Prepare For The Big Feast Feb. 11

PROCURE YOUR TICKET NOW FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET

Tuesday evening, February 11, the Fulton Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet at the Usona Hotel when officers for the ensuing year will be elected. The committee on arrangement and entertainment are now at work on the program, including several musical numbers and talks by well known speakers. Mr. Waggoner of the Kentucky Utilities Company is booked for the principal address.

As there are only a limited number of banquet tickets to be issued, get yours now from Secretary Davis.

The recent membership drive was a gratifying success but there remains a number of good citizens in Fulton who should be members of this live organization.

Fulton possesses unlimited possibilities for growth on account of its geographical location, its equitable climate, its rail and highway facilities, backed by an ideal agricultural country. But it all depends on our united efforts as to how fast we will grow and expand. It is no one man's job if we expect to accomplish much, and when we all realize that the success of every enterprise and individual is absolutely dependent on the courage and confidence we display in behalf of our city and section, then only real results in industrial expansion will be achieved.

Co-operation and harmony are indispensable assets for community development and you, Mr. Good Citizen, should be a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

We should all be active boosters for our city and community, and should emphasize its advantage to all with whom we come in contact, in order that new capital, both local and foreign, may be invested here, and our industrial institutions and home enterprises made to expand. Let's all unite and cement the common interests in Fulton. Make 1930 the best and biggest year in our history for growth and progress.

READ & LITTLE DIS-SOLVE PARTNERSHIP

It was announced this week that the well known automobile firm composed of Dr. I. H. Read and Ira W. Little had dissolved partnership, leaving Dr. Read as sole owner of the business, Mr. Little retiring.

This is one of the oldest automobile firms in the city and has enjoyed a successful business career for many years, selling Dodge cars and doing a general garage business.

BELOVED YOUNG WOMAN PASSES AWAY

The death angel entered the Byers home on Oak street Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and carried away the spirit of Mrs. P. L. Byers. At the time of her death Mrs. Byers was 20 years of age, loved and esteemed by all who knew her. She is survived by her husband and parents, four sisters and three brothers.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Walnut Grove church, conducted by the Revs. N. W. Lee and A. C. Moore, burial followed in the church cemetery.

FARMER KILLED BY CAR

G. W. Reed Lives Five Hours After Highway Accident

Union City, Tenn., Jan. 27 — G. W. Reed, widely known farmer of Obion county, died last night from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joe McAnnulty of Bolivar, during the afternoon.

The accident occurred on the Union City-Martin highway two miles west of Martin. Mr. Reed was rushed to a Martin hospital, where he died five hours later. He suffered a broken leg and internal injuries.

Mr. Reed with his wife and a negro farm tenant and his wife were returning from Martin. He had stopped his car about two miles this side of Martin and started to cross the highway to leave some farm papers in a mail box for a friend. As he alighted, his wife called automobile and he waited until it passed. As it passed his car he stepped out into the highway without seeing the McAnnulty car behind the other and was knocked 12 or 15 feet.

He is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Lucile Flowers, of Kenton; a sister, Mrs. F. J. Ramer of Dallas, Texas; another sister, Mrs. F. T. James, of Cooper, Texas. He also had two nephews, Claude G. Ramer, of Kenton and Harold Ramer, of Martin, whom he had been visiting yesterday afternoon.

PALESTINE SCHOOL

The fifth month of school work was recently finished with best results of the year. Despite the bad weather, our attendance has been excellent, which made the class work more interesting.

Our school is wide awake in every respect. Many nice improvements have been added to our school during the past year. First, the local P. T. A. presented to us a cabinet Victrola. The school and community appreciate it very much. The P. T. A. also paid the additional amount between the price of a regular school stove and an Allen Parlor furnace, so our school is equipped with a stove that we need not worry about.

Since last school year our building has been painted, both on outside and interior, and window shades to harmonize have been put up.

We feel that our school is steadily progressing. The students and parents are ever willing to help the school to advance. The students are selling garden seed now in order that we may get a selection of children's classics for the library.

Those students deserving commendation from the community for having made, during the fifth month, an average of ninety per cent and above, thus getting on honor roll are:

7th grade—Harvey Donoho, Naylor Ward Burnette, James Browder.

5th grade—Mignon Redmon, Edna Earle Pewitt.

4th grade—Annie Laurie Burnette.

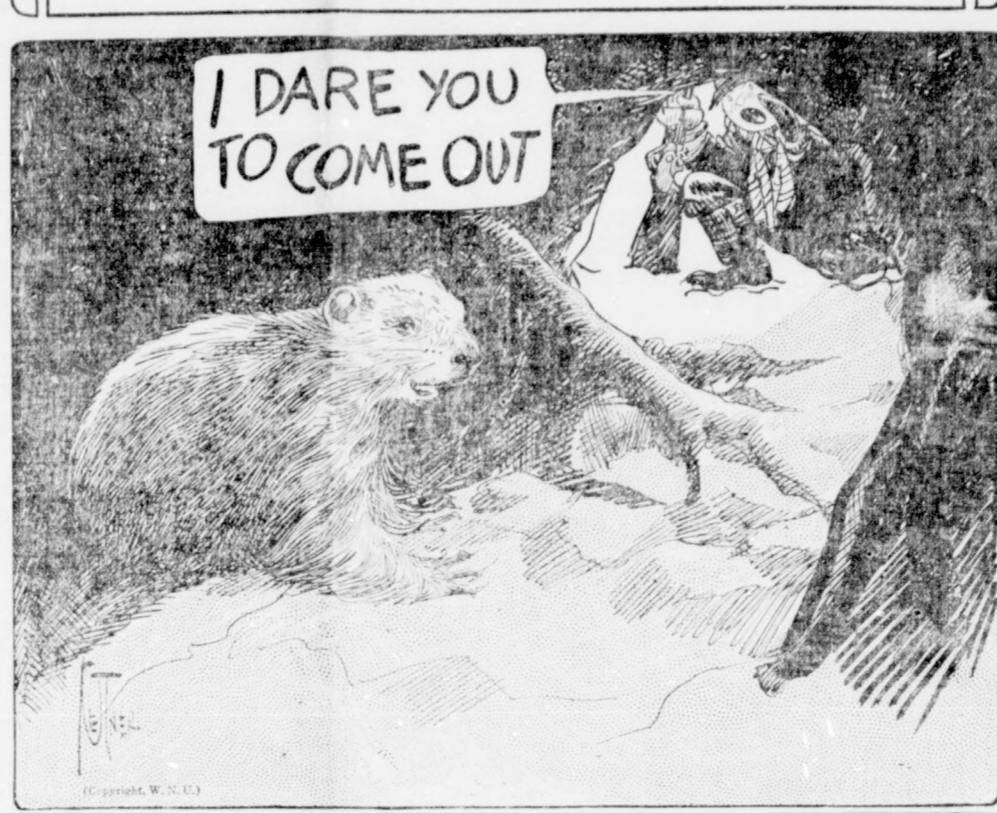

3rd grade—J. W. Fortner.

1st grade—John Frederick Ritter.

John M. Byrd, Instructor.

I. C. System Makes Changes

COURT WEEK IN FULTON

Case of the State Against Miss Bunch and Jim Gardner Postponed

Effective February 1, 1930, the Illinois Central System will make terminal changes and jurisdiction in Divisions. Changes which will affect the Tennessee Division will be the taking over of all the Blufford District from Blufford Yard to Fulton, making it a part of the Tennessee Division. That part of the Edgewood Cut-Off from Metropolis to Blufford Yard formerly belonged to the St. Louis Division. On the same date the Birmingham District of the Tennessee Division extending from Jackson, Tennessee, to Birmingham will be relinquished to the Tennessee Division and becomes a part of the Mississippi Division under jurisdiction of Superintendent Caulfield at Waterville, Miss. Changes are made for operating and economical reasons, and it is not contemplated to make any changes in the personnel of the Tennessee Division.

Mississippi River Rising at Hickman

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 28—The breaking of the extreme cold weather in this section, by rain, has brought renewed threat of flood danger to the lowlands of West Kentucky and West Tennessee. The Mississippi river, which has been falling slowly came to a stand Sunday and started another slow rise Monday. Many of the lowlands are still under water and several hundred families have never been able to return to their home but a rise at this time would do more damage than the rise of 2 weeks ago, observers here said. River traffic here again is hampered by floating ice from above.

False teeth have this advantage—they're the only thing about the body that don't ache when you have the grip.

Many a man who boasts of being an optimist looks just like an ordinary fool to other people.

of the rights or safety of others, and without due caution and circumspection, at a speed and in a manner so as to endanger or be likely to endanger any person or property. No person shall drive a motor vehicle at such a speed as to endanger the lives or property of others."

Motorists are forbidden to pass other vehicles on the crest of a grade or on a curve, where the view is obstructed within 300 feet. Driving to the left of the center line is forbidden when there is approaching traffic.

Horse drawn vehicles using state highways between a half hour after sunset and a half hour before sunrise must have lights both fore and aft. Two headlights are required and there must be no other lights visible 500 feet in front of the car. Red or yellow tail lights visible 500 feet from the rear, and throwing a white light on the license plates so that the numbers can be read from 50 feet. The headlights must be bright enough to be "clearly discernable" at 200 feet, but must not be of a glaring or dazzling type.

Cars must not be parked on the highway unless 15 feet of the highway be left clear for traffic, and unless they can be seen clearly for 200 feet on each side.

RIGID LAID DOWN FOR MOTOR CARS IN TENNESSEE

With Tennessee's new highway police about to mount their motorcycles for enforcement of the equally new highway rules, copies of the law have been printed for distribution.

The resume of the law is headed with the statement that they have been "enacted to render the state highways safe for Tennessee citizens and guests" and there follows a request that they be studied and observed, but it also bears the information that violation of the code will bring a fine of $10 to $100, or 30 days in jail or both.

The speed limit is not stated in miles and motorists may drive as fast as it is safe to drive.

The law says: "It shall be unlawful for any person to drive any vehicle upon a highway carelessly and heedlessly in willful and wanton disregard

First Christian Church

Fulton, Ky.

February 2nd, 1930
Bible School 9:45. Are we going to let our Bible School attendance be measured by the weather? Weather doesn't affect other things so much, why should it affect Bible School and Church Attendance?
Morning Worship, 10:50.
Sermon—"Our Bible."
Evening Worship, 7:00.
Sermon—"God Made Visible in Christ."

Now we want to take the month of February a Bible month. Every member of the church is asked to read the Book of Mark. Public recognition will be given to all who have read the book through by the first Sunday in March. The last Sunday in February will be Bible Day. Every one is asked to bring to church at morning worship any old, unique or interesting Bible. At that service you will see what is perhaps the smallest Bible in the world.

THE AUTO BUSINESS

The automobile business has in recent years come to be one of the barometers by which we can forecast business generally. In fact, we've heard quite a few Fulton people argue that the auto industry has become so enormous and widespread that our prosperity hinges on its success. There may be a lot of truth in it, when we consider all the products that go into autos, and the different kinds of employment affected. At any rate, if the auto industry is to be taken as a barometer it looks as though we are in for a good year. At the New York show Ford alone booked $20,000,000 worth of orders the first day; 23 different makers announced they are going to center their energies on the 8-cylinder car this year, and price cuts are numerous. Conservative leaders in auto-making declare the market will not be flooded with cars but that from now on makers will be governed more by actual orders than by a desire to force distributors to dispose of the output no matter how great it might be.

We have recently read much on the subject, and it strikes us that the auto industry is standing pretty solidly on its feet despite some hard bumps last fall. The men who have millions invested in it are optimistic; they believe they've learned a lot of things that will help them in the future, and they are confident 1930 will be a profitable year. If they can feel that way, with millions invested, than the balance of us, who haven't so much at stake but who do try to hope for the best, certainly ought to be satisfied over the outlook.

Good Building Year

It was only natural that the building industry was the first to feel the effect of the depression which swept the country in the Wall Street crash, but which seems to have pretty generally subsided. So long as people live and work they must have shelter and without buildings to house them and their families, as well as the machinery with which they produce, they are certain to suffer.

According to authorities, home building fell off 50 per cent while the wave of speculation was at its height, and when 1929 closed it was a billion dollars behind what it totalled in 1928. This can mean but one thing, and that is increased activity in the building line this year if we don't want to fall so far behind we'll never catch up. Then up will go rents so we'll catch it any way we go.

Regardless of what other lines of industry are doing, our future is tied a little closer to the building of homes than to anything else. We'll feel it right here in Fulton if this isn't a good year for construction work, for it is a kind of work that touches our lives in many ways. The announcement that last year was a good building year on account of the stock market crash ought to be accepted as good news. It means that there has to be a sort of boom in building if we catch up. So here is hoping that it turns out that way—or at least that the whole country doesn't go crazy and turn to the stock market again with a still greater decrease in the number of homes actually needed.

To Stop Overplanting

While the Federal Farm Board was established with the broadest powers ever given to a government agency, few of our acquaintances around Fulton have appeared to believe the power would ever be used. But now the board has put its finger on the weakness in all schemes for agricultural relief—over-production—and has put its foot down on it at the same time. The board announces it will not lend money to those who insist on excessive planting. They say that no matter how hard they may work to stabilize prices, and get them to where they will yield a fair profit to the growers, their work will be for naught if a very great number plant abnormal crops and bring forth a harvest so tremendous as to cause price slumps. The argument sounds good, and the fact that the board really has the power to prevent over-planting of any and all crops in any and all parts of the country makes its orders along this line worth listening to, and worth watching.

That Lost Letter

Do you always make certain that the letters you mail are addressed correctly and clearly? If you do not, maybe your letter was among the four million that found their way to the "Dead Letter" office at Washington last year. One state alone sent more than a quarter of a million, the record for careless addressing in 1929. It takes but an extra second to give the address another glance before you post the letter, and that flash of the eye may be the means of preventing its total loss to you and the one you are anxious to have them delivered to. Of course no one who spends a few cents for printed stationery ever loses a letter in this way; if it is misaddressed or cannot be delivered it is returned to the writer instead of being sent to the "Dead Letter" office. But there still are quite a few who try to straggle along without the convenience of printed envelope return cards, so we suppose there will always have to be a "Dead Letter" office for their letters to go to.

Guessing Our Size

Now that the government is about ready to start taking a census to find out how many people there are in the U. S. Fulton residents will be interested in a few advance predictions. Louis Truesdell, who will have charge of the census, estimates the count to be taken starting April 1 will show a total of 122,000,000 people, or 17,000,000 more than we had in the census of 1920. He also estimates that of this number 46,580,000, or 39 percent, support themselves and the rest of the population. And while on the face of it that doesn't speak so well for our love of work, bear in mind that it includes the aged, infirm, sick and crippled, and all dependents of whatever nature. Also remember that, according to population, this is a larger percentage of actual workers than any other nation on earth can boast. We know we're a great nation in a lot of ways, but this new census is going to tell us many things we never dreamed of along this line. It ought to prove one of the most interesting things in the entire year.

PUGH GIVEN YEAR FOR DEATH OF UNION CITY CAPITALIST

Union City, Tenn., Jan. 25—Jack Pugh, 23, charged with the murder of Lexie S. Parks, 63, retired banker and capitalist, was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary by a jury here today.

At this morning's session the state presented the confession of Jack Pugh that he accidentally shot Mr. Parks, this being made a part of the record.

Gives His Story

He states that he had driven Mr. Parks over different parts of the county during the morning and day. During the afternoon he paid three visits to the home of a local bootlegger, where he obtained a half pint of whisky, after which he drank during the afternoon.

About 4 o'clock, Pugh went by his boarding house on Division street, changed his clothes and got his gun, which he borrowed previously from his brother, Adrian Pugh.

He identified his gun which the state claimed as the one from which the fatal shot was fired. He then carried Mr. Parks home and it was about 5 o'clock Mr. Parks decided that he wanted to drive some more. Pugh carried him to the car with his overcoat and they drove out Highway No. 22 to Gibbs.

Returning from Gibbs they turned off Highway No. 22 and went down the Rives road and returning from this road, Pugh pulled his pistol from his pocket which was next to Mr. Parks and stated that it accidentally went off. He then shot it out the window until it snapped.

Parks Says He Wasn't Shot

He asked Mr. Parks at the time if he was shot and Mr. Parks shook his head. He said he noticed a powder burn on the sleeve of Mr. Parks' coat, but thought possibly the bullet had penetrated the coat and had not wounded Mr. Parks. He then drove on into town and to his boarding house, where he left the whisky and the pistol.

From there he went to the home of Spencer Millard, son-in-law of Mr. Parks, and at whose home Mr. Parks was staying. When he went in he did not see anyone and he placed Mr. Parks in his large chair that he usually sat in and took off his coat. He noticed blood on his shirt sleeve.

In dressing him he found the wound in his side. He went to the telephone and tried to call Dr. Blanton and also the Parks' resident, but both phones were busy. When Sofa Easley, the cook, came in he told her that Mr. Parks was shot and she spread the alarm. He said he had no reason for killing Mr. Parks, as the banker had been good to him.

He stated that the reason he had in his first confession said that some one else shot Mr. Parks was that he feared that the crowd gathered following the shooting at the City Hall might do violence if he told that he did the shooting.

PERFORMANCE OF ANY SPARK PLUG

Best Condition Means Maximum of Efficiency.

With the general trend toward higher compression engines, the importance of keeping the spark plug in the best condition cannot be over-emphasized. If the motorist would enjoy the maximum of efficient car operation, according to an engineering bulletin, which says:

"A surprisingly large percentage of poor performance may be traced and often eliminated by an examination of the spark plugs, which are often responsible for engine trouble coming under the following classifications:

Trouble Classifications.

1. Engine hard to start—misses at low idling speeds, sluggish.
 2. Engine loses power on long runs, at high speed, on hills or hard pulls.
- "Conditions described above may be due to fouling, worn out or wrong type spark plugs, or to improper adjustment of spark plug gaps.
- "If the plugs are fouled, obviously they should be cleaned, and if worn out they should be replaced. If the gap is too wide it should be adjusted to .025 inch for average engines and .020 inch for high compression engines. The distributor contact points should also be cleaned or renewed and the gap set at no less than .016 inch or more than .020 inch in most cases.

Cleaning Easily Done.
"In the case of fouled spark plugs that are comparatively new, cleaning is easily done:

"Fill the lower part of the plug with alcohol, metal polish or equal parts ammonia and water, and let it stand for a few seconds.

"Dip carbon from insulator with stiff wire or small wooden peg covered with one thickness of cloth. Then wipe the plug dry. Clean the sparking points with emery cloth. Adjust the gaps. Car manufacturers recommend that spark plugs be renewed every 10,000 miles because worn out plugs cannot be restored by cleaning."

Highway Grade Crossing Accidents on Increase

Of the 5,000 highway grade crossing accidents in which motor vehicles were involved during the past year in the United States, 1,275 resulted from motorists crashing into the sides of trains, which were either standing still or in motion. This was an increase of 113, or 9.7 per cent, compared with the number of such accidents in 1927. Highway grade crossing accidents resulting from motor vehicles being struck by trains totaled 3,761 in 1928, an increase of 74 compared with the preceding year, or an increase of 2 per cent.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Modern man drives 2,000 miles in a week and calls it taking a vacation.

Statistics show there is one automobile for every 70 of the world's population. Some drivers seem to have an idea it is up to them to kill off the other 69.

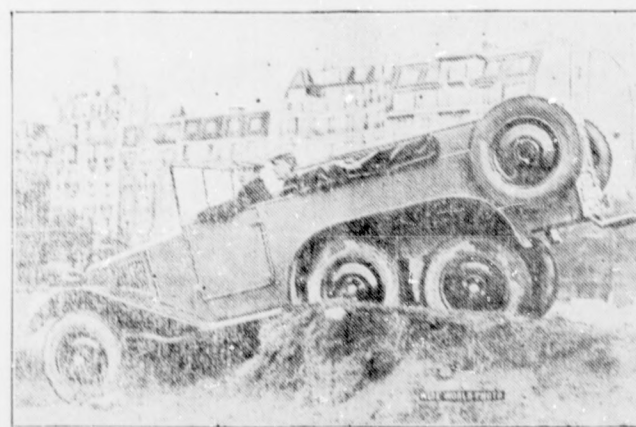

"And how do you know I spent my vacation driving a motor car?" asked the amazed client. "That," said Sherlock, "is elementary. Only the back of your left hand was sunburned."

The town of Montellmar, France, averages 200 arrests of speeders a day. One reason for this is that the legal speed is seven miles an hour, and, secondly, the law is enforced.

The movement is gaining ground to have the name of every community painted on some conspicuous roof. This will be a great help to the motorist struck by a fast freight at the crossing.

"Perhaps the proposed 200-pound automobile would give the pedestrian less to contend with." We don't know: A Brooklyn girl was taken to the hospital recently after being run over by a baby buggy.

IDEAL AUTO FOR BUMPY COUNTRY ROADS

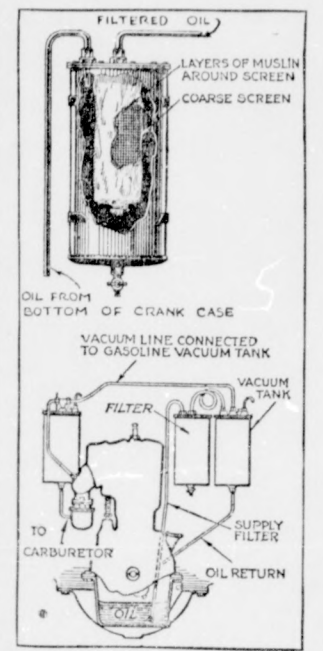

A new motor car recently exhibited at the Salon de l'Automobile in Paris, possessing six independent wheels and which can run over obstacles as high as a foot. It is powered with a four-cylinder air-cooled motor and can attain a speed of 60 kilometers an hour.

Homemade Oil Filtering System Fits Any Motor

The illustration shows a homemade oil filtering system that can be applied to any automobile to make it modern and up-to-date.

You need one vacuum tank in good working order. A serviceable one can be obtained at a low price from any auto wrecking yard. In addition, you need the outer shell of another vacuum tank to serve as a filter compartment. Of course, this tank could be soldered up from sheet metal in any shape desired. Copper piping is used to connect the tanks as shown in the illustration. If your car is fitted with a vacuum tank to supply gasoline to the carburetor, fit a tee instead of an elbow on the intake manifold pipe. If your car has no vacuum tank, run the air pipe from the vacuum tank which is a pump off through the filter direct to a coupling fitted into a hole drilled in the intake manifold. As long as the motor is running, oil will automatically be pumped up through the filter and allowed to run back into the crank case. This system will work perfectly on any type of gasoline engine no matter what type of lubricating system is used—Popular Science Magazine.

Junked Cars Cluttering Highways Called Menace

There are scores of thousands of automobiles on the highways today which were actually disposed of by their owners as junk, but which were salvaged, put in running condition and sold by junk dealers, according to the safety division of the American Automobile association.

The American Automobile association points out that it is a common practice throughout the country to buy junk cars for a few dollars, put them in some degree of running shape and sell them back to the public.

"These mechanically ungood cars," says the American Automobile association, "produce three very bad results. First, they create a serious hazard and intensify the safety problem. Second, they clutter the highway and increase congestion by reason of their inability to maintain anything like an average rate of speed. And, third, since these salvaged cars are almost invariably the first venture of their buyers in car owning, they get badly stung and oftentimes get soured on automobiles in general."

Find Another Effective Anti-Freeze Combination

The United States Bureau of standards has found another anti-freeze that is said to be even more effective than glycerin. In that not as much is needed proportionately. That is ethylene glycol, a petroleum product which has the advantages of both alcohol and glycerin. It costs more than glycerin. Glycerin mixes easily with water and is kept in circulation by the pump or the thermosiphon system of cars without pumps. It doesn't settle either down or up, so as to permit any part of the cooling system to freeze while the engine isn't running.

FRESH SALADS ARE IMPORTANT DURING COLD WINTER MONTHS

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef, The Plaza Hotel, New York City

COMING between the main course and the dessert, the perfectly prepared salad affords a welcome contrast to the heavier foods—the soups, roasts and puddings—which we naturally turn to during the cold winter months. Equally important is the fact that salads provide essential vitamins and mineral salts, and so are a valuable substitute for the fresh vegetables which are by no means so plentiful or inexpensive as during the summer.

For these reasons, the efficient housewife will see to it that salads are a regular item on her winter menus. She will not, however, confine herself and her family to a few standard varieties. She will remember that salads are capable of an infinite variety of forms. Thus she will avoid the reproach of monotony so greatly dreaded by every woman who prides herself upon her proficiency in the art of the cuisine.

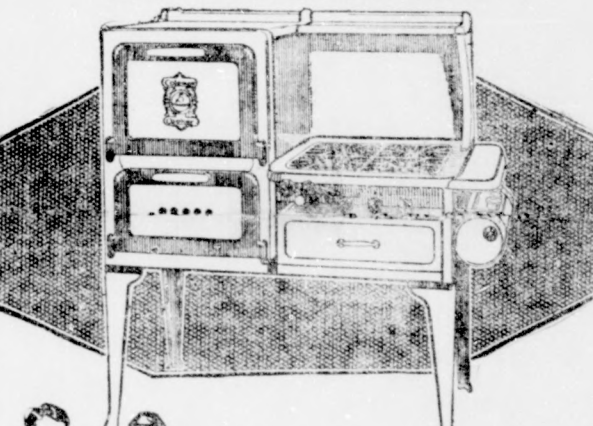

TOMATO SALAD LEOPOLD.—Soak two-thirds box gelatine for fifteen minutes in one-half cup cold water. Add to one can strained tomatoes which have simmered fifteen minutes with one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon powdered sugar, a dash of onion, three cloves and a pinch of thyme. Strain and pour into coffee cups and chill. Remove to cold place and place on lettuce leaves. Garnish with mayonnaise dressing made as follows: Add to one egg one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mustard, a dash of pepper and paprika, a few grains cayenne and one teaspoon vinegar. Beat thoroughly. Add one and a half cups salad oil, a tablespoon at a time. Beat thoroughly after each tablespoon until a half cup of the oil has been added and the dressing is thick. When all the oil has been added, add six teaspoons lemon juice and five teaspoons vinegar.

PIMENTO CABBAGE SALAD.—Add one-fourth cup vinegar to one tablespoon flour, one-half teaspoon table salt and one-half teaspoon sugar. Place in a small saucepan over the fire for a few moments, without letting it come to a boil. Then slowly add one cup diluted evaporated milk, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Boil for one minute and remove from fire. Add two tablespoons salad oil, a dash of onion juice, and one can of pimento chopped fine. Mix thoroughly and serve with shaved cabbage.

CUCUMBER ASPIC SALAD.—Peel and chop fine one cucumber. Season with salt and pepper. Let stand a half hour in four tablespoons warm vinegar. Add two tablespoons lemon juice and one-third cup sugar to one-quarter cup boiling water. Mix with the liquid drained from the cucumbers. Pour into the hot mixture two tablespoons of gelatine that have been soaked for a few minutes in a half cup of cold water. Add a drop at a time, green vegetable coloring until you have the color desired. Cool and strain through cheesecloth over the chopped cucumber. Place in a mold that has been chilled in cold water. Keep in refrigerator until firm. Garnish with cream lettuce balls and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Yes the Coleman IS Different

You'll quickly see that the Coleman Cooker is different from other stoves the minute you see the Gas Preheater demonstrated. This exclusive Coleman device is years ahead—the result of more than a quarter century of Coleman engineering skill. It lights instantly and in a minute or less the burners are ready with a clear, clean, hot blue flame.

Coleman Cookers Make Their Own Gas

Besides this miracle of speedy cooking convenience, you'll find many other features that make the Coleman different—features that make a big difference in your daily preparation of meals.

Just think what a difference it would make in each day's household duties to have gas service for cooking... with its speed, its comfort and its economy. The Coleman gives you that wonderful convenience... no matter where you live. It makes and burns its own gas from regular clear-white gasoline. No piping, wiring or installation expense whatever.

And what a difference to have your kitchen free from soot, dirt... blackened pots and pans. The Coleman Range brings you that freedom. Ceilings, curtains and walls stay clean longer when you have this modern range.

You'll find the Coleman makes a difference in the cost of preparing each meal, too. Cooks a meal for the average family on less than 2 cents' worth of fuel.

There are other features about the Coleman Range that make cooking entirely different. Come in and see them. Pick yours. There's a style and size for every cook and kitchen.

BANKERS QUESTIONED AT HICKMAN BY JURY

Investigate Closing of Bank Several Weeks Ago

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 24 — The entire personnel of Hickman Bank and Trust Company, which closed its doors here a few weeks ago, leaving this city of 5,000 people without a bank, was called before the grand jury for questioning, it was learned today.

Meanwhile, former Sheriff John M. Thompson, who went out of office Jan. 6, filed suit against O. S. Dennis, state banking commissioner; Ed Gardner, president of the First National Bank of Mayfield; in charge of the affairs of the Hickman Bank and Trust Company, and John Pyle, receiver of the bank, asking a mandatory injunction compelling them to honor his check for $18,522.27, the amount of tax funds he had in the bank when it closed and which belongs to the state, county, county school board and levee board.

Charles Wheeler and Miller Hughes, Paducah attorneys, state in the petition that the account was public money and a preferred claim; that there is enough liquid assets to pay this public money and not interfere with the settlement of the bank's affairs.

Judge J. E. Warren, of Fulton circuit court set Tuesday as time for hearing the petition. Attorney General Cammack wired John Pyle from Frankfort this evening not to engage attorneys to defend the petition as his department would represent the defendants at the trial.

Deny Sheriff's Plea.

Dismiss Petition Seeking Injunction Against Defunct Hickman Bank.

Hickman, Ky., Jan. 28—Judge J. E. Warren in Fulton circuit court today dismissed the petition of former sheriff John M. Thompson asking a mandatory injunction compelling the Hickman Bank and Trust Co., which closed its doors four weeks ago, to honor his check for $18,522.27 tax money belonging to the state, county schools and levee board.

Thompson maintained it was public money and a preferred claim and that there was enough liquid assets to pay his check without interfering with the settlement of the bank.

Assistant Attorney General Hollifield of Frankfort, represented Banking Commissioner Denny, Deputy Commissioner Ed Gardner of Mayfield and Receiver John Pyle, who were named in the suit.

State Banking Commissioner O. S. Denny visited Hickman to help straighten out the affairs of the Hickman Bank and also to lay plans for a new bank to open shortly. He left for his home in Frankfort today.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

I saw the first robin of the year this morning hopping around on the ground. This is a sure sign of spring. Of course there may be seven or eight more snows and some freezing weather yet, but you can't fool the robins.

I have just had the tinner at the Hardware store make me a brooder for indoor work that is my own idea. It is large enough to brood fifty baby chicks for three weeks, and is rat proof, fire proof and fool proof. This brooder will have to be heated by electricity so it won't be of much use in the country, unless we can arrange some way to heat it, but is a dandy good arrangement for any one in town.

I will have the brooder at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for awhile so anyone who is interested can come by and look it over, if they want one they are welcome to my ideas.

The big hatcheries are beginning to turn out the baby chicks. Now is a good time to begin to make your plans for this year's work. Decide on the breed you want, get the best you can of that breed, but do not load up with more than you can take care of, and do not let them raise themselves, but take good care of them and you will make a success of the project.

I hope the 4 H club members are getting things lined up for their work this year, and I hope all do remarkably well. You know if you only raise your chickens to the broiler age and sell them you will make a great big profit on your investment, but I want you to get stock or eggs from a good breed so you can enter some of them in the fair. I want to have as many chickens in the 4 H department of the show as there are from the grown ups. Besides you may be in on the money prizes offered at this show.

To the boy or girl who belongs to the 4 H club that makes the best record with their project between now and the fair, I will give them a special prize for their work. And to the school that makes the best record, we will give them a nice banner to hang up in their room. We will explain this more thoroughly in a later paper, I am telling this much so you can get busy.

Now there is an old saying that "Idle hands are easy for the devil to take hold of." We don't want the old boy to take hold of any of our boys or girls hands this year so we are working and planning a way for you to keep busy and at the same time make enough money to repay you for your work, and there will be an abundance of pleasure all summer long for you if you will follow our plan. I want boys to sign up to raise chickens according to the plans laid down by the rules of the 4 H club. Now it won't take near all of your time to tend to your chickens, so the county agent wants you to also take up a couple of other projects. You can join the corn club, or the pig club or the calf club, or better still, join all four clubs, and see what a success you can make of your efforts.

I want girls to sign up for the chicken project, and the Home Demonstrator also wants you to sign up for the canning club or the sewing club, or the home improvement club or you can sign up for all four and show the people you have something else in your head beside a lot of empty notions.

If you will sign up for these projects and make them a success there is no fear that the devil will be able to take hold of your hands.

BANKERS FIND GROUP BANKING WIDESPREAD

Over 13 Billion Dollars of Bank Assets in Affiliated Systems Numbering 1,850 Members—In Nearly Every State.

Over 1,850 banks with more than thirteen billion dollars in resources are shown to be associated with chain or group banking systems in the United States in facts recently gathered by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The chairman of the commission, R. S. Hecht of New Orleans, pointed out that the facts indicate that "almost 7 1/2 per cent of our banks and over 18 per cent of our banking resources are in the great net of group or chain banking that now covers almost every part of the country."

The commission's facts comprised chain and group banking affiliations in the broadest sense of the term, the report said. They included those groups in which the controlling element was a particular bank, there being reported 78 instances of this class involving 407 banks and about $6,473,000,000 in combined banking resources. They included also groups in which a non-banking holding company, not subsidiary to any particular bank, was in control and of this class 23 instances were found, involving 250 banks and nearly $5,335,000,000 in resources. The report also included groupings in which control was exercised by individual persons and these cases numbered 167, involving 1,071 banks and about $1,658,000,000 in assets.

The Total Figures
The total was over $13,275,000,000 in aggregate resources. Some of the systems comprised 50 to 100 banks each. Head offices of the groups were found in all jurisdictions, but nine of the states and the District of Columbia.

"We have not included in these figures," the report says, "banking groups in which a commercial bank, a trust company and an investment house, and sometimes a savings bank, are tied together by some form of stock holdings and operated as complementary elements in an organization rendering complete financial services. We have held that such groups are similar to a departmentalized bank and different in the purposes and operations from a chain or group banking system."

"For purposes of the present report we define chain or group banks as systems in which centralized control, whether corporate or personal and either rigid or informal, directs the operations of two or more complete banks, not functionally complementary, each working on its own capital and under its own personnel and located in one or more cities or states."

Commenting on the question whether the rapid development of chain banking was in the nature of a reaction against restrictions imposed on branch banking by the banking laws in many states the report says that observation does not wholly confirm this theory since chain banking is prevalent in some states where virtually no restriction is imposed on branch banking, as well as in those where the establishment of branch banks is prohibited. It adds:

The Question of Branch Banking
"However, the facts do show that anti-branch banking laws have been a factor in some cases, and probably in some sections, in the spread of chain banking. Instances have come to our attention where expansion along chain bank lines has been carried out by state banks whose expansion along branch bank lines was stopped by the passing of state laws prohibiting further branches. Yet whether expansion would have been along branch bank lines if the laws had imposed no barriers, it is impossible to say. There is obviously a well developed banking opinion in some sections that the chain bank method brings to outlying banks the strength and efficiency of a big organization without depriving them of their local individuality and sympathies. In view of the mixed factors noted, we feel it is unsafe to generalize as to having branch banking laws have on chain developments."

"The recent era of rapid chain bank developments has found specific reflection in some state legislative action tending to restrict or control chain or group banking. Also we find a sharp difference of opinion among state bank commissioners who have expressed their sentiments regarding chain banking."

In a foreword to the report, issued in booklet form by the association at its New York City headquarters, Chairman Hecht says that "the Economic Policy Commission does not take a stand in advocacy of or in opposition to this new method of concentrating banking resources through the affiliation of banks into groups and chains, but it is simply offering as a fact finding body what we believe is the first complete national picture of this rapidly growing movement."

SCHOOL SAVINGS GROW
A total of 4,222,935 school children participated in school savings banking in the United States during the last school year, depositing $28,672,496 and rolling up net savings of $10,539,928, bringing total bank balances now credited to this movement to above 50 million dollars, according to the annual report of the Savings Bank division of the American Bankers Association. Schools to the number of 15,597 are enrolled in the plan.

Beelerton News

Beelerton played two games with Fulton on their court last Friday night. These were the kind of games we like, and we returned home, so happy, because we won. The girls' score was 12-6, in our favor, and the boys' score was 18-13 for Beelerton. Both games showed real spirit and Fulton players are nice sports.

The lineups were:
GIRLS
Beelerton: I. Fite, 6; A. Pharis, 5; J. Bostick, 1; M. Cook; Z. Hodges.
Fulton: Homra, 1; Moore, c; Hill, 2; Huddleston, 3; Williamson, 3.

BOYS
Kirby, 3; Batts, 2; Bennett, 9; Shelton, rg; Phelps, 4.
Fulton: Williamson, 4; Shuck, 6; Felt, 3; Johnson.

Beelerton played two games with Clinton on their court Saturday night. The girls score was 99. Cook was our high point man. It will be untied on a later date. Clinton won the boys' game 17-5. Bennett was our high point man.

No Danger of Starvation

THE short strike of the market gamsters and chauffeurs in New York City last fall served to call attention to the perilous food situation which would arise if such a strike in any big metropolitan city should be of prolonged duration. Millions of dollars worth of fresh fruits and vegetables would rot on its piers or in its railroad terminals. Fortunately, however, no big metropolitan population would face starvation unless there should be a complete paralysis of food transportation facilities for many weeks. This is due to canned foods, a gigantic quantity of which is always on hand in the enormous warehouses of the great food distributing agencies in all large cities.

An Army with Labels

There are approximately 9,000,000,000 cans of food commercially processed in this country annually at the present time, and this makes about 73 cans a year per capita of population of the United States. In the new and larger Metropolitan District of New York City which has been agreed upon by the Merchants Association and the United States Bureau of the Census there are approximately ten million people. If every person in this district consumed seventy-five cans of food a year, this would make a gigantic total of 750,000,000 cans a year, or 2,054,800 cans a day which are regularly brought in to this metropolitan area.

But, as a matter of fact, the consumption of canned food by urban populations is much greater than that in the open country, and large reserve supplies are always kept on hand in the big metropolitan areas, so even the above staggering totals fail to express the size of the huge army with labels (instead of banners) which would march to the rescue of their citizens in case of any such contingency as a prolonged strike.

Cities Live on Canned Foods

Our large cities live to a large extent on canned foods at present. In fact, more of them could have grown to their present size if the process of canning had not been invented. No less an authority than Dr. Milton J. Rosenau of Harvard University says in his book "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene": "Without this method of preserving foods great metropolitan cities would be impossible."

Sound, Wholesome and Safe

The use of canned foods is growing rapidly. The Committee on Fruits, Vegetables and their Products of the American Public Health Association recently reported that the approximate production of commercially canned foods in the United States, including vegetables, fruits, meats, meat products, marine products, milk and soup, was 1,578,000,000 pounds in 1934; 3,918,000,000 pounds in 1914; 6,040,000,000 pounds in 1919 and 7,579,000,000 pounds in 1925, and it has increased enormously in the last four years. "Canned foods," said this report, "are cooked in hermetically sealed containers which prevent recontamination till opened. The nutritive and caloric values of the same fruit or vegetable, fresh or canned, are essentially the same. Canned foods are sound, wholesome and safe. Their continued use is recommended. The advantages to the American health from the use of canned foods in the diet can hardly be overestimated. The nation can have faith in its canned foods." Dr. Rosenau, quoted above, also says on this subject: "The process of canning is practically synonymous with sterilization and is, therefore, one of the best sanitary safeguards we have against parasites and the injurious products of putrefaction in foodstuffs. Canned foods are sterile foods and, therefore, generally safer than fresh foods. . . . The process of canning, discovered by Appert and afterward perfected by Pasteur, has proven of inestimable benefit to mankind. Canned foods are not only safe, but quite as nutritious as the original articles. The process permits us to have a well-balanced ration throughout the year—irrespective of season."

Dr. E. V. McCollum of John's Hopkins University said in a recent article on this subject of a balanced ration: "Science has come to the assistance of mankind in providing ways by which foods may be preserved for months or even years, thus making it possible for people to have a greater variety in the diet the whole year through. . . . A long list of fruits and green vegetables are most effectively preserved in a wholesome and attractive form, and for an almost indefinite period if necessary, through the process of canning. Several kinds of fish and meats, milk, etc., are also best put up in this form. No other method serves so well to conserve the delicate flavors of fruits and vegetables as does canning by modern processes. "Canned foods are, generally speaking, the safest foods which come to our tables today."

Kentucky House Passes Its First Bill of Session

Cold Check Writers Would Be Fined $500; Farm College Would Get $37,290

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27—The house of representatives today passed its first two bills, one increasing the penalties for issuing a worthless check and the other carrying a $37,290 appropriation to enable the College of Agriculture to accept a similar sum from the federal government for agricultural extension work. Both now go to the Senate.

The first of a number of measures to remove some of the appointive powers of the governor, that of Rep. Brown to transfer duties of the textbook commission to the state board of education, was given a favorable report by the education committee No. 1 of which Rep. Brown is chairman.

Among the new bills introduced was a so-called "Jim Crow" proposal requiring notices in public conveyances to separate the races, a sterilization bill affecting certain inmates of state institutions, a measure to provide a penalty of from two to five years for sale or possession of a machine gun, a bill to provide $75,000 for a war memorial and auditorium at Jackson, and a proposal that the state shall construct and maintain highways through the fourth, fifth and sixth classes.

OUR MESSAGE OF SERVICE

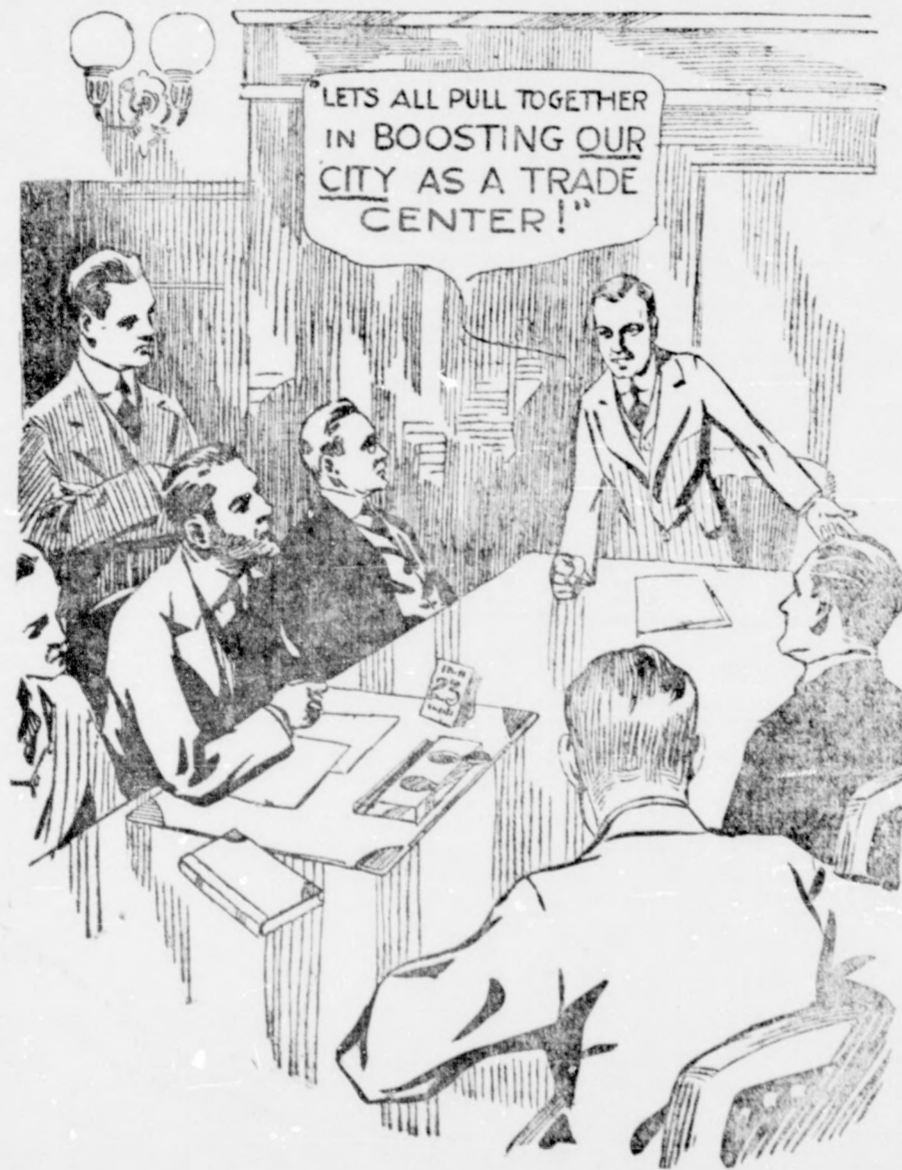

There is going to be a lot of activity in the building line this year. Architects and contractors, carpenters and masons all, are busily sharpening up their pencils and their tools, and getting set for business. It is not the young married folks alone who are going to build homes—who dream dreams of happiness in homes of their own—but many others who have long, too long, been renting the roofs over their heads are going to try this year to realize their desire to have a home of their own.

Whatever you plan to do by way of BUILDING — REMODELING REPAIRING

we want you to feel perfectly free to come in and consult our service department without the slightest obligation. Whether it's a big house or a bungalow, a new garage, new roof or new floor, a sun parlor or a sleeping porch, an alley fence, or built-in fixtures—we are prepared to give you unequalled service and low prices on Quality Material.

Butler county farmers saved 1,000 bushels of soybeans for seed Loreda is the most popular variety, followed by Wilson Black.

The county agent and a specialist from the College of Agriculture assisted in making the survey to drain 75 acres on the farm of David J. Williams in Madison county.

More purebred poultry flocks were established in Wolfe county in 1929 than in any previous year according to the county agent.

With eggs retailing at 60 cents a dozen, several Estill county farmers are building brooding houses and otherwise arranging to raise early chicks in order to have winter eggs next year.

TORTURE THUGS
FOOLED BY SAFE;
KILL WATCHMAN

Inflict 20 Wounds on Body of Man in Attempt to Get Combination.

New York.—In a vain endeavor to force from a fifty-year-old watchman in a laundry knowledge which he did not possess—the combination of the safe—robbers recently slashed and stabbed Carl Friedman to death after torturing him by jabbing a stiletto into his face, head, and body. Twenty-four wounds were inflicted upon him.

The robbers left the safe intact, with no further effort to get the $300 it contained, apparently frightened away as they were making preparations to blow it.

The body of the murdered watchman was found an hour later when Irving Coyle, a laundry sorter, came to work and could not gain access to the plant. He kicked at the outside door to hall the watchman, and then called Policeman Quinn of the East Twenty-second street station.

Long Trail of Blood.

The two forced their way through the garage door, searched the building, and finally came upon the body, where it had been dumped from a laundry basket on the loading platform.

Spots of blood formed a 200-foot trail back to the watchman's chair, placed in front of the safe, showing that the robbers seated the watchman, who was slight and no match for his assailants, as they tried to get from him the combination of the safe.

He had been slashed in the palm of each hand, under the chin, about the neck, and top of his head and face. When these wounds did not obtain the desired information the robbers inflicted the mortal wound in his back, police believe. Other stains in the engine room, in front of the key fastened to the portable time clock on the chair in which the watchman sat, on the handles of the safe door, in the dynamo room, and in the rear alley revealed to police every step in the murder and disposal of the body.

Find Bloodstained Tools.

In a vacant lot back of the laundry detectives found a bloodstained paper bag, containing a brace and bit, glass cutter, wire cutter, stiletto sheath, and a pair of low shoes. The tools, all new, were wrapped in two cotton shirts. Aside from possible fingerprints on the tools, the only other clue to the robbers was the print of a bare right foot on the loading platform.

This discovery led detectives to believe that one of the robbers had removed his shoes to creep upon the watchman and overpower him. Police also believe the shoes and tools were thrown away by the fleeing thugs when frightened from the scene, perhaps by the groans of the dying watchman.

Leg Hurt in First Auto
Crash Cured in Second

Waynesburg, Pa.—Automobile accidents cannot generally be recommended for their healing powers. Yet Miss Beatrice Carpenter of Waynesburg can attest to the curative properties of one such accident.

Two years ago Miss Carpenter suffered a broken leg in an automobile accident and had remained only partially use of the member, although the bone had knit.

She was injured a second time recently in a similar accident and the leg was snapped back into its natural position. Miss Carpenter recovered the full use of her leg.

Dog's Teeth Pulled to Beat Sentence of Death

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A seventeen-year-old dog sacrificed his molars in order that his eighty-year-old owner, Mrs. Francis Edwards, might not be deprived of his companionship.

Police charged that the dog was vicious and had bitten two people. The aged woman pleaded in court for the life of her pet. The dog was her only companion, she said. Judge Calloway ordered the dog returned to her—after his teeth had been extracted.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for February 2

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:1-24 (Prize vs. 5-12, 19-21, 21-23).

GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Being True to Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Being Loyal to Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being Loyal to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting First Things First.

Having set forth in the previous chapter the standards of the kingdom, Jesus now exhibits the underlying principles which control the subjects of the kingdom.

I. As to Giving (vv. 1-4). Alms were not to be given before men to be seen of them. Doing alms before men is not condemned as that would contradict Matthew 5:16, but the doing of them before men to be seen of them. To seek publicity in doing our alms is to miss the reward of our heavenly Father. The true child of the kingdom will seek privacy in doing righteousness, that he may have the open reward of the Father.

II. As to Praying (vv. 5-15). 1. False prayer (vv. 5, 7). This consists in (1) Praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many of the prayers uttered in public are false, for there is more thought of what the people think than of what God thinks. (2) Using vain repetitions (v. 7). This does not mean that we should ask but once for a given thing. We have examples of Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26:39-40; II Cor. 12:7, 8). It means the using of meaningless repetitions. The reason is, "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him."

2. True prayer (v. 6). Since prayer is a transaction of the soul with God, there should be a real desire for fellowship with Him which moves one to meet Him in the secret place.

3. The model prayer (vv. 9-15). This involves (1) Right relationship—"Our Father" (v. 9). (2) Right attitude—"Hallowed be thy name" (v. 9, 10). (3) Right spirit—"Give us our daily bread, forgive us our sins, lead us not into temptation" (vv. 11-13).

III. As to Fasting (vv. 16-18). The true reason for fasting is to be found in the opportunity it gives for a clear vision of God. Those who have thus seen God will make it manifest in a joyful countenance.

IV. As to Earthly Riches (vv. 19-24). The Lord knew the temptations which would befall His children in their earthly pilgrimage and the anxiety to which it would lead; therefore He set forth the proper attitude toward them.

1. The nature of earthly riches (vv. 19-21). (1) Uncertain (vv. 19, 20). Earthly treasures corrode, or are taken from us, therefore we should lay up for ourselves treasures in heaven where they are absolutely safe from corruption and from thieves. (2) Seductive (v. 21). Christ called riches deceitful (Matt. 13:22). It is not wrong to possess earthly treasures, but when earthly treasures possess us, they become a snare unto us. Excessive attention should not be given to earthly treasures.

2. The effect of earthly riches (vv. 22-24). (1) Blunt the moral and spiritual perceptions (vv. 22, 23). Those who become enamored of the things of this world soon become irresponsible to spiritual things. When the heart is upon earthly treasures, it is taken from God. The double eye is disastrous to spirituality. (2) They render null and void all service (v. 24). As soon as one's heart is stolen by riches, he is rendered unfit for spiritual service.

V. As to Faith in the Heavenly Father (vv. 25-34). 1. Be not anxious about food and clothing (vv. 25-34). Because (1) It shows distrust of God (v. 26). God is able to supply His children's needs. (2) It is useless (v. 31). Anxiety can bring nothing. While bringing us nothing, it weakens our service. (3) It is unhealthful (v. 32). Those who have not learned to trust God may worry over temporal affairs, but those who know Him as a loving Father, will be free from care.

2. Be anxious to seek the kingdom of God and serve Him (vv. 33, 34). This means that worldly affairs should be subordinated to spiritual affairs.

AUTO DRIVERS WARNED

Automobile drivers are warned to be especially cautious to avoid accidents at railway crossings during the winter months in a bulletin issued by J. D. White, superintendent of safety of the Illinois Central System.

"Weather conditions make automobile driving more hazardous during the winter months," Mr. White has said. "Dangers of accidents of all kinds are greatly increased. Therefore, it is necessary for drivers to be especially cautious and the necessity of increased caution naturally applies to crossing railway tracks.

"Windows are often shut on enclosed cars, and ice and sleet form on windshields. Side curtains are used on open cars. Highways are frequently covered with ice, snow and sleet. Visibility is usually low. These conditions all operate to reduce the range of vision and hearing and to increase the danger of skidding. The driver should be particularly careful to approach crossings under control.

"Before crossing railway tracks, in winter or at any other time, every automobile driver should make certain that there is no train approaching from either direction. Extra caution needs to be exercised when crossing double track. Trains move in both directions and frequently happen to pass each other at or near crossings.

"There is one sure way to avoid automobile accidents at railway crossings. That is for automobile drivers to be cautious whenever they cross railway tracks no matter how infrequently trains are operated over crossings.

"The safety of human life is a worthy goal of our best efforts. That goal can be reached by cooperation. The cooperation of automobile drivers is especially necessary for safety at crossings."

Reply to Letter Sent Out By Snow-White Motor Co.

In reply to your letter of recent date regarding service, I am pleased to state your service to all I would recommend. Except that guy who is just out and in. He noses around like an old coon bound; I believe his name is some sort of Brown. Although the shop foreman looks rather sullen. He's full of good humor and his name is Mullen. There are other employers whom I can't tell by name who have been courteous to me and I thank for the same. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Snow-White. For I feel sure they will do the thing that is right.

Very truly yours,

Statewide Bible Study Project Is Announced

"Stories from Life" is the title of the 1930 Bible Study Project of the State Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The goal is eighteen thousand high school students participating in 250 groups of boys and girls in as many high schools.

The course this year is unusual. It is designed to present Bible study of topics through graphic pictures of the people and life of Palestine as reflected in the parables of the New Testament. The graphic glamour of the Orient permeates the lessons, each of which includes one or more parables, and questions to relate the story to present day life.

The topics are: "The Place and the People," "The Conflict of Old and New," "Hearing and Doing," "The Chief Seats," "True Neighborliness," "The Boy who wanted to see the World," and "The Great Discovery."

Enrollment begins February 4. The project runs to March 31, covering eight weeks, with weekly reports sent in to State "Y" headquarters in Louisville to that accurate records may be kept for making awards.

The student enrollment last year was 17,862, the movement having grown from 1923 from an enrollment of 3,912.

AUSTIN SPRINGS NEWS

One of the worst accidents and tragedies took place last Friday, January 17, on the extreme south end of the Donoho levee, when the Ford car driven by Mr. Ben Cantrell, ran off the bridge and Mr. Cantrell was probably hurt or rendered unconscious and laid there about 22 hours before found by Mr. Jack Wilson, Elbridge Mays, rural carrier from Palmersville; Mr. Bonnie Bowden and others who discovered the car hanging by a wheel from the bridge, and upon investigating Mr. Cantrell was found under the edge of the bridge, frozen to death, his feet in the water frozen to the ground, also arms and hands were frozen too. No one knows how long he laid there before death relieved him.

Mr. Cantrell spent most of his life in this community, where he has many friends who were shocked to hear of his untimely death. He was married to Miss Lottie Summers, Feb. 18, 1921, and to this union five children were born, four sons and one daughter.

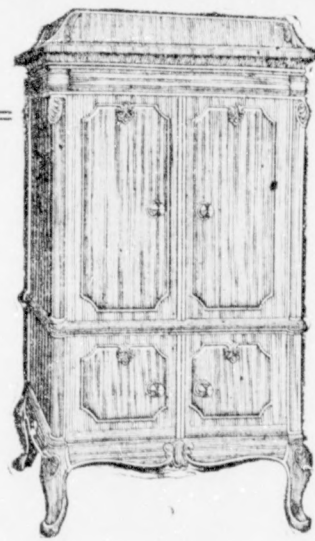

Mr. Cantrell was born April 22, 1893, and departed this life January 17, 1930, aged 36 years. He leaves a companion, five children, three brothers and five sisters besides a host of relatives and friends who deeply mourn with the bereaved ones. Funeral services were held at the home near here by the Rev. T. T. Harris and interment took place at the Acree graveyard with Jackson Undertakers in charge. Sympathy is extended by all and especially the writer, as the deceased and family are very close friends of ours.
