Kentucky's economic progress is marked by a steadily increasing use of electrical energy for the operation of labor-saving equipment in the factory, on the farm and in the home for the illumination of streets and buildings of every kind.

Thus, during the twelve months ending December 31st, the number of communities which we supply with electric service increased from 2,702 to 3,148, including 219 coal mines; the number of additional factories, farms, homes, stores, offices, etc.

More than 1,000 men and women compose the Kentucky Utilities Company organization. They trust the public views our power stations and transmission lines as symbols of satisfactory service, square dealing and steady progress, because they constantly strive to merit such recognition.

There is going to be a lot of activity in the building line this year. Architects and contractors, carpenters and masons all, are busily sharpening up their pencils and their tools, and getting set for business. It is not the young married folks alone who are going to build homes—who dream dreams of happiness in homes of their own—but many other who have long, too long, been renting the roofs over their heads are going to try this year to realize their desire to have a home of their own.

Whatever you plan to do by way of building—remodeling—repairing, we want you to feel perfectly free to come in and consult our service department without the slightest obligation. Whether it's a big house or a bungalow, a new garage, new roof or new floor, a sun parlor or a sleeping porch, an alley fence, or built-in fixtures—we are prepared to give you unqualified service and lose profits on Quality Material.

LET US HELP YOU MAKE YOUR DREAMS COME TRUE.

There's More Work for Electricity to do in Kentucky

KENTUCKY'S economic progress is marked by a steadily increasing use of electrical energy for the operation of labor-saving equipment in the factory, on the farm and in the home for the illumination of streets and buildings of every kind.

Thus, during the twelve months ending December 31st, the number of communities which we supply with electric service increased from 2,702 to 3,148; the number of rural communities from 2,673 to 3,539; including the number of commercial power customers from 2,702 to 3,145, including 219 coal mines and 50,000 to about 58,000.

This constant use of our service requires a steady expansion of equipment and lines for producing and distributing electricity. To meet public needs we have to plan and build from one to five years ahead of actual demand.

A year ago we had some 1,600 miles of transmission lines. Today we have about 1,820 miles, covering most of the important sections of the state.

During 1930 we will spend close to $3,000,000 for construction and maintenance; for providing the advantages of electric service to additional factories, farms, homes, stores, offices, etc.

MORE than 1,000 men and women compose the Kentucky Utilities Company organization. They trust the public views our power stations and transmission lines as symbols of satisfactory service, square dealing and steady progress, because they constantly strive to merit such recognition.

FOOD LIKE YOU GET AT HOME

This is truly a bountiful time on the farm, the ranch and at the table. For this is the time of year when the fresh fruits and vegetables are at their height. Many patrons will testify that there is no difference between our meals and the meals they get at home. That's the reason they come here so frequently. Years of catering to the appetites of particular people make it possible for us to serve appetizing meals.

The next time you want to eat away from home, bring your family here.

There is a 100 feet longer distance from one coast to the other than there is between the poles. That is how far a man can reach in a motor car. But, up in the air, his journey is so much longer. He can fly from one end of his continent to the other. He can travel from coast to coast or from sea to sea. He can visit all the important cities on his continent in a week. He can visit all the important cities of his country in a day. He can visit all the important cities of the world in a month.

And so the man flies, and he flies with a sense of wonder. He is not only amazed at the marvels of the earth. He is also amazed at the marvels of the air. He is not only amazed at the speed of the car. He is also amazed at the speed of the plane. He is not only amazed at the height of the mountains. He is also amazed at the height of the clouds.
