1930 Fulton County Fair

Keen interest is being displayed by the officers and directors of the Fulton County Fair Association to make the 1930 meet the best fair in its history. President Gordon has announced August 26 to 30, this year's fair dates, five big days, each a feature within itself.

Dairy Show

Probably one of the outstanding exhibitions this year will be the dairy show. This department is under the supervision of men who are working vigorously to create an interest in the breeding of high class cattle in Fulton and adjoining counties. County Agent Brown is also doing his utmost to awaken a live interest among our people to the advantage of developing the dairy industry along with other lines of agriculture. His work is already showing results. Several purebred sires have been brought into the county. The local banks are giving financial aid to the work and also encouraging 4-H club endeavors. Dairy herds are being augmented with larger numbers of purebred registered stock. So taking it all in all, the cattle exhibition this year at the Fulton County Fair promises to be the best ever shown in Western Kentucky.

Poultry Show

Another feature of the Fulton County Fair is the poultry show. Under the supervision of J. T. Watkins, this department of the fair has outgrown itself. Last year more than 700 birds were exhibited and this year's show will probably surpass that number.

Pacing and Trotting Races

As usual, the daily racing program during the fair will be a pleasing feature. Some of the fastest pacers and trotters will be here and all who enjoy seeing a good race on one of the best half-mile clay tracks in the state will not be disappointed.

Floral Hall

Preparations are already under way to make the exhibition in floral hall attractive and interesting. Some new features will be added to the exhibition in this department this year that will be really worth while. In fact, new features will be added to all departments and the agricultural displays and the displays of farm implements as well as automobiles will show marked improvement over displays of 1929.

Amusements

A number of free attractions will feature the entertainment program this year. A big carnival will cover the fair grounds with their many attractions. The big night show will be the best ever, a brilliant exhibition worth while.

Make your plans now to attend the Fulton County Fair August 26 to 30, inclusive.

BEGIN CATTLE TESTS

Hickman, Ky.—Work of testing all cattle in the county for tuberculosis has been started. County Judge W. J. McMurry announced here. This work was authorized by the fiscal court, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the state college of Agriculture. Dr. H. E. Smith, veterinary with the bureau of animal husbandry, is in Fulton county. It is expected it will take about five or six months to complete the work. Counties that are not certified as being free of bovine tuberculosis are not allowed to ship cattle without first having them tested.

PIGUE BOYS IN ANNUAL MEET

Spend Three Days With Father at Old Home Near Murray

The string of automobiles ranging from Pierce-Arrows to Fords which passed through Fulton last Friday was not a funeral nor a booster parade. It was merely Those Pigue Boys, sons of the Rev. R. H. Pigue, on the back-track to their homes in the various parts of the United States, after attending their annual family reunion at the farm home of their father, near Murray.

Thirty-six Pignes and near Pignes were in attendance at the annual love feast, many of them being uncles and aunts and cousins from Fulton, Water Valley, Paducah and other Kentucky towns who always join the Pigue boys for at least one day.

Since the last tail light had disappeared from the 1929 reunion, Reverend Pigue had been preparing for this year's event. He had an unlimited supply of chickens, country ham, and all the good things available for the inner man and those who stopped at the Advertiser office for their annual greeting were sure they would save on grocery bills for weeks to come.

Of the eight sons of the popular minister, all but one were present: W. W., of Pittsburgh; R. W., of St. Louis; M. M., of Nashville; Bob of Memphis; R. H., Jr., of Nashville; Paul W., of New York City, and S. W., of Murfreesboro, with numerous wives and children. Marvin, of New Orleans did not attend. Among those attending from Fulton were Hugh and Bertis Pigue and their families. Relatives from distant points were Mrs. Dora Thompson, Allie Thompson and family and Mrs. Iva Ringo of De Funiak Springs, Fla., and Prof. Guy Burns, of Owensboro, Ky.

For almost half a century Rev. R. H. Pigue has served the Memphis Conference of the Southern Methodist church and at various times has been located in or near Fulton. It was in Fulton and in Clinton that the older of his eight sons learned the rudiments of the newspaper business, and they in turn taught the younger ones. Today six of the eight are actively engaged in the game, the other two, Marvin and Whitten, having "reformed." The Reverend Pigue has thousands of friends in Kentucky and Tennessee who congratulate him on his great joy on being able to have his boys around the family board at least once each year.

CAN'T HOLD OUT BALLOTS

Locking Them Up Over Night Held Unlawful in Kentucky

Frankfort, Ky.—The new Kentucky election law providing for the ballots to be locked up on election night and tabulated at county seats the next working day, was held unconstitutional by Judge Thomas E. McGregor in Franklin circuit court here Saturday.

Judge McGregor granted an injunction to restrain the act from being put into effect, and in another case, decided that the state election commissioners acted illegally in awarding the contract for the new ballot boxes, on the ground that they acted prior to 90 days after the 1930 general assembly passed the bill.

Flag Day

Brieflets

If you want to see a shining example of married life take a look at the seat of the average Fulton man's trousers.

The biggest temptation on spring evenings is to toss the seed catalogue into the waste basket and reach for a road map.

The Fulton girl who seeks a model husband should always remember there are two kinds—a working model and a sport model.

Another safe bet is that the better she is at petting in a rumble seat, the less account she will be at cooking in the kitchen.

We've noticed that a woman always seeks a bargain except when she is hunting for a husband.

Personally we don't care if Fulton women do go back to wearing long skirts so long as men don't go back to wearing long whiskers.

It's funny how a girl will dress up to look like a million dollars and eventually lead something that looks like 30c to the altar.

With the average family refusing to make any distinction between luxuries and necessities we had just as well start building additions to the poor-houses.

The good old days in Fulton were those when switches regulated children instead of electricity.

The scientist who is seeking a temperature of 450 degrees below zero might try stepping into a bank and asking for a loan of $500 without security.

Every time some Fulton men have to do a little spading in the garden they carry on as though some one had asked them to dig another Panama canal.

A good way to reduce the wheat surplus would be for congress to pass a law making it illegal to cut holes in doughnuts.

One thing that is the matter with this country is that too often the car parked in front of the home is worth more than the house itself.

Speight G. O. P. Choice

Mayfield Man Chosen to Run For Congress From District.

Paducah, Ky.—At a meeting of the Republican district committee here James C. Speight, Jr., of Mayfield, was unanimously chosen to be the Republican nominee for Congress. He will oppose the Democratic incumbent W. Voris Gregory, in the general election.

Contract Let To Concrete Road 51

Frankfort, Ky., June 11—Contracts for surface paving of 178 miles of roads in Kentucky, and for grade and drain work on 3.8 miles, involving a total expenditure of $2,826,617.54 were awarded today by the state highway commission. Subject to obtaining rights-of-way, the commission also awarded contracts for the construction of two concrete bridges to cost approximately $54,000.

Surface paving provided for in the contracts consisted of approximately 71 miles of concrete, 63 miles of traffic bound macadam, and 44 miles of rock asphalt. The concrete paving is to be applied to roads in Ballard, Carlisle Daviess, Fulton, Hancock, McCracken, Pulaski and Union counties. Rock asphalt paving is to be done in Barren, Breckinridge, Hart, Logan, Meade and Warren counties. The grade and drain work is to be done in Hickman and Perry counties.

Among the road projects on which contracts were awarded today, with the successful bidders and the type of work, are the following:

McCracken county, Paducah-Mayfield road, 6.432 miles, Foster & Creighton Co., Nashville, Tenn., concrete.

Hickman county, Clinton-Bardwell road, 1.173 miles, Frazer & Coker, Wickliffe, grade and drain. Carlisle county, Bardwell-Clinton road, 6.884 miles, N. E. Stone & Co., Madisonville, concrete.

Carlisle-Ballard counties, Bardwell-Wickliffe road, 8.019 miles, N. E. Stone & Co., Madisonville, concrete. Daviess county, Louisville-Paducah road, 8.342 miles, Ellis, Kelly & Co., Owensboro.

Union county, Louisville-Paducah road, 15.099 miles, Foster, Creighton Co., Nashville, concrete.

Fulton county, Fulton-Clinton road, 6.178 miles, Foster, Creighton Co., Nashville, Tenn., concrete.

REVIVAL MEETING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The meeting now in progress at the First Baptist church is growing in interest with each service. Dr. Chesterfield Turner, of Frankfort, is a powerful preacher and his messages are clean cut, direct from the Bible, and delivered with a compelling interest to awaken the minds of his hearers to a full realization of their spiritual condition. There is nothing sensational about Dr. Turner's preaching and those who attend the meeting with that end in view will be disappointed. If you are seeking a spiritual blessing and want the sunshine of love to shine brilliantly in your heart you can get it.

The song services, led by the Rev. C. H. Warren, pastor, is a pleasing feature of the meeting. All are invited to take part in the singing and as most of the songs are familiar, everybody can join in.

Services are held daily at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. You are cordially invited to attend.

MEMPHIS PANAMAS VS. FULTON BOOSTERS

Baseball fans are expecting a brilliant game in Fulton, Sunday afternoon, when the Memphis Panamas cross bats with the Fulton Boosters. Both teams are in fine trim and the game promises to be fast from start to finish. A new grandstand has been built for your comfort.

REPORT OF THE PALESTINE CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCE

On Friday afternoon a Child Health Conference was conducted at Palestine by Dr. Margaret Pirsch of the Mother and Child Health Demonstration assisted by Florence Hauswald and Miss Lula B. McClain, Public Health Nurse of Calhoun, Ky. The following children were in attendance: Glenn and Eugene Bard, Ruth Browder, Bonnie Ruth, Thomas and Margaret Connell, Morris and Mildred Lacey, Harold and M. ewitt, Austin B. Strand.

"COURTESY WEEK"

It seems we're to have several new "weeks" this year, and already the City of Cleveland, Ohio, has started the ball rolling with what they recently saw fit to call "Courtesy Week." Like many of them, it has some merit. In fact, this one is so good that we can't understand why every section should not adopt it, Fulton included, and observe it during the entire year instead of just for one week.

"Courtesy Week" is a week when everybody is supposed to be extremely polite to everybody else. The motorist slows down to let a pedestrian pass instead of honking a nerve-racking horn and glaring like a tiger. The man who jostles you or steps on your toes is expected to stop long enough to assure you of his sorrow, instead of mumbling an inarticulate "excuse me," that does not mean anything. Boys and girls are supposed to address their elders as boys and girls did back in what we often refer to as "the good old days." Neighbors are supposed to say nothing but kind and complimentary things about other neighbors, instead of backbiting them, as they gossip over the rear fence.

There seems to be no end to the good things we can do during "Courtesy Week" that we overlook or neglect to do during the other 51 weeks in the year. The Ohio city reports that it worked out fine there; that it reduced accidents and made everybody happier. That being the case, why can't we have a little "Courtesy Week" of our own right here at home? There is no law against it.

Our advice to Fulton boys is not to propose to a girl in flowery language. You might get nipped in the bud.

Watch For Agitators

In the hope of forestalling propaganda now being scattered by Russian Communists in the larger cities of the U. S., literature is being mailed to newspapers in the smaller towns of the country warning them to be on their guard. In brief, the warning is to the effect that residents of our smaller towns, where there is little foreign-born population, are soon to hear a good deal more of the Communist argument.

We do not believe the doctrines of Communism—which is just another name for anarchy—will ever gain a foothold in Fulton. And yet it is just as well that we be on our guard, ready to discourage by turning a deaf ear on the first man or woman who comes along preaching class hatred. These agitators shout against the "capital class" when there is no such class in this country. They call anybody who works and saves and accumulates a capitalist. What they really stand for and what they are really preaching is: "Down with Boy Scouts; down with churches; down with morality; down with the home and right to vote your sentiments." That, in a nutshell is exactly what Communism stands for, and you have an example of its effect in Russia today.

We do not believe the small towns of the country will stand for the preaching of such a doctrine. Maybe the big cities can't help themselves, and have to tolerate a certain amount of such preaching. But the small towns don't have to and we believe the Communist gang is due to find that out in a hurry.

Auto Guarantees

Announcement by the manufacturers of one of the country's leading motor cars that henceforth every car leaving its factory will be guaranteed for one year ought to be of interest to everyone around Fulton who owns a machine. No matter whether it is of that particular make or not, it should interest you, because it means that ere long practically every other manufacturer will be forced to do the same thing. And with a guarantee covering an entire year instead of 90 days, as cars have long been sold, it ought to be the means of saving motorists many dollars that were heretofore paid out for repairs after the 90-day guarantee was up and before the car was a year old.

It must also mean that they are going to make them better, and that is also of interest. But we doubt if they will be able to make them any safer. The fact of the business is that no piece of machinery being assembled today is safer than the auto. It's the way it is used that makes it dangerous. Take any 100 accidents in which an auto figures and you'll find that in at least 98 of them was the fault of the driver and not due to the defective working of the car itself.

Auto makers can turn out a perfect car, but they can't make perfect drivers. Neither can they make their product fool-proof. If a driver is careless, accidents will happen, no matter if he is driving the best car in the world. And it's a good thing to keep this in mind now that we are starting on what will doubtless be the greatest year of auto travel in our history. Your auto is only as you are careful.

It appears to be working in other lines, so why not try taxing the bootleggers to death?

TIME TO WAKE UP

We read that in a neighboring state a short time ago a young man invited his mother for an auto ride and a little later suffered an accident in which she was badly injured. Her attorney promptly sued the son for damages and the insurance company in which he had a policy covering personal injury to others had to settle. Of course, it was a frameup, yet it was legitimate in the eyes of the law. It does not make any difference who you invite into your car, or to whom you extend the hospitality of a ride—you are running the risk of a damage suit in case they are injured. The same thing applies to extending rides to hitch-hikers along the highways. The lowliest hobo has a legal claim for damages against you if he should be hurt while riding with you, and there are lawyers in every community ready to take such a case and split the judgment with their client. Isn't it about time to wake up, you motorists around Fulton, and ask yourself if it pays to give the unknown hitch-hiker a ride?

WHO SPENDS THE MONEY?

According to the census, one fifth of the women of the U. S., are gainfully employed—that is, they are paid for the work they do. One-fifth of the women employed in industry are married. Something like 40 per cent of the wealth of the country is owned, in title at least, by women. Stores are largely planned for women, and women do more than 50 per cent of the buying. Our newspapers and magazines are written to a great extent for women readers, and our autos are designed to please their eyes and provide them with the comforts they insist upon. With that in view we can't understand why the retail merchant who wants to make money doesn't "get wise" to the need for catering to the women by telling them through the home town paper—which she always reads—just what bargains are being offered. If you think there isn't more profit in catering to the trade of the fair sex you can find out by using the advertising columns of this newspaper.

The campaign against growing more tobacco is said to have been effective in Harrison county, where farmers are not planning any increase in acreage.

The sixth annual Boyle County Fall Festival will be held October 6-8, under the joint management of the Boyle County Farm Bureau and the Danville Chamber of Commerce.

Having secured 120 acres of tomatoes, the Preston cannery in Bath county will operate this year after being idle for two years.

The Lexington Kiwanis Club will provide ten silver cups for outstanding Fayette county 4-H club boys and girls, and a member of the Kiwanis Club will send three juniors to a 4-H club camp.

A study of landscape gardening has resulted in the removal of flower beds from the front lawns of homes of members of the Jefferson County Homemakers' Club.

Caldwell county feeders report prospects of fair profits, in spite of low fat cattle prices and an unfavorable spring for pastures.

Plans have been made to organize a dairy herd improvement association among farmers in Boyd, Carter and Lawrence counties.

The department of farm economics of the College of Agriculture is making a management survey of 125 farms in southern Todd county.

Oak Island community, in Kenton county, gave a play, entitled, "The Old Home Place," in order to raise money to finance an agricultural fair and chautauqua.

"House Cleaning Made Easier" was the subject of a series of meetings of homemakers' clubs in Hickman county.

Where Motors are cheaper than Muscle

Let the electric motor fill your silo—it's cheaper, easier, swifter. And this is just one of the many applications where motors, controllers, and other electric equipment cut costs and labor.

Electric grain elevators, motorized graders, huskers, and shredders will save four-fifths of the time you now spend on these jobs. Electric motors can economically pump your water, do your threshing, milk your cows, separate the cream, and sharpen your tools.

For farm households, Mazda lamps, refrigerators, fans, and cooking and heating appliances are economical labor savers. If you are located on or near any of our electric power lines, ask our local manager for complete information concerning the possible uses of electricity on your farm.

Community Building

States Awake to Needs

of Beauty on Highway

In the past quarter of a century new roads have destroyed the beauty of picturesque countryside. All attention has been given to utility, and none to beauty. While highways have made the forests and open country available to millions of people, they have probably done more than anything else to destroy the attractions of the country through which they pass. And close on the heels of the road builders come the outdoor advertising companies with their hideous billboards.

In the next 25 years highway construction doubtless will continue at a rapid rate, but in all probability special emphasis will be placed on beautification. A highway commission will no longer be allowed to cut through a beautiful section of country and leave that part which is most noticeable to travelers defaced with scars and broken ground. The problem has already been taken up in a number of the states. New Jersey plans to replace each tree removed in widening its roads with two new trees. Connecticut has undertaken to plant rambling roses, woodbine and honeysuckle vines over newly graded slopes. Massachusetts is credited with having set out 60,000 trees along its state highways. Michigan and Indiana plant evergreens along their roadways, and a similar practice has been adopted in California.—Washington Post.

Proper City Planning

Seen as "Good Business"

More than 800 American cities now have city planning commissions and zoning regulations, according to figures published in the American Architect.

The rapid growth of the city planning movement, which got its real start at the beginning of the present century, is due to the business man and property owner's realization of the fact that money put into well-kept parks, pleasant streets and beautiful buildings is not an extravagance but an investment, the architectural magazine observes.

"Even the intelligent remodeling of a single house may raise the standard of an entire neighborhood," it says, pointing out that the difference between profitable and unprofitable rental of either home or business property is often dependent upon the attractiveness of its surroundings as well as the features of the building itself.

Benefit of Home Owning

The new home is not unlike the first watch possessed by a small boy. The watch is probably of the one-dollar variety, bought by some thoughtful uncle or father with the thought that it would probably crash on the sidewalk within a few days. But the mental effect of that watch upon the boy is in ratio with its intrinsic value. Now he can tell people what time it is—now he is an important person—he has become somebody.

How much more does home ownership mean to the average grown-up boy? He is somebody in his community from the moment he moves into this home of his own. He is consulted about the new street paving and begins to take an interest in other civic matters. The new home has aroused his ego. It has made him a better citizen in the community to which he lives. It is a mark of thrift.—Washington Post.

Community Advertising

Industry and commerce ceased long ago to ask if advertising pays. The presence in all towns and cities of whatever size of chambers of commerce, boards of trade and other bodies, a part of whose function is to sing community praise, testifies that the value of public advertising is equally demonstrable. It is helpful, no matter how haphazardly or incompletely projected. When put upon a sound, thoroughly businesslike basis, when a city is advertised as intensively as a commodity reaching out for world markets, results are astonishing.

Alive to Benefit of Trees

In the last three years 350,000 trees were planted in New Hampshire. The offer last year of free trees was largely responsible for the year's total exceeding that of the three previous years combined. Boys and girls under sixteen were allowed 250 trees, and those between sixteen and twenty-one were given 500 trees.

This number of trees would plant a solid block of 400 acres, and if properly cared for, would yield 15,000,000 board feet of white pine lumber in 50 years.

Grounds Important

Even though your house be similar to others in its architectural details, your grounds can express your individuality. This is only one of the many possibilities which properly arranged plants present.

Truly, it is not a home until it is planted.

Show City's Stability

The number of resident house owners is a reliable index to a city's stability.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

The prosecuting attorney had encountered a rather difficult witness. At length, exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him whether he was acquainted with any of the jury.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness. "More than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the man of law.

The other thought quickly.

"If it comes to that," he replied, "I am willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together!"

OUR PRINTING HAMMERMILL ON BOND Will Save You Money

There are two major classes of Long Distance Service

"Person-to-Person" Calls

A Person-to-Person call is one where you specify that you wish to talk to a particular person at a distant telephone. The rates for this service are the same at all hours, whether you talk during the day or night. Charges may be reversed on all Person-to-Person calls.

"Station-to-Station" Calls

A Station-to-Station call is one where you are willing to talk to anyone who answers at the distant telephone. After the called telephone answers, if you wish, you may then ask for some particular person, but the charges on a station-to-station call begin when the distant telephone answers. The rate for Day Station-to-Station service is lower than the Person-to-Person rate and in the evening between 7 and 8:30 the Station-to-Station rate is about one fourth less than the Day Station-to-Station rate. Station-to-Station calls made between 8:30 P. M. and 4:30 A. M. cost about half as much as Day Station-to-Station calls. Charges may be reversed on Station-to-Station calls when the rate is 25c or more.

"A Glimpse Into Paradise"

By HELEN R. BARTON

EMMELINE'S fingers and toes had reached the stage where she wouldn't have noticed the prince of Wales had he suddenly appeared before her. But, as a matter of fact, the young man who timidly pushed open the door to the doctor's study that icy, wind-swept January day, was about as remotely different from the celebrated perfection of manhood as Ethel Barrymore is from a Zulu princess.

There were a few coats in the open grate, and Emmeline had hung her snowshoes into the hall and had crouched over the fire, striving to ease the painful numbness that had driven her from her snowshoeing. Eventually she had become aware that her feet were paining her. So, with little success, she had tried to force her numbed fingers to the task of unfastening the lead rawhide lachings of her high boots.

"I say, let me help you, won't you? You seem to be having a whale of a time with those knots." And the young man stooped and unfastened the boot lachings, removed the boots, and then, with business-like efficiency, advised her to get some warm water and try soaking her hands and rubbing them with a rough towel. Gratefully, Emmeline went to do his bidding. Ten minutes later, her father, being absent, she went back to his office to chat with the strange young man until the doctor should return from his calls. To her utter amazement, she discovered the young man there in a dead faint.

Emmy's knees shook as she went about the swift business of restoring the young man. The scars on his cheek and forehead told of either a war injury or some other accident or injury, perhaps causing the faint powdering of gray hairs at the temple, while the rest of his hair was raven black.

He stirred at last and smiled wanly up at her. Emmeline flashed him a warmly friendly smile and said softly: "You mustn't try to get up; you don't want me to have all that to go through again, do you? You scared me nearly out of my wits!"

Soberly the young man turned his gaze toward the fire as he said softly: "So many of my pals have felt out of the way, since the war finished things for some of us that I'm just another square peg, I suppose! And you simply couldn't understand how it hurts to feel that one is a burden!"

"Who?" demanded Emmy nervously, "ever made you feel so? Just tell me the name, please, and I'll give him just one chance to tell me what kind of strychnine he prefers, that's all." And Emmy's soft blue eyes flashed such wrath and fire that Link Schofield smiled back at her in a most disarming, little-boy sort of way. They were in the midst of Link's war experiences when Doctor Kingsbury returned and Emmy departed hastily at her father's unmistakable "high sign."

She thought often of Link in the days that followed, but he did not come again, and Emmeline finally decided that he hadn't cared about what she had said, or how she had looked—to drop into her life so casually, and so easily drop out again. So she thought that she had hardened her heart against him, and she occupied herself with her flowers, her garden, her music and whatever came her way as the long days drifted by.

Then, one day, Emmy happened to look up from her gardening (she was transplanting pansies), and there he was staring at her over the garden wall. And as quickly as she had looked up, he was gone down the street. For a blank moment she gazed after him, and then, casting discretion to the far winds, she sprinted after him very much like a schoolgirl. Catching up with him, she said: "Do you mean to say you'd go right by my house without even speaking to me? You ought to be ashamed!" Propelled by her eager hands he was soon back inside the garden, sitting on a shabby old bench, watching her working in the warm, moist earth.

Of a sudden a thought struck Emmeline. Turning swiftly, she looked straight into Link's troubled eyes and said: "Have you been here before?"

Startled, he flushed painfully and said: "Yes—sometimes."

"Then—you came by on the hope of seeing me—Link?" she persisted gently.

"Yes," he confessed, "it was like a glimpse into Paradise!" He looked off beyond the distant horizon as though to find surcease for the pain in his eyes.

"But, Link—" she protested.

"Can't you see," he grated harshly, "that nothing like that is for me? That I might have lived to ninety, but might not finish out five years more?"

"But those five years," she persisted unhappily, "wouldn't they be worth it?"

"It wouldn't be fair to you," he said gruffly, "even if you could care for such a wreck—"

"Ah, Link," she cried, "only those who dare to push the door open ever get into Paradise; the rest stand outside, peering in! Don't make me open the door for you!"

With a muttered exclamation, he gathered her tenderly into his hungry arms, scarcely daring to believe his happiness.

Adrift With Humor

THE NOBLE ART

A near-champ in the heavyweight class was proceeding along the street when he came to two small boys engaged in a wrangle.

"I'll pop ya in de beezee!" declared Willie.

"I'll hang one on ya chin!" threatened Junior.

"Dear, oh, dear," sighed the professional pug. "Wot's de younger generation comin' to, anyways?"—American Legion Monthly.

There's a Difference

"Now listen, son," said dad to his boy when leaving for college.

"Shoot, old dear," said son.

"When you get back to college this year," went on his dad, "I want you to wire less and not wireless so often for money."

Go Easy, Judge

Judge—Have you any excuse to offer before I fine you for speeding?

Victim—Yes, your honor. It's like this. I heard that there was a coast out of a job. I had to hurry to get her before some one else beat me to it.

She—Women will look after themselves.

He—What's the matter—aren't the men looking after them enough to satisfy them?

Precautions

If I should make a polar trip, where the conditions are so hard, before I went on board the ship, I'd say, "Show me the menu card!"

What's the Password?

Friend Wife—It seems to me that the library club is meeting quite often at Bionce, isn't it?

Friend Hubby—Yes, I admit it, but we don't disturb anybody. The meetings are held in the basement.

Shampooed

Policeman (to woman driver)—Hey, you, what's the matter with you, any way?

Lady (in traffic jam)—Well, officer, you see, I just had my car washed, and I can't do a thing with it!

Something Just as Good

"My hair is falling out," complained Mr. Riggs to the druggist. "Can't you recommend something to keep it in?"

"Certainly," replied the druggist. "I advise you to get an empty box."

Community Building

One's Own Roottree Makes for Ambition

Although home ownership has increased measurably during the last few years as the result of educational programs carried on by realtors and savings associations, the majority of American families still pay rent. Only about 35 per cent of American families are under their own roof-trees. This proportion could be largely increased in the opinion of a city real estate manager, if as much stress were placed on the spiritual values as on the mere financial value of home ownership.

"Assuming that the purchase is properly financed," he says, "the material advantage of home ownership over renting is indisputable. To my mind, however, the greater benefit is the enrichment of life itself that comes with planting one's own roots in the soil."

"A strange and wonderful experience comes to the man, who for the first time, owns his home. Hitherto he has been a nomad, living in other people's houses, subject to their regulations, whims and legal requirements. He may live in them a long time and never become a part of them nor they of him. But let him acquire the land and the house that stands on it—and forthwith he begins to grow in an amazing number of ways. He becomes established. He becomes identified with that piece of land and that house. It is his. He is part of it and it becomes part of him in many senses. It acquires the marks of his tastes. Its design, furnishings, upkeep and gardens all become symbols of himself."

"So many people hope to own their own homes eventually and set it as a goal in their lives, but delay too long. The time to begin owning a home is when you can get enough credit to go into debt for it. This provides a spur to ambition; a point on which he can focus his expenditures so that they bring him the greatest return in health and happiness."

Mass Coloring New Object of Builders

American commercial and domestic life is writing its history in buildings with its own individuality, says Harvey Wiley Corbett, nationally known architect and authority on construction.

Every form of architecture the world has known, Mr. Corbett points out, has resulted from two factors: The needs of the people, and the materials available. But it was the skill with which materials were used to meet the needs, which reflected the art and the ingenuity of the period.

With the development of this new type, Mr. Corbett says, the trend will be more and more away from petty decorative details, and toward the skillful distribution of masses, and the use of color. Instead of minute and purposeless ornamentation, obviously superimposed upon a building, color will be applied logically, over large spaces, as an integral feature of the terra cotta, or other facing materials.

The distribution of masses, Mr. Corbett declares, will meet the needs of the building's occupants, with as much beauty as is possible.

Urge Clean Homes

It is full as important to render the home safe from fire and the depredations of the elements as it is to make it colorful and cheerful for its occupants. The mission of the fall clean-up campaign is to achieve both of these highly desirable and essential ends.

Each year larger numbers of communities are recognizing the peculiar menaces of the winter months and are holding a clean-up campaign in the fall as well as in the spring in order to safeguard themselves at both times of the year.

City Planning Pays

The present haphazard growth without planning for the future which most American cities experience now involves an annual loss of more than a billion dollars, John Nolen, landscape architect and city planner of Cambridge, Mass., declared before a convention of the International City Managers' association.

More than 200 American cities now have such plans, Mr. Nolen declared, while zoning ordinances have been adopted by 550 cities and planning commissions established by 587.

Game Clubs Are Planting

Towns and cities are doing their part in creating community forests on their idle lands and on the watersheds of their reservoirs. Wise farmers are setting slacker acres to work growing wood crops, says the American Tree association. Fish and game clubs are planting areas to serve as sanctuaries and to protect the streams. Land owners are beautifying and making more valuable nonworking acres.

Age of Outdoor Life

This is the age of sunshine and outdoor life. Houses are built with many windows, sun parlors, sleeping porches and daylight basements. Homes are brighter, cheerier and healthier. To make nice an old house is to bring the sunshine in with more and larger windows.

FOR AN EASY SUMMER

THESE are the days when you are not only busy planning spring menus, but in the back of your mind also lurks the problem of stocking that summer bungalow up in the mountains or providing proper provender for your family at that shack down by the shore. Wherever you are going, if you're going to keep house, the food supply is subconsciously on your mind, and a few good new recipes will not come amiss.

We're not going to suggest to you what to take along, or have sent, because you probably have a pretty good idea of that already. It's a useful hint, however, to remember to leave your correct address with your grocer so that you can be sure of a dependable supply of canned and dried foods if the local dealers don't happen to carry your brands. For, if there are certain brands of foods which you have tested, tried and found true, it's a mighty good thing to stick to them. Not all hands are alike, and the aphorism "old friends, old wines, old books are best" applies equally well to processed foods which have proved themselves. As canned foods are hermetically sealed, they are as good the day they come out of the can as they were the day they were sealed in.

Simple Summer Beverages

Summer is the great season for refreshing drinks, and new suggestions as to these are always welcome. Here are two which are simple to make, and good for both grown-ups and children.

Tomato and Cucumber Cordial: Slice one medium cucumber thin with the peeling left on. Summer together for thirty minutes three cups strained tomato juice, two cups water, one clove, garlic, the cucumber, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar and a few grains pepper. Strain, and cool the juice. Serve ice cold in glass cocktail cups. Serves eight.

Prunade: Boil one-third cup sugar and two cups water together five minutes. Cool. Add the juice of eight lemons, one cup pineapple syrup, one cup prune juice and three cups cold water. Serve very cold in punch glasses. This will make 12 to 15 glasses.

Chicken, Cold or Hot

Your family should not eat much heavy meat in summer, so chicken is a good dish to serve. Here are a couple of chicken dishes with all the fuss and feathers left out.

Jellied Chicken: Dissolve one package of lemon jello in two cups boiling water, and set aside to cool. Drain a can of asparagus tips and arrange several in each of six individual molds, with the tips down, forming a lining. On the bottom of the mold and between the tips of asparagus place sliced stuffed olives as artistically as possible. Pour about a tablespoon of the jello mixture in each mold, and let harden to hold the asparagus and olives in place. Then fill the centers of the molds with the cut up contents of one 6-ounce can of chicken and one-half cup diced cucumbers. Pour over the rest of the jello, filling the molds completely. Set in ice box to chill and harden. Unmold and serve with a lettuce and mayonnaise garnish. This dish may also be made in one large fancy mold. It serves six.

Southern Creamed Chicken and Corn: Slice the mushrooms from a 4-ounce can, and cook them and one-half cup chopped, blanched almonds in three tablespoons butter for five minutes, being careful not to brown. Add three tablespoons flour and stir smooth. Add the liquor from the can of mushrooms and two cups milk, stirring constantly until smooth and creamy. Add one chicken bouillon cube, salt and paprika to taste, one cup canned corn, the cut-up contents of a 6-ounce can chicken and the slightly beaten egg yolk, and serve this mixture very hot. Serves eight.

Fresh and Canned

A good way to vary your salads of fresh fruits and vegetables and also to make them go further is to combine them with canned foods. Here's a salad, for instance, of ripe tomatoes and canned pears which will serve eight people:

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice chilled ripe tomatoes, and lay one slice in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half a pear from a No. 2 can on top of each, cut side up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons chili sauce, and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento, and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

OUR MESSAGE OF SERVICE

There is going to be a lot of activity in the building line this year. Architects and contractors, carpenters and masons all, are busily sharpening up their pencils and their tools, and getting set for business. It is not the young married folks alone who are going to build homes—who dream dreams of happiness in homes of their own—but many others who have long, too long, been renting the roofs over their heads are going to try this year to realize their desire to have a home of their own.

Whatever you plan to do by way of
BUILDING — REMODELING REPAIRING

we want you to feel perfectly free to come in and consult our service department without the slightest obligation. Whether it's a big house or a bungalow, a new garage, new roof or new floor, a sun parlor or a sleeping porch, an alley fence, or built-in fixtures—we are prepared to give you unequalled service and low prices on Quality Material.

LET US HELP YOU MAKE YOUR DREAMS COME TRUE.

FOOD LIKE YOU GET AT HOME

This is truly a home-like restaurant because it has endeavored to break down the prejudice based on the theory that restaurants could not serve food like you get at home. Many patrons will testify that there is no difference between our meals and the meals they get at home. That's the reason they come here so frequently to eat. Years of catering to the appetites of particular people make it possible for us to serve appetizing meals. The next time you want to eat away from home, bring your family here.

Lesson for June 15

JESUS ON THE CROSS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 27:1-66.
GOLDEN TEXT—Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus on the Cross.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus on the Cross.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Suffering of the Cross.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Calvary.

The grand climax of the six months' lessons is reached in this one. To miss the significance of the crucifixion of Christ will be to render valueless all the preceding lessons. It is not a matter of learning the lessons taught by a great teacher or imitating the examples of a great and good man, but of apprehending the atonement made by the world's Redeemer.

I. The Place of Crucifixion. (vv. 33, 34).

"They led Him away to Golgotha, a hill north of Jerusalem, resembling a skull. He was crucified 'without the gate' (Heb. 13:12). At first He was compelled to bear His own cross, but when physical weakness made it impossible for Him to continue, they compelled Simon the Cyrenean to bear it for Him (v. 32). In order to strengthen Him for the ordeal before He was nailed to the cross, the soldiers offered Him a stimulant of vinegar mixed with gall. He refused the stimulant offered and consciously drank the cup of sin to its bitter dregs.

II. Gambling for the Clothing of the Lord. (vv. 35, 36).

It was the custom for the soldiers who had charge of a crucifixion to receive the garments of the one crucified. We have here a fulfillment of Psalm 22:18. What sacrifice for them to gamble for His seamless robe under the very cross where He was dying!

III. The Accusation. (v. 37).

It was customary to place over the victim on the cross his name and indicate his crime. This superscription was placed over Jesus by Pilate to vex the Jews. He was their King in absolute truth. They had long looked for Him and now, when He had come, this is the kind of treatment they gave Him.

IV. Two Malefactors Crucified With Him. (v. 38).

We are not told who they were. Perhaps they belonged to the band of Parabbas. This was another fulfillment of Scripture (Isa. 53:12). In these three crosses we have set forth a spiritual history of the whole world.

V. The Dying Savior Reviled. (vv. 39-41).

This reviling was engaged in by the passerby, the chief priests, the scribes, elders, and the malefactors who were crucified with Him.

1. "He saved others, Himself He cannot save" (v. 42).

This jest was meant to show the absurdity of Jesus' claims, but it demonstrated them and showed the reason for His suffering. He could not save Himself and others, so He chose to give Himself to save others.

2. "If he be the king of Israel, let him now come down from the cross" (v. 43). His refusal to abandon the cross established His rightful claims. The devil offered Him the kingdoms of the world if He would escape the cross (Matt. 4:8-10). Through His death He came into His place of kingship over all who bow to Him.

3. "He trusted in God. Let him deliver him now" (v. 43).

His obedience unto death was the sacrifice which met God's full approval.

VI. The Death of Christ. (vv. 45-50).

Who is sufficient to comment upon this tragedy? Let us contemplate it in adoration and wonder. So shocking was this crime that nature threw around the Son of God a shroud that the godless company could not gaze upon him. Darkness was upon the land at noonday. Upon the termination of the darkness, He cried with a loud voice, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" He became sin for the world and the world's sin hid God's face from Him. God forsook Him, turned from Him who had taken the sinner's place. God was dealing with sin on the innocent substitute. No one can understand that but God, but we can believe. When the price of sin was paid, He cried out with a loud voice, showing that He still had vitality; that His death was not from exhaustion, but by His sovereign will. He yielded up the ghost and sent away His spirit.

Kindness

Full half our holiness is shown in simple, everyday relations with our fellow men; and nine times out of ten the best immediate expression for our love of God and gratitude to Christ is found in some small kindness to our neighbor.—Isaac Edwards.

That New "Red Strand" Fence

Five Reasons Why
It's the Fence to Buy

- (1) An extra heavy coating of zinc on open hearth steel wire that has copper in it gives Red Strand Square Deal fence 2 to 3 times longer life.
- (2) Full gauge wires last longer and make a stronger fence. Square Deal fence is never under gauge.
- (3) The famous Square Deal knot will absolutely not slip—guaranteed. It holds line and stay wires in a firm grip.
- (4) Stiff stay wires make for added strength and demand fewer posts. They prevent sagging and keep the fence trim and tight.
- (5) NO EXTRA PRICE—you get all these advantages in Red Strand Square Deal Fence at NO EXTRA PRICE.

Brieflets

Many a Fulton man who boasted he could read a girl like a book has found out after marrying her that the binding costs more than the text.

A Los Angeles crowd scrambled to grab up a cigar butt tossed down by Coolidge. Calvin is getting mighty wasteful in his old age.

Another thing that might lighten the gloom of married life is for them to develop a chicken big enough so father can get something besides the neck when they have company.

Instead of trying to patch up an old quarrel some folks we know around Fulton would rather make a brand new one.

When a man is full of his own importance it usually is a sign his head is plumb empty.

Interest is what a man takes in a girl and then pays on mortgages the rest of his life.

The Fulton man who calls his wife "honey" may be playing safe. Otherwise he might say "Mary" occasionally after marrying Jane.

Providence, R. I., has a street only 36 inches wide, yet we'll bet that doesn't keep a couple of truck drivers from arguing over the right-of-way.

Jack Dempsey says his return to the ring depends on his condition. Wonder if he means physically or financially?

A New York scientist says kissing is dangerous. It is in Fulton if the girl isn't willing.

Another reason why marriages fail is because so many girls never outgrow their faith in Santa Claus.

Clothing men say that the women buy 65 per cent of the men's attire, and we must admit that a good bit of it looks like it.

The reason there are fewer marriages now is because there are not very many men who can support a girl like she's been supporting herself.

Our idea of the meanest husbands in Fulton are those who won't make enough money to give their wives a chance to turn up their noses at their neighbors.

The old fear of big business is said to be passing. What most of us fear now is bigger business.

TAKE A NEW HITCH

Without a single exception, you'll find that the Fulton man who feels that the town's business is his business is a good citizen. He usually doesn't expect others to spend their time and money building up and brightening the community while he sits back and slacks on the job. He knows that his neighbor's success is also his success, and that criticizing or condemning organizations that are trying to be helpful is a poor way of making progress toward the things desired. If he feels like finding fault, he usually finds fault with himself, and lets it go at that. And we've observed that he seems to live happier and to get more out of life than the other kind—of whom we still have a few. There's an old adage to the effect that "It's never too late to learn." And we are devoting this brief space to urge those who haven't yet learned that the town's business is their business to pull up and take a new hitch now, and not leave the entire job of making it a better community to the other fellow.

TOO SENTIMENTAL

Young Spoonbill—Ah, my dearest Miss Shillworth, if I may—I have long wished for this sweet opportunity, but I hardly dare trust myself now to speak the deep emotion—but, in short, I love you!—and your—your smile would shed—would shed—would—

Miss S.—Oh, never mind the woodshed! How's your aunt's money invested? And where are the securities deposited?

HER LOT

Old Aunt—You've been married for six months; are you contented with your lot?

Young Wife—Oh, perfectly, auntie—we're going to build on it this spring.

Who Would?

No wonder science puzzles us. Such noble name it piles; Who'd ever dream ichneumonidae Were tiny, tiny flies?

Too Late

"I am sorry I was not at the opening of your restaurant."

"You flatter me, sir."

"Yes, the food may have been fresher than it is today."—Hummel, Hamburg.

Tried It on Sweetheart

Lady (instructing new maid)—When a visitor comes, you must announce him to me first.

Maid (the same evening)—Please ma'am, my sweetheart has come.

A SURE THING

"My dear man, what would you suggest to put more hair on my head?"

"Well, sir, you might try the wig-maker next door."

Stone Deaf

"Call money"—this we often see—All money's deaf, I fear. For though I call it frequently It never seems to hear.

Looking for the Majority

"Are you not sometimes afraid of saying the wrong thing?"

"Not so much as I used to be," confided Senator Surghum. "Opinion is not standardized and even when you are wrong you may find a large number of people enthusiastically agreeing with you."—Washington Star.

Not a Rival

The Producer—What do you think of our chorus of "Sun Kissed Peaches?"

The Author—That lot? The sun can kiss 'em most to death without making me jealous.

Fancy Stock

The Customer—Isn't two bits a big price for a hot dog sandwich?

The Purveyor—These are thoroughbreds, mister, from the most exclusive kennels in the country. License paid on every one of 'em.

A Complete Alibi

The Captain—I hear you arrested Buffalo Mike and then let him go.

The Patrolman—That's not so. I had the wrong man. He showed me conclusively that he wasn't from Buffalo. He'd just come from Troy.

Thoroughly Inspected

Mr. Nextdoor—Aren't you going to call on your new neighbors?

His wife—What's the use? I saw all their furniture when they moved in.

(By J. T. Watkins)

Things are beginning to shape up for the fair in good style. I am in receipt of a letter from Hon. Jere Cooper, Congressman from Tennessee, and one from Hon. W. V. Gregory, Congressman from Kentucky and both informed me they would again donate a cup each to be given for the best bird entered from their respective districts. These cups will be equal in value as those given in former shows.

Now while we are on the subject of the fair, let's get our heads together and see if we can have the best show we have ever had. I would be very much pleased if we can have 1,000 birds entered, and that is what I am figuring on. I am expecting a large entry from the 4-H club boys and girls, besides another big entry from grown ups. I am so confident of a big show that I have two judges for this year's show instead of one as heretofore.

Now as an added attraction, we are going to put on a rabbit show. While we won't have any money to put out as premiums, still we will place ribbons on first, second and third. We have several rabbit raisers here in this vicinity who are anxious to stage a show, so I have promised them I would "put 'er on."

I may be able to have the pigeon show I was promised last year, but am not sure yet. I am in communication with the breeder and if he wants to ship them down here as an advertisement we will have them.

There were about fifty people last year who entered their chickens in the show and if we can increase that number a few this year with what the 4-H club members enter, we should reach the thousand mark, gosh, I hope so.

The merchants are responding to my call for funds fine and dandy, haven't been turned down but once or twice. Now if the breeders will just come on in and join up, everything will be setting pretty.

Here is a joke that was told to me by a farmer so there will be no harm in me repeating it:

A man came home with three hounds. The wife didn't like a dog, and that stood for three dogs also. The man explained that he was going to try the dogs out and see which was the best hunter. He named one of them Citizen, another Banker and the third he called Farmer. He took the dogs out hunting, and came home with one rabbit. "Well, which dog caught the rabbit?" said the wife.

"Citizen caught it," he replied, "but Banker took it away from him."

"But what did Farmer do?" "Oh, he just sat back and howled."

You know a good laugh is a mighty good tonic sometimes, so laugh this one off.

Luke Reilly Says, "The Rat Died Before Reaching the River."

"Since moving near the river 2 years ago, we've always used RAT-SNAP. Watched a vicious water rat, nibbling at RAT-SNAP outside the house. About 15 minutes later he darted off for the water to cool his burning stomach, but he died before reaching it." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Kentucky Hardware & Implement Co.

Our much esteemed mail carrier, who is so kind and accommodating, and has won the friendship of every patron of this route, Mr. Raymond Norman, is now the proud father of a little son, who arrived Sunday, May 1. We, of Route 5, unite in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Norman and extend best wishes for health, happiness and prosperity.

"Welfare Workers" met Mrs. Ellis and Miss Jacob at the home of Mrs. Ruth Finch, Tuesday, where a chicken canning demonstration was put on. 31 old roosters were sacrificed. Six pressure cookers were used. 23 ladies assisted, and the results were 33 cans of chicken, 2 cans of gizzards, 39 cans of broth and seven pints of fat. Miss Jacob, who is home demonstration supervisor for West Tennessee, gave quite an interesting talk on canning in general. She suggested the canning budget and explained its application. All present enjoyed this talk very much. Also the nice lunch prepared by the ladies and served at the noon hour. We wish to thank Mrs. Ellis for her cooperation which made this day possible.

AVERY Jack Rabbit Cultivator

Setting the Pace

It is easy to explain why the Avery Jack Rabbit Cultivator is always out in front—a leader in its class. It offers farmers an easier way of cultivating their crops. Responds instantly to the operator's every thought and desire. Gets rid of all weeds and other effort.

At your first opportunity investigate the Avery Jack Rabbit. Note how conveniently all levers are arranged. See for yourself how remarkably it excels in three important ways:

- (1) Perfect balance in all positions—whether gangs are raised or lowered.
- (2) Runs free and easy—no sluggishness or stubbornness to mar its fine performance.
- (3) Equipped for cultivating all row crops over 24 inches—is out and going at all times and under all conditions.

Such an investigation will convince you that this is the cultivator you long have wanted. Its sturdy construction and all round excellence set up new standards in cultivator design and usefulness.

Back of the Avery Jack Rabbit is a century of farm implement experience and the world's finest implement factory. We will gladly demonstrate. We will give you facts and show you features that will more than convince you.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines.

ONE HURT AS STORM HITS HICKMAN AREA

Girl Injured; Property Damaged; Livestock Killed

Hickman, Ky.—One person was seriously injured, one home destroyed, two barns blown down, live stock killed and property damaged by a twister that hit this section between Hickman and Reelfoot Lake during a heavy rainstorm Saturday.

The twister cut a path about a half mile wide and five miles long, blowing Dudie Pinion, daughter of Fred Pinion, off her feet, against a post, and then wrecked the Pinion barn, seriously injuring her.

The home of Ed Mobb, on the McKane farm, was completely destroyed, as was the barn of Paul Rogers.

Many trees and small buildings were blown down. Crops were damaged and live stock killed.

Henry Ford should go down in history as the man who made the horse-fly extinct in America.

Floyd Collins Dies in Field

Floyd Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Collins, 12 years of age, was killed Tuesday afternoon by being dragged by a horse. He was plowing at his home near Chapel Hill. He was dead when he was found. The funeral service was held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at Chapel Hill church, conducted Rev. A. C. Moore, and burial followed in the church cemetery, in charge of the Fulton Undertaking Company.

The deceased is survived by his parents, five sisters and two brothers, and many friends who will grieve over his untimely death.

The family will have the sympathy of many friends in the unexpected death of their loved one.

Most Fulton fathers find it easy to set a good example for the youngsters but a whale of a job to make it hatch.
