The Democratic Highway Commission Vs. Sampson Controlled Commission

It is expected the Republican campaign opening at Hazard next week will draw from the speakers, including Mayor Harrison, nominee for Governor, a bitter denunciation of the Democratic Highway Commission. The Republican state chairman has already let the cat out of the bag. In a speech delivered recently to party workers he attacked the present commission. He mentioned no other issues. He did not talk about taxes because his candidate for Mayor wants to stay off that subject. The more that is said about taxes the less chance "Little Boy Blue" Harrison will have. He might have explained about the raise in the tax rate in Louisville from $1.85 to $2.40, and he might have said something about the increase in assessment on Louisville property of millions, striking at the poor wage earner who owns a small home. Four years under Harrison has "darned nigh ruined" the man of moderate means in the Falls City.

But if Mayor Harrison is to pitch his campaign on Ben Johnson and the Highway Commission let's get at the facts. Let's see what this Democratic Highway Commission has really accomplished. Let's compare their record of seventeen months with the Sampson-controlled commission, in office twenty-four months, and let's begin at home. What did Pulaski county get under the Sampson commission? Not one inch of road work, either grade drain or surfacing. Now let's see what the Democratic highway commission has done for us. Take this down—a concrete road from Somerset to Burnside at a cost of $150,000.00; grade and drain on the Somerset-Nancy road at a cost of $60,000.00; reconstruction of highway thru Science Hill and surface treatment at cost of $8,000.00; bridge being constructed over Cumberland River at Burnside at cost of nearly half million. Add this up and it will be found that the Democratic highway commission has spent and will spend by the end of the year $710,000.00 and this is not all. Next year, the commission will surface the road from Burnside south to the Tennessee line and will complete Highway No. 90 in this county. We ask the people of Pulaski county to compare the records of the two highway commissions.

Now let's turn to the state as a whole and see what the Democratic highway commission has done. The Sampson-controlled commission had available for the construction and maintenance of highways $34,645,455.98. The present State Highway Commission has had available from April 1, 1929, to September 1, 1931, $24,331,800.26. The Sampson-controlled commission constructed in the twenty-four months of its existence 1653.2 miles of highways, including all types of construction. The present Democratic commission has constructed in seventeen months 1801.4 miles of all types of road. The present Democratic commission has constructed in seventeen months 148.2 more miles of road of all types than the Sampson-controlled commission constructed in twenty-four months. The present Democratic commission has built twelve and a half times as many miles of high-type road in seventeen months as were built by the Sampson-controlled commission in twenty-four months.

The present Democratic commission has built 75 per cent more miles of high type than were built by all previous commissions from 1929 to March 14, 1930. The Sampson-controlled commission, in twenty-four months, had under maintenance 4476.964 miles of road. The total mileage of state highway under maintenance, by the present Democratic commission, is 5,125.989 miles or 648.925 more miles than were maintained by the Sampson-controlled commission.

The present commission has reduced maintenance cost per year per mile substantially and at the same time maintained the highways in better condition than they had ever heretofore been. The Sampson-controlled commission, in twenty-four months, surface treated 732.414 miles and regraded 284.529 miles. During the seventeen months that the present Democratic commission has been in office it has surface treated 792.654 miles and regraded 370.035 miles.

The Sampson-controlled commission, in twenty-four months, constructed only 42.8 miles of high-type road, including concrete and asphalt surfaces. The average cost per mile of the roads constructed by the Sampson-controlled commission in twenty-four months was $13,551.88. The average cost per mile of all types of road constructed by the present Democratic commission in seventeen months was $12,453.36. This saving in average cost of construction despite the fact that the average cost under the present Democratic commission is based on 5-inch thickness of traffic-

MAYFIELD PLANS BIG PARTY RALLY

Prominent Speakers, Big Burgoon Feast Will Push Democratic Cause.

The city of Mayfield will attempt to surpass Winchester and Bowling Green in entertaining the hosts of Democracy next month.

A mammoth rally and burgoon feast for Democrats of the First district will be held there sometime during the coming month, the date to be determined later. At least 15,000 visitors are expected to attend the event.

At a get-together meeting of Graves county Democratic men and women in the courthouse at Mayfield Thursday night, it was decided to accept an invitation to hold a district rally and burgoon in Mayfield during the state campaign.

A speaker of national prominence will be there for the principal address. All state nominees, including Ruby Lafoon, gubernatorial candidate, will be invited along with Senators A. W. Barkley, and M. M. Logan and others.

The meeting of Democrats there last week was enthusiastic and afforded party members an opportunity to greet Clarence Broadbent, Cadiz, and Mrs. John Lawrence, Paducah, district campaign directors, and J. Dan Talbot, Bardonia, nominee for state auditor. Talbot delivered an address on the importance of the present campaign to Democrats.

A delegation from Murray attended the conference and assured Mayfield of financial support if needed in staging the burgoon.

Callaway counties in attendance were: Dr. R. T. Wells, Tom Stokes, Dr. Ben Keys, chairman of Callaway county's Democratic executive committee; Hall Hood, campaign chairman; Elmer Beale, Harry Shedd and O. B. Arvas. Henry Lawrence, editor of the Cadiz Record, accompanied Chairman Broadbent to Mayfield.

Committees on arrangements will be selected during the coming week.

bound surface roads against 3-inch thickness of the same type of road constructed by the Sampson-controlled commission. Road asphalt surfaces, under the present Democratic commission, were also thicker based and wider surfaced than the construction under the Sampson-controlled commission.

In the sale of bonds for construction of the toll bridges in Kentucky the Democratic highway commission saved the state $230,000.00, having sold the bonds for that much more than the Sampson commission were offered for them. The old commission estimated that the total cost of the eleven bridges would be $7,823,000.00. The present commission obtained contracts for the construction of these eleven bridges at a total contract cost of $5,640,920.21—a saving of $2,182,079.79 under the cost thereof estimated by the Sampson-controlled commission.

The Municipal Bridge at Louisville with a total length of 5800 feet was constructed under the Harrison administration for a total cost of approximately $5,060,000.00. Under the present Democratic commission the Ohio River Bridge connecting Henderson, Kentucky, and Evansville, Indiana, designed and the plans and specifications drawn and prepared by the same engineers that designed and planned the Louisville bridge, was constructed for $2,003,126.52, a difference of almost $3,000,000.00. The total length of the Henderson-Evansville bridge is 13,387 feet; the total length of the Louisville Municipal bridge is 5,800 feet.

With these facts and figures we want to see the Republicans enter their attack in the coming campaign on the Democratic Highway Commission. The voters of Kentucky cannot be fooled.

Editor Cecil Williams, in Somerset Journal.

Is This the End?

Is this the end? No. Empirically, no. Common sense says it isn't. History proves it isn't.

It is truly amazing how flagrantly the experiences and lessons of the past are ignored; forgotten in times of depression just as they are overlooked in periods of prosperity.

There is something about human nature that makes us think when the sun is shining that old sorrows will always beam and when rain is falling that every day, on and on, will be dark and gloomy.

James Truslow Adams, distinguished historian and former member of the New York Stock Exchange, lucidly gives the picture in the following, condensed from an article in Harper's Magazine this past August. Read it, it's a lesson that's worth much to anyone.

"It has always been our habit to indulge in speculation, to over-discount the future, and then to pay the piper. The present crash is no new phenomenon. We went mad over real estate before the panic of 1837. Just as in 1837 people thought it was their last chance to buy 'equities' in the United States through common stocks, so, absurdly, people in 1835 thought it was their last chance to buy land in the country. All banks loaned money on real estate at fantastic prices, just as they did on stocks in 1929. When the panic broke North Carolina farms could be sold for only two per cent of their supposed value. In Alabama, it is said that half the whole property of the state changed hands. The failure of the great United States Bank in 1839 redoubled the fury of the storm. Nine-tenths of all the Eastern factories were closed, and the same proportion of their hands were idle. Book printing, furniture making, and some other trades completely stopped. A mob of 5000 men attacked the City Hall in Boston.

The panic of 1857 was not quite so severe, but mobs paraded New York with cries of 'Bread or Death', and the Sub-Treasury in Wall Street had to be guarded by Federal troops. The depression of 1873 was much worse; nearly 50,000 commercial houses failed between 1873 and 1878. In the next great depression, in 1893, railroads followed one another into receivership in endless line, until 169 roads had become bankrupt. Union Pacific stock sold at $4 a share and $15. Northern Pacific sold at 25 cents for a $100 share, and was also $15. There was such great labor unrest as to make many fear that anarchy had arrived. Yet after all these panics the recovery was rapid, and the scale of living rose to new heights.

Encouraging, isn't it? Reassuring that not everything has gone to the eternal bow-wows because the peak was not maintained. Despite the crash of 1929 and the great drought of 1930 there were fewer strikes last year than in any year since 1916 except one.

Mr. Adams concludes: 'As usual, we have rushed from one extreme to another. We probably used to ignore current problems too much. But now we have become immensely excited over everything.'

Well, Well, and Here Comes 'Howdy, Ed'

The political circus perennially staged by the Republican party in every state and national campaign will soon assume its natural color with the appearance on the hippodrome of the G. O. P.'s master clown, none other than 'Howdy, Ed' Morrow, chiefly known to fame as the hero of the Seelbach Hotel pajama fire.

Mayor Harrison, the dapper young man from Louisville, has folded his arms on his 'holier than thou' pedestal and announced that he will 'indulge in mud-slinging'. Well, why should he prance when the Republican party has Edd Morrow, than whom no greater or funnier prancer ever pranced?

Edd Morrow is a great entertainer, he can talk more, tell funnier stories, get longer and heartier laughs—and say less than anybody who ever lived. Just four years ago, Mr. Morrow galloped up and down the state with his wonderful and interesting allegory of the 'Four tuckers the land of milk and honey that awaited them when they elected Flem Sampson their governor. They did and what did they get? The talk soured and the money turned to vinegar.

God help the Republican party in Kentucky when Edd Morrow passes on—as mortal must. Who will tell the fables, who will fabricate the catch phrases, who will coin the colorful malings like Edd, Edd of the flaming pajamas? Why, we'll have to depend on such drab munny-men as Will Rogers and Eddie Cantor.

Mr. Harrison will not stoop to the old-time style of campaign oratory, he says. Why should he? Why should the rag-weed ape the orchid or the little candle pits its feeble flicker against the shining glory of the equatorial sun?

And just a year after he had helped bring the plague of Flem Sampson down on our hapless heads, 'Howdy, Ed' again emerged from the luxury of his Washington apartment and came back to Kentucky to plead, with tears in his eyes and tremors in his voice, for the election of Herbert Hoover and the continuation of prosperity. The prosperity of four-cent tobacco?

Mr. Morrow is fond of telling how he yearns for old Kentucky in Washington. But we notice that he never comes back to his native heath except to get some

Almost all automobiles have free wheeling now. But a lot of trouble has been caused by free wheeling with the steering wheel.

Claims were made that a million men would be employed if beer making were permitted. An actual survey showed that the actual number would be about 50,000. Here's a good standard by which to discount propaganda—take off about 95 per cent and you'll be about right.

Kentucky and Tennessee are both having some clamor for a new constitution. But what both states need is a little more respect for those they have.

Two businesses which do not look upon 1931 as a bad year are the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals.

We are now pleased to offer our own solution for the unemployment problem. The need for a great standing army to preserve domestic peace and tranquility is steadily growing. Why, just last week Iowa had to call out 2,500 troops to Cedar county where farmers were resisting veterinarian's attempts to test cattle. Our suggestion is to put all the unemployed men in the standing army. It looks like we could use 'em pretty well right now and, of course, everyone knows how the soldiers would put their money into circulation after pay day.

It is reported that there are

Help Get Crippled Children to Clinic

Any person who knows of a crippled child in this county is requested to send the name, age, parents' name and address to Dr. O. H. Evans, Murray. The family will then be visited by a member of the local committee or by Miss Merrill, field worker for the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, who will remain in this district until after the clinic on October 9th.

Arrangements for free transportation to the clinic are being made by Dr. Evans and transportation will be furnished any crippled child who has no other means of getting to Mayfield.

This will be the fourth clinic held in Mayfield since the creation of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission in 1925. Splendid results are obtained by this annual examination of crippled children.

Dexter News

The Almo Homemakers met with Mrs. Lock Hargrove Thursday, September 24. Ten members and one visitor were present. The lesson was given by Miss Wilgus in absence of the project leader. Other business discussed was election of new leader, vote on penny drill; talks and plans for the annual Homemakers' meeting October 8th, to be held at the court house in Murray; also plans were discussed and voted upon as to the next meeting place, which will be an all day event with Mrs. Wm. Reeves, a member from Dexter. Reports on canning and drying fruits and vegetables were very gratifying. All left expressing that it was a very interesting meeting.

The protracted meeting to have been held at the Church of Christ at Dexter, starting on 1st Lord's Day in October, was postponed on account of conflicting meeting dates of the same time. It will be held the last of October, the date to be announced later in Dexter news without fail. Change of date was noted after the announcement was sent to press last week. Everyone sore change of time and "Come when work is all done this fall".

Sunday was a day of great pleasure to Elder Orlin S. Rowlett of Richlo, Fla., son of Mr. Ves Rowlett, formerly of this town. When he arrived Saturday evening from Stewart county, to call on old friends, and to visit many boy-hood spots and above all to see the church of his faith, established since his departure from old home place. It was his pleasure to speak to the congregation here morning and night. He proved himself an evangelist of much talent for the spread of the gospel and Truth. The Rev. and Mrs. Rowlett, and three daughters spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Curd, and family. Elder Rowlett wishes to express thanks for the warm hospitality of old friends and enjoyed every minute here after an absence of 22 years. They extremely enjoyed the opportunity of visiting other relatives and friends of other places they visited, was through this county. Elder Rowlett has been serving as a servant of our Lord in South Florida for the past ten years for Church of Christ. He and Mrs. Rowlett have visited relatives in Montgomery county, Tennessee, also relatives in various sections of Stewart county, and Calloway county. They expect to motor to Nashville then on to Southern Georgia, and to visit later in Lake City, Fla., where he will commence a series of meetings. May God's blessings go with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kingins and Mr. Kingins' sister, Miss Lucille Kingins, were callers on Mrs. S. R. Curd, and their cousin, Elder Orlin Rowlett.

Mrs. Wm. Reeves is seriously ill of rheumatism at this time. Mr. and Mrs. Muncy Dodd and family motored over from Birmingham, Sunday. Miss Vera Thoma accompanied them for a visit with home folks here, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Padgett of Ripley, Tenn., motored here Friday to attend funeral services of Mrs. Padgett's uncle, Tink Walston.

Stella Gossip

Good rain here September 25. Best crop year in my life. I planted 10 cents worth of black stock peas, gathered enough seed to plant 4 acres; make 50 per cent more hay than whippoorwill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stone and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver Haneline and daughter visited Balus Haneline and family near Dover, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cochran, Bee, Florence, and James Earl, visited at Barton, Tenn. Richardson's Sunday, near Wigwag.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Thurmond of Detroit visited home folks this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Olan Cloys of Indianapolis, Ind., came in to Coldwater to see Mrs. Cloys' mother, Mrs. Tom Smith, who has tumor of the stomach.

Mr. and Mrs. Billingsberg of Chicago visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Woods, over the week end. It will be remembered that Mrs. Billingsberg before her marriage was Miss Thelma Woods and taught our Goshen school two terms.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Redwell of Texas attended church at Union Grove Sunday. They were in an auto wreck coming through Tennessee, so Mrs. Redwell, formerly Miss Hicks, had to use a walking stick with her sprained ankle.

Frank Hanley of near Kirksey lost a big barn of tobacco by fire (Lazy Ned Hen).

Bandits tried to rob Dumas Nix in his office in St. Louis, but not Dumas pulled the same gun that he captured the famous outlaw, Bill Doolin with back in the 80's. I saw on the screen in the Woodruff Theatre, "Hanging Out of Dalton and Doolin Outlaw Gang", and Dumas Nix was the main actor.

I noticed in my paper last week that K. Robertson and others (and Walter Stubblefield) made an auto trip to Victoria and Bloomington, Texas, but Walter's name wasn't in it, but more later.

Sisters Portray Sister Roles in Motion Picture

Two sisters playing sister roles in a motion picture is the interesting and novel situation developed in "Personal Maid," coming October 14 and 15th to the Capitol Theatre.

Nancy Carroll, the star of the production, has the role of Nora, a personal maid. Terry Carroll, Nancy's sister, is seen in the role of Nora's sister, Anna, in the picture. This is the first time that the Carroll sisters have played the parts of sisters in a film, although they have been seen together on the screen before, and frequently on the stage.

Nancy and Terry were together the first time they appeared on the stage. Together they entered for an "amateur night" contest, did a song and dance act in the Orpheum theatre, New York, won the contest and started their stage careers in a sister act. Nancy was only sixteen at the time she won notice with her "amateur act."

Terry has a part in Nancy's starring vehicle, "Stolen Heaven," and also appeared in the Clara Bow picture, "Her Wedding Night." Following those screen appearances, she returned to the stage for a part in the musical comedy, "America's Sweetheart." She gave up that part to appear in "The Wisest They Are," a J. Ed Harris production.

"I have been in quite a number of motion pictures," said Terry.

ry, "but I did not dream I had a 'fan' following until recently when I began to receive letters, requests for autographs and personal calls."

Terry is a blonde, about the same height and weight as the titian-haired Nancy. The youngest Carroll sister, Elsie, has black hair.

Chicken & Stardom

Two Went Hand in Hand When Marie Dressler Starred Role in "Politics"

Picking a chicken may mean just housework to some women, but to Marie Dressler it meant her first act before a camera after her promotion to full-fledged stardom.

For this is how she first is disclosed in "Politics," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy in which she and Polly Moran romp through the mazes of a municipal election. The new picture will come Friday and Saturday to the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Dressler is a home-loving housewife who, when she becomes disgusted with political conditions in her town, turns into a swash-buckling candidate for mayors, throws the candidate down to the political machine, rallies the women's vote, stages a "husband strike" to make the men fall into line—and rides to official triumph amid raids and reorganizations, thrills and even a few heart-throbs.

Has Dramatic Angle
Essentially comedy, the story has its dramatic moments, giving Miss Dressler an opportunity for some of the character interpretations that marked her roles in "Anna Christie" or "Min and Bill," together with antics more suggestive of "Caught Short" and "Reducing." Incidentally, the director of the latter two pictures, Charles F. Reisner, filmed the new production.

A notable cast appears. William Bakewell and Karen Morley have the leading juvenile roles, and John Miljan, polished villain of the screen, plays the sinister, sinister political ruler, Roscoe Ates, sizzling comedian of "The Big House," is seen as Miss Moran's husband, and other important roles are played by Joan Marsh, Tom McGuire, Kane Richmond and Mary Alden.

Poole-Parks

The wedding of Miss Ruby Poole, and Mr. Percy Parks of Murray, was solemnized at four o'clock Saturday afternoon, August 29, at Mayfield.

Mrs. Parks is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Poole of Murray. She is a graduate of Murray High School and at present is a senior at Murray State College. For the past four years she has been employed as teacher in the Livingston and Calloway county schools.

Mr. Parks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parks of Murray. He has attended school at Murray College, but for the past three years he has been in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Parks, an attractive blonde, wore a lovely navy blue ensemble, with egg-shell accessories.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Parks left for a short trip after which they are to be at home at Murray on College avenue.

Lynn Grove H. S.

Inspector F. G. Burd, supervisor of agricultural education, visited the agriculture department Thursday. A favorable report was given.

The agriculture 4 and 11 class, accompanied by Mr. Arnett, made a field trip Thursday. They observed the silo-filling at the home of Olive Parks.

Miss Parker, who is assisting Miss Lee in inspecting the Home Economics department of the high schools in the county, visited Lynn Grove Friday. The class was highly complimented.

The annual school fair will be held at Lynn Grove October 23rd.

The Calloway County Singing Convention will convene at Lynn Grove, Friday and Saturday, October 2 and 3. The program will begin at 1:30 o'clock with a 30-minute concert given by the Lynn Grove band. The ladies are asked to bring lunch to spread on Saturday.

At the Community Fair held at Lynn Friday, September 25, the Lynn Grove baseball team won over the Alto club 15 to 3. This makes the third victory for the Lynn Grove aggregation. The season closes in two weeks at which time basketball practice will start.
