THE LISTENING POST

● And so we are back to baseball again. For weeks we have been having baseball players in town and many games have been played. We have had a team from Michigan doing its spring training here and the local team came in before the Michiganders left town. For a time we had so many ball players here that there was a sort of mild boom here with restaurants and rooming houses. This was all very well. During the past few days we have had games with Union City and Jackson. These were all milk and cider affairs, with little interest, and there were only a few half hearted yelps of protest on close decisions by the umpires. The rival managers slapped each other on the back, laughed at reverses and in general gave the impression that a baseball game more or less did not amount to anything.

● Now we are getting down to the real thing. Monday afternoon the Mayfield Browns come to town, and when the Browns come to town during the regular season there is a feeling of tension and strain. For now the ball games mean something. Every game from now on will count in the final standing, and there will be no more of this soft stuff. Every movement that is made will be designed to count, and umpires will begin to feel that pricking of the spine when hostile words roll out from the stands. We will see rival managers talking and gesticulating earnestly and every point will be worked for with unflinching zeal. For this game Monday is the real McCoy. Perhaps the first game or so will not seemingly amount to so much, but that will only mean that we are building up to the real thing. Baseball in the Kitty is a personal affair. Each town believes in its team, in its manager; most of the fans think the umpires make plenty of mistakes and the fans who go to home town games and the fans who go with their team to another town think that it is their duty to uphold the team with loud and continued vocal efforts.

● It seems a long time ago that we were battling Mayfield. The winter has been long and eventful. Many of us are glad to welcome baseball again, but all of us realize that we may be looking at the last season of the Kitty. The league may make it through the season, but it does not appear likely that all the eight starting teams will finish. Some of the clubs which have had two or three bad years in succession are starting again on a shoestring, with the hope that a winning team may carry them through. Another losing streak may blast them out. Over all hangs the shadow of war. War seems just around the corner, and even if it does not come this summer we will likely see many of the players who start the season called to army service before the season is far along.

● These are the gloomy thoughts which come to many of us as we watch spring merge into summer. But there will be few gloomy thoughts here Monday afternoon. We are going to have a holiday and we are going to welcome baseball back. We will have bands and parades and ceremonies preceding the game, and we are going to fill Fairfield to the limit. New seats have been added, the place has been cleaned up and the club promises the public that Monday afternoon will be, as the colored folks generally say, "one more glorious time."

● Friends in Mayfield tell me that they have another fence busting team, and those Graves County folks are coming down Monday like a swarm of devastating locusts. Let Fulton people rally to meet them--let's start baseball in good fashion for the season of 1941.

Walkout Threats Develop At U. S. Ship Work Yards

AFL Orders 925 Not To Work At Boston Because Of W. P. A. Labor

Threats of walkout by AFL craftsmen at the Boston Navy yard and at six shipbuilding and repair yards in the San Francisco area developed yesterday.

Some 2,400 AFL machinists called a strike at the Bethlehem shipyard, San Francisco, and five repair plants for midnight. They demanded a pay boost from $1 to $1.15 an hour-with double pay for overtime.

Protest WPA Labor

At Boston, 925 AFL men received instructions from union officials not to report for work on Monday at the Navy yard had the Naval drydock because of employment of WPA labor.

Meantime, a dispute between CIO union men and the management of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company's plant at Pittsburgh was settled. The exact nature of the agreement reached was not announced, but the union had asked higher wages and a renewal of its contract.

Board Gets Strike

The Labor Department turned over to the mediation board a strike involving 900 employees of the United Engineering and Foundry Company, Vandergrift, Pa. Members of the CIO, the strikers were said to be asking higher pay and a union ship. The company has contracts for artillery parts for the Army.

At Detroit, more than 6,000 building trades workers quit their jobs in support of a strike by building supply yard trackers. The Building Trade Council (AFL) said defense construction would not be affected. The truckers seek wage increases.

The CIO gave notice of intention to strike at plants of the Murray Corporation, makers of automobile bodies and airplane sub-assemblies. Grievances at the Murray shop in Belding, Mich., were involved, union men said but no details were given.

Consumer Credit Curb Is Urged As Brake Against Inflation

Philadelphia, — Immediate and strict checks on consumer credit to prevent inflation and provide a method of increasing savings for national defense were advocated Thursday by Dr. William Trufant Foster, director of the Pollack Foundation of Economic Research.

"The first reason why we need consumer credit control is to curb the competition of private consumption with defense consumption," he said in an address prepared for the 125th conference of the National Association of Mutual Saving Banks.

Wants Curb On Inflation

"The second reason," continued the economist, "may prove even more important: We need credit controls to help curb inflation. By inflation I mean a flow of purchasing power to consumers in excess of the flow of goods offered for sale. Inflation, so defined, already is here."

Attributing the largest increase in consumer debts to installment selling, Dr. Foster commented: "Installment sales agencies could

House Of David To Play Tigers Here Sunday

The famed House of David nine will play an exhibition game with the Fulton Tigers tomorrow afternoon at Fairfield, the game being called at 2:30. This will be the final exhibition game for the Tigers, as the regular season will open Monday afternoon, the first game to be played with Mayfield. An admission of 25c will be charged for the game tomorrow.

The Tigers have added a pitcher and a catcher to their roster. Julian Burgess, the Arkansas school teacher, who pitched for Hoptown last year, has arrived here and will play with the Tigers. The new catcher is Ivy, who was with Paducah the latter part of the season last year.

CHIRILLO FAMILY MAKES OUSTER ORDER HOLLOW

White Plains, N. Y. — Westchester County is going to deport Rosario Chirillo and his two children to Wooster, Ohio, their former home, because they became public charges in 1939 before residing in the county a year.

Chirillo, a cobbler, established himself in business and offered to refund the $116 relief money he had received. The county chose to battle for a principle and won, but Chirillo says he'll come back from Wooster on the next train and authorities agree that he can't be deported another time unless he seeks relief again.

10,000 Americans Are Now Aiding British In Various Services

London. — Ten thousand Americans, most of them under twenty-five, are fighting with Britain and her allies, Robert Hutchinson, chairman of the American Eagle Club, said Thursday.

The Eagle Club is a sort of super-canteen for Americans on this side of the Atlantic and for other forces. It is maintained by private contributions, plus profits from low prices charged the troops.

Hutchinson and Mrs. Hutchinson, known as the father and mother of the Eagle Club, say they knew hundreds of the volunteers from the United States by name and thousands by their faces.

"The largest number is with the Canadians," said Hutchinson. "But you find American boys everywhere."

Found In All Services

A number of those in England were caught in German invasions of European countries, and finally made their way to London. "We meet them in the Free

French and even in the Free Rumanian forces," said Hutchinson. With his wife, who is a daughter of Richard Le Gallienne, Hutchinson is leaving Britain shortly for a tour of the United States. He hopes to raise funds to expand the Eagle Club.

"We particularly need a dormitory for these boys," he said. "We close early and have to turn them out into the blackout."

Hutchinson said many persons had the idea the life of a soldier in this war was comparatively easy.

"I know better," he said. "I have seen them come in here after being bombed out, after operating anti-aircraft guns and after working with bomb damage until they are tired, dog tired."

The Eagle Club is the one place in wartime London where an American can buy a hamburger for less than 10 cents and coffee that tastes American.

Two-Way Radio Saved Air Cadets From Storm

Montgomery, Ala. — A dramatic example of the value of two-way radio communication in the Army Air Corps training program occurred here recently when a gale arose suddenly.

One hundred and five flying cadets, from the Army's basic school, Gunter Field, were in the air at the time the meteorological officer reported a dangerous wind approaching.

Radio instructions brought all the students down, the least experienced landing first.

In some instances radioed orders were given to students who had their landing flaps too high or too low for the peculiar situation.

All landed safely.

Nazi Error Brings Downpour Of Bombs

Suddenly the ground below is flooded with light.

A Nazi air field. The R. A. F. man unloads his bombs, speeds away. Lights blink out instantly. Did you guess? The German ground crew mistook the identity of the plane. The story is from British Press Service.

False Alarm Burns Up School Chief

Trinidad, Colo., — When bad weather comes they no longer use the fire siren to signal "No school today" in Trinidad. Therein lies this story:

It was 8 a. m. on a cold, miserable day. The telephone at fire headquarters tinkled.

"This is School Superintendent Ross," said a voice to the fire captain. "Please pound the siren to let people know there will be no school today because of the weather."

In time-honored fashion the signal blew. Children whooped, and stayed home.

Most surprised person in the city was Ross.

"Someone impersonated me," he said. "We won't use the siren any more."

Fall Kills Baby Mother Tries To Save In Fire

Boston. —The attempt of a mother to save her 5-month-old baby from a lodging house fire by passing him across a four-foot areaway to persons in a window of another building ended tragically Thursday with the child falling thirty feet to his death.

Mrs. Alice Bower, 37, the mother, herself plunged from a third floor window in a frantic effort to grasp the boy as he fell and was taken, seriously injured, to a hospital.

The accident happened just prior to the arrival of firemen. The flames drove seventeen persons from the four-story house and caused damage estimated at $6,500.

Vichy Government Says That Nazis Have Made Armistice Terms Easier

Vichy. — The German-French armistice must be modified, a semi-official French source said Thursday, because of "the dragging out of the war."

The nature of the suggested modification was not disclosed. Various unconfirmed reports of German demands on the Vichy government have included passage for German troops through the unoccupied zone, naval bases on the Mediterranean, and Axis leeway in French North Africa.

France to Collaborate

Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan returned Thursday from a Paris conference at which he reached agreement with Germany easing restrictions between occupied and unoccupied zones and "envisaging" a 100,000,000-franc reduction in the daily 400,000,000-franc payment to the German Army of Occupation.

In return for these concessions it was said France would collaborate further with Germany in an undisclosed manner.

35 To 40 Italians Are Rounded Up For Possible Deportation

New York. —Fashionable hotels, clubs and restaurants were invaded today by immigration inspectors and city detectives staging the second roundup of the week against foreigners suspected of being in this country illegally.

The quarry this time consisted of Italians, mostly waiters. Seized in raids in several cities Wednesday were 160 German seamen, all charged with overstaying their leave in the United States.

Repeating Wednesday's procedure by moving swiftly and with no advance warning, the officers made 26 arrests within three hours, and officers armed with warrants were still engaged in the search.

Among the places employing the aliens were the Ambassador, Ritz-Carlton and Pierre hotels and a restaurant in Rockefeller Center's R. C. A. building.

Taken To Ellis Island

Those arrested were taken to Ellis Island where they joined 144 German seamen and two German newsmen held without bail for deportation hearings.

Burton Uhl, district immigration director, said he had no figure on the total number rounded up but it was unofficially estimated at between 35 and 40.

Although official comment was lacking, it was assumed the roundup was staged on the same authority as its predecessor. That was ordered by Attorney General Jackson who indicated the action was a precautionary measure to forestall possible fifth column activities in this country.

CHURCHILL THE MAGNIFICENT

Winston Churchill, English leader who has made more tremendous mistakes in moments of national emergency than any great leader of modern times, is still magnificent. It is one of the curious things of the present age that any man who has made as many mistakes as he can still retain the confidence of his people and still direct and manage their war efforts in the darkest days of the British Empire. It is a rare tribute to a man who must have tremendous honesty.

In the first World War it was Churchill who planned and directed the ill-starred campaign against Turkey. It was an ambitious campaign, and had it succeeded would have shortened the war by two full years. It did not succeed. It was a terrible defeat. Britain lost many thousands of crack troops, many valuable warships, suffered a crushing loss of prestige and these things carried Churchill back to an ordinary place in the army. It did not appear probable then that he would ever again achieve a prominent place in public life. He acknowledged his mistake then and took entire responsibility. He did not attempt to explain or apologize. It was merely the fortune of war and he took it without whining or repining.

In the two decades between the two wars Churchill slowly came back into prominence, but at the beginning of the present war he was still far from the top and it did not seem likely that he would reach the pinnacle again. England seemed committed to the Chamberlain policy of appeasement and Churchill thundered against this day after day. He was as deeply hated by the government that was in power as by Hitler—which is saying quite a great deal. England met reverses, Chamberlain finally fell and Churchill went to the top. Since his famous "blood and sweat and toil" speech of acceptance England has gone through bitter periods, as Churchill predicted. This half-American has never tried to fool his country. He has told the truth, bitter though it might be, at all times. A few days he was bitterly attacked by the aging Lloyd George and a vote of confidence was called for. Churchill was given practically a unanimous vote of confidence, only three votes being cast against him.

So far as can be told from Churchill's public utterances, he still has no doubt of the future. He says that dark and bitter days are still ahead, but he is looking beyond those to final and complete triumph. With his matchless mastery of the English language he seems able to bring millions of others to the place where they can see this certain victory as he sees it. He was never more magnificent than a few days ago when he called for this vote of confidence and spoke to his countrymen, while Lloyd George snarled at his heels and Hore-Belisha followed the lead of the old World War leader. The high point of his speech came when he said: "We will come through," and then challenged all tempests that might come. He was looking forward beyond 1941, beyond next year even, to the day when Britain and America, armed with sufficient machines of war, will really take the offensive against Hitler and crush him forever.

Naturally all men such as Churchill

IF HITLER DID NOT AID IRAQ POSSIBILITY OF CLOUD'S SILVER LINING SEEN

If the British have crushed resistance in Iraq because Nazis failed to aid the government of Iraq which, apparently, Hitler set up, the event is the most cheering recent one, to all non-Nazi observers.

If Hitler failed to aid Iraq and cannot get troops there, soon it means that he is fully engaged elsewhere. He cannot be considered in as strong a position as he declared himself to be, a few days ago, if he could not send forces to aid the Nazi government of an Arab State to prevent continued flow of oil to British war machines.

The conflict in Iraq has not ended. It is well not to count chickens before they are hatched. But the conflict was at its beginning small in point of number engaged. Hitler was, allegedly, asked to intervene.

It seems probable at the moment, on a basis of dispatches which convey, possibly, a mixture of news and propaganda modified by censorship, that Hitler failed politically in Iraq, where native sentiment was not solidified behind the Nazi contrived supplanting government, and failed militarily because he was not prepared to carry out General Nathan Bedford Forrest's legendary formula: "Get thar fust with the mostest men."

But that conclusion may be erroneous.

"It might be that the Germans will arrive at Iraq before we have crushed the revolt," said Churchill in the joint debate in the House of Commons yesterday.—Louisville Times.

Camp Edwards, Mass.—A new arrival at this camp was reluctant to tell officers what his occupation was in civil life. A chaplain was assigned to the task.

must profess confidence even when they know defeat is coming. That is always the custom. But from the certain way Churchill expresses himself he must really believe in ultimate victory.

SCOUT NEWS

The scouts of Troop No. 43 met last night, May 9, at their accustomed place, the Cabin on Vine street.

There were numerous visitors present among them were Mr. Louis Weeks, Mr. Foad Homra and Mr. Lee Johnston.

The scouts were introduced to an assistant scoutmaster last night, he being Mr. Clyde Williams, Jr. He put the scouts through their paces in drill and taught them some new methods of doing their drill. From his performance last night it appears that he is very likely to succeed with the troop.

Mr. Louis Weeks introduced Mr. Williams in his new capacity. Mr. Weeks stated that Mr. Williams had been a scout in Fulton a few years ago and that he was well qualified for his new position.

Scoutmaster Edwards, gave the boys some bits of information: They concerned the First Aid Course that is to be started in Fulton at an early date, also the camp at Packentuck and the boys' chances of being able to attend this year, and a play that is to be sponsored by the troop.

After these various activities, the bugler, Tolbert Dallas, blew taps upon his trusty bugle, and John Mac Travis, Patrol leader of the Eagle Patrol, dismissed the troop with the Scoutmasters' benediction.

A BROKEN LINK SMASHES THE ENTIRE CHAIN

Everybody knows that a broken or weak link in a chain makes the entire chain hazardous. But not every person applies the same reasoning to fire insurance. Yet is equally true in this matter. One poorly written policy, or particularly one that is merely planned and not written, may prove hazardous to your entire business or home. A weak link in your insurance coverage may cause an unexpected loss at any time.

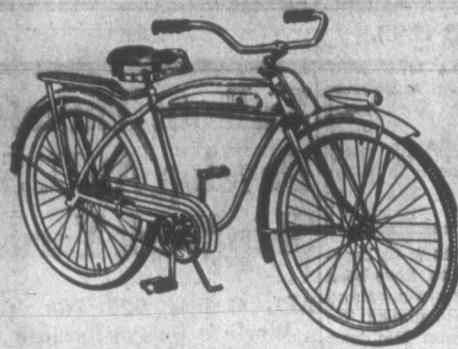

Consult us as your friends about these matters. We know a great deal about insurance, for it is our business. We can make valuable suggestions—and we can write your policy properly.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence School

At this moment, we in the United States have a 14 billion dollar job confronting us. It is the job created by the money which has been appropriated for a national defense program. It is a stupendous undertaking, one which may well decide the future of our civilization. Vast quantities of materials and supplies must be assembled to build ships, tanks, airplanes, guns; to maintain the fighting men who man our first line of defense; to equip the one or two million men who make up a "protective mobilization force." There are new plants to be erected, machinery to be built and installed, and skilled men to be developed.

The United States has virtually all the essentials needed—the money, the natural resources, the man power, and the industrial leadership.

Only one thing is lacking—a sufficient number of trained men. This problem can and will be solved, but it is one that will take our defense program slow up in spots. Although much has been done by some industrial groups to provide a sufficient force of skilled workers, others have been slow in establishing an apprentice training plan. The skilled mechanic never had a greater opportunity to serve his country and himself.

WOMAN TELLS RENT SLAYING

Milwaukee. — Detective Capt. Adolph Kraemer said today Mrs. Alice Dornblasser, 51, of Milwaukee, mother of four children, had confessed she bludgeoned and strangled to death her landlady, Carrie N. Seymer, in the latter's apartment Tuesday afternoon.

The woman admitted, Kraemer stated, she had hit Miss Seymer on the head with an iron pipe after they argued about rent and re-decoration of the Dornblasser living quarters.

A pair of women's kid gloves were found jammed deep in Miss Seymer's throat, Kraemer said, and more than a score of blows had been rained on her head by a seven-inch piece of pipe found on the floor.

3 HURT AS BLAST RIPS du PONT PLANT

NEAR PHILADELPHIA Philadelphia.—A terrific blast that could be heard for miles demolished a varnish building and injured three workmen early today inside the vast E. I. du Pont de Nemours plant in West Philadelphia.

The explosion occurred in a huge vat in which resin is mixed with other ingredients in manufacture of paints and varnishes. Fireman said the blast occurred when chemical boiled over, the liquid igniting. The "liquid fire" caught John King, 54, before he could leap back from the still. All clothing was burned from his body. Both legs were broken and it might be necessary to amputate them.
