BASERAILL, BAILIN

A baseball bargain

Jedding from the Navy, I notice there has been a recent activity and interest in baseball among the veterans and their wives. It seems that some veterans have started playing baseball again, possibly as a form of exercise or a way to reconnect with their former lives. There is also a growing interest in baseball among their families and friends, who might have attended games before the war. This could be a positive sign of how baseball is being used as a way to promote physical health and social interaction for veterans returning home.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The President has reminded the nation of its responsibilities, and at the same time taken every precaution to prevent a repetition of the panic of 1907. He has emphasized the importance of a strong and stable currency, and has urged that with international trade and finance, a strong and stable currency is necessary.

During the past year, public confidence has been maintained by the sound economic policies of the government. The national budget, which in 1906 was in deficit, was balanced in 1907.
