Hot Shots From Big Dry Chief

LIKE A THUNDERBOLT
FROM A CLEAR SKY

Text of Retiring Dry Chief's
Criticism of Prohibition

New York, June 30.—Following is the text of the statement of Major Maurice Campbell, retiring dry enforcement chief:

In view of recent developments, I have tendered my resignation as prohibition administrator for New York and the same has been accepted, so my term of office will expire today.

Naturally, there is a long story behind my retirement, which I cannot discuss at this time, but when I left Washington last Thursday afternoon, after many conferences, it was tentatively understood, as far as I was informed, I was to remain in New York as supervisor of permits in the Treasury Department and the first intimation I had of the assignment to Boston came through the newspapers.

As long ago as three months I apprised both Treasury and Department of Justice officials that I would not accept any post in the reorganization program wherein I would be charged with prohibition enforcement. Again, as recently as last week, I refused to consider a continuance of enforcement work in New York after today.

"Did My Duty"

Notwithstanding this resolve, I have endeavored to perform my duty in the interim and to act in conformity with my oath of office.

I have been extremely conservative in my administration with regard to permit matters. I have revoked or refused to renew, for cause, which has been universally sustained in trial in federal courts, many permits with political backing and have thus trod on many political toes.

Consequently, there are certain brewery permits, whisky permits and alcohol permits that local politicians and certain administration officials in Washington feel must be restored in order to secure necessary support for the Republican ticket in New York this fall.

With me in charge of permits in New York, Treasury officials know that these permits will not be issued.

Praises New Chief

William D. Moss, who will have charge of permits in this district, is a man for whom I have a high regard and one whom I personally brought here several years ago to assist me in prohibition enforcement.

Possibly officials in Washington think he can be more easily swayed than myself. I do not know. But I do publicly admonish him to gather all his strength to withstand the onslaught, for I am sure he will have need for all the ability and courage he can command.

And now after four years as one of the highest field officials in prohibition enforcement, with three years of that time as administrator in New York, I publicly declare that certain Treasury officials who, up to today, have been charged with enforcement of the national prohibition act and who still are to remain in charge of kindred activities, have not been sincere in their efforts to enforce this law and they have plainly demonstrated this fact to me.

Assails Politics

Further, in New York City, and other areas in which the sentiment of the people is predominantly wet, this transfer of enforcement activities to the Department of Justice will mean nothing so long as prohibition prosecutions are left to United States attorneys who possess political aspirations, the success of which must depend on their ability to win the approval of local politicians and their community for their prosecuting activities.

I have a high regard for the force I am leaving. In the main, they are an exceptional lot of men, imbued with a fine sense of duty and devotion.

Many times I have marveled at the high degree of morals they display, notwithstanding the very apparent insincerity of other government officials high above them.

Finally, after many years of service in the Prohibition Bureau, after watching closely the results of prohibition from the inside and after a most thoughtful and serious consideration on the matter, I have reached the following conclusion:

Prohibition is not the logical solution for temperance in our form of government, and I now publicly advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment before the nation is consumed in the fires of its consequences.

MRS. MACK ROACH SERIOUSLY INJURED

The entire community was thrown into a state of excitement and sorrow Tuesday afternoon when the news was flashed over town that Mrs. Mack Roach had suffered serious injuries at her home on Second street.

She attempted to place a mattress on the banisters of the second story porch when it gave way and she fell forward a distance of 15 or more feet, with the mattress on top of her. Neighbors heard her screams and rushed to the rescue. Doctors were hurriedly summoned and on examination found both arms broken above the wrist and other serious injuries. After first aid treatment she was rushed to the Paducah hospital in an ambulance, accompanied by her husband, doctors and a number of friends.

After a thorough X-ray examination Mrs. Roach was brought home.

Brodie Irvin Drowned Near Ridgely, Tenn.

Brodie Irvin, well known farmer and highly esteemed citizen was drowned late Tuesday afternoon in a small lake near Ridgely, Tenn. He was out on the lake fishing when his boat filled with water and in an attempt to get to safety lost his life.

At the time of his untimely death Mr. Irvin was 55 years of age. For many years he lived near Cayce, Ky., and was a horse fancier and successful farmer. He was the owner of "Ham Patterson," a race horse once famous in the Purchase. In recent years he had resided in Obion county, Tenn., about two miles south of Fulton.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Jack, and two sisters.

Funeral service was held Thursday afternoon at Walnut Grove church conducted by the Rev. A. C. Moore and Rev. Price; interment followed in charge of the Fulton Undertaking Co.

Better Highways For Kentucky

STATE TO RECEIVE SUR-
FACING BIDS ON JULY 31

Fulton-Murray Road Included in Projects

From all indications, Fulton will get its share of road improvement work this year. On July 31, bids for the surfacing of 73.3 miles of highways over Kentucky will be received by the state highway commission and Graves, Hickman and Fulton counties—the Mayfield-Fulton (U. S. 45) road, beginning at black top surfacing near Wingo and extending to Fulton, 10.9 miles, is included in the projects and may be surfaced with black top or concrete.

Work on U. S. highway 51 between Fulton and Wickliffe is progressing nicely. This project is being surfaced with concrete and as several contractors are on the job it should be finished in short order.

No. 51 is known as the Mississippi Valley Highway, and the Kentucky gap, when completed, will connect north and south with a concrete surfaced highway extending hundreds of miles.

It will also mean that thousands of tourists will visit Fulton that heretofore has passed us up. Autoists do like to drive over a good concrete highway.

MONSTER RADISH

E. B. Irvin, well known truck farmer residing two miles northeast of Fulton, brought in a monster radish to the Advertiser office, Tuesday afternoon that weighed two pounds. Mr. Irvin is one of Fulton county's progressive truck growers and on his 39 acre farm produces all kinds of vegetables, fruits, etc. His son makes a specialty of raising rabbits and will probably have some on display at the fair this year.

For the past five years Mr. Irvin has directed his attention solely to truck crops and has made a wonderful success. He finds a ready market in Fulton but oftentimes makes shipments to Chicago where he gets topnotch prices for quality produce.

GRAVES COUNTIAN SERIOUSLY SHOT AT BARN DANCE

Ira Gravitt Wounded Sunday Morning; Officers Hold
Burr Ethernton

Mayfield, Ky., June 30 — Ira Gravitt, well known resident of the southwestern part of the county, is in a serious condition as the result of gunshot wounds from a pistol alleged to have been in the hands of Burr Ethernton, early Sunday morning. The shooting occurred at the home of Jack Gore, near Baltimore, about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, where a picnic and barn dance was being held.

Sheriff Forrest Shelton and Deputies P. Shelton, Eranton and Humphries were called to the scene and Ethernton was placed under arrest on a charge of malicious shooting with intent to kill. Gravitt was rushed to the Mayfield hospital where he has been at the point of death for several hours. Small chance is seen for his recovery. The shot, which came from a .32 calibre pistol, went into Gravitt's stomach and punctured the intestines five times.

Ethernton was brought to Mayfield and his bond was set at $5,000, which he failed to execute and he was lodged in the Graves county jail.

GOOD RAIN MON- DAY AFTERNOON

Rain which will be of inestimable value to Fulton and adjoining county farms fell in torrents Monday afternoon. All crops were badly in need of rain. The pastures were drying out and the hay crop was in peril for want of moisture. Today, vegetation has taken on new life and crops promise a bountiful yield.

The rain in this vicinity was accompanied by strong wind and an electrical display that made many look for cover with an unpleasant feeling. The only damage reported, however, was a few limbs blown from trees and some corn leveled to the ground.

We are thankful for the rain because it was badly needed. Many long faces are wearing a smile today that couldn't muster up a grin last Saturday.

Brieflets

The trouble with a lot of fellows around Fulton who boast that they pay as they go is that they are usually slow travelers.

The troubles with Wall Street are now traced to the fact that she reduced too fast.

European countries are considering levying a tax on American tourists. That's right, tax them and make them feel at home.

The old-time Fulton boy who had a head for figures now has a son who has an eye for them.

Some women work for a living, and others get men's wages by marrying the men.

The man who wants to borrow money should always do it from a pessimist. He won't expect to get it back.

More Fulton gardens would fare better if their owners felt as much like working them in June and July as they did last February.

June again proved to be the favorite month for weddings, but any old month is popular for divorce.

Foresters say the older a tree the less it exudes sap. This does not seem to be true, however, with a family tree.

A man thought 20 years ago that he'd ever be able to step in his own car and go anywhere his wife and children told him to go.

An old married man might be described as a man whose pipe goes out more often than he does.

A news item says farms on which stills are found will be padlocked. Thus, between being held secure by mortgages and padlocks, there is little danger of the American farm vanishing.

Fulton men are as smart as any others on earth, but there's never yet been one of them able to blow up a toy balloon as big as his kid wanted it.

The reason it is so hard for college graduates to find jobs is because most firms already have presidents and general managers.

There was one drawback in the lives of Adam and Eve. They couldn't brag about how much better everything was "in the good old days."

IF ICHABOD CRANE HAD A FLASHLIGHT

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

WE ALL remember the story of Ichabod Crane and the headless horseman. There was the dark form by the side of the road—thundering back on the Sleepy Hollow highway—and Ichabod feeling in confused terror before this terrible monster. If Ichabod had only known that his horsebolla was an inventive rival disguised with a putupkin head, he would have had a good laugh and gone on with the business of vanquishing his competitor.

What Ichabod really needed was a modern flashlight. Then he would have discovered the trickery at once. Many business men need the flashlight of analysis to uncover the hogbobbles in their business and then they might sit back and laugh at their rivals who hesitate to investigate and learn the truth.

At this time, when business and banking are making strenuous efforts to have a clear vision ahead, it is especially important that the power of research and analysis be employed to their fullest extent. When these twin brothers of good management have been pressed into service in all fields, I am confident we shall see a further lessening of periods of stress. However, I believe business in general has learned the valuable lesson that any prosperity that is not leavened with a little adversity would not seem basically safe or sound.

RESERVE SYSTEM'S DIVIDENDS ANALYZED

Bankers Find Increased Payments to Member Banks Would Be Small Inducement.

Various proposals that member banks in the Federal Reserve System should participate more largely in its net earnings through an increase in the dividend rate above the present fixed 6 per cent "would be a very small financial inducement" to them, it is declared in a recent study of this subject by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is shown, the commission says, by a theoretical forecast, on the basis of the past six years, of additional earnings that would be distributed to member banks during the next six years under two plans introduced in bills before the United States Senate.

"The Fletcher bill provides that Federal Reserve Bank earnings, after present 6 per cent dividends to members and completion of a 100 per cent surplus, should all be distributed as extra dividends to the stockholder banks," the report says. "If the earnings of each Federal Reserve bank were distributed among its own members there would be no extra dividends in the Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and San Francisco districts during the next six years, but the other six Federal Reserve Banks would pay annual extra dividends at the following rates: Richmond, 6.08 per cent; Atlanta, 4.99 per cent; St. Louis, 5.79 per cent; Minneapolis, 9.31 per cent; Kansas City, 5.48 per cent; Dallas, 4.87 per cent.

"If the earnings were pooled and paid out to all members in all districts each member would receive an average annual extra dividend of .78 per cent. Under this plan no franchise tax as now would be paid by the Federal Reserve Banks to the Federal Government."

Another Plan Analyzed
"The Glass bill would provide that, after present 6 per cent dividends, one-half the remainder should be paid to member banks as an extra dividend with the residue going to franchise tax. The average annual extra dividends would be as follows: Boston District, 2.51 per cent; New York, 18 per cent; Philadelphia, 2.05 per cent; Cleveland, 2.69 per cent; Richmond, 3.26 per cent; Atlanta, 4.67 per cent; Chicago, 3.29 per cent; St. Louis, 2.92 per cent; Minneapolis, 1.75 per cent; Kansas City, 2.74 per cent; Dallas, 3.31 per cent; San Francisco, 1.87 per cent.

"If these extra funds were pooled the result would be an extra average annual dividend of 1.23 per cent for each member. Under this plan the system would still pay as now an annual franchise tax, amounting to $1,944,236 on the average."

By way of concrete instance, the report says, a member bank having capital and surplus of $200,000, therefore holding Federal Reserve Bank stock amounting to $5,000 on which it is receiving $360 under the present 6 per cent dividend arrangement, would with the addition of each 1 per cent to the dividend rate receive an additional income of $200 a year.

"If each member bank will figure out for itself the dollar-and-cents gain it would enjoy we are confident it will be agreed that the gains are small as against the enormous disadvantages which can be pointed out," it concludes.

What the Catbird Knew

By CLARISSA MACKIE
(Copyright.)

WENT away and never has been heard from," asserted Captain Halliday, as he refilled his pipe and pulled out a battered matchbox. "I always ask folks from the city if they know Robert Landis, but no one ever had up to the time you came to the village."

"It may not be the same person," said Mrs. Bently, as she knitted busily. They were sitting on the bottom of an upturned boat on the shore, and the captain had been relating many stories to the city boarder. "I have met a Robert Landis; he is a young newspaper man, and he lives in the same boarding house that I do in the city."

"Does he seem to like the girls?" Mrs. Bently laughed. "I cannot say that he seems much interested in them; he seems like rather a grim, silent young man, absorbed in his work and he does not act particularly happy."

"Sho!" muttered the captain. "That sounds like he ought to be, but not how he useter be around here. He was just wild about my niece Sally—"

"The pretty, black-eyed girl who lives with you?" "Yes. Five years ago she was only eighteen, and prettier than she is now—more color, and her eyes were happy. She was engaged to Robert Landis. They quarreled about something and he went off; she's that proud she never mentioned his name after that—only she's wistful and never so gay and happy as before."

"I am so sorry," murmured Mrs. Bently. "Is there anything I can do to bring them together?"

"My theory is that there is some misunderstanding," commented the captain. "There they were, happy as clams at high water, writing each other every day, having a post office in a hole in a hollow tree in the orchard. One day not so long ago I was coming across the orchard at dusk—and there was Sally, leaning against the old tree, crying as if her heart would break—"

"Don't," cried Mrs. Bently, taking out her handkerchief.

"The poor little thing," murmured Mrs. Bently later, to herself, thinking of Sally and her sad love story. "I believe I will go home for a week, end, and I will carry with me some snapshot pictures; one must be of that old orchard and the post office in the tree, and one must be of Sally at her prettiest; I must catch her secretly, and then, some odd ones of the beach and other parts of the village, but those two will be included in and he cannot help but love me."

So Mrs. Bently spent a busy day with her camera, and then she took train for the city. Captain Halliday missed her pleasant companionship on the beach, and went fishing every day. Sally sang about her housework, in a soft, sad little voice, and sometimes her eyes wandered out to the old apple tree where there was a mossy hollow in the trunk—that was always empty now. A tangle of bushes had grown up around the old tree and amid the sharp thorns of briar a catbird had built her loosely constructed nest.

That afternoon there came a terrible windstorm, and Captain Halliday and Sally awoke the next morning to a sodden world of soaking land, fallen trees, and a beach strewn with drift-wood.

Captain Halliday went down to the beach to gather some of the driftwood for the winter fires and Sally wandered through her ruined flower garden and then out to the orchard. There were cries of distress from the catbirds who were perched in the old apple tree. Sally found their frail nest—of many nests, for each year the birds had reinforced the old home with new twigs, bits of string and paper.

"Mew w-w-w-w—" warned the birds as they flew away in a circle to return again. "Mew-w-w-w-w."

Sally heeded the warning and turned. Some one was standing near by looking at her with an embarrassed smile. It was Robert!

"Sally," he said, biting his lips, "I came back to ask you why you didn't answer my letter."

"Letter? What letter?" Sally was clearly amazed; her color rose and her eyes shone. "There was no letter here when you went away—nor since."

"Have you really looked for one, Sally?"

"Yes," she confessed. "I left one three years ago—I asked you to hurry me, and because I could not bear to have you say no, I told you not to reply if you didn't love me."

"I never received such a letter," quavered Sally.

"I put it in the hollow—and when I found no reply I went away without seeing you dear."

Robert was looking at Sally, then his gaze passed her and saw the remains of the old, old nest. There was something quite familiar sticking out of it. He rushed forward and pulled the sticks apart. From the bottom he pulled out a wet and torn envelope—it was thin and weather-bitten—the ink was faded and pale—but the agitated catbirds who had appropriated the letter so long ago saw it pulled from the old nest, saw two young heads close together, reading the long-delayed message, and saw the happy ending.

Shelf Fishing

FISHING calls for patience, but not so much of it if you're just fishing a can of the pantry shelf. And where else can you catch anchovies, clams, cod fish, crabs, crawfish, haddock, herrings, lobster, mackerel, salmon, sardines, shad, shrimps, tuna fish, and even turtles, all in one place? Just a twist of the wrist with a can opener, and you can have any of these fine products before you without any tedious waiting or a bit of sunburn. That's one of the luxuries of modern life.

Another luxury is the fact that so many good recipes have been devised for the use of these products that your only problem is to choose between them. Try, for instance, this recipe:

Tuna Loaf with Celery Sauce: Shred the contents of one 7-ounce can of tuna fish, and add two slightly beaten eggs. Add one cup of bread crumbs, three tablespoons milk and salt and pepper. Put in a buttered loaf pan, and steam or bake forty-five minutes. Turn out and serve with a sauce made by heating undiluted one can of celery soup. This serves four.

A Tasty Pudding

Corn and Salmon Pudding: Mix in the following order the contents of a No. 2 can of corn, one tablespoon melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one small can salmon and one tablespoon heavy cream or evaporated milk. Be careful not to break up the salmon too finely, bake in a buttered baking dish in a moderate oven (350°) thirty minutes. Serves eight.

Community Building

Trend to Beautification of National Highways

The highways have become America's playground, where millions of motorists spend their leisure hours in search of restfulness, beauty and charm. The necessity and demand for combining beauty with utility has become more pronounced with the growth of tourist traffic in recent years.

The application of purely utilitarian standards in highway construction meets engineering and economic requirements, but the motorist who seeks recreation in his automobile is cheated out of the natural beauty which belongs to him, the American Motorist's association declares.

There is a growing and insistent demand for beautification of national highways. California, Massachusetts and Connecticut have demonstrated how much can be done at small cost to beautify the roadways by judicious planting of native trees, shrubs and perennial flowers.

Congress already has recognized the need for highway beautification by an authorizing expenditure of federal funds in co-operation with the states, for roadside tree planting. This law was approved May 21, 1928, more than a year ago, but to date the bureau of public roads, which has charge of the fund, has not been asked to authorize an expenditure or to co-operate in a single roadside planting project.

No Need to Sacrifice

All Beauty for Utility

When our ancestors came to this continent they found it covered with the forest primeval, a spectacle whose beauty will never again be looked upon by human eyes. Civilization leveled the forests to make way for homes. That was unavoidable. Cities sprang up. They kept their trees until their removal was necessitated by their removal. The greater part of the natural beauty one finds on route today along the waysides beyond corporate limits. The preservation of this beauty from the blight of commercialization is essential to the preservation of the face of the beautiful in the nation, with its refining and humanizing influence. Gas stations and hot-stands may be necessary to feed motorists and motorists on the highway, but even they can be made attractive externally.—Detroit Free Press.

Appearance Important

Regardless of how attractive the interior of a house may be, it is generally judged by the prospective buyer from its exterior appearance, and very often well-constructed houses, containing every imaginable feature as an inducement, are drags on the market, simply because the builder gave little thought to the outside. Generally speaking, the builder gives a great deal of attention to exterior details. With the keen competition in the dwelling field, the operative builder must be on his toes constantly, lest he wake up some morning and find that his operation which he thought was just right is not appealing to the buying public, which is not the same type that was so common ten years ago.

Proper Care of Lawn

Begin to mow the lawn when the new grass is about three to four inches high. From then on, mow the lawn regularly, keeping it mowed to a height of two inches.

Mow frequently enough so that the clippings are short and may be left on the lawn. They dry up and settle around the root where they decay and form humus. If they are long they must be raked off, as heavy clippings left on the lawn smother the grass. Particular care must be taken not to leave long clippings on the lawn in wet weather.

Citizens Asked to Help

The park commission, named by the town council of Federalburg, Md., to develop and beautify the municipal park grounds, donated to the town by Mayor T. H. Chambers, issued a general call for men with axes, saws, wrenches and a willingness to work in an effort to have the 18 acres of ground, part of which is woodland, cleared ready for further beautifying and future use. The commission has planned for a roofed space for community gatherings and a swimming pool, with space for tennis courts and possibly a baseball field.

Aims to Clean Streets

A non-partisan organization, called the Clean Streets by Clean Methods club, has been formed in New York city to keep the streets clear of the litter of papers, etc., that the public throws about. About 500 citizens have joined, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Arthur C. Griffin, Mrs. Kent Cooper, Mrs. Charles Austin Bryant, and Miss Adelaide Stedman.

Build Home Wisely

One home in a lifetime is about all the average man builds. For that reason he should be certain that it is well built and of materials that will last. For reasons of economy he should be equally certain that his home is assured all the qualities of permanence that make for saving in maintenance costs and delay in deterioration.

The DAIRY

BADGER HOLSTEIN BEST AT MILKING

Wisconsin Four-Year-Old Makes New Machine Mark.

A new national record in the "Farmers' Club" milkings has been established by Winconsin Mandy Homestead, a four-year-old Holstein, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

On a two-time milking, with a milking machine, "Mandy" produced as a junior four-year-old, 682.48 pounds of butterfat (853 butter) in 20,114 pounds of milk in 365 days. This is 45 pounds more butterfat (56 more milk) than the previous record holder, Chesney Pieterle Sweet, owned by the county of Essex, Cedar Grove, N. J.

At no time during the year, according to the owners, Charles Hughes and son of Neenah, Wis., was Mandy milked more than two times a day, and it wasn't until she had been in milk for seven months that they suspected that she was headed for a record. She was milked with a milking machine throughout the year.

Mandy calved May 4, 1928, and started her test on May 7. She weighed 1,500 pounds at that time, and also as the test year closed. She carried a calf for seven months of the test and is due again in July.

No special care was provided for Mandy, and she was put on pasture a few days after calving and remained there with the rest of the herd until November 1. According to Hughes, her ration consisted of ground corn, oats and barley, with the addition of bran, oilmeal, and gluten feed. She ate from eight to sixteen pounds of this a day in addition to hay and pasture. No special mineral feed or mineral mixture was provided at any time, although several commercial feeds were tested but without result.

Poor Dairy Ration Not

Bad in Many Respects

The commonly considered poor ration is not so bad in some respects, according to Dr. F. B. Hadley of the department of veterinary science of the University of Wisconsin. The data that have been gathered on this subject have come from the herds of dairy cows at the experiment station that are being put through a five-year test to determine the importance of ration in the ability of cattle to withstand the ravages of the abortion germ.

The poor ration is one composed of corn, silage, timothy hay, non-legume pasture and corn gluten meal. The ration is not balanced in protein and low in minerals. The other herd of cows is on a ration of legume hay, silage, legume pasture, oilmeal, home meal, salt and a well-balanced grain ratio plus a half pound of cod liver oil daily. The cows on the low protein and mineral ration maintained their weight and gave practically as much butterfat in a year as did the herd on the better balanced ration and getting the cod liver oil.

Healthy Calves Raised

Without Use of Milk

Although it is much easier to raise calves by feeding them milk for six months or more, good calves can be raised without milk after the first two months, provided that they have a good start and are strong, healthy calves at weaning time.

It is essential that such calves be allowed to eat grain and hay at an early age. The grain fed during the first two or three weeks is cracked corn or crushed oats, or a mixture of both, fed dry. When the milk is discontinued a more complete mixture is used. It is best to feed some form of leguminous hay, because of the protein content.

Dairy Notes

Higher production from the dairy cow means higher profits.

Young bulls as well as older ones should have access to salt.

Every calf should be provided with plenty of roughage, such as alfalfa or mixed hay, as soon as it will eat it.

Members of New York dairy improvement association prove that a larger ration of grain for cows is not an expense but an investment, and in some instances the return is as much as 300 per cent.

It takes two purebreds to make a world record at the pad. The best cow in the world can't do it with a scrub to handle her!

There is no better dairy feed than silage, legume hay, ground corn and cob meal, cottonseed meal, and wheat bran or ground oats.

That the feeding of silage to the dairy herd increases milk production and brings greater profits is just one of the many talking points in favor of the silo on the farm.

Red Hot or Red Cold

TOMATO juice is a tasty drink which has won its way to popular favor through its succulence and flavor as well as because of its healthgiving qualities. But did you know that you can have it either hot or cold, served as either a cocktail or as bouillon, and that it is making its appearance in these forms at many formal luncheons and dinners as well as being widely used for a breakfast drink?

Delicious and Beneficial

When tomato juice is served cold, it is merely thoroughly chilled, but when it is served as bouillon it is either heated by itself, or a bouillon cube is added to it and melted in the process of heating. Hot or cold, it is red and appetizing, both delicious and beneficial.

Tomato juice is easy to serve since it is simply poured from the cans of tomatoes, and it has the additional advantage that the remaining solid portions can be combined in all sorts of dishes.

Try, for instance, this: Pea and Rice Goulash: Dice two slices of bacon, and fry crisp. Remove bacon. Chop one onion and add to the bacon fat, cooking gently until pale yellow. Add a 10-ounce can of strained tomatoes, one cup boiling water and the liquor from an 11-ounce can of peas, and bring to boiling. Add one-fourth cup brown rice and cook till the rice is tender, about 35 minutes. Add the peas, heat well, add the cooked bacon, and serve. This serves four persons.

YOUR WORD AND YOUR BOND

You must keep them both good to make them worth anything to you. Credit is the greatest asset you have in the community. It is the bond under which you do business. Don't forfeit it by failing to keep your promises or meet your obligations.

You pay more than one bill when you settle an account as it is due. You help someone else to pay theirs. And when we are all paying promptly—all keeping our word as sacred as we would our bond—the whole community prospers. Even now, in mid-summer, when everything is slack, we can make prosperity and lift a lot of financial burdens by paying our over-due accounts. There can't be prosperity unless there is money in circulation. And the best way to circulate it is to PAY UP NOW and give those you owe a chance to do the same thing.

Don't endanger your credit. Keep it good. You don't know what minute you may need it—and need it badly. It is your standby in good times or bad. It's your badge of good citizenship.

Won't you join in helping us to help the whole community by paying your past due accounts or at least make a generous payment on them?

TOO MANY PUNCTURES

When we see the loose way in which some people dispose of waste, such as nails and bottles and cans, it strikes us as remarkable that more punctures and blowouts do not affect the motorists. Some people appear to take great pleasure in the use of bottles and other waste on the highway, and others are not the least bit careful about disposing of nails and tacks. Capping all are the commercial haulers of waste whose trucks are not always tight-fitting with respect to bottom and sides. Fulton motorists are paying less for their tires, and getting better tires, than ever before. And yet we feel sure that if they would voice their protests against the throwing of bottles and other waste on the highways a little stronger they could still further economize. Because tires are not as expensive as they once were is no reason why they should be subjected to greater hazards. No one likes to halt along the road to change tires or repair a puncture.

Clean roads are almost as indispensable to convenient and pleasant travel by automobile as good roads. If those who lightly handle the things they know will cause punctures and ruin tires will be more careful and considerate there will be a lot of money saved. Then, too, we will not be forced, as some states have, to spend large sums of the taxpayers' money every year to maintain special road cleaning crews.

SOME FOOD FIGURES

The average Fulton citizen is more interested in an abundance of food and its prices than in the ways and means by which it comes to his table. Few realize what a great industry supports this never-ending supply of good food in a way unequalled in any other country. The food industry is the largest, as well as the oldest, of all businesses. It takes about one-fourth of all the money spent annually by the American people. The annual income is around eighty billion dollars, and of this twenty-one billion dollars are used to supply the dining tables. In addition, food to the value of three billion is "consumed on premises," meaning the farm, which is not cleared through any market. The significance of this is shown by the fact that the value of all textiles used in this country is about twelve billion dollars yearly; of autos and accessories about six billions; of building construction about eight billions, and of iron and steel about six millions. Compare these with what we spend for food—eighty billion dollars a year—and it is not hard to see wherein we are justified when we protest if the cost of living increases.

THE SECRET IS OUT

From every section of the country complaints are being made that "taxes are too high." Taking them as a whole, it would seem that the time has come to curb levying and spending, and that it must be done at the beginning instead of the end. As we see it, and we feel the average Fulton taxpayer will agree with us, the start rests with the voter. If he votes special levies and bond issues he votes to put his community more deeply in debt and by so doing to take a larger part of current revenues from debt-paying purposes. Money is easily borrowed but hard to pay back. Over a term of years the interest equals the principal. This means that in many cases the improvement costs twice what it was expected to cost. It is one of the reasons that explains the fact that while population has increased about 15 per cent in the past 15 years, public expenditures have increased four times over and public debt seven times over. There is the secret of taxation burdens in a nutshell. You can't keep taxes down by levying bond issues that are not necessary.

AN AWFUL WARNING

Here are a few figures we wish every man and woman in Fulton could get fixed in their minds, for they tell such a powerful story that no one can help but be impressed. There were 80,000 typhoid fever cases in the U. S. last year and one out of every 10 who caught it died of it. Ninety per cent of these typhoid fever cases originated from germs carried by the common housefly.

That's the point we want to get over—the thing we want everyone in this community to reflect upon. Where one person died from germs in impure drinking water, nine died from germs that had been carried to food, milk and water by flies. Not only that, but of all the children dying of summer complaint last year, and one-fifth of their deaths were due to that, a vast majority of cases were traced directly to the fly. Since one-fifth of child deaths were of tots under five years of age it is at the door of adults that the blame lies, for the little ones were not able to protect themselves.

Could anything prove more clearly that the common housefly is one of the deadliest enemies of the human race? Do you need any more reason than these figures offer for immediately cutting the weeds about your premises, scattering a little lime over breeding places and burning, burying or otherwise destroying waste and trash that accumulates about the house and attracts flies? Cut the weeds; keep the garbage can covered tightly. There will be at least 80,000 deaths from typhoid again this year. It will be largely your own fault if you are among the number.

POULTRY

(By J. T. Watkins)

The premium lists for the fair will be out in a few days, and we will mail them out just as soon as we can, we will also have a supply in the different stores, so you can get yours almost any place. I don't know very much about the different departments, except the poultry show. We will have practically the same amount of premiums this year as last, with few changes.

The Fair Association will pay $2.00 for first and $1.00 for second just as always, and this part of the prize money is open to any person who lives in the five counties that comprise the fair district. In addition to what the fair association pays out the poultry association, also will pay out about $300.00 in Special Cash Prizes, to association members only. If you wish to compete for any of these specials you had better join the poultry association before the judging begins for after the judge starts placing the awards it will be too late to join. Do it now. The dues are only one dollar per year.

You will also notice in the premium list where the rabbit breeders of Fulton are going to put on a show, there are about ten or a dozen rabbit breeders in this locality, and they are very anxious to get their stock advertised, so we expect about 75 or 100 rabbits exhibited. There will be no prize money given on the rabbits this year, but the poultry association will place first, second and third ribbons on the winners. Alfred Lindsay, of Mayfield, will judge the rabbits. We have promises of about eight different breeds that will be shown.

From the looks of things now it appears there will be strong competition in about ten different breeds. Rocks, Reds, Wyandottes, Leghorns and Minorcas, while Mrs. D. J. Perry, noted Buff Orpington breeder, will not have everything her own way this year. Roy Carver from the McFadden school community, says he is going to clean up with his reds, both in the open class and in the 4-H club.

Dr. Henry was over from Crutchenfield the other day and he says he will have several pens this year. The doctor believes strong in his Cornish Indians. He also breeds Blue Andalusians. Now Joe Holland also has Andalusians and he says Doc doesn't stand any chance when he shows. So there you are. Each breeder thinks his stock is the best. Now me, I will show an old pen and young pen of Reds, but don't think I will get anywhere with them for I sold my old cock bird, and the one I put in his place don't seem to even up like I want him to. But White Leghorns, mine will be hard to beat, and also I am going to give Miss Mattie Vincent a run for her money on White Wyandottes. I say I am, I mean the White Feather Farm will. We have some dandy young stock in white leghorns, plymouth rocks and wyandottes. They are farm raised and full of pep.

You know it is a hard job to please everybody. I try to treat everybody the same, play no favorites, give every one an even break and be a clean cut sport but at that I fall down on the job.

Don't forget our two slogans: Make Fulton County the Best Poultry County in the State. And the other, At least 100 Standard Bred Fowls on Every Farm. Do you know it would be an easy job to have every farm standardized in the way of poultry. If each farmer would make up his mind the breed he wanted, then get one or two settings of eggs from some good reliable breeder, with this start in about three years his entire flock would be standard and he would have a good sized flock. But you cannot expect to have a standard flock unless you sell off all the scrubs, and breed only the pure bred stock.

Another thing, I don't want you to forget, your membership in the association. We need every poultry raiser in this locality to join the association, within a radius of five miles of Fulton. I'll wager there are at least 300 raisers of poultry and all should belong, but there are only about 15 joined so far, discouraging to me to say the least. Come on, jar yourself loose from that dollar and be one of us.

"The Rats Around My Place Were Wise," Says John Tuthill.

"Tried everything to kill them. Mixed poison with meal, meat, cheese, etc. Wouldn't touch it. Tried RAT-SNAP. Inside of ten days got rid of all rats." You don't have to mix RAT-SNAP with food. Saves fussing, bother. Break a cake of RAT-SNAP, lay it where rats scamper. You will see no more. Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Kentucky Hardware & Implement Co.

BE CERTAIN AND BE SAFE

Summer finds more motorists on the highways than any other season of the year. In summer, therefore, there is an increased need for attention in the avoidance of crossing accidents.

Our railroad is sensitive to its share of responsibility for safety at crossings. A campaign to avoid crossing accidents is under way the year round. In addition, we are conducting this year, as in previous years, a special summer safety campaign. Our engineers, trainmen and yardmen are pledged to use every effort to avoid crossing accidents.

The major responsibility for safety at crossings, however, rests upon the individual motorist. That is common sense. To bring trains to a stop at every highway crossing is plainly out of the question. The efficient accommodation of the nation's travel and commerce will not permit that. On the other hand, every motorist can assure his own absolute safety at crossings by being cautious. Such caution requires at the most only a few seconds' delay, and motorists owe it to themselves and their families, to the community and to good citizenship to make this short investment of time in the interest of safety.

Human life and happiness are too precious to be thrown away by carelessness at crossings. Humanity, duty and self-interest unite in opposition to such fatal gambling. Be certain and be safe!

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

President, Illinois Central System.

HOW TO BE SAFE

There's a lot we don't know about automobiles. But in recent years, as the death toll mounts higher and higher, we have reached the conclusion that by far the most important part of an auto is its brakes. A study of accidents in this territory will, we believe, disclose the fact that a good many of them might have been prevented had the brakes been in as good working order as the balance of the car. And we often wonder why all drivers do not realize this. There is no excuse for not keeping brakes adjusted and in good condition. It costs nothing if you are mechanically inclined, and it costs but a few cents every month or two if you have to pay some one to do it. But repairs, and doctors bills, and lost time—all of which are often traced to faulty brakes—quickly run into dollars. Be safe! Look after the brakes above everything else!

Chicago citizens now fear that the next generation may be cross-eyed from looking into the muzzles of six-shooters.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

FOOD FOR THE FOURTH

CRACKERS may pop, bigger chasers may dart about and pin wheels spin, or there may be just outdoor games if you're going in for a safe and sane Fourth of July, but there always comes a time on Independence Day when the pangs of hunger begin to assail us just as on ordinary days. The time's likely to be noon, because no patriotic citizen postpones his celebration much after dawn on this greatest of our national holidays. And the place is apt to be on the front porch, or even the lawn, because there must be lots of room for everyone who has come to participate in the fun.

The Fourth of July is generally hot, so cooling drinks are in order, and something sustaining after the strenuous exercise of running away from lighted crackers and dodging bigger chasers all over the lawn. One must store up vitality, too, for the evening's diversion when rockets hiss their heads off, Roman candles pop in the empyrean and set pieces make a glare in the summer skies. So let's start with the following delicious menu which serves eight people.

Watermelon Cubes with Fresh Mint
Combination Meat and Vegetable Loaf
Creamed Potatoes with Cheese and Green Peppers or Casserole
Lettuce and Cucumber
Whole Wheat Sandwiches
Ice Cream Sandwiches
Spiced Ginger
Coffee

Recipes for Menu

Watermelon Cubes with Fresh Mint. Cut the melon in small, uniform cubes (or in tiny balls) and pile in cocktail glasses. Pour over canned or fresh orange juice, sprinkle with finely chopped fresh mint and tuck a sprig of mint in the center of each.

Combination Meat and Vegetable Loaf. Mix well together three-quarters of a pound of round steak, one-half pound of ground boiled ham, three-quarters cup dry crumbs, one and one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Add one can of vegetable soup and two slightly beaten eggs. Put into a greased loaf pan and lay two slices of bacon on top. Bake for an hour in a hot oven. Serve sliced, either hot or cold.

Ice Cream Sandwiches. Cut

sponge cake in squares or rounds and split in two layers. Between the layers put a serving of vanilla ice cream, then pour over the following sauce, either hot or cold.

Chocolate Sauce. Melt two and one-half squares of chocolate over hot water, add one-third cup of boiling water and stir till smooth. Add two-thirds cup of evaporated milk and three tablespoons of corn syrup. Combine one and one-fourth cups of sugar, one-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar and one-eighth teaspoon of cinnamon and add. Cook over hot water for ten minutes. Serve either hot or cold. It is fairly thin when hot but quite thick when cold.

Spiced Ginger. Mix four whole cloves, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-third cup honey, two lemons (juice and grated rind), one cup orange juice, one cup pineapple syrup and one cup water. Let stand in ice box for at least an hour or longer. Then strain. Add two pints of cold ginger ale and serve. This makes twelve to fifteen punch glasses or eight regular glasses.

The business of the home

THE home in the small community is an important business undertaking.

It is capable of carrying on much of the work that in the large and crowded cities must be performed outside the home.

An ample and inexpensive electric power supply is an increasingly important aid in household work. Electric power contributes to the economic independence of the household in the small community to an extent that is not possible in the larger cities.

This is one of the results of the widespread electric power supply provided by this company through its network of transmission lines.

Lesson for July 6

ABRAHAM, A PIONEER OF FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-2; 13:1-12; 14:14-16; 17:1-8; Heb. 11:8-19.

GOLDEN TEXT—By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Pleasing God by Obedience.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Abraham, the Pioneer.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering in an Unknown Country.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Man Who Found Friendship with God.

I. Abraham's Call (12:1).

Abraham's ancestors were idolatrous. God came unto him in Ur of the Chaldees and said unto him,

1. "Get thee out of thy country."

It was necessary for him to break the strong attachments which bound him.

2. "Get thee out from thy kindred."

He was not only to leave behind him his native land, but his relatives as well. His kindred being idolaters, he must separate himself from them.

3. "Into a land that I will show thee." He was not told what or where the land was.

II. God's Covenant with Abraham (12:2, 3; 17:1-8).

1. What God promised to Abraham.

(1) To make him the father of a great posterity (v. 2). This has been literally fulfilled. (2) To make his name great (v. 2). No name in all history equals that of Abraham in its honorable influence. It is revered among Jews, Mohammedans and Christians. They all acknowledge him as father.

(3) A blessing to others (vv. 2, 3). He was not only to become great and share God's blessings, but to be a blessing to others.

2. The land given unto him (17:8).

Although Abraham was a pilgrim, he was permitted to sojourn in the land. The land itself was given to his seed, Israel—God's chosen and most favored nation. The nation to which he came nearest and gave most, in order that it might pass on his goodness to the other nations of the world, was given the most strategic position in the earth.

While the Hebrews have failed in the fulfillment of their divinely appointed task and the world is in chaos because of it, they shall go back to their old land and fulfill their divinely appointed task.

III. Abraham's Generous Treatment of Lot (13:1-12; 14:1-6).

While Abraham sojourns in Egypt, having gone there because of the famine in Canaan, he grew rich in worldly goods. Because of his deception of the king, he was thrust out of Egypt when the truth became known.

1. Abraham and Lot separate (vv. 5-12).

Seeing that their temporal relations would engender strife and provoke quarreling, and knowing the disastrous effect upon the heathen round about, Abraham gave Lot his choice. Though Lot owed everything to Abraham, his selfish heart moved him to grasp for the best, and his decision ultimately brought him to grief. He prospered for awhile, but eventually not only his goods, but he himself and his family were taken away by the confederate kings who came against Sodom.

2. Abraham delivers Lot (14:14-16).

Though Lot's trouble was the fruit of his own sowing, Abraham's magnanimity of soul moved him to take up arms and deliver Lot from the oppressor. While Lot suffered from his selfish choice, Abraham prospered.

IV. Abraham's Faith (Heb. 11:8-19).

1. Its source (v. 8).

The word of God. Faith takes God at His word.

2. Its practice (vv. 9, 10).

Abraham never settled down, even in the land of promise. He was a true pilgrim. He was content to pass through the land because his eyes were fixed on "a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

V. Abraham Tested (Heb. 11:17-19).

1. At the command of God he offered up Isaac (v. 17).

He went out from the country in obedience to God. He laid down his son on the altar in obedience to God.

2. The promise of blessing was wrapped up in Isaac (v. 18).

The promise involved this particular child, not just any descendant.

3. The supreme venture (v. 19).

He so completely trusted God that he went all the way. He believed that God would raise up Isaac from the dead in order to make good His promise.

One of His Heroes

To go on cheerfully with a petty round of little duties, little avocations, to smile for the joy of others when the heart is aching—who does this, his works will follow him. He may not be a hero to the world, but he is one of God's heroes.—Doctor Farrar.

Paducah Man Kills Deputy Sheriff

Garrison, for several years attorney for the Kentucky Tobacco Growers Association at Hopkinsville, Ky., was in Mason Hall on a visit to his father, J. H. Garrison. After the shooting he left for Union City, the county seat, to surrender.

BE CERTAIN AND BE SAFE

Characterizing his own railroad as "a safe road for seventy-nine years," President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central System devotes his July public letter to an appeal for safety at crossings. The major responsibility for such safety, according to President Downs, rests upon the individual motorist, who can assure his own absolute freedom from danger by the exercise of caution.

"Such caution requires at the most only a few seconds' delay, and motorists owe it to themselves and their families, to the community and to good citizenship to make this short investment of time in the interest of safety," he writes.

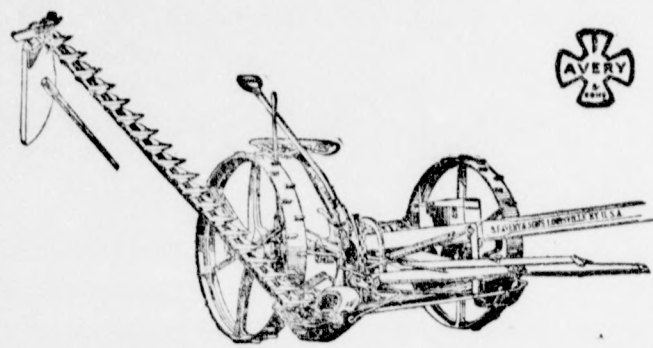

The railroad, too, is doing its part, according to President Downs. It has a campaign to avoid crossing accidents under way the year round. In addition it is conducting this year, as in previous years, a special summer campaign to inspire extra care at crossings by engineers, trainmen and yardmen.

HOME LABOR SAVED

WITH the advent and national distribution of canned foods, much time and labor was saved for the housewife. The peeling or seeding of vegetables and fruits, and the skimming and cleaning of fish and chicken became a thing of the past. As far as canned foods were concerned, and the housewife was also saved the necessity of standing over a hot stove for long periods.

But all of her problems were not solved. For generations well-informed mothers have prepared, with great labor, vegetable purées to supplement the milk diet of their babies after six months of age; hospital staffs have spent weary hours preparing the smooth diets of puréed vegetables which modern medicine recommends in the treatment of gastro-intestinal diseases; and hostesses have exhausted themselves and their servants in preparing the delicious soups and soufflés made of puréed vegetables and fruits which they wanted to serve for the delectation of their guests.

A New Era Dawns

Now the necessity for all that labor in the home has been eliminated. The manufacturers of a widely advertised and nationally distributed brand of foods, well-known to all housewives, have put on the market small cans of puréed vegetables and fruits, with all the labor of preparation performed in the factories, and nothing left for the housewife to do but open the can.

This assortment of puréed foods includes peas, tomatoes, spinach, carrots with puréed tomatoes, cereal flour and beef broth and mixed vegetables with beef broth; prunes, and apricots. The cans of mixed vegetables contain puréed carrots, peas, spinach, tomatoes, celery, lima beans, corn and beef broth. These products are packed in 6-ounce and 10½-ounce cans, and have already proved their popularity. They may be merely heated and used as vegetable side dishes, or to thicken soups, or simply made into timbales.

A Splendid Product

No mother should adopt a diet for a baby, or suffer from gastro-intestinal disorders, select a diet, without consulting a physician. The fresh vegetables used for these purées provide the required range of vitamin values, and include some with beef broth and cereal flour, providing a desirable variety for infant feeding, and insuring an adequate diet, but the baby's doctor should be consulted for quantities in feedings, and for rotation of the various purées, and his advice should be especially sought as to the relative amount of the purées containing beef broth.

The vitamin values and food constituents so important in fresh vegetables are conserved in these puréed vegetables to an extent not possible in home kitchens where the cooking is done in open vessels exposed to oxygen.

Some Succulent Soups

The tale of this new product would not be complete without some of the following tested recipes which have been evolved for its use.

Pea Soup: Combine one 6-ounce can puréed peas, one-fourth cup evaporated milk, three-fourths cup water, two teaspoons butter and one-half teaspoon salt. Heat to boiling, beat well and serve hot. Serves two to three.

French Spinach Soup: Mix together the contents of one 10½-ounce can puréed spinach and one 6-ounce can of evaporated milk, two and one-fourth cups water, and one tablespoon butter. Heat to boiling, stir a little of the mixture into one egg yolk. Combine mixtures, beat well, heat to boiling and add three-fourths teaspoon salt. Serves five to six.

Cream of Carrot Soup: Heat to boiling in separate pans the contents of a 10½-ounce can puréed carrots, and one 6-ounce can evaporated milk diluted with two and one-fourth cups of water. Beat the carrots into the milk, and add one tablespoon butter and three-fourths teaspoon salt. Serves five to six.

A "Whole Meal" Supper Soup: Put the contents of a 10½-ounce can puréed mixed vegetables, six tablespoons evaporated milk, one cup and two tablespoons water, two teaspoons butter and three-fourths teaspoon salt into a saucepan. Mix well and heat to boiling. Serves two to three.

To Make Timbales

To make Timbales from any of these puréed vegetables, add one beaten egg, a pinch of salt and one teaspoon of melted butter to one can, 6 ounces, of any one of them, and mix thoroughly.

Bake in buttered timbale molds in a slow oven (325° F.) for twenty minutes or until a knife blade comes out clean when inserted. Serve with any of the following sauces: mushroom, cream, cheese or egg. Serves three.*
