Carnival proving quite an unsuccessful.

The rain of yesterday was so heavy that the torrential rush of water from the streets and sewers caused considerable damage to property. The water level was so high that many streets were flooded, and the city officials were kept busy repairing the damage. The damage to property was estimated to be in the thousands. The city was not able to handle the heavy traffic and the roads were so muddy that it was difficult to get around.

Injured Man.

A man was injured yesterday evening when he was struck by a car in an accident on the street. The man was taken to the hospital and is expected to recover. The accident occurred when the man was crossing the street and was hit by a car. The driver of the car was cited for speeding. The accident was reported to the police and an investigation was conducted.

FRONT PAGE OF TODAY.

The suits are not yet final today as an appeal is pending in the First City Rail Company case. Judge May Crockett vs. J. E. Edwards was heard yesterday. The Moses Alexander's little girl was brought up in the name of his son, who is in the service, and the suit was filed by solicitor and counsel. The suit was filed by the father of the little girl, whose name was misspelled in the papers.

Partial Facts of Personnel

Cleanliness is accepted as a rule of self-preservation in every reputable brewery.

An experienced brewer would no more boast of the purity of his beer than a gentleman would brag of having washed his face.

Purity signifies nothing more than the absence of foreign matter.

For that reason brewers who do not take care to keep their beer always pure on harp.

A really first-class brewer, however,
not alone be free from self-evident defects,
does not mix up all the positive excellence
kn0wn to the science of brewing.

THE TRUE TEST IS ALL-ROUND QUALITY which cannot be had without SUPERIOR MATERIALS, PERFECTION TREATMENT AND AMPL"E STORING CAPACITY.

Upon this issue of positive superiority we challenge all competitors.

Two Policemen Shot by Negroes—Much Talk of Lynching.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 2—Hopkinsville is in a state of excitement as a result of the alleged murder of a Negro here. James Douglas, 18 years old, was apprehended here yesterday on a charge of murdering Policeman E. J. Dougherty of this city. He was later turned over for William L. Bayne. The city council at a meeting last night charged the Negro with the murder of his cousin, J. W. Martin, a highly respected negro who was shot by Officer Dougherty. The Negro was charged with the murder of Officer Dougherty. The Negro was charged with the murder of Officer Dougherty.

igan's Electric Light Plant.

The electric light plant owned by the city is like all plants. Construction work was by the ‘nightingale’ Everything started that plant has its ups and downs, and even in its best moments there is always that sense of uncertainty about the future. A few years ago the city council decided to invest in an electric light plant. At the time it was considered the right move for the city, and it has been the subject of much discussion and debate ever since.

The plant was built on the outskirts of the city, far from the crowded downtown areas. At first, it seemed like a good idea. The city council hoped that the new plant would provide reliable and affordable lighting for the citizens, while also helping to reduce the city's carbon footprint.

But as time went on, problems began to arise. The plant was expensive to maintain, and the city council found itself struggling to keep up with the costs. Some members of the council began to question the wisdom of the original decision to build the plant.

In recent years, the situation has worsened. The city council has been forced to cut back on maintenance and repairs, leading to a decline in the quality of the lighting service. As a result, the city has had to increase its rates to cover the costs of the plant, causing much grumbling among the citizens.

Despite these challenges, the city council continues to try to find solutions. They have considered selling the plant to a private company, but that idea has been met with strong opposition from citizens who believe that the plant is a valuable public asset.

In the end, it seems that the city will have to find a way to balance the competing demands of maintaining a quality lighting service while also keeping the rates affordable for its citizens.
