Fulton Is Horrified

Fulton was thrown into a furor of excitement at 9:30 Tuesday morning when the horrifying news was flashed over town that a captured thief and crook had cut Chief of Police Bailey Huddleston's throat from ear to ear and shot him, also shooting F. M. Barrett who conducted a confectionery and eating house on Fourth street.

The culprit entered Mr. Barrett's place of business and sneaked out with a box of cigars. Mr. Barrett telephoned Officer Huddleston who immediately went in question of the thief and on questioning several around the passenger station he gained information that a man who was trying to dispose of cigars had left for the new yards of the Illinois Central railroad.

Officer Huddleston returned to Mr. Barrett's store and told him if he would get into his car and go with him to identify the man he thought he could catch him, and sure enough they did, near the cemetery. He was placed into the car after being searched and started to the jail. On reaching Valley street the thief quickly pulled a knife from some hidden place and slashed officer Huddleston's throat from ear to ear, also shooting him twice in the leg and shooting Mr. Barrett just above the heart, penetrating the lung. Officer Huddleston lost control of the car and crashed into a post near A. B. Newhouse's home. Officer Huddleston, although seriously wounded, grappled with the desperado and lost his gun in the struggle. Shortly afterwards Sam Williams and John Boulton, in a Williams' truck, appeared on the scene and saw Officer Huddleston standing against his car with blood streaming from his wounds. They immediately stopped and a faint voice had happened. In a kind way Huddleston told them to take him to Dr. Cohn's office in a hurry. As they were placing him in the car they found Mr. Barrett crumpled on the back seat unable to speak. They were rushed to Dr. Seldon Cohn's office on Walnut Street, where Drs. Cohn, Jones, Lutten, Major, Wright and Crafton worked faithfully to save the lives of the two men. Drs. Cohn, Lutten and Major soon had the gaping wounds of Huddleston sewed up while Drs. Wright, Jones and Crafton worked with Barrett.

A special train of one coach and a baggage car was made up and backed up to the Cohn building and the wounded men, accompanied by their families, doctors and a number of friends, left for Paducah at 1:05 p. m. Engineer Burgess was at the throttle and in 54 minutes after leaving Fulton was in Paducah.

Man Captured and Rushed to Hickman Jail

The man who slashed and shot Huddleston and Barrett was captured by Constable Walter Boaz and Fire Chief Lee Roberts on the railroad, just below Browder's mill, 30 minutes after the tragedy. When captured he had Officer Huddleston's gun concealed in his shirt bosom and his hands and clothing smeared with blood. He was taken to Dr. Cohn's office and identified by Huddleston and then to the city jail.

The officials, gathering the large crowd that had gathered at the jail, feared for the man's life and rushed him to the county jail at Hickman.

It was learned that the man's name was Roy Springer.

Huddleston's Recovery Hopeful

Reports from the Illinois Central Hospital, Paducah, regarding the condition of Chief of Police Bailey Huddleston Thursday morning stated that while his condition was critical he has a chance for recovery.

Dr. Jackson, head of the I. C. institution was very complimentary in his remarks about the excellent work done by Fulton physicians before patients were sent to him.

Rushed to Paducah

The sheriff and four deputies rushed Springer from the Fulton county jail at Hickman to Paducah. Arriving at the McCracken jail, he was slipped quietly through the back door of the jail and placed in a cell on the second floor. Rumors of mob violence spread as a wave of feeling rose against the man, and Fulton authorities quickly ordered his removal to Paducah. A crowd of several hundred persons formed near the Fulton jail, but there was no actual demonstration of violence.

Springer was admitted to the McCracken county jail at 5:10 o'clock by Jailer Roscoe Houser. Sheriff Goadler Johnson and three deputies escorted him from Hickman.

Later he was removed from the McCracken county jail and taken to Princeton or Hopkinsville. Springer, who speaks broken English and at times apparently does not understand the language of remarks addressed to him, declined to make a statement with regard to the crime other than saying that he had been in Jackson, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn., and had caught a freight train out of Memphis and landed in Fulton, Tuesday. He said he had been at work in Memphis with a ditch-digging crew. Fulton officers said he told them that he had been in Memphis for six or eight weeks.

Questioned about the robbery of Barrett's store, his arrest, and the wounding of Huddleston and Barrett in his attempt to escape, he merely shook his head. He smiled broadly when newspaper men attempted a flashlight picture of him in his jail cell. He called for "a chew of tobacco" just as soon as he was put in his cell, and fellow prisoners granted his request.

Used Own Gun, Says

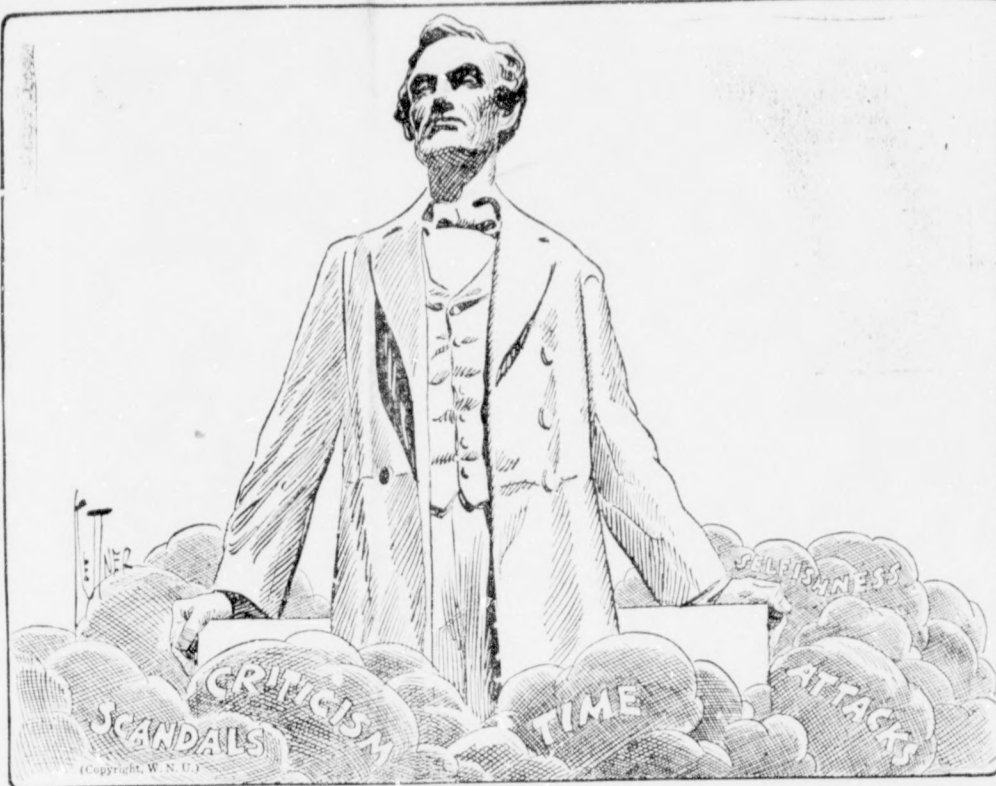

Springer told the sheriff and his deputies that he used his own gun, which he had bought in Memphis with which he shot Barrett and Huddleston. He said that he picked up a knife from the floor of the police chief's car and attacked the officer.

Bertillon records of the prisoner were made at Hickman, but authorities have not yet checked his criminal record. He told officers that he had served a jail sentence in Memphis.

F. M. Barrett Succumbs To Gun Wound

Frank M. Barrett, merchant and highly esteemed citizen of Fulton, died at 11:10 o'clock Tuesday night at the I. C. hospital, Paducah, from a bullet wound in the right lung, fired by Roy Springer, Polish ditch digger, who also inflicted serious injuries on Chief of Police Bailey Huddleston of this city, former sheriff of Fulton county.

All that skilled physicians could do to prolong the life of Mr. Barrett failed and today the entire community is bowed in grief with the bereaved.

At the time of his untimely death Mr. Barrett was 62 years of age. He had been identified with the business interests of Fulton for a number of years and was honored and esteemed by a large circle of friends. He was a member of the First Methodist church and lived up to its teachings. He was a carpenter by trade and was active in that pursuit until he entered the merchant business. He had resided in Fulton 28 years, and was a native of Weakly county, Tenn.

Besides his widow he is survived by three children, W. E. Barrett of Decatur, Ill.; Mrs. Frank Merryman of this city, and Mrs. L. T. Morris of Detroit, Mich., one brother, Will Barrett, of Chicago, also D. C. Mitchell, half brother, of Chicago.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by the Rev. R. A. Wood, assisted by the Rev. C. H. Warren, interment followed in Fairview cemetery in charge of the Fulton Undertaking Co.

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 5—Roy Springer, accused of killing Frank Barrett, 62, merchant, and wounding Bailey Huddleston, Chief of Police, at Fulton, Ky., was brought to the local jail here today.

Because of the crowded condition of the jail, officers said he probably would be taken to Hopkinsville later.

SUPERINTENDENT MYERS RESIGNS AS SCHOOL HEAD

Has Accepted Position in Promotion Department of Publishing Company

Superintendent Vest C. Myers Monday handed in his resignation as head of the Fulton public schools, notifying the board of education that he had accepted a position in the promotion department of a large publishing house in Chicago. He is to be head of this department. Mr. Myers' resignation is to take effect Mar. 15, at which time he is scheduled to take over his new duties in Chicago. He spent the last week end in Chicago looking over the field and expressed himself as being well pleased with the outlook there.

Mr. Myers has been at the head of the local school system four years, coming here from Charleston, Mo. He has made an enviable record in this position, and the school system in Fulton is a monument to his splendid work. He will be missed much in Fulton, both in school and social circles, and will be greatly missed by many friends here who feel sure that he will make as great a success in Chicago as he has in Fulton.

SILVER TEA A SOCIAL SUCCESS

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wade, Friday afternoon, a St. Valentine tea was a social event of importance, with guests numbering more than a hundred. The affair was a silver tea given by the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, and was a beautiful success in every way.

The spacious reception suite of the Wade home was adorned with spring blossoms, and St. Valentine love emblems.

The tea table was covered with a pretty lace cloth and centered by a silver basket of red carnations. It was presided over by Mrs. Fred Worth and Mrs. Enoch Browder, seated at each end and assisted in serving tea dainties by Mesdames Robt. White, Carlton Linton, Harold Blackman, Frank Beadles, Rheudell Tucker Bullock, Misses Ruth Hill, Lillian Wade, Cordelia Brann.

The guests were graciously greeted by Mrs. Ramsey Snow, the president of the society and the following ladies: Mesdames Edwin Boone, L. E. McCoy, R. E. Stilley, Mike Fry, C. C. Parker and Mrs. Preston Shore of Rives, Tenn., Mrs. Lionel McCoy, of Columbus, Miss., Miss Christine Clemmons, of Obion, Tenn. The register was presided over in the sun parlor by Mesdames Gus Bard, Raymond Pewitt, Pete Roberts. Quite a nice sum was realized.

"Hello World"

FULTON INDEPENDENT MERCHANTS ORGANIZE TO FIGHT CHAIN STORES

What promises to be an interesting fight in Fulton started Thursday night when a number of home merchants met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and perfected an organization, electing Mayor Paul DeMyer presiding officer and George Hester, treasurer.

The organization is in keeping with other live and up-to-date towns and cities in protecting the best interests of their communities, and those who have been fortunate enough to hear that great wizard of the air, W. K. Henderson, of Shreveport, La., from Radio Station KWKH, will agree that the time for organization was opportune.

It can well be said that the greatest crime that a man can commit against his neighbors in the community in which he lives, is to send his money away from home to buy goods or patronize a chain store with money which could and should be spent with an independent home merchant. Such methods of purchasing supplies rob the home town of the financial nourishment which is necessary to preserve it. Commercialism, doing this not only cheats the entire community, but contributes to his own impoverishment. Money is necessary to commercial life. Where money is lacking, business is impossible, just as crops are impossible in barren soil. Credit follows in the wake of capital. When capital is gone, business slumbers and property values are then reduced to a deplorable state.

The local merchant is the man who is devoting his life, his property and his money to the service of his community, helping the needy with credit when in distress, and giving freely of himself and his choices to the business development and civic betterment of his town.

We know of no complaint of a home man conducting a chain of stores, but the groups dominating the Wall Street money power is looked on with suspicion. The long tentacles of colossal distribution systems, through their chain store systems and hermaphrodite mail order houses operating branch retail stores, reach out into the smaller cities, towns and local communities, first stifling the independent business of these localities, and then drain them of their money and economic strength, until already the travelers on the nation's highway pass one after another of these ghastly reminders of a past happiness, industry and abundance, mocking reminders of what had been before the "chain store" came to town.

It Won't Be Long

Most of us feel that with the arrival of February the worst is over as far as winter is concerned. Not that we don't frequently have a lot of disagreeable weather after February 1, for we do. But we've noticed that Fulton citizens commence to breathe a sigh of relief when February arrives. They know that no matter what may be on ahead in the shape of bad weather then, there can be but a few weeks of it, at the most.

The man who makes our holidays must have felt pretty good with the arrival of February, too, since he saw fit to cram it with special days, even though it is the shortest month. With the groundhog strutting himself on Feb. 2; with two days for honoring two great statesmen, Lincoln on Feb. 12 and Washington on Feb. 22, and with sweethearts claiming Feb. 14, Valentine day, as their own, most everybody ought to be suited in the matter of holidays. And yet, as far as celebrating is concerned, the bankers are the only ones who get a chance to loaf, and as a rule they are the last ones to need it. It keeps the balance of us working, holiday or no holiday to get something to put in the banks.

But, work or no work, most of us are glad when February rolls around. We know it can't be long until the green will be back in the trees, when fires won't need tending, when money can be spent for something besides fuel—and when garden truck will be showing its head. It's a short month, but thoughts like these certainly help to make it a

Taxing Gasolene

Invention of a new tax is always a dangerous thing, even though it may often be necessary. After the ground is broken and the tax is laid there is a tendency to increase it. More often than not increases are imposed. This is indicated by the gasolene tax. Barely 10 years old, it has come into such wide popularity as a means of raising revenue that today a gas tax is levied in every state in the union.

In 30 states the rate is now 4c a gallon or more, and from $100,000,000 raised in this manner in 1925, the total taken from the pockets of motorists rose to $500,000,000 in 1929. We hear no specific complaints from motorists around Fulton because they believe the taxation of gasolene was originally justified. But the practice of steadily increasing it, jumping it a cent or two every year or so, is certain to call forth widespread and strenuous protest. As roads are built and paid for, and as the gas tax reaches the point where it is bringing in enough to take care of them, increases should cease. Gasolene is not always going to be as cheap as it is now, and when it jumps in price the additional tax is going to work a hardship on millions of motorists. With these considerations to be reckoned with our legislators should be content to let the tax rest where it is, or lower it. If they can't see the wisdom of doing so, then they deserve to be kept at home and others sent to the capital who can look that far ahead.

A Timely Caution

During the holiday season a Vermont woman baked a fruit cake. In reaching into a cupboard for a bottle of flavoring she got hold of a poisonous insecticide, and the family ate the cake with fatal results. It was an unusual case, yet the same thing could happen right here in Fulton at any time. Poisons for use on flowers or garden plants are almost a household necessity and there are few homes in the community without some kind on hand. The very frequency with which they are used tends to make people careless as to where they are kept. The only safe way is to keep them locked up, or carefully stored beyond the reach of children, and they should always be kept away from food. There is no more excuse for being careless with poisons than there is in being careless with kerosene and gasoline, and the Vermont case should be enough to convince us of that without waiting for more evidence.

Paying Taxes

No man retards the progress of his own community any more than the fellow who slacks in the payment of his taxes. He knows that it takes revenue to run his county, and that the chief source of that revenue is through taxation. And yet he endangers the prompt and successful operation of county affairs by either becoming delinquent altogether or withholding until the last second the tax money he knows he must eventually pay. For some reason none of us enjoy paying taxes. Yet we ought to know that we wouldn't have much of a county if we didn't pay them. Whether it is pleasant or not we should, as good citizens, set an example by meeting this obligation the moment it is due. There are as few chronic 'tax dodgers' around Fulton as anywhere else in the country, and yet there are many who could be far more prompt than they are, and thus speed up the conduct of our county's business. Think it over, and we feel sure that you will agree that it's a good business rule, as well as an example of good citizenship.

Brieflets

A republic is a country in which the people make their own laws but can't make their own liquor.

Many a Fulton husband is ready to admit that it's surprising what a woman can get out of a tin can.

You rarely hear of a person who didn't go up in one, being killed in an airplane.

The return of long skirts means that once again it will be possible for knock-knees to be heard but not seen.

We've had self-starters on cars for a long time, but what the average Fulton car-owner needs is one that's self-supporting.

Sometimes after reading a daily newspaper we can't help but feel that there isn't anything straight in Chicago but the shooting.

The world owes every man a living, and there are a lot of folks who are getting it a dollar down and a dollar a week.

The Fulton boy who broke off with his best girl just before Christmas is using the telephone now to re-establish relations.

Statistics show there are more autos than bath tubs in this country. But you can't get a good trade-in on a bath tub.

Maybe after all static in a radio is just its protest against the jazz that is inflicted upon it.

We've also noticed there are as many broken resolutions a month after New Year as there are broken toys a week after Christmas.

We heard a Fulton man say yesterday that, personally, he favors the new long skirts if they're short enough.

There's nothing a man enjoys more than sitting down to a good meal—nor a woman either when somebody else gets it.

The world was better back in the days when we had more happier marriages and fewer rich divorce lawyers.

The hardest job a Fulton girl who runs after a man, has is holding him after she gets him.

Think what old Solomon escaped by living in an age when a wife couldn't open a charge account at the neighborhood store.

If the world is getting better why does the preacher always takes the money out of the collection box and have it locked up in a bank?

They're called "common" colds but we notice that some of the best people around Fulton has them.

IMPORTANCE OF FERTILITY AND HATCHABILITY

By Prof. John E. Ivey
As a result of scientific research work in poultry production, the degree of fertility does not seem to be transmitted from parent to offspring. The following are some of the reasons why we have low fertility at times: A lack of mating instinct in either the male or female in our breeding pens; the favoritism on the part of the male toward a certain individual or individuals; either sterility or partial sterility on the part of the male bird, and sometimes barrenness or partial barrenness on the part of the female.

In our pedigree work when we find that the female consistently produces infertile eggs this individual is eliminated from the breeding pen.

The breeding flock should have access to the direct rays of the sun or be fed codliver oil. In a bulletin recently published by the American Pharmaceutical Society of the California University, a difference of 2.4 per cent in fertility of eggs was noted from hens fed codliver oil, compared with those not fed codliver oil. In the same experiment it was brought out that there was a difference of 34 per cent in the hatchability of eggs from hens confined and fed codliver oil from those that did not receive it in their ration.

The breeding hens should have plenty of succulent green feed provided during the breeding season. This often times will affect hatchability. Be sure that the male and female birds are in as good physical condition as humanly possible to have them, as there is no doubt that the vitality of the parent will be reflected in the offspring.

By watching for sales and buying food in season, this delicious dinner can be prepared inexpensively for less than two dollars in New York City, where food prices are high. The costs are: clam juice cocktail, 20 cents; tamales in rice border, 40 cents; sweet potatoes, 10 cents; jelly, 5 cents; apricot Melba salad, 49 cents; rolls and butter, 20 cents; jiffy dessert, 30 cents; vacuum packed coffee, 10 cents; total, $1.90, leaving 10 cents for incidentals.

Purchase a can of clam juice for the cocktail.

To make the tamale dish, cut the tamales from a number 2 can in slices. Add one can tomato soup, one-half cup sliced, stuffed olives and one-half teaspoon salt to the tomato soup, simmer until somewhat thick, add sliced tamales and when hot, pour into center of a large platter and surround with a border of hot, boiled rice.

For the apricot salad arrange a slice of pineapple on lettuce. Mix chopped walnuts and cream cheese and pile in the hole of the pineapple; invert a canned apricot-half over it. Surround with mayonnaise. This makes one serving.

For the jiffy dessert, allow three tablespoons to each serving. Spread them liberally with canned chocolate syrup and pile the crackers on top of each other. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream.

LESS ACCIDENTS BY BETTER ROADS

Improved Facilities Would Lessen Many Dangers.

(By E. E. Duffy)
A signboard ten feet square with the big lettered words, "Danger—Sharp Curve" clearly outlined against a background of black and white stripes is placed in plain view along a highway in Iowa. Two people were recently placed in a hospital because they didn't see that warning.

This merely illustrates that in automobile accident prevention, chief consideration must be given to the human equation, personal element, or whatever other name can be applied to human frailty.

Fault of Operators.
State records show that 65 per cent or more of motor car accidents may be attributed to car operators and that a tenth to a third of the mishaps are due to the negligence of pedestrians.

Automobile accidents are increasing, taking the country as a whole. Car usage is growing for two reasons: 5,000 cars are added to those present every day, and better roads and the tendency towards motorization lead to more intensive use of every motor car.

Much can be done, of course, to outdo the human factor in accidents yet there is this, too, to be considered. Highway facilities must be constructed that will reduce to a minimum the possibility of human error in driving cars.

High Speeds to Stay.
Automobiles capable of high speeds are without doubt here to stay, unless some faster means of transportation is created. Laws cannot train man to be a better judge of speed or distance and so long as inadequate highway facilities exist car accidents will occur.

Fortunately, for most safe highway facilities there is a dollars and cents justification. Highway grade separations, whereby one road or street passes over another at intersections compensate for their cost where traffic is heavy. Pedestrian tunnels which permit foot traffic to pass safely and speedily under busy thoroughfares, also are economically feasible. The same is true of railroad crossing separations, of double-decked highways, of wide streets and roads.

Twenty-seven thousand people are yearly dying in car accidents. That is too many.

Starting in Low Gear Is Much Preferred Practice

Starting in low gear is a better practice than starting in second, when viewed from the standpoint of protecting the clutch. But, because it is rather a retarding process when one is in traffic, many motorists prefer to let the clutch take the additional burden of starting in second. One way to get around the difficulty is to practice getting out of low gear quickly. Use it only long enough to get the car under way; but, it is far wiser to use it.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

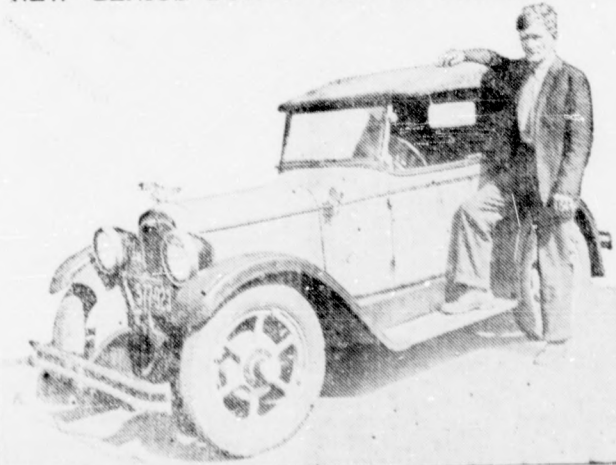

A Carlisle, Pa., farmer has been hit three times at the same grade crossing and still lives.

It seems that the well known common law, which requires the word "amazing" in all automobile advertising, has been amended to include "stamina."

According to a returned college student, this country's 25,000,000 cars figures out exactly at the rate of five persons to the front seat of every automobile.

After pumping up four tires the other morning, to give them an additional 15 pounds pressure, the Office Crab said he was air-minded the rest of the day.

NEW GENIUS BUILDS CAR AT SMALL COST

George S. Brinks, pioneer automotive mechanic of St. Louis, who for the last thirty-one years has built 12 types of cars, has now perfected a model "four" which cost him but $185 to make. The car is of the midsize type with an 80-inch wheelbase and a tread of 46 inches. It has a reputed speed of 30 miles an hour and will do 35 miles on a gallon of gas. Brinks claims that the auto can be profitably manufactured and distributed for $375. Photograph shows George S. Brinks with his midsize car.

Gasoline Dangers Are Not Fully Appreciated

"Familiarity with gasoline should not make one less cautious of the dangers attending its use," says William H. Stewart, Jr., president of the Stewart Automobile school. "While it is well to know the safe side of gasoline, it is far more important to know the dangerous side. People who handle gasoline continually are apt to overlook the fact that danger is always present, lurking unseen, but ready to work harm as soon as the conditions are right for an explosion or a fire.

"Probably the greatest danger comes from the fact that the vapor is very heavy and colorless. Since it cannot be seen, there is little indication of its presence. It may accumulate at the bottom of a closed room or on the floor of a garage until some one drops a lighted match and sets fire to it. When allowed to accumulate in this manner its explosive power is tremendous.

"It is evident, then, that care must be taken to avoid such accumulation. Keep the premises ventilated so that the vapor will be dissipated as fast as it is formed. Do not spill gasoline, being especially careful while filling tanks. One of the most dangerous devices is a gasoline sprayer, used in cleaning the motor. It should never be used in a garage, and is not safe even in the open air. The operator sprays the gasoline on different parts of the engine as he uses the brush. By this process enormous quantities of vapor form which travel to a considerable distance seeking a flame. The operator cannot help breathing some of the mixture, which is injurious."

Motor-Minded Prince on His Swedish Motorcycle

Prince Sigvard, right, second son of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus, returning from a spin in the country on his Swedish-built motorcycle.

Important Pointers on

Washing Out Oil Filter

When washing out a filter, such as an oil filter, care should be taken to pull the gasoline or other washing fluid through the wire gauze in the direction opposite to the normal flow of oil through the device. The reason for this is that if gasoline is passed through in the same direction as the oil it will probably leave particles of dirt or other substances that might have been caught, sticking just where they were, while washing in the opposite direction would dislodge them.

Cane Alcohol Useful as

Substitute for Gasoline

Cane alcohol has been used with some success in Brazil as a substitute for gasoline, the price of which increased 20 per cent last year. Tests have shown that the alcohol is the cheaper fuel at present prices, but admitted objections to its use are gumming of valves and cylinders, "knocking," smoke, viscosity and the high ignition point. Much interest has been shown lately in alcohol fuel-ture which eliminates these features at a slight additional cost per gallon.

Vary Your Vegetables

THERE are innumerable ways in which you can vary the same canned vegetable if you happen to have laid in a large supply of it at some advantageous sale. The stringless beans, for instance. Here are three different ways of preparing them, each one of which makes this vegetable an individual and different dish:

With Meat and Cheese

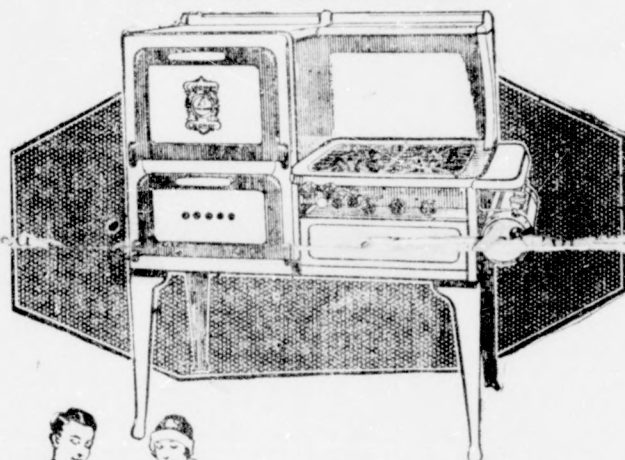

Stringless Beans with Beurre Noir: Heat the contents of a No. 2 can of stringless beans, drain and pour into a hot serving dish. Melt one and one-half tablespoons butter until a delicate brown, add one and one-half tablespoons vinegar, heat and pour over the beans. Serve at once. This serves two. Be sure to save the juice for sauces, gravies or soups.

Stringless Beans with Pork: Cut a slice of salt pork into fine pieces and sauté till golden brown. Add one-half tablespoon flour, and stir smooth. Add the liquor from a No. 2 can of stringless beans slowly, stirring till smooth. Add the beans cut in inch lengths, season to taste with salt and pepper, simmer five minutes and serve. Serves six.

Stringless Beans au Gratin:

Make a cheese sauce of one-fourth cup of butter, one-fourth cup of flour, one cup of liquor from stringless beans, two cups of milk, two teaspoons of salt, pepper and one cup of grated cheese. Add the contents of four No. 2 cans of cut stringless beans, pour into a flat, shallow buttered pan and top thickly with buttered crumbs. Brown in hot oven. This recipe serves twenty-five.

Coleman Cookers Make Their Own Gas

Besides this miracle of speedy cooking convenience, you'll find many other features that make the Coleman different—features that make a big difference in your daily preparation of meals.

Just think what a difference it would make in each day's household duties to have gas service for cooking... with its speed, its comfort and its economy. The Coleman gives you that wonderful convenience... no matter where you live. It makes and burns its own gas from regular clear-white gasoline. No piping, wiring or installation expense whatever.

And what a difference to have your kitchen free from soot, dirt... blackened pots and pans. The Coleman Range brings you that freedom. Ceilings, curtains and walls stay clean longer when you have this modern range.

You'll find the Coleman makes a difference in the cost of preparing each meal, too. Cooks a meal for the average family on less than 2 cents' worth of fuel.

There are other features about the Coleman Range that make cooking entirely different. Come in and see them. Pick yours. There's a style and size for every cook and kitchen.

Among the County Agents

Daviess county dealers will handle hydrated lime in bags for the benefit of farmers living long distances from town.

Indications point to the sowing of 5,000 acres of Korean lespedeza in Simpson county this year, or ten times last year's acreage.

J. H. Lambert, of the Conway community in Rockcastle county, is planning to install a carload of drainage tile this year.

The offer of the Consolidated Stone Company to donate three tons of limestone to each member of a 4-H Alfalfa Club is arousing much interest in Alfalfa in Hardin county.

Todd county breeders are considering a campaign to eradicate every scrub and grade sire from the farms of the county, as was done in Union, Russell and Taylor counties.

The Washington county 4-H Baby Beef Club is planning to feed 50 calves this year, more than half of which already been selected. Some members have purchased cows and will raise their calves next year.

Seven Johnson county farmers cooperatively purchased a carload of 6,000 feet of drainage tile.

Shelby county farmers cooperated in selling 10,000 pounds of Korean lespedeza seed directly to farmers in other counties.

Lesson for February 9

WARNINGS AND PROMISES

(TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 7:1-29 (Print vv. 1-12, 15-27).

GOLDEN TEXT—Every tree that bringeth forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Keeping the Law of God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Truth About Alcoholic Beverages.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Cutting Down the Corrupt Tree.

I. Concerning Censorious Judgments (vv. 1-12).

1. The sin and folly of (vv. 1-5).

This prohibition should not be so construed as to forbid our making an estimate of the lives of those about us, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." Neither should it prevent us from administering rebuke to those who deserve it. It is not wrong to condemn the errors and faults of those who are in the way of sin. It does not mean that sin should go unrebuked until we ourselves are perfect. It rebukes readiness to blame others and to magnify their weakness and error.

2. The duty of discrimination in dealing out holy things (v. 6).

The Gospel should be preached to all. We should turn from those who reject and treat with contempt the Gospel message.

3. Qualification for discrimination (vv. 7-12).

(1) A life of prayer (vv. 7-11). Only those are able to rightly divide the word of truth who live a life of prayer.

(2) A disposition to treat others as one would be treated (v. 12). It is not merely to refrain from doing injury, but positively to do for others that which we would desire to have done unto ourselves under similar circumstances. No man can live this rule unless he has been born from above and abides with Christ.

II. Entrance into the Kingdom Urged (vv. 13, 14).

There are two ways only before each one—life and death, heaven and hell. The narrow gate is the way of life. While the gate is strait and the way narrow, it is an open gate and the only gate to life, and all are invited to enter. The gate which opens to every good thing in life is straitly restricted. The way of Jesus Christ is not the way of the crowd.

III. Warnings Against False Teachers (vv. 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15).

Ever since God has had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them.

2. Their nature (v. 16).

(1) They are hypocritical. The devil does his most successful work by masquerading as an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14, 15). His ministers appear in this way and turn people from the narrow to the broad way. (2) They are destructive. This is suggested by their being likened to wolves. It is when the wolf is in sheep's clothing that it does its most destructive work. False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to be loyal to the Bible and Jesus Christ.

3. The unfailing test (vv. 16-18).

"By their fruits ye shall know them." Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. One may search the universe in vain for an exception to this rule. It is equally true in the spiritual world—there is a vital connection between faith of heart and fruit of the life.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19).

Although God has infinite patience and bears long. He will see to it that this evil work does not go on forever.

IV. The Dangers of Empty Professions (v. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ Lord will not answer for doing his will (v. 21).

2. One may do supernatural works and not be saved (vv. 22, 23).

Not all supernatural worlds are divine. There is a supernatural world of evil. It is the business of every believer to test the Spirit (I John 4:1, 2).

3. Separation from God (v. 23).

One may have been a Sunday school teacher or a minister and have performed many mighty works and yet hear from Christ the awful words, "I never knew you; depart from Me."

V. The One and Only Safe Way (vv. 24-29).

1. Hear the sayings of Christ (v. 24).

To do this one must give attention to reading the Word of God.

2. Do what Christ commands (vv. 24-29).

Hearing and doing the teachings of Christ is building upon solid rock. Hearing and not doing Christ's sayings is to build upon the sand.

Properly Protected

If a man have Christ in his heart, heaven before his eyes, and only as much of temporal blessing as is just needful to carry him safely through life, then pain and sorrow have little to shoot at.—William Burns.

Faith

By faith we understand that the worlds have been framed by the word of God, so that what is seen hath not been made out of things which do appear.—Epistle to the Hebrews.

PERSONAL SERVICE

The Illinois Central System will carry this year forty-five million passengers and sixty million tons of freight. This will require the facilities in which three-quarters of a billion dollars are invested. These large figures call for mass production of service, yet we expect every passenger and shipper to receive personal, individual attention.

Such service can be rendered only by a personnel that is capable, willing, and Quais. Members of the Illinois Central organization are constantly performing services for Illinois Central patrons that are more than merely transportation. They do this to be helpful, but they know too that it is good business for the railroad and for them.

Passenger service provides many examples of such service. Children traveling alone are entrusted to our protection. Aged, invalid and inexperienced travelers are given personal attention en route and met by individual escorts at terminals. Tours are planned for vacationists—hotel reservations made, baggage checked, side trips arranged. Shipments of travelers' automobiles are carefully followed to make sure of scheduled arrival.

Personal service is no less important in the handling of freight. An Illinois Central bureau keeps records of car movements for the information of those interested. Shipments are expedited, diverted, reconsign-ed. Cars of perishable freight are iced. Livestock is watered and fed. Whatever the requirements of individual service may demand, we endeavor to meet those requirements.

Experienced patrons of the Illinois Central System are accustomed to expect personal service, and every member of the Illinois Central organization is expected to be qualified, willing and ready to render such service.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

PHENOMENAL GAIN IN TRUST SERVICES

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

SO phenomenal has been the increase of trust business that statisticians are unable to keep a true record of its advancement. There are now something like 3,500 active trust departments in banks in America, while in 1900 only 165 active trust departments had been established.

John G. Lonsdale

In becoming the custodians of the guardians of the property of others, bankers assume what has been fittingly described as one of the "most exalted human relationships ever created by law." They become at once a big brother, a big sister, an advisor, or a confessor, sworn so to conduct themselves that clients will be won to them by their ability and integrity.

Thousands of little children have received an education and have been started off right in life through the trust department's safe keeping and guidance of the family estate, numberless widows have been protected from merciless stock swindlers, many thousands of business men have been relieved of troublesome details in the conduct of their business through the creation of a living trust and still others have safeguarded their business enterprises through life insurance trusts.

The favorable reaction of the public toward trust department service is not accidental. It may be traced jointly to the growing intelligence of the American people in financial affairs and to advertising to the world at large the merits of trust services. Advertising used in a sensible, judicious way is necessary, a power that has accomplished much good for humanity.

Among the detailed services rendered by a trust department the one that seems to be winning favor the fastest is the life insurance trust. Life insurance is the quickest known way of creating an estate. In reality it affords the possessor the opportunity of setting up a positive monetary safeguard for his family and then paying for it on the installment plan.

A married man is not fair to his family if he fails to carry life insurance. I would say to the young man, "Buy insurance before you buy the ring," and to the young woman I would say, "Marry a man so thoughtful as to see to it at life insurance."

MODERN EDUCATION REVERSES OLD IDEAS

Business Institutes Use the Plan of Getting People to Think Rather Than Merely to Learn

There is one general principle at the basis of all good teaching and it is that a person learns more readily by assimilating the experiences which he himself encounters than in any other way, says Harold Stonier, National Educational Director of the American Institute of Banking. This institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association through which 25,000 bank men and women are receiving scientific instruction in their chosen business.

"The most advanced people in teaching today are emphasizing the importance of activity on the part of the student," he says. "In the school-room of former days we often heard such phrases as, 'Be still,' 'Learn by heart,' 'Don't do that.' 'What does the book say?' The newer education asks, 'What do you think?' 'What was your reaction to that experiment?' 'What did you discover?' 'What reasons have you for your answer?'"

The New School Calls for Action
"The 'expressing' school is taking the place of the repressing and listening school. The classroom is becoming an open forum, a studio of self-expression, a place of mental growth. The modern concepts of education are personal experimentation, individual investigation, critical discussion and creative self-expression. The pupil really learns only as he is able to assimilate the new meanings of facts and principles with his previous experiences. Activities therefore constitute the pivotal force around which are grouped the new factors in education. The primary responsibility of the teacher is to furnish a constant stream of activities which will afford the stimulating urge to mental growth.

"Education is a process of experiencing, and the program of the institute is so arranged as to give the greatest opportunity to gain by such experience. Through this we develop the art of thinking. Thinking has been described as the ability to handle experience and to bring it to bear on a problem. Effective thinking arises when we are presented with the choice of conduct. Our previous experiences become helpful as we marshal them and bring them to bear upon the matter of our choice."

The students in the American Institute of Banking by reason of the fact that they continue to go on about their employment in banks while taking the banking association's study courses have an opportunity to combine learning with practical thinking and action.

PERSONAL SERVICE

"Railway service today is more than merely transportation," remarks L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, in his February letter to the public, which he appropriately entitles "Personal Service."

In handling passengers, for example, Mr. Downs explains, railway men look after children, take care of the aged and inexperienced en route and escort them at terminals, plan all the details of tours for vacationists and keep close track of shipments of travelers' automobiles.

On the freight side, a special bureau keeps records of car movements and provides prompt reports thereon, shipments are expedited, diverted, reconsigned, cars of perishable freight are iced, livestock is watered and fed, and so on.

"The railroad must provide whatever the requirements of individual service may demand," Mr. Downs concludes. "The Illinois Central System will carry this year forty-five million passengers and sixty million tons of freight. Its fifty thousand workers will operate facilities in which more than three-quarters of a billion dollars are invested. These large figures call for mass production of service, yet we expect every passenger and shipper to receive personal, individual attention."

THREE CENT PREMIUM FOR GOOD CREAM

The pound which creameries are paying for quality cream in 47 western counties in the state is adding thousands of dollars a year to farmers' incomes, according to a survey made by J. O. Barkman, of the dairy department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky.

He found that of the 2,821,796 pounds of cream purchased last year in the 47 counties, 1,405,671 pounds were of premium quality and so brought 3 cents a pound above the regular station price. This means that farmers who produced good cream and delivered it promptly received $42,170 more than they would have received for common cream.

The Experiment Station in cooperation with purchasers of cream two years ago introduced the four-day grading plan, in an effort to stimulate the production of better cream, from which superior butter could be manufactured. Manufacturers agreed to pay a 3-cent premium for good cream promptly delivered.

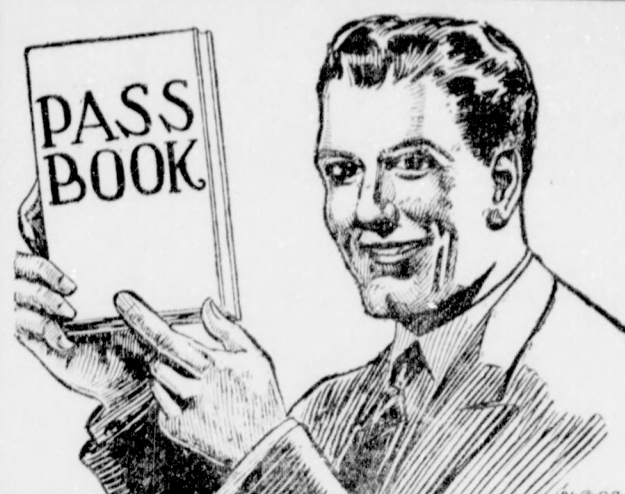

The plan was tried out in five counties, beginning in March, 1928. Eighty-two buying stations in Spencer, Bullitt, Nelson, Hard in and Larue counties were the first to adopt the plan. By December, 1929, the plan had been adopted in all the western counties, a total of 636 stations joining in the plan to encourage and pay for the production of better cream.

The survey indicated a steady growth in the percentage of premium cream. While slightly less than half of the cream produced in the 47 counties last year was of premium quality, a check of the months of September, October, November showed that more than half of the cream delivered in those months commanded the extra price.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

The County Agent was over last Saturday and gave me some dope for my column that will help me fill up my quota for this week.

He has arranged his office days for this end of the county for the first and third Saturdays of each month. He wants it understood that on these days he will be available for office consultation only and can't make trips out in the country, but he can and will make appointments at these times for all visits that will be required of him.

He is preparing for a school of instruction on the 24th and 25th of this month for poultry raisers, and will have J. E. Humphries, poultry specialist of the University of Kentucky, down here to give some lectures on poultry raising. The place of meeting and the subjects will be decided later. Everybody in Fulton county who are interested in the poultry industry are cordially invited to attend these meetings as they will be well worth while. The invitation also applies to Obion, Weakley, Graves, and Hickman counties. The lectures will be free and Mr. Humphries will give out quite a lot of valuable information.

Since my last story the County Agent has organized the 4 H club members at the Jordan school, with several of them taking up poultry as their work. Wednesday we will visit the Terry-Norman school also the Fulton High to get such members as are interested in improving themselves as farmers. This article was written before we went to these schools but was printed afterwards, so what we accomplished at these two schools will be reported in next week's edition.

Sunday was ground-hog day, and whether his royal highness did or did not see his shadow, will not have any bearing on how many chickens you hatch out this spring. Nor what breed of fowls you adopt for your farm, just so you pick a STANDARD bred flock and eliminate all but that one breed.

Remember we want 100 Standard bred fowls on every farm in this county, and also remember, we want to make Fulton county the best poultry county in the state. We can do it, if you will do your part.

Speaking of baby chicks, Friday I was up town in Memphis and in one of the windows I saw 1,000 baby chicks. It sure was some bunch. And most all of them were busy as could be, scratching and digging in the litter.

Now another thing we want you to remember, we want at least 100 bona fide poultry raisers in this locality to join our poultry association, as we can't put on a good show unless we have co-operation, and you must do your part or it will be a failure. We have built up our show until it is the best in this district, bar none, and we want to increase it still more and more, but we must have every person who believes in improving everything, join us and do their part. The dues are only $1.00 per year, and it is money well spent.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCE FEBRUARY 7

There is to be a child health conference at Carr High School on Friday, February 7, 1 to 4 p. m. This is sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association of Carr Institute and will be a regular monthly feature. One will also be held later in month at Terry-Norman and then once a month thereafter.

Children will be weighed, measured, examined and parents advised as to best methods of care. This work is being done by Child Health Demonstration unit in cooperation with Fulton County Health Department. There are two such centers being established for six months in Eastern and Western Kentucky. One at Georgetown and this one at Fulton are supported by United States Public Health Service and Bureau of Mother and Child Health. It is required that work be put on only in county where there is an efficient full time health department, such as is here in Fulton county. Dr. Elsie Graff is in charge of demonstration and is assisted by Miss Florence L. Hauswald, of Bureau of Child Health of Kentucky State Board of Health. Dr. Graff has had years of experience and much ability. She has just returned from 10 years work in the near East.

Another feature of work will be mother and child care classes, which will be held in cooperation with Parent-Teachers' Association at Carr Institute and Terry-Norman and other centers in the county. On Tuesday of last week a child health conference was conducted at Cayce and on Friday afternoon, Dr. Graff talked to a splendid group of mothers at Cayce.

Bible School at 9:45. Chas. Gregory, Supt.

Our Bible school has entered a contest with the Bible School at Dyersburg. The contest is to run until the eighth of June. The school having the largest number of points on that date wins the contest. Now just how bad do you want to win this contest? If you really want to see your school win, prepare to come every Sunday and bring someone with you. All enrolled pupils count five points and a new pupil who comes as many as three Sundays, is counted an enrolled pupil and instead of counting one point then counts five points. Let's go. We can win. Morning worship, 10:50. Sermon, "Search the Scriptures."

Evening worship, 7:00. Sermon, "God Made Visible in Christ." February is Bible Month. Will you read the book of Mark with us during this month? February 23, we are going to call Bible day. We would like for all the folks who have an interesting Bible as a very large or very small or very old Bible to bring it on that day and let it be displayed for others to see.

DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts can be quickly and easily made at home. So easy is it to make doughnuts today that the doughnut jar should never be empty.

By using self-rising flour for making the doughnuts we can save considerable time in the mixing process and our doughnuts are always the same. The leavening or baking powder, and the seasoning and the salt have been combined in the proper proportions and have been mechanically mixed.

A good inexpensive recipe for doughnuts requiring only 1 egg is this:

Doughnuts.
1 egg 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk 3 cups self-rising flour
1/2 tsp. nutmeg 1 tsp. vanilla

Beat the egg with the sugar; add the milk, flour, nutmeg and vanilla. The dough should be as soft as can be handled. Roll 1/4 inch thick; cut with a doughnut cutter, and fry to a delicate brown in deep fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 minute. Drain on unglazed paper, and dust with confectioner's sugar.

SUNDAY SUPPER WILL GAIN BY INTRODUCTION OF NEW DISHES

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef
The Plaza Hotel, New York City

HAVEN during the winter months when hot foods, generally speaking, are the order of the day, cold dish is usually the piece de resistance of the Sunday night supper. If the dish is to have a real appetite appeal for those who have indulged in a heavy midday dinner, the housewife must take special care to make it appetizing.

While nothing can be justly charged against the tastiness of cold ham or chicken, and potato salad, they have done duty as the standard Sunday supper dishes for so long, that their appearance frequently becomes monotonous. The three recipes given below will provide tried and tested departures from the usual routine.

SALMON MOUSSE WITH SAUCE MONTECAQUEU—Mix together one teaspoon mustard, a few grains cayenne, a half teaspoon salt, one and a half tablespoons sugar and one-half tablespoon flour. Add two egg yolks, one and a half tablespoons melted butter, three-fourths cup milk and one-fourth cup vinegar. Cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add three-fourths tablespoon gelatin which has been soaked in one-half cup cold water. Add to this a can of salmon which has been flaked in the meantime. Place in a mold and after it has cooled put in the refrigerator to set.

The sauce is made as follows: Beat one-half cup of cream until it is stiff. Add one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour in slowly two tablespoons vinegar. Then stir in one pared and chopped medium-size cucumber.

EGGS AUVERGNE—Halve six hard-boiled eggs. Remove the yolks, taking care not to break the whites. Powder the yolks with a silver fork. Add one-half teaspoon mustard, one-quarter teaspoon salt, few grains of cayenne, dash of paprika, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon olive oil. Mix until smooth with one tablespoon finely chopped parsley and place in the whites of the eggs. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

RICE SALAD BORAKA—Boil one cup of rice in the usual manner. Blanch with cold water and dust with two teaspoons salt and a little pepper. Chill in the refrigerator for several hours before using. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and pile the rice in the center. Halve four hard-boiled eggs. Remove the yolks and slice the whites into rings. Lay the rings over the rice. Pour over the mound a half cup of Bénédictine dressing. Rub the yolks over the rice through a strainer. Sprinkle with two tablespoons chopped green pepper and one tablespoon chopped parsley.

The dressing is made as follows: Mix in the order given, two tablespoons olive oil, two tablespoons grapefruit juice, one-half teaspoon powdered sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, and one-quarter teaspoon paprika. Chill and shake thoroughly before using.

SOUFFLES ARE SOLUTION TO PROBLEM OF ONE-PIECE MEAL

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef
The Plaza Hotel, New York City

IN this hurried and busy age when women are no longer willing to spend hours in bending over the kitchen stove in the preparation of the family lunch or dinner, the one-piece meal is becoming increasingly popular. Such popularity is another sign of the steady progress that is being made in lightening the housewife's thousand and one daily tasks.

The conscientious woman, however, will take care that her one-piece meals are more than mere makeshifts. They must be balanced, sustaining and supremely appetizing. Here the souffle steps in to solve the problem, for the ingredients of the great majority of souffles supply practically all the elements of a properly balanced diet.

CORN SOUFFLE—Mix in a saucepan two tablespoons of flour with one tablespoon melted butter. Pour in slowly one cup of milk. Bring to the boiling point. Add one can of corn, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Fold in the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff. Then turn into a buttered baking dish, and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve immediately.

PARSNIP SOUFFLE—Cook four medium-size parsnips in boiling water until tender. Remove skins and rub through a colander. Mix together one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon sugar. Add to the parsnips together with one tablespoon butter. Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, stirring in two tablespoons flour and one cup milk. When the mixture is thick and smooth, add to the parsnips, together with the yolks of two well-beaten eggs. Beat the white of the eggs until stiff and fold into the mixture. Place in a well buttered baking dish and bake for 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove and serve immediately.

RICE SOUFFLE—Add a quarter cup of rice flour to three tablespoons butter that have been melted in a saucepan. Blend until smooth, and add a cup of milk which has been scalded. Stir in one-half cup cracker crumbs. Add the mixture to four well-beaten egg yolks with which have been mixed one tablespoon sugar. Then beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and fold into the mixture. Put in a buttered baking dish. Set the dish in a pan of hot water and bake for about thirty-five minutes in a slow oven. Mince ham, fish or vegetable may be added to enrich this recipe.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

Tomatoes and Tomatoes

CANNED tomatoes come in various forms, and it is a strange fact that many housewives do not know how to differentiate in their various uses. It is especially important to know these things this year because the crop of this popular vegetable has been excellent in quality. This was partly due to the drought, because the tomato is a tropical plant which will stand a lot of hot, dry weather. In fact, it contains such a large proportion of water that it grows better and more solid in a dry season.

First of all there are the regular canned tomatoes with the use of which everyone is familiar. But even these can be made to serve dual purpose, for strained tomato juice is a delicious and healthful drink, and many people make their own by straining the juice from a quality pack of canned tomatoes. This has the additional advantage that the remaining contents of the can can be made into more solid stewed tomatoes, or combined more successfully with other foods.

Strained Tomatoes

For those who wish to avoid even the slight labor of straining tomatoes there are stewed strained tomatoes which come all ready in a can. This pack is very thin and can be slightly seasoned. It is packed in No. 1 and in 10-ounce cans. It should be used wherever flavor or tomato juice is desired, but not as it comes from the can, except in addition to other foods. It can be heated for plain, canned tomato pressed through a sieve.

The tomato drinks also include tomato juice cocktails packed in tin and glass.

Purée and Pulp

How many people know the difference? These are also quite thin and consist of stewed strained tomatoes. When they are slightly seasoned to bring out the tomato flavor they are a purée, and when they are not seasoned they are known as pulp. They come in a No. 1 or in a 10 1/2-ounce can, and are much like strained tomatoes in consistency but not seasoned as much. They should be used anywhere that stewed, strained tomatoes are required, as in soups and sauces, but should not be used as they come from the can.

Tomato Sauce

This is thicker than the purée, but not as thick as most of the soups. It is more highly seasoned than the purée. In fact it is so prepared as to be usable for sauce without any additions, just as it comes from the can. It can also be used as an addition to cocktails, soups, gravies, soups, salad dressing, or with meats, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, beans or any other food you want to combine with a tomato flavor. By taking into consideration the fact that the seasonings it contains, it can be used anywhere where regular strained canned tomatoes are called for. Tomato sauce comes in small or 8-ounce cans.

Tomato Soup

Tomato soups vary from a thin, almost watery liquid to a rather thick mixture, thicker than the tomato sauce. The thin variety is best used just for soups, but the thicker ones can be used just as they come from the can, as a tomato sauce, or else in smaller amounts added for flavoring. Tomato soups are put up in 8-ounce and 10 1/2-ounce cans.

Tomato Paste

This product is often called Italian tomato paste. It is very thick and concentrated—of about the consistency of soft butter or stiff mayonnaise. It is well seasoned and, aside, some brands having a whole bay leaf or a bit of parsley or other flavoring left whole in the mixture. Tomato paste is put up in very small (6-ounce) cans, and it is not to be used plain but as a flavoring. It is much used in Italian cooking, where flavor and a thick consistency are desired rather than a creamy sauce.

Some Simple Recipes

Tomato Consommé: Mix two 10 1/2-ounce cans of tomato purée with two 10 1/2-ounce cans of consommé, bring to boiling and season with salt and pepper to taste. Heat one-third cup of heavy cream. Pour the first mixture into the hot cream, and serve at once, with croutons if desired. This serves six.

Thousand Island Dressing: Mix together one cup of mayonnaise, three tablespoons of canned tomato paste, one tablespoon of chopped green pepper and ten chopped stuffed olives. Serve on hearts of lettuce.

SNOW-WHITE

TAKE DeSOTO

The appointment of Snow-White as local dealers for the DeSoto Motor Corporation, was announced this week in Detroit by L. G. Peed, general sales manager for the corporation. Salesrooms are located on 4th street where the new DeSoto Straight Eight, the lowest priced eight in the world, and the famous DeSoto Six are on display.

As is to be expected of a companion car to the DeSoto Six which with 12 month's total of 81,065 cars, led the field of low price sixes as the largest selling first year car ever produced, the DeSoto Straight Eight is finding enthusiastic nation-wide acceptance. Much favorable comment concerning this new car has been made by those who have visited the new place of business.

"To Chrysler Motors' matchless engineering talent and production facilities may be attributed the ability of DeSoto to offer a Straight 8 complete in specifications and of fine car quality, priced at $965.00. (f. o. b. Detroit)," said Mr. Snow of the new company.

"Such features as the safety and permanent tightness of the Uni-steel body, down-draft carburetion which increases power by 10 pct. without increasing cost of operation; rubber-cushioned engine spring and shock absorber, mountings; hydraulic, internal-expanding four-wheel brakes; full-pressure engine lubrication through drilled passages in the cylinder block, and many other salient points contribute to the ever-growing demand for this remarkable product.

"Leading authorities agree," continued Mr. Snow, "that the DeSoto Straight 8 represents an increase in the purchasing power of the motor car dollar that has rarely, if ever, been equalled."
