Hickman Seawall Will Be Improved

Mayor C. P. Mabry has received preliminary plans for proposed changes and improvements in the Hickman seawall. The changes will close one of the gates and raise the level of the roadway through the other openings so that the gates will not have to be put up until the river rises two or three feet higher than the limit which formerly made their closing necessary.

Another improvement planned is to use only one tier of timbers which will be put edgewise between I-beams. This will be stronger, since the steel I-beams will carry the load, and also will do away with the necessity of tamping mud between the timbers, as was done by the old system.

Mrs. Tate Leads New Unit To Study Taxes

Mrs. J. E. Tate, Sr., of Fulton, today was named to lead local women in the nation-wide drive of the National Consumers Tax Commission against "all unnecessary taxes that increase the cost of living."

Announcement of her appointment as chairman of the commission unit to be formed among Fulton housewives was made today from the organization's national headquarters in Chicago, through Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, national president.

The commission is described as a non-political organization conducting a drive by housewives of the nation against hidden and direct taxation that add to the burden of the consumer. The drive is led in this state by Mrs. E. H. Heller of Louisville, the national committee member, and Mrs. J. E. Warren, Mayfield, Kentucky state director.

"The commission is glad to have Mrs. Tate among the leaders of this needed movement," Mrs. Frazier said. "Already hundreds of units in many states are active in the educational drive on taxes that raise the cost of living for all of us."

"Most people pay hidden taxes without knowing it, and it's little wonder family budgets are strained when, for example, the commission's research department finds hidden taxes add 11 cents to a 29-cent purchase of meat, $10 to every $30 of rent, $1.95 to a $5 hat and $1.56 to a $4 pair of shoes."

A series of study programs will be arranged for members through which to inform families here of their tax burden, Mrs. Frazier said.

Fulton Community Singing Set For Sunday

BUSINESS MAKES MODERATE ADVANCE

Only slight variation from recent general business levels was noted for the closing week in January, according to reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities, just received by its Louisville District Office. Industrial activity was about one-fourth above the rate last year, steel ingot operations dropped moderately and contra-seasonally, automobile production and sales held at a better-than-seasonal rate, retail and wholesale trade generally continued its moderate advance, while building construction was again a bright spot in the business picture. Employment conditions were spotty. Despite snow and rain in many sections practically all reporting cities registered nominal increases in retail trade, or business on a par with last year, at which time, however, this branch of trade was extremely dull. Wholesale trade generally was quite good, though in some centers a tapering off in replacement orders was noted. Record attendance was reported from many trade shows, with a resultant high volume of orders.

Louisville reported that department store sales equaled volume of year ago, but averaged somewhat lower than the first part of the month, when clearance sales stimulated buying. Turnover of men's furnishings was at a low level. Wholesale dry goods were less active than in past few weeks, but about the same as last year. Manufacturers of metal furnishings reported satisfactory bookings at recent trade shows.

Plans made for addition of some 100 more employees at manufacturing plant in Fulton, Ky., increase to double present payroll.

HOMEMAKERS TO MEET AT LODGESTON

Charlotte Firm Has Local REA Contract

REA has approved a contract between the Hickman-Fulton Counties Rural Electric Corporation and R. H. Bouligny, Inc., Charlotte, N. C., for building the first section of 103 miles of rural electric lines in Fulton and Hickman counties in Kentucky and Obion County, Tenn. A partial allotment of $100,000 has been made for this project.

The successful bid was $66,110 and includes materials and labor. The total cost, with meters and overhead added, will be $81,411. This is an average of $722 per mile. Administrator Carmody has wired the engineer, Thos. H. Allen, Memphis, to have work start at once. The contract calls for the work to be completed by early spring.

The Denkmann Lumber Co. will furnish 15 carloads of poles; Alumnum Co. of America will furnish about 257 miles of wire, and the Westinghouse Electric Co., will ship 212 transformers, ranging from one and a half k.v.a. to 10 k.v.a.

Construction of these lines will provide nearly 17,000 man hours of employment in direct labor alone.

All who wish to get service from the new lines should sign up for it at once and make arrangements for wiring and plumbing installations. The route of the line is now being laid out, and the network is planned to reach areas where enough member service contracts have been signed to make construction economically feasible.

A BASEBALL BARGAIN

Judging from the record, the Boston Bees got a pretty good bargain recently when the veteran slugger and star outfielder, Al Simmons, was purchased from the Washington Senators for a paltry $3,000.

Simmons was the biggest gun in Connie Mack's Philadelphia team when it won three pennants in a row and two world championships, beginning with the season of 1929. He led the American League batters in 1930 and 1931.

Al was in his prime in those days, but he is now only 35 years old, and his 1938 record with the Senators showed 21 home runs, 6 three-baggers, 23 two-baggers and 92 runs batted in. His batting average was .302 for the 125 games in which he played. He even stole two bases, and his fielding percentage was .983, being fourth among the regular fielders of his league.

The sale of Simmons by Washington is said to have been due to personal differences with Clark Griffith, the club's president. Griffith fined Simmons $200 for alleged obscene language directed at certain customers on the last day of the season. Simmons said Griffith had promised him a bonus if he batted over .300 for the season, and fined him to get it back.

However, all this may be, the old-timer's admirers will wish him luck with the Boston team, and hope he may hold his own for many seasons to come.

MEN ARE THIN SKINNED

Men do not stand either heat or cold as well as women, according to a group of investigators at the Yale school of medicine, who claim to have found a biological explanation for the asserted fact.

This came out a few days ago in a report presented to a convention of heating and ventilating engineers meeting in Pittsburgh, which said in effect that men have thinner skins than the opposite sex, although it was not stated exactly that way.

Naturally, the scientists had a technical expression for the phenomenon. They declared that the "thermal insulating tissues" of women were nearly twice as thick as those of men. This means, it was explained, that this difference gave women greater protection against heat and cold.

At last, it seems, we have a clue to why women appear entirely comfortable in scanty evening gowns in cold weather, and also seem perfectly cool and happy wearing fur neck pieces when the temperature soars.

So, we mere men need not be sorry for them in either case. Because of their thicker thermal insulating tissues they can take it.

A peasant in Yugoslavia complained to police that his wife was responsible for the insect bites he had all over his body. The wife explained that she had put insects in his bed to "keep his mind busy and cure him of jealousy."

SCHOOL NEWS

FULTON HIGH

Due to weather conditions and illness in Murray, the Bulldogs were unable to fulfill their schedule and the past week-end found them without a game on hand. Friday night the team will journey to So. Fulton to finish a very close contest which was begun at the Science Hall several weeks ago when the Bulldogs defeated the Tennessee group by one point.

Twelve members of the Glee Club were selected to sing a special number, "The Holiday," at the last meeting of the Music Club on February 8.

At a meeting of the Beta Club on February 3, a very interesting program about the origin and unusuality of several American customs was presented. Subjects which were discussed were introductions, dancing, debutante parties, courtship and marriage.

The music to be used in the contests in Murray has arrived and the students who will participate in these contests have begun their work. The time for the District Meet is in the latter part of March.

The Senior Executive Committee has selected the invitation to be used by the present Senior Class. The announcement is of the French fold type. The order will be sent in at a later date.

SOUTH FULTON

South Fulton split a double-header with Troy Friday night, Feb. 3, on the local floor. The girls lost by a score of 23 to 28. The boys won by a score of 25 to 29. The boys' game was won on long shots coming late in the game by Frankum and Faulkner. The girls' game was a close fight with Troy keeping in the lead one to four points to win the game.

Competition is at its height in the school this week because of the interclass contest for basketball queen and maid-of-honor. The purpose of this contest is to raise money for a basketball banquet to be given next month. The votes are counted by the amount of money turned in for each candidate—each 1 cent counting one vote. The maid-of-honor is to be chosen from the seventh, eighth, or ninth grade. The queen is to be chosen from the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade. The candidates and their business managers are as follows:

Maid-of-honor: Seventh grade, Charlene Sanford, Fred Griffin, Mgr.; eighth grade, Edna Earle Midyett, Billy Copeland, Mgr.; ninth grade, Opal Lancaster, Guy Brooks, Mgr.

Queen, tenth grade, Alice Allen, James McKinney, Mgr.; eleventh grade, Elizabeth Valentine, Tommy Edwards, Mgr.; twelfth grade, Kathleen Harwood, C. M. Valentine, Mgr.

The votes will be counted and the queen and maid-of-honor will be presented at the last game of the season which will be played on the South Fulton floor Friday night, February 10. The South Fulton Red Devils will meet the Fulton Bulldogs. The South Fulton second team will meet the Fulton Pups. As an added attraction, the Angels will play an Alumni team made up largely of last year's first team. The games will be called by Hurst of Martin Junior College and Fisher of Sharon, Tenn.

In continuing our presentation of the first team basketball players, we give the following interviews:

L. D. Frazier, No. 55
L. D. Frazier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Frazier of Union City, Route 6, is a Junior at So. Fulton this year. His basketball career was begun in the third grade at Harris School. He attended Hillcrest and entered So. Fulton as a Freshman. He is a valuable guard on this year's team, and has scored 41 points in seventeen games. He was out one game due to a leg injury. When asked for his opinion basketball, he said, "I like it as well as any sport" and as for an ambition "getting married" seems to occupy first place.

William Allen, No. 99
William Allen, a Senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Allen of Martin, Route 3. He has attended Chestnut Glade and Salem Schools and entered South Fulton in the fifth grade. He has played no other position than center since he began to practice ball in the eighth grade. Allen is a dependable player, and the spirit of the team lagged during the games that he was unable to play because of flu. The team loses a valuable center this season. His ambition is to go to college and continue to play the game he "likes better than any other sport." And, William says "Women are all right, too."

Velma Redman, No. 55
Velma Redman, a Junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Redman of Fulton, Route 5. She attended Chestnut Glade School until last year, when she entered South Fulton as a Sophomore. Velma has just been playing ball since she started high school, and has played at both center and center positions. On this year's team, Redman and Harwood have held the unchallenged positions at center. She would like to take a nurse's course after graduation. She said "I think basketball is the best and most wonderful of all sports."

Mary Louise Hastings, No. 99
Mary Louise Hastings, a Junior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hastings of Fulton, Route 1. She started playing ball when she was in the fifth grade at McConnell School. She entered South Fulton as a Freshman and played as second team forward here until this year. She is the high point forward on this year's first team, having 187 points to her credit in eighteen games. Hastings wants to be a stenographer, an ambition probably due to her entrance into the commercial department this year. She thinks that basketball is "the most outstanding sport."

SOME OLD-TIME MEDICINES

If one of us gets sick today, he is dosed with stuff that bears strange new names and tastes. One almost longs for the old medicine chest and its tried-and-true remedies.

I have been told on good authority that counter irritants are not so common as formerly, and those now in use are likely to be something different from the plasters we used to know. When a fellow had a severe case of cramps, a blister plaster turned the trick, and almost turned the patient, too. I can recall having one such plaster, and one was enough. The bad-smelling black ointment was spread out on a cloth and applied to my stomach. Not long after that a hot iron was burning into my flesh. After some minutes of agony I was relieved to have the plaster removed and a mush plaster applied instead. Then I puffed up as if I had been scalded and by and by got well, plaster or a strong constitution being to blame. Now, a mustard plaster can create enough heat to startle one, but I vote for the blister made of Spanish flies or cantharides.

Are there still cricks in the neck? If so, how about cupping? There to be regular instruments for this, but a wide-mouthed bottle into which has been dopped a lighted paper will form a vacuum and draw the skin into as many fancy shapes as you wish, thus relieving the crick. If there are cricks in the back, or any other back miseries, try a porous plaster. One's back, after it has been subjected to a porous plaster for a few days looks like the board on which one could play some fancy kind of checkers. Spells of colic yield to various and sundry teas. A mild case will probably be stopped by ginger tea with a little alcohol or whiskey added for flavor. Severe cases will require Indian turnip. In fact, any one who survives a case of colic and Indian turnip should be given a medal for endurance.

If an insect bites you, there are many things to do. For instance, mix soda and vinegar and apply while the mixture is still fizzing. Chiggers and ticks yield to fried-meat grease. A severe bee sting will lose its agony when the spot is covered with a fresh chew of tobacco.

Biliousness, once a much-used word, had many a remedy. Most of the herb remedies aimed at this disease. Good old calomel in its various forms, especially blue mass, so easily made into pills, gets at the seat of this trouble. If you want to be a little more stylish, buy for a dollar or two ten cents' worth of calomel in some kind of patent medicine.

And then there are chills, called "agers." Quinine is and was the remedy, whatever strides we may have made in other ways. If you can stand it, take it raw; you will think yourself brave to swallow it thus. Capsules, with both "cap" and "sule" full of quinine was the usual form. When a fellow has taken about six capsules of this drug in a single day, he has noises in his head that would make a rock-crusher sound like an accordion. Again, if you must be stylish try any number of chill tonics, in which the quinine is disguised. And always there is burdock bitters for things in general.

UNCLE JIM

Worn-out lands wear out the patience of the most courageous of farmers.

A farmer has to be a contortionist now days. He needs his ear to the ground, his shoulder to the wheel and his head level.

There is still time left to take an inventory and start a set of farm accounts. Ask your county agent for a free copy of the conveniently arranged book.

Don't cheat the dairy cow on water. She needs from four to five and one-half pounds for each pound of milk she produces. She cannot make the best use of feed unless she has enough water.

February is the best month for planting forest tree seedlings, although they may be put in up to April 1. State nurseries have black locust, shortleaf pine, and loblolly pine available for distribution to farmers at a nominal cost.

February and March are the best months for starting baby chicks. Publication 155, "Care and Feeding of Baby Chicks," issued by U-T Agricultural Extension Service, of Knoxville, Tenn., contains worthwhile information for poultry raisers. Ask your county agent for a copy.

Giving the farm boy a calf, pig or colt, will keep him interested in the farm and be good business training. Approximately 500 head of cattle, many of which were finished by 4-H club boys and vocational agricultural students, will be shown and sold in Knoxville, Feb. 23-25.

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT RAILROADS.

The following are the correct answers to the questions given in the railroad quiz on page 1.

1. Railroad in the United States is 109 years old. The first railroad began operation in 1830.

2. LCL is an abbreviation for less carload. LCL traffic consists of freight handled in less-than-carload shipments.

3. The railroads carry more than 1,200,000 passengers daily.

4. A semaphore in a vertical position is a signal to go ahead at usual speed. When the semaphore is in a diagonal position, it is a signal to proceed with caution. A horizontal semaphore calls for a stop.

5. The size of rail is expressed in pounds per yard.

REPAIR OVERLOADED FLUES

A characteristic failing of many an old chimney is that its one flue frequently serves two or more fireplaces, stoves or ranges. Such a flue cannot function properly; it acts fitfully and results in smoking fixtures. It is also a certain fire menace as it becomes coated with soot and unburnt particles that may be ignited by the heat of the gases in the flue, then to be dropped on to the roof of the house. If the roof is not covered with fire-resistant shingles, a disastrous fire may result. To correct such a condition, block up all smokepipe openings but one, leaving no more than one fixture to be served by the flue. Have the chimney cleaned annually, and re-roof at the earliest opportunity with fire safe shingles, such as asphalt shingles, slate or tile.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Prepare to the limit for war—and at the same time take every possible legislative precaution against becoming involved in potential wars that are not directly our own concern. That, in a sentence, seems to be the attitude of Congress today.

The details of the Administration's long discussed armament program have at last come to light. The President has urged that with "as great speed as possible," a special appropriation of $552,000,000 be authorized and spent for the tools of war. Three hundred millions of this, according to plan, is to go for army airplanes; $110,000,000 is to go for anti-aircraft guns, automatic rifles, field pieces, etc.; $8,000,000 for strengthening our seacoast defenses; $27,000,000 to increase the normal garrison in the Canal Zone; $44,000,000 for naval bases; $21,000,000 for navy airplanes, and $10,000,000 for training civilian air pilots, to build up a reserve of expert combat fliers in case of necessity.

During the 1940 fiscal year about a billion more will be spent for military expansion and maintenance, in addition to this "emergency" half-billion, making a total of about a billion and half. That comes to a little more than $10 for every man, woman and child in America—a sum not so large as early estimates indicated, but still the largest in our peace-time history.

The American people haven't had a chance to vote "aye" or "nay" on this program officially. But, unofficially, they have made their voices heard, and the chorus of approval has apparently drowned out the minority of dissenters. A late Institute of Public Opinion poll, for example, shows that the public is overwhelmingly back of the armament program; that the bulk of our citizens feel that Germany is democracy's worst enemy and favor a boycott of all German goods, and that 48 per cent of those queried believe we will have to fight Germany again in their lifetimes.

In Congress, sentiment in favor of big-scale armament is similarly great. But there is also the feeling that any major arms race breeds great dangers which must be carefully guarded against. Almost all the countries, when they go into expanding their military establishments, do it on the grounds of "national defense." And then, very often, their peoples find themselves involved in wars of offense. A number of influential senators, fearing that our hatred of dictators may reach the hysterical stage, are planning legislation to prevent the imposition of sanctions against any country which does not directly menace us—and to strengthen, not weaken, the terms of the Neutrality Act.

At the same time, sentiment in Congress in favor of rigorous isolation, even from our World War allies, seems to be on the increase. France's continuous series of governmental crises has weakened faith in her ability to hold her place as a dominant European power. And the feeling seems to be growing that the Chamberlain government is adopting certain fascist tactics—such as control of press and radio, and suppression of anti-governmental expressions—which are not in accord with democratic principles.

Biggest debate over details of the armament program is liable to come in considering the proposal that Guam be made a first-class naval base. Some expert think this would be suicidal—Guam is an easy prey for Japan, and if we attempted to defend her, they think, defeat would be inevitable. These experts feel we can defend our own mainland and the Hawaiian Islands—but that is as far as we can go.

BEST METHOD FOR STORING HOME CURED HAMS

The most desirable method of storing smoked hams at ordinary air temperatures is to wrap them in parchment paper and then in flyproof muslin bags. This method prevented infestation from skippers and excluded part of the air and light which hasten the development of rancidity in the fat, in a 3-year test, made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry. Painting the ham bag with a yellow wash and then hanging in a storeroom also prevents infestations from skippers.

Hams coated with a mixture of pepper and molasses were considered to be sweeter and to have a more pungent flavor than others, but there was some loss from skippers. Meat buried in crushed rock salt absorbed too much salt during storage and the lean portion became undesirably dry and tough.

Hams made airtight by the use of heavy coating of paraffin or stored in rubber bags all spoiled. Most of this spoilage was on the surface, but the meat was considered unfit to use. Mold developed on all of the hams regardless of the method of storage. During damp weather the growth was extensive, and during dry periods much of it disappeared.

EARLY HATCHED CHICKS PAY BEST, RECORDS SHOW

Tennessee farm flock records kept by flock owners during the past eight years, show that one of the best ways to increase the poultry income on the average farm in Tennessee is through early hatching—February and March—states A. J. Chadwell, U-T Extension poultryman.

Early pullets are the best producers of fall eggs and according to the records there is a close relation between fall egg production and profits for the year.

"When we first began to analyze farm flock records we were surprised to find that the hatching date had so much influence on profits for the year, but when we consider the whole poultry situation it is easy to see why the time of hatching plays such a large part in the poultry income," he said.

Records of 115 commercial poultry farms show that February hatched pullets produced eggs in one year valued at $5.47. March hatched pullets, $4.91; April, $4.10; May $3.60. The average annual egg production of the pullets in the different groups was practically the same but the early pullets laid more eggs in the fall when prices were high.

Brooder houses, brooders and drinking vessels should be repaired and thoroughly cleaned before the brooder season starts. Where possible the brooder house should not be used by chicks or the laying flock during the past year and where suitable green feed will be available.

Ask your county agent or write the U-T Agricultural Extension Service, Knoxville, for a copy of Publication 155, "Care and Feeding of Baby Chicks."

Fulton High Wins Two Over Clinton

In a game filled with fouls the Bulldogs defeated the Central High School team from Clinton 29-15 Tuesday night. Referee Nailling kept a close watch on both teams and called a very close game. In the first period Peoples of Clinton scored a foul shot and was followed by Rogers scoring from an open position. Batts then scored the only goal for Fulton in the first quarter. In the second period the scoring increased with Brady making a foul shot, Thomas scoring a quick field goal, and Brady fouling Morris who made good his shot. Morris then scored another foul shot. Thomas again hit the basket with two successive quick shots. As the result Fulton held the lead with a 9-3 score at the half.

Action again decreased in the third period for Dalton and Batts scored two field goals, the only scoring in that quarter. In the final period Thomas began the scoring with another ringer, followed by a goal by Morris and another by Rogers. Williams scored two points then Rogers added three points to Clinton's score. With Batts field goal and Williams foul shot the game ended with the Bulldogs the victors. The line-up was as follows:

Fulton	Pos.	Clinton
McAlister	G	Rogers 7
Batts 6	G	Byrd
Brady 1	C	Morris 4
Thomas 3	F	Smith
Williams 3	F	Peoples 1

Substitutions: Fulton—Laine, Moss and Dalton. Clinton—Weatherford 3.

In a preliminary game the Bulldogs defeated the Clinton second team 25-16. McClellan was high point man for Fulton with eight points and Cried for Clinton with six points.

HIGHEST FIRE LOSSES IN FIVE YEARS

The fire demon is on the rampage again in America. Losses are highest in five years. More homes are going up in smoke. More business establishments are giving up to their arch enemy—fire. And this means that more workmen are losing their jobs.

In eight of the twelve months of the past year there was a definite increase in the fire losses. For 1933 the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports an increase of more than $17,000,000 over 1932. This is a serious rise in the nation's fire waste—all the more serious because the record shows a more rapid gain in loss in recent months.

Everyone hears of the fire tragedies that wipe out whole families and cause such terrible suffering. What they apparently do not realize is that these unfortunate happenings are multiplied throughout all of America until the annual toll of fire in human lives reaches 10,000 with double that number seriously injured! What a price to pay for carelessness and lack of information about common fire dangers!

With such a record, no one has the right to think that fire will never reach them or their loved ones. Take steps to banish this destructive force before it is too late. The best way is through information and eternal vigilance. Search out the fire dangers in your home and place of business and eliminate them. Then be on guard continually.

In this way America can stop the increase in fire losses—both in lives and property.

Because automobile drivers in the country have been aroused to the need of safe driving, America reduced its automobile fatalities in 1933 by at least 7,500. Accurate figures are not yet available but the first 11 months of 1933 showed that reduction.

All you readers have helped to establish this fine record. The saving of 7,500 lives proves that by concentrated effort a further reduction is possible in 1934.

That is your job Safety is an individual problem. States, counties and cities can inaugurate safety programs but actual application of safe driving is the responsibility of the man behind the wheel.

Safety is 99% common sense—accidents are 99% thoughtless hurry.

It's smart to drive carefully.

"FOR BETTER TIMES"

The Association of American Railroads has issued a booklet entitled "For Better Times—A Square Deal in Transportation," which should be read by every citizen. It offers a complete and exhaustive plan for solving the transportation problem—and it is interesting to observe that this plan is almost identical with that proposed by the impartial committee of six appointed by the President of the United States, which recently made its report.

The Association's program in brief, advocates:

1. Commercial transportation by highway should be required to pay its own way—which means paying in a fair share of the cost of building and maintaining highways, as well as a proper share of the general taxes which support government.

2. Commercial transportation on improved inland waterways should pay tolls sufficient to meet operating costs, which are now borne by the taxpayers, who in effect, are subsidizing the shippers.

3. Every form of commercial transportation should be subjected to equal regulation, administered by the same public body or bodies.

4. The obsolete existing rate-making rule, which now applies only to the railroads, should be replaced with a fair rule applying equitably to all carriers alike.

5. The equally obsolete long-and-short-haul clause of the Interstate Commerce Act, which also applies only to railroads and not their competitors, should be replaced.

6. Operation of the Federal Barge Lines, which was started as a five-year experiment 14 years ago and has caused millions in deficits to be paid by the general taxpayers, should be discontinued.

7. The law governing consolidation of railroads should be revised so as to allow the lines to work out practical consolidation plans—which would be subject, of course, to the approval or disapproval of public regulatory authorities in each case.

A number of other proposals, some of a technical nature, are also offered, but those briefed represent the high spots. As the Association says, "Our railroads ask for an even break—that's all." The fact that they have been getting an uneven break for many years is responsible for the decline in railroad employment, for the decline in employment in industries depending on railroads for orders, and for the great reduction in railroad purchasing. In brief, it has been responsible for much general depression. Railroad revival would help revival of all business.
