Wade Buys City Ice Co's Plant

A business deal was consummated Saturday when R. H. Wade, manager of the Fulton Ice Company, purchased the plant and business of the City Ice Company, located on Plain street, at Walnut street crossing, of which Chas. Holmway, W. O. Shankle, Will Whitnel and A. C. Plumlee were owners. It is a modern plant built last year, electrically operated with an 18-ton capacity and will add materially to the total capacity of the Fulton Ice Company in taking care of its large volume of business.

Mr. Wade says his present capacity is 70 tons of pure crystal ice daily with a storage capacity of 3,000 tons.

For the past thirty-two years R. H. Wade has been engaged in the manufacture of ice. During all these years his sole ambition has been to give his patrons quality ice with the best of service at the lowest possible prices in keeping with sound business principles.

As the town developed, his business expanded and additions to the original plant have been so extensive and modern, there is hardly anything left about the premises to tell the story of its origin. A new unit is now being installed, modernly equipped and electrically operated. Work on this new addition has been in progress for some time and is just about completed.

Mr. Wade has vision of his company is going ahead aggressively. In his business of supplying ice he has to build ahead of the demand and he has been alive on the job. He is confident that the demand is coming, confident enough to invest large sums in anticipation of it. In fact, the large volume of business now will keep his two plants working capacity day and night.

The icing of 65 or 70 refrigerator cars on an average daily will require lots of ice when it is known that it takes 2,000 pounds to ice a banana car and 10,000 pounds to ice a strawberry car.

Until the Illinois Central R. R. System started routing banana trains over the new Fulton-Edgewood line, the banana cars were iced at Mounds, Ill., but now the Fulton Ice Company is icing all the hold-over banana cars here. The strawberry season is now on, too, and this adds to the large volume of business. In fact, it would stagger the minds of some of our people if they could see and fully realize the thousands and thousands of tons of ice manufactured and used at this point, hub of the great I. C. System.

R. H. Wade is not only a live wire in the ice business, but a big cog in several business enterprises of our city, and as president of the Chamber of Commerce is keenly interested in every business enterprise, large or small, in Fulton. Few men have contributed more to the upbuilding of our city financially, socially and otherwise.

Nashville Boosters Coming To Fulton

Special Train to Carry Boosters, Including Tony Rose's Famous Band, into West Tennessee and Kentucky Territory

Starting out at 7:00 a. m., Monday, May 19, the Nashville Booster Club will begin its twentieth annual "good-will" pilgrimage, including a territory largely within the State of Tennessee, and a number of important Kentucky towns on the second day. Fully one hundred will be in the party; industrial leaders, educators, professional and financial men, also Tony Rose's famous band of 15 pieces, led by the genial bandmaster himself.

Year after year, with the exception of the wartime period, Nashville has sent its message of friendship into the territory related by ties of tradition and trade intercourse to the great Volunteer State; not merely to seek outlets for its industrial or commercial products, or to broadcast its numerous advantages, but rather to determine opportunities for mutual helpfulness and to cement relationships already established. Thus the "booster pilgrimages have come to be fixed events in the annual program of Nashville's citizenship, readily participated in by men from all the varied departments of the city's life.

The communities thus visited find in the occasional booster visits a contact basis for the discussion of mutual problems, both visitors and hosts are profited; they learn of each other's progress, of common advantages, and difficulties, as well; the spirit of cooperation is strengthened, a better understanding is established.

The special Booster train will be composed of five solid Pullmans, two diners, observation car, a baggage car, serving partly as store room for advertising matter, and the Club car. A captain will be in command of each car, responsible for the observance of all rules, most important among them one that prescribes that all boosters must march in the "up-town" parades upon reaching the various cities included in the itinerary.

The boosters will stop over night in Paris, Tenn., at the conclusion of the first day's journey; at Fulton, Ky.; the second night; in Brownsville, Tenn.; the third night, and in McKenzie, Tenn., the fourth night. The party will return to Nashville, arriving at 6:30 p. m., Friday, May 23.

FULTON CIRCUIT COURT OPENS HERE MONDAY

The May term of Fulton Circuit Court will open here Monday with Judge J. E. Warren on the bench.

The case of Jim Gardner, and Lela Bunch is set for Tuesday, May 13. Jim Gardner, farmer of near Crutchfield, and Lela Bunch, young hired girl on the Gardner farm, are charged with the poison murder of Mrs. Gardner in June, 1929.

Mrs. Gardner died mysteriously and suddenly. Her sister demanded an autopsy. When this showed poison in her body, the Bunch girl was arrested. She admitted intimacy with Gardner but denied giving Mrs. Gardner poison. Later when it was discovered Gar-

Mother's place in a man's heart cannot be taken by another. The love that offers itself from the soul of motherhood is like no other love; it is radiant with memories so hallowed that words may not portray them; it is a love that flows, like a stream of crystal purity, direct for the eternal consciousness of God, whose Son was born of woman.

AIR FINANCES OF CITIZENS IN FULTON COURT

Former Sheriff Claims Assets of Hickman Bank Are Not Collectible

Hickman, Ky., May 6—Before a crowd that first gazed, and then snickered, the question of the solvency or insolvency of a large part of the population of this section was argued out before Judge J. E. Warren in Fulton circuit court today during the trial of the suit of John M. Thompson, former sheriff and tax collector, to have his tax account in the closed Hickman Bank and Trust Company set up as a prepared claim. Wheeler and Hughes, Paducah, attorneys for Thompson, are seeking to prove that the bank was insolvent several days before it was closed and they introduced a list of notes totaling $345,000 listed as assets of the closed bank which Thompson claims were worthless and uncollectible.

John Pyle, former cashier of the bank and now assistant deputy banking commissioner in charge of its affairs, testified that only $59,580 of the notes listed by the Thompsons were bad, and Wheeler attacked each note on the lists, bringing out in court the financial standing of some of the most prominent citizens and officials in the community.

Earlier in the day R. L. Bradley, local merchant, had testified that the Hickman Bank and Trust Co., had borrowed $166,000 during 1929 from Ed Gardner of the First National Bank of Mayfield, who is now deputy banking commissioner in charge of the Hickman Bank, and had paid it all back except $25,000 and a $19,000 overdraft when the bank closed. It was brought out in other testimony that Mr. Gardner, as deputy banking commissioner, had paid himself this entire $44,000 since the bank had closed before anyone else was paid.

Annual Drive On May 14.

The Library Board has set Wednesday, May 14, for the annual library drive. They are asking for $800.00 this year, as the goal set for last year was not reached. The Fulton Public Library, operating on a very small fund, is attempting to carry the same work on less than half the amount expended by other libraries in the state of the same size.

The circulation compares favorably with other libraries having as large and in some cases larger circulation than libraries in the same class; the circulation for last year being $569 with 2,041 volumes.

The Library Board is expecting the same splendid cooperation which was received last year from various committees. As a matter of fact, if the library is to meet the needs of the public, it must have this necessary money this year. It has been held back during the past year by money shortage, and the library officials feel that the people of Fulton want the library to fully meet the needs of the town.

CHILD HEALTH MEET AT TERRY NORMAN

There is to be a child health conference at Terry Norman, Wednesday afternoon, May 14, for all children under school age. Each month ribbons will be awarded to those coming up to the standard. We have just had the awarding of ribbons to twelve lovely preschool and over a hundred school children. Parents should lose no opportunity of informing themselves through advice from their family doctor, Child health conferences and proper literature on child health. Fathers and mothers realize that the future welfare of their children is largely in their hands and whether they turn out to be vigorous full sized men and women or weaklings, will depend largely upon the way they are treated during the formative period of their lives.

Visitors to the Child Health demonstration this week include Dr. Juanita Jennings, Assistant Director for the Bureau of Child Health, Miss Florence Dunkelburg of the Bureau of Child Health, Dr. Roy Osburn of Dixon, Director of Webster County Health Unit; Dr. Kirk, director of the Bullitt County Health Department and Dr. Pierch of Wisconsin.

Brieflets

It is now the theory that the man whom the Good Samaritan befriended was the victim of a hit-and-run auto driver.

Our idea of a real wife is the Fulton woman who told the census taker that her husband is the head of the house.

New York has under way a campaign to improve the appearance of ash cans. Next they'll probably start one for beautiful rubbish.

Woman is aping man in lots of ways, but she hasn't become masculine enough yet to feel more comfortable in old clothes than she does in brand new ones.

The good old days were those when a Fulton girl didn't wonder what was the matter with her if a newly-made male acquaintance didn't try to kiss her fifteen minutes after he had met her.

It's funny nature couldn't have been as wise as the motor car manufacturer and provided spare parts for the human machine, too.

They used to judge a town's population by the number of filling stations but now they go by the number of beauty shops.

The early bird doesn't always get the worm these days. Sometimes an early Fulton fisherman beats the bird to it.

The right skirt length is half way between where a man wants his own wife to wear 'em and where he wants other women to wear 'em.

Now that the motoring season has opened a lot of our unemployed ought to find jobs painting detour signs.

It used to be Fulton girls could always remember the last man who kissed them but now they have a hard time remembering which one kissed them last.

The wonder is not that a souvenir hunter would pick up a half-smoked cigar tossed away by Mr. Coolidge but that Mr. Coolidge would toss away a half-smoked cigar.

It's a modern baby if it first learns to say "radio" and "car" and later on learns to say "mamma" and "Papa."

Hope is that thing which makes a Fulton man feel that maybe he can get grass seed to grow in the front yard with a half-dozen kids running over it.

MOTHER

Men come and go and are forgotten. Fires, floods and disasters of various kinds claim their toll of death and destruction, but time heals and soon the scars have disappeared. But one thing above all others has never perished—the impressions left by mother love.

Once each year Fulton residents are called on to join with their fellow men in paying tribute to Mother—the sweetest name of all. On the second Sunday of the always beautiful month of May millions of hearts swell with the happiness that comes at the mention of that name. Whether she is alive or dead, thoughts of her are paramount in every mind, and all American joins in making the holiday set aside in tribute to her the most important holiday of all. Only in the eyes of Mother are any of us perfect. Only in her heart have our imperfections been overlooked. Men pass judgment on us, and not always is it to our credit. But to mother there has never been but one verdict—in her heart her boy and girl are as near perfection as human flesh can attain. This is the mother-love that has made the world and saved the world, and that will always continue to keep it safe. And poorer than all others in the world is the man or woman who cannot find a softening of the heart when this annual Mother's Day brings a thought of the one who gave them life. Let us join again in our tribute to her—to your mother, to our mother, to all mothers—for she must always be the hope of the world and all things in the world worth striving for.

WHEAT BELT JOBS

Following the wheat harvest used to be, and still is to a considerable extent, one of the favorite outdoor sport of hundreds of thousands of workers. They are a motley crew, traveling from all sections of the country to the wheat belt that stretches from Texas to the northern boundary and reaching into Canada. For weeks this army threshes the golden grain and gets it ready for the market. But from all indications it is not going to be a good year for those who follow the market. Great grain farms and large individual farmers now have their "combines"—huge machines that carry out all the operations of threshing with a minimum of human help. With these machines increasing in number so rapidly, it is obvious that many who go to the wheat belt for summer jobs will be disappointed. If there are any young men around Fulton getting ready to travel into other sections in search of this form of labor, we would suggest that they make sure they can get it before they start out. Otherwise they are apt to find the going a little rough.

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

Railroad men are convinced that the use of the "Stop, Look and Listen" signs and signal bells at railroad crossings by the motoring public would prevent practically all grade-crossing accidents. They claim there would never be an accident if motorists obeyed the warning as it should be obeyed. But the trouble is that thousands do not do so; they take too much for granted. From now on through the summer months motorists around Fulton will be, more than at any other time of year, be driving into new and strange territory. It might help them to avoid a fatal accident if each and every one will get it firmly fixed in his mind before starting out that every railroad track is dangerous whether there is a train in sight or not. It should be remembered that if the bell does not stop ringing and if the light continues to flash it may be a warning of still another train approaching. And never, where there is more than one track, is it safe to proceed until the train has passed on to a point where an uninterrupted view can be had. Another train from the opposite direction may be bearing down upon you. Thirteen per cent of all deaths on an eastern road last year resulted in this way.

No matter how good your judgment of distances may be, you can make a mistake. But at a railroad crossing you never have to make but one. Bear that in mind every time you start out in your car from now on, and the other fellow will take care of himself. Only in that way are we sure that no homes in this community will be saddened by grade-crossing fatalities that could have been avoided.

HORDES OF "GYPS"

There is now in almost every large city organizations known as Better Business Bureaus. They are maintained by home merchants to protect their patrons against fly-by-night and fake salesmen, canvassers and promotion men. Word was recently passed among these bureaus to be on the look out for a new type of "gyp," and we feel sure we are doing motorists around Fulton a good turn by passing on the warning. The latest scheme is worked by salesmen who offer a concoction for "pepping up" batteries and giving, they claim, more power to the car. An analysis of one of the concoctions showed it consisted of nothing more than a few cents worth of epsom salts, for which the salesman collected one dollar from each one of his victims. And this is but one of a long string of such fakes that are being daily worked on the public in various parts of the country. There seems to be but one answer to all of them. Buy advertised goods and from a dealer you know personally or by reputation.

FISH AND BEES

It is a singular and interesting fact that comb honey is sold for the same price as charged 40 years ago—25c a pound, on the average. We know this price has not varied 5c in either direction, and so does everyone in the country. And we wonder why there has never been an advance in honey prices in all these years. It is of just as much interest to note in this connection that the bees of the country make over 200,000,000 pounds of honey a year, at a retail value of $50,000,000. Now note the contrast between honey and fish. Like the bees, fish work for nothing and feed themselves. Yet the price of some kinds of fish has increased five-fold in the past 40 years; fish that could once be had for 8c and 10c a pound now bring as much as 30c and 40c a pound. There are many things in this world we can't understand, and this is one of them. Why have fish prices soared in 40 years while honey prices haven't advanced a cent?

OUR MESSAGE OF SERVICE

There is going to be a lot of activity in the building line this year. Architects and contractors, carpenters and masons all, are busily sharpening up their pencils and their tools, and getting set for business. It is not the young married folks alone who are going to build homes—who dream dreams of happiness in homes of their own—but many others who have long, too long, been renting the roofs over their heads are going to try this year to realize their desire to have a home of their own.

Whatever you plan to do by way of
BUILDING — REMODELING

FOOD LIKE YOU GET AT HOME

This is truly a home-like restaurant because it has endeavored to break down the prejudice based on the theory that restaurants could not serve food like you get at home. Many patrons will testify that there is no difference between our meals and the meals they get at home. That's the reason they come here so frequently to eat. Years of catering to the appetites of particular people make it possible for us to serve appetizing meals. The next time you want to eat away from home, bring your family here.

Lesson for May 11

JESUS ACCLAIMED AS KING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 21:1-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Hosanna to the son of David: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Children's Praise Song.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Hailing Jesus as King.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-
IC—Making Christ Our King.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-
IC—Making Christ Our King.

I. The Preparation (vv. 1-6).
1. The sending of the disciples for the ass (vv. 1-3).
Christ told them just where to go to find it and how to answer the inquiry of the one who owned it. This shows how perfectly Jesus knows our ways. The providing of the animal was not man's plan, but according to Christ's foreknowledge.

2. The fulfillment of prophecy
(vv. 4, 5).

Some five hundred years before this, Zechariah had made this prediction (Zech. 9:9). Christ's coming in this way was in exact fulfillment of Zechariah's prediction. This is highly instructive to those who would understand as yet unfulfilled prophecy. If the predictions of His first coming were thus literally fulfilled, there is no alternative but to believe that those of His second coming will likewise be literally fulfilled.

3. The obedience of the disciples
(v. 6).

The request may have seemed strange and unreasonable, but they obeyed.

II. The Entrance of the King (vv.
7-11).

1. The disciples put their garments upon the ass and set the Lord thereon (v. 7).

This act showed that they recognized Him as their King (II Kings 9:13).

2. The multitude (vv. 8, 9).
Some spread their garments in the way; others who had no garments to spread, cut down branches and did the same with them.

3. The city awakened (vv. 10, 11).
It was a stirring time, but a more stirring time is to come. This will be when the Lord comes in power and glory.

III. The King Rejected (vv. 12-13).

The immediate occasion of this rejection was the cleansing of the temple. To sell oxen and sheep and doves was legitimate, as well as to exchange money in doing it, but doing it for gain was wrong. As soon as the spirit of avarice enters, the house of prayer becomes a den of thieves.

IV. The Nation Rejected by the King (vv. 17-46).

Having shown their unwillingness to receive Christ as King when officially presented to them, Christ now turns from them and makes known their awful condition in the following parables:

1. The barren fig tree cursed (vv.
17-22).

It was on the morrow after his official presentation as He was returning from Jerusalem that Jesus observed the unfruitful fig tree. The barren fig tree is a type of Israel. With its leaves, it gave a show of life, but being destitute of fruit, it had no right to cumber the ground.

2. The parable of the two sons
(vv. 28-32).

Both sons were told by the father to work in the vineyard. The one refused outright to obey, but afterwards repented and went. The other pretended a willingness to obey, but in reality did not. The first one represents the publicans and harlots. The second the proud and self-righteous
Pharisees—priests and elders.

3. The parable of the householder
(vv. 33-46).

(1) This was God Himself. (2)
The vineyard. This means Israel
(Isa. 5:1-7, Jer. 2:21, Ps. 80:9).
The Lord went to particular pains to gather out this nation and make it separate, bestowing peculiar favors upon it. This vineyard so well kept and provided for, did not bear fruit.
(3) The husbandmen. These were the spiritual guides—the rulers and teachers of Israel. (4) The servants were sent for the fruit of the vineyard.
These were the various prophets whom God sent to the nation. They were beaten and killed. (5) The Lord Jesus Christ, God's only and beloved Son, came into their midst. They knew Him to be the Son, but did not show Him reverence. They not only rejected the kingdom, but the King who was the Son.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

May is one of the hardest months for the poultry breeder. May is the month mites and lice hatch out by the thousands. If the breeder is not up on his toes right now, these pests will get the best of him. It is up to him to get the hop on these pests by thoroughly cleaning out the hen house.

First, I would clean off the dropping boards, brush down all the walls, sweep out the house and paint all roosts with a good louse and mite exterminator. Whitewash all the walls with a good strong white-wash in which a good portion of crude carbolic acid has been dissolved, close up the house until evening, and just about an hour before the poultry goes in to roost, paint all perches with Black Leaf Forty.

Now it will be quite a bit of work to do your job just right, but it will pay in the long run. Before you let your chickens out in the morning, mix up a good warm solution of sodium fluoride and take each fowl separately and dip them in this solution. This will kill all the lice and most of the mites, but in case they are not all killed, when the hen goes on the roost the black leaf forty gets in its work. I have used it on my roosts and the next morning found dead lice on the roost and under them on the dropping boards.

A lousy hen cannot be expected to do her work properly for it takes over half of her time fighting lice.

Well, I don't know what to think. One issue I requested the poultry breeders to write in and tell me what they think about the poultry industry now and what it was six years ago when I took charge of the show. I ask them if there was any change, and was it for the better or the worse. None of them thought enough of the proposition to answer my request.

A later issue I asked the merchants, the men who are putting up the cash or not. None of them answered. Last Friday night I was at the Chamber of Commerce rooms from 7:30 p. m. until 8:30, waiting to have a meeting of the Fulton Poultry Association, for I had printed notice of it two weeks ahead, and had notified several breeders that we were going to have a meeting. None came. Now why? Do you want a change? Do you want someone else in charge? If so, just say the word and we can get a new leader or whatever you want to term my office. And I will just be an exhibitor.

This week I will start making my appeal for funds for the show this fall and I hope the merchants will respond freely for we will need all we can get. We have in this fair circuit almost 400 members of 4-H club poultry men, and we want to encourage these boys and girls all we can, for the boy of today is the man of tomorrow, and if we can show them the way to make more than a living on the farm, we need not worry about the future farmers. If half of the club members show only two chickens there will be 400 in this part of the show. But some of them will show as many as ten or twelve birds, and they should be encouraged so if the merchants will dig a little deeper than usual, we will have the greatest show ever held in western Kentucky, and the greatest county fair show ever held anywhere in the United States. What do you say, will we do it? Memphis making a drive for their community fund and have adopted this slogan, "It Shall Be Done." Let us adopt it for our show this fall. I'll do my part.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ENTERTAIN

The Masonic hall was the scene of much social activity Friday evening, May 2, when Fulton Commandery Knights Templar gave an open house entertainment to the members of the Masonic fraternity and their families.

The features of the occasion were as follows:

A vocal solo by Miss Annie Laurie McWherter was enjoyed very much and highly appreciated. A chromatic fantasia skillfully rendered by Miss Martha Norman Lowe, brought forth great applause. Miss Vivian Brown gave a comical humorous reading, "The Telephone Romance," that created no little mirth. Miss Elizabeth Williamson delivered "The Yellow Butterflies," a beautiful and touching selection full of pathos and patriotism, being relative to the burial of the unknown soldier. Master H. F. Riddle entertained with humorous readings, and Master Ed Drysdale, with violin and harmonica selections, both being highly praised for their part of the evening's entertainment.

Sir Knight Joe Browder, Fulton's mighty hunter, who has killed big game along a trail leading from the cane brakes of Mississippi on thru the rugged mountains of British Columbia and Yukon territory to the placid lakes, turbulent rivers and wild regions of Alaska, who has the mounted heads of mountain goats, deer, moose and other wild animals, which is proof of the fact that he is a Nimrod of no little renown. Sir Knight Browder is not only skilled in the use of firearms, but is also an expert when it comes to shooting with the cinema, having photographed many wild animals and fowls in their native heath of Alaska, and many scenes of various places, having arranged in reels, by which he put on a moving picture show, that was instructive, entertaining and appreciated very much by his audience. After a few remarks from the Eminent Commander D. Fred Worth, extending a welcome to all present, refreshments were served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. The following committees were largely responsible for the success of the entertainment:

Reception: Mrs. Fred Worth, chairman, Mesdames R. H. Wade, Eunice Robinson, Rupert Stille, Ruth Browder Williams.

Refreshments: Mrs. W. J. Coulter, chairman; Mesdames F. H. Riddle, Max Cummings, M. F. DeMyer, Birdie Polk.

Program: Mrs. Rebecca McWherter, chairman; Miss Annie Laurie McWherter, assistant.

HIGHWAY 51 TO HAVE A "BLACK TOP" SURFACE

West Kentucky is coming into its own so far as receiving attention from the State highway commission is concerned and ere the year has flown this extreme west end of the state—the most productive part of Kentucky—is to have three hard surfaced roads. The appropriation for the construction of these roads, together with ten other roads in the State—all of them U. S. highways—was made by the State highway commission last Friday, and the State highway engineer was directed to forthwith advertise the lettings of the contracts. The engineer said that he could be ready to let the contracts by June 6.

R. M. Shelbourne, member of the commission from this district, stated upon his return from Frankfort Saturday that it is the intention of the commission to complete all this work this year, and that each contract will mean the closing of gaps which have heretofore been left, much to the detriment of the state.

U. S. highway No. 51 will be completed with a hard surface between Wickliffe and Fulton, thus completing the 29 mile gap between Illinois and Tennessee and giving tourists a hard road from the extreme northwest to the Gulf of Mexico. It is the shortest and best route between the north and the south and is preferred by tourists.

Place your telephone on "Temporary Suspension" During your vacation . . .

It is not necessary for you to give up your telephone when you go away on your vacation. You can have your service suspended during your absence, and restored promptly on your return.

The "temporary suspension" plan offered telephone subscribers eliminates such items as the signing of a new contract on your return; time required for a new installation; and the loss of your present number and listing in the directory.

Under the "temporary suspension" plan, persons calling your number are informed that your telephone is "temporarily suspended," thus indicating to your friends that you are out of town.

The "temporary suspension" plan is available whenever you will be absent from home for a period of not less than one month nor more than four months. The rate for telephone service under this convenient arrangement is one-half your regular rate.

POULTRY FACTS

SOY BEANS USEFUL IN LAYING RATION

Vegetable Protein Con- centrates Used in Test.

Recent experiments with the use of vegetable protein concentrates have shown that a complete or at least a partial substitution may be made. The work has been largely with cottonseed and soy bean meal with little if any work on ground soy beans. The success of these vegetable protein concentrates depends upon two factors. First a larger amount is necessary in the mash because they do not run as high in protein as do meat scrap and tankage. Second, since they are low in mineral, additional mineral must be added to make up for this deficiency. The Missouri agricultural experiment station has fed the following mash to laying hens:

Bran	22 lbs.
Shorts	22 lbs.
Corn meal	22 lbs.
Cottonseed or soy bean meal	20 lbs.
Bone meal	4 lbs.
Salt	1 lb.

The above mash constituted about one-third of the ration. It was kept before the hens all the time and in addition a moist, crumbly mash was fed once daily. No meat or milk was employed in the diet. The balance of the ration consisted of corn and oats and regular methods of feeding hens were employed. Oyster shells or lime-stone rock was before the hens all the time.

Such a ration produced as many eggs per hen as did similar rations in which the mash contained 20 per cent meat scrap or tankage instead of the cottonseed or soy bean meal. The results were not satisfactory unless the bone meal and salt was added. A year's test with ground soy beans failed to produce quite as many eggs as did cottonseed meal. This may be due to the fact that the ground beans were higher in fat and as a result the ration was not properly balanced. A partial substitution may be made and the following mash is recommended:

Bran	24 lbs.
Shorts	24 lbs.
Cornmeal	24 lbs.
Ground soy beans	15 lbs.
Tankage	10 lbs.
Bone meal	2 lbs.
Salt	1 lb.

This should be kept in open troughs before the hens all the time and fed the same as any regular laying mash. It may be that a larger percentage of the beans may be used but it is advisable to await further investigation before following this practice.

Direct Sunlight for Layers Is Essential

A simple, inexpensive and effective way to secure direct sunlight for the layers is to fill in about ten square feet of space at the south side of the house with an eight-inch layer of cinders. The space may well be enclosed to keep the fowls from contaminated soil. In exposed locations it may be necessary to provide a wind break of some kind. Chickens dislike wind and will stay inside to avoid it.

Cinders are especially effective. Because of their dark color they absorb heat from the sun, causing any snow or ice to melt with the first appearance of sunshine. This permits the birds to get out on the warm, dry cinders and bask in the direct sunshine even though the ground is still wet and cold.

Feeding New Corn

Where there is a shortage of corn that is dry enough to grind, a mash that will serve quite well for a short period of feeding can be made up of the following ingredients: 100 pounds of ground oats, 10 pounds of tankage or meat scraps and one pound of salt. If barley is available, 50 pounds barley and 50 pounds of oats are better than using oats alone. This mash should not be fed as a permanent laying ration, however, but just as an emergency ration.

Pullets Begin Laying

As a rule, pullets lay more eggs during their first laying season than during any subsequent season. Consequently, if hatchlings are correctly timed so that plenty of pullets will be brought to maturity some time during the latter part of September, a banner winter egg season is bound to follow. Pullets hatched during February or March, according to breed, should begin laying just about the right time for winter eggs when prices are highest.

Gapeworms Kill

A poultryman in Washington, D. C. lost 75 per cent of several hundred chicks from gapeworms. Investigation showed that this loss resulted from the use of one of the poultryman's fields for about 24 hours, as a resting place for a flock of turkeys being driven overland. The chickens became infested by gapeworms left by the turkey flock. In addition to producing the noticeable symptoms of gapeworms, by obstructing the windpipe the chicks did not thrive.

LATE AGAIN

The city business man was spending a few days holiday in the country, but by four o'clock in the morning of the first day could not sleep, so he decided to dress and go for a long walk.

"They may talk about the country folk being early risers," he told himself, "but I reckon I've scored off them this time."

Presently he came upon a farm a holer trimming the hedges.

"Morning," said the city man airily.

"Nice morning."

"You be right, sor," replied the other, "but it were real cold first thing."

Boys 'CookieJar' Idea For Pigs Helps Win State Prize

When the little pigs start eating with their mother it is time to build a Creep for them.

This is how the boy that won two state pig growing contests built a pig creep. The little pigs own special 'cookie jar' (self-feeder) was kept filled with growing feed.

CREEP HELPS BABY PIGS GROW RAPIDLY

Pushed pigs prove profitable pigs, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute in recommending creeps for baby pigs.

Pigs fed in a creep during the time when they are between four weeks and eight weeks of age have the advantage of rapid development at the earliest age at which they can be pushed and, at the same time they pass through the weaning stage scarcely noticing the removal of their mother. Baby pigs will begin to eat ground grain and drink skim milk when around three to four weeks of age and are usually weaned when they are eight to ten weeks of age. It is during this time they get a good start or a poor start towards maturity. Since profitable pork production is mostly a problem in efficient feeding for quick growth, a creep for little pigs offers the first chance to get pigs started on quick-growing feed. Development of the habit of eating full feeds in later life cannot be started too early. Through the use of a creep, the young pig learns the feed cafeteria or self-feeder is always open day or night and so gets the habit of eating and keeps itself growing continuously. Both of the last two Maryland pig growing contests were won by a boy who provided creeps leading to a special pen containing what is described in boy's language as a "cookie jar," or self-feeder, filled with the pig's own special growing feed. A creep like the one illustrated here can be arranged in the hog house during the cold weather season for fall-farrowed pigs, or out of doors for spring pigs. The openings merely admit the pigs and keep out the larger hogs. A small feeder or a trough, if there is nothing else to hold feed, can be put to profitable use inside the creep. Baby pigs can be started on ground corn and middlings, skim milk and shelled corn.

The first few weeks is the critical time in the pig's life. Warmth, dry bedding, exercise and sanitary conditions are absolutely necessary.

RIGHT-OF-WAY IS OFTEN PUZZLING

In Many States Courts Will Rule in Favor of Car on the Right Hand.

When two motorists, driving at right angles to each other, meet at an intersection, some skillful bluffing sometimes takes place. Frequently, the holder of the two secures the right of way.

Right-of-Way Law.

Should a collision occur, however, courts in those states where the right-of-way law prevails will rule in favor of the vehicle approaching from the right, and against the car owner on the left, according to the law department of the Chicago Motor club, which declared that the courts hold the right hand right-of-way rule in high regard.

Many states have incorporated this right-of-way regulation in their motor vehicle laws. The regulation provides, in substance, that motor vehicles traveling upon public highways shall give the right-of-way to vehicles approaching along intersecting highways from the right and shall have the right-of-way over those approaching from the left. This regulation does not apply, however, where main highways and secondary highways intersect, nor at the intersections of through streets and ordinary thoroughfares. The stop signs or other regulations in force at those points shall indicate the right-of-way.

Excerpts From Decision.

As an example of the manner in which courts decide right-of-way cases, the motor club law department cited excerpts from the decision of the Illinois Appellate court in the case of Johnson vs. Duke. A large touring car being driven east, according to the evidence, came to an intersection and collided with the left side of a truck being driven north. Part of the decision follows:

"Under the circumstances appellee (the truck owner) had the right-of-way. While this right would not relieve him from the duty of exercising due care, he was entitled to assume that persons approaching on his left would observe the law and respect his right."

Motor Bus Now Fixture on Streets of Warsaw

Five years ago motor busses were a failure in Warsaw, Poland. During 1925 only 740,000 passengers were carried on all the lines. The motor bus was introduced in 1920. Today Warsaw's new bus system, inaugurated in June, 1925, carries more passengers in one month than it did during all of 1925.

Bad equipment and bad streets were responsible for the failure of the original lines. It was quite natural that the people preferred the smoother riding tramways, even though they were still as crowded with straphangers like the New York subways at rush hours.

Night Driving Assisted by Efficient Headlights

Motorists who use radiator glycerin headlights in their cooling systems find that it is often helpful to have a small bottle of the solution handy in the pocket of the car. Among the many uses found for the substance is that of making headlights more efficient during rainy weather. Each drop of water or particle of ice forming on the glass acts like a tiny lens, and the light rays are reflected in all directions. A few drops of glycerin applied to the headlight lens will help to keep the glass free from collected moisture and result in better light and a clearer view of the road.

OXYGEN-PROPELLED AUTOMOBILE IS NEW

Vallier, who has distinguished himself as a driver of rocket automobiles, is shown here at the wheel of a new type oxygen-propelled machine with which he attained a speed of more than seventy miles per hour.

THE MOTOR QUIZ

How Many Can You Answer?

Q. How many automobiles entered the national parks in 1925?

Ans. According to government reports, 295,000.

Q. What countries bar the use of certain automobile body colors and why?

Ans. China bars red on account of its religious significance, while Spain prohibits the use of blue because it is the color of the royal family.

Q. Why should spark plugs be securely screwed into the cylinder after installing new ones or cleaning?

Ans. This prevents hot gases from escaping between the plug and cylinder threads, which would cause the plug to run too hot, resulting in loss of power.

Q. How many automobiles were junked in 1925?

Ans. More than 2,213,000.

Indication of Speed Is Obtained by a Pointer

A new "pointer" type speedometer was introduced at the recent New York and Chicago automobile shows. Indication of speed is obtained by means of the pointer, which moves around a full circle scale, similar to that of a clock.

"Pointer" Speedometer.

At 90 miles an hour, for instance, the pointer would be in the twelve o'clock position of hands on a clock. This speed may also be known simply by the position of the pointer.

AUTOMOBILE FACTS

To save that the way is clear before entering a line of traffic from a parking place.

Other things being equal, the gas used in winter the less crank case dilution there will be.

Motor busses are now operated over 95 regular established routes in Germany, a total length of 1,500 miles.

"Look, mamma!" cried Willy, on being shown through the Egyptian room of the museum. "See the stuffed pedestrian!"

The hit-and-run driver continues building up a public resentment against his unholy works that should react dangerously when we catch him.

Because cold engines do not run smoothly there is a greater temptation to slip the clutch, and damage it, than during any other kind of driving.

Motor fatalities in 1920 showed an increase of more than 5 per cent. If this keeps up the growth in population will have to jump, as well as the pedestrian.

In addition to keeping the car looking its best relatively frequent washing will provide the artillery wheels with the degree of moisture that will give them strength and silence.

Community Building

Sees Industrial Future Center in Small Towns

The America of the future will be a nation of small towns and villages, prophesies Prof. Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia university in an article in the Household Magazine.

"The community of the future," writes Doctor Pitkin, "will not be the few hundred or thousand people around the old crossroads. It will embrace 50 small towns and the county seat. There will be between 100,000 and 300,000 people in this social unit. They will not be packed together like the inhabitants of the typical modern city of that size. They will be spread out over two or three thousand square miles, each family having its own home, each village having its own playgrounds, motion picture theater, and parks. America will be dotted with tens of thousands of pleasant homes having big back yards in which tiny workshops will be busily turning out an indescribable variety of special products. All the villages and small towns of the United States will be come industrial centers. But in a new and better way. All their factories will be new, perfectly lighted, and operated electrically. Most of them will be surrounded by spacious lawns and flower beds. Roads will be so good and autos so fast and safe that the owners of large farms between the villages will either live in town or be there much of the time, and still manage their acres with ease. Nobody will live more than ten miles from a town with every convenience and with a well-developed social life. It will require not more than 20 minutes for the farthest farmer to reach such a town outside of the Rocky mountains and parts of the Southwest."

Building Laws of Vital Interest to Community

Discussing the question whether good housing is possible to families of small means, Dr. James Ford, Ph. D., executive director, Better Homes in America, says:

"If the average life of a house is from one-third to one-half of a century, most persons cannot live in new dwellings. So our first question is to ask how old houses can be made better."

"The first obvious answer is that there should be good building laws, health laws and housing laws, wisely framed by citizens who have practical knowledge of the subject of housing, and who, though cognizant of practical difficulties, have standards that are high and sound. Such laws must be enforced by wise and practical citizens whose standards are also high."

"As no law is self-enforcing, it is necessary to have in each city a body of citizens to make a continuous survey of housing needs and standards, and to lend public officials their moral support and assistance. Because there is no such medium of community service in most cities, standards of housing legislation and enforcement are relatively low."

Consider Value of Trees

The value in effect of old trees on a place cannot be overestimated. For the new house they may form the perfect setting, linking it with the grounds and with the entire landscape. An oak, a pine, a few cedars or an old apple tree may impart the happy effect of age, of being settled and of belonging to the site.

Many architects and owners have wisely and cleverly taken advantage of such opportunities, thereby gaining what could not be had by the planting of any number of perfect specimen trees from a nursery. Nature may have achieved a picturesqueness and irregularity that art cannot achieve.

Tree-Lined Highways

A sensible agitation has been started by various bodies for the planting of trees along the highways of the Dominion.

Apart entirely from what the provinces have done towards such planting, several rural municipalities have shown a willingness to assist the innovation.

Tree-lined highways not only add to the attractiveness of rural districts themselves, but are a magnet of attraction to tourists.—Montreal Family Herald.

Highway Made Attractive

Experts from the Missouri College of Agriculture co-operated with state highway officials in the beautification of federal highway No. 10, from Kansas City to St. Louis. The college made a soil survey along the highway to determine what types of grass would grow to the best advantage along the different sections, while highway officials took steps toward the removal of all unsightly stands and billboards and other advertising along the right of way.

Civic Leadership Important

Good roads make most towns accessible to many more outsiders than formerly reached them. These towns are called upon to provide facilities for the traveling public. They also are on exhibition. Local pride is stimulated. The town that has a leader or a group of leaders with vision and persuasive powers of organization is a fortunate town.

Brieflets

Fulton motorists should remember that the only man who profits from a collision is the repair man.

Still another trouble is that too many Fulton motorists believe that the right-of-way belongs to the one who gets there first.

"Seek and you shall find" doesn't always work. Especially work. Especially when you are hunting for a parking place.

The backyard gardener now does toil to coax foodstuff from out the soil. Soon he'll find he has worked like the dickens in providing food for his neighbor's chickens.

Our idea of a convincing talker is the Fulton man who can keep both hands in his pockets when he is telling a fish story.

And here we are back to the time of year when a fellow can't see the scenery for the billboards.

Just one more word of caution to Fulton motorists: The best place to gas when driving a car is at the filling station.

PARENTS, KNOW YOUR JOB!

By Berton Braley

Thrilled and happy as you may be at the advent of a baby (And who wouldn't be exuberant with joy?) You will presently discover that a lot of problems hover 'Round the rearing of a girl or of a boy.

Don't mix be your; some renance—it should aid, not hamper, science

And, although your heart with ecstasy may throb, Sense and wisdom too are needed. Here's the motto to be heeded: KNOW YOUR JOB!

Building bodies and ruddy is a task for toil and study. KNOW YOUR JOB!

All your store of deep affection won't achieve a clear complexion

If the diet of your little ones is wrong, Ignorance, however tender, seldom brings about the splendor

Of a childhood that is gloriously strong.

Health, both bodily and mental, isn't something accidental

And the child that stands out clearly from the mob is a prize the world is gaining from a wise parental training.

KNOW YOUR JOB!

Nothing hit or miss about it, Knowledge wins—don't ever doubt it! KNOW YOUR JOB!

Here's a mind and soul you've given to the busy world we live in,

Here's a body that is yours to mold and train.

Building bone and mind and sinew calls for all the best that's in you,

For the finest of your spirit and your brain.

If you'd raise a child that's splendid—vigor, joy and beauty blended,

Blithe and gallant—neither vulgar nor a snob—

Give yourself the preparation for your children's education.

KNOW YOUR JOB!

Give your skill and knowledge to it; love will make you glad to do it. KNOW YOUR JOB!

SOME THOUGHTS ON DECORATION DAY

As I was one of a committee to help establish a permanent Decoration Day in Fairview cemetery, I feel that I am not presuming when I express an opinion in regard to the date of the day set apart for decorating the graves of our beloved dead.

When a committee of a few women and several men realized the necessity of a better kept cemetery, we petitioned the mayor and city council to appoint some day in May for that purpose. At that time there were possibly a half dozen lots which were kept in good condition, and these became almost show places in the cemetery. For a number of years after Decoration Day became an established custom, the weeds on the majority of lots were mowed once a year. Today, instead of a well kept lot being a rarity, one that is not in good condition is unusual, and is an eyesore to the place, which for many years, has been considered a beauty spot and a credit to our town.

I have for a long time thought that one certain day should be set apart as Decoration Day, and should not be changed each year, but should be as permanent as our national Decoration Day.

There are many reasons why I have expressed this opinion. I have the care of five lots in the cemetery (the parties owning them living in four different states). Each year I receive letters asking "when is Decoration Day?" I am compelled to write them that the day has not yet been set. Last year, ten days after day had been observed, I received a twenty-dollar check from a friend who lives in a far distance, enclosing: "Please have flowers placed on my grave." Others who live nearer, prefer to order their own flowers, but not knowing the date, it is impossible for them to make their arrangements, and it is also impossible for me to notify them in time.

I realize that there are some reasons why it is preferable to observe this day on Sunday, but I believe that most of the ministers who occupy the pulpits, and Sunday school superintendents, teachers of classes, would prefer that some day in the week be observed.

Decoration Day is usually demoralizing to church attendance. Several ministers and representatives of Sunday schools have, at different times, told me of this fact. I haven't any children in the schools, but I have often wondered if the parents who are steeped in preparations for commencement, and who have graves to decorate in the cemetery, would not prefer to know the exact date of Decoration Day, so they could make their plans to meet each obligation without conflicting with the other.

So far as the spring flowers are concerned, we can never even guess at the time they will be in bloom, as that depends entirely upon whether it is an early or a late spring.

I am not presumptuous enough to think that this article will change any one's viewpoint on the subject of Decoration Day, but I have heard a great many, at different times, wish that the mayor and the city council would establish a permanent date, regardless of the day of the week on which it falls. If that should ever be considered, I would suggest that the city officials consult some of the mothers who have to arrange for commencement, in regard to the date which would conflict the least with the school exercises.

SOLVENCY OF BANK AT HICKMAN ON DEC. 30 IS QUESTIONED

Judge Warren Rules That Account of Former Fulton Sheriff Not Preferred Claim

Hickman, Ky., May 5. — Judge J. E. Warren, of Fulton circuit court, today overruled a motion made by Wheeler & Hughes, Paducah attorneys, for John M. Thompson, former sheriff and tax collector of Fulton county, asking the court to accept a demurrer to the decision that Thompson's tax account in the closed Hickman Bank & Trust Company, was not a preferred claim.

The trial of the question of solvency of the bank on the morning of December 30, 1929, at the time Thompson deposited $6,000, just 30 minutes before the bank closed its doors, was then begun.

Thompson testified that he had gone through the report of the deputy banking commission, filed with the court and that a total of more than $345,000 of the notes listed as assets were worthless and uncollectible, in his opinion.

After Thompson had been cross-examined by M. V. Hollifield, assistant attorney general of the state, who is defending the suit against Banking Commissioner Denny, Deputy Commissioner Ed Gardner and John Pyle, special assistant deputy commissioner Pyle was called to the stand.

LEO MINTON KILLED WHEN CAR HITS TRUCK

Two Mayfield Youths Hurlled from Car by Impact

Leo Minton, 25, was killed, and Alton Shelton, 25, was slightly injured Saturday morning when Minton's car, a new sport model, crashed into the rear of a transfer truck on the Paducah highway, two miles north of Mayfield. The auto hit the truck with such force that both men were thrown out and the car landed in a ditch, 50 yards away.

The driver of the truck had parked it on the side of the road to summon aid after a tire had become loose. The young man had employees of the Guaranteed Woolen Mills, had been to Paducah and were en route home when the vehicle collided.

Funeral services for Minton was held at Hopewell Church, three miles northeast of Mayfield, Sunday afternoon, followed by burial in the nearby cemetery. He is survived by his mother, three brothers and a sister.

The cooperation of parents and teachers is essential in order to thoroughly satisfy the health needs of the child. The main health function of the school is to help the parents learn of the child's needs and to try to teach them ways to preserve and improve the child's health.

The family doctor best protects the interest of the child because he is voluntarily engaged to do so. He knows the child intimately and can take sufficient time to give him a complete and thorough examination. Parents should talk over their child's condition with the physician and act upon his advice. The school medical examination is intended chiefly as a rapid preliminary or "screening" process and is not to be depended upon as final. It is a precaution taken to safeguard the big investment in the educational process.

Defects discovered early are more easily and satisfactorily cured and complications of many sorts are thereby avoided. The handicapped child has a hard time in school and a still greater disadvantage after life. The physical defects which most vitally interfere with school work are first those which partially block the "portals of learning"—the eyes and ears—and second, the locomotion apparatus.

Children who cannot see nor hear normally often do not realize the fact because they have never had an opportunity to experience what normal vision or hearing is like. Only after these defects are discovered and corrected do they appreciate what they missed in life. An undiscovered physical defect will often cause difficulties between pupils and teachers. The child thinks the teacher is ill-humored and cross and the teacher believes the pupil is stupid and stubborn.

Children suffering from fatigue are frequently tubercular, anemic, or mal-nourished, and the nervous child very often suffers from eye strain. He frequently can see quite well but only by an unnecessary effort and strain.

Teeth are important and unique among body tissues in that they do not tend to renew themselves. Without teeth we cannot chew our food properly and decayed teeth offer a fine opportunity for rheumatic and other infections to enter the body. A little care of a child's teeth will often save much trouble and expense in later life.

Getting an education is a big job and competition in after life is becoming keener each year. Parents should certainly correct any defects found which might interfere with their child's health or his efforts to obtain an education.

A veteran married man is any Fulton married man who can fry a couple of eggs without some of the shell mixed in.
