FULTON ADVERTISER

Vol. 6 No. 13

FULTON, KY., FEBRUARY 14, 1930

R. S. Williams, Publisher

R. H. Wade President C. of C.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday night and elected the following Board of Directors to serve for the ensuing year:

T. M. Franklin, J. E. Fall, R. H. Wade, I. H. Read, Joe Browder, E. C. Hardesty, Paul DeMyer, Lon Jones, Dr. Seldon Cohn, Warren Graham.

In electing the board of directors, 45 members received votes, but the ten men listed above received the largest number of votes cast and was duly declared elected.

A. M. Nugent, who had served two years as president of the organization positively refused re-election, therefore his name was not considered by the directors when electing officers.

In retiring, Mr. Nugent can point with pride to his administration. He was a most efficient officer and with the assistance of his board of directors and Secretary Davis, much was achieved for the betterment of Fulton and community. The membership, which includes all of the leading business firms of the city, and many loyal citizens, are more harmoniously united today than ever before, which is an important factor in past accomplishments and future success. The various committees have worked hard and served faithfully on the assignments given them.

The director met Wednesday night, Feb. 13, at 8 o'clock. Wade, president; J. M. Franklin, vice-president; J. D. Davis, temporary secretary.

The newly elected officials are all men of outstanding business ability and the membership is to be congratulated on their election.

The banquet which was postponed will be given at an early date, announcement of which will be made as soon as all plans can be perfected. The postponement was made on account of the principal speaker being unable to attend on the date announced, and the committee on arrangements being unable to secure anyone to fill his appointment on short notice.

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce is a large organization with a live membership and nothing will be left undone this year to keep the spirit of progress traveling at a lively pace.

"CORPORAL EAGEN"

Comedy with Minstrel Presented at Science Hall Next Week

Sponsored by the local drum and bugle corps and staged by the Universal Producing Company of Fairfield, Iowa, the big home talent production, "Corporal Eagen," will be given at Science Hall next Wednesday and Thursday nights, February 19 and 20.

The show opens with a big patriotic pageant, with Victor Cavender in uniform giving the special reading, "My Dream of the Big Parade." About one hundred and twenty-five local youngsters as well as the grown people of the show will be used in this big flash of color and patriotism.

"Corporal Eagen" is not only a play with a lot of action and comedy, but also portrays some of the regular army scenes that were staged in any army camp. The play proper opens with reveille, with eighteen of Fulton's most prominent business men in the formation of an "awkward squad" of rookies. They are commanded by the hard-boiled top sergeant, played by E. N. DeMyer.

Bailey Huddleston's Condition Critical.

Reports coming from the Illinois Central Hospital, Paducah, Thursday morning, say, that while Bailey Huddleston's condition is critical, hopes are entertained for his recovery. Friends in Fulton and throughout this entire section of country are deeply interested in his valiant fight for life and the first inquiry on meeting, "how is Bailey getting along?" Hundreds of friends have visited the hospital to get first hand information, and the telephone lines are kept busy. His mother, Mrs. Tobe Huddleston, his sister, wife and children are with him. Everything that skilled physicians and loved ones can do to save his life is being done.

The characters around which much of the comedy revolves are "Red" Eagen, an Irish doughboy, played by Clarence Louie Kasnow, Sally O'Neil, Red's girl, played by Miss Elizabeth Ethridge, comes down to see Red at camp, "shove off," is mistaken for a spy and is thrown in the guard house to be shot by Morris Crowning, a tough guard. Red and Izzy then start out to capture the true spy and finally, after many clever situations, Red succeeds, by accident only and is promoted to corporal. He and Sally then decide to go back to Hickman and get married as by that time the armistice has been signed. The old maid war worker, played by Miss Pauline Thompson and the Y. M. C. A. worker, played by Tobe Perce, elope after much difficulty. Abbie Golstein, played by Cecil Weatherston, and Michael Eagen, played by Mayor Paul DeMyer, the fathers of Izzy and Red, have been interested in two attractive nurses, but are left out when they marry soldiers instead.

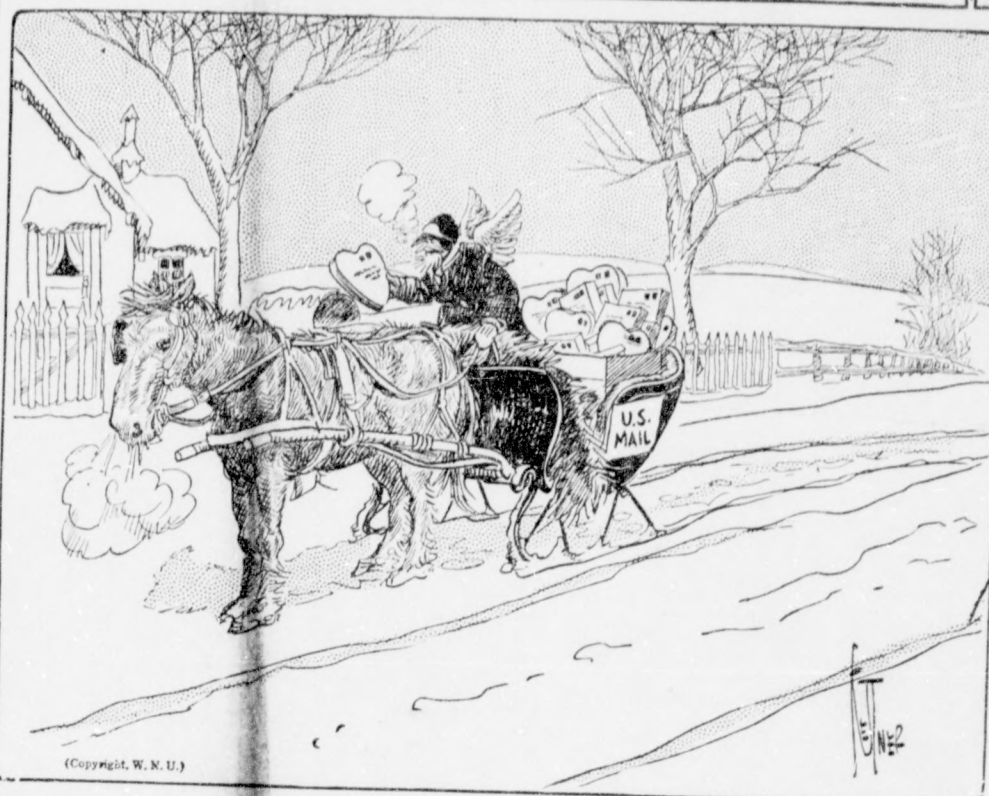

One of the big features of the show is a minstrel. About nine of the second act will be twenty minutes on the beginning of the snappiest, peppiest minstrels ever put on. The following men, H. J. Potter, T. H. Chapman, Otis French and Bob Harris are going to play end men and they have some real jokes. Joe Davis as interlocutor, will give you something new and different in that kind of entertainment. An attractive girl chorus will have some clever dance numbers in this minstrel as well as other parts of the show.

Another big feature is the Men's Sailor and Soldier chorus. These men were picked from the business and professional men in town will sing all the old army songs as well as some of the late ones.

All in all it's a full evening of good entertainment. Secure your tickets early. Adult tickets 50c and children who sit in the children's section, 25c.

For a short time we will accept subscriptions for this paper and the Memphis Weekly Commercial Appeal—both papers one year for only $1.25.

Fulton's Sad Experience

COMMUNITY FEELING STIRRED

Fulton has experienced numerous disasters and horrifying tragedies, but nothing has so thoroughly stirred the town and surrounding country as the tragedy of last week when two of our best known citizens were the victims of an alleged escaped inmate of a Mississippi asylum.

In a communication with Sheriff Goadler Johnson, of Fulton County, who was seeking the identity of the man who inflicted the deadly wounds, the officer at Jackson, Miss., stated the man's name was Springer, an escaped inmate of the asylum they had captured and returned to the Mississippi institution but was refused admittance because since the man had escaped since the officer escaped. The Jackson officer also stated they released the man and returned his knife to him. He told Sheriff Johnson that Springer was a dangerous character and warned the Kentucky officer of the man he had in charge.

It is surprisingly strange that Mississippi officers would turn so dangerous a man as they described Springer to be, loose on an unsuspecting public.

What they said of the man has proven to be true. We absolutely know that this slayer they call Springer is dangerous. He does not deserve the protection of asylum walls, but the electric chair.

Constable Walter Boaz and Fire Chief Lee Roberts are to be commended on the capture of this desperate criminal who murdered and assaulted the late F. M. Barrett and Chief of Police Bailey Huddleston. The entire community as well as the nation owe them a debt of gratitude that words cannot express. Springer was armed with Officer Huddleston's gun which he had secured during the murderous attack and it fully loaded.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Work of Duketown, are the proud parents of a son. The young man arrived at their home January 5 to gladden the hearts of his parents. They have named him Sammie Keith.

Cigar Factory Closed

In an interview with Manager H. F. McGinnis of the local branch of the American Cigar Factory he stated that the factory here closed down Tuesday and will move to a new location where cigars will be manufactured by machinery instead of hand-made.

Manager McGinnis will also be assigned to a new territory, but is not for sure where it will be at this time. His many friends will regret his removal. During his stay here he has cemented many warm friendships. He has always taken a lively interest in everything that was good for the betterment of our city and community, therefore he will be doubly missed when he leaves. You know he won the heart and hand of one of Fulton's pretty society buds after he arrived in town and they are now the proud parents of a pretty child.

NEW DENTAL OFFICE

Dr. J. L. Jones and family of Dresden, Tenn., have moved to Fulton and are now permanent residents of our city.

Dr. Jones has opened a dental office in the Cohn Building on Walnut street where he occupies a suite of half dozen rooms. It is probably one of the handsomest, most complete and up-to-date dental offices in Western Kentucky. The equipment consists of a motor driven chair, Ritter model A unit, electrical instruments and appliances, the very newest in modern dentistry, sterilizing outfit and X-ray machine. In fact, everything required to make his profession a pleasure with service of the highest character.

He is a graduate of the 1909 class of the University of Tennessee, Nashville, and during his twenty-one years of dental work, has gained an enviable reputation as a dentist. He is a brother of our well known citizen, Dr. D. L. Jones. We welcome Dr. Jones and his family to our city.

Murderer In State Penitentiary

Roy Springer, said to be an escaped inmate of a Mississippi asylum, who killed Frank M. Barrett, Fulton merchant, and seriously wounded chief of police Bailey Huddleston, cutting his throat from ear to ear, also shooting him twice, is now in the state penitentiary at Ed-dyville.

Within 30 minutes after the horrible tragedy here last week Springer was captured by Constable Walter Boaz and Lee Roberts and placed in the city jail, thence taken to the county jail at Hickman and then to the Paducah jail and afterwards to Princeton jail. After remaining in the Princeton jail two or three days he was removed to the state penitentiary for safe keeping.

More Information Regarding Identity

Sheriff Goadler Johnson received a letter from J. E. Simmons, chief of police, of Jackson, Miss., which gave further information concerning identification of the Fulton slayer as that of the asylum inmate whom Jackson detectives arrested on the streets of that city a short time ago. He had escaped from the state asylum more than a year ago, it was said. In his letter to Sheriff Johnson, Chief Simmons said that the man had been taken back to the asylum, but the institution's attendants refused to receive him under a regulation that a patient who had been away from the asylum for a year or longer had to be readjudged insane and re-committed to the asylum.

When, it is alleged, admission was denied, the two police detectives gave Springer back his knife, a long-blade paring knife, and walked away, leaving him standing in the corridor.

The Jackson police chief's letter to Sheriff Johnson follows:

"Jackson, Miss., Feb. 6. "Sheriff Goadler Johnson, "Hickman, Ky.

"Dear Sir:

"Confirming our telephone conversation of this date with reference to Roy Springer, beg to advise that from the description given, the man you have is

Roy Springer. First, I want to caution you about this man. He is dangerous and powerful with it. Do not take any chances whatsoever under any circumstances with him. At times he is quiet and at others, least unexpected, he is violent and has no fear for anything.

"It was about four weeks ago while driving over this city, two of our detectives, Caldwell and Dickson, ran across him and picked him up and returned him to the asylum, knowing that he was an escape. They were informed by Dr. Zeller at the asylum that after a patient had been an escape for a year or more that they did not take him back until he had been readjudged insane and committed again. They gave Springer back his knife and walked away, leaving him in the hallway at the asylum. This knife was a paring knife, one that is used in the kitchen, about two and a half inches long. Does not close up, blade runs to a fine point.

"His parents live near Tupelo, Miss.

"Again let me caution you with reference to this man: EXTRA PRECAUTION MUST BE USED as he will escape or hurt someone. Ask him does he know Hickton, Naughtre, Caldwell and Ricketts. They were once guards at the asylum while he was a patient, and he cares no more for a beating than you would for taking a drink of water.

"If we can serve you further, or be of any assistance in any way, you have only to call.

"As to his identity, there can be no mistake; he is hard of hearing, speaks in a way hard to understand, and can be identified or traced.

"I want to express to near and dear ones of the departed a deep sympathy over their loss and congratulate the ones who were responsible for his capture.

Respectfully yours,
"J. E. SIMMONS,
"Chief of Police,
"Jackson, Miss."

WILL BUILD ON FOURTH STREET

John Earle, of the City Garage, was out looking over his lot on Fourth street recently, perfecting plans to build a handsome two-story garage building. You know Earle & Taylor sell Chevrolet cars and do an extensive auto repair business. They have outgrown their present location on lower Lake street and contemplate building a structure large enough to take care of the large volume of business they enjoy.

Tomatoes and Tomatoes

CANNED tomatoes come in various forms, and it is a strange fact that many housewives do not know how to differentiate in their various uses. It is especially important to know these things this year because the crop of this popular vegetable has been excellent in quality. This was partly due to the drought, because the tomato is a tropical plant which will stand a lot of hot, dry weather. In fact, it contains such a large proportion of water that it grows better and more solid in a dry season.

First of all there are the regular canned tomatoes with the uses of which everyone is familiar. But even these can be made to serve dual purpose, for strained tomato juice is a delicious and healthful drink, and many people make their own by straining the juice from a quality pack of canned tomatoes. This has the additional advantage that the remaining contents of the can can be made into more solid stewed tomatoes, or combined more successfully with other foods.

Strained Tomatoes

For those who wish to avoid even the slight labor of straining tomatoes there are stewed strained tomatoes which come all ready in a can. This pack is very thin and only slightly seasoned. It is packed in No. 1 and in 10-ounce cans. It should be used wherever flavor or tomato juice is desired, but not as it comes from the can, except in addition to other foods.

The tomato drinks also include tomato juice cocktails packed in tin and glass.

Purée and Pulp

How many people know the difference? These are also quite thin and consist of stewed strained tomatoes. When they are slightly seasoned to bring out the tomato flavor they are a purée, and when they are not seasoned they are known as pulp. They come in a No. 1 or in a 10½-ounce can, and are much like strained tomatoes in consistency but not seasoned as much. They should be used anywhere that stewed, strained tomatoes are required, as in soups and sauces, but should not be used as they come from the can.

Tomato Sauce

This is thicker than the purée, but not as thick as most of the soups. It is more highly seasoned than the purée. In fact it is so prepared as to be usable for sauce without any additions, just as it comes from the can. It can also be used as an addition to cocktail sauces, gravies, soups, salad dressing, or with meats, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, beans or any other food you want to combine with a tomato flavor. By taking into consideration and allowing for the seasonings it contains, it can be used anywhere where regular strained canned tomatoes are called for. Tomato sauce comes in small or 8-ounce cans.

Tomato Soup

Most watery liquid to a rather thick mixture, thicker than the tomato sauce. The thin variety is best used just for soups, but the thicker ones can be used just as they come from the can, as a tomato sauce, or jellied or in cocktail sauce, or else in smaller amounts added for flavoring. Tomato soups are put up in 8-ounce and 10½-ounce cans.

Tomato Paste

This product is often called Italian tomato paste. It is very thick and concentrated—of about the consistency of soft butter or stiff mayonnaise. It is well seasoned and spiced, some brands having a whole bay leaf or a bit of parsley or other flavoring left whole in the mixture. Tomato paste is put up in very small (6-ounce) cans, and it is not to be used plain but as a flavoring. It is much used in Italian cookery, where flavor and a thick consistency are desired rather than a creamy sauce.

Some Simple Recipes

Tomato Consommé: Mix two 10½-ounce cans of tomato purée with two 10½-ounce cans of consommé, bring to boiling and season with salt and pepper to taste. Heat one-third cup of heavy cream. Pour the first mixture into the hot cream, and serve at once, with croutons if desired. This serves six.

Thousand Island Dressing: Mix together one cup of mayonnaise, three tablespoons of canned tomato paste, one tablespoon of chopped

Among the County Agents

E. E. Hardin, a Spencer county farmer, reports an average butterfat production of 30.7 pounds from 10 Jerseys last month, and a profit above feed cost of $35.

The Sunbeam Quarries have offered a carload of ground limestone to Nelson county agricultural 4-H club members who grow alfalfa. Other local companies will encourage alfalfa growing by offering seed and superphosphate.

Because Christian county farmers last year failed to grow enough feed for their stock, the county agent is campaigning for more and better corn and hay and pasture crops.

Lawrence Goetz, a Daviess county 4-H club boy, last year grew on an acre 84 bushels of corn "on the same kind of ground his Dad usually grows 50 to 60 bushels."

Owen county farmers report sheep to be wintering exceptionally well. A few lambs came in December. About half of the sheep in the county were dipped last fall.

Hopkins county farmers are planning extensive production of high quality red clover seed. Two thousand bushels were produced last fall. Recleaning equipment will be installed.

Unemployment in Ashland mills was reflected in a decreased demand for Boyd county milk. Many farmers were forced to look for other markets.

Many Indiana farmers listen to the Kentucky College of Agriculture radio programs, according to County Agent C. A. Wicklund, of Kenton county, who recently spent some time in the Hoosier

No Reduction on Motor Licenses

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 10—The Kentucky Senate today voted to table the motor license reduction bill, preventing further action on the measure. The vote was 20 to 16.

Parliamentary jockeying prevented the measure receiving a direct vote on its merits but the vote on the motion to table was indicative of the line-up for and against the reduction. Senator O. C. Gartin, Boyd introduced an amendment to provide that the reduction not be effective until 1932. Allie Young moved that the amendment be tabled, and the bill was carried into the discard with the amendment.

The bill, introduced by Gates Young, Daviess, originally provided a reduction of one-half but a committee substitute recommended a one-third reduction. Debate on the measure was begun last week, but action was deferred until today to permit senators to learn how the reduction would affect road measures.

The fight on the bill centered on pleas not to reduce road revenues so that poorer counties might be "pulled out of the mud." Opponents of the bill said that its supporters all came from districts which already have good roads.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Lesson for February 16

JESUS HEALING AND HELPING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:1-9:34. GOLDEN TEXT—Himself took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of the Needy.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Meeting Human Needs.

I. Jesus Heals a Leper (8:1-4).

1. The dreadful disease (v. 2). Leprosy, the most loathsome and hopeless disease known, in the Jewish ritual, was regarded as a symbol of sin. As leprosy was incurable by man, so only the divine physician could cure sin.

2. The leper's faith (v. 2). His cry was most pitiable, but his faith was strong. He fully believed that Jesus was able, but not certain that He was willing to heal him.

3. Jesus' power (v. 3). He put forth His hand and touched the leper, bidding the disease depart, and instantly the man was cleansed.

II. Jesus Heals the Centurion's Servant (8:5-13).

1. The disease (v. 6). The victim of paralysis is helpless and disqualified for service.

2. The centurion's humility (v. 8). He first sent the Jewish elders and then his friends (Luke 7:3, 6), because he felt his unworthiness. The cure of this servant was so grave that his master brushed aside his timidity and personally appealed to Jesus.

3. The centurion's faith (v. 8, 9). He believed that if Jesus would but speak the word, his servant would be healed.

4. The wonderful power of Jesus (v. 13).

He did not need even to see the helpless man, but only to speak the word and it was done.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-in-law (8:14, 15).

She was sick of a fever. Jesus was invited into Peter's home to heal this woman. Upon entering the home He touched the hand of the patient and the fever left her, and she arose and ministered unto them.

IV. Jesus Casts Out Demons (8:28-34).

Jesus stilling the tempest, as he crossed to the other side of the sea into heathen territory.

1. Met by two men possessed by demons (v. 28).

These men were in a desperate condition (see Mark 5:1-17 and Luke 8:27). So fierce were they that no one could safely pass that way. They wore no raiment and no chains were strong enough to hold them.

2. What they knew about Christ (v. 29).

They knew that He was the Son of God and that He had come to destroy the devil and his work. Among the demons there is no doubt as to the deity of Jesus Christ and as to the judgment to come.

3. Christ's power to deliver from the devil (v. 30-32).

The demons quailed before Him, not daring to dispute His power.

V. Jesus Heals a Woman With an Issue of Blood (9:20-22).

1. Her helpless condition (v. 20). She had been a great sufferer for twelve long years, not only from the disease, but at the hands of the physicians (Mark 5:25).

2. Her faith (v. 21).

Her faith was so strong that she believed contact with the Master's garment would secure needed help.

3. Her confession (v. 21, cf. Luke 8:47).

She thought secretly to get the blessing, but Jesus perceived that virtue had gone out from Him, and had her make a public confession.

4. Christ's words of encouragement (v. 22).

He told her that it was her faith, not her touch that saved her.

VI. Jesus Opening the Eyes of Two Blind Men (9:27-31).

1. Their persistence of faith (v. 28). These poor men had heard of the wonderful works of Jesus and desired to be healed.

2. The Intelligence of faith (v. 27). They cried unto Him as the Son of David, which showed that they recognized Him as the promised Messiah. The prophet had foretold such to be the works of Messiah (Isa. 29:18; 35:5; 42:7).

3. The challenge of faith (v. 28). In reply to His challenge, they gave Him a definite answer.

4. The triumph of faith (v. 29, 30). Their faith brought them into touch with the Lord of life who revealed His power by opening their eyes.

Heroes and Cowards

Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men. Silently and imperceptibly, as we wake or sleep, we grow and wax strong, we grow and wax weak, and at last some crisis shows us what we have become.—Canon Westcott.

Faith

Faith is an almighty thing like the Eternal God Himself; therefore God seeks to prove and try it.—Luther.

MORE than $78,000,000 will be disbursed by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company this year to operate and maintain the telephone system and care for the growth in the nine Southeastern states.

Of this large sum $35,000,000 is new money and will be needed for additions and replacements. It means that approximately 50,000 new telephones will be added and that the long distance system will be greatly enlarged and improved.

The remaining $43,000,000 will be required for operating and maintaining the service and practically all of it will remain at home in the 900 cities in which the company operates.

This enormous expenditure indicates confidence in the commercial and industrial growth of the Southeast and is a fulfillment of the Bell System policy of furnishing comprehensive, efficient service, at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.

PENNSYLVANIA MAN LINKED IN FIFTY MURDERS

Is Believed to Be "Master Mind" of Ring With Wide Ramifications.

Easton, Mass.—One man, believed responsible for the murders of fifty men and women who crossed the movements of a gigantic vice ring which operated in several eastern states, is under surveillance by department of justice men and his arrest is imminent.

The head of the ring, charged by police with ordering the assassination of Sam Reinstein in a hotel here September 13 and the killings of half a hundred other persons during several years, lives in Easton, Pa.

Record of Butchery.

His record of butchery, with men and women shot down in cold blood just as was Reinstein, is appalling and neither federal nor local authorities acquainted with criminals and their activities can picture the cold, calculating murders which the head of the vice ring ordered.

This information was given out by Assistant Federal Attorney Thompson, who made a final gesture to clean out the white slave traffic in New England by obtaining six warrants for ring leaders and sending men into the south end to arrest those wanted. So careless had the ring become in their wholesale murdering that enough legal loopholes have been left open for the commonwealth to send the man responsible to the chair for the murder of Sam Reinstein.

Reinstein, according to authorities, was the last of fifty victims who doubtless crossed the "master mind," as he is termed by police, and subsequently paid the penalty as did the others. Like Reinstein, the others were killed by hired assassins. In his case police name Jeff and Moe Neuman, New York gangsters.

Officials Corrupted.

The leader who ordered the killings at one time operated twenty places in Pennsylvania, and controlled a circuit which ran into New York, Philadelphia, Bethlehem, Easton and Allentown.

Shot Down in Cold Blood.

The difficulty in bringing this man to court on a murder charge, officials pointed out, is in the manner in which public officials throughout certain sections have been corrupted. While police have had evidence linking him with the murders before, it has been difficult to obtain action which would take him into custody.

The murder of Gertrude Ruby outside of York, Pa., November 11, 1927, occupied the attention of Assistant District Attorney Doyle for a time. The district attorney of York county asked his aid in solving the murder. Harry Malaga, one of several persons held in jail now in connection with the workings of the ring, has refused to talk of the case.

Under federal charges with Harry Malaga is Elizabeth Martin of Easton, Pa., now on her way to this city. She is under guard of department of justice agents, for it has been learned attempts have been made to reach her before she is questioned by federal and local authorities.

Arrested After 2 Years on Bad Check Charge

Tulare, Calif.—Police circulated two and a half years old were responsible for bringing back to Tulare, Hugo Howard, alias F. W. Lacey, and Walter Milstead, wanted on bad check charges.

Milstead had been wanted here since March 14, 1927, when a $15 check he is charged with having given a local firm was returned with a "no account" notation.

Howard became a fugitive shortly after June 27, 1927, when, it is charged, he gave three Tulare merchants each a worthless $25 check.

The two were arrested in Los Angeles and the police there immediately asked Tulare's chief, J. F. MacDonald, if they were the ones wanted here. They were.

Student Kills Self

Baltimore, Md.—Discouraged in his attempts to sell literary works and at odds with his family, Alexander C. Woods, Jr., twenty-two, a student at Johns Hopkins university, ended his life with a pistol in a friend's apartment.

Saved From Fire, She Sips Coffee

New York.—Baroness Katharina Dombrowsky, an artist, stood on the window ledge of her fourth floor studio apartment. The building was on fire. Firemen hoisted an aerial ladder. Fireman George Nelson, charging through the dense smoke and flames, finally reached the ledge. Without apology he flung the baroness over his right shoulder.

Then began the descent. Down they went, while the crowd in the street shouted encouragement.

Reaching the street, eager aid was offered them. Men darted for telephones to call an ambulance.

But the baroness would have none of it.

She jumped to her feet and swirled around the corner.

Into a one-arm restaurant on Twenty-third street she went.

And had a cup of coffee.

ATE TOO FREELY OF CIDER APPLES

Tipsy Horse Gives Police Live-ly Time.

Evanston, Ill.—James Whitcomb Riley would have written this story in Hoosier dialect. It has to do with cider apples and a horse—subjects that are always, except in this instance, handled in Hoosier dialect.

Sam Bell, Ed Busse and Phil Reimen, the Evanston night watch, spied a dark object in "the wee hours."

The dark object was the horse. This horse was no individualist. It was eating grass.

"I'm an old cow-puncher," announced Officer Reimen. "I'll ride this fruit cart brunk back to the station."

His compatriots saw Officer Reimen mount. Then they saw him describe a parabola through the air. The horse had simply shrugged his ears.

Officer Reimen's head was bloody, but unbothered.

"I'm an old cow-puncher," he said, with a little more insistence. "An old one from Texas."

He pulled down a nearby clothes-line, made a lariat, and let fly.

There was a cry in the night.

The rope had settled about Officer Bell, bringing him up sharply by the heels. Tumbling abruptly, he whacked his head on a tree. His howls grew louder. The horse looked amused.

"Hold on," Officer Reimen yelled.

Three men and the horse. A general alarm was turned in. Policemen came running from all quarters—the whole force.

A quiet man—who walked, not ran—came, too. He was George Boharas, 1422 Lake street, fruit man.

"Ruth ver' good lady," he observed, quietly putting a halter on the quiet horse. Rows of faces white in the gloom, crowded expectantly toward him from all sides.

"But sometime she eat too many elder apples."

Engine Crashes Gates of Sleepy Normandy Cafe

Caen, France.—A group of Normans who were calmly sipping applejack, the favorite drink in this locality, at a little bar across the street from the railroad station recently were rudely disturbed by the unexpected entrance of a locomotive, which came crashing through the swinging door.

It seems that instead of sticking to the main line the locomotive had been switched to a spur track, and the engineer did not discover the mistake in time to halt the speeding engine.

As soon as the dust had cleared away and the debris had stopped falling, the clientele picked themselves up and finding that the cyclonic interruption had not done anybody any harm, rescued their unsmashed bottles. They then retired to the garden in the rear of the cafe, where they poured out a glass for the engineer and fireman and continued their morning bout.

Cuckoo Clock Comes to Rescue of Scared Girl

Los Angeles.—Miss Genevieve Payne of El Monte was saved from the unwelcome advances of a burglar at midnight when a cuckoo thrust its head out the tiny balcony atop the family clock and squeaked "cuckoo" 12 times.

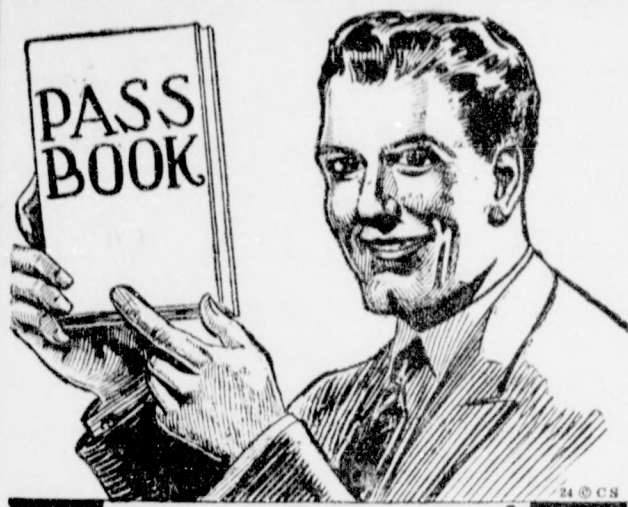

According to the story told to deputy sheriffs by the girl, she was lying on her bed reading when the intruder crawled through the window and attempted to attack her.

Just then the cuckoo clock cocked twelve, however, and the youth became frightened and fled through the window.

Grants Pass, Ore.—A human finger solved the robbery of a safe in a store here and two men are now under arrest for the crime.

The finger apparently was blown off when the safe was dynamited. One of the two men arrested as suspects had lost a finger, and when confronted with the member found in the store confessed and implicated his companion.

Corn Stalk Fuel

When we announced along last year that the manufacture of paper from cornstalks had actually begun, our readers around Fulton accepted it as just another step toward the conservation of wood and possibly, another bit of farm relief. But now comes announcements of still another important product to be derived from cornstalks—a fuel and illuminating gas. Dr. Arthur Burwell of the University of Illinois says the stalks are pulped and put in a tank, kept at 60 degrees. The heat generates a gas that may be used for heating or illumination. He says 40 acres of cornstalks will supply heat, power, cooking fuel and light for an average farm for one year. Four acres would provide enough gas for a year's lighting. And the refuse remaining after the gas is made can be purified and sold for paper making. Score one big discovery for 1930! And if anyone has others that would prove as beneficial as this one may turn out to be, let's have them without delay.

You Can't Beat It.

We daresay a number of local citizens recall when Clarence Saunders, originator of the "Piggly-Wiggly" stores, went to New York a few years ago with a determination to beat Wall Street. He took $16,000,000 with him. And he not only lost that but his business as well. He started at the bottom as a clerk—and he has built up a new chain through which he has amassed more money than he had before. But he is through with Wall Street. He didn't lose a penny in the recent panic. And that his advice may be given a little serious consideration in this neighborhood we quote it here: "It's foolish to try to beat the Wall Street crowd. In the end there is bound to be only one result—disaster. No matter what the temptation, don't try it; it's only gambling. And when you get through you'll have gambler's losses more times than you will have gambler's luck."

Women and Money

Financial experts report that 41 percent of the wealth of the U. S. is in the hands of women. This includes real estate, stocks, bonds and cash in the bank. It leaves 59 percent of the wealth owned by men. Yet if the pay envelopes issued to husbands, and bank accounts in their names were credited to the wives who really control them, the percentage would be reversed. We take it of course that these figures will prove out in Fulton as everywhere else. So if they are true the male end of our population can commence to draw in its horns, for it is far worse off than it had any idea. Pretty soon, if this keeps up and any more of the nation's wealth gets into the hands of the women we'll be arguing that wives should give their husbands a general allowance, instead of insisting that they are the ones entitled to be on the receiving end of the proposition.

Dangerous House Pets

Newspapers throughout the country have been making much over the discovery of a new disease called "parrot fever." It is said to be common among parrots, yet easily contracted by humans who may handle them. A number of deaths have been attributed to it in various sections.

We often wonder, in considering house pets scattered in homes around Fulton if some of these animals that live so close to man do not have diseases that we know nothing about which may not attract attention yet which may, when transmitted to humans, prove serious. It is generally believed among doctors that cats carry diphtheria, and it has been proved that the mosquito carries the germ of yellow fever into the human body, and also the germ of ague.

We love pets, and we feel that there is something fine missing out of the makeup of anyone who doesn't. But even our regard for them cannot blind us to the fact that they should be watched more closely than they are for the appearance of disease and given more careful attention in the matter of cleanliness. We have no means of knowing how many cases of illness might be prevented if this plan was more generally carried out, but we do know that it would be a far more sensible thing to do than to wait until an epidemic was traced to the animal and then have to stage a wholesale slaughter of them, as has been the case since "parrot fever" developed.

Cheaper Car Fuel

Fulton motorists who find the purchase of gasoline a burden will be among the most interested citizens in the country in a report that there is early promise of a new Diesel engine practice to passenger car fueling.

We read that a six-cylinder car recently made a 792-mile trip on $1.38 worth of fuel oil. At that rate a car could be run from New York to San Francisco at a cost of $8.40. To get the same results from gas a gallon of it would have to run the car 120 miles—and whoever heard tell of any thing like that? If the Diesel principle can be made practical for all types of passenger autos we are due for nothing less than an industrial revolution. For one thing, we would never have to worry about a shortage of gasoline. And until our present laws could be changed or amended we would affect quite a saving in gasoline taxes.

Automobile engineers are frank in saying that there is no reason to scoff at the attempt being made to build a Diesel engine for auto use. In fact, they intimate that there are quite a number of reasons for believing it will be successfully done within the year. So successful have experiments along this line proven up to this time that it really gives us something to think about. And the figures furnished us as to the cost of such power, once it is in general use, gives us something new to hope for.

Brieflets

Now that spring is not so far away it might be well to remember that "Paint-up Work" was not intended solely for the flappers.

The way a Fulton man treats the family dog depends a good deal on the way his family treats him.

Broadcasting sessions of Congress would be a good way to make us better satisfied with our present radio programs.

The difference between a wife and a barber is a barber always asks you what you're going to have instead of telling you what you're going to do.

An ideal husband is the Fulton man who has sense enough to remember his wife's birthday and forget how many she has had.

Only the prosperous can dispute a crossing with a locomotive but anybody can slide out where the ice is thin.

Airplanes may be as safe as autos, but few cars would collide if they had four ways in which to dodge.

It won't be long until Fulton people can commence putting up martin and wren boxes for the English sparrows to live in.

A New York girl found $2000 on the street, returned it and won a husband. Which proves to girls that they can't be too careful about what they pick up on the street.

About the only improvement left for Henry Ford to put on his cars is spurs to help them climb telegraph poles.

The Fulton man who doesn't want a motorist to run him down has to be careful and if he doesn't want the neighbors to do the same thing he has to be good.

What would have happened if hoop-skirts and rumble seats had occurred in the same generation?

Another fault to be found with many of the younger generation around Fulton is they are doing too much neck and not enough head work.

Many congressmen seeking reelection this year will have to stutter when they tell the farmers how much they have helped them.

After being engaged 26 years a Missouri man married at the age of 91. But you'll have to admit that he put up a good fight.

There are said to be 200 dialects in the U. S. but to the average Fulton citizen the dollar speaks louder than them all.

A Two Dollar Dinner for Six

*Creem of Celery Soup
Coddish Calves—Tomato Sauce
Baked Potatoes—Vegetable Wreath
Hot Rolls and Butter
Peach Caramel Pie
Coffee*

It is the inexpensive, ready-to-try canned vegetable soups which can be purchased two cans for 28 cents, which make this delicious dinner for six people possible for the modest outlay of two dollars. The sauce accompanying the cod fish is unadorned tomato soup which costs 10 cents.

A can of celery soup and the necessary milk comes to 19 cents. Celery and olives are 19 cents. Baked potatoes, 10 cents; rolls and butter, 20 cents; and coffee 10 cents.

For the vegetable wreath, heat a number 2 can of spinach, season with lemon juice, butter, salt and pepper. Pack tightly in a greased ring mold and set in a steamer to keep hot. Heat one small can of rosebud beets, season with butter, salt and pepper. When ready to serve, turn the spinach out onto a hot, round platter and pile beets in center. The spinach costs 16 cents, the beets, 15, making the total cost with seasonings 30 cents.

To make the pie, put two tablespoons butter and four tablespoons sugar in a skillet and cook slowly until thick and brown, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Add syrup from a number 2½ can of dried peaches and then two tablespoons cornstarch smoothed in one tablespoon cold water; add one slightly beaten egg yolk and cook in double boiler until thick. Arrange the sliced peaches in a pastry-lined pie tin, pour over the caramel sauce, and arrange strips of pastry lattice fashion over the top. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes, then at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until done. With the can of peaches at 20 cents the total cost will be 38 cents.

Total cost for the meal is thus $1.90. The extra ten cents will pay for fuel and incidentals.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

A Thought Worthy of Consideration

An auctioneer in addressing a group of farmers remarked, "Now what I want you fathers to do today is buy a calf and give it to your boy, and it will be the greatest money you ever spent. It will assist you in making a business man of him. You are always complaining about your boys leaving the farm, and they do leave you." He made an inquiry using the following poem:

"Why did you leave the farm, my lad?
Why did you bolt and leave your Dad?
Why did you beat it off to town
And turn your poor old father down?"

Thinkers in the churches, platform, pulpit, press
Are wallowing in deep distress;
They seek to know the hidden cause

Why farmer boys leave their paws, and was likewise answered by a youth present:

"Well, stranger, since you've been so frank,
I'll roll aside the Hazy Bank.
I left my dad the farm to plow,
Because my calf became his cow."

I left my dad to sow and reap,
Because my lamb became his sheep.

I left my dad, it was wrong, of course,
Because my colt became his horse.

I dropped the hoe and stuck the fork,
Because my pig became his pork.

The garden truck I made to grow,
Was his to sell and mine to hoe.

It's not the smoke in the atmosphere,
Nor the heat of life that brought me here;

You tell the platform, pulpit, press
No fear of toil or love of dress

Has driven off the farmer lads;
It's just the methods of their dads."

The above clipping from the State Farm Exchange Bulletin only too well tells the truth. Too many fathers think their boys and girls are not entitled to any remuneration except what few clothes they buy and their three meals per day. I want each one of you farmers to read this carefully and see if it applies to you. If the shoe fits, why don't you get a flock of standard bred poultry and give to your boy or girl and let them have all the proceeds from them? They will soon work up an interest that will keep them on the farm.

Remember, we want at least 100 standard bred fowls on every farm, and this is a good way to get your farm lined up, get that boy a flock, sell off all the scrub and misfits, and let him have the chickens for his part of the farm work, and in a few years your farm will be noted for its fine poultry.

The county agent is still busy organizing 4-H clubs. Wednesday we went to the Terry-Norman school and got a rousing reception. I'll say those boys and girls are a live bunch. If their parents will just back them up in their efforts, we will get some sure-enough 4-H club members who will be a success.

There are a few questions I want to ask you farmers and chicken raisers. I feel like we have done some good in this county along chicken lines but want your opinion, so if you have time I wish you would write me and answer these few questions.

1. Do you think the poultry in Fulton has improved in the last five years?
2. What in your opinion has caused the improvement more than any other one thing?
3. Do you think your show at the fair is better now than it was five years ago?
4. Do you think the efforts

we have put forth are worth while?

5. Do you want us to continue to improve the stock and the show each year?

6. Are you willing to do your part to accomplish this?

7. Are you willing to join the Poultry Association and pay us $1.00 for four years dues, so that we can do better work?

8. Are you willing to improve your stock and show them at the fair so we can have the best show in the Mississippi Valley?

I would like to have as many as will write me their answers to these questions, and as many as will join the poultry association, for we should have at least 100 bona fide poultry raisers in this locality.

Don't forget that Tuesday, February 25, we will have a poultry expert from the State Department here for a series of lectures and talks, both in the morning and afternoon, and probably at night at the County Court room. We want a full house, if you are interested in poultry come to these lectures, they are free. If you have any questions to ask, Mr. Humphries will be glad to answer them.

Make up your mind to join the association on that day to help us boost poultry in this community. We should have at least 25 joiners that day.

Remember our two slogans, 100 standard fowls on every farm. Make Fulton County the best poultry county in the State.

Many Big Fortunes Are Held By Women

Women have half the individual wealth of the world. Tax reports show that of all individual incomes over $100,000 a year, women receive 54½ percent; as many women as men report incomes of a million and more a year. Women outnumber men as stockholders of America's leading corporations; women get 70 percent of all estates left by men and 64 percent of all estates left by women, says the Boston Globe.

This movement of wealth into the hands of the "weaker" sex during recent years has been widely commented upon by economists and statisticians, and some attempts have been made to estimate the proportions of this individual wealth between the sexes. At best these estimates are mere approximations, but they do show the drift unmistakably.

Some of the facts about the incomes of women are astonishing and evidently are little realized by the public. Federal income tax returns are perhaps the most dependable source of information on this subject. The most recent analysis of these returns which is available is that for the tax year of 1926. A little study of these figures confirms the worse fears of the anti-feminist who foresees the time when the wealth and power of the country will be in the hands of women.

Now let us look at the classifications by amount of income. Of all individuals reporting personal incomes in excess of half a million dollars, 139 were women and 123 were men. Of those reporting incomes in excess of $1,000,000, 44 were women and 42 were men. Between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 there were 13 women and 14 men. Between $1,500,000 and 2,000,000 there were 5 women and 6 men. Between $3,000,000 and 4,000,000 there were two women and three men. But in the bracket between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 there were three women as against one lone man.

Neat and Attractive Service and Food the Best

It is a pleasure to go to this cafe for a lunch or full meal.

Serve Soup in Cups

THE Biblical reference to "blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel" (Matthew, xxiii, 24) is paralleled by the more modern problem of the housewife who will not serve soup because she has no soup plates. No one could reasonably ask her or her family to swallow camels—but why not serve the soup in cups?

Arthur Brisbane, famous editor, is responsible for this brilliant suggestion. He recently wrote: "I consider good soup to be the most important item of food on the whole list, and I suggest that housewives be reminded that for children, and for all purposes, the cup is the simplest, most easily handled receptacle for soup."

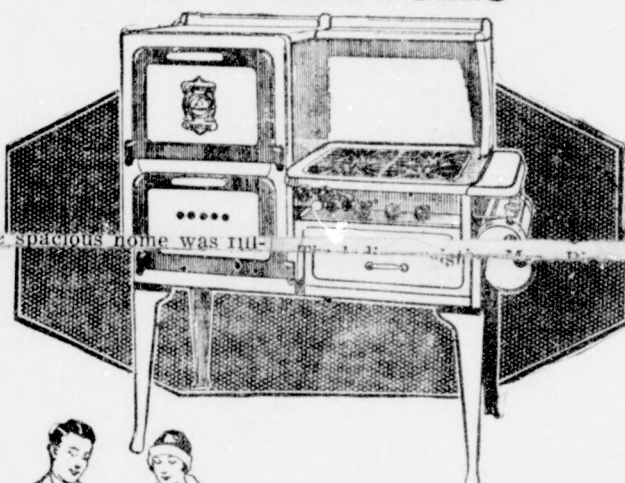

Every Household Has Them
"Every household has coffee cups or tea cups. They can be pushed aside on the table after the soup is finished, and the rest of the meal can go on, the plate on which the cup rested being the dinner plate. I think it would be a good thing to let people realize that soup of itself, with bread added, in the soup, or vegetables, potatoes, or other things in the soup, constitutes a complete meal."

All Sorts of Soups

And what a variety of soups are available, already prepared—in cans. There are asparagus and beef soups, beef bouillon, chicken soup, clam broth, clam chowder, consommé, Julienne, mulligatawny, mutton broth, okra, onion, oxtail, osymer, pea, pepper pot purées of beans and celery, plain soup stock, tomato cream, tomato purée, tomato-okra, green turtle, mock turtle, vegetable soup and vermicelli. Just get a can and fill your cups.*

And what a difference to have your kitchen free from soot, dirt... blackened pots and pans. The Coleman Range brings you that freedom. Ceilings, curtains and walls stay clean longer when you have this modern range.

You'll find the Coleman makes a difference in the cost of preparing each meal, too. Cooks a meal for the average family on less than 2 cents' worth of fuel.

LUNCHEON

The St. Valentine Luncheon, Tuesday, at one o'clock in the dining room of the Methodist church was a marked success in every way, being a social and benefit affair under the auspices of the drama department of the Woman's Club.

The long table which held covers for sixty guests was beautiful with silver baskets of long frond ferns and red carnations.

The St. Valentine motif lent a gala appearance to the scene, making colorful background for the group of modestly attired guests.

After the delicious three course luncheon, Mrs. Ramsey Snow, the vice-chairman, introduced the club president, Mrs. M. C. Nall, who made a pleasing informal talk. Then Mrs. Snow introduced Dr. Graff, and Miss Hauswald, who each made charming talks, and asked the cooperation of the club members in their training school in child welfare. The drama department of the Woman's club has the largest membership of any department of the club and their affairs are always anticipated with considerable interest and they are to be congratulated on making the luncheon such a success.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The February meeting of the Woman's club was held Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Bob White, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Nall.

Departmental reports and announcements featured the business session.

At the conclusion of business the meeting was turned over to the drama department, with Mrs. Ramsey Snow presiding. Mrs. Gus Bard, always a favorite with Fulton audiences, opened the program with a beautiful rendition of Chopin's "Valse in A Flat" on the piano. This was followed by a play given by members of the department. The production was a delightful comedy, "Overtones," in one act, and the cast, directed by Mrs. Ramsey Snow, included the following: Mrs. Robert White as Harriet, a cultured woman, with Mrs. Geo. Doyle as Hetty, her primitive self or "overtone." Mrs. Don Hill as Margaret, and Mrs. Ray Graham as Maggie, her primitive self. Each of these charming young matrons showed marked histrionic ability and their entertainment was highly enjoyed by a large audience. Delicious tea and sandwiches were served. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. T. Price and Mrs. Wilmon Boyd and the pages were Mrs. Jim Gordon and Mrs. Carlton Linton.

PEACHES KILLED IN THE BUD

D. R. Collins, well known farmer and fruit grower of Route 6, called at the Advertiser office Friday and reported that the peach crop in this vicinity was killed one hundred per cent by the severe zero weather here the past winter. The twig from a peach tree brought to the office fully substantiated his statement and we may expect to eat only imported peaches the coming season. We know of no better authority than Mr. Collins in this section when condition of fruit is questioned in the bud. This is a wonderful fruit growing section but our crops are often nipped in the bud.

The thieves entered the postoffice thru the office of Miss Mildred Ramage, postmistress and opened the cabinets and drawers, but did not attempt to blow the safe. They obtained between $600 and $700 in cash, stamps and parcels and two revolvers.

They entered the store of the Hickman Grocery and Produce Company, opened the register, and got about $300 in cash and a quantity of cigarettes, candy, fruit and other merchandise. They reported the process at the Hickman Joint Stock Company Store and Fethe & Diestelink's Grocery Store.
