LIFE OF KITTY IS THREATENED

The Kitty League has always been a problem child, which has found itself without parents or playmates on several occasions because of disunion among the officials and clubs. It now appears that the loop will permanently desert the D Class division, as President Ben Howard of Union City lets down the bars and rules that any club may have more than three class players—players with not more than 30 days' experience in any league of higher classification.

According to a recent ruling as pronounced by President Howard, a club can now carry nine players if desired, who have not had more than a year's experience in any league of higher classification.

There is contention in some clubs that the change in regard to class players is meeting with general disapproval of fans and officials who see a definite threat to the continued successful operation of the Kitty League. Since the Kitty was reorganized, the cost of operation has continually risen, and any move that means the addition of more expense for hiring of players is certain to work a hardship on most clubs if not all of them. No club in the league has shown a profit in a season of play, and to increase costs of operation will prove a definite threat to the success of baseball in this territory.

The Kitty League should remain permanently in the D Class, for when it gets out of that division, cost of operation is certain to increase, it is pointed out. This is a rookie league, and trying to travel in faster company is much like an amateur trying to meet a professional. This fact must never be lost sight of, and strict enforcement of the class player rule as originally set out, should be carried out.

Those clubs wishing to climb out of this class should invade a higher classification, and let the Kitty remain Class D. Otherwise, the loop will be a lop-sided affair, and will meet with the general disapproval of officials and fans alike.

FULTON HOSPITAL

Miss Leila Moody remains a patient in the Fulton Hospital.

Mrs. Thomas Dedmon, Fulton, Route 6, was admitted to the hospital Wednesday, May 24, for an appendix operation.

W. L. Elliott was admitted last week for treatment.

Dismissed: Thursday, May 25, W. C. Adams of Hickman, W. L. Elliott of Crutcherfield, Mrs. Herschel Bard and daughter, Wanda Faye, Sunday, Mrs. Clarence Martin, Crutcherfield Route 2, Mrs. Clyde Fields and son, Morgan Knox; Monday, William Morris Oliver of Hickman, Mrs. Thomas Dedmon, Fulton Route 6, Marvin Price of Hickman.

Vacation Bible School Will Be Held

A Daily Vacation Bible School will be held at the Methodist church from June 5 to June 16. This is not a denominational school and all children from 4 to 12 years of age are urged to attend. The hours will be from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m.

Handcraft, Bible stories, songs, and games will be taught.

A Big Parade will be held on the opening day of the school, starting at 10:30 from the Methodist Church. Transportation will be furnished. A picnic will close the school on Friday, June 16.

Everybody is urged to help make this a big event.

SOUTH FULTON POLICE COURT

Tom Crittendon, white resident of South Fulton, was tried on a charge of public drunkenness Monday morning in the South Fulton Police Court. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $22.50 and costs.

Bill Butts, colored, was arrested by South Fulton officers Monday morning, and was charged with breach of the peace for whipping his wife. He was fined $5 and costs.

900 Boys and Girls To Junior Week

The 19th annual Junior Week will be held June 5-10 at the University of Kentucky, with approximately 900 4-H club members from 110 counties expected to be in attendance, according to J. W. Whitehouse, state leader.

The theme of the week will be "Taking the university to the farm," and boys will spend time on the experiment station farm, and at the animal pathology, dairy, farm engineering and other departments. They will hear talks on these subjects and on wild life by experts such as Dr. Vernon Bailey of the U. S. Biological Survey.

Girls will have a style revue, demonstrations in baking, canning, cooking, etc., and hear talks on rural electrification, how to use psychology in everyday life, home furnishings, child care and similar subjects.

Elimination contests to decide upon teams to represent their counties at demonstrations have been held in 12 districts.

Nightly vesper services will be held, when ministers of local churches will speak briefly on religious life. Various recreational features have been planned, including a reading of Maxwell Anderson's book, "Star Wagon," by Mrs. George Edwin Smith of the university English department. An excursion will be made to the state capitol one afternoon.

Boys and girls will be greeted by Dr. Frank L. McVay, president of the university, and Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture. Percy Adair, president of the Kentucky Association of 4-H Clubs, will preside at several sessions.

DEATHS

MRS. A. T. BYNUM

Mrs. A. T. Bynum, well known Fulton citizen, died early Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Weaver Hill, in Highlands. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the home in Highlands, with Rev. J. B. Russell in charge. Burial followed in Union cemetery.

Mrs. Bynum was born and reared near Fulton. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. T. E. Elliott of Memphis, Tenn. Eli Bynum and Mrs. P. R. Belev are step children.

She was a faithful member of the Palestine church.

MRS. JENNIE HOLMAN

Mrs. Jennie Holman died Tuesday about one o'clock at her home in South Fulton. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Chapel Hill cemetery, in charge of Rev. J. N. Wilford and Rev. P. E. Cates. Burial was in Chapel Hill cemetery.

She is survived by two sons, Will of Fulton, and Sam of near Fulton.

CAR WRECK HERE MONDAY MORNING

Two cars collided Monday morning about seven o'clock at Carr and Fourth Streets. Mrs. I. W. Hammond of Cayce was going west on Fourth-st. when R. I. Cooke, also of Cayce, going north on Carr, drove beyond the stop sign and hit the rear of Mrs. Hammond's car, causing her to lose control and swerve into the yard of the Olive Boarding house and across the street into the yard of Mrs. Jesse Harris on Fourth-st.

Both cars were considerably damaged and several trees and rose bushes in the yards were knocked down.

JOE BEADLES RECEIVES ABILENE TRACK LETTER

Joe Beadles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beadles of Fulton, Ky., has been awarded a letter from Abilene Christian College in track for the 1939 season.

Joe ran the 440 yard and 880 yard dashes and served as anchor man on the mile relay, turning in a good showing throughout the entire season. The team took second place in the Texas Conference meet.

Janice Gilbert, 16-year-old radio actress, has often played four roles in a single broadcast. Her specialty is making baby sounds.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN ON GILBERTSVILLE DAM

Over $1,000,000 a month for the next 12 months, beginning July 1, will be spent in the construction of the Gilbertsville Dam. This has been made possible by the $12,500,000 appropriation for this project. The money will be available within the next six weeks.

The buildings carried to Gilbertsville from the Pickwick Dam site are rapidly being filled with officials and employees of the Tennessee Valley Authority. It has been reported that 250 new workers would go to work June 1 and many more will begin July 1.

Good Attendance at Meeting in Dukedom

The first Good Will meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held last Friday evening at Welch School near Dukedom. About forty Fulton men were present and an equal number of Dukedom people.

Prof. Huel Wright, principal of Welch school, gave the welcoming address and told of the progress that has been made by the school in the past two years.

Mr. Moore, president of the Chamber of Commerce, responded to Mr. Wright's address and presented J. D. Davis, who was in charge of the program. The Fulton Hill-billy Band, in charge of Miss Myrtle Binkley, gave an interesting number. Music for the evening was furnished by the Dukedom orchestra.

Rev. Woodrow Fuller, speaker of the evening, gave an interesting talk, emphasizing the need of knowing our fellow men. Raymond McNatt, Dr. Bell and Mr. Murray spoke briefly for the Dukedom people. Smith Atkins and A. R. Roam of Fulton, also made short talks.

Fancy Farm Girl Represents State in Spelling Bee

Miss Mary Hildegard Wedding, Fancy Farm, Kentucky spelling champion, failed to place in the national finals held in Washington, D. C. Monday. Miss Elizabeth Rice, 12, Worcester, Mass., won the national spelling championship and $500 cash prize. Humphrey Cook, 13, Richmond, Va., was second.

The national bee was held in the auditorium of the National Museum. Seventeen girls and four boys competed in the national finals. The spellers were guests of honor at a supper at the Ambassador Hotel Sunday night.

Monday afternoon the boys and girls began a series of sight-seeing tours that took them through every major point of interest in the national capital. The schedule included visits to the old and new national museums, the capitol and Supreme Court.

Boy Scouts Had Party Last Night

Troop 43 of the Boy Scouts, of which William Henry Edwards is Scoutmaster, held their big ice cream supper last night (Thursday) at the Scout Cabin on Vine-st. The cabin has been thoroughly renovated since Scouting activities have been renewed here, and further improvements are planned for this meeting place.

FORMER FULTON MAN DIES IN WASHINGTON

L. J. Goode, formerly of this city, but who had resided in Washington in recent years, died in a hospital there Wednesday morning following a short illness of pneumonia. Funeral services and interment will be conducted today (Friday) at Nashville, Tenn.

It will be remembered that Mr. Goode was manager of the Coca-Cola plant here.

CANDIDATES TO SEEK RE-ELECTION SOON

As time draws closer for the August primary, interest is picking up in political circles. Considerable talk has already started in the governor's race in Kentucky, with Keen Johnson and John Young Brown on the Democratic ticket and W. E. Porter, Republican.

Here in this district, Harry Lee Waterfield of Clinton is seeking re-election as state representative. Justin Attebury is out for re-election as circuit court clerk, and L. L. Hindman of Clinton will again seek the chair as circuit judge. Judge E. J. Stahr of Hickman has announced for the office of State Senator from Fulton, Hickman and Graves counties.

SMALL GIRL INJURED

Linda Kate Lowe, daughter of Kellie Lowe, received treatment in Dr. D. L. Jones' office Monday after falling and cutting her lower lip on a piece of glass.

She is reported much improved.

SAM BROWN INTERESTED IN LOWE'S CAFE

Sam Brown, formerly of Fulton, recently of Akron, Ohio, has returned to Fulton and is now a partner with Kellie Lowe at Lowe's Cafe. Mr. Brown has been away from Fulton for the past several years, and is glad to be back here.

Recently a man wrote in and asked me whether all automobile drivers were bad drivers. We must remember that there are millions of good drivers compared to thousands of reckless ones. Approximately 25 per cent of the driving public is responsible for all the automobile accidents and the accompanying grief and suffering which is reported annually.

Seventy-five per cent of the driving public does not have accidents.

However, it is necessary for 75 per cent that does not have accidents to be constantly alert because the constituents of the 25 per cent that does report accidents is not permanent. In other words, the possibility of an accident is passed around frequently; and therefore, good drivers must be constantly alert in order to remain good drivers ought to change their habits immediately.

IT'S SMART TO DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Biggest Holiday Celebration In West Kentucky and West Tennessee; Bigger and Better Than Ever

The second annual Old Car Derby, sponsored under the auspices of the Young Men's Business Club, will be staged Tuesday, July 4th, at the Fair Grounds in Fulton. This year the event will be held on America's greatest holiday, and an all-day program has been planned, with the attendance record of 15,000 people of last year expected to be broken. Foad Homra, general chairman, stated here this week.

Chelso Cissna, manager of the Derby, announced that an extensive publicity campaign is now underway, and several hundred advance tickets have already been sold. Mr. Cissna is well-pleased with the wide interest and enthusiasm that is being manifested in the novelty auto race by people throughout this territory, and crowds are expected to attend from a radius of 100 miles or more of Fulton.

The one-half mile dirt race track here is recognized as one of the finest in the entire South, having been in use by the Fulton Fair Association since 1911. The derby will be run for a distance of 50 miles, which means 100 laps around the track. Only cars from 1900 and 1926 models will be eligible for entry. Several entries have already been made, with a field of a dozen more expected. Anyone wishing to enter this race, in which a purse of $100 is offered the winners, should get in touch with Old Car Derby Headquarters, Fulton, Ky., at once. Write or telephone.

Many special added attractions will appear on the program this year. John Young Brown, candidate for governor of Kentucky, and other prominent speakers will talk in the afternoon. The program will open in the morning with a baseball game between the Fulton Tigers and the Union City Greyhounds, member clubs of the Kitty League.

The Fulton High School band will provide music for the occasion. The amateur contests are expected to attract wide interest with various amateur artists—quartets, singing, dancing, old fiddlers, harmonicas etc.—participating for the cash prizes. Jimmie D. Stephenson, Major Bowes of the South, will be master of ceremonies.

Three fast rounds of boxing will be fought between two local colored youths, John Henry Lewis and Joe Louis.

An added spice to the program will be the Jitterbug Contests for white and for colored. Anyone who has never seen a Jitterbug do his or her stuff, will miss something if they fail to see this attraction. All our jitterbugs get ready for these contests, for there is expected to be some real competition before the winners can be declared.

All you kiddies get your bicycles in order, and get ready for the bicycle race. Several score children are expected to participate. Fun and the honor of being "King of the Bike" is certain to bring out "the gang."

The Drag Race will prove popular to lovers of sports. Those having fox hounds should groom them for this event. Cash prizes with added purse will be offered the winners. Entries must be made well in advance, so contact Old Car Derby Headquarters, at once.

ELKS WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL FISH FRY

The Fulton Elks Club will hold their annual Fish Fry on Reelfoot Lake, Wednesday night, June 7. Plans have been made by the committee in charge, and the supper will be served at the Red Wing Hunting Club.

E. C. Grimes of Hadley, Minn., credited a tobacco can in his shirt pocket with saving his life in a traffic accident. The can deflected a sharp splinter of the steering wheel which jabbed his chest.

SCYTHES AND CRADLES

In the summer of 1935 I visited many parts of New England and was greatly surprised to see people cutting grass with scythes and raking it with home-made wooden rakes. This experience brought back memories of other times in Kentucky, when Maud Muller might have been seen fairly often as she "raked the meadow sweet with hay." When I was a little boy, there came the first break in our neighborhood of the old-time method of cutting wheat with a cradle. Nearly every middle-aged or old man used to boast on his being able to wield the cradle gracefully or of the equally valuable ability to tie bundles behind the cradle. The break that came to our old custom occurred when a neighbor bought a reaper, with four fantastic rakes on a revolving rod, the fourth sweeping off the grain that had been cut by a mowing device and that had fallen on a sort of table. Men followed along after these machines and tied the bundles. The novelty of the thing was so great that we boys trotted the machine until we had nearly worn out our feet on the stubbles. It was several years after this great event before any of us saw our first binder. The kind that tied the bundles with a wire had disappeared before my first experience with one. I suppose, for I recall the binder twice along with the first binder. Thus a few years in the life of one boy saw the change from the time of the patriarchs to the most modern era.

Probably a small percentage of the people now living in the state have been present at the wheat-threshing where the threshers were turned by horsepower. The flail had disappeared a generation before, as had also the custom of having cattle tread out the grain, as in Bible times. But the horse-drawn "power" was still in evidence long after I was old enough to teach school. I always wanted to drive the horses hitched to the power. The driver stood on a small platform, where all the beams to which the horses were hitched came together, and turned around and around with the machine. He was armed with a long blacksnake whip to urge on the less industrious and to give an air of activity and industry to the day. The speed of the power determined the speed of the whole threshing. The man cutting bundles was the other big man; it took a quick and sure hand to feed the machine and cut bundles at just the right speed. The man who measured out the cleaned wheat had a less spectacular job, and the boys or men who vied on the strawbale were the least envied of all. You see, the straw was carried away on a roller, but there was no way to move this around and place the straw where you wanted it. Men with pitchforks had to do that. If there is any dirtier task than working on the strawstack I have never found it.

With our modern mowing machines and hayrakes we do in a few hours what it formerly took days of back-breaking labor to perform, but the picturesque Maud Mullers have disappeared. Judges can ride through the country now for days at a stretch without making some fair haymaker blush because she is barefooted at her work. And modern binders and threshers have destroyed the job of the driver of the power and the cutter of bundles, to say nothing of the fellows who pitch the straw as it comes from the thresher. It did my heart good to see that it is still possible to find the quaint old customs of using the scythe and the cradle.

THE PROFESSION OF SOCIAL WORK

By Dr. Margaret Strong
Director, Division of Social Administration

Social work is one of the professions in which the demand for skilled workers exceeds the supply. In Kentucky many positions in the field are filled by people without training, but the time is coming when this profession, like that of teaching, will be removed from the control of political patronage and be given the status which is warranted by the knowledge and skill upon which it is based.

Graduates of accredited colleges are readily placed as case workers or group workers in public or private agencies. Their work involves the prevention and treatment of dependency, neglect, delinquency, crime, and physical and mental handicap. Some are employed to do social research or in positions involving executive responsibility.

A survey of personnel in social work positions made last year by the Kentucky Conference of Social Work shows 687 persons of which 552 were workers in public agencies and 135 in private agencies. Of this number the report shows that 167 had four years of college training or more, 14 of this number having at least two years of graduate training. Salaries have a wide range. However, few workers are paid less than $75 a month. Many receive from $100 to $150 per month, and a few highly trained persons in executive positions receive upwards of $4,000 a year.

No trained worker needs to be unemployed in Kentucky today, and the profession continues to expand rapidly, including state appointments in the Department of Public Welfare, city and county welfare workers, social workers in hospitals, with children's agencies and family welfare organizations. Until recently there have been no trained social workers in the state institutions, but progress is being made, and the need of this service will doubtless be recognized more fully before long. There is some movement also toward state-wide organization for recreation under trained leadership.

The Kentucky Chapter of the American Association of Social Workers has 110 members and is affiliated with the National Association which fixes educational standards for membership. With an increased demand for professional training in the field, the universities in the state are cooperating with the social agencies in providing the required program, both academic and practical.

(Editors note: Your questions concerning problems of job finding will be promptly answered. Write care of this paper or directly to the University of Louisville.)

The farmer who goes into the livestock game without having a supply of home-grown feeds or who has not taken the production of these into consideration will not get very far. The gardener should order his fungicides and insecticides when he orders garden seeds. In buying vegetable seeds, make sure of their source, for the health of cabbage, beans, peas, corn and tomatoes may depend on the seed source.

Barkley Endorses John Young Brown

My Dear Mr. Embury:
I have received, read and carefully considered your letter of May 15, wherein you urged me as a matter of public duty to express my opinion regarding the selection of a Democratic Candidate for Governor of Kentucky at the Primary election to be held on the 5th day of next August.

First, let me thank you for the compliment you pay me by the statement that a sufficient number of voters in Kentucky are interested in my views to justify or place upon me some obligation to express them.

Let me also say that I appreciate your deep interest in the welfare of the people of Kentucky and your interest as a citizen in providing for them the best and most efficient government that is possible of attainment.

You are one of the outstanding business men of Kentucky. You have on many occasions given proof of your devotion to the public interest, and I have no reason to believe that my own views on the race for Governor are more important or could receive more thoughtful consideration than your own views upon that subject.

But, inasmuch as you, together with many other citizens of the State have taken the position that it is my duty as a citizen and voter to make my views known, I am taking the liberty to make public your letter to me and my reply to it.

Your letter raises a number of questions which it might be profitable to discuss. There are many elements, personal, political, economic and social which may properly be considered by the voters in determining their support as between candidates.

I shall not attempt to discuss them all, to do so, would lengthen this letter beyond my desires.

First, there are numerous questions confronting the people of Kentucky for purely local solution; such as, taxation, education, highway programs, old age pensions, law enforcement, the development of our resources, the encouragement of business, the elevation of the standards of political appointments by the inauguration of the merit system, and a score of other important problems, in the solution of which a sympathetic and courageous Governor could sound the trumpet and lead the way. The people of Kentucky are familiar with these problems and are anxious that they be worked out with intelligence, patience and courage.

In addition, you are eminently correct in suggesting the importance of harmony between the State and Federal Governments in dealing with matters of common interest to both.

The functions and activities of both State and Federal Governments now cover many fields where understanding and cooperation are indispensable.

In the construction of highways, the administration of laws and policies for the benefit of agriculture; in the protection of the people from contagious diseases and providing sanitary environments conducive to health; in making the most of our educational facilities; in establishing and maintaining conciliation and better understanding in our industrial life; in administering and approving the laws providing unemployment compensation and old age subsistence; in the administration of relief and work programs for the unemployed; in the promotion of flood control, and the elimination of stream pollution; and in many other cooperative services offered by the State and Federal Governments, it is essential that there exist between the two the fullest understanding, sympathy and good faith to guarantee the maximum of service and results.

So I see, "You can't fool a guy who keeps his eyes open . . ."

Neither the State nor Federal Government should use these agencies for any private, political or mercenary advantages, or for any other purpose except to give to the people the character of service to which they are entitled.

If it is possible to choose a man for Governor whose views, knowledge, training and experience qualify him to give this sort of cooperation, such a choice would seem to me to be of great advantage to the people of Kentucky.

In the performance of this two-fold task I believe that John Young Brown combines the essential qualities needed in the next Governor of Kentucky.

He served two years in the Kentucky Legislature, during one of which he was speaker of the House of Representatives.

In this capacity he grasped and improved the opportunity to become familiar with all details of the State Government.

His record at Frankfort, whether on the subject of labor, agriculture, business, education, or the social and economic advancement of all the people, was intelligent, constructive and altogether creditable to him and those who selected him. During these tenures in the Legislature, he showed a commendable independence of judgement. Following his service at Frankfort, he became a member and served two years in Congress from the State at large at the beginning of the Roosevelt Administration. During this congressional service he acquired an intelligent grasp of the problems facing the National Government under the new Administration. During this Congressional term he was loyal to the Democratic Party and to the Administration of President Roosevelt and rendered to them honorable and enthusiastic cooperation.

By reason of these things it is my opinion that Mr. Brown possesses an intimate and comprehensive knowledge of the workings of the State and Federal Governments and will be in a position to cooperate fully and sympathetically in working out their joint problems. And his knowledge of the details of State Government undoubtedly would render him qualified to deal effectively with matters where the State alone is involved.

In addition to these conditions, Mr. Brown, in my judgement, is equipped with certain personal qualities which admirably fit him for Governor of Kentucky.

No one doubts his capacity to think or to work.

I believe, therefore, that he would be an able Governor.

No one doubts his high moral character or his integrity.

I believe, therefore, that he would make an upright Governor.

No one doubts his courage.

I believe, therefore, that he would be a Governor beyond the control of selfish or sordid interests.

No one can doubt his good faith.

I believe, therefore, that when he says he will not prostitute the functions and agencies of the State to further his own or any other man's ambitions, he means precisely what he says and will keep faith with the people of the State.

For these reasons, and others of a similar character, which I need not here recount, I intend to support the candidacy of John Young Brown for Governor of Kentucky.

Cordially yours,

(Signed) ALBEN W. BARKLEY

No fertilizer plant can compete with the modest legume in producing cheap nitrogen.

Legumes possess the ability to take nitrogen out of the air and fix in the soil as plantfood.

There is no shortage of atmospheric nitrogen—it is estimated that there are 20,000,000 tons above every square mile.

Plowing under two tons of legumes per acre adds the equivalent of at least 500 pounds of nitrate of soda and 3,000 pounds of good organic matter.

Turning under legumes not only adds plantfood to the soil but the organic matter absorbs and holds soil moisture and improves soil tilth.

How IS YOUR Electrical? PRESSURE TODAY?

IS YOUR HOME cluttered up with a tangle of wires plugged into most of the outlets . . . as shown in the sketch above? If so, you are probably having trouble with low electrical pressure—low voltage . . . and it would pay you to remedy the condition.

Electricity is delivered to your home at suitable pressure for the satisfactory operation of lamps and appliances. But when inadequate house wiring chokes off their supply of energy, as it flows from the meter to the outlets, lights burn dimly and appliances operate slowly. This increases your monthly electrical cost for any given operation.

Adequate wiring means that the electric wires in your house are large enough to deliver electricity at full voltage to each outlet . . . so that you get full use of the electricity you pay for.

Adequate wiring also means that you have enough lighting and appliance outlets and switches in every room to assure complete comfort and convenience.

NEW ARMY CHIEF

In selecting Brigadier General George C. Marshall to be chief of staff of the United States Army, to succeed General Malin Craig next August, President Roosevelt passed over 20 major generals and 14 brigadier generals who now rank above Marshall.

The man who will thus jump over the heads of his 34 present seniors by being promoted to the army's highest post is not a West Pointer. He entered the service as a private soldier in 1902, but was a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute before enlisting in the regular army.

General Marshall is 58 years of age, and is now deputy chief of staff under General Craig. He served as assistant chief of staff during the World War, after which he was aide-de-camp to General Pershing.

Later he commanded the 15th Infantry in China for three years followed by service as instructor at the Army War College, and as chief of the war plans division of the general staff, before his appointment as deputy chief of staff last year.

Until his selection to be chief of staff a few days ago, General Marshall was little known outside of army circles, but he is said to be highly regarded by his brother officers. His new office will give him the rank of full general, the highest in our service.

STORAGE FOR BIG CROP

In anticipation of a big soybean crop this year, leading processors are planning large increases in elevator space for storage to be available before this year's harvest of beans begins flowing to the market next October.

Among the Illinois firms announcing storage expansions are Archer-Daniels-Midland, with a new five million bushel grain elevator, head house and processing plant to be built at Decatur, and enlarged facilities by Swift & Company, including space for 300,000 bushels at Champaign.

It is reported, but as yet unconfirmed, that the A. E. Staley company may add substantial storage space in Decatur, besides acquiring certain outside country elevator interests. The Glidden company of Chicago is also mentioned in connection with new elevator construction.

Processors declare that a study of country storage rates of the past few years has indicated that it is more economical to build permanent space than it is to rent space at the current rates. It is understood that some of the giant facilities of the new Archer elevator may also be made available to other processing companies.

This new construction by soybean processing firms lends an optimistic note to the outlook for the industry, and should tend to increase confidence for the future on the part of business and industry in other fields.

ROYAL GARDEN PARTY

Among the functions to be held in honor of King George and Queen Elizabeth of Britain during their short visit to the United States will be a garden party given by British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsey, and Lady Lindsey at Washington on June 8.

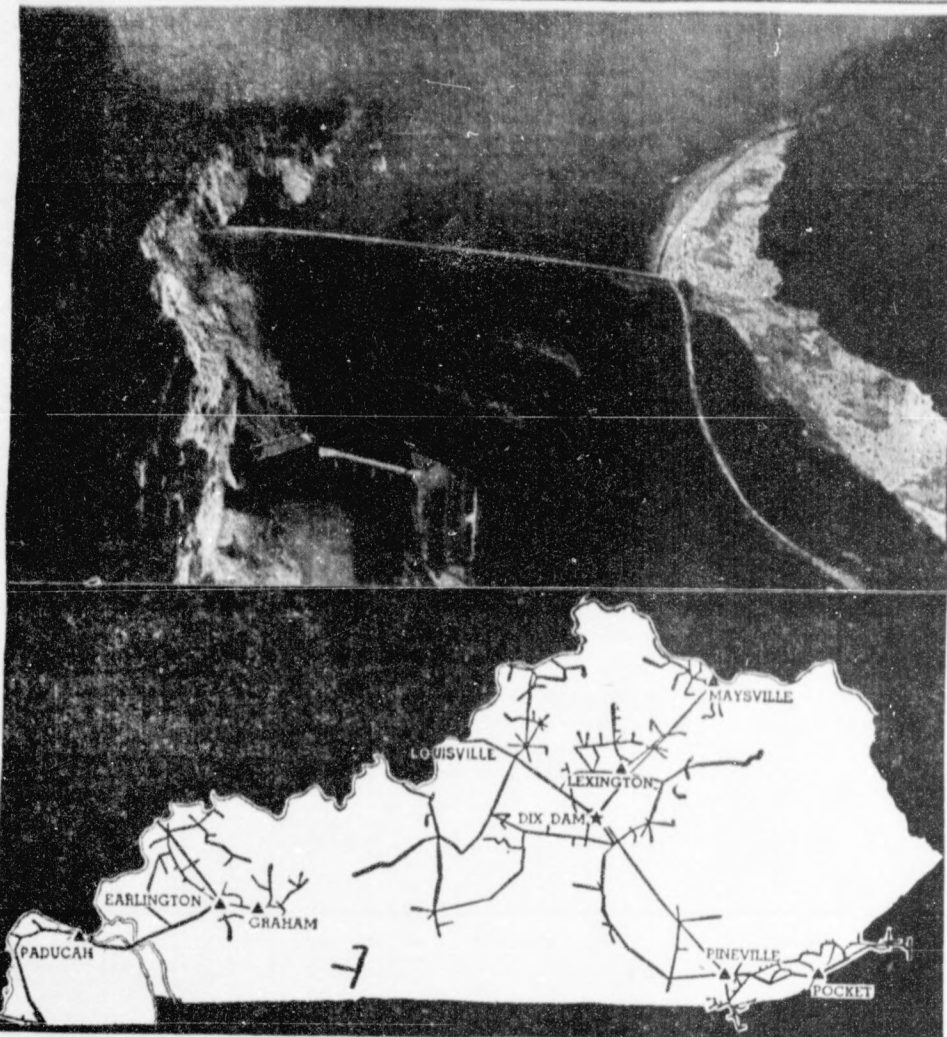

Invitations have been sent to about 1,300 persons, including all cabinet officers, under-secretaries, Supreme Court justices, high ranking officers of the army and navy, various members of Congress, and other prominent persons. About 400 persons from outside Washington also have been invited.

All guests are instructed to assemble three quarters of an hour before the arrival of the royal party, and remain until after the king and queen have departed. Their majesties will not attempt to shake hands with the guests, but will chat informally with a number who will be presented to them by the ambassador and his wife, as they stroll through the embassy grounds.

Needless to say, extreme precautions will be taken by secret service men to prevent any untoward incident during the party, and every person admitted must have the official engraved invitation.

Following a British tradition, strawberries and cream will be a

RECENT installation of larger water wheels in the turbines has stepped up the capacity of Dix Dam hydro-electric plant (top picture) from 33,500 to 42,000 horsepower. ## A JOB AND A PURPOSE

A job and a purpose for every boy and girl in the public schools was set up as the goal for education in a democracy, at the recent meeting of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Cincinnati.

In speaking on this goal, Dr. Edwin A. Lee, head of the Department of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, urged that schools and communities cooperate in making continuing and thorough surveys of occupational possibilities present and future and have this information always available for youth.

Schools must not only provide vocational education for those who cannot go to college and a profession or a career, but must supply youth with vocational guidance through the years, Dr. Lee said, pointing out the importance of the necessary help to the youth in determining for which of the available occupations they are best suited. Dr. Lee said:

"An educational program that fails to provide adequate and scientific analysis of each student's capacities and potentialities falls short of its duty. It is a vital necessity to view this vocational work as an integrated program to be started in the sixth grade or earlier and extended through college.

"We talk about freedom. Here is one place to begin. Youth must have freedom that comes from knowing he has something he can do that he will be paid for. Security and freedom in America depend upon its youth's ability to have this sense of freedom."

It was suggested that a community council, made up of parents, teachers, youths and civic and business-industrial leaders, be set up in each community to make surveys of job possibilities, to assist the schools in vocational training and vocational guidance and to work toward the goal of a job and a purpose for every American youth.

DO IT TODAY

Every building should be checked at regular intervals for fire hazards. And it is obvious that the checking will be largely useless unless the checker is familiar with at least the more common hazards.

You, for instance, can adequately inspect your own home if you are armed with a certain amount of simple, non-technical knowledge.

Look at your roof—old or warped roofing easily collects sparks and flying brands. Thoroughly go over your chimneys in search of loose bricks, cracks or any other failure that might start or encourage a fire.

Keep your yard in clean, trim condition—dry grass, leaves, boards, etc., are readily ignited and are a definite danger to nearby buildings. The same thing is true of garages and sheds—cleanliness and good maintenance go a long way toward preventing fire. Pay special attention to the storage of inflammable materials—liquids such as gasoline and benzine should be kept in tight metal containers. And remember that explosive liquids should never be used for home cleaning operations.

Accumulations of discarded material—whether old clothes, furniture or magazines—in closets, basements and attics constitute one of the most dangerous of all as they are subject to spontaneous combustion.

If you use wood for fuel, pile it neatly. And never mix rags or paper with wood or coal—spontaneous heating may result. The whole heating system should be inspected carefully, and it's wise to hire an expert for this job.

Oil burners should be installed with extreme care and in accord with standard regulations. That is also true of gas appliances. No gas appliance should be used which lacks a thermostat for cutting off the supply in case the pilot light goes out.

If your work room as many are, is littered and disorderly, you're simply asking for a fire. Keep it neat.

This doesn't exhaust necessary instructions by a long shot—but it shows you where to start. And it's a good idea to do it today.

How Would You Like To Read 5000 Newspapers Each Week?

Fulton News Among Those Read Regularly by Central Press Clipping Service

"All I know is what I read in the newspapers." Will Rogers used to say, but even his desire to keep up with the news would have flinched at the task started over 25 years ago by the Central Press Clipping Service of Indianapolis, Indiana.

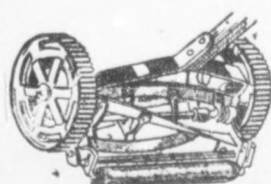

"Of course, it has been necessary to constantly increase our force of readers in performing our business of reading newspapers for other people—but they enjoy searching for clippings on thousands of subjects that comprise the needs of our clients," says H. W. Drago, proprietor and manager of the service. "There are many more newspapers in the field now than when we started in business, and most of them are larger editions, but we are doing an even better job of reading than ever before. Try to visualize reading about two tons of newspapers each month. Yes! It's some job!"

"Many people ask us what on earth our clients find of interest in so many local papers. They fail to understand how hundreds of political and fraternal organizations want to know what is going on in every section of the country; how manufacturers and sales organizations are vitally interested in learning of fires, births, new building projects, etc., which are reported only in local newspapers."

The Central Press Clipping Service reads practically all the newspapers published each week in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Tennessee. This reading covers an important and compact group of states. It includes about twenty-five per cent of all the newspapers published in the entire United States. Clippings from those papers on a given subject provide a very accurate cross-section of the country to show what a fourth of the people in the United States have read on that subject because that percentage of the citizens of the entire country live in this seven-state area—and the newspaper reading done by practically everybody is limited to their own home town papers.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

We've all heard so much about our tax and fiscal problem that it may come as something of a shock to be told that current tax revenue would far more than pay for all the expenses of the normal, universally accepted activities of the Federal departments, and leave plenty of balance to be used for reducing the debt.

Why, then, is the debt soaring, in spite of the highest taxes in American history? The answer to that is simple—continued "emergency" expenditures, plus the vast sums of money we are spending in the name of national defense.

Vivid light on the issue is cast by a United States News break down of the 1939-40 budget. While Congress has not yet completed its budgetary demands on the Treasury, it is believed a certainty that more than nine billion dollars will be appropriated. It is known, within a very small percentage of error, where this gigantic sum of money will be spent. Close to $1,400,000,000 will go for national defense, as against the $500,000,000 appropriated to this end seven years ago. Almost three billions will be spent for public works and for relief in all its many ramifications—work relief, direct relief, CCC camps, National Youth Administration, etc. Almost a billion dollars will be spent for paying interest on the public debt. Some $600,000,000 will go for the aid of veterans of past wars. And agriculture will be subsidized in one way or another to the tune of $1,500,000,000.

This adds up, roughly, to nearly $7,391,000,000—and most of it is going for purposes aside from the basic business of running the Government. The other, regular departments of the Federal machine will be kept in operation with the expenditure of a "paltry" $1,952,000,000—not much more than a quarter of what is needed for activities falling one way or another into the "emergency" classification.

So much for the figures. Now, what is the chance of reducing costs and balancing the long "stretched" budget? It is "extremely poor"—so long as pressure groups and world crises continue in the ascendancy.

In the case of our record peacetime national defense spending, it is obvious that so long as unsettled conditions obtain in the world, these will be increased rather than cut—the arms appropriation bills went through the House and Senate with hardly a dissenting voice, and were approved by Republican papers as enthusiastically as by Democratic papers.

In the case of relief, economists say that expenses could be materially reduced without causing suffering to the needy—but the administration of relief has become one of the most potent political tools, and few politicians, of either party, are willing to relinquish anything that has the power to attract votes.

In the case of veterans' expenditures, past history teaches the lesson that the veterans eventually get about what they ask for. And public opinion generally seems to approve generosity toward those who served us in war.

It is apparent that debt interest payments will go up, not down, so long as the deficit is increased, and more and more Treasury notes, bonds and certificates are issued.

Lastly, subsidies for agriculture—though they often go under other, pleasant names—seem to be an entrenched policy of government. They began long ago, before this Administration came to power.

So, as the U.S. News says, "If there are to be important savings they must come out of the remaining two billion dollars that are used to operate the old-age insurance system, the old-age assistance program, the entire administrative establishment of the Government and the Congress itself."

The big problem will remain insoluble so long as groups representing special interests and sectional sentiment ask everything they can think of for themselves even while they glibly advocate governmental economy so far as it affects the other fellow. Congressmen are only human and, with few exceptions, they do everything they can to meet the demands, sound or unsound, of their constituents.

Reports Show Retail Trade Well Ahead

The trend of American business during the past week was again slightly upward, according to reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities, just received by its Louisville District Office. Reports of retail trade were practically unanimous in showing substantial increases over the comparative period last year, though such reports were more indicative of the relatively low levels prevailing in May 1938, than of significant current changes in the level of consumer purchasing. Wholesale trade reacted favorably to improved retail business, though conservative buying was still the general rule. Automobile assemblies increased moderately in the past week with sales of new passenger cars considerably larger than last year. Miscellaneous freight loadings were 14% higher than a year ago, construction activity was well sustained, reflected by improvement in the lumber industry. The steel operating rate has advanced, following several weeks of successive declines.

Louisville reported that improvement in retail sales continued, running 4 to 8% above year ago. Wholesale business reacted to this improvement, with orders for fall goods heavy and evidence noted of relaxing of extreme caution.

WPA rolls in Kentucky decreased by 2,183 persons from April 12 to May 10. Kentucky employment services reported placements, past week, 779, increase of 18% over previous week.

Louisville bank clearings increased 21.8% over year ago.

Strawberries being shipped from Western Kentucky, with reports that the 1939 harvest will be heaviest of several years with quality of berries unusually good. Crop in Western Kentucky expected to gross about $600,000; number of cars shipped to reach or exceed 600. Strawberries in Jefferson and Floyd Counties, Ind., bringing $2.25 to $2.50 a crate. Graves County, Ky., Fruit Growers Association announced that more than 1,000 pickers needed for their strawberry crop this year.

Season Tobacco Market News Report

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that average prices were lower this season than last season for the majority of grades of fire-cured tobacco sold on the Eastern District markets. The largest percentages of decreases were shown by lugs and low quality leaf grades. Light-colored grades of these groups were considerably lower with losses ranging from $1.75 to $3.50 per hundred. Choice to good quality heavy leaf and fine and good quality grades of dark thin leaf were higher. Wrappers were from $2.25 to $5.00 per hundred higher. Most of the grades that were higher were sold in comparatively small volume and a scarcity of these grades in the crop was indicated as the sales progressed from week to week. Auction floor gross sales averaged $7.72 per hundred (including Association receipts) as compared with $11.08 last season. The quality of the 1938 crop was considered to be the poorest in about fifteen years. This was due to a wet growing season and wildfire disease. The crop contained a smaller amount of heavy-bodied tobacco as compared with previous years. Sales of heavy leaf amounted to only 13 per cent, whereas last year 38 per cent was sold.

Gross auction floor sales and Association receipts amounted to 44,261,114 pounds, a decrease of 29%, as compared with 62,041,855 pounds sold last season. Receipts of the Eastern Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association amounted to 16% of the sales. The tobacco delivered to the Association consisted principally of the lower quality grades. The Association did not prize any tobacco from this crop. The lowest quality grades that were delivered were not taken up by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation and the rest was diverted into by-products. Country sales were estimated at 1,275,000 pounds; last year these sales amounted to around 6 million pounds. Stocks of Type 22 tobacco owned by dealers and manufacturers on April 1, 1939, amounted to 104 million pounds, a decrease of about 22 1-2 million pounds as compared with April 1 last year.

The markets were delayed in opening this season due to the lack of favorable handling weather. Springfield opened on January 10, Clarksville and Hopkinsville on January 11 and Princeton on January 14. Sales were held at Princeton only one day a week, on Saturday. The last sale was held there on April 1. Hopkinsville officially closed for the season on May 9 and Clarksville and Springfield on May 10. Small sales were held intermittently at a few warehouses at Clarksville and Springfield until May 18.

Capon Route Best Way to Market Late Cockerel.

One of the best ways to market late cockerels is through the capon route, states A. J. Charwell, U-T Extension Poultryman.

Capons make very choice poultry meat and sell for higher prices than cockerels. The season for marketing capons extends from November to May. The time required to grow capons and properly finish them for market will vary with the breeds and methods of feeding. A seven to eight pound capon can be produced in seven to eight months.

Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, and Jersey Giants make good capons. Capons of these breeds make the weights required for fancy capons which is eight pounds or most markets. Plymouth Rock capons should weigh eight to nine pounds when finished, Rhode Island Reds should weigh seven to eight pounds and Jersey Giants eleven to twelve pounds when matured.

No set rule can be given as to the exact age or weight to caponize. This will vary with breeds and with strains of the same breed. Start caponizing some of the large boned more vigorous cockerels as soon as they can be distinguished from pullets or when they weigh a pound to a pound and a half.

The feed requirements and rate of growth of capons and cockerels do not differ materially. Capons can be grown successfully on grain with some protein supplement such as milk or mash. Succulent green feed will materially reduce the feed cost.

A WAR THAT IS HERE —AND YOU'RE IN IT!

WIN OR LOSE—IT'S UP TO YOU! By Fred W. Braun "The Safety Man"

A threat of war stirs action in every direction. Intense discussion on its probabilities is rife on every hand. Governments adopt preparedness measures. Huge sums are appropriated for war machinery. Men are trained in the latest methods of dealing death to the enemy. The memories of the last world war are still fresh and thoughts turn to the terrific losses of life that resulted from that great combat. 50,000 good American men died in that conflict. A terrible price to pay for peace—but wait, only 50,000 men died in the 18 months we were in it. Why folks, over 70,000 people were killed by automobiles in America during the past 224 months! What has been done about that? What preparedness measures have been adopted to stem the great monster Automobile Accident that is taking a daily toll of life and injury—to say nothing of a tremendous financial tribute in automobile wrecks and contingent losses— which if credited to a war would stagger the nation! Since Armistice Day in 1918, more American lives have been lost in automobile accidents than were lost in the Revolutionary, Civil and World Wars combined! What can be done about it?

An automobile itself cannot cause an accident. The driver must assume the full responsibility. He sets the car in motion. He steers it. He controls its pathway and its speed. He operates the brakes and he has the power to stop the car at will. He can make it a comfortable conveyance as safe as the arm chair at home or he can turn it into an engine of death and destruction in an instant. Only the drivers of the automobiles in America today can put an end to automobile accidents. There is no other solution. All the money in America cannot stop the careless driver, the speeder, the road hog, the selfish reckless fool who jeopardizes not only his own life but the lives of his passengers and other drivers by his wanton carelessness. He must stop himself!—and unfortunately some times only death will do it, but often he carries others to their deaths along with him.

Memorial day will bring thousands of cars on the roads. Most of them pleasure bent. Statistics show that an appalling number of these cars will be wrecked—so many people will be killed—so many will be injured. Will you be among the casualties? Will you come back?—alive and well?

Drive carefully—safely—slowly!

—cautiously—that is the secret of a safe return. If you should meet a reckless driver on your way, stop—let him pass—avoid him as you would a rattlesnake for he is just as deadly!

Some won't come back—drive carefully—make sure that you do.

HOSTS WORKERS

Following the completion of "Invitation to Happiness," Producer-Director Wesley Ruggles today was host at a party in a popular Hollywood rendezvous to which only the ordinary workers who have toiled with him at Paramount were invited. Stars, executives and department heads were barred.

GOOD ENOUGH

Mary Boland, today portraying one of the featured roles in Paramount's "The Magnificent Fraud," today turned down an offer to return to New York for a dramatic role in a play soon to be produced on Broadway. "I intend to stick to pictures," she declared.

FAITH

American agriculture faces many problems—some of the most serious nature. And American farmers are doing something about them.

Fewer and fewer farmers are sitting back and waiting for the government to step in and fix things up. More and more farmers are working with their fellows, through such organizations as the marketing cooperatives, in a determined effort to lessen their troubles. The gain in the membership of these cooperatives, and the increase in their volume of business, is one of the most significant factors in the whole history of agriculture.

Today's farmers have faith in their own abilities to earn a living and go ahead. When men feel that way, few problems can defeat them.

Little Stories about GREAT HYMNS

"NEARER, MY GOD, TO THEE"
"Sarah F. Adams

"Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee!
E'en though it be a cross
That raiseth me;
Still all my song shall be,
Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee!"

"Sarah Flower Adams, the author, was born in 1805 at Cambridge, England. This hymn describes Jacob's spiritual experience in Bethel, recorded in Genesis 28. Terror-stricken victims on board the Titanic on that fateful night when it crashed into a giant iceberg on the Atlantic were calmed when the band played the sweet strains of this hymn of prayer.

THE FORUM

By J. PAUL BUSHART, Editor

A column conducted for news, views and comments, in which readers of The News are invited to participate. Mail contributions care of THE FORUM, this newspaper.

Justin Attebury, circuit Court Clerk, is up for re-election in the coming election. So far as we know, Justin, as he is so familiarly known throughout the county, will have no opposition. Since he took office, without any political background whatsoever, he has endeavored himself to the people. Never has the office had a more dependable, willing and genial servant. He is earnestly devoted to his duties, and ever ready to serve those with whom he must come in contact. His records are a mark of his integrity and ability to handle the office to which the people chose to elect him, and the self-same service is assured with his re-election.

Another man who will seek re-election in the district this year is Circuit Judge L. L. Hindman of Clinton. We have sat in his court room on many occasions and watched the proceedings of his court. He is a man well qualified for the dignity of the office which he holds. Calm, pleasant and considerate in all his decisions, he has left a remarkable record in his wake. Backed by legal training of inestimable benefit, and having a fine sense of justice and understanding of human nature, he is well able to act in the capacity of judge. Up to now, we have heard of no opposition for Judge Hindman, and if he should have we believe the man who beats him will have to travel a long way.

Advance sale of tickets to the Old Car Derby to be held in Fulton Tuesday, July 4th, is making rapid strides. The sound car, accompanied by a crew of sales girls is working the territory daily, and already several hundred tickets have been sold. Interest is high in the event, which promises to be larger and better than it was last year. Mr. Cisma, the Young Men's Business Club and those assisting in the plans, are to be commended for their splendid work.

Judge E. J. Stahr of Hickman, who has served this county as judge and as county attorney, is to make the race for State Senator. The Judge is chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Fulton county and has labored faithfully for a number of years in interest of the Democratic party. He will be a difficult man to beat in the forthcoming race, and people of Fulton and Hickman counties should rally to his support. Graves county has been sending a man to the state senate, and these two counties deserve a seat this time. Many in Graves county have expressed themselves in favor of Stahr and are supported him.

Fire Chief Lee Roberts of Fulton has worked long and hard in fire prevention, and the following letter praises his efforts:
Chief Lee Roberts,
Fire Department,
Fulton, Ky.
Dear Sir:

We wish to thank you and to say that we consider the fine success of the second annual meeting of the Western Kentucky Firemen's Training Association due to the active part that you took on the program and in its organization.

The development and advancement of fire prevention and efficient fire fighting work can only be made possible by the encouragement and assistance such as you render in a wonderful spirit of co-operation.

We desire to express to you our gratitude and thanks and assure you that our endeavors in the future will prove to you that your support has been deserved.

Thanking you, we are,
Very truly yours,
J. W. EAST, Sec'y

CAPITOL COMMENTS

When the students of Morehead Teachers College, marched on the Capitol, they showed a commendable interest in the School and its faculty, but they called to the attention of the people of this State, the political "tie-up" with education. Three men were not reappointed to the faculty for stated economy reasons, if this be true the president of the school should be commended, if there is some other reason it should be brought before the public.

Charles D. Arnett opened his campaign for Governor with a radio broadcast of his platform. He wants a $15.00 per capita for school purposes and the election of the Commissioner of Highways.

The Harlan labor trouble has quieted down to a condition of watchful waiting. The Union is too smart to create trouble with the National Guard there but is intimating that when they leave there will be killings. No organization can continue to progress under our system of Government with such high-handed tactics.

Memorial Day was celebrated quietly at the Capitol with most of the offices closed but the Court of Appeals doing business as usual. The Highway Patrol suggested that people killed on the highways last year be remembered on that day. This was to make people think, be more careful, and prevent accidents. Major Hansen and his men deserve much credit for their accident prevention work.

W. E. Porter "Sweepstakes" candidate for Governor of the Republican ticket, opened his campaign last week at Hopkinsville and received much National attention when he called for the resignation of the State W. P. A. head for his political activity in the last Senate campaign.

Candidate John Y. Brown will open his campaign this week, and last week Senator Barkley endorsed him as the candidate for Governor. Candidate Johnson, Brown's opponent in the primary, said that regardless of this, he was still for Barkley-instructed delegates to the Presidential nominating Convention.

Stellar Trio in Heart-Stirring "Rose of Washington Square"

Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Al Jolson Starred in Tuneful Drama

A whiff of lavender, the sight of a once-loved book, the taste of "penny candy"—such are the little inconsequential things that can bring back the past to many of us in a rush of memory. But there is one thing dependable above everything else to work this result, and that's the popular song.

So bound up in the individual romances of our daily lives are the heart songs and hit songs of yesterday and today that just overhearing a familiar refrain opens the gates of memory. This was one of the reasons for the popularity of the recent film, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." To this nostalgia, also, is largely due the acclaim which has greeted the newest entertainment highlight from Darryl F. Zanuck and 220th Century-Fox, "Rose of Washington Square." The romantic stars of "Alexander's Ragtime Band"—Tyrone Power and Alice Faye—are joined by Al Jolson in "Rose of Washington Square" which opens Sunday at the Malco Fulton Theatre.

Among the many familiar milestones of melody heard in the production are "My Man," "Toot Toot Tootsie, Goodbye," "April Showers," "Mammy," "California, Here I Come" and "Avalon." In addition is the newest hit from Gordon and Revel, "I Never Knew Heaven Could Speak."

But the music serves only to highlight of the stirring, deeply human romance that is the central theme of the picture, a true-to-life story that is summed up simply in Rose's declaration: "Listen! I love this man from here to breakfast! Want to make something of it? He's tricky! So all right, he's tricky! He's hurt me? So what? I love him! He's my man!"

Gregory Ratoff directed the film, with Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the screen play, as associate producer. William Frawley, Joyce Compton and Hobart Cavanaugh are featured in the cast. The production is based on a story by John Larkin and Jerry Horwin.

Mrs. Charles Noffel and son are visiting relatives in Cardwell, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kirkland returned Friday night from San Antonio, Texas, where they visited for a week.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, meaty or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or show poor digestion, your stomach often fails to do its job. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain, or sour stomach. You feel sick, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is too dangerous and foolish. It takes time to make the entire stomach digest better, relieving distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing with one box. ## CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, June 4, 1939.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is established, that it cannot be moved." (Psalms 93: 1.)

Among the citations which compose the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." (Gen. 1: 31.)

Miss Latta served a sandwich plate and coca-colas.

FIDELIS CLASS ENJOYS PARTY

The Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Sunday School enjoyed a party Tuesday evening at the Country Club, as the result of a contest which has been held in the class for the past two months, and honoring Miss Agatha Gayle, who will be married June 20 to Walter Voelkel. The losing groups, with Mrs. Earl Collins and Miss Tommie Nell Gates as captains, were hostesses for the evening.

About fifty members and guests were present and at 6:30 o'clock a delicious pot-luck supper was served. Many lovely gifts, brought in on a stretcher, were then presented to Miss Gayle.

Several games of Hearts were enjoyed during the evening and Mrs. Paul Butts was awarded the prize for having won the most games.

Late in the evening ice cream and cake was served.

BAPTIST W. M. U. IN GENERAL MEETING

Mrs. T. T. Boaz, president, presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Baptist W. M. U. Missionary Union, which was held Monday afternoon at the church. About forty-five members were present. The meeting was opened with a song by the entire group. During the regular business session monthly reports were given from the circles.

Mrs. Woodrow Fuller gave the devotional from the 15th chapter of I Corinthians. She told of the W. M. U. meeting at the Southern Baptist Convention, which she attended recently at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Mrs. Fuller concluded the devotional thought with a solo, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Rev. Woodrow Fuller was in charge of the program for the afternoon and used Home Missions as the subject for his discussion. He also outlined plans for preparation for the revival meeting to be held by Dr. M. E. Dodd of Shreveport, La., at the First Baptist Church in July.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Fuller.

McFADDEN HOMEMAKERS

The McFadden Homemakers Club met last Friday with Mrs. Marion Daws on College-st. Eight members and one visitor were present.

BRIEF MILK FACTS

An international census estimates the total milk cow population to be 120 million, of which 24 million reside in the United States.

Calcium, in which milk is especially rich, is the most abundant element in animal life. It is the skeleton of prehistoric man and animals, it has survived millions of years.

Six per cent of this country's annual yield of milk is used in the manufacture of cheese.

Four hundred gallons of milk are pasteurized daily in Alaska.

Milk is the most popular beverage among Princeton University seniors.

The average life span of a quart milk bottle is 35 deliveries.

The Finns, whose athletic abilities are outstanding, are said to drink three times as much milk per capita as the British.

The menu for West Point cadets includes a quart of milk a day.

Because milk is a corrective for night-blindness, air-transport pilots are required to drink a quart a day.
