ERMA LEE LAWS

By ERMA LEE LAWS
There are words like FREEDOM sweet and wonderful to say. On my heart, strings FREEDOM sing all day everyday. There are words like LIBERTY that almost make me cry. If you had known what I know you would know why... Langston Hughes.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVITIES... went like this FOR: Evie and Odell Horton a family reunion with Evie's mother, Mrs. Thomas Miller and Odell's mother, Mrs. Odell Horton, Sr., in their hometown Bolivar. The presence of Odell's brother U. S. Army Captain Sidney Horton and his wife Greta and children Cynthia and Sidney Jr., made the occasion a very joyful one... you see the Captain is just back from Viet Nam where he won a Bronze Star. He was cited with the Silver Star in the Korean War.

Evie's an only child and always looks forward to getting together with Odell's family and their children Odell III and Christopher were delighted at the thought of seeing their cousins. Mrs. Horton, Sr., has much to be proud of, Odell, Director of City Hospitals, and Sidney home safe from the war, a daughter teaching in Bolivar, a son in Lane College and another son in the U. S. Army.

And Thanksgiving day found the Pinkston Clan gathering for dinner at the home of Maria and Dr. Charles for a bountiful meal... plus family fun.

Hearty diners included Margaret and Atty. George Brown, Jr., and their Larita and Hank, Alfred Brown who was home from Meharry Medical School, Migonette and George Brown, Sr., Joyce and Howard Pinkston with their lovely Paula home from Dana Hall, Howard, Jr., and Gene, the matriarch of the family, Mrs. G. F. Pinkston and Bernice Pinkston Williams and her daughter, Myrna.

The little Charles Pinkstons Toya, Nicci, Carmen and Bonnie were happily playing hosts to their young cousins.

Orphelia and Dr. Jimmy Byas spent the Holiday Season jolling on the beaches of the Bahamas Islands with friends from the East from whence Orphelia hails.

And Ida and Atty. H. T. Lockard journeyed down to Indianola, Mississippi for a family reunion with her family.
Louise Iles was here from Marshall, Texas where she is on the staff at Wiley College. She was avisting her folks, dad, Charles, Sr., brothers and sisters in law, Charles and Evelyn Iles and their Kathy and Leo and Rose Iles and their Rosalind.

And Robert and Tex Nash were here from Washington, D.C., visiting his parents the Robert Nash Seniors. Robert is the architect who designed Tom Haynes homestead during his college days at Howard University and his wife is an accomplished artist.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Martin, Sr., were here from Chicago visiting his brothers and sister in law, Dr. B. B. Martin and Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Martin.

Meandering... A doff of the wig to Norman Brewer on Channel 5 for the marvelous editorial he gave last week on the results of the Poor People's Campaign waged in Washington last summer by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. It was marvelous to hear him speak in positive tones about the gains made in the allocating of Federal Funds to programs to help the poor.

To those who would be misled by the voices of opposition to the Civil Rights Movement this is but an example of what can be done by sticking together. And just think it all started with a dream. With your support SCLC and other Civil Rights groups can escalate the gains to that the third phase of the movement... the economic phase will become more and more a reality for all people. Our eternal thanks to the Dreamer, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.!!!

And Saturday the Saturday Luncheon Group met at noon at the Living Room and here too there was talk about "The Dream." Jenny Riggs, Mattie Sengstacke and Carol Lynn Yellin were hostesses to the group which has swelled to about eighty-five strong. This appropriate time to share their meeting with the Beale Street Nursery School children for whom they bought toys for the upcoming Christmas Season and members of the Welfare Mothers organization who marched Wednesday to ask for clothing for their children. Two of the mothers spoke and asked for support in their struggle for human dignity.

And then there was Fr. Barry from Chicago who will bring the Spartan Players from Hales Franciscan High School in the heart of southside Chicago who will stage "Westside Story." The nationally recognized all Black troupe was invited here by Booker T. Washington High School, St. Thomas and St. Louis to stage the dramatic musical. It is their tribute to the dream of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Get tickets and catch the play at St. Louis Center Saturday December 7, at 7 p.m., Booker T. Washington Sunday December 8 or Monday morning at Booker T. at 8:30 a.m.

Our felicitations are extended Dr. Hollis F. Price, who was named "Educator of the Year" by Greater Memphis State.

J. Leonard Oxley of Harrisburg, Penna., and his bride were here with the musical "I DO! I DO!" for which he wrote some of the music and plays the piano. They received a warm reception from the Tennessee State College chums Anderson Bridges, James "Smitty" Smith, and O'Ferrell Nelson.

Anne and O'Ferrell have a permanent memento of the evening they entertained the couple... a tape of some music he played during the party.

We were so sorry we were unable to make a luncheon for Booker T. and the MGs when they returned from France but hear tell from Whittier Sengstacke, Jr., and Edward Harris our TSD photographer-writer duo that it was a blast. We're real impressed with Gigi Booker T's wife she's pretty, young and oh so level headed!!!

Oops we did it, got our wires crossed and didn't give the straight dope on the Pan Hellenic Council Art Show. The artist was Luther Hampton who demonstrated and lectured and not the one we reported last time. So sorry!!!

Sigmas Will Present The New Folk Singers

Three chapters of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority here celebrated Founders Day with a dynamic address by Mrs. Helen Owens, a member of the Nu Sigma chapter at Jackson, Tenn. Her subject was "Black Power."

Mrs. Owens explained that to an assembly of chapters including the Alpha Omicron of Le Moyne-Owen College, Gamma Chi of Memphis State University, and the graduate chapter of Omicron Sigma.

Mrs. Owens explained that the phrase, "black power," was recently given wide publicity after having been referred to by Stokely Powell, but that it had been used earlier by Richard Wright, the author of a book entitled "Black Power."

"Black power means different things to different people," she said, "but to us, as a group, concerned, it should mean that we are going to be reasonable and responsible; it means that we must have pride and unity if we are feeling the impact of Mrs. Owens' address, the members of the campus chapters took on several projects, among them a tea given last Sunday at the Sigma House on Saxon. The young women are collecting items to send to servicemen in Vietnam."

Members of the Sigma chapters are busy distributing and selling tickets for the presentation of the New Folk Singers in Bruce Hall of Le Moyne-Owen College on Monday, Jan. 13.

One of the advance men for New Folk Singers, George Reutzel, was in Memphis recently to make sure that everything will be in readiness for the outstanding group of singers who are sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ

International and all of whom are dedicated to Christ. The members of the group have given up a year of college to sing with the organization, and then return to school the following year.

Miss Mattie Anderson is chairman of the New Folk Singers project. Mrs. Bernice Fowler is president of Omicron Sigma chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority.

FASHION FREEDOM... The freedom first fashion trend that made mini skirts de rigueur from Omaha to Oahu soon will have average women wearing one-piece, neck-to-toe garments and even flirting with the nude look, says Henry V. Kobin, head of U.S. Industries Apparel and Accessory Group.

"Of course, it is going to be awhile yet before you'll see housewives walking down the streets in Keokuk, Iowa in body-stockings or see-through blouses. But the demand for greater convenience and comfort in women's wear is firmly established now, and we expect it will have a long run," he says.

The head of one of the nation's largest apparel producers also sees the following emerging trends taking hold—bra-dresses eliminating need for foundations; and he-she coordinates and greater emphasis on pants for women.

HOLIDAY EMERGE... This Christmas help your man emerge from his drab camouflage, suggests the Jewelry Industry Council. Consider: pins for the roll of his turtle-neck, stone-set identification bracelets, and even charms.

Also: heavy pendants in motifs for masculine apparel, heraldic or primitive in design. Opulence? Give him a chain of cultured pearls, dangling an impressive pendant of hammered gold and precious gems.

BATHING LUXURY... New bath oil and perfume capsules have the look of pearls. Designed to be tossed into the bath by the handful, the "pearls" dissolve to release the fragrance and essence of mink oil, a new emollient which softens and moisturizes the skin.

PRESSING TIPS... Press clothes made of metallic fibres as little as possible. Use only a cool iron. Use a thin press cloth during pressing to help prevent tarnishing of the metal fibers.

Do not press leather or fake leather. If the seams become a bit scraggly, use glue or rubber cement in place of the iron to flatten them out.

A needle board — a board with thousands of tiny needles — is necessary when pressing pile fabrics such as velvets and corduroys.

SPORTS HORIZON

Morehouse College displayed some slick ball handling and parlayed that asset with some blinding quickness to upset LeMoyné College, 102-99, in its home opener last Saturday night in Bruce Hall. It was the Atlantans' first visit here since 1957 when Don Clendenon, now a first-baseman with the Pittsburgh Pirates, was a hardwood ace with Morehouse. The House waited 11 years to avenge a close defeat at the hands of the '56-'57 Mad Lads.

The key to the victory was the fast start of the visiting Tigers who mounted a 48-35 half-time lead. LeMoyné spent most of the first 20 minutes trying to shake its first game jitters. However, with Coach Jerry Johnson using the intermission to regroup his Magicians and making necessary adjustments, LeMoyné came out for the second half and took deadly aim on the hoop. After a quick flurry LeMoyné had made an amazing comeback to take a narrow lead about midway through the period. Morehouse staged off the LeMoyné onslaught and once again took command of the game with balanced scoring.

Forced to foul late in the game when their pressure defense failed to rattle Morehouse, LeMoyné fought an uphill battle in an attempt to pull the game out of the fire in the waning minutes of the game. Five Morehouse players hit in double figures with LeRoy Vaughn and Fred Daniels showing the way on identical 25 point performances. John Mitchell threw in 15, Tom Woodhouse got 13 and pivot man Fred Denaghn pumped in 12 to round out a solid offensive quintet.

Ed Hoskins, former Melrose star, made his debut for LeMoyné and gave the Magicians a punch with a 23 point effort. Hoskins showed flashes of brilliance with some good offensive moves and toughness on the boards. With some much-needed improvement on his defense Hoskins could be the key to the kind of season LeMoyné will have. Steady Bill Meggett led the Magicians in scoring with 24. The diminutive playmaker continues to drive enemy guards out of their wits with his driving twisting layups. Jackie Robinson, the Magicians' number two point producer last year, showed he hasn't lost his shooting touch by garnering 19. Coach Johnson is hopeful that the Hamilton graduate can acquire the skills which will make him equally as adept at stopping his opponent from scoring. John Blair and pint-sized Jerry Dover had 14 and 12 points respectively for LeMoyné.

FISK HERE TONIGHT

LeMoyné should be well tested after going against Morehouse, LeMoyné Alumni, and Christian Brothers. The latter two were to furnish the opposition earlier this week before the Magicians take on Fisk tonight in Bruce Hall. The visiting Bulldogs, coached by veteran Bus Thompson, eked out a close 82-78 win over Lane College last Saturday in Nashville.

TSU COPS OPENER

Tennessee A&I traveled deep into Cajun country to present new coach Ed Martin with a victory. The Big Blue had a nerve racking experience in downing Southern University, 102-99, in Baton Rouge, La. The Tigers were pushed to win in overtime.

Mack the following day in Shreveport at the Southwestern Athletic Conference meeting and he wasn't pleased with a ruling which he felt cost his Jaguars a victory. The game was allowed to go into overtime according to the ex-TSU assistant when his team was deprived of a point. The Jaguars were shooting the bonus free throw when the first shot was rolling on the rim and tapped in by an A&I player. Southern was awarded two points but an official changed it later and gave Southern only one point.

Magicians To Take On TSU Splashers

The swimming squad of LeMoyné-Owen College will invade Nashville, Saturday, Dec. 7, to take on the Tennessee A & I State University splashers.

The Memphians will face the swimming crew from Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute here in the Bruce Hall pool Monday, Dec. 16.

The Magicians dropped their opener Saturday afternoon to Morehouse of Atlanta, 67-25.

Magicians Will Host Rust, Fisk Next Week

The Magicians of LeMoyné-Owen College will play two home games on the Bruce Hall court next week. They'll go against Rust College of Holly Springs, Miss., Monday night, Dec. 9, and take on the Fisk University Bulldogs of Nashville on Friday night, Dec. 13.

There will be one more contest for the Memphians before the Christmas holidays and it will be on foreign soil against Alabama A and M at Normal. The Magicians were busy this week battling the Alumni and Christian Brothers College, following their opener last Saturday night with Morehouse of Atlanta.

Morehouse snatched a 102-99 victory from the host team after successfully overcoming a second-half rally by LeMoyné-Owen. The Memphis outfit trailed 48-35 at halftime but made an all-out come-back in the final frame.

The Magicians were erratic at times and even looked bad when they failed to score with wild shots, but it must be said that they played an exciting game. A little more polish here and there and they'll be one of the top teams in the SIAC.

Bishop College Tigers Beaten 48-12 By TSU

By EARL S. CHANTON, III
NASHVILLE — Two seniors, quarterback Bob Shannon and flanker Joe Cooper, put a thrilling finale to their college grid careers as Tennessee State clobbered Bishop College, 48-12, in W. J. Hale Stadium before 6,000 shivering Home coming fans on Thanksgiving Day.

Signal caller Shannon threw three touchdown passes while directing the Big Blue to a 25-6 bulge by the end of the third period when he was relieved by freshman Joey Gilliam. Cooper signaled a scoring tally from Shannon and Gilliam.

With the Bishop victory, Coach John A. Merritt's Big Blue closed out the season with a 6-2-1 record. The Dallas-based Tigers suffered their second loss of the season in 10 starts.

With 6:23 showing on the first period clock, Shannon hit Cooper with a 31-yard paydirt aerial to which Joe Jones toed the extra point. Two minutes and 20 seconds later, Shannon capped a two-play drive with a 17-yard scoring strike to another senior, Elbert Drungo, and Jones missed the extra point try.

Bishop drove 55 yards in five plays that was kept alive by a pass interference call, and Ed Smith raced the final 17 yards to put them on the scoreboard in the second period. The Merrittmen carried a 13-6 halftime margin off the field.

The Big Blue scored twice in 16 seconds in the last two minutes of the third period. Taking over the ball on Bishop's 40, sophomore Albert Davis, carrying the ball four of five times, scotched over for the touchdown from the seven.

On the kickoff, Bishop's Theodore Brotherton fumbled the ball and Walter High recovered it on Bishop's 30. From there, Shannon hit Davis with a touchdown aerial.

The Merrittmen's defensive unit caught Bishop for a safety opening the fourth period and made way for freshman Gilliam's touchdown aerials to Cooper, Clarence Love and Maceo Coleman.

Ten Blacks In Rock Musical Here

Ten of the most multi-talented performers on Broadway this season are sharing the Billmore Theatre stage in Michael Butler's production of the American musical "Hair." The show, which opened last week, is a celebration of the Black Power movement and the hippie culture of the 1960s. The cast, which includes ten Black performers, is a mix of Broadway veterans and newcomers. The show's music, by Gerome Ragni and James Lapine, is a blend of rock, soul, and folk. The lyrics are a mix of protest and love. The show's costumes, by Michael Bennett, are a mix of 1960s fashion and Black Power symbolism. The show's set, by Michael Bennett, is a mix of 1960s fashion and Black Power symbolism.

The talented ten are: Errol Book, Donnie Burks, Lorraine Davis, Ronald Dyson, Tony Fields, Laeta Galloway, Emory Fields, Melba Moore, Delores Morris, and Chapman Roberts. None is a "big" name yet, but it is suggested that you file the list in the folder marked "Most promising." For most of them, "Hair" is a debut venture on Broadway, but they take to the Billmore stage, where "Hair" recently reached its 20th standing-room only performance, to sing, dance and act like seasoned troupeurs.

The Supremes are dressed in solidly buff-colored, sleeveless sheaths with handkerchief collars, embroidery executed in large paisley design in avocado green, emerald green, shell pink and antique gold. They are joined by the Temptations, who are wearing emerald green mood suits with ruffled trimmings. The Temptations' mood suits are a mix of 1960s fashion and Black Power symbolism.

Former Teacher Named To Humble PR Post

PELHAM, N. Y. — James S. Avery has been named public relations manager for Humble Oil and Refining Company's Northeastern Region, headquartered in Pelham.

He will be responsible for overall corporate public relations within Humble's largest marketing region, encompassing the states of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Rhode Island.

He will provide counsel to management on local environment and trends within this geographical area, and develop and implement programs designed to encourage company participation in urban affairs.

Mr. Avery replaces James E. Grady, who was named head of planning in the company's headquarters public relations department in Houston, Tex.

Active in civic, professional and charitable affairs at both national and local levels, Mr.

Avery is vice chairman of the Advisory Committee to the Vice President's Task Force on Youth Motivation — an effort to motivate the nation's minority youth to prepare for expanding opportunities in business and industry. He has served in this capacity since 1966.

He was recently elected as chairman of the Union County, N. J., coordinating agency for higher education, a nine-member agency with the goal of strengthening the higher education resources in the county.

In Plainfield, N. J., his home from 1954 through 1967, he served for the last eight years as a member of the city's Local Assistance Board, which supervises the activities of the Plainfield Welfare Department. In three of those years, he was elected board chairman.

Currently first vice grand basileus of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Avery was a national vice chairman of the last three annual campaigns of the United Negro College Fund.

He served three terms as national president and one as board chairman of the National Association of Market Developers, a professional association composed chiefly of executives and other management people in the sales and public relations fields. He continues to serve as a member of NAMD's board of directors.

Mr. Avery joined Humble in 1956 after heading the history department at the Cranford, N. J., high school, where he had been president of the student body and an outstanding athlete as a youth. He is a graduate of Columbia University.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS — Dr. Walter Cooper, center, an Eastman Kodak research associate in the Phototheory Research lab, has received the Distinguished Alumni Service Award from Washington and Jef-erson College. Dr. Cooper was honored for his work with the anti-poverty program in Rochester, N. Y., and the New York State Advisory Committee of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission. With Dr. Cooper

Information On Jobs

Typists operate the one machine found in practically every office—the typewriter. Almost all entry-level office jobs require typing as a prerequisite. There is a constant and a growing demand for workers in the category of Clerk-Typist since most clerical positions require some degree of typing no matter what the primary duties may be.

Employers prefer workers with at least a basic knowledge of office methods and procedures, as well as sufficient typing speed and accuracy to be productive. A typing speed of from 40 to 50 words per minute is considered the minimum acceptable for Clerk-Typist positions while workers classified strictly as Typists are required to type from 50 to 70 words per minute with accuracy.

Employee turnover is especially high among Clerk-Typists and Typists as well as other clerical workers because many young women do this kind of work for only a few years and then leave their jobs to remain at home and care for their families.

Clerk-Typist positions offer good prospects for advancement since some of the better paid positions which require a general knowledge of company policies and procedures are filled from within the ranks of the general clerical workers who have gained a background through experience with the company.

Entry wages for trained typists without experience range upward from $1.60 per hour. Salaries may range, higher than the minimum depending on the level of proficiency of the worker. The maximum wage will vary as to the size of the employer and the worker's responsibilities and duties.

A greater number of typists will be needed each year mainly because of the increase in the volume of paper work which will undoubtedly expand as businesses grow in size and complexity. Others will be needed to replace those who leave their jobs for various reasons.

PROJECT 100,000

High school or grade school dropouts can now continue their education leading to the General Education Development (GED) certificate while serving their military obligation. The United States Army has established a program called PROJECT ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND for school dropouts who score below normal on the Army qualifying entrance examination. Participants in the program attend a five-week course in basic education which will prepare them to receive the GED diploma and statistics show that of the number already enlisted under PROJECT ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND, 79 per cent are able to obtain their high school equivalency certificate. This program will provide opportunities, not only to further their education, but to receive training and skills that will enable them to qualify for better jobs in civilian life.

PROJECT ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND which requires only two years of military service instead of the regular three years active duty, became effective in December, 1967, but has only recently been publicized because of the increasing demands of the draft and the low educational level of many of the inductees. Further information about this project may be obtained from any local U. S. Army Recruiting Center or from the Youth Opportunity Center, 43 North Cleveland.

Esso Education Foundation Gives $2.7 Million To 300 Institutions

The Esso Education Foundation this week announced grants for the academic year 1968-69 totaling $2,700,000, with more than $1 million allocated for experimental and innovative projects probing the frontiers of education. The grants will go to some 300 colleges, universities and professional education associations.

Since its establishment in 1955, the Foundation has contributed more than $27,000,000 to institutions of higher learning throughout the United States.

The 1968-69 grants are being disbursed through seven programs: SPUR (Support for Promoting the Utilization of Resources), Educational Research and Development, Presidential Contingency, Capital, Engineering and Science, Special Assistance and Incentive.

The SPUR program was initiated in 1964 to underwrite innovations designed to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of undergraduate education. Since that time, more than $1 million has been allocated for 32 experimental projects. Four PURE grants have already been awarded this year, and it is expected that additional grants will be made early in 1969.

Educational Research and Development grants total $617,280. They will go to 20 colleges, universities, and professional education groups to underwrite projects and experiments which promise to benefit significant segments of higher education, both graduate and undergraduate. Additional Educational Research and Development grants will also be made later in the year.

Commenting on these two programs, M. L. Haider, chairman of the Esso Education Foundation and chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), said:

"Success in providing more and better education is vital to the future of our society. It is our hope that the projects supported today by our SPUR and ER&D grants will help to bring higher education a few steps closer to meeting the pressing needs of tomorrow."

Noting that support of such frontier-breaking efforts accounts for nearly 40 per cent of current disbursements as compared to 8 per cent five years ago, Mr. Haider added:

"In seeking the most effective use of its available funds, the Esso Education Foundation will continue to study the changing needs of higher education and to adjust the emphasis of its grant programs accordingly."

The Foundation's continued interest in other phases of higher education is reflected in the $1.6 million being awarded under its other programs.

In 1968-69, $500,000 will go to 172 private institutions under the Presidential Contingency program. Presidents of recipient institutions will be invited to use these unrestricted funds to underwrite the cost of unbudgeted items which they believe will contribute to the advancement of undergraduate education at their institutions.

Another $435,000 in capital grants will go to 41 private colleges and universities for development programs, specific building projects and the improvement of library and laboratory facilities.

Engineering and science departments at 69 private and public institutions will receive $273,000 in unrestricted funds to be expended at the discretion of the department chairmen.

Twenty-three Special Assistance grants in the amount of $259,000 will provide operating funds for specialized areas of higher education and organizations serving higher education.

Finally, $115,000 will be available under the Incentive Program for matching employee contributions to colleges and universities.

The Esso Education Foundation is supported by Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and some of its affiliates. Included are Enjay Chemical Company, Esso Chemical Company, Esso International Inc., Esso Mathematics and Systems, Inc., Esso Production Research Company, Esso Research and Engineering Com-
