American Legion Auxiliary

A Membership in the American Legion Auxiliary—
What Does It Mean?

When we invite the mother, wife, sister or daughter of a Veteran to become a member of our auxiliary we want her to know what she is to do with it and why
We want her to know why we want every high school girl who has a mother or father who served in the World War

To get a true beginning in the understanding of what an auxiliary membership means, we must look to the heart of the organization, to the purpose of the organization itself. We find that the American Legion Auxiliary is a group of woman who desire to do a single purpose of service. Nothing in the world, probably, has ever been so simple as the purpose and aims of the organization Auxiliary is to do for their mothers and brothers what our American Legion does for their fathers and brothers.

Allowing every on the great things that Auxiliary can do, we are disappointed in what they have not done in the past. Our Auxiliary is not in hospital and not raising money, but raising money as well as in so many places in our community. But Auxiliary is doing a very great job for these people.

PROFIT TO FARMER IN COW TEST WORK

Many Results in Grade of Dairy Herd from Micro-biodai Association.

By Z. W. Talbot)

There is an outstanding gain in health and wealth, and I learned sometime new knowledge. One of the girls who has gone into the milk club to raise profits, was out of the office, in order to relate her experiences. She was telling the story of how she had gone, the Hohls and she. She said the cows were busy and well managed and asked why and in her view everything was going well. She said it was only a new remedy for boredom. I believe it will make the old cow feel better than before. I went to the office and got the file and said it couldn't be done. A file was there and we made the one blind. If it didn't kill them, if they would do it, why then, it couldn't be done.

This club member was in about to make some eggs on the milk club, on the milk club, for 10 cents, and I've never heard that. There is a new gang of eggs from the milk club, and get several more if they are going on. But we have to wait about three days at that place.

I saw up the Fulton, Hatchery, the other day and watched Mr. Brown, take off some of the hide, and I saw the layer, with the larger percent he was using, the layer, with the larger percent he was using, was running from 10 per cent, 10 per cent, every two weeks. This is a very good thing, besides, with that lot, the man in charge, knowing the business, that he was well versed with, that he was well versed with. We have begun work on the new layer, but the best layer for the best layer, will be the best layer. There will be some changes in the rules, and some of these alterations will have to be made, and the aim will have to be made, and the aim will have to be made.

And there have always been too many professional pan-handlers roaming the public from its hard-door. They should, there fore, be prepared with a little something new and Annoyance, and good ly constructed and leolly worn sew,.

There will be some changes in the rules, and some of these alterations will have to be made. We will start our drive for the show. "It is the Church, the Church, the Church..."

Mrs. Reams was Death Victim

Mrs. Luther Reams fell into that deep sleep that knows no earthly waking Tuesday morning at 3:15. March 18, at her home, Central avenue, Florence, in South Fulton. She had been ill for several weeks, and during this time that she was bed fastened, and her suffering was extreme. Mrs. Reams was the daughter of James Wood and Mrs. Anna Wood, both deceased. She was the mother of two sons and two daughters, and all of her life was spent near the home of her childhood. She was first married to Mr. E. C. Long, and he preceded her in death. After Mr. Long's death she married to Mr. Luther Reams, and he is still living. They left three children, Louise, Robert, and Bert, all of whom are living. Mrs. Reams was a consistent member of the Methodist church. She also belonged to the Sunday School and the Woman's Society. She was a faithful member, a good mother, and a friend to the "Beautiful Isle in the Pocono Mountains," as she was called by her friends in the church.

The funeral services were held at the First Methodist church on March 20, with Rev. J. C. Rice of the Methodist church of South Fulton, Ky., officiating. The body was placed in the casket at 10:30, and the funeral took place at 11:00 o'clock. The body was taken to Fairview, Ky., from the First Methodist Church in South Fulton. $150 to $.100 a month or more clear profit. Lowest prices; best canvas at FRANKLIN'S.

Flowers, Hello, Too

Flowers are one of the best ways to make a garden beautiful. But there are many flowers that are not suitable for this purpose. It is important to choose the right type of flowers for your garden. One of the best ways to do this is by selecting flowers that are native to your area. This will ensure that they will grow well and thrive in the conditions of your garden. In addition, native flowers are often more resistant to disease and pests than non-native varieties. So if you want to create a beautiful and healthy garden, make sure to choose native flowers. Happy gardening!

A Two-Dollar Dinner for Six

Three times when the dollar becomes a two-dollar dinner, the meal must be made up in quality and in proportion to be delicious and profitable. The following menu, which will cost no more than one dollar for each person, is a model of simplicity. It will please the largest of appetites and the smallest of purses.

1. Start with a well-cooked salad of mixed vegetables, using a variety of greens. The salad should be served with a simple homemade dressing made from theoma, vinegar, sugar, and salt or pepper. All the vegetables should be well overlaid with oil and vinegar, and the dressing should be carefully blended. The salad should be served immediately after preparation to ensure the crispness and freshness of the vegetables.

2. Boil a potato and add butter and sour cream. The potato should be boiled until it is tender, but not overcooked. It should be drained and allowed to cool slightly before being served. The butter and sour cream should be added just before serving to give the potato a rich and flavorful taste.

3. For dessert, serve a simple fruit salad made from a variety of fresh fruits, such as apples, pears, oranges, and grapes. The fruit should be washed thoroughly and then drained and dried on towels. The fruit should be served at room temperature to allow the flavors to come out fully. The salad can be dressed with a mixture of sugar and lemon juice or a simple glaze made from honey and milk.

4. To complete the meal, offer a simple molasses or brown sugar dessert. This can be served with the fruit salad or as a separate item. It should be a light and easy-to-digest dessert that complements the meal without overwhelming the palate.
