YOUNG MEN'S CLUB MET TUESDAY NIGHT

The Young Business Men's Club met in regular business session Tuesday night at the Rainbow Room with the president, Billy Blackstone, presiding. Thirty-seven members were present, and after reading of minutes, several important business matters were discussed.

Plans were discussed for the second annual Old Car Derby, which will be held at the Fair Grounds here on July 4. Arrangements have been made for the Fair Grounds, and the track will be reconstructed, and bleachers installed to seat a capacity crowd. Approximately 15,000 people attended the derby here last year, and even a larger crowd is expected this year.

Besides the novelty race between older model cars, a number of other features will be added to the program this year, if present plans are carried through. The Swift Jewel Cowboys will probably be here in person to provide a well-rounded musical program, and an effort will be made for the world's tallest man, of Alton, Ill., to appear here in person for a short time during the day. He is 8 feet, 9 inches tall and still growing. The day's program will be presented over radio station WREC, and a news cameraman will likely film the event, which will be shown on the screen throughout the nation.

Ernest Fall, Jr., chairman of the Safety committee, reported that plans are being worked out for a safety program in Fulton, which will work with the schools, the police department and other groups. Plans were made for the installation of a whistle at the railroad water works near the passenger station, which will be blown in case of emergency due to the overflow of Harris Fork Creek.

The president then named the following committees to serve during the coming year:

Fairground Committee—Lynn Phipps, chairman; Milton Exum, Jack Carter, Theodore Kramer, Ernest Fall Jr., Ray Clonts, W. I. King, Edwin Gunter, Paul Bushart, V. R. Owen, Ernest Lowe, Leo Greengrass, R. E. Sanford and Kellie Lowe.

Creek Committee—J. P. Bailey, chairman; Ernest Fall, Jr., Paul Bushart, Milton Exum, J. D. Stephenson, Hiram Meeks, Uel Killebrew, James Meacham, W. I. King, Buck Bushart, Maurice Ferrell.

Sick Committee—Jerry Shepherd and Forest Ladd.

Committee to See That Street Markers are Kept Up—Wallace Shankle, chairman; Ward Johnson, H. O. Wright, Bob Binford, Lynn Askew.

Game Committee—H. L. Bushart, chairman; Bill Houston, Orin Winstead, V. R. Owen.

South Fulton P. T. A. In Monthly Meeting

The South Fulton P. T. A. held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the South Fulton school building. Mrs. I. M. Jones, president, was in charge of the business session. Coach Oliver and the team deserve credit and commendation for the fine showing they made this year.

Hazel Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Campbell and Ruth Ann Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Green, were cheer leaders during the season, and their efforts were praiseworthy.

BUSINESS CONTINUES IN STEADY VOLUME

Business during the past week was characterized chiefly by a continuation of the recent steady volume of operations, with occasional signs of increased activity in various segments of trade, according to reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities, just received by its Louisville District Office. Retail trade as a whole, particularly in new car sales, maintained its gains over last year, with department stores reporting a broadening demand for seasonal merchandise. Wholesale trade continued relatively satisfactory with retailers augmenting their inventories for Easter. Practically all reporting cities turned in increases for retail trade during the past week over the same period a year ago. Milwaukee, Detroit, and Atlanta reporting gains of over 20 per cent. The largest gains in retail trade during February occurred in durable goods lines, with sales of new passenger cars leading.

SPRAY SERVICE LETTER

The insectaries at Paducah, Henderson and Louisville are being reconditioned and will soon be in operation. Local observers at each insectary will be engaged to send in daily reports to the Western Kentucky Experiment Substation at Princeton. Those reports will be combined with information from the insectary at the Experiment Station at Lexington, the Illinois Natural History Survey at Carbondale, Ill., and the U. S. Department of Agriculture Field Station at Vincennes, Ind., and sent out to County Agents and newspapers for relaying to growers.

Spray Reminders

The warm weather has caused fruit trees to advance considerably. Elberta peach buds are in the pink stage on many trees. Apple buds are bursting, and in a few days the Delicious variety will be in the full green tip stage.

Mature Apple Scab spores have been found at Princeton. This condition should exist over the southern section of the state. If wet and cool weather prevails through the green tip and pre-blossom stage, heavy scab infections are to be expected.

Aphis are hatching at Princeton and Lexington. The probable extent of their injury cannot be predicted, as their behavior is uncertain. Some growers have applied a dormant control against the eggs. Those who have not done so and who desire to play safe can still control the aphis by a delayed dormant spray of nicotine sulphate, one pint to 100 gallons. This combined with the sulphur, two gallons to 100, and carefully applied will control the aphis as well as prevent early scab infections on the foliage that will spread to the fruit as secondary infections.

It appears that early scab infections are very likely if favorable weather conditions prevail. Growers of Delicious, Ben Davis and Winesap and other scab-susceptible varieties should take scab precautions. Other scab notices will follow soon.

Peach growers who suffered from Brown Rot in 1938 are advised that in several states wettable sulphur spray in the pink stage just before blossoms open has been found very helpful in controlling the blossom blight or twig blight stage of this disease.

THE FORUM

By J. PAUL BUSHART, Editor

A column conducted for news, views and comments, in which readers of The News are invited to participate. Mail contributions care of THE FORUM, this newspaper.

Reading the other day, we ran upon the following definition of a newspaper:

I Am The Newspaper

"Born of the deep need of a nation—I am the Voice of Now—the incarnate spirit of the Times—Monarch of things that Are. My 'cold type' burns with the fire-blood of human action. I am fed by arteries of wire that girdle the earth. I drink from the cup of every joy and sorrow. I know no death, yet am born again with every morn—with every noon—with every twilight. I leap into fresh being with every new world's event."

"Those who created me cease to be—the brains and heart's blood that nourish me go the way of human dissolution. Yet I live on—and on. I am Majestic in my strength—Sublime in my Power—Terrible in my Potentialities—yet as democratic as the ragged boy who sells me for a penny."

"I am the consort of Kings—the partner of capital—the brother of toil. The inspiration of the hopeless—the right arm of the needy—the champion of the oppressed—the conscience of the criminal. I am the epitome of the world's Comedy and Tragedy. My responsibility is infinite. I speak, and the world stops to listen. I say the word, and battle flames the horizon. I counsel peace, and the war-lords obey. I am greater than any individual—more powerful than any group. I am the dynamic force of Public Opinion. Rightly directed, I am a Creator of Confidence. A builder of happiness in living. I am the Backbone of Commerce. The Trail-Blazer of Prosperity. I am the teacher of Patriotism. I am the hands of the clock of Time—the clarion voice of Civilization. I am the Newspaper."

As I read this statement about a newspaper, it made me feel that the newspapers can play a major role in keeping peace. None of us want war, but there are an unlimited number of rumors of war.

Yes, thousands upon thousands are unsettled than it is today. Nations and individuals are greatly perturbed. Every country on the face of the earth is arming to its teeth, spending billions of dollars in preparation of strife, while the people suffer from economic depression. Hungry, poorly clothed and dying for lack of the meager necessities of life. It is, indeed, a deplorable condition. The innocent and weak must suffer because of the oppression and greed of power-hungry leaders and lust of warlords.

A publicity campaign, supported by the newspaper, would swing the tide toward peace and brotherly love among all peoples.

CENTENARIAN WISDOM

In 1922 the late Senator Cornelius Cole was 100 years old, and Los Angeles gave him a banquet, at which, his mind as alert as ever, he spoke.

He said, according to the Saturday Evening Post, that he had only one message for those present, and that it had been impressed on him through long experience: namely, that human liberties were won in this country at heavy sacrifices of blood and fortune; that liberty is easily lost; that we must be ready to fight again if necessary to keep it; that we must never suffer any man to arrogate to himself the powers of a king, emperor or dictator.

At that banquet was Paul G. Hoffman, now head of the Studebaker company. Speaking in New York recently, Mr. Hoffman recalled Senator Cole's statement, and said:

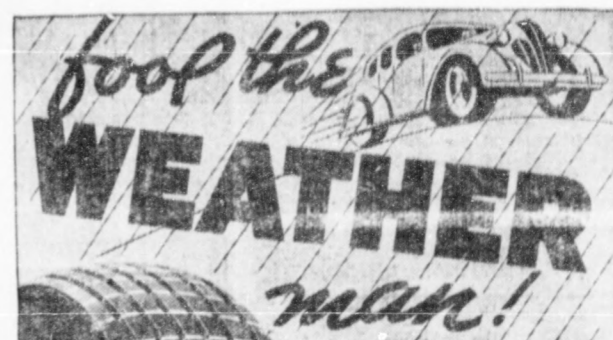

"We listened tolerantly because he was an old man, but privately most of us thought he was living in a world of ideas belonging wholly to the past. . . . What did an old man's warning have to do with us? We had just finished making the world safe for democracies.

"I have thought of that address a thousand times. The old senator was not in his dotage. It was we who were blind. Do I need to ask you to think of the countries where in recent years civil and religious liberty has vanished? Do I need to ask you to think of how seriously at this moment those liberties are in jeopardy in democratic countries? "Why are they in jeopardy? Because of pressures operating against free enterprise. Those pressures come from two sources: First, those who are wrongly called economic planners, but who have something in mind quite different from planning—namely, government control of the processes of production and distribution; secondly, from minority groups."

"Special privilege is an invitation to government control, and no business can long survive bureaucratic domination."

SERVING THE GOVERNMENT

By DR. KENNETH P. VINSEL, Professor, College of Liberal Arts. Government in the United States is one of the world's largest employers. American youth rightfully inquires into the vocational possibilities of our governmental system. Public education and the postal service lead among the services employing the largest number. Other important groups include highway maintenance, the military forces, police and fire protection, and municipal public utilities. The remaining employees are scattered among the various other government service.

In 1932 governmental units in the United States employed an estimated 3,278,000 persons at a cost of over $4,500,000,000. Since 1932 the number of government employees and the payroll have been increased.

The nature of the work varies as it does in any private business. The kinds of work might be divided into administrative, professional, clerical, skilled and trades and unskilled.

As taxes increase there is a realization on the part of the citizen that government can afford only the services of the best and most efficient. Only by improving our government personnel can our government perform the complex problems demanded of it.

Government must select its employees on the basis of ability and merit and must promote on the same basis. Any other program not only endangers the national program but is a denial of the American ideal. Political pull is slowly vanishing. A realization of this trend is opening the door of opportunity to thousands of young men and women.

Entrance to most careers in the service of the national government is by application to the United Civil Service Commission. Many agencies of the government offer careers although not operating under this Commission. Many states and cities are extending the merit principle and thereby adding to the opportunity of careers in public service. Last January the State of Michigan extended the merit system to include some 17,000 state employees.

The opportunities for public service include practically every kind of work imaginable. These opportunities are present today in many branches of our national government and to an increasing extent in state and municipal governments.

Careers in government should be considered by capable young men and women, and citizens must all work to establish a real merit system in our public service. Government should lead in establishing the principle that ability, honesty, and hard work will be rewarded.

girls with an asset that will serve them long after their diplomas may have crumbled into dust, an asset they often will find of far greater value than all the book-learning that may come their way.

UNCLE JIM SAYS

Don't waste good quality livestock on poor quality feed. Hay is one of the cheapest sources of feed for forage consuming livestock.

Give attention to the meadows now if you would have good hay this fall—lime and phosphate often mean the difference between success and failure.

Provide comfortable brooding quarters for young chicks. This should include sufficient heat to keep them warm, plenty of ventilation and sanitation.

Treating cotton seed with Ceresan is an effective and inexpensive way to destroy external seed-borne diseases and gives protection against soil organisms after germination.

Results of cattle feeding experiments by the U. T. Animal Husbandry Department will be explained at livestock meetings at the Knoxville Station, March 28, and the West Tennessee Station, Jackson, March 31.

The appearance of the homestead is as important to the farm as the appearance of clothing is to the man. A Better Homes Campaign is now underway in Tennessee and will culminate in Better Homes Week, April 23-29.

TIMELY TOPICS

For gardeners who are puzzled about "what to plant and when to plant it," we suggest U. T. Agricultural Extension Service Publication 145, "Farm Gardens," by W. C. Pelton. You can secure copies from your county farm or home demonstration agents or by writing the Service at Knoxville.

Adolph Hitler may not be criticized in Germany, even in fun. Berlin school teachers have instructed their pupils to report anyone they hear telling anti-Hitler jokes. Wouldn't it keep everybody busy rounding up people who tell anti-Roosevelt jokes over here?

Coughs Are Danger Signs, Treat Them Accordingly

If you are suffering with a cough of long-standing, and do not know its cause, go to see your doctor immediately. You might have a serious ailment. Even coughs due to cold or exposure often lead to serious complications by breaking down your resistance.

For the latter type cough there is a medicine, compounded by a great scientist, fortified with both Vitamins "A" and "D," given to the world by a great laboratory and sold by leading druggists under the name of Mentho-Mulsion, at an all-time low price of 75c. #### GIRLS ARE TAUGHT HOW TO BE CHARMING

Here are six specific rules that will help every girl to make herself more charming. These rules were given me by Dr. Joseph R. Sevier, president of the Fassiern School for Girls, in Hendersonville, N. C.

A course on how to be charming is among the regular curriculum of this popular girls' school. How sensible. In all the world is there anything more necessary for a girl?

If anybody should know the problems of girls, it's Joseph R. Sevier, for he's taught and managed them for twenty years. In addition to being the president of Fassiern, he has a summer camp for girls, Camp Greystone, in the North Carolina mountains.

I asked Dr. Sevier if he taught a southern drawl as a part of his course, and he said, "No. Charm is deeper than a manner of speech. Naturally many of our girls have what is called the 'southern accent' but we have northern girls who haven't any at all, and they're equally pleasing as our southern girls."

Here they are, girls, just as you would get them in the classroom at Fassiern:

1. Interest yourself in others instead of trying to interest others in you. The great secret of charm is in thinking of the other person.

2. Don't monopolize the conversation. Draw out other members of the company present. Remember that every person has an ego he wishes to express.

3. Do not expect constant praise. The girl who invariably tries to draw praise soon grows tiresome. If she wishes to make a good impression, it would be far better to praise the other person. To be liberal with praise if it is sincere, will lead toward making a dozen friends where the praise-seeker makes one.

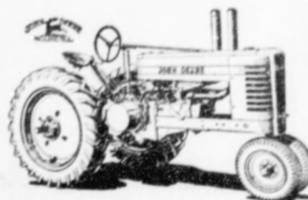

4. Listen respectfully to the opinions of others. Do not make light of them because you do not agree with them. Besides, the other person may be right.

5. Cultivate a skill which will give pleasure to others. By "skill" is meant, habits which will influence and serve other people. For example, the girl who can play the piano or tennis, or is clever in other entertaining ways, is likely to be considered more charming than the girl who does none of these things. Singing, story telling, making quick caricatures of those present, and fortune telling, will add to the amusement of a group. In other words, the girl who "does something" is more charming than the girl who sits back, contributing nothing.

6. If you feel a person is lonely, talk to him, serve him tea. There are many ways in which you can give attention and create happiness. Above all, says Dr. Sevier, give up the idea that charm consists of beautiful clothes, an accent, a smile. It's deeper and far more fundamental!

Since these qualifications are sometimes not stressed in the home, Dr. Sevier is providing Fassiern

PIONEER SURGEONS

In an address before the recent Atlanta session of the Southern Surgical Congress, Dr. T. C. Davidson, retiring president, paid tribute to 36 Southern physicians and surgeons who have made epochal contributions to humanity. Among those mentioned were:

Dr. Ephraim McDowell of Kentucky, a country doctor who performed the first successful abdominal operation for the removal of a tumor of an ovary; Dr. Crawford W. Long of Georgia, who first used ether as a surgical anesthetic, and Dr. John Gorrie of Florida, who invented artificial ice while trying to develop a machine for cooling hospital rooms. Statues of these three now stand in the national Hall of Fame.

Dr. James Bennett of Virginia performed the first Caesarian operation in the United States, on his own wife, Dr. Luther L. Hill of Alabama was the first American surgeon to successfully stitch a stab wound in the heart. Dr. James Marion Sims of Alabama was described as "the founder of modern gynecology, and the great pioneer in America in the treatment of women's diseases." Dr. Rudolph Matas of New Orleans is credited with many "first" operations, especially in surgery of the blood vessels.

Other first operations performed in the South according to Dr. Davidson, include those to remove an ovary, to open up the stomach, to remove part of the spine, to tie off the carotid artery which feeds the brain, to remove a rib and drain a lung, to correct cleft palates, to amputate legs at the hip, to correct club feet, and to discover the cause of yellow fever. Truly an impressive record.

In Philadelphia, Magistrate Eli Myers put Mrs. Martin Beza under a $300 peace bond after her husband complained: "She weighs 180 and I weigh 140. She's been beating me up ever since we were married 17 years ago."

Paris police, seeking the cause of persistent gas-pipe leaks in an apartment house, found that a maid had been piercing the pipes. She confessed that she was in love with the plumber who had to be called to repair them.

READ - REMEMBER

When Dog Catcher Willie Jones was called to catch a cat under a house at Albuquerque, N. M., he made this report: "When I got there I counted 52 cats in the backyard and under the house. I gave up because I didn't know which cat they wanted caught."

The judge asked Fred Miller of Duncan, Okla., arrested for stealing meat from a neighbor's smokehouse, why he took the meat when he had a fat hog. Miller replied: "That ham is mortgaged to the government. I couldn't get a ham off him without destroying government property."

Despite his plea that his home was his castle and that he had a right to burn it, Edward Murphy was held on arson charges in San Jose, Calif.

Mrs. Edith Collins, estranged wife of George Collins, New York University professor, testified in court that her husband was so absent-minded that he showed his affection for her only two or three times a year.

To prove that it was silly superstition about black cats being bad luck, W. G. Benton and J. E. Spragging of Atlanta took one for a ride. The car crashed into a telephone pole, and both were taken to the hospital. The cat leaped from the wreckage unharmed.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Pleasant Service

One of our announced aims in the conduct of the Illinois Central System is to give pleasant service.

Our definition of pleasant service is friendly, personal attention to those who use our trains. It is a definition which, with occasional exceptions, our patrons tell us we live up to pretty well.

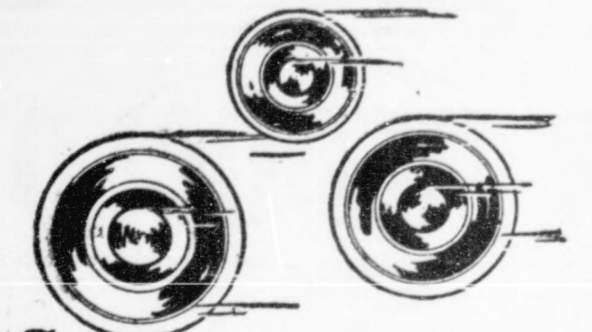

For the traveler our ideal of pleasant service includes help in planning trips, looking after baggage, comfortable seats and berths, good lighting, clean and attractive surroundings, fresh air warmed or cooled to need, good food, as little disturbance as possible.

For the shipper and receiver of freight our ideal of pleasant service includes prompt and accurate rate information, free pick-up and delivery of less-than-carload shipments, equipment designed to handle what there is to ship, painstaking loading and stowing, effective tracing, correct billing.

For both it includes smooth track, convenient schedules, expert handling of trains, on-time arrival and departure, plus the knowledge that every man on the railroad appreciates the patronage given.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

by David M. Porter

The volcano of politics is about to erupt and spew some startling developments.

The Rhea faction is going to announce for John Y. Brown, but the Louisville machine may not be so enthusiastically for him, remembering his "Mickey's nice statements in a previous campaign.

Frederick A. Wallis may shortly announce as a candidate for Governor and wind up with the nomination.

The Administration may run a candidate against Hubert Meredith to their sorrow.

Mr. D. H. Henson of Goose Rock, Clay County, is going to run for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and Mr. Bagby of Grayson, filed for Lieutenant Governor as we intimated two weeks ago in this column.

Major W. H. Hansas has been working on a Highway Safety program to reduce the alarming number of accidents on the highways. We'll tell you more of this later.

The Unemployment Compensation Commission is worried over a shortage of funds for Administrative purposes as their appropriation for the fiscal year is almost exhausted. If the Federal Government doesn't put up the money and the State fails to, the only other recourse will be to assess the employers to carry on the Administrative costs from March 31st until June 1.

Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwellis back from Florida and may announce for State Treasurer soon.

Charles D. Arnett says he is for Barkley for President and more money for old age pensioners. We're opposed to sit down strikes and Hitler ourselves.

The Department of Revenue is making photostatic copies of all Kentucky federal income tax reports as an accurate check on State returns, so be sure you are right, and remember that everyone has to file a State income tax report, REGARDLESS OF WHETHER YOU HAVE EARNED ENOUGH TO PAY A TAX OR NOT, AND THAT THERE IS A PENALTY OF TEN DOLLARS IF HIS REPORT IS NOT FILED. The deadline is April 15th.

Prof. H. N. Russell, noted astronomer of Princeton, predicts that in time the temperature on the earth will increase to 150 degrees Fahrenheit. But unlike those who predict the result of an election, a prize fight or a horse race, Prof. Russell will not lose face or cash if he is wrong. The time to which he refers is 10 billion years hence. The first automobile ever to exceed a speed of 300 miles an hour, Sir Malcolm Campbell's "Blue-beard," will probably find a permanent resting place in Henry Ford's Museum at Dearborn, Mich.

Fans' Pleas To See Shirley In Technicolor Are Granted

Shirley Temple's first Technicolor film, "The Little Princess," which opens at the Malco Fulton Theatre on Sunday, is a doubly happy occasion for the dimpled stars countless fans.

For not only does the new 20th Century-Fox triumph respond gloriously to the public's insistent demands to see their favorite revealed in the full beauty of her radiant coloring, but it also brings to the screen one of the greatest classics of all times.

Presenting filmdom's No. 1 star in Technicolor in this film version of the beloved Frances Hodgson Burnett story offered a difficult problem, however.

Technicolor experts insisted that Shirley wear makeup for the first time. No star had ever appeared in a color film without makeup, they pointed out, and Shirley could not be made an exception. Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck and Director Walter Lang were disinclined to permit the little star to don makeup. The problem was finally solved by Associate Producer Gene Markey, who suggested that three tests be made of her. One with the special Technicolor makeup, one with a powder makeup and one with no makeup at all.

Zanuck and Lang proved right. The test which presented Shirley's natural coloring unadorned by the makeup brush, proved the best. As a result the little star made the film without makeup.

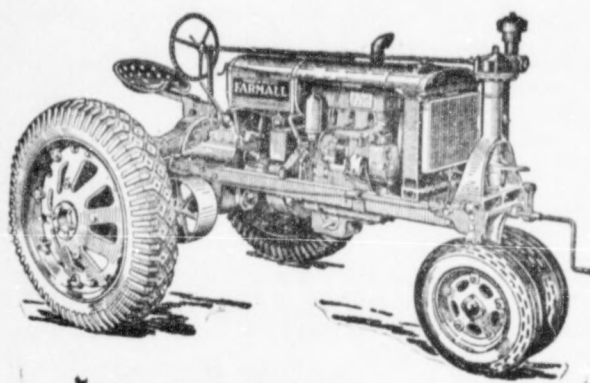

But each day turned up new problems.

For instance, when a body of water is photographed out-of-doors, it shows blue, due to the reflection of the sky. But what about a body of water that is photographed on a sound-stage? Property man Glenn Delfino jumped in and solved this one by dyeing the water sky blue.

In another scene of the film, Shirley kneels down to a pony bedded in straw. The Technicolor advisor on "The Little Princess" objected to the flaming yellow color of the straw. Delfino was again called in. He saved the day, this time, by dyeing the straw a dull green. Yellow, it develops, is the villain in every Technicolor production. For it photographs so bright that it immediately distracts the attention of the audience from the action of the film. Consequently, no true yellow will be seen in the costumes or the sets of "The Little Princess."

But perhaps the cruellest Technicolor problem of all, at least from the star's point of view, was the fact that "Spunky," Shirley's pet pony, failed to pass his color screen test. When Shirley learned that she was to appear with a pony in the film, she had fond hopes of using her beloved pet. Unfortunately, however, Spunky photographed a drab color, so a Shetland pony named Jewel was hired for the role. Shirley's disappointment was partially recompensed, however, by the discovery that Jewel was born on her birthday.

Richard Greene and Anita Louise head the imposing supporting cast of the screen version of the Frances Hodgson Burnett classic which also includes Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero, Arthur Treacher, Mary Nash, Sybil Jason, Miles Mander and Marcia Mae Jones. Ethel Hill and Walter Ferris are credited with the screen play.

TAX PROBLEM IS WORRYING KENTUCKIANS

"With every logical tax field exhausted, it is obvious that the only means to raise additional funds, in event it becomes necessary to increase Old Age Assistance payments is through the levy of a sales tax, and with taxes in Kentucky now approximating $225,000,000 annually, it is doubtful if the burdensome tax weight now being borne could be increased without bringing about a precarious situation on an already tax-ridden populace.

"Of this stupendous total 225 millions, $122,200,000 are collected by the Federal Government including income, cigarette, whiskey and miscellaneous taxes: $343,000,000 by the State, $15,000,000 by the counties, approximately $20,000,000 by the cities, and $25,000,000 through a Federal Excise Tax on payrolls.

At present, a federal payroll tax is being levied which will amount to 10 per cent in 1948 to pay Unemployment Compensation and Old Age Security benefits. For the current year $3,000,000 has been appropriated by the state to pay one-half the amount expended annually in Old Age Assistance and the bulk of administration costs of the Public Assistance Division. There are more than 700 governmental units in Kentucky levying and expending taxes.

"At present there are 44,670 recipients of Old Age Assistance in Kentucky and an average monthly payment of $8.69, representing a total expenditure of $4,680,000 a year. There are 7,760 applications for Old Age Assistance pending. It is reasonable to state at the present rate the number of recipients will soon reach the $50,000 mark. To pay this number of persons Old Age Assistance of $40 a month, as was recently suggested, would necessitate an expenditure of $24,000,000 annually. Of this amount the state would be compelled to put up in excess of $15,000,000 since the federal government matches state funds only for individual grants not to exceed $30 a month. In other words, on each $40 grant the state would be compelled to put up $25 plus administration costs.

"To pay all persons who have applied for Old Age Assistance in Kentucky ($3,229) at the rate of $40 a month would take nearly $40,000,000 of which the state must raise more than $25,000,000. In such an eventuality, it would be necessary to levy a sales tax of not less than 8 per cent.

"To pay 50,000 applicants at the rate of $30 a month would cost $18,000,000 of which the state must bear in excess of $9,000,000 allowing for administration costs. To pay $30 a month to all persons who have applied would necessitate an expenditure of approximately $30,000,000 of which the state would have to raise in excess of $15,000,000. To meet this arrangement, it would be necessary to levy a sales tax of from 4 to 5 per cent, based on the revenue derived from the 3 per cent sales tax repealed in 1936.

It is true that with the retirement of the state debt, the financial condition of Kentucky should appear brighter, however, one of the principal sources of revenue during the last three years has been a production tax on whiskey. With production in this industry having reached the saturation point, it is estimated that less than one-half as much whiskey will be produced during succeeding years as in the last five years thereby reducing revenue from this source by several million dollars each year. Based on present cost of government this condition will in reality bring about a deficit. Certainly new expenditures will greatly retard the rehabilitation of the penal and eleemosynary institutions to which the state and its citizens now stand committed.

"In states where Old Age Assistance grants were made in excess to the means, financial disaster has followed. In Kentucky, common sense will point out that unless some tangible or permanent means is provided to defray the cost, any marked increase in Old Age Assistance will lead the state into a financial maras not consistent with the welfare of all the people of Kentucky."

First offenders in the court of Judge J. E. Wimberly in Roseburg, Ore., are to be taken on a personally conducted tour of the jail as an object lesson. The judge believes this a good method of halting criminal careers.

TIMELY TOPICS

Congressmen are called upon to do many chores for folks back home, but seldom does such a formidable request reach them as one Congressman received recently from a constituent, who wrote: "Please send me at once a list of everything that has not been invented."

Long suburban beats in Inglewood, Calif., are covered by policemen on small motor scooters, whereby they cover more territory and make their rounds oftener than would be possible on foot. The scooters can travel 30 miles an hour and run 130 miles on a gallon of gas.

Discussions following the recent 21st birthday of Robert Wadlow, 8 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, led to a search for records of former giants. ## CITY FOLKS AT FIDELITY

The difference between country and town people is not so great as it once was, to the credit of both groups. Popular education, county high schools, county farm and home demonstrators, summer camps, district and regional tournaments in athletics and other things, and a freer atmosphere generally account for this. A third of a century ago it was hardly thus. Still there were connections between the two groups as most of the people who lived in town were one generation or less from the soil.

Old Fidelity was poor but proud.
It had never been other than a small village, but, like so many of us, it had seen better days. As long as the railroad kept away from our county, and it was necessary to go thirty miles or more to reach one, Fidelity remained much as it had been since the earliest settlement.
There were two tobacco factories,
a water mill near the village, a union church, several stores, and some other attractions, including a Masonic lodge hall. Then came the railroad through the county seat, and gradually the village began to show signs of decadence. Proud yet in spite of its being off the railroad
it was lacking in any importance except locally. Some of its citizens moved to the county seat or on to other towns and cities. Enough ties were left, however, for the quaint old place to be attractive to visitors, as when some of the old-timers returned for a few days and brought along their families, born elsewhere but taught the special merits of Fidelity.

Local citizens, proud of their well-dressed visitors, brought them to church and Sunday School. One returned citizen dropped a dollar into the collection basket one Sunday, creating a small hurricane of excited whispers. If any of the visitors could be induced to talk, they were asked to teach the adult class or to comment on the lesson. Most of them wisely declined and sat in the Amen-corner and looked pious.

Housewives vied with each other in inviting the visitors to Sunday dinner and, in the current phrase,
"put the big pot in the little one."
Language took a sudden flight upward, for some of us dropped expression that the teachers had been fighting for years, that is, we dropped them during the time of the visit of the city folks.

If the visit came in week days, we took the city people to see the tobacco factory where the negroes worked and sang. This was probably the most outstanding thing we could do, for there was never anything else quite like this. The negro women sat in rows facing each other and stemmed the tobacco leaves, singing meanwhile spirituals or "white-folks" songs, giving their own musical interpretation to the words. People who visited that old factory have told me in recent years that nothing in their lives made such an impression as this.

For some days after a visit the younger generation put on airs at school because of the famous people who had been in Fidelity. We walked like them and talked like them and envied them immoder-ately. The children who lived in the homes visited were quizzed indefinitely about the great people from the outside world who had stayed into our little remote village. I wonder whether any such excitement could be created anywhere today.

It's "Steamboatin' Time" and "Ol' Man River" Comes to Life

No matter what the fickle groundhog says, people along the Mississippi know that spring is here when the steamers of the Streckfus excursion fleet weigh anchor and head northward from their winter berths in Southern river ports.

The first to sail is the popular stern-wheel Capitol, whose paddle wheel will churn more than 2,000 miles of water before the boat reaches St. Paul for its summer operations. The Capitol is scheduled to leave New Orleans April 18, making many stops en route for excursion outings to which the pleasure-seekers along the river
look forward each spring.

The coming of the excursion fleet means not only a pleasant outing on the river, but an opportunity to dance to the gay music of a big-time swing band. This spring the Capitol will carry one of the river's favorite troupes of rhythm-makers—Piron's "Mississippi Serenaders," a 12-piece colored band.

Then the President
The all-steel, oil-burning Steamer President, most luxurious of all river excursion steamers, will start north from New Orleans May 23, with many excursion stops at towns en route. Queen of the fleet, the President will open its summer stand at St. Louis June 10.

A visit of the President is the occasion for merry-making in the river towns where the big pleasure craft drops anchor for a day, and its huge ballroom—accommodating 2,500 dancers at a time—is the scene of one gay evening after another. Coming only in the spring and fall, the visits of the
