THE LISTENING POST

● I read something the other day, which, if true, will make moving pictures much more enjoyable to me. Since reading the item, I have been scanning the screen closely in the hope that this will come to pass, but thus far it has failed to materialize. However, it may be that it is on the way and here's hoping.

● The item which I read stated that in the near future moving picture producers planned to do away with the several hundred feet of film now devoted to the various screen credits. Those who attend the shows regularly know what is meant. When a film is first started there will be several hundred feet which give a more or less intimate history of all the folks who cooperated in making it. The public, which is presumed to be greatly interested in such things, will be informed that the picture was directed by a certain man. Further the information will be given that the story was written by a certain person, that the play was done by a certain person—or, as usually is the case, by two persons—the sound recording was done by a certain person, the gowns were designed by a certain person, the musical score was done by another person, and so on and on and on, until there are times when I think I can bear it no longer. There are times when I am interested in the director, and at times I like to see the screen credit for the story, but frankly, I never care for the identity of the person who did the musical score or the one who made the gowns. I feel that all these folks have been paid for their time and trouble and so why should I spend my time in watching these things unwind from the film?

Certainly all this is purely personal feeling, and I have no way of knowing whether others share in such feelings. Perhaps everybody else likes all this preliminary—although I notice a lot of talking and moving around going on while all these are being flashed on the screen. However, I am merely speaking for myself, and hoping that what I read is quite true. I can hardly wait.

● I noticed the other day that Damon Runyon, one of my favorite writers, advanced a radical idea as to how to better enjoy the pictures. Runyon says that all moviegoers should take rest periods from attending shows, and while such a remedy would not please the showpeople, it might result in better enjoyment of picture. Runyon, always amusing in his whimsical thoughts, says that until last fall he was seeing at least one picture a night and many times looking at three. He suddenly became aware of disturbing symptoms. These all began with a confusion of memory. He could not remember whether it was Don Ameche who played Rhett Butler with a South American accent, or Tyrone Power in a mustache. He could not remember whether it was Hette Davis who wore a sarong or May Robson. That is what I call really forgetting.

● Runyon said that he laid off the pictures for several weeks and then, after carefully conditioning himself with a dinner of turnip greens and hog jowl, he attended a picture and found it delightful. Curiously all the critics said the picture was a flop, but it seemed fine to Runyon. I wonder if the turnip greens and the hog jowl or the rest period caused this feeling of satisfaction. Turnip greens, even without the hog jowl, will cause a great feeling of contentment. I never liked the jowl, and so never tried it, but I know turnip greens make the world seem a better place in which to live.

Movement Is Launched For New Building

Petition Will Be Circulated Here Among Voters To Learn Sentiment

The Fulton Board of Education is now preparing to take active steps in the plans for erecting a new building to replace the ancient Carr Institute, which has seen more than a half century of service, and which must be replaced within a year. It will be remembered that some time ago the state board of education granted a permit for the building to be used for not more than two years, and this permit expires in July, 1942. After that time the building must be replaced.

Some time board officials consulted with the Works Progress Administration and received definite encouragement that help could be secured through that federal agency. Members of the board have also inspected some of the buildings that the WPA has erected, and found the work good. At Sedalia a magnificent building is now being erected at a cost of more than $100,000, of which the WPA will play more than one half. It is the belief that a new building here will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, and this would mean a net cost to the school district of $50,000. The board feels that now is the time to move, when half of the building cost will be borne by the federal agency. It is not likely that such an arrangement will be possible after this year.

An increase in the tax rate will be necessary for defraying the cost of the proposed building, Supt. Lewis says that the increase will probably be 20 cents per hundred, making a total rate of $1.45, or five cents per hundred under the legal limit.

The board wishes to ascertain the desires of the voters and taxpayers on the question, and Monday petitions will be circulated over the city. The Parent-Teachers Association and the Young Men's Business Club are doing this work.

Three years ago similar petitions were circulated and then the vote was about 90 per cent in favor of a new building. It is hoped that the vote may be as decisive at this time.

States Debate Passage Of Strange Bills—Dogs Affected In Colorado

Chicago. —It is barely possible that you won't be allowed to blow an automobile horn at any living object in Connecticut this year.

Actors and athletes may have to use their right names in Maryland, and the dogs of Colorado are in danger of losing their first free bite.

Yes sir, the law-makers are at it again. These are just a few of the peculiar measures that have turned up in the legislative hoppers to date.

Ohlsen Keeps Trying Representative Gus Kasch, who is the champion introducer of bills in Ohio—although he hasn't had one enacted yet—is trying again this year with a measure that would make it a felony to sell or give cigarettes to women.

The future of rabbits hangs suspended in Colorado and Maine. The Senate of the Western State is considering classifying them as predatory animals so that they may be shot on sight. A Maine bill reads: "Rabbits are hereby declared to be domestic animals."

For the committees on licenses there are California bills to license well diggers, parrot salesmen and members of women's hockey and Massachusetts bill to furnish free fishing licenses to folks over 70.

Red For Naughtiness The Pennsylvania House is pondering a proposal for vari-colored automobile licenses—white for good drivers, yellow for fair drivers and red for naughty ones.

Into the department of drug stores, outdoor life and horned toads falls these other advances toward the perfect State:

An Iowa legislator proposed to prohibit drug stores from selling lawn mowers and coffins, but his bill might suffer the same fate as the Washington measure which placed refrigerators, spring-filled mattresses and horse collars on the banned list. The reactionaries defeated it.

Teeds Defended The West Virginia Senate voted to make the tufted titmouse the official State bird. "When it goes up a tree it goes head first," a Senator said of this forthright creature. "When it comes down it comes head first. It never backs down from anything." The House refused to go out on a limb with the titmouse, however, and there the idea died.

In New Mexico, where horned toads are now caught, dried and pinned on cards for the tourist trade, it is proposed to protect them from death on the ground that they eat red ants.

A Vermont bill to prohibit the importation of wild animals was hastily withdrawn when a House member pointed out it would keep the circus from coming to town.

Bulldogs Unable To Hold Sedalia —Lose 37 To 17

The Bulldogs absorbed one of their worst defeats of the season at Sedalia Hall last night when the Sedalia Lions, one of the tallest and best teams in the district, handed them a stinging defeat by a score of 37-17. The Bulldogs gave all they had, but it was not enough as set plays failed to penetrate the tight Sedalia defense, and many times the Lions were able to tip a goal in after missing on the first effort.

Sedalia swept to a 6 to 0 lead in the first quarter, and the half ended 16 to 8. It was only in this quarter that the Bulldogs managed to do much scoring, and in the final half they managed to score only nine points, while the Lions scored 21 points.

McAllister was high for Fulton, with 5 points, all others scoring four points each except Spence, who was so thoroughly covered by tall men in the center slot that he rarely got a chance to shoot.

If the Bulldogs had enjoyed a little better luck on several crisp shots which were barely missed the score might have been closer, but in all, it was a case of a good big team walloping a good little team.

Last night's game was the last of the season for the local force. The final game will be played in Hickman Friday night, and the district tournament starts Tuesday night in Clinton. Fulton has a fairly good standing in the Conference this season, having won ten and lost six.

Lineup: Fulton (17) Pos Sedalia (36) McAllister, 5 F. Ford, 1 McCollum, 4 F. Crockett, 8 Spence, 4 C. Cavender, 10 Moore, 4 G. Vaughn, 2 McClellan, 4 O. Kesterson, 11 Substitutions: Fulton—Browder, Hannah, Davis; Sedalia—Matthia, 4 Williams, D. Yates, Referee, Phillips.

Pups Also Lose

The Pups also went down in defeat to the Sedalia Cubs, 23-17, in a ragged game. Reed was high point man with 7 points, while Hassell had 6. Williams and Davis both fouled out.

Lineup: Fulton (17) Pos Sedalia, (23) Reed, 7 F. D. Yates, 4 Williams, 5 F. Butt, 2 Davis, 4 G. Williams, 13 Browder, 4 G. L. Yates Meacham, 6 G. Simmons, 4 Substitutions: Fulton—Hart, Toth, Holloway, Hassell; Sedalia—McClellan, Referee, Parker.

Lewis Cites Evil Effects Of Gaming As Attack Is Made On Bingo Games

Frankfort, Ky. —Strong conviction against encouraging the gambling instinct among boys and girls, as well as belief that gambling is illegal, are responsible for the stand taken by Assistant Attorney General Jesse K. Lewis.

In response to recent queries, he has given his opinion that bingo games and movie theatres' cash prizes come under the State Constitution's ban on lotteries, and that "punch boards" would be banned from the malls if Federal postal regulations were enforced.

The opinions, backed up by Attorney General Huebert Meredith, are not something of recent date. Lewis said he had been studying the questions since 1937. In 1938 he advised Gov. A. B. Chandler to veto a bill designed to legalize movie theater prizes.

The tall, 40-year-old Lewis is an active member of the Christian Church here, as he was at his home in Grayson where he practiced law and served as City Attorney. He speaks with the quiet smile and soft voice of his Virginia ancestors, who came from the same family as did the Lewis who explored and helped win the old Northwest Territory.

"It's not only my convictions as a church goer, but also from just plain common sense," he said, "I'm against encouraging gambling, and above all among the youth of the land. There's no question as to its being illegal. Whenever public sentiment is aroused it will be stopped."

Stimson Says Air Corps Has 4,000 Planes

Reveals Sale Of Old War Material To Great Britain

Washington. —Secretary of War Stimson has advised the Senate foreign relations committee that the strength of the army air corps is now approximately 4,000 planes.

Stimson's testimony before an executive session of the Senate group was made available today by committee members after the war secretary had reviewed the transcript and deleted several passages presumably because of their confidential character. The testimony was given during hearings on the British-aid bill.

The regular Army Air Corps, Stimson testified, now has approximately 3,700 planes and the National Guard, about 300. Slightly less than half are tactical planes, bombers and fighters, he said. The remainder were classified as trainers.

British Ground Defense O. K.

Stimson reported that Great Britain considered her ground defense against aircraft to be "in excellent condition without any help from us."

One British anti-aircraft gun, he indicated, had created a very favorable impression on American technical experts and might be adopted for use by the United States armed forces.

Two Defend Bill

During the day, Senators Murray (D-Mont.) and Barbour (R-N.J.) had gone to the defense of the bill. Murray said it "undertakes to insure as against involvement in the war by empowering the President to give material and effective aid to those countries whose defense is necessary to our defense."

Barbour asserted the conclusion was "inescapable" that Britain's survival "is essential at this crucial hour to the defense of the United States."

On the other hand, Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), making his first Senate speech, appealed for rejection of the bill "lest American boys give their lives to define the boundaries of African colonies." The passage of the measure probably meant war, he said, and in this contention he was joined by Senator Shipstead (R-Minn.).

MRS. ALEXANDER INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Nora Alexander was painfully injured this morning about 8 o'clock when she fell down the steps at the home of Mrs. Guy Gingles, Fourth street. She was taken to the Fulton hospital for X-ray, and it was found that no bones were broken although she was badly bruised and shaken up.

She was taken to her room at Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Jackson's on Third street.

School Board Members Are Held Liable In Bus Damage Claims

Frankfort, Ky. —School Board members who fail to require insurance of persons operating school buses under contracts are personally liable for accident damages, in case the bus operator is insolvent, in the opinion of Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman.

He advised O. P. Roper, an Up-ton attorney, the law requires school boards to include liability insurance clauses in contracts for bus operation. He added that where boards operate the buses themselves, insurance is discretionary and that the boards, being State agencies, are not liable for damages.

Read Funds Given Herdman advised Brookridge County Attorney A. Murray Board that money set aside in a county budget for road machinery can be diverted to other road work.

However, it can not be used for other than road work.

Cities of the fifth class lack authority to mortgage their property, Herdman informed Prentiss M. Burton, Lexington, assistant secretary of the Kentucky Municipal League.

Mayors and commissioners of third class cities must be property owners, Herdman said in a letter to A. Clooney, former Mayor of Mayeville.

Herdman explained the law authorizing the compensation of government in such cities did not specify that, but that it did state that all such cities must have a mayor and commissioners.

most residents of such cities must be property owners, he added.

Young Men In Regular Session Here Last Night

Many Matters Of Community Interest Are Discussed At Meeting

At the regular business meeting of the Young Men's Business Club, held last night in the Rainbow Room, the following business was transacted.

The president, H. O. Wright, who presided over the meeting, reported to the club on a meeting held the night before with leaders of various civic organizations and others to discuss the fair grounds purchasing problem. He reported that the price set by the Fair Association was $6,500.00. This was accepted by the committee on the condition that the money be forthcoming. Various members of the Y. M. B. C. gave opinions and after a lengthy discussion, the club voted to start the donation towards this project with a $400 contribution. The plans and set-up of the committee on the purchasing of this property will be announced later when plans have been completed with representatives of all civic organizations. The following men of the Y. M. B. C. will appear before other clubs to make talks on the fair grounds situation. Gilbert DeMyer will appear before the Chamber of Commerce, J. E. Fall, Jr., will talk to the Rotary Club, F. A. Homra will talk to the Lions club, Hendon O. Wright will speak before the Woman's Club, and L. Kasnow will talk before the Elks Club.

H. L. Bushart of the wild life committee reported that a sports club has been formed in Fulton, named "The Fulton Sportsman's Club." On the first day's attempt to secure members, forty-two men were put on the roll. Members' fee to this club is $1.10 per year for appropriation. This includes a sports magazine, quarterly, twenty-five cents goes to the state, ten cents goes to make a farmer a member of a club such as this, and seventy-five cents will remain in the treasurer. Mansfield Martin was selected as temporary secretary-treasurer, until a meeting can be held for organization. Anyone interested in becoming a member are to see "Buck" Bushart or Lawrence Holland.

F. A. Homra reported that the West World Wonder Shows are signed for the Ken-Tenn Exposition, the date of which will be either the week of September 8 or September 15. This show travels by railroad, owning its own train which consists of twenty double length cars. The show has 15 rides and 20 side shows. It will come to Fulton direct from the DuQuoin fair in Illinois.

A committee was appointed by the president to investigate the possibilities of the Illinois Central running a special train from Fulton.

HITLER MAY HAVE SOMETHING

In the most recent speech by Adolf Hitler one significant thing stands out. This one thing does not concern the war primarily, but the peace which may follow after war has ended. It has to do with the new order which Hitler hopes for, or which he knows must follow such an exhausting war. It deals with the economic changes which may be in store for the world when and if Germany wins.

Hitler in the course of his speech said that the German economic struggle was finished. "Today no one can build a state on the capitalistic basis," he added. "In the long run people start moving and if anyone should believe that the awakening of peoples can be prevented through wars—on the contrary, that will speed up the awakening. Such states will sink into financial catastrophes which will destroy the bases of their own financial power. The gold standard will not emerge as the victor in this war, but, instead, national economies will emerge victorious. They will do the necessary mutual business. In the future peoples will not accept regulations from any banker about their trade policy. They will conduct their trade policy as they see fit. We can safely say that Germany is a tremendous trade factor, not only as a producer, but also as a consumer. We have a large market, but are also a large buyer. The other nations may keep their gold; we do not need it."

It is rather generally known that Germany is carrying on the most costly war in history without money. Germany has had no wealth as such is generally reckoned since the World War. By a system of forced labor, by the use of barter, by many new tricks of finance which were not dreamed of a generation ago Nazi Germany has done very well, and actually seems to have learned the secret of doing without money as the world has generally considered money.

Now it appears that the so called revolution which has swept Germany and Italy, and which has brought new theories into the world, will also completely wreck the system which we in this nation have always considered the best and only financial system. If Germany wins this war it means the end of the capitalistic system in Europe and England, and it appears doubtful that the American system could continue with so large a part of the "world on the German barter system. Germany has been using synthetic things for an entire generation and now claims to have reached the period of synthetic money.

There are many people in this country who reason as Hitler reasons. It is no trouble to find many people who deride the great accumulation of gold in this nation. The United States now has the greater part of the world's supply safely buried in Kentucky, and many of our own people see a great danger in such a policy. They will seize on Hitler's words as proof of their belief, and perhaps there may be some argument for such belief.

It is quite significant, however, that

ROTARY CELEBRATES ITS BIRTHDAY

It was 26 years ago, on February 23, that Paul P. Harris, a young Chicago attorney, gathered together a few of his friends and proposed the idea of forming a sort of club. His plan was simply for the group to meet occasionally at the places of business of its members. He was used to small-town life and that friendly atmosphere wherein a stranger had little chance of remaining a stranger for long.

Paul Harris believed that friendship among businessmen could not help but be of mutual benefit to all, and that good would come from an organization in which all businesses and professions would be represented. The idea was an excellent one, and it caught on. It spread throughout the land, and to other nations. As Rotary grew in size, it grew in its capacity for the accomplishment of good. Around the turn of the century there was dire need of a reform in business practices. Rotarians, as business and professional executive, recognized that need and believed that through their influence and activities, not only in their particular business but throughout the entire craft of which their business was a part, they could do much in fostering, promoting and practicing higher business ethics and standards.

Evidence of their success is the fact that more than two hundred trade and craft associations have adopted codes of fair practice as a direct result of Rotary's efforts. It followed, quite naturally, that Rotary clubs should adopt community-betterment activities as one of their basic objectives, and they have done that.

The Rotary movement gained an international aspect, and it was soon evident that great potentialities lay in the direction of betterment of international relationships. Friendships were founded in international conventions, and they led to understandings that promoted good will between citizens of different nations. So Rotary adopted as one of its basic endeavors the promotion and fostering of international understanding, good will and peace.

The idea that Paul Harris had back 36 years ago today has become an ideal which has spread to every corner of the globe. There are now more than 5,000 clubs in more than 60 countries. Their membership runs to over 210,000.—Sun-Democrat.

Hitler's men made a systematic effort to plunder all gold possible in the invaded and conquered lands a few months ago. It is quite likely that he would still like to get his hands on some of the gold that has fled before the march of his armies—but if he should conquer Europe and England, and all gold still remained in the United States it will bring about some disturbing problems in the peace which would follow a German victory.

ton to Milan, Tenn., so that Fulton may have more workers living here. This committee is composed of Paul Bushart, Robert Graham, Thomas Exum and Joe Hall.

Vernon R. Owen, chairman of the T. V. A. committee, told the club that Mayor Paul Demyer has reported to him that there will be another meeting in Murray in the next two weeks and asks for a committee from the Y. M. B. C. to attend.

The Board of Education of Fulton is asking the Y. M. B. C. to sponsor a petition among the taxpayers of the school district, to find out whether these taxpayers want a new school building or not. The text of this petition and the plans of the board were explained by Y. M. B. C. Chairman Bill Browning, who asked that the club comply with the board's wishes and the motion was carried. Browning was made chairman of this committee with some twenty members assisting him.

The Fulton-Hickman District Boy Scout Council is asking that the Y. M. B. C. sponsor another Boy Scout troop in Fulton, to be made of older boys, from 15 years up. This troop will be called the Senior Scout Troop. The club consented to sponsor this new troop.

Two new members were introduced to the club. They were Ben Sax-on of Miller-Jones and Leroy Latta of U-Tote-Em. Three new members were elected. They are Donald Hall, Boyce Dumas and Louis Weeks. The attendance contest now being conducted is proving a big success with Milton Exum's group leading Enoch Milper's side, 65 to 56.

Boltz Mercy Plea Rejected As Long Term Is Meted

Philadelphia. —Robert J. Boltz, 54-year-old financial counsellor who pleaded guilty to defrauding clients of more than $1,000,000, was sentenced Monday to twenty to forty years in Eastern Penitentiary. Rejecting a plea of mercy by Boltz' counsel, Judge Eugene V. Alessandronia termed the case "one of the most shocking in the annals of the court."

The defendant displayed no emotion. His wife was in the crowded courtroom.

Boltz had pleaded guilty to 136 indictments but was sentenced only on eight. He also faces arraignment on 102 Federal indictments charging mail fraud and violation of the securities and exchange regulations.

Marines Sleep As "Kidnapers" Smashes Bus

San Diego, Calif. —Tell it to the Marines? Huh, let the Marines tell it.

Several of them, weary after Saturday night leave, boarded the Camp Elliott bus long before its scheduled departure and fell asleep; sound asleep.

Someone kidnaped the bus, smashed into a bridge approach and fled before bewildered passengers could figure out what had happened to them. No one, luckily, was injured.

Police—not the Marines—went into action searching for the volunteer chauffeur.

POSTMAN FINDS NICKEL AND RESULTING RED TAPE COSTS NEW YORK CITY $25

New York. —One man's honesty proved by his reporting the finding of a nickel cost this city an estimated $25, red tape being what it is.

Louis Posner, a mail carrier, found the nickel in Brooklyn. He reported the find to his superintendent and filled out "the usual form" as directed.

Then a study of the rules and regulations showed that it wasn't a federal matter since the coin hadn't been found on federal property. The super, therefore, told Posner to take it to police headquarters four miles away.

TwentyNine Fulton Countians At University

All but seven of the 48 states are represented in the second-term enrollment at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, which closed February 17, and 117 of the 120 counties in Kentucky are also represented in the student body. While there was a drop of more than two per cent from the second semester registration for the school year 1939-'40, voluntary enlistment and the dropping out of students seeking jobs in defense industries accounts for a percentage of this loss.

Seven foreign countries and possessions, including Africa, Canada, Canal Zone, China, Egypt, Mexico, and Puerto Rico sent one or more students to the University of Kentucky this semester.

Among those students registered at the University from Fulton County are: Ellen Jane Purcell, Fulton; Winna Frances Price, Fulton; Ben David Sublett, Cayce; Agnes Sublett, Cayce; Louis Preston McNeill, Hickman; James Otis Lewis, Jr., Fulton; Elmer Lynn Houston, Fulton; Clyde R. Hill, Fulton; Samuel Ernest Hancock, Jr., Fulton; Paul James Durbin, Fulton; John Allen Dunn, Fulton; Anna Mary DeMyer, Fulton; Reeves Davis, Hickman; Felix Maurice Gossum, Fulton; Hugh Patterson Earle, Fulton; Mary Mozelle Crafton, Fulton; George Boyd Crafton,

Perfect All-Grain Flavor
3-BOTTLE TEST
PROVES STERLING'S BEST

• You probably won't even need all of one bottle to convince you Sterling is "top" for flavor. But, you're a rare one if you aren't a 100% Sterling fan before you've finished your third bottle. Sterling's flavor really gets you because it's due to natural brewing with grains and grains only. That means the utmost in tangy, refreshing, true-beer flavor beer-wise folks demand. ... Why not start a 3-bottle test of Sterling right now?

Stiffer Laws On Political Gifts Asked

Washington. — Maurice M. Milligan, who directed a grand jury investigation of the handling of funds in the 1940 political campaign, reported to Attorney General Jackson Tuesday that laws covering political expenditures and contributions were "fatally defective" and "unenforceable." Accordingly, he made four suggestions for strengthening them.

Milligan, a special assistant to the Attorney General, submitted his report after the jury earlier in the day had informed Judge James W. Morris of the District of Columbia District Court that it had found no evidence justifying indictments.

The jury concluded that "excessive" sums of money had been collected and spent, but without violating the letter of the Hatch Clean Politics Act.

Tinkham Wants Ban On All Ship Movements

Washington. — Representative Tinkham (R. Mass.) said Sunday that he would seek to put Congress on record as opposed to dispatch of any American warships to the British Naval Base at Singapore.

In a statement, Mr. Tinkham said he would introduce Monday a resolution which also would declare that Congress was opposed to "intervention in the wars of Asia." Mr. Tinkham said it was "being repeatedly stated publicly" that President Roosevelt was "proposing" to send warships to Singapore.

"At present Great Britain and Japan are menacing each other in Asia," the statement said. "Should any part of the United States Fleet go to Singapore, such action could not fail to be regarded as a hostile and provocative act deliberately undertaken to lead the United States into war with Japan.

Gillette Decries "Smear" Evils In Campaigns

Washington. — Armed with extensive samples of "smear" material, Senator Gillette (D. Iowa), said he would place before Congress alternate legislative remedies "for the intolerable situation existing in scurrilous and evil campaign literature."

"It is high time," he told newsmen, "that Congress should try to curb the destructive appeals to race and religious prejudices in political campaigns."

As chairman of the special Senate committee appointed to police the recent national elections, Gillette made a nationwide sampling of "scurrilous and indecent campaign literature." He made clear, however, that he acted on his own initiative in suggesting legislation.

Gillette already has filled two huge scrapbooks with political advertisements, cards, pamphlets, and similar material sent to the Senate committee after his appeal to political leaders and the public.

"Most of this rotten stuff is anonymous," he said. "That offends and, approach for a legislative cure."
