FARMERS BANK WILL MAKE OUT CHRISTMAS SAVING CHECKS SATURDAY

ACCIDENTS and disasters can happen at any time, and one of the best ways to ensure financial stability is by saving money. The Farmers Bank is offering Christmas savings checks to promote financial security for its customers.

The bank will make out saving checks to anyone who has participated in the Christmas savings plan. These checks can be used for any purpose, and they are a great way to save money for the holiday season.

To receive a Christmas savings check, customers must have made regular contributions to the plan throughout the year. The bank will provide a statement of savings at the end of the year, and customers can choose to receive a check for that amount.

The Christmas savings plan is a great way to save money for the holidays and beyond. It is an easy way to set aside a little money each month, and it can provide peace of mind during times of need.

Please note that the bank will only issue checks for amounts that have been saved in the plan. If the customer has not made regular contributions, they will not receive a check.

The bank encourages its customers to participate in the Christmas savings plan to ensure financial stability and peace of mind throughout the year.

IN INDUSTRY

"THE NEW TEND IN INDUSTRY"

"The new trend in industry is moving in the direction of improved efficiency, with the design of machinery and the utilization of labor-saving devices. There is a marked increase in mechanization and the utilization of the factory system. The trend is towards the development of new products and the expansion of existing ones. The emphasis is on the production of goods and services of greater efficiency and higher quality. The capital investments in these new industries are expanding, and the need for a more skilled labor force is increasing.

The trend towards mechanization and the utilization of labor-saving devices is being driven by several factors. The increasing cost of labor has led to the development of new technologies that can replace human labor. The demand for higher quality products has also contributed to this trend. The growth of the industrial sector has been accompanied by an increase in the production of goods and services. This has led to the development of new industries and the expansion of existing ones. The trend towards mechanization and the utilization of labor-saving devices is expected to continue as the industrial sector continues to expand.

BETTER SERVICE COSTS LESS

The numerous rate reductions made in recent years have taken a large slice off the bill for railway freight service to the American people. The 1928 bill was $152,000,000 less than the same amount of 1921. The 1928 freight bill was $71,000,000 less than it would have cost at the average rate of 1922 and $840,000,000 less than it would have cost at the average rate of 1921.

But that does not tell the whole story. While the price of railway freight service has been going down, its quality has been going up, and the better service has saved additional money for shippers and receivers of freight.

These additional savings have come chiefly from the improved speed and dependability of railway freight service. The freight service has reduced interest charges on the value of goods in transit, and more dependable service has enabled dealers to reduce the size of their reserve stocks and thus to make savings in the cost of carrying inventories. Better service also has helped to make the flow of business more responsive to changes in buying habits and conditions, and that has meant savings.

Further savings have come from the safer handling of freight. Shippers have had fewer claims for loss and damage.

The savings from lower rates, large as they are, considerably understate the total savings in the costs of business generally for which the railroads have been responsible.

Restrictive conditions and suggestions are invited.
