BILL JOHNSON HAS NOVEL INDUSTRY

Fulton has numerous industries, but none like that being operated by Bill Johnson.

He makes anything from a peg leg or casket to the finest cabinet. Bill says that "necessity is the mother of invention," and it was necessity that started him in his present business, just as Dame Fortune has forced changes in the lives of people everywhere in recent years.

Bill, who served overseas during the World War, has traveled about quite a lot, and he can name and identify more different kinds of wood than the average person knows exists. He is a native of the Woodland Mills community, near the Kentucky-Tennessee state line, and for a number of years he was bookkeeper for a wholesale firm in Hickman.

Being a man of initiative and creative ideas, Bill has resorted to sundry and varied methods of earning a living before he took up the carpenter trade. He declares that the most money, for the least amount of work that he ever made was peddling fresh meats door to door. He established a regular route and called on his customers daily. But that job played out when hot weather came, so he had to take up something else.

Now, Bill seems to have found his real niche in life—that of cabinet maker, or manufacturer of unusual and artistic pieces from wood. Many homes in Fulton have some of his handiwork, such as chairs, tables, cabinets, mantle pieces, table and floor lamps, chests, etc. Downtown stores have examples of his counter, showcase, trimmings, etc.

Bill says he has worked on everything from a doll house, church to a factory. He has repaired steamboats, made parts of aeroplanes, peg legs for one-legged people, and a thousand-and-one other things. In his home he has perhaps one of the most interesting of his work.

It is a card table, the top of which is comprised of 826 pieces, beautifully patterned and inlaid. In this top, many kinds of wood from foreign countries have been used, such as ebony, prina vera, zebra, holly, five kinds of walnut, mahogany from Honduras and the Philippines, Japanese maple, avoirdre, satin wood from Ceylon, legnum vita from Africa, Greenheart from South America, oriental wood from Australia. Ivory and mother of pearl are also interwoven in the pattern of the table top, with beautiful multicolored inlaid bandings giving it extra charm. These bandings were made in French penal colonies, one of the largest of which is the famous Devil's Island.

A report was heard on the progress being made in the installation of the new water works and mains in South Fulton. It was decided that an additional $3,000 expenditure will be necessary to lay some more mains in both the east and west districts of South Fulton.

Only eight arrests were made during February, according to J. L. Crockett, recorder. Fines and costs assessed $149.50; taxes collected $1,657.25; license collected $39; total of $6,251.02 in the bank.

KITTY SEASON TO OPEN ON MAY 4

The 1939 Kitty League season will open on May 4th according to the schedule submitted to the club president by Hugh Wise of Owensboro. Wise was chosen by the loop officials to draft a schedule and submit to the various clubs.

The schedule calls for 126 games, with 63 of these to be played in each club's home town. Nine of these games will be played on Sunday. July 12 is the only open date, when an all-star game will be played. The Shaughnessy play-off system will be used.

As the schedule now stands, Fulton will open in Union City on May 4, in a two game series. Then on Saturday, May 6, Fulton will play Paducah a two-game series here.

Directors of the local club believe that Fulton will have a much better team this season, under the set up with the Detroit Tigers.

About 1500 feet of hose will be purchased from the Eureka Fire Hose Company.

This equipment is expected to arrive the first of May.

Actual Construction Work On Dam Starts This Year

Gilbertsville, Ky.—Last week saw the removal of two handicaps that had delayed work on the TVA's $112,000,000 dam project here.

High waters which covered much of the low lands at the site of the dam receded to leave the workers unhampered in their activities, and Congress gave assurance that there will be sufficient funds to begin actual construction on the dam itself in the next fiscal year.

Actual construction on the dam will begin immediately after the $12,503,000 appropriated by Congress last week becomes available July 1. The appropriation, after going from one House to the other now has approval of both. Only the President's signature is lacking for final enactment, and this is expected to be but a mere formality.

Approximately 400 workers are now busy at the Gilbertsville dam site getting ready to begin full operation about July 1. Three hundred of the men are in the preliminary construction department—putting up office buildings, dwellings for the workers who will build the dam, and constructing warehouses.

Clearing of a right-of-way for the TVA hard surface which will be built between Gilbertsville and U. S. Highway 68 was started last week, and actual work of constructing the highway is expected to begin as soon as favorable weather arrives.

The highway will enter U. S. 68 just west of the Birmingham road intersection. Over the road will pass much of the materials which will go into the construction of the 1.6-mile long dam.

Another new activity at the TVA town site was the building of a school house which will be attended by children of the workers. The school will be in the Marshall county system, and is being built by the PWA, but most of the pupils will probably be children of the TVA workers. Transportation for the TVA employees' children of high school will be provided to either Benton or Calvert City high schools.

The effect of the work at Gilbertsville is already apparent here and in neighboring towns. Private construction, added to that of the TVA, has brought a building boom to this section.

CROWD INCREASES AT ATHLETIC SHOW HERE

Increasing interest in the amateur athletic boxing contests here was shown when the gym was packed with an overflowing crowd last Friday night. The club is being operated under the auspices of the American Legion, with Bobby Matthews, promoter.

A number of good bouts were on the card, with boxers from Fulton, Pilot Oak, Mayfield and other points. Herschel Matheny and John Luther, two local boys, showed up well, and fans were enthusiastic about the contests.

PRICE ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS ARE SET

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration this week announced the rates of the price adjustment payments which will be made to producers, who plan their 1939 acreage allotments of cotton, corn, wheat and rice.

The payments will be made on the normal yield of each producer's allotted acreage. The rates announced are: Cotton 1.6 cents per pound; corn, 6 cents per bushel; wheat, 11 cents per bushel.

The Price Adjustment Act provides that these payments will be made on the above basic crops in 1939 if their average farm price is less than 75 percent of parity. Since the 1938 average farm price of each kind of tobacco was above 75 percent of parity, no price adjustment payments will be made on that crop in 1939.

On the basis of the estimated participation in the 1939 AAA Farm Program, the estimated following amounts will be distributed: Cotton, $84,587,000; corn, $61,613,000; wheat $764,113,020. This allocation was made according to the formula established in the Price Adjustment Act, one-half of it on the basis of the amount by which the returns from each commodity failed to reach parity income and the other half of it on the same basis as that on which funds are apportioned under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program. The allocation was made on the basis of average farm prices for the marketing season ending January 31, 1939. The payment rates as announced will be net payments to producers.

Beside the price adjustment payments, producers who cooperate in the 1939 AAA Farm Program and plant within their acreage allotments will receive agricultural conservation payments at rates previously announced.

Counting both price adjustment payments and agricultural conservation payments, the total payments will be made to cooperators on the normal yield of their acreage allotments in 1939 are: Cotton 3.6c per pound; corn (in the commercial corn producing area), 15c per bushel; wheat 28c per bushel. The first payment will be those to winter wheat producers, as their planting in most cases already has been checked for compliance. These payments probably will begin in early spring.

CITY AUTO TAGS ARE NOW ON SALE

The city automobile licenses are now on sale at the clerk's office in the City Hall, K. P. Dalton, chief of police states. Price of the license has been reduced to $3 this year.

ELECTING A NEW POPE

The election of a new pope is always a matter of world-wide interest, but the choice of a successor to Pius XI is also one of grave concern, because of the delicate political situation in Europe. Many believe a cardinal who has not strongly committed himself on totalitarianism and other controversial questions may be chosen, in order to avoid a direct affront to Hitler and Mussolini.

While any adult male Catholic may legally be elected pope, the choice has always fallen upon a cardinal since the year 1378, and since 1532 all popes have been Italians. There is little likelihood that either of these precedents will be broken in 1939.

A two-thirds vote of the cardinals assembled in sacred conclave is necessary to a choice, and after preliminary ceremonies, including high mass, a ballot is taken twice daily until a pope is chosen. Each time that a vote is indecisive, the ballots are burned with straw, which sends black smoke through a chimney of the Sistene Chapel to inform the populace. When a choice has been made, the ballots are burned without straw, the resulting white smoke signifying that a new pope has been elected.

The cardinal selected is then asked whether he accepts, and by what name he wishes to be known. (Cardinal Laurenti refused the office of pope in 1922, and balloting was resumed until Cardinal Ratti, the late Pius XI, was elected.)

After being invested with the pontifical white robe, the new pope appears on the balcony of St. Peter's Cathedral and pronounces a blessing to the assembled throng and to the world.

SUCCESSFUL FEEDING

The successful stock feeder of today is a student—a keen observer who keeps in touch with changing conditions. These changes are largely due to the discoveries in nutrition at our various agricultural experiment stations, declares Lyman Peck, a nutritional expert, in a recent article.

Feeders have long realized that a protein supplement in addition to corn and hay was essential for beef cattle. An important factor developed during recent years, as extensive experiments at the agricultural colleges revealed the superior value of a newcomer, soybean oil meal. Among its advantages enumerated by Mr. Peck are these:

Soybean oil meal is the most highly digestible protein supplement obtainable; it is more palatable and produces faster gains than other protein concentrates, and as a general rule it is more economical to feed.

These advantages apply to all kinds of livestock and poultry, as has been demonstrated in the feed lots of Iowa State College, Ohio Experiment Station, Illinois, Purdue, Cornell and other universities, where scientific feeding is continually studied for the benefit of stockmen and farmers generally.

It Holds a Fortune In Art and Antiques

A real thrill is in store for visitors to Natchez on Florida Central tours during the Natchez Pilgrimages in March and early April in "Arbington," one of the finest of the antebellum houses of which over 40 still he open to the public. Built in 1815, Arbington is a veritable museum of valuable antiques and priceless paintings by old masters.

As an ingredient of mixed feeds, soybean oil meal is rapidly growing in popularity; in fact, its increased consumption in the last few years has been phenomenal.

This demand has greatly stimulated the raising of soybeans, which in several states now constitute a major cash crop.

POISONS EASE PAIN

Now and important developments in the use of poisons for the relief of pain were described by Dr. M. B. Greene of New York in a recent report to a leading scientific body. Among the substances used are the poisonous venoms of rattlesnakes and other deadly reptiles.

The use of such poisons in various ways is not new, but recent improvements in technique promise to be of great benefit to sufferers through "blocking off" certain nerves or sets of nerves, instead of partially deadening the whole nervous system in order to relieve pain in one part of the body.

As a result of years of research and experiments it is now possible to treat extremely painful conditions by injecting the poison in proper doses directly into the nerves of the patient.

These animal poisons are said to be much more effective in allaying pain than opium or morphine, but heretofore they have been administered principally to make easier the last days of sufferers from incurable diseases.

The new treatment is described by Dr. Green as "a fractional method of blocking the nerves either on the side or in front of the spine," with great accuracy in results by deadening individual nerves. This sounds rather mysterious to the layman, but any means of alleviating pain is always welcomed by suffering humanity.

BIRTHDAY OF CONGRESS

For several years the country has been celebrating the 150th anniversary of notable events connected with the founding of the United States as an independent nation, and March 4 will mark the 150th "birthday" of Congress under the Constitution.

The event will be observed by a joint session of Senate and House, with such suitable exercises as may be arranged, including addresses by the President and others.

While March 4, 1789, was the date set for the assembly of the first Congress, in New York City, the new body was unable to begin its work on that date, because the difficulties of travel did not permit a sufficient number of the members to arrive on time. In fact, the two houses were not fully organized until April 6, and President Washington was not inaugurated until April 30.

At the time the first Congress met, only 11 states were represented, as North Carolina and Rhode Island had not yet ratified the Constitution. They were brought into line when the new Congress treated them as foreign countries and levied import duties against their goods.

North Carolina ratified on November 21, 1789, by a vote of 194 to 77. Rhode Island held out until May 28, 1790, and then ratified by the close vote of 34 to 32. There had been bitter opposition to the Constitution in Massachusetts, Virginia and New York, but ratification carried by close votes in each during 1788.

When it began its new national life, the population of the United States was slightly less than four million—almost exactly the same as the present population of Cook county, Illinois.

THINKING MACHINES

For his work in developing an amazing group of mathematical "thinking machines" Dr. Vannevar Bush, new head of Carnegie Institute of Technology, was recently given a cash award of $2,500 by the Research Corporation of New York, a non-profit organization devoted to the advancement of science and invention.

So important is the work of Dr. Bush and his associates considered that a special grant of $45,000 toward its continuance has just been made by the Carnegie Corporation. The machines already developed are capable of solving mathematical problems of the most complicated character in a few minutes, which by former methods of computation would require many months.

One of the machines is known as the "differential analyzer," originally built for the solution of problems in electric power transmission, but which has been found adaptable to almost every branch of science and engineering.

Another is called the "cinematograph," described as being "designed for solving integral equations, evaluating Fourier series, determining correlation coefficients," and other problems understood only by master mathematicians.

These new machines are said to be among the most marvelous ever devised by the mind of man. Dr. Bush, their inventor, who will be 49 years old in March, is a former professor of electric power transmission, and dean of engineering at Boston Tech.

JOBS BEST FARM AID

The National Grange, which claims to be the oldest and largest farm organization in the United States, has long looked with skepticism on most of the panaceas offered by the government under the guise of farm relief.

In a recent statement, Fred Bronckman, spokesman and Washington representative of the Grange, suggested to Congress that the best thing it could do for the farmer would be to solve the unemployment problem. He declared that "there is an interdependence between industry and agriculture that is fundamental and inescapable."

"In considering ways and means of improving farm conditions," he said, "the Grange is of the opinion that one of the most helpful things the government could do would be to restore employment in private industry."

On other phases of the session's problems, the Grange expressed a hope that Congress would overcome "any undue interference from the executive department," abandon the practice of granting lump sum appropriations, reduce the public debt, revise the distribution of relief and let the people know that allotment of funds for federal projects places "a first mortgage on every farm and every home in the land."

Mrs. Howard Davis of Media, Pa., told the court it was easy to keep new furniture in her house. She said her husband always paid a dollar down, let the furniture go back for default, and then started all over again.

A Russian surgeon was sentenced to a year at hard labor for leaving a towel, two feet long, in the body of a man he had operated on and who died later as a result.

Ante-Bellum Days Return to Life

All the characters are here—Black Mammy, Ole Miss and young Miss, the fiddlers and the dancers, cousins and lovers, as a pageant on the steps of "Dunleith" brings back to life the early nineteenth century in Natchez, Mississuppl. White columns, iron grille work, magnolias, and a broad lawn are a sunlit backdrop for the drama, "Dunleith" was built in 1849 by General Charles Dalghren on the site of burned "Routhlands," a mansion whose splendor has become legendary. "Dunleith" is one of a score of ante-bellum homes that will be visited by Illinois Central tour parties through the month of March during the Pilgrimage Week.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is not absorbed in Deity, and man cannot lose his individuality, for he reflects eternal Life; nor is he an isolated, solitary idea, for he represents infinite Mind, the sum of all substance" (page 259.)

Told by a Federal Judge in Pittsburgh that he would be freed on a charge of operating an illicit whisky still if he promised to quit drinking, John R. Gray replied: "Never, sir." He was jailed.

Istanbul, Turkey, has declared it a traffic offense to stop a person in the street and ask for a match.

lege's department of agricultural engineering supplied 1,389 sets of plans upon requests from farmers in 107 Kentucky counties and 23 other states.

Plans for tobacco barns were most in demand, but hundreds of farmers wanted to build poultry houses, hog houses, dairy barns, general barns, storage houses and machine sheds. Reports of county agents showed that more than 6,000 buildings were constructed, remodeled or repaired on Kentucky farms last year.

In the opinion of Prof. J. B. Kelley of the College, Kentucky farmers should spend annually about $17,000,000 in putting up new buildings and in remodeling and repairing old ones. He believes that, in the name of efficiency and better living, thousands of new houses and other buildings are needed, while many more buildings should be remodeled or repaired. Reconstruction of fences also is needed on large number of farms.

In the matter of better equipment, Prof. Kelley notes the need of improved water facilities on large numbers of farms. Inadequate water supply has been especially serious in recent droughts. In an effort to remedy the situation, many ponds and reservoirs have been dug and wells added in the last two or three years.

FRIGIDAIRE Fulton Frozen Food Locker Plant

SAVE ON YOUR FOOD BILLS

THE NEW METHOD is the most modern, most practical and most economical way to store food. Saves canning and curing of meat. Provides strawberries, cherries and other fruit in the midst of winter, practically as fresh as when picked. Sweet corn, peas, beans, roasting ears and many other vegetables are easily kept in a fresh frozen condition in your rented locker.

SAVES MONEY TOO. You get your meat at wholesale prices—or, better still—you butcher it yourself and bring it in. Your savings on just one hog or a half of beef will pay your locker rent for about two years. Saves nearly half on your meat bills. You have fresh meat whenever you want it—and best of all—after you have used this system you will say you have the best meat you have ever eaten.

HERE'S THE SYSTEM. You can butcher any time of year, summer or winter. We shall hang it in the chill room until properly chilled and ready for cutting. We will, for a small charge, cut it in steaks, chops, etc., however you instruct, wrap it in parchment paper and mark it as to contents. We then freeze it very quickly in our "sharp freezer" which is held at below zero temperature. IT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT STEP IN THE PROCESS. We will then put your meat, poultry, fruit, etc., in your locker to which you have your own private key and can take home several days' supply of food at any time.

Popular With Farmers and City Folks Alike

This economical and sensible idea started years ago on the west coast and is now spreading throughout the middle west.

Many thousands of lockers are now in use by both farmers and city people. These Systems are saving them thousands of dollars every year and at the same time they are living much better.

ROASTING EARS FOR CHRISTMAS DINNER—What a treat! Only the refrigerated locker system makes this possible. Just one of the ways the locker renter lives better.

FRIED SPRING CHICKEN IN WINTER—When those spring chickens have their growth and the price is too low to sell, just dress them and put them in your rented locker. Eat them in the winter or sell them when the price is high.

WONDERFUL FOR FISH AND GAME—Store your bag of game or your catch of fish several weeks if you desire. It will provide just the right "something different" for your guests.

A Postage Stamp Per Day

—will provide a Master Refrigerated Locker System space sufficient to hold a hog and a quarter of beef, 75 to 100 spring chickens, or many dozen containers of such delicious items as strawberries, peaches, corn on the cob, asparagus, green beans, peas, etc. A truly great value is made in living!

WHAT FULTON AND FULTON COUNTY CITIZENS SAY ABOUT THE SYSTEM

Through the facilities of the Refrigerator Locker System, we are offered health, economy, convenience and better living. This is another way in which farm life can be made easier and happier.

KATHERINE C. THOMPSON,
Co. Home Demonstration Agent.

For several years I have been giving considerable thought to Locker Refrigeration for the people of Fulton and vicinity. This refrigeration has been successfully carried out up North. I am thoroughly convinced that it would be a great step forward for our county to have one of these plants. I am 100 per cent behind this movement.

S. V. FOY,
Fulton County Agent.

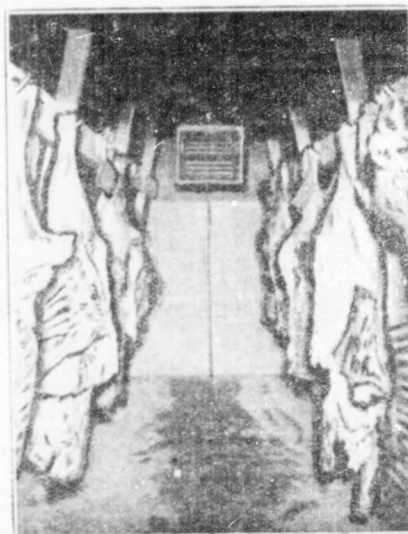

I have made some investigation of the Cold Storage Locker System and am informed that it is working satisfactorily and efficiently in other states. I am of the opinion that it will be a forward and progressive step for this community, and of immense benefit especially to the farmers of Fulton County to have a locker plant installed in Fulton. I heartily commend the efforts being made to place a locker system here.

Fulton County Farm Bureau

THE CHILL ROOM

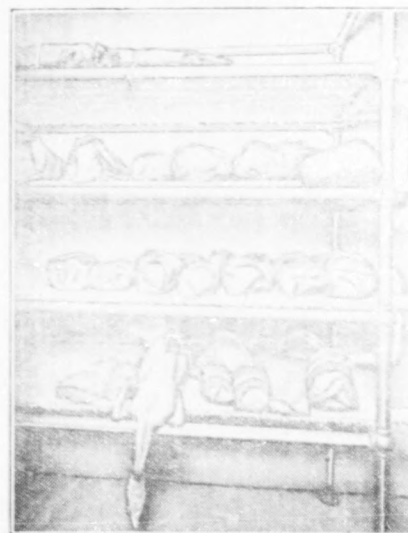

First, it is to the Chill Room that carcass meats are brought for the removal of animal heat and for conditioning. Since this is the primary step in the proper preparation of meats, exact temperature and humidity are maintained. Correct humidity conditions are necessary to keep meats from drying out and discoloring.

THE PROCESSING ROOM

Second, in the Processing Room the carcass meats are prepared to the renter's orders. Here they are cut into steaks, chops and roasts; then wrapped, identified, dated, and stamped with the owner's name or locker number. Any other desired processing operations may be undertaken here, such as making hamburger and sausage.

QUICK-FREEZE ROOM

Third, the processed meats (as well as fruits, berries, vegetables and other items) are brought into the Quick Freeze Room and completely frozen. This freezing preserves the flavor, tenderness and texture of the food products.

THE LOCKER ROOM

Fourth, after being thoroughly frozen, the food products are placed in the proper lockers in the Locker Room. Here is where the foodstuffs will remain in bulk for long periods of time and they are constantly held at sub-freezing temperatures.

Musical organizations of the school will enter a contest in Murray, March 25. The Glee Club and several soloists are planning to go.

Spring football practice will start Monday. Also about six of the students have become interested in track.

There are still prospects of a new school building among the faculty and the board.

TENNESSEE COWS RESOLVE TO KEEP OLD HABITS

Many Tennessee cows which failed to see a pasture improvement program on their owners' Christmas trees took time out New Years to reaffirm their old resolution to spend their days next summer wearing their legs down to their hocks searching for feed and to report at the barn each evening with a half portion of milk, according to C. A. Hutton, U-T Extension Dairyman.

The resolution of the cows is expected to be confirmed by beef cattle and sheep, which will register their disappointment by short-weighting their owners when he sells meat or wool.

The man who trained a cow to eat sawdust while she was wearing green spectacles kept reducing the amount of sawdust until the cow was living on faith. About the time the owner started to celebrate with the money saved by his new feeding method, the cow became non-cooperative and died.

Not all Tennessee cows joined the New Year's resolution. Several dissenting groups are formulating plans to permit them a more efficient use of their time in the pasture fields. A few herds tried to make a deal with fireflies to light up the pasture fields at night, but the fireflies declined because the short grass keeps them flying so close to the ground that the dust stirred up gives them asthma.

The point of this "horse-play" at the expense of the cows is that a lot of Tennessee farmers need to provide better pastures for their livestock, if they expect satisfactory returns, Mr. Hutton states.

AGRICULTURAL STATIONS AID SOIL IMPROVEMENT

CHICAGO.—Benefits obtained from growing soil building crops such as alfalfa, clover and most legumes can be greatly increased by the intelligent use of the correct fertilizer, it is pointed out by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"The average practical farmer realizes that obtaining more humus is not just a matter of sowing seed," the report says. "Clover, alfalfa and most legumes which are able to get valuable nitrogen from the air are sensitive to their soil environment. The problem of getting a stand and a crop worth turning under is simplified if the farmer applies mixed fertilizer of the right analysis."

"Agricultural experiment stations under the direction of capable agronomists are continuously carrying on experiments with the soils of their states and have very comprehensive general reports ready for county agents, active field workers and farmers. They are glad to send them out or to answer any questions sent to them."

FOREIGN NATIONS USE MORE FERTILIZER THAN UNITED STATES

CHICAGO—Nations of Europe use from two and a half to twenty times as much chemical plant food per acre as does the United States for fertilizing crop land and plowable pasture.

"The average for the United States is five pounds per acre," says the report based on international statistics compiled for 1936. "Holland uses 99 pounds of chemical plant food per acre, Belgium 80, and Germany 67. Then come Denmark with 40, Norway with 29, and Sweden with 22 pounds. France uses 21 pounds per acre, Italy 17 and Great Britain 12."

"The rate of consumption in this country is, however, considerably higher than it is in Poland and Hungary which use respectively three and one pounds per acre."

"Soil conservation has been a necessity in Europe for centuries because of the large populations and the relatively small acreage of tillable farm land."

"In the United States millions of acres of farm land have been ruined because of erosion or depletion by cropping. If the nation's greatest resource—the soil—is to be conserved, an ever-increasing program of soil improvement and fertilization must be followed."

EYES ON SOUTH AMERICA

Current efforts to put new life into the Monroe Doctrine are explained by many so-called experts as being necessary to protect United States markets in South America. They point out that approximately 20 per cent of our exports and 22 per cent of our imports are represented by trade with Central and South America.

Another explanation, however, is found in news stories to the effect that the U. S. Navy is seeking new bases in the Caribbean, that American military missions will aid Colombia in improving its defense. Canal will be strengthened. These that fortifications at the Panama and other items indicate a new determination on the part of Uncle Sam that Pan American countries must remain free from non-American influences.

There are grave additional reasons for putting more "pep" into the Monroe Doctrine. While the United States is rich in natural resources, which have insured our success for 162 years, these South American countries, similarly gifted, should be guarded against grasping foreign states. Envious eyes look upon the copper in Chile, or cheaply plentiful that we have had to impose an import tax to protect American production against it; wheat in the Argentine; oil in Venezuela; bauxite in the Guineas, and so on.

Certainly, the United States has much of everything—for peace or war—but in war no nation can have too much of raw materials, and no nation would want an enemy in control of a potential source of supply.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT

JOB

By FACULTY EXPERTS of

The UNIVERSITY of LOUISVILLE

By DR. JACK NEAL LOTT, JR., Dean, School of Law

Contrary to the opinion of many laymen, the legal profession is not made up of a group of courtroom parasites and crooks.

The truth is that the majority of lawyers are scrupulously honest; in many instances, much more so than their clients would have them be. They handle the bulk of their practice within their office walls, and in the role of adviser, counselor, executor, and peacemaker, they help clients avoid law suits and reach agreeable settlements.

With the increase in Federal legislation, there has been a proportionate increase in business for lawyers. The many newly-created boards, bureaus, and agencies demand intelligent legal administration.

Despite the fact that there are approximately 170,000 lawyers in the United States, which would seem a sufficient number to handle the legal business of the nation, it is exceedingly doubtful whether there are enough capable, adequately equipped lawyers to meet present social demands.

In recent weeks the writer has been informed by reliable authority that there is at least one county in Kentucky which has only one lawyer, and several others which do not have an adequate number.

Aside from the practice of law, most people have, for a long time, overlooked the important social and cultural values to be gained from law training. Law is rich in history, economics, psychology, political and all the allied sciences. It is a means through which the social objectives of the scientist are expressed and put into operation.

In the future there will undoubtedly be an increasing number of students in law schools who do not expect to enter the practice. Business leaders, legislators, bankers, political leaders, and government executives definitely need legal training.

The United States Department of Justice agents are required to be graduates in law. For the purpose of raising our national peace officer personnel, legal training is being advocated strongly.

The years immediately ahead will find much work outside of the practice of law to be done by those trained professionally in law.

Missing Text Is Discussed By Evangelist Esquilla

"Men and women in all parts of the Christian world have searched in vain for a text in the Bible commanding the human family to keep Sunday as a Holy day," said Evangelist Esquilla in speaking on the subject of a world-wide search for a missing text. Mr. Esquilla said that for many years there has been a standing offer of $1,000 for the finding of such a text, but no one has ever been able to win it. He said he would like the people of Fulton to search their Bibles to see whether or not they can find such a text and then inform him.

He said that many reasons are constantly being advanced for the observance of Sunday, but no text is produced? Many say the Sabbath has been changed from the Seventh to the First day, but no Bible evidence can they show he declared. Others declare that the Sabbath commandment requires only one day of rest after six days of labor, and hence there has been no change. Some say Sunday is the original Seventh day, while still others declare that Christ sanctified Sunday in commemoration of His Resurrection. But what does the Bible say?

There is only one text in the Old Testament, Gen. 1:5 and eight in the new Testament; Matt. 28:1; Mark 16:1-8-9; Luke 24:1; John 20:1; John 20:19-20; Acts 20:7 and 1 Cor. 16:2, in connection with the record of the first day of the week. But not one of these call it the Sabbath day or commands Christians to keep it.

"Very pointedly then may we ask: Where among these texts can a precept be found for Sunday observance?"

Mr. Esquilla will continue this study tonight.

Sunday Night—"Can you answer it? 'A striking question the Catholic church is asking the Protestant churches and they remain silent.'"

Wednesday Night—"Where are the dead at present. Do they know what is happening in this world? How do they spend their time?"

Friday Night—"Hell, where and what is it? Where is it located? How many people are there at the present? Is the devil in charge?"

The crowds are increasing. Come early and get a seat.

Literature will be sent free upon request, phone 876-J.

UNCLE JIM

The health and prosperity of the nation is dependent on an adequate food supply.

Farmers must receive a fair exchange price for food and fiber if industries expect to sell their products to farmers.

Seed some lespedeza this spring—the seed are plentiful and relatively cheap. It is easily seeded and will grow on most all kinds of land.

If tobacco is to be used in a short rotation, coming on the same land every three years or less, plant a root-rot resistant variety.

Root-rot resistant varieties of Burley tobacco recommended for Tennessee include: Kentucky Experiment Station Numbers 5 and 16, Golden Harvest, Tennessee Golden, and Shipp's Root-rot Resistant.

"Pull a weed and plant a seed." It is now time to plant beets, carrots, lettuce, radish, parsley, parsnip, peas, Irish potatoes, salsify, spinach, tomato seed, strawberry plants, and other garden crops.

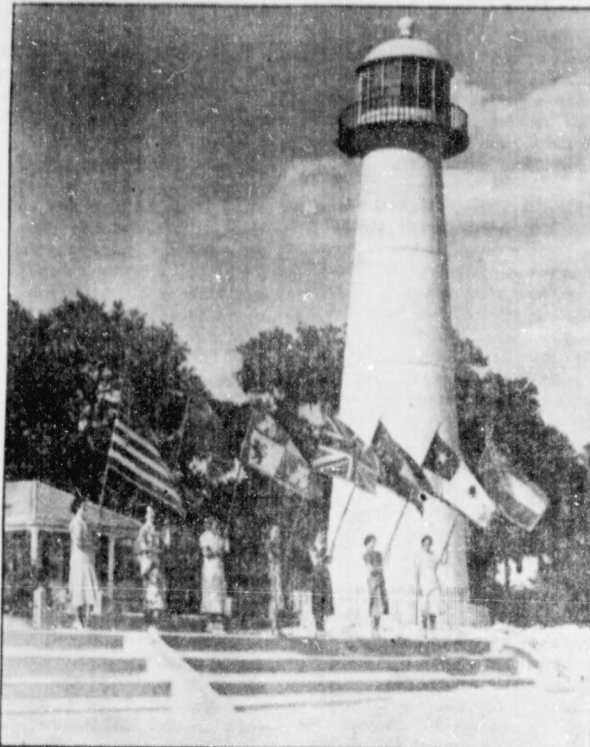

Tests being carried on in all major soil areas of Tennessee indicate that, with the exception of high phosphatic lands, it is almost useless to attempt to establish a good pasture unless both limestone and phosphate are used.

Now that gardening time is here, we suggest U-T, Agricultural Extension Service Publication 207, "A Food Supply Program for Tennessee Farm Homes," for pointers on producing the family food supply at home. Your county agent or home demonstration agent can furnish copies, or write the Agricultural Extension Service, Knoxville.

Our Forefathers Would Oppose Isms

Our forefathers, founder of the United States, would turn over in their graves if they only knew some of the things being allowed to exist in this country under the banner of freedom. Many of these isms are entirely foreign to this nation

Under Seven Flags

Since the day in 1699 when French explorer Iberville first set foot on the shores of Biloxi Bay, claiming the land for France, historic Biloxi has seen seven flags wave over her soil. Forming a colorful picture as their bearers stand ranged before the lighthouse, the flags are (left to right) United States, French, Spanish, British, Confederate, Mississippi Magnolia and the present day Mississippi State. Biloxi today, with Gulfport and Pass Christian, comprises the "beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast," and being only overnight by Illinois Central, is a popular winter resort throughout the Middle West.

as those great men sought to make ours.

The ridiculous mummery of Nazi salutes, Communist clenched fists, shirts of this-or-that color and the goose-gabble of foreign political terminology which seem to be afflicting some of our more childish crowds are quickly exhausting the patience of America.

A characteristic reaction in a typical and patriotic American is well expressed in the words of National Commander Stephen F. Chadwick of the American Legion: "There was a lot of excitement in Madison Square Garden recently. A lot of Nazi revolutionists had their hands up in salute inside and a lot of Communist sympathizers had their fists up outside. My notion is that the American people want none of these handwavers."

America, indeed, doesn't want them, and America should do something to get rid of them. Commander Chadwick has a good plan himself. He advocates deporting not only Communists, but also unnaturalized Nazi Bund leaders in this country.

Commander Chadwick and the fine men he leads should point the way to the proper action. They must help these misguided zealots think, speak and act like Americans.

All things have their place and their proper time. Nazi salutes belong in Nazi countries; Communist salutes should be made in Communist countries.

There is a very good greeting, an old and honest greeting that does belong in America. It is a firm handshake and the word "Howdy."

EARLIER COMMENCEMENTS

It is not merely older manners that are passing; some of our newer one have come and gone like models of automobiles. One of the institutions of our country, of course, is the annual high school or college commencement day. When there were private colleges galore in the state, or at least schools that called themselves colleges, some actual traditions grew up that died with the schools themselves. State-supported high schools have not existed long enough to have developed much tradition.

One I attended a small denominational college, now long dead. It was my first look-in on the big world, and my diary and I had a good time recording all the school happenings. When the school term was over, the commencement was put on in a very dignified manner, even though there were only three graduates. The college band, about a corporal's guard in number, formed the head of a collegiate procession that wound around the campus and into the building. The address was given in great form, in English, but the conferring of the degrees was in Latin, pure Ciceronian, I can assure you. To each of the three girls receiving the diploma the little speech was made, only the name, properly Latinized, being changed each time. I gaped at the odd words and wondered, since my knowledge of Latin had not then begun. It was really dignified and worthy, then as well as in memory.

My own experience as a commencement speaker is now of age, as it began twenty-one seasons ago. Even in that time many changes have occurred in high school commencements. As more than twenty of my hundred and fifty speeches were given in communities that had never had a commencement before, you may know that I have had some interesting experiences. Oddly enough, some of these same occasions were among the most impressive, because of the people who were present. One high school, which is now probably as regularized as most of them, used to have a flower bearer, dressed like the graduate he sat beside, to receive the gifts. These flower bearers were very small children, somewhat like the tots used in elaborate weddings. Ordinarily they had plenty of work to do, for presents fairly flowed in. At other high schools the ushers came up after the ceremony with the gifts, sometimes with a considerable flourish. As for that, when I graduated from a junior college, the same practice was in vogue. I can still recall how left-out I felt, for none of my family could come so far to my graduation, even though they had sent appropriate gifts through the mail.

Some of the commencements had the air of a funeral. Tears were common, on the faces of the graduates and in the voices of the numerous speakers, including the distinguished gentleman who had come by train or boat or buggy to deliver the chief address of the time. On one such occasion I shocked the audience, who had wept through a long harangue on "Mother," tearfully given by the valedictorian, by saying that it was not a tearful but a joyful occasion. I have not yet been invited back to that high school and may not ever be.

There were no caps and gowns in those days; it almost broke up the poor fathers to dress up their children sufficiently to make the proper impression. In general, I must confess that our present-day graduating exercises are more dignified, if more regular, than those of other times.

TIMELY TOPICS

Curb service by a fire department is unusual, but it was given John Winter, at St. Charles, Mo., when his trailer caught fire from a charcoal heater. Winter stepped on the gas and pulled up at the fire station a short distance away, where firemen quickly put out the blaze.

For several weeks the organ in Trinity Chapel at Buckingham, Pa., gave out discordant sounds, which finally led to investigation by a repair man. Inside the instrument he found a nest occupied by a family of eight chipmunks.

Knowing their pastor's fondness for hunting, the Baptist congregation at Wewoka, Okla., gave the Rev. T. G. Nanney a shotgun. On his first expedition he killed 37 rabbits, with which he prepared a feast for the donors of the gun.

An enviable record for safety is held by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, which has carried 178,244,428 passengers in the last 21 years without a single fatality, according to a recently published statement. An unscheduled intermission occurred during a basketball game between two girl teams at Nek Bern, N. C., when a mouse scampered across the floor and the players fled screaming from the court. The mouse made its escape, and the girls cautiously returned to resume the game.

If King George VI makes his proposed trip he will be the third reigning monarch to visit the United States, the others being the late King Albert of Belgium in 1919, and King Prajadhipok of Siam in 1931. Edward VII and Edward VIII visited this country before ascending the throne.

Unimportant, but true: Reno, Nev., is 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles; Cleveland is a few miles farther east than Jacksonville, Fla.; traveling due south from Detroit, one would enter Canada; Arica, Chile, is farther east than New York; the Pacific end of the Panama Canal is farther east than the Atlantic end.

MICKEY ROONEY RECREATES MARK TWAIN'S MOST FAMOUS BOY IN 'HUCKLEBERRY FINN'

Mickey Rooney is the attraction coming Sunday to the Fulton Theatre in his first solo starring vehicle, Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," successor to "Tom Sawyer." The new picture tells the story of a Mississippi River boy and his adventures, dramatic, comical, and pathetic, while seeking to aid a runaway slave to escape to a free state in the days before the Civil War.

Much of the picture was filmed on the Sacramento River, serving for the Mississippi, where the raft trip of Huck and the runaway slave, the invasion of the swindlers "The King" and "The Duke," and the race of a river steamer to save the slave from a lynch mob, were staged.

Richard Thorpe, director of "The Crowd Roars," and other hits, filmed the new picture. Mickey plays the title role, with the rascally but comical "King" played by Walter Connolly and his fellow crook by William Frawley. Lynne Carver and Jo Ann Sayers play the heiresses whom Huck saves by exposing the crooks. Jim, the slave is played by Rex Ingram, noted Negro actor who played "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures," and Elizabeth Risdon is seen as the Widow Douglass, the boy's benefactress.

R. E. Julien of Los Angeles, in giving testimony at the trial of his contested divorce suit against his wife, charged she kept him in a state of intoxication a month before they separated.

Charging assault and battery, Mrs. John Donlin of Minneapolis sued her husband for divorce. She told the judge he was a wrestling fan and liked to try out what he learned at the bouts on her.

Samuel Nappi, jobless musician of Portland, Me., when given his choice between a WPA job digging ditches at $13 a week or 90 days in jail, said:
