THE LISTENING POST

Down in the vicinity of Milan there is a small community which bears the meaningless name of "Graball." I have seen the place many times and wondered just why the name had been selected. Perhaps naming the place was prophetic, for here at the tiny village of Graball the headquarters of the mammoth shell plant were set up. In this connection I am borrowing a column today from the more or less vitriolic pen of Joel Clark, who edits the Greenfield Gazette. Mr. Clark has been on the ground since the boom started and probably knows as much about it as any other man. Hear him:

"The American people have so accustomed themselves to Uncle Sam in the role of Santa Claus that the natural and immediate reaction to the Wolf Creek Ordnance Project at Milan is to regard that vast expenditure for our protection as another New Deal hand out and many of us are inclined to look upon that Shell Plant as a kind of reward for 'Easy Money.'"

"We have mastered so well the art of 'Grab' in the WPA, NYA and other New Deal programs, that all of us simply considered it to be a logical conclusion when headquarters for this latest program was established at 'Graball' to do just that and grab all possible. With WPA appropriations of a few hundred thousand offering the easy life to so many, the staggering figures that reach into the millions have completely wiped out all sense of balance and there is no definition for property values."

"All of us are discussing freely the greed and grab of the others and in its turn each group comes in for its public censure for the abuses of which it is guilty. We have yet to find the man qualified to cast the first stone."

"The land owner who sold out for the highest possible dollar is a poor critic of the home owner who is asking twenty or thirty dollars per week for one room. The landlords who have increased their rents three fold on their stores can say little about the exorbitant prices of the merchandise to be sold."

"Labor Union organizers are being severely censured for 'shaking down' men who come to Milan for a job. There are men employed down there as carpenters who know little more about that profession than the difference between a hammer and a saw and they are paid a dollar and more an hour. Who are they to howl about 'shake down'?"

"The contractors are figuring on making all they can. Merchants are pouring into Milan for just one purpose. Hotels and restaurants are being operated on a basis to realize the greatest possible gain. Not one land owner complained about being paid too much. Workers are swarming to Milan because they hope to get more money than they are worth. Labor Unions of long standing and some that never existed before are filling their treasuries with the tributes of the helpless and hopeful. Street barkers, bootleggers, quick change artists and representatives of the seven cardinal sins are and will be in Milan in large numbers. And those not yet in on the deal are racking their brains for a way and an idea."

"Who is there among us to complain of 'graft'?" Who should be the first to scream 'shake down'?"

"Graball. The name and the place were already there. The Shell Plant gave it a meaning. Let us forget the Wolf Creek Ordnance Project is for Defense."

Bethlehem, Harvester Strikes End Mediation Board Negotiates Three Settlements

Two major strikes affecting defense industries were settled Sunday, one of them by the Government's new Defense Mediation Board.

The other, involving 8,000 C. I. O. steel workers at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's huge Cambria works at Johnston, Penn., ended when strikers ratified a settlement agreement reached in a company-union conference late Saturday.

Almost 15,000 striking C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers voted to return to work at four Midwestern plants of the International Harvester Company, accepting a Mediation Board settlement plan. The company has $10,000,000 in defense orders.

Two Others Settled

Two other major strikes were settled over the week-end through efforts of the supermediation board, which went into action four days ago. These involved 1,400 C. I. O. employees of the Universal-Cyclops Corporation at Bridgeville, Penn., and 25,000 A. F. L. workers at the Cornell Dubilier Corporation at Plainfield, N. J.

With the Harvester settlements, the N. D. M. B. boasted a 7:50 per cent success in handling the first four cases assigned. Negotiations continued for termination of a C. I. O. strike at the Vanadium Corporation, at Bridgeville, Penn.

Infant Baby Dies Saturday

Louise Murrell Perkins, 9-days-old daughter of Robert E. and Ann Whitnell Perkins, died Saturday night, March 29, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Whitnell, West State Line. Burial was held yesterday morning in Greenlea Cemetery.

Although no hope has been held for the child's recovery since birth, the death came as a shock. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents.

Highly Placed Observers Predict Last Ditch Assault By Secret Agts.

Washington. —A number of highly placed public observers say the United States is at the edge of a last ditch assault by axis secret agents, Moscow Communists and fellow travelers.

They conclude that the new lease-lend program of aid to beleaguered "democracies" make foreign intervention in United States policy a now-or-never problem. The international Communists, they add, suddenly confronting him, and the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo principals find anti-axis sentiment increasing in direct ratio to the growth of American national defense.

Broad Campaign Feared

Some of them say they possess confidential information that a campaign of terrorism, sabotage and espionage will be attempted wherever undercover operative can force a breach in social, economic and political armor. They understand that these agents will attempt to use certain elements in the German-American Bunds, the Communist Party of the United States and other legal organizations leaning toward foreign dictatorships.

The Bunds now require American citizenship of their members but they, in some instances, affiliate by devious means with Adolf Hitler's National Socialist Party. The Communist party denies that it advocates overthrowing the United States government by force of arms, a tenet of international Communism, but to date it has not served its connection with Moscow.

Two New Armored Divisions To Be Organized Soon

Washington. —Two new armored divisions will be organized immediately and their commanders will be Brigadier Generals Alvan C. Gillem, Jr., of Fort Benning, Ga., and Henry W. Baird of Fort Knox, Ky.

The War Department announced the new commanders yesterday. General Gillem, now with the Second Armored Division at Fort Benning, will head the new Third Armored Division which will be organized at Camp Polk, La. General Baird is a native of Nashville, Tenn.

The new Fourth Armored Division will be organized at Pine Camp, N. Y., and will be commanded by General Baird, now with the First Armored Division at Fort Knox. General Baird is a native of Kent Island, Md.

Each of the new divisions will have a strength of 12,000 men and about 400 tanks and 2,500 other motor vehicles. The War Department said that 7,500 men training at Benning and Knox now would be transferred to the two new divisions.

'C. O. D.' BECOMES 'CHICKEN ON DELIVERY'

Salinas, Calif. — Glen Bales Postal Telegraph messenger boy, has just learned that "C. O. D." really means "chicken on delivery." He delivered a package in the country on which there was a charge of $1 with the cryptic mark of "C. O. D." The recipient could not quite make up the amount. After some delay in catching the bird, a chicken was turned over to the messenger to make up the balance.

17th CENTURY ENGLISH CHURCH IS DESTROYED

London. —The 17th century Congregationalist Pilgrim Father's Memorial church has been destroyed by incendiary bombs. It was disclosed today.

The church, in Southwark, South London, was built in 1616, and some of the Pilgrim fathers worshiped there before they went to America. Burned with it was a pulpit Bible containing the signatures of prominent English and American preachers who had delivered Pilgrim fathers memorial sermons there.

Dies To Ask Indictments

Chairman Dies (D.-Texas), of the House committee investigating un-American activities, announced on March 18 that he would ask that a grand jury be convened here within the next two months to prosecute the German-American Bund, the Communist party and others for failure to register as agents of foreign principals.

"I am convinced," he said, "that we never can deal with fifth column activities in America until these organizations are outlawed for failure to comply with existing statutes. Many members of these organizations work in national defense industries."

Commentators interviewed here agree that this country today is less vulnerable to subversive influences than at any time in recent months and say all alien "isms" are losing ground with their followers.

'$5,000,000 Need Watching'

Most are inclined to agree with Dies, however, that there still were at least 1,000,000 persons actively working for foreign interests and that upward of 6,000,000 "needed watching."

The State Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are professionally alert on American counter-espionage and decline to discuss operations of the Bunds, the Communists and their possible ties with the Soviet government or the axis. Both, however, are relentlessly on the trail of agitators and watching for Nazi-Communist collaboration here as a result of Berlin-Moscow maneuvers abroad.

U. K.'s Only Girl Flying Student Says Planes Are Safer Than Cars

Lexington, Ky. —Flying, to Miss Billy Dyer, the University of Kentucky's lone woman student in its recently started civilian pilot training course, is "really safer than driving a car."

"You don't have to worry about flat tires or anybody bumping into you," she explained with the wisdom of one who has had six hours of dual flying and needs only a couple more before reaching the solo flying stage.

"Any girl would like to fly, I believe, if she doesn't get rattled easily and lose her head."

Being the "lone woman student" in a course—there were four other applicants for the flying instruction—is no novelty to the brown-haired senior from Lexington.

She's the only girl in the geology department, where she not only takes instruction but gives it to freshmen, and where she's "Bill" to her fellow students.

"Bill" can cook, knit and sew with the best of them, too.

Her schedule carries her to school at 8 a. m. daily, from classes at 4 p. m. to the airport for an hour, home for dinner, then back to school at 7 p. m. three nights a week for pilot training ground courses.

"I got my first taste of flying when I was 16 years old," the "U. K. eagle" says. "It was at Beattyville, up in the mountains."

"This pilot took me up and said he was going to show me some tricks. He did and it was fun. That was a pretty big dose at first and that's why I never have been afraid since."

Miss Dyer said "Flying sort of gives me a ticklish feeling," but it's never made her sick.

"I'm not scared at all," she asserts. "This flying is swell. It's great to buzz around up there and look down at the fields. They look just like postage stamps."

Tracking Law Attacked

Kentucky's 1940 drive-a-way automobile transportation act requiring license fees and insurance was challenged Saturday by one Tennessee and two Alabama motor sales companies.

A suit filed in circuit court said the statute discriminated against non-residents of Kentucky in that residents of the State were exempt from its provisions and, even if the act were constitutional, it did not apply to them or to other concerns which tow, haul or drive their own cars across Kentucky.

Law Requires Insurance

The complaint was filed by E. K. Harwell and Sons, Louisville, Tenn.; I. Schiffman and Company, Huntsville, Ala., and the Enoch Motor Company, Gadsden, Ala.

The law requires a $250 annual license fee, $10,000 worth of public liability insurance and $5,000 worth of property damage insurance for such transportation of cars. It exempts automobiles so transported by Kentucky dealers who do not operate the drive-away for hire.

Director William H. H. of the State Motor Transportation Commission was named defendant in the suit.

Gen. Marshall Says U. S. Never Had Finer Army

Washington. —General George C. Marshall, in an appraisal of the five-fold expansion of the land forces, said today that "in spirit, morale, intelligence and fortitude, we have never had a finer Army."

The chief of staff noted that the number of men under arms increased in a year's time from some 225,000 to more than a million and said that "the Army has a right to feel proud of what has been done during the past year."

Taking stock on the occasion of the annual Army Day, to be observed April 5, Marshall reported, however, that numerous shortages still existed in combat weapons, though there have been notable increases in material.

Marshall reported in a statement published by the Army and Navy Journal that he found on an inspection of larger training camps that the enthusiasm of regulars, National Guardsmen and selective service recruits was "most impressive."

"Name?" Ask Cop; "Ouch," Says Ouch, "And No Cracks"

Yonkers, N. Y. —"Ouch," said the passenger in a car damaged in an accident.

A patrolman noted the driver's name and turned to the injured passenger.

"And what's your name?" he inquired.

"Ouch."

"Yes, I know, old man, but what's your name?"

"Ouch, William Ouch, and no cracks from you."

Officer Hints

It's Time Soldier Went Home

Camp Shelby, Miss. —Private Dayne Penny of Bucyrus, Ohio, blinked in surprise when an officer called him to unit headquarters and asked him, "When are you going home?"

"Home?" queried the bewildered soldier, a member of the 134th Field Artillery Band.

"Didn't you know your enlistment ran out fifteen days ago?" asked the officer.

Penny gasped, dashed to a telephone and told his wife to "come get me."

MAY 18 IS PROCLAIMED 'I AM AMERICAN' DAY

Washington. —President Roosevelt today proclaimed Sunday, May 18 as "I Am An American" day to be observed "in recognition of our citizens who have attained their majority or who have been naturalized within the past year."

The British have shown no disposition to rush a clean-up of the islands by landings, however, taking the position that blockade would starve out the Fascist forces.

With The British Battle-Fleet OFF Crete. — Bombardment and blockade are expected by the British to cost Italy her Dodecanese Islands, where Italian garrisons already face serious shortages of food and war supplies.

The 12 rocky islands off the Aegean coast of Turkey have been cut off from Italy for months by the British fleet.

The more important islands of Rhodes, Leros and Scarpanto, from whose bomber and submarine bases Premier Mussolini had expected to strike at Egypt and Greece, have been bombed heavily.

Serious shortages of gasoline and war supplies on the islands were given by the British as one reason for the dwindling in the past few months of Italian air attacks upon the Middle East.

THE BRITISH HAVE SHOWN NO DISPOSITION TO RUSH A CLEAN-UP OF THE ISLANDS BY LANDINGS, HOWEVER, TAKING THE POSITION THAT BLOCKADE WOULD STARVE OUT THE FASCIST FORCES.

Judges Feel That Pension Law Will Be Upheld At Rehearing

Frankfort, Ky. —There's an air of optimism among Frankfort advocates of the Court of Appeals pension law. Apparently they feel that counsel for the justices have found a way to convince the special Court of Appeals hearing the case of its constitutionality when it comes up for a rehearing April 10.

The Special Court declared the 1940 $5,000 annual pension for retired appellate judges unconstitutional, but recently agreed to reconsider that decision. In their new brief, counsel for the pensions claim the Legislature can make grants for public services and also declare in effect that if judges' pensions are banned, so are those paid to firemen and policemen, and to school teachers under the new teacher retirement system.

TAKE UP SOME ROPE

President Roosevelt's Administration has given organized labor more rope than any other in the history of the Nation, and hard facts at the moment dictate the suggestion that the time has come to take up some of the slack.

Secretary of Labor Perkins affords an outstanding example of the muddling indecision of positive favoritism with which the Department of Labor has functioned in its relationship to industrial disputes. Tripping around in Mexico while defense producing languished on account of strikes, only under extreme pressure did Madam Perkins certify four defense strikes to the Super-Mediation Board. Her conduct there had been forecast by her attitude toward the Harry Bridges case and many others. President Roosevelt would do well to install in the Labor Department someone with initiative and force, a figure that commands the respect of all sides in these abundant industrial disputes.

Organized labor, as we have pointed out, before, is not the only factor in strikes and tie-ups in defense production, but it is not only one element that is out in the open. The strike is at once a spectacular and destructive weapon and its use puts labor on the spot without disguise. This is a condition, not a theory, and people in their present frame of mind are unlikely to discriminate as they ought in fairness to do.

In addition to that, people are beginning to indict labor for glaring ingratitude to President Roosevelt as well as of disloyalty to the Nation. Drafts and their families are wondering out loud why one man can be conscripted against the possible need of doing for his country while another man is allowed to lay off the job of producing a gun with which he may defend himself and his country.

Labor will do well and be wise to consider circumstances of this sort, for the facts cannot be balked. No one wants labor to give up its just rights, but a growing multitude of people are indignantly restive when labor resorts to strikes instead of to the manifold legal means of securing adjustments by discussion and negotiation. The best friends of labor are those who do not hesitate to point out these facts and to say plainly that disregard of them is most likely to get labor's clock set back many a long hour.

The taxpayer, by the way, the man who pays off both labor and management, has not struck nor will he, and on that account will eventually accord short shift to any group or individual who wastes his money and delays the vitally important program. The temper of the people toward anyone who willfully stands in the way of our getting on with the defense effort is something worth long thought and respectful consideration. It is folly to insist on destructive methods when constructive ones will serve better.—Commercial Appeal.

OUR SOUTHERN FRONT

(From The Kansas City Star)

A defense program is under way which is designed to enable us, in co-operation with Britain, to defend our Atlantic front, and possibly, if the need arise, to defend also our Pacific front. These are the danger points of which we commonly think.

There is, however, a third front—the great continent to the south of us. And the necessity of consolidating it for defense is almost as imperative as is the defense of either of the other two potential lines of battle.

South America's weakness lies in its former dependence on Europe for the markets for its goods, chiefly mineral and agricultural. Those markets have been closed by the war, and the Latin American republics have suffered economic disaster as a result. The Government of the United States has followed the policy that only by helping its neighbors through their present vicissitudes can it firmly tie them to itself.

As a result the American dollar has been waging a campaign in South America almost as important as the campaign being waged by American-made planes and destroyers in Europe.

All told, from Sept. 26 to the end of February, the United States has loaned $50,000,000 direct from the Treasury, and $149,000,000 through the Export-Import Bank to South American and Central American government. Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Peru, Chile and Nicaragua are among the countries benefiting.

At the same time the huge buying power of the Procurement Division has been turned on the Latin Americas to provide this country with strategic materials while at the same time enhancing the dollar exchange of the nations to the South.

THE SERBS DEFY HITLER

Once more justifying the term, the unpredictable Balkans, Yugoslavia's coup d'etat has transformed American acceptance of an unpalatable fact, adherence to the Axis, into almost incredulous satisfaction.

That it is to some extent fruit of American foreign policy as proclaimed by President Roosevelt in his address of March 15, four days after the Lend-Lease Act was signed, cannot be doubted. That address committed the United States to active assistance to any nation that resisted the aggressors.

It also appears reasonable to suppose that the natural instinct of the Yugoslavians to resist Axis control was also stiffened by the attitude of Russia. Undersecretary Sumner Welles' public approval of the renewal of the Soviet-Turkish pact early this week doubtless implied knowledge of the direction of Russian influence in Yugoslavia. It was Russian support of the Serbs that helped precipitate the World War of 1914.

The tremendous significance of the stand of the Yugoslavians, who dare today to shred a pact signed day before yesterday is its encouragement to other small nations. It means that Hitler is no longer able to subjugate the battler in the other corner by the simple device of transfixing him with a fierce glare.

Every conquered country, however hopeless its present prospect, will take heart from Yugoslavia's example.

It might be too much to expect the Yugoslavians, in case of battle, to duplicate the performance of the Greeks against the Italians. But in defying Goliath they have exalted their own spirits, preserved their self-respect and the respect of the world, as the Finns did. They have definitely made it Germany's next move.—Louisville Times.

Middletown, Conn.—Prof. Edward C. Schneider of Wesleyan University claimed an unofficial world's record today for one of his students in a "breath-taking" experiment.

He reported that J. Edward Burns, a graduate student studying respiration, had held his breath for 16 minutes, 20 seconds, exceeding by two minutes and 18 seconds the official record now held, he said, by a person named Gaylord who lives "around Boston way."

Training for Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE shifting of workers from one job to another so that they can acquire new skills and handle several different jobs in one plant if necessary, is called "upgrading." Experienced personnel managers say this system keeps men from going stale, improves morale, insures skilled labor for all operations, and frequently produces all-around skilled men for foremen and other top production jobs.

Short refresher study courses are being used increasingly to hurriedly train men and women for industrial jobs. Many such courses, supplied by various institutions are financed by the government. Other study courses are financed in part or entirely by employers.

The cry is for skilled men, and the supply is far too short in some industries now engaged in national defense projects. Some educators are confident that plenty of skilled labor can be trained for the defense program if employers will realize that they can no longer hang out a "help wanted" sign, but must arrange their operations to utilize specialized skills and then take the time and trouble to train new workers for these skills.

We have stepped almost overnight from a surplus of workers to a shortage of workers, especially skilled and semi-skilled workers. Recently one of the nation's foremost educational authorities said, "We will have the task of convincing parents and children that a high school education may, and probably should, lead to a machine shop rather than a desk."

"My Kingdom For A Horse"

With the preparation of a meal in full progress, do you ever rush to the flour bin and find it empty?

If you do, you probably feel the same about flour as King Richard did about a horse.

But unlike King Richard, your inconvenience is only temporary for you may phone a rush order to your grocer for a bag of Brouder's Flour. Of course, this unexpected need for flour is not always necessary because your grocer keeps a good supply in stock.

Call him today and avoid rush orders at meal time.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

It is being demonstrated daily in some plants and factories working on national defense projects that men and women can be taught to do a single part of a skilled mechanical job in a very short time, and that such actions or tasks can be fitted together for mass production with great precision. The answer, then, to the skilled labor problem is subdivision of skills and special training programs.

It is an accepted fact that the training of men and women under the methods described cannot supply such all-around experts as instrument makers, master mechanics, die cutters, aircraft designers, and others. A supply of skilled labor cannot be trained overnight, but we can make great progress by adopting emergency methods.

The government is spending more than $40,000,000 this year in courses to train workers in defense, and seven Federal agencies are co-operating. Many agencies here, however, that a great part of the government-sponsored training will be of little use unless employers adopt the "training-within-industry" program. It is here that the skilled labor problem will be solved.

Many employers are already doing this. The Federal Bureau of Investigation, for example, has a training program for its clerical and stenographic employees. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York has a similar program for its clerical employees.

These programs are not only beneficial to the employees, but they also help the government in its war effort.

It is the hope of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that these programs will be adopted by all employers in the defense industry.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is now working on a plan to make these programs even more effective.

Man Prefers Lightest Fine In Census Crisis

Santa, Fe, N. M., —O. M. Spirey, Las Vegas contractor, was hailed before Federal Judge Colin Neblett Friday to answer an indictment that he refused to answer a census enumerator's questions.

"Judge, it was like this," Spirey explained: "The census man wanted to know how much money I made a year and I couldn't tell him because I didn't know. I always just make a guess at it."

"Then he warned me that if I told him wrong I would be subject to a $10,000 fine and ten years in jail."

"So I asked him what it would be if I just refused to answer. When he said that would cost no more than sixty days in jail and a $500 fine, I just decided not to answer." Judge Neblett fined Spirey $100.

More Schooling For Surplus Farm Youths Urged

Chicago, —Greater financial support for rural education was advocated today by Prof. Newton Edwards of the University of Chicago to meet the challenge of a surplus farm population in the future.

Dr. Edwards said in an address prepared for the Midwest Conference on Tomorrow's Children that the competition for economic opportunity between farm youth and their elders is becoming severe.

"The number of farm youth becoming 18 years of age is about twice as great as is required to fill places being made vacant by death and senescence of their elders," he said.

HOBOKING JEFF DAVIS URGES HUSBANDS TOUGHEN UP IT WEEK, TOUGHEN UP

Pittsburg, —Fearing that many American husbands are becoming "quips and nincompoops," Hobokoning Jeff Davis today proclaimed the week of May 10-17 as "National Hobo Week," when men "should get out and rough it for a few days."

The date corresponds with that of the week-long 33rd annual convention which the Hoboes of America, Incorporated, will hold at Jersey City, N. J.

The idea is that husbands should go out camping, or mix in with their sons on a hiking trip," he said. "In fact, let the whole family go."

The business man, he said, "goes for a week sign on his office door and put on old clothes for a while. Let his pants get a little baggy. It'll make him less content."

Seek Cause Of Ship Fire That Cost 19 Lives

Halifax, N. S., —Canadian naval officials sought to learn today from 22 survivors the cause of a fire which destroyed the patrol ship Otter off this port yesterday morning and sent 19 members of the crew to their deaths.

High seas, which interfered with rescue operations, were blamed for the toll.

Of the two officers and 17 men who perished, some were swept from life rafts while they waited for succor in sight of land and some died of exposure after they had been taken from the icy Atlantic.

Sixteen survivors were landed here from a merchant ship and six from a Canadian war vessel. Naval officials paid high tribute to the crews of both rescue ships.

The Otter, converted from a yacht into a naval auxiliary shortly after the start of the war, was engulfed by flames at about 7:50 a. m. (EST) while on patrol of Sambro Light, at the mouth of Halifax harbor.

The merchant ship sighted the flaming craft 10 minutes later and sped to the scene. High seas sent her smashing up against the Otter and crushed two of her lifeboats as she was attempting to remove members of the crew who had not yet abandoned ship.

How Naive! The Army Ain't That Bad!

New York, —"I am secretly married because my mother-in-law hates me. I have been classified as 1-A, and have a very low order number. If I keep my marriage secret I will have to go to camp. If I announce my marriage I will have the old lady after me. What do you advise?"

That was a letter received Friday by the city selective service headquarters. The office released several others of the type which it said "brighten our day."

A few of them: "How can I find out my draft number? I did not register, so I don't know where my local board is. How does one go about applying for old-age pension?"

"Who has my number? I have insulted my local board and gotten very little information."

SHOOTING SCRAPE WAS CLEAR TO HER

Windsor, N. C., —This witness probably gave an accurate account of the scene. Asked by Solicitor John E. Jenkins, Jr., what happened after the first shot was fired in a shooting scrape, she replied simply: "Why everything started running."

Believe Hitch-Hiker Killed Salesman

Cincinnati, —Detectives Walter Hart and Thomas Faragher of the homicide squad, after two days of investigation in adjoining Clermont county, were convinced, they said today, that Herbert G. Beatty, 58, Ashland, Ky., salesman, was slain by a hitch-hiker.

The body of Beatty, whose bullet-pierced automobile was abandoned on a downtown street late March 11, was found Monday at the side of a county road in Clermont county. Hart and Faragher indicated their work there was completed.

Hart and Faragher said only one person could have ridden in the car with Beatty. The rear end was filled with upholstery samples and a suitcase filled with samples was on the front seat, leaving room for only one person beside the driver. Beatty last was seen at 12:30 p. m. March 11, as he left West Union, O., on Route 125.

Jobs Set New February Mark With 36 Million

Washington, —The Labor Department reported today that non-agricultural employment last month reached the highest February level on record—36,584,000 jobs. In February, the Department said, employment increased 265,000.

The February total was 2,218,000 greater than February of 1940 and 1,350,000 above the previous February peak recorded in 1929. Largest gains were reported in manufacturing which showed an increase of 175,000 workers.

The Department attributed this increase to expanding employment on defense orders.

Nickel "Run" At Two Billion

Washington, —Minting of nickels has passed the 2,000,000,000 mark. Nellie Taylor Ross, Director of the Mint, made this announcement in connection with the celebration by numismatists of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the 5-cent piece. The present Jefferson nickel, of which 453,314,458 have been struck off already, is the fourth nickel.

When Congress authorized the coin in 1866, the first nickel bore a shield design. Then came the liberty nickel, and then the buffalo nickel. The Jefferson nickel started coming out of the mints October 1, 1938.

Johnson Says Present Taxes Vital, But None Added

Lexington, Ky., —Gov. Keen Johnson declared today "Kentucky is the most solvent state in the union" and advocated the retention of its present tax measures without change through the balance of his administration.

The Governor, addressing the Lexington Rotary Club, said "prospects for getting entirely out of debt are encouraging," but asserted "an extensive program of rehabilitation must be carried out in various state institutions."

"At the next session of the state legislature, for the first time in the history of the commonwealth it will be possible for the Governor of Kentucky to tell the lawmakers that it will not be necessary to enact any additional tax measures," he said.

"However, it is vital that present tax measures be retained because an extensive and necessary program of rehabilitation must be carried out in various state institutions, which have in the past been a discredit to Kentucky."

The next General Assembly, opening its biennial session next January, will fashion the appropriations and tax structure to last until six months after Johnson's term expires in December, 1943.
