Fine Program Over WOBT

One of the best features lately over Radio Station WOBT, Union City, was the Browder Milling Co., program, Friday evening. The musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental were enjoyed by radio fans, also the talk by Mr. Joe Browder.

The Browder Milling Company, you know, is a Fulton institution and the progressive spirit displayed is only in keeping with the higher ideals of the Browder Brothers, whose products the past twenty years have been a leading factor in placing Fulton on the map in big letters. They manufacture a high-grade of flour and mixed feeds second to none. No firm in town has contributed more to the prosperity of Fulton and surrounding country than the Browder Milling Company. They maintain a good market at all times for products of the farm and thousands are attracted here from far and near to market their grain.

While Messrs. Joe and Enoch Browder are engaged in the milling business, they are also largely interested in farming and promoting dairying. It is an inspiration to visit their farms and see the fine pure-bred Jerseys. Naturally, they have a kindly feeling for their fellow farmers and cattle raisers and take a keen interest in 4-H club work.

WHAT IS A KENTUCKY BLUE RIBBON SCHOOL CHILD?

Bureau of Maternal and Child Health State Board of Health of Kentucky

The Kentucky Blue Ribbon school child who is to receive his Blue Ribbon on May Day—Child Health Day, is not necessarily a perfect child. He may have some defects that have not been, or it may be, cannot be corrected. But on the five physical points of the standard, any defect found must be corrected. These points are:

First—Normal Weight: He must not be more than 7 per cent under, or not more than 20 per cent over the average weight for his height and age.

Second—he must have Good Posture: That is, the chest must be carried up, the chin in, the abdomen flat, and the back straight.

Third—the Teeth must be clean and free from decay, cavities and gumboils. This refers to "baby" teeth as well as permanent teeth.

Fourth—the Throat must be free from diseased tonsils. Nothing harms a child more than diseased tonsils. They should always be removed.

Fifth—the child's eyes should be tested to see if he can read at least the line marked "30" on the eye testing card, when standing 20 feet distant from the card. If he cannot, a physician who examines eyes and prescribes glasses should be consulted and his advice followed. If the child already wears glasses, his eyes should be tested to find if his glasses are adjusted, as far as possible, to relieve his defects.

Remember, even though all his defects have been corrected, the child may not be a perfect child, for he may still have other defects. However, it has been found in the examination of many thousand children, that these five points are the most prevalent defects, and the ones that most handicap the child, and that if they are corrected and his health habits are good the child's general health improves.

In addition to these five points, he must be protected from smallpox by a satisfactory vaccination scar; if under ten years of age, he must be protected against diphtheria by Toxin-Antitoxin; and he must generally observe the good health habits.

Let us have as many Blue Ribbon Children on May Day, 1930, as possible. The time to begin is NOW!

PALMORE SUBMITS REPORT TO PROBE EDDY AT FRANKFORT

Says State Owes $13,696,000 to Various Counties for Highway Work

Elliott County Man Says He and Others Paid Money to Governor's Brother

Frankfort, Ky., March 3.—Obligations of the state highway commission for county road work were placed at $13,696,300 in a report submitted today by H. D. Palmore, state highway engineer, to the joint legislative committee investigating the highway department.

The obligations, Palmore's report said, are for county money that has been advanced for road construction, or on agreements by the commission to do certain work. Construction and reconstruction figures only are given in the report. Maintenance figures are not included.

An assertion that the report was incorrect at least insofar as it referred to Madison county was made before the committee by one of the five witnesses who testified today. J. G. Baxter, county treasurer, said the commission is indebted to Madison county in the amount of $60,000 even though the report indicates there is no obligation.

The other four witnesses today testified regarding an offer of $2,500 to John Sampson, brother of the governor, to use his influence in the building of a road in eastern Kentucky; alleged coercion to force highway employees to join the Kentucky Progress Commission; and alleged political methods and unlawful acts of officials of the highway department.

The highway engineer's report of obligations of the highway commission listed the following sums due various counties:

Caldwell, $17,600; Calloway, $136,000; Carlisle, $43,000; Christian, $9,000; Fulton, $29,000; Graves, $340,000; Hickman, $320,000; Marshall, $30,000.

Jasper Fannin, Elliott county, told the committee of an offer of $2,500 made by him and others to John Sampson if the governor's brother would use his influence to have the Rodburn-Sandy Hook road built along the route they desired. Fannin said they first gave $300 to Sampson, and later gave him $200 or $300, "and then we did not hear any more from him."

The road, Fannin said, was built along a longer and more sparsely settled route than the people in Elliott county wanted.

W. E. McAllister, Danville, former maintenance supervisor of the highway department, testified regarding his dismissal, and relative to the manner in which he joined the Kentucky Progress Association. McAllister said he was told by Ben Herndon, Danville, campaign manager for Gov. Sampson, that he could not do anything to keep McAllister at work "because we are in the saddle now and we are going to ride." McAllister testified that J. S. Watkins, former highway engineer, told him that he had been "held on as long as possible, and they'll kick me out if you stay in." After appealing to the governor, McAllister testified the governor told him to "turn over" his position to L. C. Green, Republican, who succeeded him.

Ben Johnson, Bardstown, former chairman of the highway commission, testified regarding "concealment" methods used by the commission while he was a member.

Extensions of time were granted contractors, Johnson said, allowing them to finish their work without being subject to the $30 liquidation damages for work not finished according to schedule. In other instances, he said, the working orders would not be sent out until days after the contractor actually had started work. Liquidated damages also were cancelled, Johnson asserted, despite the constitutional clause that prohibits any state official or the legislature from remitting a debt owed the state.

High School Notes

Beginning Thursday evening at six o'clock, the big tournament will continue until Saturday night. Fulton will be the host of some 250 players and coaches at that time, to say nothing of the 1500 fans and supporters who will probably attend the meeting. This is one of the big athletic events of this section of the country and as such will no doubt be well attended.

The following calendar for commencement has been announced by Miss Royster, the sponsor of the senior class:

Senior Play—May 9.

Junior-Senior Banquet—May 13.

Baccalaureate Sermon—May 18.

Class Day—May 21.

Commencement—May 22.

The senior class will be busy during the next few days getting their pictures made or the big senior picture which will take its place along with the others in the lower corridor.

Dr. Graff and Miss Housewald, health officials, are delivering a series of health lectures each week before the domestic science classes.

Miss Alta Lee, state supervisor of Home Economics, was the guest of the high school department of Home Economics recently.

Grade cards for the 4th term will be given out next Monday, we are informed.

At the tri-county tournament held in Bardwell last week the Fulton High Girls' team was the runner up for tournament honors, defeating Clinton and Cunningham and being defeated by Bardwell. The Lady Bull Dogs were awarded a silver loving cup.

Grace Hill was awarded the gold basket ball for being the best individual player in the tournament. The votes for her lacked only one of being unanimous.

CITY COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION MONDAY NIGHT

Contract Signed to Supply South Fulton with Water

The South Fulton City Council met Monday night with the Fulton City Council, and after a brief discussion the water agreement between the two towns was again signed for a two-year period. There had been some argument about the matter, but it was finally settled on the same terms that have prevailed for the past two years.

An ordinance to fix fees for peddling was also adopted. City Attorney Frank Carr also announced that he had prepared a franchise looking toward the coming of gas to the city.

PAYING THE INVESTOR

Justice to the railway investor is the plea of L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central System, in his March letter to the public on railway affairs.

"Everyone who ships or travels sees the employees who operate the railway plant and realizes that they must receive their pay," writes Mr. Downs. "So, too, in a general way does everyone see the coal burned, the other supplies consumed, the taxes paid. Not everyone realizes, however, that every item in the plant which is being used is the result of someone's toil or self-denial and that therefore the plant, too, deserves its pay."

Human effort is represented in the railway plant, and its wage is as important as any. Mr. Downs contends. Every tie, every rail, every spike stands for the investment of money; a piece of track may be said to contain, under the appearance of steel and wood, the slowly accumulated savings of many individuals.

Looked at that way, Mr. Downs concludes, the railway plant is at once conceded to be deserving of its pay. Moreover, upon the reward which railway capital receives depend the future advancement and improvement of the railway plant.

A DANGEROUS MOVE

What promises to become a nation-wide problem is being uncovered in a number of states. It is the growing determination of many factory owners to discharge all workers who have reached the age of 45 years.

The seriousness of this new move is readily apparent. There are in the industries of this country thousands of men and women over 45 who are giving service that cannot be duplicated. Yet as new and improved machinery is installed, younger workers are brought in to operate it and the cry of "fire at forty-five" is spreading among industrial leaders.

We don't need to go away from home to find out how senseless such a rule really is. Just look around Fulton and you'll quickly see what havoc would be wrought if workers were forcibly retired when they reach the age of 45. Scores of men, combining skill with the experience a younger worker cannot boast, are doing work at 45—and even 50 and 55—that those on the sunny side of 30 cannot do as well. We are glad to note that in several sections public sentiment has arrayed itself against such a deplorable move as that to limit the age of industrial workers. We hope these protests grow into a perfect storm. For it's a sad state of affairs when any man or set of men falls into the belief that the experience of years counts for nothing, or that a man lost his usefulness as a worker when he has passed the forty mark.

THE AUTO-RADIO WAR

Fulton motorists who keep posted on the new wrinkles in the auto world, and who have noted the move to equip cars with radio sets, will be interested to know that this latest big of equipment is about to open up a nation-wide argument. Already New Hampshire and Massachusetts are refusing to issue license tags to those whose cars are equipped with radio sets. They go on the theory that radio might divert attention from driving and cause accidents; they argue the driver needs to give his entire attention to his car, instead of dividing it between the road and a radio set on instrument board. On the other hand, Connecticut has refused to endorse such a ruling. Other states are expected to take up the subject in short order, and then the Auto Clubs may be counted on to get into it. So it looks as though motorists are going to have something to talk about this season besides body designs, horsepower and mileage.

A BIG POTATO YEAR

Regardless of how we may fare as to other agricultural products 1930 promises to be a big potato year. Farmers intend to plant a larger acreage than they did last year, it is indicated by the U. S. Agricultural Bureau. Intended acreage is estimated now at 3,570,000 for harvest next fall, with the average yield expected to be 118 bushels per acre. The quantity of potatoes held by growers and local dealers in the 35 late-potato states on January 1, available for sale, was smaller than last year. In the 19 northern states usually having a merchantable surplus for shipment, merchantable stocks were materially below last year, except holdings in Maine and Washington, and in the 16 "deficient" states stocks were only 47 per cent of the unusually heavy holdings last year, the Bureau says. So the 1930 crop is going to be heavy. All of which ought to be good news to the man who feels that if he has plenty of potatoes on the table the rest of the meal will take care of itself.

THE FRUIT CROP

Reports that much fruit was killed in various sections of the country by the severe winter weather of January are sure to create widespread regret. There has long been an understanding with housewives around Fulton that a good year meant a prosperous year generally. Of course, housewives in other sections have so considered it. For that reason reports that peach buds were killed through the Ohio valley; that the entire Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri fruit crops will be curtailed, and that East and South cannot hope for a bumper crop, come as disagreeable news. It's a little too early to definitely determine the extent of damage, and reports may be somewhat exaggerated. Mother Nature has a way of working miracles when we are least expecting them, however, so it seems that the best we can do is hope that she'll work one in such a way that every part of the nation will be blessed with an abundance of fruit.

"PLAYING HOOKEY"

Statistics show that 90 per cent of the criminals of today start on their criminal career by absenting themselves from school or, as older residents around Fulton would define it, by "playing hookey." This beginning of waywardness develops until a crime is committed, and then the youth is sent to a reformatory, or penitentiary, where the state seeks to reform him.

Social service workers and school teachers who have made a study of the subject are convinced that very often the trouble is in the home, instead of in the child. Too often parents minimize the importance of education, and display an utter lack of interest in school work. As a result, the children are led to believe that securing an education really means nothing to them, and instead of being encouraged or forced to look upon it as the most serious thing in life they are permitted to have their own way about school attendance.

We seldom hear of a deliberate case of truancy in this community. For that we are thankful. But it is a subject that parents should not overlook; the seriousness of truancy must be constantly impressed upon the mind of every child who shows a tendency to slight school work. It is only through the education of the boy and girl of today that we can hope to maintain a high standard of citizenship in the community in the years to come.

ADOPT ROAD PROGRAM

Hickman, Ky.—A complete program of road improvement for Fulton county was adopted by the Hickman Lions Club, and the road committee, consisting of E. J. Stahr, W. A. Johnston and T. T. Swayne, were instructed to work with County Judge McMurry on both county and state road projects. Because of the uncertainty of the situation in regard to the state highway department, the committee was instructed to get in touch with Highway Commissioner Craig in regard to the Hickman-Union City road, which the highway department had agreed to build this year.

MAN ACCUSED OF HOLDING UP UNDERWOOD NOW IN JAIL

Horace Stiles, white man, was tried Saturday morning in Judge Taylor's court, on a charge of highway robbery, and was bound over to court under a bond of $500. He was taken to Hickman to be held in jail to await the action of the circuit court.

Lesson for March 9

THE PARABLE OF THE SOWER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:1-23.
GOLDEN TEXT—Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Hearers and Doers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Hearers and Doers.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Giving Heart to Jesus' Teaching.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Take Heed How Ye Hear.

In this thirteenth chapter of Matthew the "mysteries" of the kingdom are unfolded. By "mysteries" in the Scriptures is meant truth undiscoverable by human reason, made known by revelation. The seven parables of this chapter set forth in a most graphic manner the admixture of moral and spiritual affairs in the world between Christ's ascension and return to the earth.

I. The Sower (v. 3).
The sower is not named in this parable. In the parable of the wheat and tares, the sower is the Son of Man (v. 37). It is evident that the sower in this case is the Lord Jesus Christ. Through the centuries He has been sowing the seed of divine truth by means of prophets, apostles and ministers.

II. The Kind of Soil (vv. 4-8; 19-23).
The soil is the human heart (v. 19). The seed sown is the Word of God (v. 19). The difference of results lies in the condition of the soil, which in turn is the state of the human heart. Notwithstanding the faithfulness of the sower and the purity of the seed, the results of preaching God's Word depend upon the condition of the human heart. This parable reveals four kinds of soil or hearers.

1. The wayside, or hard-hearted hearer (v. 4, cf. v. 19).
The wayside means the track beaten down by the hoofs of animals and the feet of men. Because the soil was unbroken and uncultivated the seed could not get beneath the surface, therefore was devoured by the fowls. The great truth taught is that the heart unbroken and hard is not favorable soil for the gospel.

2. The stony places, or superficial hearers (vv. 5, 6, cf. vv. 20, 21).
This means stones with a thin layer of soil upon them. Under such conditions the seed springs up quickly, but likewise withers quickly. Hearers so superficially impressed receive God's Word with joy, but when persecution and trials come they are not able to endure.

3. The thorny ground, or pre-occupied hearers (v. 7, cf. v. 22).
In this case the ground is good, mellow enough and of sufficient depth, but has thorns in it. Such really hear the Word of God, but the cares of this world and the lusts of other things, entering in choke the Word and it becomes unfruitful (Mark 4:19).

Many are the "thorny ground" hearers of this age. The good seed cannot mature because (1) of worldliness. Men and women are completely absorbed in the things of business and are burdened with care. (2) The deceitfulness of riches. Anxious care in business brings riches to many. The effect of riches is to blunt the spiritual perception of men. (3) Lusts of other things entering in. This means the pleasures of life. All these things choke the Word of God. Many of the enjoyments of the world may be innocent in themselves, but they attract so much attention and consume so much energy and time that one has no time for Bible reading, meditation and prayer.

4. The good ground, or fruitful hearers (v. 8, cf. v. 23).
"But other fell into good ground and brought forth fruit." This ground differed from all the rest. It was mellow, deep and moist, therefore it was capable of bringing forth fruit, a hundred, some sixty and some thirty fold. In the measure that the heart is kept free from worldliness, riches and pleasures, the good seed matures.

III. The Purpose of Teaching in Parables (vv. 10-17).

There is much misapprehension concerning teaching in parables. The parabolic method of teaching makes clear the truth to those that love it, but conceals it from those who have a distaste for it. Jesus did not teach by parables till the rulers had set their hearts against Him. When in the light of His miracles and wonderful works they turned against him and attributed His works to the devil, He denounced them in the most scathing terms and began to teach in parables. In fulfillment of the prophecy of Isaiah (Matt. 13:14, 15; cf. Isa. 6:9, 10).

God Ever Ready to Protect
God often strikes away our props to bring us down upon his mighty arms. What strength and peace it gives us to feel them underneath us! Far as we may sink, we cannot go farther down than those stretched arms.—Doctor Cuyler.

HIGH TYPE BASE TO BE PLACED ON MAYFIELD ROAD

Craig Says Announcement of Retread Selection Was Made in Error

The Paducah-Mayfield road will be constructed of high type base and surfacing and not retreaded as indicated in previous announcements emanating from the highway commission's offices, Commissioner Con W. Specifications are being drawn now for the road and will be ready for bids at an early date, Mr. Craig added. Press dispatches of last week indicated the road was to receive retread treatment with rock and tar binder.—Paducah Sun-Democrat.

BELOVED YOUNG WOMAN PASSES AWAY

The death of Mrs. Earl Meadows at her home near Crutchfield early Tuesday morning cast a gloom of sorrow over the entire community in which she lived. She is survived by her husband, two small children, her parents, three brothers and three sisters.

Science Plays Its Part

THE annual convention of the National Canners' Association will be held in the gigantic Hotel Stevens in Chicago from January twentieth to January twenty-fourth, and the annual conventions of the National Food Brokers and Canning Machinery and Supplies Association will be held there at the same time. This triple event is of great interest to the general public because the consumption of canned foods in the United States is growing by leaps and bounds.

A Clearing House
More than seven thousand persons interested in commercial canning gathered at these conventions which were held in the same place last year, and there was a huge exhibit of all the marvelous mechanical devices which have been invented to make commercial canning safe, sanitary and inexpensive.

Every phase of the canning industry is discussed during these four days, and there are many addresses by eminent scientists who have been drawn into this great industry to contribute their quota of knowledge as to the best possible ways of processing canned foods.

Among the speakers at this convention last year were representatives of the Institute of Economics of Washington, D. C., many from the various scientific divisions of the United States Department of Agriculture, of Purdue University Agricultural Station, of Iowa State College of Agriculture, of the University of Maryland, of Michigan State College and many scientists in the employ of the extensive Research Laboratories which the National Canners' Association maintains in Washington, D. C., and in San Francisco, Calif.

Brieflets

No one ever saw a Fulton woman really excited unless they happened to be around when discovered a bed bug that had dropped in for a little free board.

If you monkey with a buzzsaw you may be compelled to write shorthand the rest of your days.

It has always been our belief that too much sympathy is wasted on early birds and hen-pecked husbands.

Nowadays the Fulton girl who wants to marry a man to reform him certainly has a lot of material to pick from.

A well informed man is one who knows just what stage the Senate has reached in its discussion of the tariff.

Man may be the efficient sex, but he can't undress by merely bending over and shaking himself.

You can't wonder at the dumbness of Fulton kids if they have parents dumb enough to blame it on the teacher.

Another quick way to take a course in the school of experience is to cash a check for a stranger.

It isn't hard to tell the denomination of currency in the dark. Only the one dollar bills are fully coated with automobile grease.

A good way for any married man in Fulton to acquire happiness is to learn how useless it is for him to make house-cleaning suggestions.

There's another advantage in being poor. If you die suddenly nobody howls to have the estate audited.

There'll never be equality in marriage so long as its the wife who has to get up in the middle of the night and get the extra blanket.

Another type we can't warm up to is the Fulton man who thinks his wife got a prize when she got him.

If there's anything easier than a woman's ability to make a monkey out of a man it is fashion's ability to make a fool of a woman.

About the best thing to do, it seems, would be to give Chicago back to the Indians. But not without apology to the Indians.

Now that long dresses have come back in favor, girls around Fulton who want to preserve last summer's model can do so by pasting them in a scrap book.

If St. Patrick really drove the snakes out of Ireland, why not look up his recipe and give it to the Coast Guards of our country?

Approximately 700,000 pounds of tobacco were shipped out of Clay county this year, a new record for that region.

Washington county 4-H club members have 44 beef calves on feed for the 1930 fat stock show and sale at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville.

Several Christian county farmers have enrolled in a 5-acre yield contest, sponsored by the Farm Bureau and the county agent.

The Henderson County Strawberry Growers' Association has disbanded because of small acreage. The H. J. Heinz Company offered 7 cents a pound for preserving strawberries, providing a contract could be made for 50 acres.

The Fleming County Golden Hoof Club made a survey of the county, preliminary to assisting in the enforcement of the dog law.

Owen county farmers report a good lamb crop, following a good season for ewes.

TWO MARTIN MEN USE WEAPONS TO END LIVES.

Martin, Tenn.—After viewing the body of Hugh Rea, 43, carpenter, who shot himself in the chest with a shotgun Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock Bruce Harris, 45, city mail carrier, remarked that Rea "had made a good job of it," then went home and fired a shot into his mouth and died immediately.

Harris' suicide is shrouded in deepest mystery, as the motive is not known. Rea brooded over ill health.

Rea killed himself at his boarding house. He sat down on the bed and placed the shotgun to his breast, the charge entering above his heart. He left a letter to his sweetheart, Mrs. Esther Higgs, but the contents are not known.

Mrs. Higgs is a widow and employed at the telephone office. Mr. Rea has lived near Martin all his life. Friends talked to him on the streets shortly before he went home and shot himself.

Harris finished his mail delivery about 5:30 o'clock, went home, took a bath and ate supper, walked into the bath room and shot himself with a .38 caliber pistol through the mouth. He has been an efficient mail carrier here for years and when he delivered mail at the Griffin Undertaking Company he viewed the body of Rea.

Harris leaves an invalid father, an aged mother, wife and several brothers and sisters.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

Last Saturday there was a poultry association organized at Dresden. We understand it will embrace all of Weakley county.

This is a good move and we wish them success.

We were invited to come over and assist in the organization but were unable to do so.

We have some good news for the 4-H Club members. Mr. Burns, manager of the Swift & Co. plant agrees to furnish settings of eggs for members free.

The only string attached to this donation is that each member who receives a setting of eggs shall give the Swift & Co. this fall one pullet or cockerel to pay for the eggs.

This is a very good offer and includes the following breeds:

Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds and Orpingtons.

Another offer is one from the Fulton Hatchery. Mr. Drew, the manager, offers to hatch a tray of 112 eggs for $3.00 or a half tray of 60 eggs for $1.50.

He also agrees to sell baby chicks to club members for $10.00 per hundred. Both of these offers I consider real bargains.

By the time you people are reading this column I will be closing my first rabbit show as a superintendent. This is something new to me; I miss the cackle of the hens, and am not collecting any eggs. (You know rabbits only lay eggs for Easter.)

Well, the ice is broken, we have received membership from six poultry breeders, and are now waiting for the other 94.

The poultry show this year promises to be the Biggest Ever and it will take the support of 100 bonifide poultry raisers to put it over. So if you believe in advancing the poultry interests in this locality, come on in and sign up.

We want 100 juniors, and we want each one to enter their stock. I want 750 chickens entered in the open class and 250 entered by 4-H club members.

This will put 1,000 entries in our show and that will make it the best in the world.

Shooting high, aint I? Why not?

I was in the receipt of a letter last week from the president of one of the big fairs in Illinois, which made me feel quite "puffed up." The letter follows:

Feb. 20, 1930

Mr. J. T. Watkins, Fulton, Ky.

Dear Sir:

It has come to my attention the wonderful work you have done in your county, boosting the poultry show at your fair.

I was wondering if we could get you to come up here and wake the people up and give us a real live poultry show.

Our show has run down terribly and we need some one of your caliber to start it back to where it belongs. Let me hear from you soon as you can as we are anxious for you to come and we will be behind you to the limit.

Yours respectfully
Such boosts as that makes a fellow feel real good even if it does come from outside, but "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country."

Remember we want 100 Standard Bred Fowls on every farm; and we want to make Fulton county the BEST poultry county in the state. To do this we must eliminate ALL the scrubs and replace with standard bred stock.

NOTES BY COUNTY AGENT

Select and Test Your Seed Corn Now

This is a mighty good time for every farmer in Fulton County who expects to grow corn to select and test his seed. The amount of good seed corn this year will be very limited due to late maturity last year and again due to the extremely cold weather this winter. Much corn that we thought good to plant will not germinate. The germs are dead. How can we tell which seed will grow and which will not? Run a germination test. Select the best ears you can find then take three or more kernels from different parts of the ears, and sprout them in moist sand or in a damp cloth rolled into what is commonly known as a rag doll tester. By number the ears and kernels it is very easy to pick out those ears that will grow and save to plant.

It is a very expensive bit of experience to plant a lot of inferior seed and have the work to do over or else have such a poor stand that the yield will be cut from a fourth to half. A few hours spent now in testing seed while we are not so busy will save dollars and days in the rush season.

Use Care in Buying Clover Seed

The wise farmer knows his clover seed before he sows it. Last year was a good clover seed year and because of that fact the largest crop of seed in years was harvested. This crop was not only our largest in years but in most cases it was the most inferior. Much of the seed is full of harmful weed seed and low in germination, therefore it is a business matter for any man buying clover seed as well as other seed to know what he is buying. Ask for the percentage of germination and purity.

There is enough money thrown away each year by many farmers to lime and fertilize several acres of their farm. Why do it?

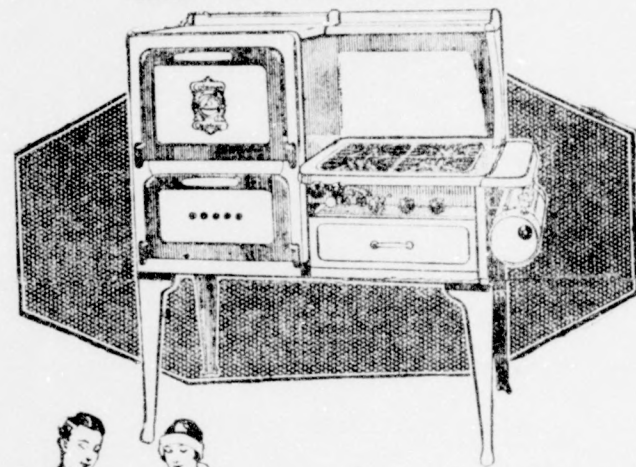

Red clover is one of the very best hay crops and land builders that we have, but red clover will not grow successfully without lime. Before you sow clover seed, first find out whether your soil has enough lime in it. A few acres limed will yield more than many times that many acres unlimed if the soil is sour. Clover seed sown on sour soil is money wasted. Don't trust to luck, it is too doubtful. Your county agent will be glad to test your soil free of charge.

Paying the Investor

The rates and fares which railway patrons pay are distributed three ways by the railway organization. One part, by far the largest, goes to the employees as wages. Another part, the second largest, is spent outside the railway organization for fuel, materials and supplies, other operating expenses and taxes. The third part, the smallest, goes to the owners and other investors in the railway property, their dividends and interest constituting what is practically rent for the use of the plant which they have furnished.

Everyone who ships or travels sees the employees who operate the railway plant and realizes that they must receive their pay. So too, in a general way does everyone see the coal burned, the other supplies consumed, the taxes paid. Not everyone realizes, however, that every item in the plant which is being used is the result of someone's toil or self-denial and that therefore the plant, too, deserves its pay.

It is helpful occasionally to look at a piece of railway track and meditate on what lies back of its construction. Every tie, every rail, every spike represents the investment of money. Here may be found assembled, under the appearance of steel and wood, the slowly accumulated savings of many individuals. A single artery of the nation's commerce may hold within its commonplace form the hopes and the savings of thousands of our people of every degree and locality.

Looked at that way, the railway plant is at once conceded to be deserving of its pay. Human effort is represented in it, and its wage is as important as any. Upon the reward which railway capital receives depend the future advancement and improvement of the railway plant. The needs of the nation cause the railroads constantly to seek greater efficiency. That in turn necessitates added investment, and new investors are difficult, if not impossible, to obtain if their predecessors have had to go unrewarded.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.
