AN URGENT PUBLIC NEED.

One of the most urgent subjects that can engage the attention of the next Congress is the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture. It is at present organized on a purely check-and-balance basis, and its statistical work has become practically useless. Agriculture overhauls in importance any fifty other productive pursuits, and its products are worth thousands of millions of dollars.

The statistician who is commissioned to publish authoritative statements of acreage, condition and yield ought to be the greatest price-maker. It would necessarily be the result of respect and confidence, that the estimates of the statistician concerning those factors of production and supply would form market theories everywhere, and thus determine the course of prices for the year. The function of this furnishing the main predicates of valuation of farm produce while traders are buying and selling thousands of millions of dollars' worth of it every year is a trust which an intelligent and public-spirited Government should repose only in a man of commanding ability and an immense fund of scientific acquirement. There is not a man in the Senate or Cabinet who is capable of doing the country such valuable service as a thoroughly accomplished, painstaking and incorruptible statistician could do in the office of Commissioner or Statistician of the Department of Agriculture.

Such a man ought to be found somewhere in America or Europe, and he would be cheap at almost any price. To speak within lines, his salary should equal that of a Cabinet officer, because he would be an official with greater personal trust than any man holds in either of those positions. If it should be found by those in commerce that there is such a man regularly engaged in measuring the crops of all, with a keen and fairly unerring mathematical analysis, he would necessarily become, to the extent of the influence of the potential of all factors of value, supply, the price regulator of the produce markets. That would be a sizeable trust, we may say. At present the estimates of our Department of Agriculture are not received with any confidence, and as they settle nothing, they would be dear at any price.—Courier-Journal.

Frankfort is now the Mecca of a deluge of deluded hopes.—Louisville Times Aug. 29th.

It may now be remarked that the "deluge" is over; the delusions of statesmen who went there but didn't "get there," may now sober up, get home as soon as possible and prepare to become Kentucky Colonels of the first water.

The Grand Army's Danger.

The news that a number of Grand Army posts when they marched under a portrait of President Cleveland at Wheeling, Friday, Sept. 1, were in the dust and made threats that they would tear the banner down, ought not to cause any particular surprise. There have been too many evidences that this organization, which started with such a noble aim and purpose, has fallen into the power of a few grasping and selfish men, who use it as a political machine to further their selfish ends.

We do not consider it a misfortune that these Grand Army posts have set fit to offer publicly so gross an insult to our Chief Magistrate. We regret, of course, that any body of veterans could be found who would in this manner put him in such an unfavorable light, but if this once-honored society is irretrievably in the power of grasping and selfish men, it is well that the fact should be widely known.

The street in front of the window from which the portraits were exhibited is stated, was blocked with an excited throng all day. As the posts went marching by the officers hurried to and fro, urging their men to lower their banners. Many Democratic members of the Grand Army, when they realized that they were taking place, tore their banners from their poles and left the ranks. The excitement reached its height when Ensignment No. 1 of the Union Veterans Legion of Pittsburgh passed under the banner with their flags high in the air and with many of the members with their heads uncovered.

It is very evident that if the Grand Army is to retain the respect and the affection of the people that it has had in the past, there is a real need for the reorganization in many of its posts. We know nothing of the political complexion of the members of the Pittsburgh Legion who made such a disgusting exhibition of their independence at Wheeling, but it is safe to assume that they numbered as many Republicans as Democrats. It was not a question of politics, but whether they were willing to follow blindly the contemptible lead of the small-time scoundrels and "fettles" of the Grand Army. It is time for the honest members of the society, like those of the Pittsburgh Legion, to bestir themselves if they want to save it from the wreckers now at the helm.

"Of Value Unknown."

On the schedule of personality left by the late Dr. Standford, candidate for United States Senator, are the notes of Senator Triplett, of Daviess, and ex-Senatorial candidate Lyles, of Logan, for $1,000 and $800, respectively, given in by the appraisers as "of value unknown." Triplett is a hold-over Senator, and therefore needed no "showing of war" to secure his election. The pretty well substantiated charge that lawyer Lyles had received money from Dr. Standford to secure the former's nomination, caused his defeat by 500 majority in his own county, and 1,000 in the district, though his successful contestant—Terry, of Todd—entered the contest but did not win. The appraisers report values the personality of Dr. Standford at $102,543.73, but this does not appear to include cash in hand and large and varied assortment of social and political skeletons in closets.

Everybody interested will please take notice that after our drawing (last Monday in September), a subscriber who is in arrears will be dropped from the list without further notice and papers will thereafter be promptly stopped when the time is out.

GOVERNOR BUCKNER.

The Gray Eagle of Glen Lily Succeeds the Panegyrist of Duluth.

How It Was Done.

Louisville Times.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 30.—The inauguration of the new administration of the State of Kentucky today was a fair day. The old State-house and its veranda lawn and magnificent trees were bathed in the sun's benighted glory while a touch of autumn tempered its too fervent heat. The procession formed in front of the State-house at just fifteen minutes past 11 o'clock. Governor Lindsey was Chief Marshal.

The first division marched with the trained police of the State, followed by the Executive mansion, where it halted and received Governor Knott with a salute. A salute was also given to the new Governor-elect and salute, and the grand old Governor-elect was received with applause. The party was then escorted to the Capitol, where the principal persons ascended the grand stand, and the simple ceremony of inducting the new Chief Magistrate into his high office was begun.

Gov. Buckner was escorted upon the stand by Mayor Taylor. Behind him came Lieutenant Governor Byrd and the rest of the Cabinet. Governor Knott came in the middle, escorted by Mr. Tom Rottman, and the grand stand then filled with the new Governor-elect and his family. Behind the principal persons ascended the grand stand, and the simple ceremony of inducting the new Chief Magistrate into his high office was begun.

GAUGERS WANT SURETY PAY.

Hunter Wood's Application Refused.

Louisville Times.

The gaugers of this district are feeling very severely the diminution and almost complete stoppage of whisky production. Under the agreement made with the State, the gaugers will be paid this year, and as the export whisky comes back to large quantities, last year, no great amount is expected to be re-imposed this season. As the gauger is paid by the number of gallons of whisky, this will give very small pay to nearly every gauger in the district.

Accordingly, a strong effort will be made to have the Commission Miller modify the rules so as to give a minimum amount of pay as well as a maximum. Under the present rules the gauger is paid so much per gallon for all the whisky gauged up to 1,000 gallons a day. For this amount he receives $4 a day. From 1,000 gallons a day up to 2,000 the pay increases, but so slowly that for 2,000 the gauger gets only $5. Formerly gaugers were allowed $5 a day for 1,000 proof gallons, but when Col. Walter Evans became Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in a moment when an economic spirit was upon him, he disturbed this rule, and now two thousand wine gallons. This constituted a reduction of about 20 per cent. There has never been a great deal of protest coming up from all parts of the district. It is said one gauger during the past month made only about $16.

It is considered, however, an exasperation. Said Alderman Flynn C. Davis, one of the most expert gaugers in the district, a Times reporter to morning: "This thing will certainly hurt the service; for unless something is done the good men are going to quit. I make a first-class gauger a first-class gauger, and a good accountant and a man of intelligence and shrewdness will not be able to sell for $1,200 to $1,500 in business, whereas many of them can make half that as gaugers under the present conditions. I am a reporter, but I do not get a cent of money. I have cut the figures and the like for hundreds of barrels for which I never get a cent. If the Legislature does not change this law, I will quit the gauging business and go to work for one of the other departments of the State."

When a man is on duty he has to go to the State House, and if he does not find any gauging to do he gets no money for his day. If there is stamping, etc., the gauger has to do it and the Legislature has to pay him. I don't see what is to keep the best men from leaving the service. There is considerable interest taken in this state of affairs. Unless the gaugers are entirely reliable dealers, they will not be able to sell the whisky at the internal revenue gauge. They will be compelled to have all their goods re-gauged, and that will put them in a considerable expense. They are, therefore, in favor of the modification of the rules. There is no likelihood, however, that the work of the gaugers will become unreliable as they are very carefully watched, and fined ninety cents for every error of one gallon.

A similar appeal was made some time ago by Collector Hunter Wood, of the second district, for a different reason. He was informed that the Legislature would not allow him to modify the rules in the process of handling export goods known as "scamping," which is in case of gaugers. The Legislature has confined to the country; in the city the gaugers are allowed street-car fares, and in the country they are allowed a horse and buggy. The gaugers are going to send on a strong representation to Washington to make the effort to secure a relief. It is possible that one or two others from the service here can undertake the mission.

Syrup of Figs

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal. It is Nature's Own true Laxative. It is the most easily taken and the most pleasant effective remedy known to cleanse the system, when bilious or constive; to dispel headaches, colds and fevers; to cure habitual constipation, indigestion, etc. For sale in 50 cents and $1.00 bottles by H. B. Garner, Hopkinsville, Ky.

M. E. Church Dedication.

Speaking of the dedication of the new Methodist church at Woodburn, Warren county, last Sunday, the Bowling Green Times says:
"The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. Jno. W. Lewis, of Hopkinsville, his text being that ever-popular and always new and interesting one, 'The Prodigal Son.' Mr. Lewis is a fine orator—of easy and graceful bearing, fine address, a fairly good voice, and a man of much ability, and his discourse was a treat to the large number that heard him. After the sermon an appeal was made for contributions with which to liquidate the remaining debt of $675 on the building, and in a few minutes $400 of the amount was raised—two or three gentlemen assuming the payment of the $275 balance, hence it is practically paid for."

The "Woods Full of 'Em."

It seems from the numerous arrests made recently, that horse thieves are as thick as "flies in August." Last Tuesday morning a man calling himself Jas. Oglesby, stopped at the livery stable of Fritz Bros., riding a black four-year-old mare mule. After a little while he arranged a trade with Mr. W. D. Davidson. Some of Oglesby's maneuvers aroused Mr. Davidson's suspicion, and he, at Oglesby's suggestion, sent a man with him to the house of Mr. Geo. Butler to obtain information in regard to the ownership of the mule. Mr. Butler was not at home, and Oglesby ran into the house and by threats made Mr. Butler's daughter and young son sign a paper stating that Oglesby owned the mule. This satisfied the man with Oglesby, and he so reported to Mr. Davidson. The following Sunday parties from near Palmyra, Tenn., reached the city looking for a stolen mule. From the description given by them Mr. Davidson told them he had no doubt that the mule in his possession was the one they were looking for. These facts were communicated to Sheriff Boyd, who telegraphed Sheriff Station, of Clarksville, to arrest Oglesby, who lives near Jordan Springs. The wily rascal was captured which fact was telegraphed to Sheriff Boyd. Tuesday afternoon Mr. Davidson left for Clarksville to take possession of the thief. Oglesby's real name is John Otten, and he is the son of a highly-respected farmer near Palmyra, Tenn. He traded the mule to Mr. Davidson for a mare and $17 in money; afterwards selling the mare to Wyatt Moore for $25.00.

Pec Dee witnessed a big blaze Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Mrs. Henry Farnsworth's elegant two story residence caught on fire from a defective due in the kitchen. The building was entirely consumed. A large quantity of household goods were destroyed as was also a valuable pig. The loss is estimated about $2,000 with partial insurance.

The Home Library Association, of Chicago, represented here by Prof. W. E. Shaw, is a most commendable institution and readily recommends itself to all who desire to buy books. The New Era has taken a membership which we consider worth many times the cost of same.

Prof. Shaw is a gentlemanly and reliable representative, and will take pleasure in furnishing any information desired concerning the practical workings of his association.

The Hopkinsville Public Schools will re-open on next Monday morning. During the first school month, work will begin at half past eight o'clock, but after that, the time will be changed to nine o'clock. The school doors will open a half hour earlier than the time set for beginning school work. The school clocks will run by the same time as the town clock in the cupola of the court house. Parents and children are asked to bear this in mind and conduct themselves accordingly.

Last Thursday night a party of young fellows from Lafayette, went to Roaring Springs and got drunk, in which condition they visited a dem monde establishment in the neighborhood. At this place they soon got into the usual free-for-all fight and raised a shoo! generally.

One of the party finally cleaned out the crowd and the picnic broke up. The New Era has the names of the bad boys—seven in number—but they are withheld in hopes that the young bucks will not repeat their disgraceful conduct.

A sad case of destitution was witnessed at the depot Tuesday afternoon. A man and wife, with three little children waited on the platform for the 5 o'clock train. The man's head was bandaged, he was trembling from head to foot and really ill. The whole party had the appearance of abject poverty and misery.

They were going to Russellville, but had tickets only as far as Guthrie. Several of the crowd gave them money and enough was thus secured to get them to their destination. They came from Arkansas.

In the neighborhood of Bainbridge, last Saturday night, a row occurred between Ed. Hamilton and Harvey Hayes, which resulted in no blood-shed but caused considerable public disturbance.

It seems that Hayes owed Hamilton 55 cents concerning which the difficulty arose. After a quarrel over the matter Hayes started on a run for home and Hamilton followed with a pistol and, arriving at the house, threatened to "clean out" the establishment. Hayes reached for a shot-gun and Hamilton vacated. Constable J. J. Allen tried to arrest Hamilton Sunday, but the latter would not be taken. He appeared, however, before Esquire Cox Monday and was fined $22.00 and costs, and failing to pay same was brought here to jail Tuesday. The grand jury will probably be called upon to look after the concealed weapon part of the case.

Habitual Constipation
And kidney and liver ills, depending on a weak or inactive condition of the kidneys, liver or bowels, are successfully and permanently cured only by the use of the gentle yet effective laxative and diuretic, Syrup of Figs.
