grain elevator, hay chopper, corn sheller and other machinery, all operated by a portable motor. Some farmers also thresh their own grain, using a portable motor to drive the separator.

A well-equipped machine shop will save money on any farm. An electric drill press or portable drill, lathe, grindstone, forge, air compressor, battery charger, soldering iron and gas pot are among the items that should be included.

The high line is the life line of some 1,300,000 American farms.

Every farm should have an automatic electric water system to provide an ample supply of fresh water for the livestock and for sanitary purposes in the various buildings. Also, each should have an adequate system of yard lighting to prevent thievery as well as for ease and safety in going from one building to another after dark.

The foregoing are only a few of the numerous uses of electrical equipment in general farming. There are many specialized applications — fruit washing and grading, soil sterilization, soil heating, cold storage, and wool saving, to name but a few. On every farm, the electric "hired hands" can be made to more than pay their way in increased profits and lessened manual labor.

A MEMORIAL

A fitting memorial has just been erected to Casey Jones, famed railroad engineer, upon the campus of the Cayce School. It consists of a beautiful stone monument on which is a bronze plaque bearing the following words:

CASEY JONES
In This Community
The Famous Locomotive Engineer
John Luther Jones
(Alias Casey Jones)
Spent His Boyhood Days
Casey's many record feats as a locomotive engineer engrossed him deeply in the hearts of his fellow workers. On the morning of April 30, 1900, while running the Illinois Central fast train No. 1, "The Cannon Ball", and by no fault of his, his engine bolted through three freight cars at Vaughn, Miss.
Casey died with his hand clenched to the brake level and his was the only life lost.
Famous for bravery and courage, the name of Casey lives deeply in the hearts of American people in both tradition and song. It can be truthfully said of him, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Hybrid Corn

Meetings have been held at Ernest Johnson's and Charles Wright's farm to determine the results of the variety tests on 19 different varieties of hybrids. These meetings were attended by about forty farmers, that were interested in seeing the yields of these varieties.

When the corn from each plot was weighed it was discovered that there was about thirty bushels difference in the highest and lowest varieties.

On Ernest Johnson's farm a 70th of an acre plot of Neal's Paymaster was harvested which yielded 27 bushels per acre, while another part of the field that was planted to hybrid Ky. 69 yielded 40 bushels per acre.

At Chas. Wright's the men saw a field that was divided. One half was planted to Ky. 69 which yielded 43 bushels per acre and the other half of the field was planted to a variety of yellow corn that Mr. Wright has been growing for a number of years, which yielded 86 bushels. This is a difference of 43 bushels per acre in favor of the Hybrid.

Last spring Mr. Wright could have sold this corn for $6.00 per bushel but planting the bushel he has produced about 64 bushels more corn which valued at 40c per bushel would make an income of $25.60 more from the eight acres of corn.

The results at Mr. Johnson's was even greater where the difference was 13 bushels per acre. On 8 acres would be 104 bushels increase from one bushel of seed corn.

Anyone wanting a complete summary of the varieties may receive a copy by leaving their name at the office or writing for same.

"The Swift's Jewels Cowboys Coming"

Announcement is made of a return engagement of Swift's Jewels Cowboys, who will be in Fulton, Ky., at Fulton High School, Friday, Sept. 30, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Their local appearances are sponsored by the local merchants, wholesale distributors, and the various retail distributors of Swift's products in this territory.

The Jewels Cowboys originated in Houston, Texas over six years ago. The organization is made up of actual bronco busters of the range.

"Curly" Nolan, bass fiddle player, hails from a ranch near Portales, New Mexico.

"Slim" Hall is a Texan, and before joining the Jewels Cowboy group, was known to radio listeners throughout the Southwest as the "Swinging Cowboy" Rube.

"Pee Wee" Wamble, who claims to be the best trumpet player West of the Pecos, learned to ride and the art of cow-pok work around Fort Stockton, the Big Ben country of the Pecos.

"Kokomo" Crocker, the kid with the million-dollar smile, first saw the light of day in a small Texas town and learned to "go-to-town" on the accordion while doing his cow-punching duties.

"Lifty" Ingram, quiet and reserved, is also a son of the mighty West. He per instrument is the clarinet, and he can really make it talk when playing one of his own compositions.

"Don Jose" Cortez comes straight from Monterey, in Old Mexico. He can really make the violin sit up and beg. Don Jose also has numerous compositions to his credit.

The Jewels Cowboys, in addition to playing a number of different instruments per man, also offer outstanding vocal entertainment, as they have several who sing solo, a duet, a trio and a quartet. With a line-up of this kind, the Cowboys entertain their listeners with Western ballads and popular music. When in their spare time they can arrange for a dance, they give the community a real treat with new and old-time dance tunes, and their regular show performances are full of comedy. All who attend any of the Cowboy programs may be assured of splendid entertainment.

This program is sponsored by the following local merchants: Fred Robertson, Meechum and Hutchins, City Market, A. C. Butts, Dear & Hester, J. B. Walker, Fred Sawyer, H. H. Bugg, H. L. Hardy, B. L. Rantz, Broken Dollar, Kroger Store.

RUSSELL GARDNER DIES IN MEMPHIS

Russell E. Gardner, native of Weakley County, and former buggy and automobile magnate, died at his home in Memphis Saturday morning.

Born at Gardner 72 years ago, he worked in his father's mill as a boy. His first job away from home was in a spoke mill at Gallion, Ohio. He started in business for himself in 1890 when he began manufacturing buggies in Memphis a few years later. He became one of the first manufacturers to use the mail order form of selling. In 1894 he sold out his interests for $150,000 and retired. He was only 34.

Not being satisfied with inactivity he headed banks at the different towns of Weakley County. But lack of interest in banking caused him to again enter the buggy manufacturing field, this time in St. Louis.

When the trend came toward automobiles, Mr. Gardner entered this business as president of Chevrolet Motor Co. of St. Louis. After this was sold to General Motors in 1919 Mr. Gardner organized Gardner Motor Company. He remained as head of this organization until his retirement in 1930.

Mr. Gardner leaves his wife, three sons, Russell E. Gardner of St. Louis, Fred W. Gardner of Greenwich, Conn., and Rodgers Gardner of St. Louis, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas R. Watkins of Memphis, also a brother, W. A. of Chicago, a sister, Mrs. Metta Travis of Chicago, and two half sisters, Mrs. Malcolm R. Patterson and Mrs. Ben L. Capell, both of Memphis.

Wayne Morris A Young Man Who Fights His Own Battles On Set

There are four or five stunt men in Hollywood who are mad help of a double, who had been at Wayne Morris. They came back hired for that express purpose, from location with the "Valley" when a fight was staged on top of the Giants' company at Eureka. They had been hired to fight for Wayne Morris.

Wayne is young and husky and who got his money together, was a "Valley" of the Giants, and he played over the course in Wayne Morris, production in Tennessee. Wayne Morris, a real actor, is in the Fulton Theatre, a real actor, who did a scene in the picture, the story of the "Valley" when a fight was staged on top of the Giants' company at Eureka. Wayne Morris, a real actor, is in the Fulton Theatre, a real actor, who did a scene in the picture, the story of the "Valley" when a fight was staged on top of the Giants' company at Eureka.

WAYNE MORRIS—His boyish charm won him a phenomenal rise to stardom, and his latest picture, "Valley of the Giants" coming next Friday to the Fulton Theatre, wins him brand new honors as a dramatic actor.

To become an actor, didn't want to be classed as a tend-foot in such surroundings. Before the company left the studio, Wayne insisted on fighting his own fight in a calm brawl on an interior set. He refused a double, just as he did in "Kid Galahad" and "The Kid Comes Back." He went to location with a slightly discolored eye as a result, but the damage was repaired during the long train trip.

On location he cracked a front tooth when he made a dangerous run up a wet and slippery log skid, a run he undertook against the advice of the old timers on the set. "I was taking set and without the proper talks to find out how things are done."

With less danger by more experienced woodsmen, Wayne would stand by glumly and, if he saw an opportunity, he would duplicate the stunt after the scene was finished.

"He's got more nerve than sense," said another stunt man. "He's big and strong and he thinks he can't be hurt. But he'll learn caution before long or hurt himself badly."

From the dentist chair where Wayne had gone to have the cracked tooth repaired, the run up a wet and slippery log skid, a run he undertook against the advice of the old timers on the set. "I was taking set and without the proper talks to find out how things are done."

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?

Poise and posture stand for health or disease.

Infection, colds, tuberculosis, melanoma and many other diseases, according to latest authorities, may be traced to bad posture, both in sitting and standing. This leads to distortion of the spine.

Few people know how to sit. They sit on the end of their spinal column in a slouchy way instead of placing their weight on the fleshy part of their thighs. Sit, stand and walk erect to promote good health.

Is your posture correct? See your Chiropractor today

Capitol Comments

By David M. Porter

We bring you the News Scoop of 1939 and 1940 and place it on your laps.

After consulting the Oracle, Madam Knowsall, the Palmist, and Dame Rumor and all her children, we present the Political panorama of the next two years.

In 1939 Senator Logan will be persuaded to run for Governor by his friends and will run on a ticket with John Y. Brown as Lieutenant Governor. The ticket will be backed by the Rhea, Barkley, Brennen, Seldon Glenn machine and will win. When Senator Logan becomes Governor, he will appoint Tom Rhea to fill out his unexpired term as Senator. In a short time after that, he will be appointed to a Federal Judgeship and will resign as Governor to accept the appointment and John Y. Brown will become Governor of the State of Kentucky.

We base this on the fact that the Chandler faction will be split by Frederick A. Wallis, Chas. D. Arnett, Hubert Merideth, John Buckingham and Lieutenant Governor Johnson who will divide the vote and that the other faction will have the Federal machine and a united front.

On asking the Oracle on what it based its opinion, it remained mute. Dame Rumor said, "That's what I hear", and Madam Knowsall, with a woman's perversity, took her eyes off my palm and said, "I see it in the stars".

Random Shots

A test suit will be filed to prove that the Highway Patrol is necessary for the upkeep and maintenance of the highways. This is so they can continue to operate, as the Attorney General ruled they could not draw funds from the Highway Department to operate on.

and unless they win this suit the Highway Patrol will be abolished.

Work on the new ten story office building here in Frankfort will cease because Attorney General Hubert Merideth ruled that the funds collected for the Highway Department could not be used for that purpose.

If you have a state job, start worrying, because the most drastic cut ever made by any Governor will be made this next month for economy reasons.

UNCLE JIM SAYS

It takes planning ahead to get farm jobs done on time.

A few minutes devoted each day to keeping farm records up-to-date is time well spent.

No wonder farmers "get the blues when it rains" for every second an average of 95 tons of American soil is lost due to erosion.

Bare lands, steep slopes, washing soil, and meager crops, show themselves in heavy mortgages, discouraged farmers, dilapidated houses, and degenerate families.

Cover crops form a protective cover that slows down run-off and increases absorption of rainfall, thereby increasing soil moisture content and decreasing erosion.

Legumes not only get high-priced nitrogen from the air and give it to the soil and the livestock, but they protect the soil from erosion. Use more alfalfa, clover, lespedeza, and winter legumes.

The cheapest way to finish turkeys for market is to allow them to range on green pasture and feed them a scratch grain mixture made up of equal parts of corn, barley, wheat, and oats.

The amount of money that a farmer received for the lint from a load of seed cotton is determined by the grade, the staple, the base price per pound of lint, and the weight of the bale turned out.

FAMILY MANNERISMS

All of us are imitators, conscious or unconscious. Probably most of what we do is a direct imitation of something we have observed in others. Long before we were old enough to think about it, we had acquired the mannerisms of our immediate family; bodily movements, speech, even philosophy. So easy is it to fall into a family rut that only the very brave ones, or very hard-headed ones, succeed in being original. Most of the family mannerisms are, of course, traditional and very old. Some of them are racial others are tribal or clanish, still others are distinctly of one family. Many of our ways of doing things are practically community-wide in origin; in this category are such things as habits of eating, of making excuses, of giving excuses, of giving comfort or condolence. In a standardized society, such things become nation-wide.

Did it ever occur to you to compare your mannerisms with those of others, calmly and sympathetically, I mean. There are thousands of ways of doing things; your way is just one. How do you tie your shoes and which one first? How do you dress or undress yourself? How do you peel an apple, a peach, or an orange? How do you express joy, or satisfaction, or fear, or sorrow? There may be some individuality in your ways of doing these, but the probability is that you follow within your bounds the ways of your immediate family. So persistent is this tendency to follow what was done in one's home that it forms the greatest obstacle to the teacher of English in breaking up undesirable language habits. Some time when you really want to do something that is difficult, try doing every small act in a way different from what you ordinarily do it. For example, try shaving differently, using the other hand, beginning in a different area, making a wry face on the other side.

Probably this effort will put some interest in some of the dull drudgery of every day. The habit saves energy and time, but it also becomes dreadfully monotonous.

At various times in my life I have watched the "manners" of certain families. A Negro family of my acquaintance has exquisite courtesy, as most Negroes do. Every one of this family bowed in exacting the same way, spoke words of "thank you" in the same way, even pulled off their hats in the same way. I believed then and still believe that I could have recognized a member of this family anywhere in the world by these distinctive little mannerisms. Another family I know have very facile mouths. They can twist them into any shape and imitate any odd character of the neighborhood. When I have tried to do that, I have failed; my mouth somehow does not know the arts that have been developed in that family.

Long-continued absences from one's immediate family may develop personal eccentricities, but it is astonishing how long we keep intact the little ways we learned to do things years ago. Recently I was building a play shack for my boy. I needed several things that I have not seen made in over thirty years; almost instinctively I was able to make them, even though my experience in carpentry has been exceedingly limited all through life and especially since my boyhood. It is literally true that you can take the boy out of the country but cannot take the country out of the boy. What he learned then sticks as long as he lives.

District Roll Call Meet Held

Plans for four important Roll Call camps at which Roll Call chairmen of Kentucky Red Cross Chapters will meet with officials of the national organization to plan for the membership campaign starting November 11 were announced today by Chas. C. Waggoner, chairman of the Graves county chapter.

Camps were held at Madisonville, in the Methodist-Episcopal church, on September 13; Brandenburg, at Doe Runn Inn, on September 14; Harrodsburg, at Beaumont Inn, at the New Power Company, on September 16.

Among national Red Cross officials who will aid local chapter officers with campaign problems are Everett Dix, Washington, D. C., assistant manager of the eastern area; Miss Elsie Green, of the national roll call staff; Miss Ruth Riley, Mrs. Dorothy Dickson, Mrs. Sheridan Connolly and F. C. Dixon, field representatives in Kentucky.

The meetings were of a day's duration. At Madisonville Frank Berry, chairman of the Hopkins county chapter, presided and invocation was pronounced by the Rev. A. J. Russell, Roll Call chairman of McLean county chapter. There was a short talk on roll call accomplishments by Miss Riley, following which Mr. Dix led a general discussion on plans for the coming Roll Call. The rest of the morning was taken up with an analysis of the campaign by Chapter officers, including Mike Callas, roll call chairman of the Davies county chapter; Professor J. Edgar Pride, roll call chairman, Webster county chapters and others.

During the afternoon meeting Miss Riley presided and Miss Green continued the campaign analysis and discussion, assisted by C. A. Sawyer, roll call chairman, McCracken county chapter; Mrs. A. R. Coker, roll call chairman, Todd county chapter, and the vicinity. The meeting concluded with the showing of the new Red Cross safety film "Why Not Live."

HOMEMAKERS TO HAVE PROMINENT PART IN RURAL LIFE MEETING

Sessions of special interest to homemakers will have a prominent place in the programs of the annual convention of the American Country Life Association at Lexington, Nov. 1-4.

Nov. 2 the national conference on the rural home will be held as part of the National Rural Forum in connection with the Country Life Association meeting. Miss Grace Frysinger, senior home economist to the extension division of the United States Department of Agriculture will preside. Following a general session addressed by Carl Taylor, noted economist, eight discussion groups will be formed. Each group will consider phases of the problems of country-city relations. A summary of findings will be presented at the general meeting the following day.

On Tuesday, Nov. 1 the national Master Farm Homemakers' Guild will meet in Lexington, with representatives from every state. Miss Bess Rowe, of The Farmer's Wife magazine that originally sponsored the homemakers' guild movement, will have part on the program. Members of the Kentucky guild recently met to form plans for the day.

The National Home Demonstration Council, made up of home demonstration leaders and agents, will also meet Nov. 1. Among problems they will consider will be ways in which women can further the cause of world peace. At a dinner in the evening, Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the Kentucky College of Agriculture will be the speaker.

The Bill of Rights

By
RAYMOND PITCAIRN

A year ago the American people observed with nationwide celebration the 150th anniversary of our Constitution, written during the summer of 1787.

A year from now they will probably observe with impressive ceremony the centennial of our Bill of Rights, which was adopted September 20, 1791.

And at this time—the 143rd anniversary of the Bill of Rights—many thousands of Americans pay their tribute to the great document which has been the outstanding characteristic of the true American throughout the century and a half of our history.

Here are some of the rights which those ten amendments assure:

Freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of speech and of peaceable assembly.

The right to trial by jury, the right to petition the government for redress of wrongs, the right to own private property, and all other rights not expressly surrendered to government.

Protection against unreasonable search or seizure by government authorities, and against the quartering of soldiers on homeholders in time of peace.

Retention by the states, or the people, of all powers not expressly delegated to the national government by the Constitution.

These are rights that our fathers wrote into the Constitution. They are rights upon which successive generations of Americans have insisted. They are rights which must be guarded now as they were guarded then.

They are the rights that made America. And to preserve them is our responsibility.

Three Million Candid Camera Fiends

Three million amateur motion picture fans are to become the newsreel cameramen of the future.

This is the prophecy of Len Hammond, ace newsreel man and author of the new Clark Gable and Myra Loy picture, "Too Hot to Handle," coming soon to the Fulton Theatre.

"The newsreels of today have not begun to scratch the surface in the field of world news events," said Hammond, who has made memorable newsreels in all quarters of the world.

"The next big step in the newsreel industry will be to send current newsreels around the world by the telephoto process, as newspapers transmit news photographs by telephone wire and radio today.

"As soon as this method of transmission is perfected and sped up it will be possible to film important events as far away as the China interior, Europe or Africa and by telephoto transmission to project them on the screen in American theatres six or eight hours later."

Hammond also hears the distant death knell of his own profession as newsreel cameraman.

"The time is not far away when the professional newsreel cameraman becomes a thing of the past," he declares. "I will venture that there are today about three million amateur motion picture cameramen. With their eight and sixteen millimeter cameras they photograph everything in sight."

"Already I can visualize these three million motion picture cameramen as newsreel cameramen scattered throughout every civilized nation and competing for newsreel prizes of cash for interesting newsreel shots."

"While professional newsreel cameramen are often compelled to fly half way around the globe to cover a big news event, the amateur is already on the spot. By the time the professional arrives the news event is cold. Meanwhile the amateurs' excellent shots are being shown on the screen."

"This prophecy cannot be overlooked, for the amateur newsreel men are doing the same for the newsreel industry that the amateur radio operators have done for the radio industry. If the amateurs had not been so aggressive in this field, radio today would be twenty years behind the times."

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

"King of Alcatraz," with Lloyd Nolan, Gail Patrick, J. Carroll Naish and Robert Preston, is the fifty-first picture directed by Robert Florey since he filmed "Pusher-in-the-Face," first talking film released by Paramount ten years ago.

SHEN-BARKING STUNT

Wayne Morris nursed a pair of barked shins between scenes on location in Northern California with the "Valley of the Giants" company.

A veteran lumberjack was asked to show Wayne how to walk up the side of fallen redwood. Wayne scoffed at the offer of instruction and walked halfway up the curved surface himself.

Then he slid back down, paying the air, and the damage to his shins resulted. He tried it again—with instructions—and succeeded in the difficult stunt.

STARS IN TRAIN WRECK

Claire Trevor and Frank McHugh narrowly escaped death during the filming of the runaway train sequence for the Warner Bros. Technicolor feature "Valley of the Giants." Miss Trevor and McHugh were in the caboose of a logging train when the train jumped the track on a curve, over-turning several cars. The caboose stayed on the rails and the two stars escaped with minor bruises.

YOU'VE SEEN

The new "high-pile" coiffure being adopted by girls from coast to coast is called the "Zaza" hair-dress because Claudette Colbert wears it in the Paramount picture of that name. The period is 1904.

RARE BOOKS AID FILMS

Several dozen new volumes have been acquired by the Paramount studio research department for data for new pictures, including 36 rare bindings of the "Illustrated London News" dating from 1842 to 1893. These were used in aiding production research on "Zaza," in which Claudette Colbert will be starred.
