News-Prints

On the front cover of "This Week" magazine of last Sunday there appeared a huge picture in color, entitled "The Laziest Dog in the World, to which we have taken violent exception. The laziest dog in the world, barring any competition is dozing around the Fourth Estate in the Highlands. He is the orneriest, no contest, unprincipled mongrel that ever lived in the dog kingdom, and of all the places he had to select for a home, he chose ours.

He first appeared on Thanksgiving Day, which proved early to be a day of bad events when a friend called in the middle of the night almost, to borrow a paint brush. Of all the days in the world to paint a kitchen and to go a-borrowing, its Thanksgiving, but then to have that friend announce that a dog was asleep under the evergreens out front, was just too much. The friend didn't stay long, but this hound, like the poor in health that he is, we will always have with us. We didn't mind too much, when Paul started sneaking dog food in the house. A kindly soul, we thought, to feed the hungry. It wasn't an awful shock either, when we noticed out near the back-step that one of our throw-rugs had been pilfered to make a cozy home in a large cardboard box. (The hound is as big as a mule, and just as sorry.)

But then today, (Tuesday) with a bright November sun sparkling down on our spacious back-yard, and our dear little youngster out playing, trying to make friends with that no-breed pooch, he is too doggone lazy to open his mouth to accept a little candy R. Paul was handing him. We thought it such a cute sight to see that chubby two-year old pick a berry from the dogwood and walk over and, practically open the dog's mouth to put it in, and still no response. We watched the sight with great pride and sentiment as the baby, with the methodical patience of his father, selected all kinds of foodstuffs to make him rise and enjoy. Finally, the sentiment in our heart turned to annoyance, as it did with the baby, for in no time at all, R. Paul went over to the steps, picked up a gay-colored baton he twirled, walked over to the hound and knocked him over the head. Even then, there was faint indication of energy. He just ambled up lazily, looked at R. Paul, and went back to sleep on the other side of the yard.

The dog is not sick, don't you worry. When he gets really hungry he gives with a bark that is a cross between a tubercular whine and a hay-fever waeze. He has been seen wagging his tail even, like any ordinary dog. But when the sun shines, and his belly is full, there's not a thing on his mind but sleep. Paul announced the other day that the dog was female, to which we rebelled in horror.

Finally R. Paul's nurse decided the thing to do was to starve him away, not really, but just ignore regular meal time. We had that all planned when a check around the yard revealed a large bag of Purina dog mash. We sort of hate to call the Reed Bros. and ask just what effect that will have on the dog. No doubt the results will be as advertised, but really folks, we're not asking much of this cruel world. Just a plain, simple, heartfelt plea. Will SOMEBODY, please come claim that hound! Please, won'tcha?

J. E. Beasley, who is employed by the Illinois Locomotive of Carbondale as a locomotive engineer, but who likes to spend his spare time lecturing on the importance of safety, provided a thoughtful program for Rotarians last week, and left a lot of think about.

Beasley, who contends that "the world's best known safety device is a safe man," centered his talk around the theme of "Leave a little earlier . . . drive a little slower . . . live a little longer."

Santa Due Here Saturday; To Arrive on 2:40 pm Train

Fulton, Ky.'s Santa Claus is an extra special sort of a guy. He's not high-brow understand, but then he is strictly modern, ultra-modern you might say. While most communities are preparing for Santa to arrive in the usual reindeer and sleigh mode of travel, Santa Claus of Fulton packs his bags with toys, has them checked, and then comes in with great fan-fare aboard the City of New Orleans.

You're right, that's what St. Nick will do this year. Through the courtesy of Trainmaster H. H. Rust of the Illinois Central, the jolly fellow of the Yuletide season will be met at the Fulton Passenger Station at 2:40 p. m. Saturday afternoon by the shiny city fire truck and driven down through Lake Street throwing candy and kisses to the hundreds of kiddies expected to greet him. Santa will be all prepared to jot down the many gifts that the youngsters want for Christmas. He will be back in town, after this Saturday, on Saturday December 17, and then on Christmas Eve. All the time he will be giving away candy and Christmas cheer.

All this and much more is planned by the Young Men's Business Club for Santa's arrival in the city. This club has never forgotten the good little boys and girls at Christmas, so have mommie and daddy bring you to town to visit with Santa on Saturday.

Elks Lodge To Hold Services On Sunday

Annual memorial service of the Elks Club will be held on Sunday, December 4 at 2:30 p. m. at the club room on Lake street. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The impressive services are held each year in honor of deceased members of the lodge.

CARTER QUILTS AS MARTIN PRINCIPAL

Jack Carter, who has been recommended by Congressman Noble Gregory to fill the permanent position of postmaster at Fulton has resigned as principal of the Martin, Tenn. Elementary school. His resignation becomes effective January 1, 1950.

County Superintendent of Education J. T. Miles, said that the problem of filling Carter's position would be a difficult one. Carter headed the list of eligibles released by the Civil Service Commission.

FULTON NEWS TO GIVE $5.00 FOR BEST LETTER WRITTEN TO SANTA BY CHILDREN

It won't be long until Christmas, and with the coming of that happy season it means that little boys and girls should be getting ready to write Santa Claus exactly what they want him to bring. And the folks at the Fulton County News are going to help Santa by publishing as many letters as possible and offering a $5.00 prize for the boy or girl writing the best letter.

Yes sir, old Santa Claus always gets the letters the children in the community write in, and he's taking down notes, as to just what each good little boy and girl wants.

The postman knows just where to deliver the letter so that Santa will get each one of them, and if you're a good little boy or girl, then you'd better get your letter in right away.

Youth Center No Place For Boredom; Fills Great Need

By Mary Nelle Wright

There is no time to be bored at the Fulton Youth Center. This we found out by sitting on the sidelines Saturday night at their formal dance.

With the music singing out by the Union City Rhythm Rascals (including three of our own boys, Wendell Norman, Leroy Brown and Ted Goodwin) and the girls dressed in their long dresses of every color, it put us all in a holiday mood and we knew this was the very beginning of the Christmas season.

When you think about dancing you know there is nothing really new about it. Ever since people have read histories, they've read of the part dancing played in people's lives. If one could make a list of all the numerous dances that have been used just in America alone, it would really run into a sizeable number. Some of them have been hard to understand, especially the "Jitterbug," which we could define as a mixture of an Irish Jig, the Minuet and a Schottische. However, we (of the Charleston school) felt encouraged Saturday night as the new trend in dancing at the Youth Center seemed to be toward waltz time.

We found that the slow pieces held much more interest for such couples as Nancy Wilson and Billy Browning, Cissie Murphy and Glen Roberts, Ann McDade and Dan Collins (you know, Ayan and D-yan.) Jean Holland and Jimmy Hancock (home from Vanderbilt) and numerous others who seem to just naturally shy away from the fast pieces.

Stately Carmen Pigue and Joe

Davis (home from Washington U.) who also enjoys the waltz, that night seemed to find all the maneuvers of the "Jitterbug" still appealing.

Over on the sidelines in the "sub-deb" group we found "twosome talks," between Charles Sawyer and Gail Logan, Don Wright and Kay Cherry (looking like the Queen of Jr. High that she is), Bailey Binford and Winnie Voegeli and Mary Davis Weeks dancing with different boys (including her dad) and having to be content without a certain saxophone player in the orchestra.

Indeed, Fulton's Youth Center has suffered the rigors of most projects, large and small, especially where youngsters are concerned. Enthusiasm starts out at high pitch, then lags, sometimes.

We really want to extol the merits of the Youth Center, because we feel that without one, Fulton teenagers would feel completely lost without a place to go. No one likes that feeling. In general, what could be better for our youth?

It is timely, then, in her second successful year to give a few words of thanks to that gracious lady, Miss Polly Thompson, who keeps the doors open to a place where good conduct flourishes; and to the directors who serve the center in an advisory capacity. To all the others who have contributed both their time and effort toward a better place for Fulton youth, we say, year-in-year-out—you can't find a better place.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL TERMED TERRIBLE

Rats Will Live Well In Dumps Around City

Harry Barry, Fulton County sanitation officer told the News today that urgent requests had been made to him and C. C. Crain, state representative surveying the area for rats with typhus fever, to promote another rat eradication campaign.

Mr. Barry, in conjunction with Mr. Crain said: "It is useless to attempt to kill the rats in Fulton as long as the deplorable garbage disposal conditions exist here. We have been visiting heavily infested rat areas, and find that the city is overly congested with rat harbors in the for mof garbage heaps.

"It is useless to try to kill rats as long as the breeding places exist," they said.

"What's more," they added, "there have been incidents of typhus fever, caused from rats in Georgia, Louisiana, and as near as Paducah and Paris, Tenn. While we have not found any typhus yet, we are making a thorough survey."

Mr. Barry asked residents not to kill the rats when they are trapped, because tests must be made on the live rats. Five traps have been stolen since the survey began.

"Thank You" Message For Local Schools Gets Recognized

The sincerity of a "thank you" message to the patrons of the Fulton Schools has been noted by the Ky. Education Association's Journal and has requested permission from W. L. Holland to reprint it in the magazine.

The message appeared on the back cover of a football program and was written in gratitude for the loyal patronage of local fans. The message follows:

To Our Friends:
May we take this opportunity to thank you for your loyal and sincere support during our football season. Neither a football team nor a band would be possible in a school of our size without your solid support. For this we are indeed grateful and have tried to give you our best by way of a performance. We know that we have made errors but who has not? After all the purpose of the game is for good, clean, wholesome recreation and we believe we have given you that.

"May we point out also that the lessons in citizenship are worth something for up to now, in no case, has our conduct either on or off the field brought discredit to either you or the institution we represent. Part of this credit you richly deserve by way of example and precept.

"Again let us say 'Thanks a Million' and bid you farewell until next season.

—The Student Body and Faculty of Fulton City Schools."

YANK SIEGEL IS NAMED TO OFFICE

Jesse S. "Yank" Siegel, the youngest son of the late Henry I. Siegel who passed away suddenly in New York on Nov. 16 has been elected secretary treasurer of the Henry I. Siegel, Co. Inc., company officials revealed today.

Samuel Siegel will continue as president of the factories in Dickson, Bruceton and Trezevant, Tenn. and Fulton, Kentucky. There will be no change in the company's operation the officials announced.

Young Siegel, 21, is a graduate of a New York High School and of Columbia University in New York. Following his graduation he chose to learn the garment industry from the bottom up and began his early training in the Fulton factory in one of the manufacturing departments of this plant. He was a guest in the home of local manager, Leo Greengrass and Mrs. Greengrass while learning the industry.

The announcement that there will be no change in the company's operations comes as good news to hundreds of citizens in Fulton County, who consider the local factory of major importance in the city's economy.

FHS Gossip was received too late this week to make the paper; watch for it next week.

Fiscal Court Turns Down Raise For Health Dept. Employees

RAT CONTROL NOW BEING UNDERTAKEN

State Man Making Survey Of Fulton

A rat control campaign, under the direction of the Fulton Rotary Club is being conducted for Fulton, Clyde Williams, Jr., president of the club announced today. Dr. Ward Bushart and E. E. Williamson, general manager of Browder's Milling Company are in charge of the campaign.

C. C. Crain a representative of the State Health Department has arrived in the city to conduct the sponsored campaign. He will work in cooperation with Harry Barry, Fulton County sanitation officer.

The State representative will remain in the city for several weeks to make a survey for typhus fever in rats. The rats will be trapped alive, in order that specific tests may be made.

This is the second time that this organization has undertaken the important task of rat eradication for Fulton County. In 1947 the club collected funds with which to distribute poison to every home, business concern, and rat infested area in the Fulton city area.

WATERFIELD SAYS HE WASN'T CONSULTED IN DEMO LEADERS

Harry Lee Waterfield, recently re-elected as representative to the General Assembly from Fulton and Hickman counties said that he knew nothing of the Administration's plan to name Adron Doran, speaker of the House and James P. Hanratty, Democratic floor leader.

"I was not approached," he told the Fulton County News in answer to a query as to his opinion of the selections.

Waterfield, speaker of the house of Representatives during the 1944 and 1946 sessions of the General Assembly was defeated in the Governor's race in 1947. He was a member of the legislature for more than ten years.

Story of Two Annes Is Told; One & One Make Two or Four

This is a story of friendship. It is a story of loyalty, devotion and the most amazing bit of selfishness, this reporter has ever seen.

It is the story of the "two Annes." It becomes necessary to spell the plural of those proper names with an "e," although it is the only deviation of thought, habit, and living in this story of Ann McDade and Anne Latta. The former Ann spells her name with the "e." The latter Anne spells her name with the added vowel, for no reason except that when she was in the seventh grade she started using it again when she noticed that almost everyone whose name-sake was the famous character of Green Gables, spelled her name without the "e."

Several months ago when we were broadcasting during National Music Week we had requests to programme the "two Annes" on our schedule. The series ended before we had that pleasure, but the curiosity as to why these lovely high school lassies should be referred to thusly, never left us.

The other afternoon we asked them to visit with us in our sanctuary . . . and now we know. You could hardly think of one without the other.

Such a pair could hardly be spoken of individually; they just had to be "the two." As a matter of fact, only one of them could have come for the interview; they just don't have any contrasting thoughts.

It all happened in the early 1940's. Anne Latta enrolled in the local schools when a sixth grade student. She came to the Fulton school from Water Valley with pre-destination of prejudice. At that time the particular grade in mention was all mixed

State Offer To Increase Salaries In County Health Department Refused; Court Has Chance To Reconsider, Is Report

The decision made recently by the Fulton County Fiscal Court not to meet the State Health Department's offer of funds to increase salaries in the County Health Department has been noted with regrets, a communication from Dr. Tracy Jones of the State Department of Health revealed today. The offer was made by the State organization in order to meet a "cost of living" increase for the six members of the County Health unit. The offer was also made to other county health units in the State, many of which accepted the plan to increase the salaries of their nurses and sanitation officers.

In discussing the matter with Judge of the Fiscal Court the News learned that $2100 has been appropriated by the county for health work during the next fiscal year. This amount was not increased when the budget for 1949-1950 was made up. The News was advised that any increase in the appropriation to meet the state offer would have to be taken from the road funds.

Judge Homer Roberts said that he was willing to increase the budget some five or six hundred dollars, but was unable to meet the larger request of some $1200, made by the State. According to sources close to the State Health Department the offer made to Fulton County would have been matched by State funds, and perhaps Federal funds.

The letter from the State Health Department said in part:

"Our office here has made it possible for counties to accept an increased compensation plan by raising the necessary extra money locally. We regret that the Fulton County Health Department did not make it possible for the salaries of its county health personnel to be increased. With less State and Federal money for this fiscal year to spend than we had last fiscal year and, in consideration of the above information, we note that the county health employees not getting an increase in salary is a result of their being at the maximum on the county basis rather than a final decision on the part of the State office."

An investigation of salaries paid Fulton County health Department employees reveals that they are lower, generally than the salaries paid in other parts of the State to persons with the same qualifications.

Mrs. Grace Cavender, health nurse here, said that it was her understanding in conversing with Miss Mildred Kingade, Regional supervisor for nurses that counties have until January 1 to amend their budget in order to accept the State's offer.

With the absence of a county public health doctor the health unit in this county performs many duties not ordinarily in their province.

TB FUND DRIVE LAGGING BADLY

With the Christmas spirit in the air, things are looking bad for the folks making the drive for funds to fight tuberculosis. Bertie Pigue, local chairman said that more than 1500 letters had been mailed to local citizens, and that the response has been unusually bad.

Open your hearts to kindness. Send in your donation to the Tuberculosis Seal Drive today.

HICKMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOL DEDICATED

Rev. Fr. Thomas Libs, rector of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Hickman, announced that the new $40,000, parochial school, begun last spring, is now nearing completion and that Tuesday, November 29 was set aside for the dedication of the structure.

The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Fr. F. J. Gettlefinger of St. Catherine's Church, New Haven, Ky., beloved former pastor of the local parish, who started the first Catholic school there in 1928.

Following the services a dinner was served to the clergy at the rectory by the ladies of the parish.

Typographical Errors Give Editors F's And Readers P's

Ever hear the story about the typographical error, ship-perry and sly, etc. Well, we have 'em, but good. On page two, second section of today's News, we have a story about the Cub Scouts receiving their pack charter. Well, and good, but we go on to name the den mothers who received registration cards, and suddenly . . . they stop. We can't begin to tell you how it happened, its a long story.

But anyway, other mothers receiving the cards besides Mrs. Ward Johnson, where the story ended are: Mesdames Monford Merryman, H. C. Hutchens, H. N. Strong, Finis Vencil, Harold Newton, Jack Allen, and J. W. Coleman. Excuse, please!

Union City and TVA

In Ed Critchlow's Union City Daily Messenger of last Saturday, November 26, a story appeared reporting the talk of J. R. Beamish, Jr., West Tennessee manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority, wherein he told Rotarians some mighty interesting facts about the city's electric power system.

Mr. Beamish, you remember, is the gent who appeared before the Chamber of Commerce here, when that body was investigating TVA possibilities for Fulton. His appearance in Union City has a double significance, we think. First, the UC Chamber of Commerce is no doubt eyeing some of the juicy contracts being let by the government in TVA areas, and second, with such a thought in mind, they might want to use the ideal location in the Tom Stewart airfield to make some attractive offers to interested industrialists.

We thought you might be interested in some of the statements made by Mr. Beamish to Union Citizens, so we are printing the news story in part:

"At the request of the city Commission of Union City, the TVA recently completed a survey of Union City, and this week presented a proposal to the city under which it could start serving the city with TVA electricity by the summer of 1952, when the New Johnsonville steam plant of the TVA will be placed in operation.

"Mr. Beamish said that if TVA rates had been in effect in Union City, Union City residential electricity users would have saved $37,000 during the year ended last June 30th; that commercial users would have saved $23,000, and total savings of Union City users of electricity of $120,000.

"This would have meant that electric bills to Union City users would have been reduced from 45 percent upwards, Mr. Beamish said.

"Further, Mr. Beamish said that Union City, like many communities, is showing a steady growth in the use of electricity, and that with current costing about half of the present price under TVA, no doubt the increase in use would be accelerated and the saving under TVA rates decrease as more and more electricity is used."

Beware of Professional Veterans

There's a word of cheer that comes from the annual convention of the American Veterans' Committee in that they have demanded the ouster of Representative John Rankin (D-Miss.) as chairman of the House Veterans' Committee. It would have been better news had they demanded his ouster from the House of Representatives, period.

While a resident of Mississippi and of Washington, we learned about Rankin from him. Rankin is a rabble-rouser, grand-stander, inconsistent, irascible law-maker. We concur heartily with the AVC that he is intent on bankrupting this Nation by spreading multi-million dollar raids on the United States treasury.

The sad part about Rankin is that he is playing squarely into the hands of the professional veterans, who are using their honored privilege of war service to intimidate the squeamish law-maker who is afraid to vote against any legislation that has a veteran's angle.

The woods are full of professional veterans. Oft times you can look into the record of a guy who yells "veterans first" and you will find that his service was confined to the horrible hazards of cigarette lines, PX shortages, and swivel-chair callouses, which prevailed in the continental United States during World War II.

When we were assigned to our good and personal friend, Colonel Mary-Agnes Brown, who was a WAC officer assigned to General Omar Bradley in VA as adviser on women veterans, we read and helped write, many a speech that said, "a veteran wants to be considered a citizen first."

We believe that this sentiment prevails here, generally. But we do not feel it a waste of time to warn citizen-veterans that their war service can be exploited to their detriment. The cry of "veterans first" may reverberate like the old cry of "wolf, wolf."

The term veteran is too honorable to be abused. Beware of the behind-the-scenes politico, who would abuse it.

Protection for Your Child and Ours!

Several weeks ago we wrote an editorial regarding the treatment and punishment of sex offenders. Within the past few weeks the papers have been deluged with stories of new offenses in nearly all parts of the Nation.

The papers too, have also reported statement after statement from famous educators, scientists, psychiatrists and clergymen that now is the time to act. We're sure they didn't get their cue from us, but we're glad they've got it just the same.

This latest wave, we believe, is in keeping with a pattern recently revealed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which is stimulated by publicity of some horrible sex murder. Although few, they are due to excitement overcoming men just on the verge of sex offense.

In the past few weeks offenses have been committed on persons ranging from "infants of eighteen months to full grown women.

The thought of such dastardly acts causes a feeling of revulsion in our being. Maybe we're worrying about the situation unnecessarily. But then, when we read the comments from such famous personalities as Judge Samuel Liebowitz, Kings County Court in New York, Alfred Kinsey who wrote, "Sexual Behavior in the American Male" and J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, we think we're in pretty good company with our fears.

As reported by Howard Blakeslee, science writer for the Associated Press, "the current outbreak of child sex murders points up America's forgotten crime problem... protection of children."

As pointed out in our recent editorial, we think the problem can be attacked. But to do so will require new types of laws, new kinds of social work training, and new types of medical confinement in custodial hospitals.

The problems must be worked out on a national level, with national laws. But if the august law-makers of this country tackle this burden with the same speed as they have other serious problems, your child and ours will no doubt be subjected to sex degenerates and daily routine before something is really done.

It's a grim thought, believe you us. Because there are sex offenders in Fulton, police records indicate that.

Shop — And Mail — Early

The Post Office has issued its annual appeal for prospective mailers of Christmas packages to get same into the mails early.

Urging people to shop early is one of those jobs editorial writers do to fill space with—for no one who doesn't ordinarily shop early will probably be swayed by editorial argument to change his shopping habits. It's like trying to make a safe automobile driver out of an imbecile.

But the extraneous condition that apply this year should be enough to get ordinarily late shoppers into the stores and through with the job. There is no guarantee — big talk by the government notwithstanding — that there will not be another coal strike — and even more curtailment of rail service.

And while we're on the subject the Post Office, it is also well to remember that the one and one-half cent stamp will no longer carry your unsealed Christmas cards. It takes a two-cent stamp now.

Postal officials further suggest placing three-cent stamps on Christmas cards, together with your return address, to prevent its ending in some deadletter office. Christmas cards are often undeliverable because many are sent to persons whom the sender writes only once each year. And folks move about all the time.

If everybody observed all the rules and did as they should, it would not be such an interesting world to live in.

But it certainly would make life more livable for those of us who are working in service capacities, where day-in and day-out dealings with the public is necessary.

There's no more exasperating way of making a living.—The Parisian.

History owes its excellency more to the writer's manner than to the material of which it is composed.—Goldsmith.

The impartiality of history is not that of the mirror, which merely reflects objects, but of the judge who sees, listens, and decides.—Lamartine.

Turning Back The Clock

December 6, 1929:

Capital stock of the Fulton Building and Loan Association was increased from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 at a stockholders' meeting December 3. A sign of the healthy growth of this firm was presented in Secretary J. E. Fall's report, wherein he pointed out that in 1917, when he assumed his secretaryship, real estate and stock loans totaled $38,790, and in 1929 total loans had grown to $628,919, with total net assets reading $637,402.47. Officers for 1930, all re-elected, will consist of T. M. Franklin, President; A. M. Nugent, Treasurer, and J. E. Fall, Sec'y.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Chowning, returning from a party in St. Louis in a new-style Ford Sedan, escaped serious injury when their car was sideswiped near DuQuoin and turned over three times.

A. D. Shupe, I. C. Brakeman, was injured in a wreck near Aulon, Tenn. Mrs. Marie Jackson, 35, a former nearby resident, was killed in an auto accident near Camden, Tenn. last week; her husband, Thomas, and 12 months-old son, Robert were injured. She was a sister of Ivan, Ralph and Frank Brady.

The Farmers' Bank is mailing out $20,000 in Christmas savings checks this week.

In a spirited election in South Fulton, T. N. Fields defeated S. A. McDade for Mayor by 37 votes, and the following councilmen were elected: J. S. Crockett, J. D. Hopkins, J. S. Jones, E. P.

Jones, William Powers and L. B. Reams.

75 Years ago on November 22, the I. C. R. R. pioneered the first railroad between Sandoval and Cairo, the latter at that time a village of 242 inhabitants, which turned out en masse and dumb with amazement to witness the novel sight of a locomotive and cars.

As the flakes of a gathering snowstorm swept down from the skies in a little country churchyard 5 miles east of Fulton, the body of Herman A. McClain, 28, was lowered into his grave this afternoon. He was the victim of Mrs. Blanche Irene Hall, who shot him and then hacked him to death after awakening him in Memphis last Friday morning.

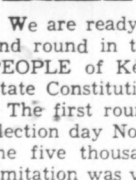

Six men escaped death and damage estimated at more than $100,000 was done in an explosion of dredge No. 5 in the Reel-foot levee district 15 miles below Hickman. The dredge burned to the water's edge.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore Joyner of Fulton and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kelly of Union City narrowly escaped death Sunday when their car skidded and turned over twice below Troy.

Scores of the F. H. S. Bulldogs' football season, just concluded, were as follows: defeated Dresden, 12-0; lost to Paducah, 6-30; lost to Madisonville, 6-46; defeated Murray Training, 32-0; lost to Murray High, 0-6; lost to Mayfield, 0-21; defeated Martin, 21-0; lost to Union City, 6-31; defeated the all-stars, 20-0.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

We are ready now for the second round in the battle of THE PEOPLE of Kentucky vs. The State Constitution.

The first round was won on election day November 8th when the five thousand dollar salary limitation was voted out by the people. You didn't think that was the only thing wrong with our state charter, did you? It's not by any means.

The results of the election had hardly been confirmed when a little group of serious men, well educated in governmental matters, sat down at Frankfort to go over the 263 sections of the constitution item by item to find out what's wrong and to recommend changes.

It will be well for you who shout "Politics!" at every effort to improve governmental functions to remember that this is a bi-partisan body. It was appointed by Gov. Earle Clements. But one of its valuable members is former Republican, governor Simon Willis.

Lets face the facts about Kentucky's laws. From the constitution right straight through the acts of the legislature (including the most recent laws) there is too much effort to administer and not enough to legislate. Our laws, in other words, are too prone to be designed to govern cities, counties and villages than they are to set up basic structures within which these political subdivisions can take care of their own affairs.

That makes for bad laws. It makes for restrictive laws which severely handicap local communities. It makes the governing of our larger cities, — Owensboro, Covington, Lexington and the others, as well as Louisville — almost impossible at times. Honest city and county officials must look for dishonest ways to get around a stupid law. This doesn't happen every day. But it happens too frequently.

So what are the changes the Constitution Review Commission has discussed? Several of them concern the legislature. They are intended to improve the operation of our state government. Must we battle again for years, as we did with salary amendment, to get these improvements?

The first proposed change — which was discussed but which so far has not actually been recommended — would allow the legislature to meet for 90 days instead of the present limit of 60 days, if both houses agree it is necessary.

Common sense dictates that the legislature should have as much time as is necessary to do its work. Common sense and previous experience also demonstrate beautifully that legislators paid for each day they work are apt to boondoggle. They don't want to get their work done, because when its finished their pay stops.

So we earnestly suggests to the Review Commission that they consider the advisability of granting state assembly members a flat salary for their regular session work, a sharply restricted salary for any special sessions that are necessary, and a fair but not generous expense allowance.

This, I believe will encourage the legislature to buckle down to work and get its chores out of the way. The state will save a lot of money in the long run. For who, if he is being paid a flat fee of, say, twelve hundred dollars, and can earn it in 30 days, wouldn't rather do his work and get the money than drag out the labor over 60 days?

Kentucky On The March

I learned something about Jimmy Bates when he was nine and during most of the five subsequent years I thought of him as a possible manager of the EG farms when he got along about twenty. His father, the late James J. Bates, who died last spring, delighted in telling me about the boy's agricultural exploits. But at 14 Jimmy is bent on being his own boss forevermore, and when you have read this story you can see why my chances of ever hiring him are slim indeed.

An average day in Jimmy's life begins at 5:30 a. m., when he literally jumps out of bed, puts on his work clothes and rushes out to milk Betsy, a 4-gallon-a-day Guernsey. No alarm clock; it's a habit. Then he turns Betsy and eight other cattle, including a dry cow or two and some vealers, out to pasture. Next, he throws corn to a small drove of extra good hogs and hays his forty purebred sheep. A scrubbing, a quick change into school clothes, a hearty breakfast with his sister, Frances, second-grade pupil, after which the two catch the 7:45 bus for the Weaverton consolidated school.

Jimmy got his taste for farming from his father, who in half a dozen years on a 40-acre farm on U. S. 41, south of Henderson, did a truly wonderful job in soil restoration and got a good start in livestock raising. The Bateses had been city people for several generations; evidently somewhere on the family tree there was a rural twig, because Jimmy took to farming as naturally as a good cat takes to mousing.

Mrs. Bates has the utmost confidence in the boy's judgment. She seldom offers suggestions. "He's a wonderful manager," she says. At school he excels in science and agriculture.

The boy has been a 4-H clubber since he was nine. In that time he has won 11 ribbons and $30 in cash with his purebred sheep. He insists that sheep, properly handled, pay off better than any other livestock.

No, I don't think I have any kind of a chance of hiring Jimmy.

FULTON SCHOOLS FACE BRIGHTER FUTURE, HOLLAND LEARNS AT KEA

W. L. Holland, superintendent of the Fulton city schools and president of the First District Kentucky Education Association said Monday a closer cooperation between school and state was sought by the planning board to KEA directors at a meeting held in Lexington recently.

Mr. Holland was invited to attend the meeting as a consultant in school problems to the planning group.

"It was the consensus of the educators present," Mr. Holland said, "that the school amendment voted in the November 8 general election puts the schools of Kentucky in the strongest position they have ever been." Meanwhile a $13,000,000 annual increase in the common school fund in Kentucky was requested by the board of directors of the Kentucky Education Association.

They called upon Gov. Earle C. Clements to include in his biennial budget an annual appropriation of $34,500,000 for schools.

In making the request, the directors in effect told the governor to stick to a promise they said he made while campaigning for office.

The directors also requested that 75 per cent of the $34,500,000 or $28,875,000 be earmarked for teacher salaries. The other 25 per cent was asked to be used in the equalization fund for aiding poorer counties and to provide state aid to equalize the cost of transportation and other special school services.

KU TO OPERATE 140-MILE LINE

Kentucky Utilities Company last week put into operation a 140-mile transmission line linking K. U.'s western and central Kentucky electrical systems. Total cost of the project was estimated at $2,630,000 by N. P. Taylor, assistant chief engineer for the company.

The 138,000-volt line stretches across Kentucky from Dix Dam to a spot on Green River near Central City where a new K. U. generating station is nearing completion. The portion of the line between Dix Dam and Bonniwell was energized earlier at a lower voltage.

The steel-tower high line permits the most efficient use of the company's Tyrone plant in Woodford County and the one on Green River where the first 33,000-kilowatt generating unit is scheduled to begin operation around January 1, Taylor said.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Writing a column about gun safety usually runs the risk of being boring to many hunters. It's the same old stuff, year after year.

Still, as the 1949 hunting season rolls into high gear, the reports are coming in of fatalities in the field. Certainly this is a needless waste of life and it is a tremendous limiting factor in hunting for the future. It is a disgrace to the entire hunting fraternity.

Not all deaths in hunting can be stopped, but a great percentage of them can be eliminated quite easily. If every hunter would make the "Ten Commandments of Safety" as much a part of his hunting as his gun and shells, many of the deaths would be avoided.

Here are the commandments—and I hope the repetition will not be too boring.

- 1—Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
- 2—Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp or home.
- 3—Always be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
- 4—Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
- 5—Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
- 6—Never point a gun at anything you do not wish to shoot.
- 7—Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
- 8—Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.
- 9—Never shoot at flat, hard surfaces or the surface of water.
- 10—Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

hearts and flowers by Patricia Latane

Dear Patricia:

I am a young girl and the boy I am in love with said if I loved him as much as I said I did I would consent to his love making. I have not yet. He said we couldn't get married until next summer. What do you think about this?

B. S.

Dear B. S.:

Do, not. If he loves you as he has told you he does, he wouldn't want you to do these things; you tell him if he wants you to live that kind of a life for him to set the wedding date.

Dear Patricia:

I am a boy 24 years old and I have been dating a girl and she is in trouble and feels that I am the one who should get her out of trouble. I do not feel that I have any responsibility in the matter. What should I do?

B. Y.

Dear B. Y.:

Try to understand her problem and go to her parents and explain to them that you are in no way connected with the situation. She probably has not discussed her predicament with her folks and would like to get it settled before anything serious happens. My advice to you is not to get yourself all involved and marry a girl with whom you are not in love. Lots of young men have ruined their lives that way, and I don't see any reason for you sticking your neck out.

Dear Patricia:

I lost my watch. Can you tell me where to find it.

are similar. Their tastes in boy friends are the same . . . not the same boy . . . but the same kind of boy. They are members of the High School class that has produced a carnival queen for three consecutive years. And wouldn't you know they'd be in the royal family. This year it was Ann McDade as queen. Last year it was Anne Latta as queen. They take extreme pleasure in sharing the spotlight, too. When Ann McDade was queen this year, Anne Latta was Miss Fulton High.

"The two," breed friendship, too. Let's call that sentence a play on words, because there are two others, who add up two and two, and make four. Cissy Murphy and Carmen Pigue so often, so very often, make up a four-some that resembles peas in a pod. They've been friends for a long time, but in the past have been on opposing sides. We'd like to tell you a little story about that "side business."

During the war, a group of the girls had a Red Cross Club. There were no officers, no real organization. They just met in various homes to roll bandages. One day, at Betty Whitesell's they were busy doing their war duty, when someone told Cissy that a note was placed for her in a stamp on the Whitesell lawn. Well, Cissy went out and got the note, and while the two Annes couldn't remember the contents, they did know that Cissy got madder'n heck because she thought that a member of the opposing side had written the note. It developed, however, that a member of her own faction had written the message. That incident broke up "the Sides" and incidentally the Red Cross bandage rolling, and until this day only meagre reference is made to the early feud.

All of the young ladies in that group have a story to tell, and someday we hope to find time to do it. But for the present we thought you'd want to know about the two Annes . . . not of Green Gables, but of Fulton High.

ATTENTION ONE SUCKER TOBACCO GROWERS

All five large warehouse floors at Murray, Kentucky will begin receiving one sucker tobacco at 7 a. m., Thursday, December 1 for first sale Wednesday, December 7th.

Succeeding sales for this type tobacco will be held December 14th and on December 21st.

Due to congested condition experienced of only one market in the district handling of one sucker tobacco many growers urged the reopening of the Murray market for the sale of this type tobacco. Growers will do well to keep this in mind, and when marketing their dark air cured tobacco, deliver it to the following LOOSE LEAF FLOORS:

Novel Gift to Make

Kentucky All Purpose Yarn

Here's an idea for those "extra" presents you need for friends and neighbors who drop in during the holidays. Crochet colorful hot pads, fold and pin them to form cone-shaped holders, and fill with kitchen gadgets, candy or fruit! They'll look gay and festive on your tree, and be ready to pluck when needed! The yarn used in these hot pads is the new rayon All Purpose yarn, that's strong, colorful and washable. For free directions for making hot pads, dollies, and smart table mats, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Editor of this paper.

From Louisville, the train will be numbered 101, leaving at 11:40 a. m. and arriving in Memphis at 9:30 that night.

This is virtually the same schedule that was in effect before April, 1947, when the streamlined City of New Orleans was placed into service.

Until Dec. 4, the old schedules between Memphis and Louisville will be maintained.

Hens Go On Strike? Make 'Em Pay; Cook 'Em

Having trouble with those stubborn hens in the barn-yard. The same kind of trouble we are having with the free-eating, loafing, lazy biddies that strut around the yard with nary a lick of production on the mind? Then have no fear.

Have a free chicken dinner by eating the old hens in the flock, suggests Mike Duff, of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. Hens that won't lay enough to pay for their feed this winter can be detected by their yellow beak and legs. While loafing around, they will eat 20 to 25 pounds of grain, he said. You know it, too?

Mississippi Plantation Life: The Writings Of Mattie Dear

In Thee, oh Lord, do I put my trust. I'm feeling fine tonight, my health is fine since Sister, Bernhard take my care to the Lord. My tooth ain't hurting me since. That was wonderful of her.

When you want good things happen to you just do the right thing. We are having cold weather now. Its been cold all day. I am not through picking yet. I has about two are three hundred to pick yet.

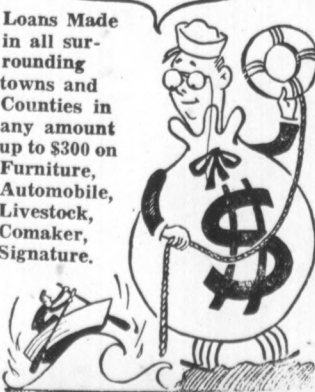

I went no place to service Sunday and old lady come to my house and I was giving her some advice over some few things and I sure did enjoy her. She had been knowing me when I was a girl and now I am an old lady. I wrote Mrs. Bernhard some time ago and can't get no hearing from her. I hope she are not sick.

When I don't go to church I can't have much to say but yet I am keeping the faith. It's fine thing to keep in touch with Jesus. He is so good to me I can't keep from serving him but let Mattie Dear tell you one thing. Near every paper you pick up to read some meanness had been done. It seems like the devil is loose and that keeps me on bend-knee because I am trying to make the trip.

It sure is cold here now but that's God business. I am trying to live so God can use me. My church is doing fine has a good preacher. As kind as he can be.

Mrs. Johanna had done some good favors for me and yet doing them I was sorry when she left the Daily Press. We don't have no day train here at all, only freight trains and it is some lonesome. I look through the list of names that writes article I never seen Mrs. Bernhard name at all. I would like to know how she starts her's. She is a wonderful woman, she sure sent me some good reading paper. God bless her. So I will say, be of good cheer God is in the plan.

Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit.—Mary Baker Eddy.

EXPERT COMING TO UNION CITY & MAYFIELD AGAIN

GEO. L. HOWE

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

LOOKS like a Jet Plane TRAVELS the same way

You see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to “double-bubble” tail-lights, here is the look of “the fastest thing that flies.”

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock into mind—“agile”—“nimble”—“eager.”

You realize that here is action, swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This, you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflo Drive* if you wish. Pleasurable—in the wide, wide outlook that's yours, and the inner satisfaction of having a Buick for your very own.

And we might add another thing, just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflo, frugal *Optional at extra cost.

even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine—as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.

Kentucky 4-H'ers Win Chicago Tips

Ella Leathers

Doris Clifford

Ella Cravens

SUPERIOR records of achievement in National 4-H Girls' Record, Home Improvement, Poultry and Tractor Maintenance programs have won 1949 state championship honors for four Kentucky club members. Each received an all-expense trip to the 28th National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, Nov. 27 to Dec. 1. The winners, who were selected by the state club office, and brief outlines of their records follow:

To be named State winner in the National 4-H Girls' Record program means that the young lady is most proficient in not only one homemaking project, but in several. This honor went to Ella Leathers, 18, of Sinal, who completed eight years in 4-H Club work. She has sewn 327 garments, canned 1,824 quarts of food, prepared 483 meals, and has spent 5,684 hours in housekeeping. Ella served her club in every office and is their leader. She won many high honors on exhibits, including $180 in prize money. In recognition of her achievements, Ella attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, as a guest of Montgomery Ward.

Fourteen projects in five years of 4-H work is a record worth crowing about. And that's just what Orel Plummer, 17, of Gesling is doing because he won State honors in the 1949 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program. Altogether Orel tended 483 chickens and was named county champion for four years, and district champion one year. He was a member of the state poultry judging team which placed fourth in '47 and first in '48. His estimated poultry income was $872, and from all projects $2,101. Even though many hours of hard work went into his projects, Orel always found time to take an active part in church and Sunday school affairs. His reward was an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, provided by Dearborn Motors Corp., awards donor.

Learning proper care and operation of tractors not only paid off in fuel saving for Doris Clifford, 19, of Cynthiana, but brought her the distinction of being chosen 1949 State champion in the National 4-H Tractor Maintenance program.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

Though seven years in 4-H were filled with many exciting events for Ella Cravens, 17, of Utica, none climaxed the thrill of being chosen State winner in the 1949 4-H Home Improvement program. Receiving this honor means that Ella accomplished more in the way of home improvement than any other Kentucky 4-H'er. Among the many things she did was to do over her bedroom and its furnishings to provide more space. She took varnish off an antique dresser and found it to be solid walnut with ivory keyholes. She painted her woodwork white and papered the walls with a bright paper, sanded the floor and cleaned her rug. Ella won the state yard improvement contest in 1948, and won a blue ribbon at county and state fairs on her room improvement scrapbook. Ella's club activities included serving as assistant leader, and acting in other official capacities. Her reward, given by Sears-Roebuck Foundation, was a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, held in Chicago.

So—You Know How To Roast A Turkey!

If you have roasted a turkey you are convinced that you know all about it or nothing about it—depending on your results. You will be proud to bring to the Christmas table a well-glazed golden brown bird. Besides having the turkey good to look at, you will want it to be tender, juicy and easy to serve.

To prepare the turkey for the oven, rub the inside cavity with salt. Stuff the neck and body cavity with your favorite dressing being careful not to pack the dressing in too tightly. Thread a large needle with cord and truss to hold in the dressing. Tie the legs and wings close to the body of the bird so that they will not dry out. Place the turkey, breast side up, in an uncovered pan.

For a juicy tender bird done to a turn but not overcooked use a meat thermometer placed between the thigh and the body.

To make the golden glaze and keep the meat moist, cover the bird with a double thickness of cheesecloth which has been dipped in melted fat. Do not cover the pan and do not add water. Baste it occasionally with melted fat to keep the cheesecloth moist.

Another secret to tender, moist, roast turkey is the use of a slow oven (325° F). The following time table will help you to know when to put the bird in the oven:

Weight of Bird	Min.	Per Pound
8 to 10 pounds	25	to 20
10 to 14 pounds	20	to 18
14 to 18 pounds	18	to 15

You will know that the turkey is done and that it is gravy-making time when the meat thermometer reads 185° F. or when the meat on the drumstick feels soft when pressed with the thumb and forefinger. Be sure to protect your fingers with a paper towel or cloth.

Arrange the turkey on a large platter so that the one who carves has plenty of space to work. For an attractive easy garnish sprinkle peach or apricot halves with brown sugar and a little butter or margarine—slip them in the oven while you are making the gravy. Arrange the hot sugary fruit around the turkey if there is enough space, or on a smaller platter.

Best wishes for success and a very Merry Christmas.

6,000,000th Maytag Washer Sets New Industry Record

In the presence of a large crowd of spectators — amid the din of aerial bombs, fire sirens, factory whistles, bells and workers' cheers — the 6,000,000th Maytag washer recently rolled off the assembly lines at Newton, Iowa, setting a new world record for washer production. Maytag Plant No. 1, where the historic event occurred, was gaily decorated for the occasion. Open house for residents of central Iowa was sponsored by the company's management club. Ten thousand visitors toured the production lines and inspected historical, educational and product exhibits, enjoyed refreshments and carried away souvenir booklets and pocket pieces.

Top pictures show the front of Maytag Plant No. 1 on 6,000,000th washer day and the final assembly lines down which machines roll at the rate of more than 200 an hour. Bottom photos show onlookers watching the 6,000,000th Maytag — a Model E conventional washer — coming off the inspection line, and President Fred Maytag congratulating L. C. McNally (right), manager of manufacturing, on the achievement as N. E. Mollek, production superintendent, looks on.

The 6,000,000th Maytag was a square aluminum tub Maytag Master with pump attachment. In addition to this and two other conventional models, Maytag also manufactures a new automatic washer in an ultra-modern factory recently completed at Newton. The company's line of appliances also includes automatic electric ironers, gas ranges and home freezers.

Menu With A Modern Flare
Planning a new menu is like planning a new ensemble and may be just as exciting. In the language of the homemaker the same terms may be used to describe them. Let's plan a menu with the latest flare in color, line, texture, and that ever important angle — thrift.

Serve golden round salmon patties with piquant tomato cheese sauce in contrast to snowy white steamed rice for color, line and flavor. Crisp cole slaw and crunchy peanuts on fresh raw spinach leaves lend texture as well as color. Whole wheat bread and butter or margarine contribute to all points. Even the dessert rates high with dark spicy cookies and delicately sweet creamy pears. Take your choice of coffee, tea, or milk to drink.

Salmon Patties
(Yield: 8 patties)
1 can salmon
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup onion salt
Mix salmon and remove skin. Crack egg and mix with salmon. Add bread crumbs and onion salt. Roll in flour. Fry in hot oil. Drain on paper towels.

Tomato-Cheese Sauce
Heat one cup undiluted tomato sauce. Add 1/4 pound cubed processed cheese and 1/4 teaspoon celery salt. Stir until cheese is melted. Serve over salmon patties.

Spiry Applesauce Cookies
(Yield: 4 dozen cookies)
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup applesauce
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1/2 cup raisins or nuts

Cream the shortening and add brown sugar gradually, creaming continuously; add beaten egg to mixture. Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add alternately with applesauce, adding grated lemon rind and raisins or nuts last. Drop from tip of teaspoon onto a greased cookie sheet about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderately hot oven (375°F.) until firm and slightly browned.

Letters To The Editor

Nov. 18, 1949

Dear Editor:

A group of the Fulton High School students would appreciate it very much if you would leave out things in the "Walkie Talkie" that cause hard feelings among the students.

The paper that came out for the week of November 18 had plenty in it that was slanderous to a group of girls.

I think you had better look into what you print and find the facts behind them. This column leaves misleading thoughts the public. We know you do not write it, but please tell your reporters to be careful in what they print. We enjoy reading the gossip of the students as long as it does not hurt the students.

This should be published without a name since the "Walkie Talkie" is published without a name.

These Things Will Happen If The Anti-Trust Lawyers Have Their Way

When the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed their suit against A&P, we told the American people, our customers, our suppliers and our employees how this attack would affect them.

We said that this attack, if successful, would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

We said that it would mean higher food prices for American consumers.

We said that if they succeed in destroying A&P the way would be cleared for the destruction of other efficient large-scale retailers.

We thought the American people were entitled to know about this threat to their welfare and standard of living.

It Will Destroy A&P

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that "the suit will not result in the closing of a single A&P store", and that "the purpose of the suit is to enjoin A&P from continuing activity which has been held to violate the law."

The fact is that the suit is designed not only to "enjoin" A&P from alleged illegal activities, but actually to destroy the company.

Here is what they have asked the court to do:

Break up A&P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management.

Order us to sell A&P's factories, which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners.

Prevent any of the seven groups of stores from operating any of the factories.

None of the present owners, who have made A&P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories.

The first A&P store was opened 90 years ago. For the past 50 years the

Since that time, however, the anti-trust lawyers have been making speeches, talking over the radio, writing letters and giving stories to the newspapers, in which they say we are all wrong.

They say that this suit will not close a single A&P store; and that instead of raising food prices it will lower them.

And they have tried to give the impression that nobody will be hurt by this decision except the present owners of A&P.

We don't think that the American people want to be confused by these statements. We know that when they have the facts, they will understand that this case can affect the living standards and the way of life of every American citizen.

Here are the facts:

company has been managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford.

These are the men who have pioneered the policy of low-cost, low-profit, low-price food retailing which has won A&P the patronage of millions of American families and given them more good food for their money.

If the anti-trust lawyers have their way, these men and other company executives will be completely out of the picture. No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A&P will be.

No one can predict that they will sell the same quality food at the same low prices, or that they will keep the same employees, or give them the same high wages, short hours, pensions and security.

Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statement, can anyone tell how many A&P stores will remain open or will be closed.

So, while there may be a food store where your A&P is now located, it won't be your A&P store.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit it will mean the end of A&P as you know it.

Your Food Will Cost More

The anti-trust lawyers have repeatedly stated that the suit will not increase, but should decrease, grocery prices.

Anybody who has ever shopped in an A&P store, or has ever taken a high-school course in economics, knows better than that.

Everyone knows that A&P's policy has always been to keep costs and profits at a minimum so that it can sell good food cheap.

The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A&P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors.

How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?

Actually, there is no question that this suit, if successful, will mean higher food prices for A&P customers.

Here is just one of a number of reasons:

We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight O'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk, and many others.

The anti-trust lawyers admit that we pass along these manufacturing savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

But, the anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

This means that if these A&P brands continued to be manufactured, you would have to pay higher prices for them wherever you found them.

The anti-trust lawyers say that food prices would go down in other stores. They claim that food manufacturers would be able to sell cheaper to other grocers because they would not have to make up alleged losses they now incur in selling to A&P.

This, of course, is pure nonsense. The suppliers who voluntarily seek our business and are now rushing to our defense obviously find it profitable to deal with A&P. Actually, their sales to this company enable them to build up their volume, reduce their costs, and sell more cheaply to all grocers.

The elimination of A&P from the picture would tend to increase, rather than decrease, the wholesale cost of food; and this, in turn, will be reflected in increases in retail prices.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Others Will Be Hurt

The anti-trust lawyers have insisted that this suit will not affect other distributors, "nor will it destroy any efficiencies of mass distribution."

The fact is that the anti-trust lawyers ask the court to break up the company, make it get rid of its admittedly legal manufacturing operations and in general destroy many of the efficiencies which have enabled it to sell food cheaper.

If such an attack is successful, it immediately raises the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The anti-trust lawyers are saying that they "do not contemplate any other suits of this nature at this time."

But that does not mean that they cannot undertake such suits at any future time if they win this case.

As a matter of fact, the anti-trust lawyers made practically the same allegations against two of our largest competitors that they are making against us. And it can also be used as the basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

There are today literally thousands of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If A&P is destroyed, no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor.

Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A&P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply, and grows big in the process.

Such a decision would mean the end of the vigorous, healthy price competition which has given this country the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any people anywhere in the history of the world.

The anti-trust lawyers are trying to give a new interpretation to the anti-trust laws that, instead of preserving competition, will reduce competition. They are trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country.

Make no mistake about it. If they succeed in destroying A&P they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped make the American standard of living the envy of the world.
