THE LISTENING POST

● I had an experience the other day which was most unique. It seemed to turn back the years, seemed to turn back the years, and for a fleeting instant I saw myself as I was nearly forty years ago, a schoolboy in the sixth or seventh grade. It is not often that a man can walk into a class room and have this feeling, but it came to me, and I saw the same teacher I knew and admired in those far-off days.

● When I was a youngster I lived in Hickman for a couple of years, and attended school there during that period. It was before the days of high schools, and the school in Hickman was then called Hickman College. It seems to me that in those days a frame building was always called a academy, and a brick building was called a college. At any rate, in the year 1902, the school at Hickman was called Hickman College, and I attended school there for two sessions. I remember that it was somewhat of a thrill to study geography or history, and while reading something about the Mississippi River in the text book, be able to glance out the window and see the river itself. I am afraid that I glanced out of the window entirely too much in those two years, for the river has always been an interesting thing to me. In those years steamboats were passing from the scene, although I did not know it, but the Lee Line was still operating between Memphis and St. Louis and Cincinnati, and during the ordinary school day it was possible to see many boats passing up and down the river.

● At that time, also, there was a transfer of freight cars between Hickman and Belmont, and I remember the big sidewheel City of St. Louis which made several trips a day between the two points. One of its trips down the river came shortly before noon, and I watched for it eagerly every morning, because it meant that mealtime was almost at hand.

● Miss Annie Shearon was the teacher in that room on the second floor of the old Hickman College building, and I still remember the eagerness she had in trying to share her knowledge with her pupils. I never had a teacher who appeared more eager, nor one who was willing to work harder at making a boy understand the mysteries of books, and through all these years I have remembered her and her bright, eager eyes as she worked at the discouraging task of teaching a room full of boys and girls who had so many things to think about outside of books and lessons.

● The other day I was going over the new school building with Supt. Calvin and I asked him about Miss Annie. "Did you attend school here?" he asked and then he told me that Miss Annie was still teaching the same age boys and girls. "Right in here," and we turned into a room opening off the corridor. There sat Miss Annie, just as eager eyed, just as smiling, just as competent looking as she was when I sat under her teaching. Naturally she did not know me. She did not even remember me, for thousands of boys have marched across her room in all these years, but she seemed happy to see one who had been one of her boys at one time.

FR Asks About Four Billions For Defense

Seeks One Hundred Fifty Million Dollars Appropriation For Defense

Washington. — President Roosevelt asked Congress today for an additional $3,512,311,197 for national defense purposes for the balance of the current fiscal year.

Of the total, $1,716,225,000 would be a direct appropriation and $2,096,086,197 would be in contractual authority.

There were these specific items: To expedite production of equipment and supplies, including erection of new plants and acquisition of land, $292,000,000, of which $107,000,000 would be for payments under contracts authorized in appropriation acts for this year. In addition, contractual authority up to $576,396,000 would be given the War Department.

Regular supplies of the Army: $10,000,000, of which $3,280,000 would be in contractual authority.

Clothing and equipment: $70,048,000, of which $50,700,000 would pay off previous contract authorizations.

Army transportation: $139,130,000, in addition to $8,256,000 in contractual authority.

Military posts: including construction of buildings and acquisition of land: $32,000,000, in addition to $113,237,888 in contractual authority.

Signal corps: $46,714,000, in addition to $17,049,550 in contractual authority.

Air corps: $888,236,000 cash and $524,025,000 in contract authority.

Asks Defense Housing Funds

Washington. — President Roosevelt asked Congress today for $150,000,000 to build community facilities in towns where he said an acute shortage impeded "essential national defense activities."

In a message sent from the White House to Congress, the President said that military strategy has required establishment of Army and Navy posts and defense plants near localities without adequate public service for large numbers of newly arriving workers. No specific areas were designated.

"There have been shortages of housing, insufficient sanitary and health facilities, overcrowding of transportation service, and inadequate recreational facilities," the message continued.

"In fact, this shortage of essential public facilities has handicapped our rearmament effort in some areas."

Camp Blanding Divides Men Along The Line Of Appetite

Camp Blanding, Fla. — In the year 1940, the Battle of Blanding was fought over grits and rice.

It wasn't really a major battle but it might have been, and so Army quartermasters decided they weren't going to run a chance of being flanked in 1941 over a matter of buckwheat or white flour, or mullet or halibut.

Want What They Want

South Fulton Is Seeded No. 1 In District

With two championships to their credit for the season, the South Fulton Red Devils will enter the Seventh district tournament, which begins today at Union City, as the Number One team. This district is made up of practically the same teams as the county, although four of the county teams have been shifted to District 6.

The South Fulton Red Devils have completed one of the most successful seasons in history, losing only three games to date. They brought home the Obion county championship after swamping Union City in the finals at Obion two weeks ago. They have also annexed the City Championship trophy, after defeating the Fulton High Bulldogs twice this season. This is the second year they have won the trophy and should they win it again next year, it will become their permanent possession.

In the first round of the tournament, the Red Devils will play Troy, the game being called tomorrow night at 7 p. m. If they win this, they will then meet the winner of the Kenton-Obion game in the semi-finals Friday night at 8:30. The finals will be played at 8:30 Saturday night.

Coach Haynes stated this morning that House, who has been out for a week with the measles was out for practice yesterday and will be back in the lineup tomorrow night.

Also Harwood, scoring ace for the Red Devils, who has been out with a bad ankle, is back and will make the trip to Union City. The 10 boys who will make the trip are: Harwood, McConnell, House, Dyer, Coffman, Brundage, Yates, Woodruff, McKinney and Wall.

The South Fulton outfit is favored to win this tournament with little difficulty, and if they win this, they will go to the regional tournament. The regional is made up of 16 districts and the winners of the district tournaments will meet and decide on the place for the regional to be held.

Girls Play Rives

The girls team of South Fulton drew Rives for the opening game of the tournament, tonight at 7 o'clock. Rives is the favorite to win the tournament, since Dixie is now entered in another district. Rives was defeated by Dixie in the finals at the county tournament.

FINAL NOTICE

To delinquent tax payers of South Fulton, Tenn., the taxes due South Fulton, Tenn., for year of 1937, 1938 and 1939 will be turned over to Chancery Court Clerk after March 1, 1941. We hope everybody who is delinquent on taxes will meet this obligation and save this extra cost. You are assured that city officials regret having this to do.

Nazi Greed Is Blamed In Report For Food Shortages In Europe

Washington. — Germany and not British blockade was blamed in an official report Monday for critical food shortages in the Nazi conquered nations of Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and France.

An Agriculture Department report said that in an effort to make up for food deficiencies at home the Germans had drained the subjugated countries of supplies which would have provided "somewhat better than minimum food requirements."

The report was prepared by Dr. Frederick Strauss, Agriculture Department economist, for study of defense officials. It is to be submitted to the White House early this week.

"Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France would actually be able," it said, "to feed their people, despite the British blockade, if Germany were not adjusting their agricultural economies to her own food needs and their industrial machinery and transport systems to her war effort."

"There are those who argue that we must send food to the conquered nations because their peacetime food imports were great and these have been cut off by the blockade. But these peacetime imports were needed largely to produce food surpluses (meat, dairy products, eggs) for export."

The report asserted that the conclusion that the conquered nations could solve their food problems if left alone "is inescapable if one pieces together such information as is available from official American sources, from statements of various European government spokesmen and particularly from the scant rations known to prevail in most of these countries."

Roosevelt To Seek Billions For New Army

Washington. — President Roosevelt is expected to send to Congress this week, perhaps Monday, a request for new billions for the Army.

Congress members concerned with military affairs said that the Budget Bureau still was studying many items and that they did not know what total would be asked. Conjecture in these quarters ranged, however, from $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000.

Billion For Bombers

Informed sources said about $1,000,000,000 would be requested to finance construction of 3600 bombing planes annually to be assembled at four new plants from parts fabricated by automobile factories. Another $1,600,000,000, one informant said, will be sought for ordnance of all kinds, including large numbers of anti-aircraft guns.

A major item in the request, it was understood, will be for additional defense plant expansion of all kinds. Chairman May (D., Ky.), of the House Military Committee mentioned $750,000,000 as the amount he heard would be asked for that purpose. Other legislators said it might be even larger.

House leaders said action was expected this week on a defense appropriation bill totaling more than $1,500,000,000 and including funds for development of Naval lookout posts at Guam and Samoa, Pacific islands.

The appropriations committee is scheduled to pass formally upon the measure Wednesday and send it to the House floor for debate the same day.

U. S. Barks At Releasing Ships To Reds

Washington. — Russia was reported Monday night to have failed in renewed efforts to gain possession of more than a dozen Baltic merchant ships held in American ports—a major point of friction between Washington and Moscow.

Authoritative sources indicated the Government had no intention of ordering release of the vessels, which have been tied up in this country since the three small Baltic states came under Russian domination last summer.

Officials Confer

Difficulties between the United States and Russia resulting from American export restrictions also appeared to be little altered after another long conference by officials.

Constantine Oumasky, Soviet Ambassador, spent more than an hour with Sumner Welles, Undersecretary of State, in a conference which was described as a continuation of the conversations in progress for several months.

Crack Tall Team Faces Bulldogs Here Tonight

Tonight basketball fans of Fulton will have an opportunity of seeing one of the best basketball teams in the entire district: Sedalia, beaten only by Hardin and Clinton in regular season play, and owning quite a winning streak in its own right, will face the Bulldogs in the final home game of the regular season. One other game will be played against South Fulton, but the Sedalia game winds up the regular home season, and only one other game remains on the Bulldogs schedule. This is against Hickman at Hickman Friday night.

Sedalia has one of the tallest teams in the district and plays a fairly slow game, with a zone defense which is difficult to penetrate. On offense if a shot is missed the Lions have a couple of tall boys who can stand under the basket and bat the ball until it falls through for a goal. How the Bulldogs will fare against this tall opposition remains to be seen, but rest assured the small home team will wage a hard fight. The Bulldogs ran up against a zone defense in Arlington last week and it puzzled them for the first half. In the second half Coach Giles sent them back with some new wrinkles in the way of offense and they tore the Arlington defense to pieces.

Naturally the Sedalia team is expected to win, but the Bulldogs will probably give a good account of themselves.

With the regular season almost over Coach Giles is now tuning up his team for the district tournament which opens in Clinton next week. Luck in the drawing gave the Bulldogs a better than even chance to reach the finals, and if that can be done the Bulldogs would go to the regional as runnerup, even if they lost in the finals. Clinton is almost a sure shot to represent the district in the regional, and if the Bulldogs could play as well in the tournament as they have played in many different games during the season it would be possible for them to sail through the lower bracket and face Clinton in the final game. Naturally all this is theoretical, but it is possible and Coach Giles will try to tune up his machine for this very purpose.

As a matter of fact, his team has had a much better record than teams during past years and the boys have enough fighting spirit to upset better teams.

Stump Drive Against War Threatened

LaFollette, Clark, Danaher Condemn Lease-Lend Bill

Washington. — Looking beyond the forthcoming Senate action on the lease-lend bill, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), declared today that if the measure were passed, its opponents would conduct a campaign from coast to coast in an effort to keep the United States out of war.

"I am going to stump the country, and I am going to try to get other Senators to do likewise," he told reporters. He said that some other Senators had already agreed to address mass meetings "from Boston to California."

Meantime, warnings that the bill means war were shouted to the Senate by Senators LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), Clark (D-Idaho) and Danaher (R-Conn.), as the spidery steel girders above the chamber echoed to a seventh day of tense debate on the measure.

"People of America, you are on your way to war," exclaimed Clark, a tall slim figure in a brown suit, pacing up and down in the rear of the Republican seats and pausing now and then to bang his fist on any desk that was handy.

Propaganda At Work

"You are moving to war on a turbulent cataract of untruths and propaganda. You are being driven there by international financiers who will coin money out of the blood of your sons."

LaFollette, quoting a speech by his father before him on the same floor to show that the Versailles treaty-makers were not "peace-makers" but "war makers," asserted that "modern war has become such a destructive process that it cannot achieve its announced objectives, no matter how lofty or how venal they may be."

In contrast to Clark's restless pacing and sweeping gestures, the stocky LaFollette stood at his desk and read his address.

His body vibrated with the vehemence of his words as he declared that the British aid measure "gives the President power to create a state of war," leaving to Congress "merely the Hitler-Reichstag power of saying 'Ja' after the act has been committed."

Nazi Secret Police Director Urges More German Children

Berlin. — A German "victory of weapons" must be followed by "a victory of children," says a new magazine which appeared Sunday under the patronage of Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police organizations, including the Gestapo, or secret police.

The magazine, "Victory of Arms—Victory of Children," declared that the new German family for which national socialism is preparing a new era should have from four to six children.

Germany, it said, needs an ever increasing number of babies to meet the needs for hands to perform the tasks "which time and destiny are thrusting at the Reich."

Two Weapons

In a foreword addressed to the Blackshirt elite guard and the police, Himmler said: "Two weapons are available to every people fighting for its existence: its power to defend itself and its natural fertility."

"Don't forget," he wrote, "that the strength of arms alone cannot assure a people existence into the distant future, but that an inexhaustible fountain of fertility is also necessary. Read this magazine which I give you and conduct yourselves accordingly so that the victory of German arms may be followed by a victory of German children."

Must Be Of Nordic Blood

The magazine opened a campaign to preserve and increase "Germanic Nordic blood" to which, it was insisted, the future belongs. Many photographs were presented of the Nordic idea of what the new German era mother should look like. There were also pictures of "undesirable" types with the explanation that both may guide a young man in the selection of a wife and that he should be right away.

MUSSOLINI MAKES A SPEECH

A few years ago Benito Mussolini, the war lord of modern Italy, could make a speech which caused cold chills in various parts of the world. Even the British, although despising Italy and her presumed military might, had some fear of the Fascist naval and air forces, for these were rated rather high at the time. Once or twice Mussolini forced the British to back down and when the Fascists actually entered the war against England, many people felt that it was the beginning of the end of the British Empire. Germany had proved to be plenty tough and Italy was presumed to be quite similar to the Nazi model.

Things have changed a great deal since those days when Mussolini could roar and rattle a sword. The other day Benito made a speech—his first since November—and there was a marked change in his speech and in his manner. There was a certain humbleness in his words, and perhaps an unspoken hope that matters were not as bad as they appeared to be. In effect, about all the comfort Benito could offer his hard pressed people was that Germany was going to help them. Their own efforts had failed and Mussolini, sensing the fact that many of his people were discouraged and critical, decided it was time to cheer them up. The only good cheer he could offer was that Nazi armed forces were taking their places in the fighting lines where the best the Fascists could do was to suffer stinging defeats.

Mussolini also gave some figures which reveal the staggering reverses which have been suffered. From Mussolini's statements, it appears that in Italy it has been said that the High Command did not put out enough effort in the African campaign. To refute this belief Mussolini said that 14,000 officers and 396,000 soldiers had been sent into Libya. Along with this great army went vast supplies in guns, tanks, ammunition, trucks and the other things which make up modern armis. Mussolini himself said that this was an imposing force.

It may have been an imposing force from the Italian standpoint. In all probability it was much more imposing than the British Army of the Nile. From all press reports it appears certain that the British never had as large an army as did the Italians. But it did have the driving power, the striking force, which a victorious army must have. When the proper time came this Army of the Nile struck with such withering force that the great army Mussolini had sent out began retreating and has never ceased retreating to this good day. The Italian dictator says that the British struck "five or ten days before his army was ready," but the facts are that such an army should have been ready at all times.

Now about all Mussolini can tell his people is that this great army has suffered a complete defeat, but the Germans are now coming to extend help. In other words, Benito and his men could not do the job, but Hitler can, and the Axis powers will march side by side until victory is won. This statement comes on the heels of an official order cutting the supply of fats, including oil and butter, by one half, effective March first. It appears quite likely that Mussolini has a lot of worry on his hands, with the certainty that these worries will become more acute before many months.

EXTREME AND ABSURD

(From The Kansas City Times)

The extravagant statements of Senator Nye are a fair sample of much of the Senate opposition to the British Aid Bill. Unfortunately this opposition—from both Democrats and Republicans—has in many respects descended to the level of extreme and even ludicrous contentions. It is calculated only to delay action and confuse the real issue in the public mind.

Take a few of the Nye contentions. One of them is that the bill would authorize the executive to "make foreign alliances." This clearly ignores the treaty making powers of the President as set forth in the Constitution and as limited thereby to a two-thirds vote of approval from the Senate. Certainly this bill could confer on authority above the Constitution—or restrict any constitutional authority now existing. Nor would it delegate any authority as to "alliance" that has not been held by all Presidents in the past.

Again Senator Nye holds that under the bill the Executive could "give away all or any part of the Navy" and "dispose of every scrap of defense materials in the country." In other words, Mr. Nye is saying that the total value of our Navy and our entire defense is only $1,300,000,000.

For this is the valuation figure fixed in the bill as a limit not only on existing "defense articles disposed of in any way" but on defense articles that may be procured from defense appropriations now made.

This leads into the future assertion from Mr. Nye that the entire cost of "Britain's war" or later of a world war could be saddled on the United States. The charge is based on the assumption that the bill would permit unlimited expenditures and without the consent of Congress.

The contrary is true. So far as disposal of defense material goes, the bill authorizes it to the value noted. But the measure itself does not appropriate one dollar. It merely authorizes procedure with all bills looking to expenditures. What amounts may be or shall be appropriated would be determined later by Congress and on the authority of Congress alone. The administration is not given a blank check.

Senator Nye should know, and probably does. His charge is as absurd as the added contention about authority to "junk all laws that protect labor" or to "send naval vessels into the war zones as convoys"—the latter and similar acts being specifically forbidden insofar as it can be done under the Constitution.

The Senate objectors are making a poor impression on the country. If they have valid arguments to support their position they have given scant evidence of it to date.

SWITCH ENGINES RUN
BY RADIO IN CHICAGO

Chicago — The two-way radio—a modern aid in chasing lawbreakers or directing airliners—is being used to run down box cars and keep track of switch engines.

Radio sets have been installed in the roundhouse and several switch engines at the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company's Proviso yards to determine whether direct and constant communication will speed up movement of freight.

Without radio, a switch engine crew is handed orders and is out of touch with the roundhouse until it concludes its task.

RATIONING IS APPLIED ALUMINUM SUPPLIES TO MACHINE TOOLS

Washington.—The government today applied a sweeping system of rationing to aluminum and machine tools, directing that defense needs for those products be filled first.

The order, issued to "speed up" the national defense program, meant that the supply of those important products for civilian use have been drastically reduced for the time being, informed sources said.

The rationing, known as a mandatory priority system, was announced by E. R. Stettinius, Jr., director of priorities in the office for production management. It was the first such industry-wide rationing to be ordered since the start of the national defense program, and OPM officials indicated similar orders would be applied to other industries in the near future.

Nickel, nickel-steel, tungsten and neoprene a synthetic rubber were among the commodities mentioned by officials as "probably due for some degree of priority action."

Progress Is Reported In Ending Strikes

A nine-day strike by an A. F. of L. electrical workers union at the Farnsworth Television and Radio Corporation at Marion, Ind., which has $300,000 worth of contracts for military radio equipment, was settled Sunday and progress was made toward adjustment of other labor disputes affecting defense production.

Officials of the C. I. O. Automobile Workers Union and the Nash-Kelvinator Corp. at Kenosha, Wis., which has a $3,000,000 order for Army trailers, reached a tentative agreement to avert a threatened strike, subject to ratification by union members later this week.

Other Progress Made

Representatives of a C. I. O. clothing workers union and Cluett, Peabody & Co. reported "some progress" in negotiations over strikes at Troy, N. Y., Atlanta, Ga., and Leominster, Mass. Federal and state mediators renewed conferences with the A. F. of L. Automobile Workers Union and the Motor Wheel Corp. to end a strike which has tied up $1,400,000 of defense orders at the Packard Motor Car Co., in Detroit.

United States conciliators awaited the results of a vote of 7800 members of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers on whether to end their strike—the largest in the Nation—at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plant, Milwaukee, which has contracts for $40,000,000 worth of defense materials.

The strikers will vote Monday on whether to accept terms of an agreement made by company and union officials at Washington Feb. 16 with the aid of officials of the office of production management.

The union called the strike nearly five weeks ago in demand for an all-union shop and increased wages.

Miners Want Contract

On the other side of the picture, a spokesman for the C. I. O. United Mine Workers served notice that there would be "no work" in the coal mines after April 1 unless a new working agreement is reached with the operators by then. It previously had been reported that the miners would continue work on the old terms pending the outcome of the negotiations, with the new terms to be retroactive to April 1.

BORAH LAND OFFERED FOR HOSPITAL'S SITE

Washington — Thirteen acres of land, acquired years ago by the late Senator William E. Borah for the home he never built, were offered by his widow today to the State of Idaho as a site for a tuberculosis hospital at Boise.

"The only condition I attached to this gift was that the hospital, as contemplated in State legislation, should be named the William E. Borah Memorial Hospital," said Mrs. Borah.

"The Senator and I had often dreamed of the home we would build on this tract when he retired from the Senate at the end of the term that he was serving when he died," Mrs. Borah added.

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.
